Toll Surpasses Coventry's 422; 1,300 Injured

500 Killed in Each City in Last Week's Aerial Attacks

Ex the Associated Press

LONDON, March 18 .- About 1,000 persons were killed in the German air raids on the Liverpool area March 12 and 13 and the Glasgow area March 13 and 14, the Air and Home Security Ministries announced tonight. The toll far exceeded that for Coventry in November when 422 were listed as killed. Nazis had said last week that damage in the Liverpool area "exceeded that at Coventry."

In addition, 1,300 others w listed as injured.

The British communique said: 'More detailed reports now have been received in regard to raids on the Merseyside (Liverpool area) on the nights of the 12th and 13th of March and in the Clyde (Glasgow) area on the nights of the 13th and 14th of March.

"On the Mersevside, latest reports indicate revised figures for the two nights combined of about 500 killed and 500 seriously injured, while in the Clyde area for the two nights in question approximately 500 persons were killed and 800 seriously injured.'

Large Enemy Supply Ship

Sunk, British Announce LONDON, March 18 (P).-Roval Air Force bombers last night sank a large enemy supply ship off the Frisian Islands in addition to attacking Wilhelmshaven., Bremen, Rotterdam and Oldenburg, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

"Numerous explosions and fires were observed in dock and industrial areas" of the German ports of Wilhelmshaven and Bremen, both naval bases, the communique said. Large Fire Breaks Out. At Rotterdam, in occupied Holland, it said, a large fire broke out among oil storage tanks, and single aircraft also attacked the German ports of Emden and Oldenburg, about 25 miles northwest of Bremen The "large enemy supply vessel" was said to have been sent down in a torpedo attack by an airplane of the coastal command. The communique said all the British planes returned from their overnight raiding assignments, but the government announced that in air operations over England today two fighters, having spent their (See RAIDS, Page 2-X.)

Churchill Reports Nazi Raiders On American Side of the Atlantic; 1,000 Die in 2 Raids on Britain

Reports Raids as Far West As 42d Meridian; Claims Destruction of 3 Subs

By the Associated Press

LONDON, March 18.—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that "not only German U-boats, but battle cruisers, have crossed to the American side of the Atlantic" and succeeded in sinking British ships.

At the same time he announced the "certain destruction" yesterday of three German submarines in the continuing battle of the Atlantic—which he described as "one of the most momentous ever fought in all the annals of war."

The Prime Minister spoke at a Pilgrims luncheon at which he introduced John G. Winant, United States Ambassador to Britain, who promised the British ships, planes and guns "with the utmost speed, in the greatest volume Pledge of President and with all the skill" at the command of the American people.

Mr. Churchill's reference to submarines and battle cruisers did not make clear whether he was referring to information given the United States Government yesterday that a German submarine was heading toward the Western Atlantic to attack ships loaded with United States-manufactured supplies.

As Far West as 42d Meridian.

The Prime Minister said the German warships had sunk vessels as far west as the 42d meridian, on the American side of the Atlantic.

(The 42d meridian is about 1,500 miles east of New York.) "Only yesterday I received the news of the certain destruction of three U-boats," he told his audience. "Not since October, 1939, have I been cheered by such a triple event." Any one can see, Mr. Churchill added, "how bitter is the need press conference today.

of Hitler and his gang to cut the sea roads between Great Britain and the United States and, having divided these mighty powers, to destroy them."

Then speaking with an optimistic note regarding Britain's from many labor organizations, management representatives, reliea and air power, he said: "American destroyers which reached us in the autumn and gious and civic groups and from a lot of patriotic organizations, inwinter are increasingly coming into action. Our own flotillas are cluding veterans' units." growing in number. Our air power over the island and over the Questioned about the expressions seas is growing." of labor support. The House Appropriations Committee presented Congress with a tersely worded alternative today to give quick approval to the $7,000.-000,000 British-aid bill or let the United States be stamped "a faltering welsher."

The committee acted with speed, after hearing Secretary of State Hull, in testimony made public today, advise "full-out" aid for countries resisting aggression lest "wouldbe conquerors" get a chance to deal with the United States "as they have been dealing with Europe and Asia.

A grimly dramatic note was added to the proceedings as House debate on the measure started by reports that a Nazi U-boat was en route to American waters and by this assertion in London by Prime Minister Churchill: "Not only German Uboats, but German battle cruisers have crossed to the American side of the Atlantic and have already sunk some of our independently routed ships not sailing in convoy. The Appropriations Committee asked that President Roosevelt's recommendations for the expenditure be approved with a single change and a rephrasing of another section

The losses for the week ended March 9, the Admiralty said, included 20 British ships of 84,244 tons and five Allied ship of 14,588 tons. No neutral losses were listed. During the same week, it said, the axis powers claimed they had sunk 163,661 tons of merchant shipping. Although the Admiralty's figures showed a slight decrease in shipping losses over the preceding week, an authoritative source warned Britons not to "jump at conclusions on too little evidence.'

"We must be prepared to face losses until the battle of the Atlantic is won," this source declared. "Figures over a large period will determine the issue. The enemy is bringing into play his maximum force under, on and over the sea. The navy realizes its grave responsibility, and we intend to maintain our legions of ships sailing the oceans however hard the enemy tries to prevent us from doing so."

Theodore W. Noves and Harry C. Davis Given Luncheon by President

Two lifelong friends were honored today for lengthy service to their alma mater as trustees at a luncheon given by President Cloyd Heck Marvin of George Washington University, at the Mayflower Hotel.

Guests of honor were Theodore W. Noyes, editor of The Star and a member of the university Board of trustees for 52 years, and Harry C. Davis, secretary of the board.

Other trustees and members of the faculty and their wives joined in the tribute to the veteran trustees. Of Mr. Noves, Dr. Marvin declared:

"Not many institutions are privileged to have such loyal and worthy service over such an extended period of time as our university has had from you.

Of Mr. Davis, he said:

"No one has contributed more to the fine idealism of this institution than you have.'

Speaking for the trustees, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor praised the services of both, remarking that he had probably known both of them longer than anybody in the room.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, jr., a trustee, toasted the "Damon and Pythias" friendship of the two guests of honor. In replying, both Mr. Noyes and Mr. Davis paid tribute to one another and predicted a great future for the university.

Mr. Noyes, who entered the preparatory school of Columbian College, now George Washington University, in 1870, reminisced of his college days.

"I remember distinctly the toostrong iron flavor in water from the college pump," he recalled. He said he was indebted to the university for the "substantials of my life's education."

"In the view of today and the vision of tomorrow," Mr. Davis detry."

La Guardia Will Name Racing News Inquiry Board Unless Bus Strike Is Settled

Company Representatives And Union Heads Meet To Discuss Proposal

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 18 .- Mayor La Guardia told opposing sides in the city's nine-day-old bus strike today that unless they decided separately to submit their dispute to arbitration he would appoint a three-man, fact-finding board which would be ready to start work tomorrow

Unsuccessful in previous attempts to settle the dispute which has tied up 95 per cent of Manhattan's bustrolley system, the Mayor gave this ultimatum to representatives of the two bus companies involved and the Transport Workers Union (C. I. O.) He had summoned them to City Hall. As a basis for arbitration, the Mayor asked the union, to which the 3,500 strikers belong, and the companies to consider a formula of proposals which he had set down in writing. He described the proposals as "a basis for speedy settlement through the medium of arbitration."

If it were necessary to appoint a board, he added, the members would report directly to him.

As soon as the Mayor gave his plan, representatives of the operators and union met in separate rooms to discuss the proposal.

Police arrangements for protection of the buses, if their owners should decide to operate, brought a rejoinder from the union that any attempt to run the buses with non-union members would mean an end of "100 per cent peaceful picketing." The two struck bus companies, however, made no move to put their buses back on the 27 routes affected, serving some 900,000 riders a day. The union gave no reply to the

'Wholesale Medicine' Is G. H. A.'s Trouble, Ex-Staff Man Says

XX:

But Dr. Price Admits He Praised Service Of Co-operative in 1938

By HAROLD B. ROGERS. Dr. Richard H. Price, former Group Health Association doctor, today told a District Court jury that the trouble with G. H. A. was its attempt to give medical service wholesale. Called as a witness in the defense of organized medicine against a Government charge of violating the anti-trust laws, Dr. Price testified that when he was on the staff of G. H. A. he had too many patients to care for and that he was unable to deliver the kind of medical care he would like to give patients. "The fundamental difficulty with G. H. A.," he said, "was that it attempted to take the place of the family physician.' Many patients did not get operations from Group Health Association, he said, because G. H. A. did not have the money to pay their hospital bills.

Prosecution counsel, in previous testimony, attempted to show that the reason G. H. A. patients did not get hospital care was because of an alleged boycott by organized medi-cine against the medical co-operative.

On cross-examination by Prosecutor John Henry Lewin, Dr. Price admitted that in 1938 he had asserted medical care given by Group Health Association was "superior." He pointed out at that time, that G. H. A. had the advantage of association of men of different specialties, complete laboratory facilities and ability to devote their full time to medical care and "not have to think about patients' pocketbooks."

That is not his opinion now, he said.

Irish Dine and Sing In Celebrating Day of Their Patron Saint

Sons of St. Patrick and Order of Hibernians Lead Cbservance

From the gourmand's point of view, St. Patrick's citadel last night was the Mayflower Hotel, where downstairs the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and upstairs the Ancient Order of Hibernians celebrated with real fasting the day of the great patron saint of Eire. In other parts of the city the occasion also was marked with festivity. The girls had green flowers in their hair, and men wore not sprigs but almost bushes of green in their lapel button holes.

Urging bravery of spirit in troubled times, the Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., dean of the school of philosophy of Catholic University. declared that although Ireland "went through a thousand years of torture, she refused to be conquered.

He told the Friendly Sons that "nations that have been subjected by the axis could learn from Ireland that a country can never be subjugated as long as its spirit lives."

Ashurst Lavish in Praise.

Another oratorical high point was reached when former Senator Henry Fountain Ashurst of Arizona addressed the Friendly Sons after their banquet, "bladh and deoch," as the old ones say it. In keeping with the paramount thought of the times, Senator Ashurst spoke of national liberty and the Irish contribution to the whole philosophy of national liberty. declaring:

"I would say nothing in this splendid presence that might savor of invidious distinction. Yet how may one eulogize Pericles and not speak of the glories of Athens? How may one commemorate Gen. Washington and be silent concerning his labors and his achievements? How, then, may I speak at a banquet of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and omit to say that the Irish race has nobly vindicated the right of mankind to liberty and has taken a conspicous and important part in establishing and maintaining the independence of 'the United States?"

The Irish, Senator Ashurst recalled, were cultured and polished before the Romans reached Briton, when the Druids were making sacrifices in Stonehenge, when the great King Alfred was hiding in the marshes of Wessex. He closed:

"There is a mighty river in the ocean of humanity-the Irish racewhich for a century and a half has flowed from Ireland to America, and, just as the Gulf Stream is warmer than the common waters of the ocean, this river of life in the ocean of humanity-the Irish race-is

Sales or Pay Roll Tax Unlikely, Treasury Officials Indicate

Higher Excess Profits, Income, Estate and Gift Levies Hinted

By the Associated Press.

High Treasury officials said today they were considering asking Congress to increase some existing Federal taxes, but they minimized the possibility of any new levies such as a sales or pay roll tax.

Among those which may be raised, they hinted, were income, excess profits, estate and gift taxes. Some changes in specific excise taxes, such as those on liquor and tobacco, also were deemed possible. Treasurycongressional conferences on the tax problem are scheduled about April 1.

Skeptical of Sales Tax.

The Treasury, as well as Congress, is searching intently for more revenue because the British-aid program has boosted the next fiscal year's outlay to more than $20,000,-000,000 while the most optimistic estimates of the Government's income during that period do not exceed $10,000,000,000, taking account of tax increases which were effective this year and the upturn in business

The Treasury was particularly skeptical of a sales tax. Officials predicted that before Congress would pass such a levy it would exempt foods and so many other items that the tax yield would be disappointing.

Their opposition to a "pay-roll tax" was based on the belief it would discriminate against persons defense areas was approved today who work for wages and favor persons who get their income from investments or real estate.

> The easiest way to get more money out of the income tax would be to boost the "normal" tax rate on individuals. This rate now is 4 per cent, compared with 6 to 12 per cent during the World War.

D. C. Might Receive 14 Million From U. S. Under Dirksen Plan

Federal Land Valued at 668 Millions, 31.9 Pct. of Two-Billion Appraisal

The Dirksen formula for setting the Federal share in annual District expenses might net the District a national payment of approximately $14,000,000 on the basis of estimated expenses for 1942.

This compares with the present lump-sum payment of $6,000,000 and the estimated $9,000,000 should the Overton-Hunter formula be approved.

The Dirksen plan was introduced in bill form yesterday by Representative Dirksen of Illinois, ranking Republican member of the District Committee. It would set up a three-man board of Federal appraisers, appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, to appraise all Federally owned land and improvements here, exclusive of streets and alleys. The board would report on or before January 1 of each year to provide Congress with a base to determine the Federal share "in lieu of the real estate taxes which would be realized from such land and improvements if said land and improvements were not exempt from taxation because of Federal ownership.'

In introducing his bill, Mr. Dirksen gave no estimate of what the District might get under his formula, but thought it would be greater than the present $6.000,000 lump payment.

While the added revenue from a $14,000,000 payment or even an contribution would be $11.000.000 welcome to District officials who are wondering in many instances how District services will be able to stand the influx of national defense workers without added funds from some place, some quarters were frankly skeptical of the equity of the Dirksen plan to the Federal Government. They felt the Overton plan the fairer solution to all concerned.

Commerce Building Cited.

Citing for example the new Department of Commerce Building, of Louisiana indicated he favored a that the annual payment of the which cost the Government $17,000.-000 or $18,000,000, it was contended that the structure was worth that figure only to the Government and could never be sold for that price. It was also contended that the actual site of the building with its improvements before the Government took over was worth nowhere near that amount and that no private concern would have constructed anything of that value there.

'The land withdrawn from District taxation by Federal acquisition in that case may only have been worth $1,000,000 or $2,000,000." it was said.

The Senate District Committees' report on the Overton bill places the net land area of the United States here used for national purposes at 8.322 acres. The net land area of the District it lists at 39,273 acres. How Ratio Would Be Figured.

"There has been an interminable controversy throughout the years from 1879 to the present in respect to both the amount and method of Federal payments to the District," said the report of the Senate District Committee on the Overton plan. "The purpose of this bill is to put an end to this controversy by providing a fixed formula for regulating the payment.

Three "Essentials" Listed. "No formula of such payment will provide satisfactory or successful, or serve the purpose intended, unless it is based upon the three following essentials:

"1. The factors of the formula should be non-controversial, fixed, certain and self-operating. "2. The factors should not be of arbitrary selection but should rest upon reasonable and substantial bases.

"3. The application of the factors should result in equal justice being done to both the National Government and the District of Columbia."

Tax Assessor Dent said no move had been made pending the outcome of final court decisions as to the legality of taxing persons domiciled here who pay a similar tax in the States from which they came. Nazi Sub Operating

Would Be in Neutrality Zone.

A submarine operating in the Western Atlantic shipping lanes would be inside the pan-American neutrality zone, now patrolled daily by air and surface ships of the United States Atlantic Fleet. However, the European belligerents have not recognized the validity of the zone in which the American republics have banned hostilities.

If a U-boat is en route to Amer-ican waters, qualified persons here believe that it probably would be a 1.500-tonner, similar to the Squalus class of the United States Navy. Such a submarine carries a crew of 55 and has a range of about 10,000 miles without refueling.

The distance between New York and Bordeaux in occupied France is 3,300 nautical miles, so a submarine of this type could cross the Atlantic. cruise for an additional 3,000 miles in operations and still have ample fuel for the return trip.

Nazis May Not Have Any Big Subs. The big question mark to persons informed on naval matters was whether Germany possesses any 1,500-ton types. The last official larger than 800-ton classes.

Theoretically, these persons said an 800-tonner could make a round trip to American coastal waters, but they said operations would be extremely limited, the crew would take there would be no margin of safety in fuel reserves.

Recalling that the Deutschland displaced 2,400 tons, these sources did not rule out the possibility that Germany may have included some big types in her intensified submarine building program. The United States Fleet has three exservice.

Harry Bridges Plea To Delay Deportation Hearing Refused

Defense Denied Copy of F. B. I. Report, Basis of Government Action

By J. A. FOX.

The application of Harry Bridges, West Coast C. I. O. leader, for a 30day postponement of his deportation hearing, which is set for March 31, was denied today by Judge Charles B. Sears, who is serving as special examiner in the case.

Judge Sears' ruling followed a hearing at the Justice Department, where the Australian-born Bridges' plea, presented through counsel, was countered by the assertion of Maj. Lemuel B. Schofield, Special Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, that "the Government will be prejudiced if this case is delayed.

At the same time, Judge Sears denied a motion by Mrs. Carol King, Mr. Bridges' attorney, that the defense be furnished with a copy of the 2,500-page report by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which served as the basis for the Government to reopen the case against the labor leader. The proceedings against Mr. Bridges were instituted under the new Alien Registration Act, which makes deportable an alien who at any time in the past has been identified with an organization advocating overthrow of this Government.

Case Reopened in February.

About two years ago the Labor Department conducted deportation proceedings against Mr. Bridges, alleging that he was a member of a subversive organization-the Communist party-but at the end of that trial the examiner, Dean James M Landis of the Harvard Law School, held it had not been determined that Mr. Bridges was a Communist When the case was reopened in February, Attorney General Jackson said the Government was moving "in the light of additional evidence" and by virtue of the new law.

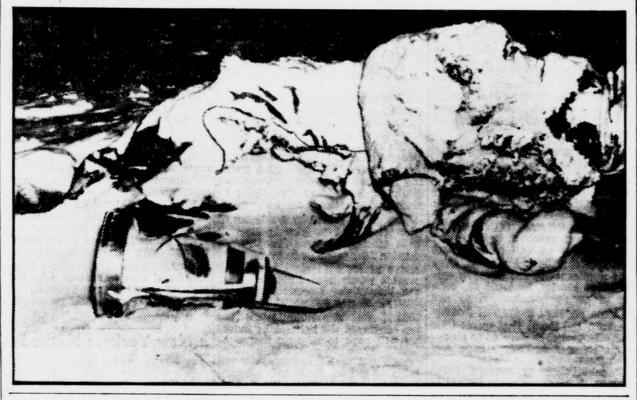

In arguing for delay today, Mrs. King said she had been advised by the treasurer of the Bridges Defense Committee that more time was that the transcript in the last hear- the case. ing cost $4,500 and that $2,500 more was spent to bring witnesses to the of labor seeking to undermine its orhearing. She said Mr. Bridges would have to depend on union sources for funds.

She also pointed out the Bridges union will open its convention in Los Angeles on April 7, but Judge Sears said he would adjourn the hearing in San Francisco for a week to allow the labor head to attend the Los Angeles sessions

The report supplied this testimony by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, on the possibility that the United States might strip itself of necessary equipment in helping other nations:

"I think that as we now have matour advantage. Our own actual resources will not be diminished until the finished products come off the production line and are ready for shipment. Increased production will add to our strength until the time for distribution begins.

"I will go further and say this: That I would be a much happier man today if I thought we had reached a point in our production development where we actually had more capacity than we required. That would be the most favorable situation possible for us in view of present conditions."

The general attitude, many said, was summarized in Representative 'Taber's statement:

"I don't see anything for the United States to do except to produce the sufficiency of airplanes, tanks, guns and ammunition of all types so that (Great Britain) can successfully combat Mr. Hitler in any event. Many provisions of the lease-lend bill are fantastic but it is now the law."

Most Capitol observers predicted that there would be numerous attempts to change the bill but that when all these were defeated, there would be a tremendous majority for it on the last vote.

The tentative schedule called for general discussion of the appropriation today, and tonight if necessary, and then for debate on amendments tomorrow. All leaders were agreed that the bill should be ready to send to the Senate Thursday morning, where equally speedy action was in touched and loved.

It is with a very real sense of satisfaction that I accept for the people of the United States and on their behalf this National Gallery and the collections it contains. The giver of the building has matched the richness of his gift with the modesty of his spirit, stipulating that the gallery shall be known not by his name but by the Nation's. And those other collectors of paintings and of sculpture who have already joined, or whose purpose to join their works of art to Mr. Mellon's -Mr. Kress and Mr. Widenerhave felt the same desire to establish, not a memorial to themselves, but a monument to the art they love and the country to which they belong. To these collections we now gratefully add the gift from Miss Ellen Bullard and three anonymous donors, which marks the beginning of the gallery's collection of prints; and also the loan collection of early American paintings from Mr. Chester Dale,

There have been, in the past, many gifts of great paintings and of famous works of art to the American people. Most of the wealthy men of the last century who bought, for their own satisfaction, the masterpieces of European collections, ended by presenting their purchases to their cities or their towns. Great works of art have a way of breaking out of private ownership into public use. They belong so obviously to all who love them -they are so clearly the property not of their single owners but of all men everywhere-that the private rooms and houses where they are hung become in time too narrow for their presence. The true collectors are the collectors who understand thisthe collectors of great paintings who feel that they can never truly own, but only gather and preserve for all who love them, the treasures they have found.

New Relationship Between People and Arts Tradition.

But though there have been many public gifts of art in the past, the gift of this National Gallery, dedicated to the entire Nation and containing a considerable part of the most important work brought to this country from the continent of Europe, has necessarily a new significance. It signifies a relation-a new relation here made visible in paint and in stonebetween the whole people of this country, and the old inherited tradition of the arts. And we shall remember that these halls of beauty, the creation of a great American architect, combine the classicism of the past with the convenience of today.

In accepting this building and paintings it contains, the to assert the purpose of the peo-ple of America that the freedom of the human spirit and human mind which has produced the world's great art and all its science--shall not be utterly destroyed.

Seventy-eight years ago, in the third year of the War Between the States, men and women gathered here in Washington to see the dome above the Capitol completed and the bronze Goddess of Freedom set upon the top. It had been an expensive and laborious business, diverting money and labor from the prosecution of the war, and certain citizens found much to criticize. There were new marble pillars in the Senate wing and a bronze door for the central portal and other such expenditures and embellishments. But Lincoln, when he heard the criticisms, answered: "If people see the Capitol going on, it is a sign we intend the Union shall go on."

We may borrow the words for our own. We, too, intend the Union shall go on. We intend it shall go on, carrying with it the great tradition of the human spirit which created it. The dedication of this gallery to a living past, and to a greater and more richly living future, is the measure of the earnestness of our intention that the freedom of the human spirit shall go on.

Bridge of Ships

The announcement by Lloyds that British, allied and neutral shipping losses during the first eighteen months of the war totaled just under 5,000,000 tons comes as a significant sequel to President Roosevelt's pledge of an American-made "bridge of ships" to carry arms and food across the Atlantic to those who are "fighting the good fight."

It is perfectly evident that merchant shipping is going to exert a profound if not a decisive influence on the course of the war this year. Hitler, foreshadowing an intensification of the counterblockade, has stated that the Reich's submarine. air and surface forces will overlook no opportunity to sink any ship carrying supplies to England, and there is every reason to suppose that this threat will be carried out if possible, for England can be brought to her knees without risking an invasion if the counterblockade can be made this defiant Nazi attitude, however, President Roosevelt has given unequivocal assurance that Britain and her allies will get the planes, arms and food that she needs from this country. The precise means by which the President proposes to immore ships will be needed.

The German toll of British and neutral shipping during this war has strike Germany but its inventor." 881,000 tons were sent to the bottom.

that in the very nature of the relationship between the Federation and its affiliates, the power of the parent body is absolute in regard to jurisdictional issues. This was the result for which the Federation argued in appealing from the District Court order, but the victory carries with it certain inescapable obligations. If the Federation contends on the one hand for undisturbed authority to define the area in which its constituent units are to operate, it must of necessity take whatever steps are called for to enforce its mandates. That is the sort of protection to which the public is entitled, but which it does not get when recalcitrants are free to tie up work without any fear of the consequences.

Day before yesterday, Adolf Hitler delivered an address at a memorial service in honor of German soldiers who fell in the World War. He spoke to a small selected audience of high military men and Nazi party leaders. However, his remarks were also intended for the greater audience of the German people. And there can be no doubt that the German public awaited anxiously a heartening word from their Fuehrer.

Spring is at hand, and with it momentous developments in both war and diplomacy. The ferocious Anglo-German duel on the sea and in the air is being stepped up to new intensity. The Balkan crisis nears a climax. The Japanese Foreign Minister is en route to Berlin for crucial negotiations. Above all, America has definitely become the "arsenal," not merely for Britain but for all nations opposed to the axis powers. President Roosevelt had just made that superabundantly clear, and the echoes of his forthright pronouncement were still ringing around the world. It was generally expected that Hitler's speech would be, in some sort, an answer to this and other aspects of the current situation.

Yet the Fuehrer said surprisingly little. Only by implication did Hitsufficiently effective. In the face of ler refer to the President's address, when he stated: "No power and no support from any part of the world can change the outcome of this battle in any respect. England will fall." Just so, the blockade will not never reached the high point of Since Hitler did not even hint at an April, 1917, when vessels aggregating imminent invasion of Britain, the logical implication is that his main reliance is upon the luftwaffe and submarines. By and large, this latest utterance of Hitler sounds tame compared with the flamboyant confidence of former days. Indeed, it may well betoken his inner perplexity. Britain is taking the military initiative throughout the Mediterranean and in the Balkans, while our own diplomatic initiative is obviously bearing fruit. Germany has not yet reacted strongly to either. No preventive stroke has been launched against officers. the British Army landing in Greece, and the German press is strangely moderate in its comment on America. Yet Hitler must move, and move soon, if only to bolster up his failing Italian ally. Hitler promised this when he said: "In the months of this winter our allies bore the brunt of the whole power of the British attack. but from now on German forces again will resume their share of this load." The pledge has thus seemingly been given. How and where it will be redeemed is still uncertain. The coming weeks will doubtless give the answer. For Hitler cannot allow the dio beam. general initiative to pass to his opponents. Time runs against him, and prolonged inaction would be fatal.

They do not have sufficient range to cross the intervening hostile territory and they could only reach England as cargo. The indications are that the British feel confident of holding England with the fighters they have or are able to produce themselves, plus, perhaps, a fractional part of the American pursuit production, and that American fighters are to have a role of honor in the anti-axis offensive stemming out of British and Greek victories in Africa and Albania.

Naval Academy

The Navy Department's plan for speeding training of officer personnel at the Naval Academy during the present emergency is not without precedent. During the first World of the body. War, courses were shortened at Annapolis, and the War Department took similar measures at West Point. The Naval Academy class which was scheduled to graduate in June, 1917, was commissioned two months earlier, and the class which ordinarily would have graduated in June. 1918, was commissioned in June, 1917. Three-year courses were the rule thereafter until the war ended. Under the proposed program, as outlined to a Senate committee by

Rear Admiral Chester Nimitz, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, the class of June, 1942, will be commissioned next February and all subsequent classes for an indefinite period will be graduated after only three years of instruction at the Academy. In order to avoid sacrificing too much study, Christmas leave will be cut, cruises will be curtailed and other short-cuts will be instituted. It is hoped that by this trimming process it will be possible to cram at least three and one-half years of essential instruction into three years. The shortening of the courses will

Hitler's Dilemma

That was in the third month of unrestricted submarine warfare, and before the convoy system had been worked out. The trend of sinkings since the start of this conflict, however, has been ominously upward. Prior to the fall of France weekly losses averaged 43,000 tons. During September, October and November of last year-after the Nazis had acquired bases along 2,000 miles of coastline from Narvik to Bordeauxthis weekly average jumped to 84,000 tons, and it may well go higher when the enlarged German submarine fleet gets into full action this spring. Reports that a U-boat has been sent to this side of the Atlantic may be a portent of what is to come.

This dark picture is not entirely devoid of bright spots, however. Since the start of the war Britain has acquired some 8,000,000 tons of ships from Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Denmark and the United States. She must also have built and commissioned a number of new vessels of her own, so that the total British merchant marine strength, which was something over 18,000,000 tons at the start of the war, must be well over 20,000,000 tons now, despite the losses just announced. This increase, of course, must be balanced against the corresponding loss to Allied and neutral shipping which formerly plied the trade routes to Britain.

The next few months should give some indication of the final outcome of this desperate struggle between the forces of blockade and counterblockade. For Britain, the all-important objective is to keep the freighters and the tankers moving through the 25,000 square miles of perilous waters constituting the western approach to England. Viewed from this distance, the task does not seem an impossible one if the President's "bridge of ships" can be transformed into something more than a colorful agure of speech.

The Court of Appeals decision dissolving the injunction through which the Brewery Workers' Union sought to exercise the right to organize beer drivers as against the claims of the Teamsters' Union has an important public aspect. #### Pursuits to Africa

Disclosure that many American pursuit airplanes are being shipped to Africa for use in the Mediterranean and Balkan theaters of war may have considerable significance. It could mean that the British are sufficiently assured of the strength of England's air defenses to divert pursuit planes, which are the most essential of all weapons of defense against air attacks, to other fronts. It certainly means that the axis powers are going to feel increasingly vigorous opposition in the Balkans and the Mediterranean area in general. It is an indication, above all, of an increasing spirit of British offensive against the axis, an offensive which military experts hold must be taken if the totalitarians are to be beaten. Official aircraft export figures of the Commerce Department show that 120 American airplanes went to the British Gold Coast of Africa during January and nineteen others to the Union of South Africa. It is said this trend is continuing as American production grows. Comparison of unit and cost values shows pursuit price range, and it is understood virtually all of them were Curtiss P-40 pursuits, which the presence of a striking force of 100 or more modern, high-speed fighters of the caliber of the Tomahawk, which British pilots have praised highly, in such a theater as the Mediterranean is highly important.

of the fleet. When it is realized that by 1946 or 1947, our Navy will have been approximately doubled in size, the necessity for accelerating the supply of officers can be appreciated. The speeding up of courses at Annapolis is a natural corollary of the emergency ship construction program. When the emergency is over, however, the Navy undoubtedly will lose no time in returning to the fouryear system, for experience has greater benefits for the prospective

When the Wright brothers in 1907 became the first men to fly in a heavier-than-air machine, the world gasped. Their initial flights covered only a few hundred yards. Later, they and others made planned flights from one point to another, depending, however, solely upon man's most important though primitive sensethat of sight. A long time elapsed before Marconi and his successors made possible the addition of a mysterious but powerful directional aid, the ra-

The spring bird migration, now on, brings a reminder that eons before the dawn of history nature scooped these performances. Millions of wild geese are now making their annual planned long-distance hops, undismayed by uncertainties of the route, and absolutely sure that they will get through safely and on schedule. Taking off from hundreds of natural airports in Louisiana, they are winging their way unerringly to hundreds some 2,500 miles distant, keeping in formations so perfect as to be the envy of military pilots. How do they do it? Landmarks merely serve as checks on their avigation, which depends upon something more fundamental than landscapes subject to alterations both by man and by nature. That something, for want of a better name, has been called instinct. The better term is now available-nature's directional beam, which is never turned off and from which they never stray. They are not such geese, however, as to despise mere man and scorn any valuable techniques he may have developed. Geese in America follow the practice of aviators in Europe, and fly high to avoid being shot down. So rarely are they shot that the attempt to do so is correctly described as a wild goose chase.

The Italians are said to have developed a plane which can do 620 miles per hour. When it gets into production they can put more zip into their retreats.

For several years archeologists exca-tained from excavation of a burial pit on the York River, near West Point, Va., by Dr. T. D. Stewart, Smithsonian Institution anthropologist. The great majouity of the bones, which were placed in the pit in bundles, showed no signs of charring. This shows, Dr. Stewart contends, that they could not have burned in the pit itself.

A clue to the puzzle comes from one of the oldest sources of Virginia history, shown that the longer course affords | the Relation of Virginia of the Englishman Henry Spelman, a contemporary of Capt. John Smith.

> "In ye Patomeke cuntry," wrote Spelman, as quoted by Dr. Stewart, "they haue an other god when they call Quioquascacke, and unto ther images they offer beades and copper if at any time they want rayne or haue to much. and though they observe no day to worshipe ther god: But uppon necessitye yet onc in the yeare, ther preests which are ther conjurers with ye men, women and children doe goe into the woods, wher ther preests makes a great cirkell of fler in ye which, after many obseruances in ther conjuration they make offer of 2 or 3 children to be giuevn to ther god if he will apeare unto them and shew his mind whome he desier.

> "Uppon which offringe they heare noyse out of ye cirkell nominatinge such as he will haue, whome presently they take bindinge them hand and footte and cast them into ye cirkell of ye fier, for be it the kinges soone he must be given if named by ther god. After ye bodies which are offered are consumed in ye fier and ther cerimonees performed the men depart merily, the weomen weaping."

Another possible explanation is that the bones, collected for some time before being put in a pit, finally interred with a ceremony which included the burning of others in Baffin Island, Canada, of one or more skeletons. The Spelman story, hitherto disregarded by anthropologists, is fundamentally improbable, Smithsonian experts point out. These Indians were Algonquins, members of the great and diverse family which inhabited the Atlantic seaboard from Labrador to North Carolina. #### Suggests Special Rush-Hour Pass For Motorists Who Leave Cars at Home

To the Editor of The Star: Many of us disagree with the condemnation that has been Mr. Van Duzer's misfortune to hear. In no way is he responsible for the primary cause of traffic congestion. This problem is relatively new and as long as more vehicles are manufactured than are retired from service, the more complex and acute the problem will become, and who can say where or when this trend will halt?

In seeking a solution let us remove the controversial factors such as number and location of traffic lights and consider only the type and number of vehicles in operation and on the streets during the rush hours.

No one can deny that buses and the other public vehicles are not only beneficial but essential to the welfare of our community. Trucks, through the fine cooperation of the stores and business establishments, are kept at a minimum.

There remains only the private automobile. Surveys have proven that an automobile requires 20 feet of the highway, whereas a bus requires but a small additional space and conveniently transports 40 and more passengers. The chief problem then is to consider ways and means of reducing the number of private vehicles. Through education and propaganda we may induce a few people to travel by bus or streetcar, but to get a eign secretary of the U.S.S.R., who was responsible for the resumption of the American-Soviet diplomatic relations, is in disgrace, along with all his collaborators, and, although Stalin has signed a treaty with the Reich, the impression in Moscow is said to have been one of delight.

Present Balkan Penetration Relations between the Reich and Russia are not what they appear be on the surface. The Russians strongly resent German penetration the Balkans, but feel that they are too weak to oppose it.

Furthermore, rightly or wrongly, there are many in high places in Moscow who believe that should Hitler fail in his attempt to conquer Britain, he will not give up the struggle, but will offer his followers a slice of Russia as a compensation

Fear of these officials is based on the fact that eventual entry of the United States in the war would further tighten the European blockade and Russia would be about the only major source of supplies for Germany.

For a short war, Hitler believes he can obtain enough supplies and raw materials from the conquered European countries. These, added to the vast stores he has accumulated in the five years prior to hostilities, are ample for a short conflict. But should the war be prolonged beyond expectations of the German high command, large supplies will be needed. These are to be found in Russia.

Political and economic agreements signed between Germany and the U.S.S.R. give Germany access to Russian surpluses. This year there has been little surplus. Last year the Russians were busy with the Finnish war. This year they had to concentrate large forces on the Rumanian-Russian border and had a sizable force on the German-Russian border, in the former Baltic States. All this was done at the expense of Russian agriculture and mining. Many other mobilized men had to work in arms factories.

Thus Germany got no more than 10 per cent of what she expected to obtain under the agreements. The dribble of Baku oil was particularly annoying to the Reich. It is doubtful whether Germany got 15 per cent of the amount of oil supply it hoped to receive.

According to reports from Germany, the problem of leather for soldiers' boots has become serious. Very little of the leather expected from Soviet tanneries arrived.

Want Pact With Japanese

Meanwhile, there is real uneasiness in Moscow over Germany's reluctance to force the Japanese to sign a non-aggression pact with Russia. Stalin appears to have an obsession on the subject. Neither he nor the Japanese would live up to the agreement if world conditions changed, but for the present it would greatly help Russia if it had Japanese assurances that there was no fear of a coup in Siberia.

For some reason Hitler has been lukewarm to all Soviet suggestions that he lend his good offices in bringing to a conclusion such a treaty. He told the Russian Ambassador at Berlin that the Soviet need not fear any aggressive action on the part of the Japanese, but beyond that, nothing has been done.

The suspicious Russians fear that should the German blitz against Britain fail Hitler may turn to the East. The fertile plains of the Ukraine and the rich oil fields of Azerbaidjan might be tempting. Should he attempt to take those territories

Mussolini launched his luckless legions in a final attack on the Greeks in Albania and was hurled back with disastrous losses. Strong British forces were landed in Greece - though probably not as many as the rumored 300,000 in this mechanized warfare. Yugoslavia, which had seemed about to disappear down the axis gullet, began to talk up and there were powerful hints of an effective Turk-Greek-British - Yugoslav combination to push the Nazis north of the Danube. Soviet Russia also bared its rather mildewed teeth along the Rumanian frontier. It seemed as though Germany was not destined to take any more countries "by telephone" and as though the guestrooms in Berchtesgaden would remain unoccupied.

The fact of American intervention in the war and of our return to streamlined Wilsonism in world affairs was, in fact, the outstanding event of Hitler's month. The symptoms which accompanied this moral and economic intervention were #### equally impressive. Japanese Warships Withdrawn.

Japanese warships were withdrawn from Saigon and the bases of Southern Indo-China, and from Tokio came placatory noises. Spain was reliably reported veering away from the axis, and Vichy-France, which had almost embarked on an armed attempt to smash the British blockade, pulled in its horns. Strong rumors were afoot that American food control would be established to prevent starvation in unoccupied France. Even Ireland was beginning to consider turning her naval bases over to Anglo-American use.

On the domestic American front the President's program was win-folk. By way of precaution they are rushing more men to arms, which likely means that they are crowding the million mark. There can be small doubt, too, that they have been in consultation with the Greeks, Turks and British. It is natural that Yugoslavia should proceed cautiously, especially

The principle of priorities is being applied to the Nation and it can be applied to Government. There are certain tasks which can wait till the national emergency is over. There are certain jobs that need not be filled when vacancies occur. There are certain officials who can be temporarily transferred to defense projects without in any way altering their status under existing appropriation bills. ning hands down. Of the opposition little was heard. A week earlier the opposition bloc had been talk-ing big about carrying their anti-intervention "crusade" to the country. But there was not a peep out of them, and it was believed that they were afraid to meet the test of their convictions before national public opinion. The $7,000,000,000 lease-lend fund was going through Congress like a red-hot needle through a haystack. Of opposition newspapers only the Chicago Tribune remained impenitent, as Hearst, Scripps-Howard and the Patterson press fell into line.

German assertions that our help would be too late to save England were not supported by the angry outcry against Roosevelt in the axis press. If we were too late, why should the Nazis worry about what we did?

Black Week for Hitler.

All in all it was a black week for Hitler. His preliminary victory in the Battle of the Balkans was placed in jeopardy. Latin Europe was no longer amenable-as both Franco and Petain resumed some independence and as Mussolini faced the harrowing circle of Italian defeats. Japan and Russia were becoming unreliable, and the moral energies of mankind were mustering in rebellion against the totalitarian theory. In short, the whole moral position of the "have-not" nations had been compromised. Their legitimate grievances with the injustice of the Versailles Treaty had been weighed against their treatment of the weaker nations which had fallen under their control, and the world could draw its owns conclusions.

Hitler seemed to be about where Napoleon was in 1813, with the Battle of the Nations taking form and his ramshackle empire beginning to crumble. It was a long way from Leipzig to St. Helena, but the end was clear when the forces of the French Revolution found expression in armed reaction against the Napoleonic empire. Today we see the forces of national socialism finding expression in armed reaction against Hitler's new Europe. So Washington is beginning to wonder whether the Nazi tide has not finally turned and the Third Reich on the ebb as a threat to the peace and liberty of the modern CAIRO, Egypt, March 18.—Italian counter-attacks against positions recently captured by the British in Eritrea have been repulsed with heavy Fascist losses, British general headquarters declared today. The British said the Italians left more than 800 prisoners in their hands.

(This, presumably, was at Cheren, mountain stronghold barring the British way toward Asmara, the capital of Eritrea, and Massaua, its chief port. The British command said yesterday that important heights outside Cheren had been taken.

(The Rome war bulletin also reported Italian counter-attacks and said both sides had suffered heavy losses.)

An R. A. F. communique said Britsh planes dive-bombed and machine-gunned Italian troops and gun positions in the Cheren area and attacked the railroad southeast of the town. One Italian plane was re-

Dignity and Simplicity..

Representative Jennings Randolph, chairman of the House District Committee, bounded out of the museum immediately after the ceremony, with the comment that "too many people are in there." About the building and collections, however, he was enthusiastic. "They give a feeling of tremendour strength not usually associated the choral group of the Takoma with art," he observed.

Another typical reaction came from Ward M. Canaday, Toledo in-Museum of Art and chairman of the Willys Motor Co. Board of Directors. He was impressed by the fact that paintings are "superbly displayed." An effect of dignity and simplicity is created, he said, "that is really representative of the Nation the gallery serves. It is an inspiration." Five motion picture newsreel companies were represented at the affair, with a battery of "inkie" lamps focused on the platform. Three radio networks broadcast the ceremony. A whole gallery chamber was devoted to the working press, to the right of the President, immediately opposite a room reserved for distinguished guests. Dedication speakers emphasized that the gallery is the creation of

The difficulty of setting up their own agency for the collection and delivery of air express packages threw the airlnes into the arms of the Railway Express Agency, according to information presented to the C. A. B., and permitted the railway organization to dictate air rates. As a result, it is said, rates for the flying of air express have been many times higher per pound than for the carrying of passengers. Actually, it is said, air express can be carried with profit at less than half the pound rate charged for passengers. This is due to the fact that the carrying of passengers makes necessary the carrying of extra equipment for physical needs which more than equals the weight of the passengers, but pays no revenue

If special cargo airplanes, carrying none of the non-revenue passenger equipment, with smaller and less highly-trained crews, are used for express business, rates can be charged which will be comparable with existing railway rates for a very much faster service, in the opinion of authorities.

Because of the complexities of the present economic situation growing out of the critical period through which the world is passing, this service to the public has now become of great importance in the economic and social structure of the country. Your management are United States Government bonds, either is acutely aware of its responsibility to its direct or fully guaranteed. During the past policyholders. So also, it recognizes that much public benefit will necessarily follow from its performance of that responsibility.

Nearly one-half of the people of the United States own life insurance. They are also a substantial factor in reducing the total cost of insurance to the policyholder.

Safety is the First Consideration

In making investments or loans it is of paramount importance that the policyholders' interests be protected and that safety be made the first consideration. That has been the policy of this Company since its organization. It will continue to be its policy.

The Public Interest is Served

But the Company is also very conscious of the public service that is rendered through the employment of its funds. In recent years, for various reasons, the individual who has accumulated savings during the course of the year has been more and more hesitant, or has experienced greater and greater difficulty, in making his own private investment of these savings. As a result the public has safety and in the public interest.

Loans and Investments at Work

Government Bonds .- This Company's investments in bonds aggregate $1,827,000,000. Of this amount, approximately $800,000,000 year the Company increased its holdings in this classification of investment by about $100,000,000. United States Government bonds are generally regarded as the prime investment security of the world. Their safety is beyond question. More than that, of national defense. cable as investments for a life insurance company. This Company, however, makes many mortgage loans and policy loans. Most of the policy loans are for small amounts. Mortgage loans are made in both small and large amounts. An examination of the Mortgage Loan Portfolio, which includes loans on business, residential and farm properties, shows that at the end of 1940 the Company had on its books 31,741 first mortgage loans on real estate, which, less reserves, amounted to about $420,000,000. About 87 per cent of these mortgage loans, that is 27,656, were for less than $10,000 each and aggregated over $117,000,000. About 60 per cent of the total number of such loans, that is 18,928, were for less than $5,000 each and aggregated over $60,000,000. About previous year. $70,000,000 of the Company's real estate loans were FHA-insured mortgage loans.

Stocks .- The Insurance Law of the State of New York does not permit life insurance companies to invest in common stocks. As a result they cannot legally provide equity or partnership capital, either for big business or for small business. However, they are permitted to invest in preferred and guaranteed stocks which measure up to certain legal requirements. This Company's holdings of such stocks, which provide additional funds for industry, amount to about $90,000,000.

All things considered, it is apparent that the assets of the New York Life Insurance Company are at work not merely to produce a return but also to do their part in advancing both economic and social progress.

New Insurance

New insurance during the year 1940 amounted to $425,970,300. There were 210,896 new policy contracts made during the year and the average size of new policies was $2,020. Although the volume of new business was slightly less than the previous year, nevertheless there was a substantial reduction in the aggregate volume of terminations, particularly lapses and surrenders. On December 31, 1940 the Company had 2,925,775 insurance policies in force for a total of $6,895,182,749, which represented an increase of 53,541 in the number of policies and $64,347,953 in amount as compared with the end of the

Assets and Liabilities

The total value of all bonds, which were valued in accordance with the law, was substantially below the total market value as of December 31, 1940. The aggregate amount of the Company's real estate mortgage loans was written down by $26,000,000 to the estimated value as of the end of the year. Furthermore, the total real estate owned by the Company was also marked down in 1940 and is carried at the estimated market value. Total admitted assets amount to $2,869,735,205, an increase of $107,456,72 over the previous year.

In the liabilities, by far the largest item $2,322,671,554, is the Insurance and Annuity Reserve computed by the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of New York. This reserve is the amount which the Company must hold in good assets so that together with future premiums and interest, it may be able to meet future policy obligations as they become due based on assumptions as to future rates of claim, interest and expense. The sum of $38,747,490 is set aside in the liabilities for dividends payable to policyholders in 1941. In addition to a Voluntary Investment Reserve of $50,000,000, the Company had, at the end of the year, a surplus, reserved for general contingencies, amounting to $127,073,603.

The present high standing of the Company, its conservative financial and actuarial standards, and the character of the organization both in the Home Office and the Field should be a source of great satisfaction to every policyholder.

"Just what do you hope to ac complish on your trip?" Dr. Amunaegui Solar was asked. "That's a very agreeable and practical question," was his immediat "I'm here at the invitation of the

All smokers do __ some of the time!

Here's smoking PLEASURE without penalties

Maybe you know you inhale . . . maybe you don't know it. When you do inhale, it's easy to see exposure to irritation increases! So-choose your cigarette with care!

There's a vital difference - reported by eminent doctors in authoritative medical journals. They compared leading cigarettes - and found this:

FOUR OTHER LEADING BRANDS AVER-AGED 235% MORE IRRITANT THAN THE STRIKINGLY CONTRASTED PHILIP MORRIS -AND, THE IRRITATION LASTS MORE THAN FIVE TIMES AS LONG!

Get that? - "235% more irritant ... lasting more than five times as long"! Especially if you inhale - change now to Philip Morris - for complete enjoyment of the world's finest tobaccos - with no worry about throat irritation.

AMERICA'S FINEST CIGARETTE

TASTE BETTER - PROVED BETTER - Better for your nose and throat - superiority recognized by eminent medical authorities!

Come in! Try the Packard Electromatic Drive!

Packard drivers are emphatic:

"There's nothing like Electromatic!"

"Most economical in op-eration-most simple in construction!"

You'll find the new Electromatic drive a revelation in smoothness and simplified, automatic driving almost unbelievable! There's nothing for your left foot to do - but that's only half the story! An amazing feature-well worth its extra cost! In addition: the good word about trade-in allowance on your present car will be music to your ears! Come in-take a "Point-A-Minute" drive-today!

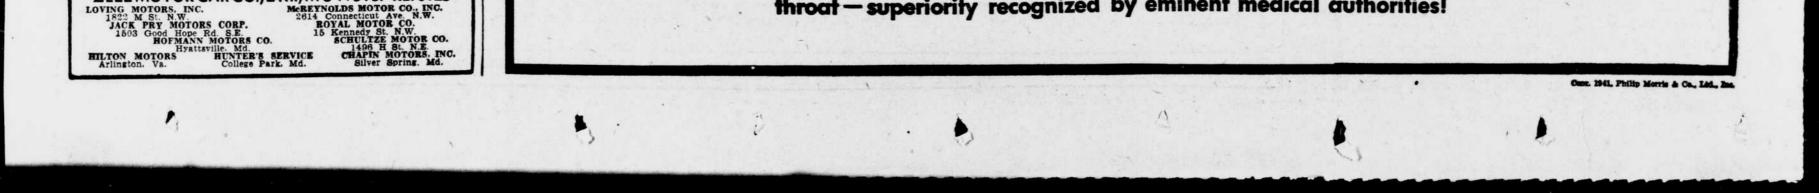

Delivered in Detroit, State taxes extra. NOT a Coupe - a SEDAN! No reduction in size, roominess or wheelbase!

Prices subject to change without notice.

FINANCIAL

THE LAING STAR, WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, MARCH 18, 1941.

A life insurance company is something more than a mere combination of steel, stone, statistics, and salesmen. Countless widows, fatherless children, and old people will endorse the view that it is very much a human institution supplying human needs as no other financial service can supply them. Today this company is privileged to look back over seventy years of "human relations" faithfully, efficiently, and economically safeguarded.

If a growing volume of business is a reflection of public confidence, this company may point with pardonable pride to the $37,098,043 by which its insurance account was increased in 1940. This gain, largest in any year of the Company's long history, brought its total insurance in force to $565,151,504.

The admitted assets backing up this great reservoir of future security were strengthened by the addition of $5,687,184.79 and now stand at $111,021,357.28. The ratio of assets to liabilities continues unusually high and puts the Company in an exceptionally strong position.

It seems timely to recall that, within the seventy years elapsed since the establishment of The Life Insurance Company of Virginia, our nation has experienced nine major depressions, along with the damaging effects of wars, epidemics, political upheavals, and rapidly changing business and social conditions. These disturbances have brought confusion and suffering to America's citizens, but have not shaken the solid foundation on which the institution of life insurance rests. This company has emerged from these tests stronger than ever before, offering convincing evidence of its ability to survive whatever difficulties may arise in the future.

Assets at December 31, 1940 $111.021.357.28 Policy Reserves and Other Liabilities-$93,402,617.38 Capital, Surplus, and Reserve for Contingencies-$17,618,739.90 Insurance in Force-

Explorer_democratic model

BY NORMAN CHANDLER, CHAIRMAN, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS COMMITTEE

70U are an explorer, modern 1941 American model. You go about your own private affairs. The world is brought to you, revealed to you in your own armchair. But you keep the power, the CONTROL of things. How? Why can you RELAX, yet know every fact and opinion that circulates here or abroad?

You give to your NEWSPAPERS the job of "EXPLORING" FOR YOU. It is their task to STAND GUARD, to WATCH, to REPORT, to explain as clearly and quickly as they can what goes on in the world around you.

They watch the city hall, the county courthouse, the state capitol, Washington, the market places, the capitals of the world -to report both THE GOOD AND THE BAD DEEDS of those in places of trust.

You, by yourself, could never do all this. While you watched in ONE quarter, some political scoundrel or some crooked confidence man might rob you in AN-OTHER. Or, just as likely, some heroic stand in your behalf might FAIL because you did not hear of it in time to lend your support!

You give to your newspapers the job of watching and reporting on business, on education, on religion-even on nature itself! What would a newspaper be without the weather report, the news of human behavior, the news of new thoughts,

But, you may ask, can I TRUST my NEWSPAPER?

Burn this truth into your mind: So long as all men are free to speak their minds, put their thoughts into printed words, the truth will out. Let one misled or misinformed paper bring a false report, and another will refute it. Let one advertiser misstate his claims, and his competitors will bring him to time.

Only in a dictatorship, where government controls what men may see and hear, can the truth be concealed. Where freedom of expression holds, facts will rule. Opinions may vary, in America, but not even one-the most stupid one -of America's newspapers will knowingly report a lie as a fact.

Why? Because America is FREE. Some other paper or some other person will inevitably discover the error and, being free, use it to shame the erring paper for its dereliction.

Please, America, keep it this way. Keep your papers free-free to criticize, free to praise, free to report to you what honest eyes see. For in a democracy, a modern, busy, complex form of life, your own safety. your own freedom depend on THIS KIND OF FREEDOM FOR YOUR NEWSPAPERS.

Celebrating 75 years of consistently superior ice cream

In 1866-just 75 years ago-a young man named Breyer made his first gallon of ice cream. He was neither a reformer nor a scientist. But he had one ambition : : : to make an absolutely pure, wholesome ice cream-the finest that could be produced.

So he pledged himself to use real cream, real cane sugar, pure, natural flavorings-and nothing else. No substitute ingredients ... no fillers nor artificial flavorings. This is the famous Breyers "Pledge of Purity." Year by year since 1866-through better methods of blending and freezing-by world-wide searching for finer ingredients-by creating new and more delightful ice cream flavors-Breyers Ice Cream has constantly improved in quality and taste.

Today-in our Diamond Jubilee year-Breyers is enjoyed by more people-is served in more hospitals and schools-than any other ice cream in America ... a striking tribute to its quality and delicious flavor.

U. S. Attorney May Get Results of Dog Tag Shortage Probe

'Final' Report Session On Evidence Will Resume Tomorrow

District investigators may turn over to the United States attorney "for whatever use he sees fit" the results of the protracted inquiry which has been made into shortages reported in the District's dog tag accounts.

A "final" report on the investigation was to have been made today by Capt. Earl Hartman of the police special investigation squad and District Tax Collector Guy W. Pearson, In preparation for this, these officials had placed before the Commissioners a huge stack of documents, consisting of photostat reproductions of thousands of dog tag coupons and other District records. However, Engineer Commissioner David McCoach had to go to the Capitol this morning and the meeting broke up shortly after it started. The session was to be resumed at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow. Capt. Hartman took with him one or two of the large sheets of the records.

All through the long investigation Capt. Hartman and other investigating officials have refused to say whether they had found any evidence which would warrant an arrest or which would fix responsibility for the $10,000 or more shortages, or whether they had found who was responsible for the destruction of missing records for several of the past years, destruction of which had not been authorized by the city heads.

It has been unofficially estimated that if shortages occurred in these years, somewhat on the same basis as they were found to have occurred in years for which records were available, the total shortages may be nearer $20,000 than $10,000.

One Commissioner said after to day's meeting that if Corporation Counsel Richmond Keech should find the investigation results warrant the action, the "evidence" may | accidents in the District yesterday be turned over to the United States attorney. This Commissioner said the final report of the investigators had not yet been filed with the Commissioners and had not yet been referred to Mr. Keech.

to take at this time All three Commissioners voiced appreciation for the efforts being made by Mr. Schulte as chairman of a traffic subcommittee of the House District Committee to improve Washington's traffic situation. However, they all reached the ame view that the District was not ready for "such a drastic" step.

Mr. Schulte and the Commissioners are at odds over the use of parking meters. Mr. Schulte has suggested that their use be abandoned whereas the city heads have asked congressional approval of a plan to extend their use, arguing that the public and the merchants apparently like them and that their use is bringing some additional revenue into the District tills.

Commissioner Young said he felt from prospective selectees and there were possibilities of developing parking areas on the fringes of the congested area and short-run buses which might be operated by the Bethesda has departed from its re-Capital Transit Co. at fares of 5 quired duties to learn the present cents.

Many Dinner Parties Given Before Reception Marking Opening of Mellon Structure

By KATHARINE BROOKS.

The mamouth reception which marked the formal presentation of the National Gallery of Art and its priceless collections will not soon be forgotten by the thousands who were there. Important officials, diplomats and leaders in the art world, as well as resident society, were considerably delayed in arriving by the jam of four lanes of traffic on Constitution avenue. However, cars moved as rapidly as possible and once inside the building no effort was spared in arranging for the comfort of so large a number of guests.

Before the arrival of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt the wide corridors and spacious rooms were well filled, and costumes of the guests ranged from street attire to the most formal evening clothes. Among the striking costumes worn was that of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York, who was dressed in deep rose and gold brocade. The dress was made on severely simple lines, without trimming, and about her snow-white hair she wore a wide band of the material. Her only jewels last evening were a necklace of large, square emeralds in unusual settings and a large emerald and diamond pin on her bodice. She was with her sister-in-law, Countess Szechenyi, widow of the former Hungarian Minister at this post, who wore a simple gown of white chiffon and lace, a diamond necklace and diamond and pearl pendant earrings. Over her gown she wore a short jacket of sable, and Mrs. Vanderbilt had fox fur about her shoulders.

Guatemalan Minister Hails Co-operation In South America

Dr. Recinos Addresses Pan-American Club Of Central Y. M. C. A.

Senor Dr. Adrian Recinos, Minister from Guatemala to the United States, last night declared it "highly encouraging" that a "real co-operation is being attained in our continent in the economic as well as in the cultural field."

Speaking at a meeting of the Pan-American Club of the Central Young Men's Christian Association in the building at 1736 G street N.W., Dr. Recinos expressed pleasure over the interest the people of this Nation and those of Latin America are taking in each other. "To accomplish the ends and purposes of the present inter-American movement," he said, "we must try to get better acquainted; we must understand and respect each other and we must overcome the barriers that separate us, such as distance, the difference in the language and the educational influences and prejudices which sometimes prevent us from getting a clear and impartial view.

He praised the part the Pan-American Club is playing "to bridge education have created between us." He urged the teaching of Spanish in this country "to give at least a foundation to all those who in the coming years will enter the field of inter-American relations."

Dr. Recinos was introduced by Judge George D. Neilson. The program included playing of the Guatemala national hymn and "God Bless America" on the piano by Miss Lillian E. Gagnon; a brief address, by Ralph J. Hopkins, who was mas-ter of ceremonies; a vocal and guitar number by Miss Eithne M. Golden, dancing by Miss Lillian Hoffman, vocal selections by Mme. Malda Fani d'Aulby, accompanied by Allison Sanderford, and a motion picture. More than 180 persons attended the meeting.

Torpedo Testing Range Soon to Be Reopened

The naval torpedo testing range in the Potomac River off Piney Point, Md., will be reopened shortly after having been closed during the winter months, it was learned yesterday.

A crew of men has been sent to the range to do preliminary work, including the setting of range markers in the river designating the danger area where the metal 'fish" will be fired and tested.

Four lighted bell buoys were reestablished, and the St. George Island bar light was replaced by a first-class special can marker. The range was established last July 19 and was used until winter weather halted operations. Located across the Potomac from the Dahlgren Proving Ground, new torpedoes and reconditioned projectiles are trucked across the new bridge for testing and storing.

Rescue of Spanish Refugees Pictured as Good-Neighbor Aid

Prof. Huntington of Yale Denies Project Is Pro-Communist

This country has an opportunity to promote the "good neighbor" policy by supporting the American Rescue Ship Mission to bring thousands of Spanish war refugees to the Western Hemisphere—a project in which many of the Latin American countries are interested, Prof. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University declared yesterday.

Sponsored by the United Spanish Aid Committee, the mission plans to send a ship to Europe for the transportation of Spanish Republicans and volunteers from France and French Morocco to the New World.

British Permission Forecast.

Interviewed yesterday at the local headquarters of the mission, Prof. Huntington emphasized that "if we in the United States turn a cold shoulder to the ship we are giving a slap in the face to the good neighbor policy and are going back on our own declarations as to friendliness and co-operation with Latin America." He said the British are willing

He said the British are willing to issue a charter for such a ship as soon as it is obtained. A vessel which the organization had obtained previously was refused such a charter because it had been used by an enemy country.

Asserting that many of the Spanlards now in French concentration camps were leaders against oppression, Prof. Huntington said that they and their descendants "would greatly benefit the countries where they settle."

Denies Communism Claim.

Mexico, he remarked, has shown its willingness to serve as a distribution center for the refugees until they are admitted to other Latin American nations.

He described as completely unfounded the charge of Communism that has been leveled at the project. Among those backing it, he said, are representatives of Quaker groups, prominent educators, social workers and others "whose main objective is obviously the relief of human suffering."

As for funds, Prof. Huntington revealed that several similar groups in South America have guaranteed to contribute $75,000 for the plan as soon as a ship is chartered.

Citizens Authorize Study Of Special Court Plan

A study of the feasibility of a plan that would affect the juvenile court system, domestic court, the W. P .A., P. W. A. and the relief situation in Washington will be made by the Lincoln Park Citizens' Association, it was decided last night at a meeting held in the Kingsman School.

The proposal was made by Mrs. E. R. Mocse, chairman of the Welfare Committee. She will head a committee of five to investigate the matter.

Mrs. Moose told the group that if a special court were set up to coordinate problems of juvenile delinquency and martial relations, with the power to rehabilitate, relief and W. P. A. rolls wouldn't be reduced.

At the request of Mrs. Moose, the group reiterated its contention that the entire Board of Directors of the District of Columbia Tuberculosis Association resign.

Capt. Joseph Morgan of the fifth precinct was indorsed to succeed Inspector William Holmes, who is resigning April 1.

The association again requested the installation of traffic lights at Eleventh and M streets S.E. and Eighth and M street S.E. A. D. Calvert president, presided

Griffith Fights Minors' Bid for Voice in Choice of Baseball Commissioner

By FRANCIS E. STAN, Star Staff Correspondent

For Solidity Look to the Reds

ORLANDO, Fla., March 18 .- It may not be so easy for the Cincinnati Reds to win a third straight pennant this year. For one thing the Brooklyn Dodgers are supposed to have improved and the Cardinals are all set to play a full season under one manager, the capable Billy Southworth. For another thing, Ernie Lombardi's ankle is acting up. It may develop that Old Schnozzle may be all finished.

But the Reds remain the team to beat. They were the solid club! of both major leagues last year. They won the National League pennant going away, finishing 12 games ahead of the second-place Dodgers and 16 ahead of the third-place Cardinals. Unless Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters have gone over the hill since last October, they have the best pitching staff in baseball.

Bill McKechnie was talking about his club the other day when the radical knight and defender of all Reds came to Orlando. "I'm still satisfied," he said. A couple of weeks that is pure, just and fair to the earlier, when Lombardi was a holdout, he had said the same thing. Hav- American League, mounted his 120ing Lombardi signed but a possible cripple apparently did not change McKechnie's opinion. Even without the big catcher, McKechnie seemed reasonably confident.

The Infield Made Them Champions

To the casual bystander the Reds look better than ever these days. marily seems to concern the right Shortstop Billy Myers is gone, but his place is taken by a harder hitter, of the minor leagues to have a voice Eddie Joost. A new outfielder, Jimmy Gleeson, may run Ival Goodman in the selection of the next czar of to the bench. There is slightly more power.

But the secret of the Reds is not their power. It may not even be their pitching. That is to say, pitching may not be entirely the medium by which they win pennants. We recall a conversation some time ago the same opinion. with Jack Doyle, the odds-maker. This was early in February, but it Griffith thinks the major leagues seems like a long time ago because Doyle at the time was saying he prob- owe the minors nothing. "Three ably wouldn't make a baseball book this year. "The draft." he explained. times in the last 30 years they have "I don't know what Uncle Sam is going to do with Greenberg, Arnovich, Rizzuto and those fellows."

But the important thing Doyle said was to watch the Reds and note Landis' salary, besides. And, finally, how the infield won ball games. "Infields win the pennants," he went on, we ain't a-gonna be governed by the "Show me a club with a crack infield and I'll show you a pennant con- National League, by sin." tender."

Lombardi-for-Danning Trade Is in Air

We watched the Reds beat the Nats on their trip here. The score Bradley of the Indians and Ameriwas 4 to 1. There were times when the American Leaguers appeared as though they would stage big innings. Like the Tigers appeared in the though they would stage big innings. Like the Tigers appeared in the last World Series. But the Cincinnati infield consistently snuffed out the rallies. Even without Myers the Reds have a great defense.

Some sort of a tip-off on the world champions was provided last summer. They won 41 games by one-run margins. If they had lost those 41 games they would have won only 59 games all season. The Bees, who finished seventh, won 65.

A team that can win the close ones figures to be the solid club and the Reds sound and seem solid. Behind Derringer and Walters they have the minors. Junior Thompson, Joe Beggs, Whitey Moore, Monte Pearson, Jim Turner and Tod Pressnell to pitch. They have the infield and a fair outfield.

McKechnie won't admit that he is worried about Lombardi, but the baseball writers who follow the Reds say that big Lom won't be around for long. They seem to think that he is going to New York in exchange for Harry Danning of the Giants. Getting a catcher as good as Danning should run a whole week. Today is a big order, but that is the kind of an order McKechnie has been

Small Outfits Likely To Gain Point, Says Leader Bramham

By GAYLE TALBOT.

Associated Press Sports Writer ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18 .- If everybody concerned is telling the absolute truth, then the meeting of major and minor league baseball executives here tomorrow threatens to be dull going. There isn't a fight in sight, they all de-

"In fact," added William G. Bramham, head of the minor leaguers, "I wouldn't be surprised if it turns out to be the most harmonious meeting in history. We minor leaguers certainly have no quarrel with the big leaguers."

"That's right," asserted President Ford Frick of the National League. "I know we don't want to fight any-body. I get enough of that during the regular season when some of my best friends quit speaking to me temporarily."

New Agreement Due.

The announced purpose of tomorrow's all-day gathering is to go thoroughly into the major-minor league agreement which terminates next year and see what can be done about improving it. There can be no definite action now, as any suggestions made by this meeting will have to be voted upon by all leagues, big and little, before their adoption. Besides Bramham and Frick. those due here for the conclave are George Trautman, president of the American Association: Dr. E. M. Wilder of the South Atlantic League, Trammell Scott of the Southern Association, President Will Harridge of the American League, Branch Rickey, St. Louis Cardinals; Ed Barrow, New York Yankees; Clark Griffith, Washington: Warren Giles, Cincinnati Reds; Leo Bondy, New York Giants, and Joseph Hostettler, representing the Cleveland Indians.

Brooklyn Bandwagon Gaining Some Riders

The press box jinx will be on the Reds this year. After they were whipped in four straight games by the Yankees in the 1939 series there was a decided swing to the Cardinals last spring. But when the Reds came back to win as they did, and when they outsteadied the Tigers in the 1940 series, they established themselves in the minds of the so-called experts as the team to beat, both in the National League and in the coming series.

Even with Lombardi doubtful, no other club can claim the balance of the Reds. 'The Yankees' pitching is doubtful. The Tigers' infield is shaky. The Cardinals must explain how they finished 16 games off the pace and how, at one time last year, they were 2712 games back of the Reds

There is much talk about the Dodgers. A lot of people are hopping on the Brooklyn bandwagon. There is reason to like the Dodgers, but, by the same token, there is reason to doubt them. A certain amount of unity is lacking in the front office, what with General Manager Larry MacPhail and Manager Leo Durocher indulging in periodic sniffing matches. There is, too, that 50-game exhibition schedule. That is a lot of baseball to play prior to plunging into a 154-game season

For solidity, look to the Reds. There is no guarantee they will repeat. The race may not be to the swift always but, as somebody once wrote, that is where to look.

18 (N.A.N.A.) .- They were discussing Joe Gordon's future as a first baseman. I was sitting in the stands with Joe Tinker at the time-Tinker of the old Cubs' "Tinker to Evers to Chance" fame.

"Gordon can't miss," Joe said. "He's a naturall ball player. He'll make plays at first which will be hair-raising. A natural ball player can play almost anywhere, except maybe pitch or catch.'

So we drifted into a discussion, seeking to name the greatest allaround ball player baseball had ever known-the man who could handle more jobs well

But did you know he had starred in every position on the club except in the box? He played every outfield and every infield position, including catcher. He led his league in batting for seven or eight years. And he used to steal from 50 to 60 bases a season. There was a ball player. Better than Babe Ruth? I'd hate to say. But old Hans was close. He even might have been a good pitcher, for he had a great arm." "Now, you pick one," Tinker said,

"who belongs with these."

"What about George Sisler?" I suggested. "Sisler started out at Michigan as a star left-handed pitcher. He might have been one of the best in baseball. But they needed his hitting. After that he was a crack outfielder, just as Ruth was. Then they moved him to first base, where he is one of the few to challenge Hal Chase. Sisler hit as high as .420. And he was one of the best base runners the game ever knew."

Grover Alexander, Cy Young and Lefty Grove. Nap Lajoie was a great infielder. Tris Speaker and Joe Jackson were among the best outfielders-as is Joe Di Maggio today.

But the argument was about the all-around entries.

I also nominated John Montgomery Ward of Providence and the old New York Giants. "That was before my day,' Tinker said. "Ward," I said, "was a star outfielder, a brilliant infielder, and a field events such as the high jump, better pitcher than Hoss Radbourne, whom he discovered Ward pitched at least two no-hit games, one of them perfect. And he was one of the best base runners that ever lived. He also was a manager and scout at the time.

'Maybe so," Tinker said, "but let's keep more modern. Let's not go back any farther than 1900."

Trio Selected Among Greatest Hitters

We finally settled on the Big Three for all-around ability-Ruth, Wagner and Sisler.

All were great hitters-among the greatest. Two of them-Ruth and Sisler-were star pitchers, although Sisler never had the chance Babe had to prove his ability along this line. Wagner and Sisler were two of the best base runners in baseball. Ruth, with his 230 to 250 pound body operating on slender ankles, was out of the running here. Wagner was never a pitcher, but he proved that he could handle the eight remaining jobs, as well as lead his league at bat year after year and run bases like a scared covote.

There are many others-Rhody Wallace, an old-timer; Jimmy Foxx of the Red Sox, Bucky Walters of the Reds, Freddy Lindstrom of the Giants, and many more.

But the Triple Top remain as stated-Ruth, Wagner and Sisleras long as Tinker won't let me ring in my old golfing partner from the late 80s and the early 90s-John Montgomery Ward.

Full Program Needed.

Consensus of leading coaches is that Washington should have a big indoor high school meet sometime during the winter with a whole list of events ranging from sprints up to the 220 or 440 and runs of half and mile. They also would like pole vault and shotput.

Ray Alwee rick C. 135 Tai Running an indoor track meet is an expensive proposition, they understand, but they believe it could be done in conjunction with meets such as the C. U. or W. A. A. by holding a full high school program in the afternoon when the track and infield already is set up for the big night events. A few top scholastic events could be carried over into the evening program as now done. One reason all District schools didn't enter the indoor meets is the lack of events. Only when they have a standout performer is it worth while to pay entry fees. Coaches also have complained of the necessity of competing with prep schools in these outside meets and they really aren't in the class with such as Seaton Hall of Newark, N. Replacing Injured Jockey, He Rode Long Shot as Starter

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., March 18 .- An accident to a fellow apprentice gave Conn McCreary the chance that started him on the road toward the year's American riding championship. Eddie Connolly, a promising youngster, took a spill at an early Hialeah Park program this year and McCreary was picked to substitute for him on Frances Keene, an unknown filly.

Francis Keene pounded home, at $94.60 for two, and McCreary was off on his amazing string of successes both at Hialeah and at the Tropical meeting now underday.

There was nothing in the tiny St. Louis rider's early record to foreshadow his remarkable development. He was astride only 10 winners between the time he first triumped in July, 1939, and his start with Frances Keene.

Since that victory on Frances Keene, however, McCreary has the first two weeks of Tropical's spring meeting. Quiet-spoken and unassuming, the poker-faced youngster-he's only 19-is unusually powerful for his 96 pounds. He is built like a wrestler, with much of his weight in the shoulders and chest. Strangely enough, McCreary's small stature may be a factor to deprive him of one of a jockey's big thrills-a mount in the Kentucky Derby. He is under contract to the Woodvale Farm and would get to

Capital Linkswomen to Announce Heavy and Attractive Schedule Thursday

Play Starts in April Faircloth and Gordon, Capital From the PRESS BOX And Will Run Until Lads, Shining for N. C. State Outlook for Terry

By JOHN LARDNER,

Is Pretty Mournful

Special Correspondent of The Star. FORT MYERS, Fla., March 18 (N.A.N.A.) .- Heavy, heavy hangs over the head of William Harold Terry. The cool man from Memphis, manager of the New York Giants through thick and thin since the day he took the stick from John McGraw in the middle of 1932, is back on trial again after 10 years, during which time his teams won three pennants and one World Series.

Rightly or wrongly, the Giant office expects a pennant every year. and so do the New York fans-if not a pennant, then a strong contender. That's what they think that G-I-A-N-T-S spells.

It is bad enough with the Yankees winning flags and clients in New York. In the last two seasons, the desperate Dodgers of Brooklyn, just a knife's throw across the river, have made it doubly bad. Leland Stanford MacPhail threw the knife. and the Dodgers began to capture the glory and the cash business. If Brooklyn should win the National League pennant this year. Mr. Terry, now a baseball manager and a gentleman farmer, may be not official, but it's no secret in the lowers that Terry's employers expect him to deliver, right speedily.

Giants Don't Appear To Be Improved

When you look over the Giant squad for 1941, you wonder, "with what'?

Last year the Giants finished sixth. Of the five clubs which ran ahead of them, all but Cincinnati are improved, and Cincinnati has a trifling matter of a 271/2-game margin over New York to fall back

The Giants, on the other hand, are not improved. That hot breeze on the backs of their necks is the breath of the Boston Bees. If the Giants fall to seventh place, what will the customers say? One wonders. One scratches one's head. One feels sorry for William H. Terry. Maybe more than one, for all I know

This year the Giants have a real ball player, name of Babe Young. Then they have another real ball ment when you carry over a playoff player, name of-let's see, what to the next day?" Mrs. Weible will is that fellow's name? Well, they have Babe Young. He plays first base.

Bill Jurges, with his dizzy spells, is a problem. He can't be counted and the loss of Jurges has shattered the Giants for two years running. In 1939, he expectorated shyly in the face of Umpire William vear wa beaned by Bucky Walters. Today he still hears bells in his ears.

Keeler Memorial Event Is First; Congressional May Get D. C. Tourney

By WALTER McCALLUM. The complete schedule of feminine golf events for 1941, in a crowded slate to start late in April and to run through every month until early November, will be announced Thursday when the Executive Committee of the Women's District Golf Association holds its third meeting at Kenwood.

First of the feminine links affairs will be the tourney for the Keeler Memorial Trophy, at the Washington Golf and Country Club late in April, to be followed within a few days by the event for the Keefer Trophy at Chevy Chase. The first named tourney will be open to all players, while the Keefer event is to be open only to class A players, with handicaps up to 18.

Danning Big Problem In Outfield Post

Harry Danning is a problem, with fly balls and trade rumors whistling around his ears. Mel Ott, Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher and Joe Moore, with whom the Giants won their last championships, are slipping downhill. Moore may not even play regularly. Those of you who saw Ott at bat and Hubbell on the mound last year could not kid yourselves. They didn't have it any more.

And Ott and Hubbell, to do them credit, are not kidding themselves, either.

Mr. Terry professes to detect symptoms of full-blown genius in a thin young outfielder named John Rucker, nephew of Napoleon of the same ilk. Rucker is fast. When charge of tournaments. Moe Arnovich-journeyman ball player. Lou Chiozza-journeyman ball player. Joe Orengo-journeyman ball player. Ken O'Dea-J. B. P. With such as these, Will Terry aims to redeem himself.

Hartnett Might Help With Slab Staff

With such as these, and with a couple of pitchers, Bob Bowman and Cliff Melton. And his luck with the pitchers depends on one man, Gabby Hartnett, a very interesting figure in the drama.

Gabby, unloaded by the Cubs, now is a Giant strategist. Of course, he can help Mr. Terry with occasional catching and pinch-hitting, but his chief value is strategic. Bowman is a good prospect. Melton is a former prospect, living on his memories of the long ago, back in 1937.

Hartnett is helping these fellows and should help them more. This might, conceivably, win 20 games with sharp handling. The pitching is the only department where you see hope for the Giants. And if the pitching develops well, and Hartnett has a hand in it-well, you perceive where that road leads.

All told, the outlook is so mournful for William Harold Terry that I am tempted to tear up an old New Year resolution and wish the gentleman the best of luck.

Being a Smartly Dressed Career Woman Is Half the Battle in Business

Choose the Best-Looking Clothes You Can Find, But Don't Be 'Frilly'

Look Your Most Attractive At All Times in the Office; Avoid Common Mistakes

By Helen Vogt

If anybody wants to know where we are after they read this column, ust tell 'em we've left town.

There's nothing like sticking out your neck-and knowing it. Which is precisely what we're doing in this short discussion on proper clothes for office wear. Well do we know that there are countless schools of thought on the subject, particularly in this city where the working girl is a sort of cross-section of the fashion tastes of these United States. Probably we're going to tread on somebody's toes. Undoubtedly we're going to get letters disagreeing violently with everything we say. But we still insist that there are certain "do" and "don't" regulations that should be followed.

From what we've noted around town, there are four definite groups of women, each representing a different mode of dressing. First, there is the business girl who can't realize that her high school or college days are over and who continues to wear socks, saddle shoes and 'kerchiefs. She goes in for sweaters and plaid skirts and even appears with bows in her hair. She's usually young and attractive, which helps, but such attire doesn't help her on her way nor encourage her recognition as an efficient, capable business woman.

Then, there's the girl who has never recovered from her home town, so to speak. Uusally she has $-

It Isn't Difficult

It may seem like a terrific effort to dress in your best "bib and tucker" and set off for a day in the office, but once the habit is acquired and you become known as a smartly dressed business girl, it's well worth while. Choose your clothes with care, and include at least one trim basic suit, possibly in gray or beige tweed. "Pep it up" with a broadbrimmed straw sailor with red band and a bright red snakeskin bag. In such an ensemble you'll feel and look your best.

'Going Steady' at Teen Age 'Qust Looking, Has Many Disadvantages; Should Be Discouraged

Group Action on Part of Girls Necessary if Community Has Adopted Custom

By Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison

The disadvantages of "going steady" when you are in your teens have been pointed out again and again. We've added our voices to the chorus on occasion

Nevertheless, we realize that in some high schools and in some whole communities, a girl who dates several different boys is considered a twotimer. People figure that, at best, she's flighty and frivolous, and at worst, she's just plain boy-crazy. This attitude is regrettable; but if you're attending a school or living in a town where it exists, you're faced with a bit of a problem.

Johnny takes you out a couple of times and immediately people look upon you as "his girl." Most of the other boys promptly withdraw from the picture. If one of them does ask you for a date and you accept, Johnny promptly boils over and thinks you are handing him his passport. And you must immediately decide between giving up your dating independence or giving up Johnny.

The situation wouldn't be so serious if only Johnny felt that way about it. But the trouble is, the boy who succeeds him in your dating book probably has the same attitude. As a result, any girl who is determined not to go steady finds that she's getting and losing one boy after another, and before long the idea is pretty well established that there must be something wrong with her.

Frankly, we don't see that any one girl can do much about solving this girl can do much about solving this problem. What's needed is a general change in attitude toward exclusive dating in that school or that com-munity. And such changes aren't Arms Need accomplished overnight. Of course, if you are very likable and extremely popular, you can pretty much make your own rules. Reducing You can let Johnny know that you like him and that you enjoy his company, while still maintaining your right to go out with any other nice boy who extends you an invitation. You can point out that you have no intention of settling down By Patricia Lindsay to any one boy until you've learned more about all boys, that you aren't fat tends to accumulate on the upper ready for any serious romancing, and that what you want is a lot of

But if you are just an ordinary girl and not a popularity princess, any attempt at sticking to such a program in the face of a whole community's opposition is likely to bring you little but headaches and heartaches.

Miss Bankhead Returns In Most Brilliant Role

Regina of 'Little Foxes' an Evil Lady, But Actress Makes Her Creature Of Powerful Fascination

By JAY CARMODY.

Regina Giddens, the superb villainess of "The Little Foxes," is no lady to love. On the contrary, her Borgia-like way with the bodies and souls of her immediate family has evoked a murderous rage in the hearts of audiences ever since Tallulah Bankhead began to play her two years ago. Despite her wanton inhumanity, Regina left at least one member of the National audience last night with a feeling of regret that she

"The Little Foxes" has been around too long, and been praised too highly, to leave anything unsaid as to its merit as drama. There is to be added at this point only the fact that the company which brings it to the National this time is substantially the same as last year's. Missing is Patricia Collinge who made so unforgettable the tragic sweetness of Regina's sisterin-law, Birdie. Miss Collinge's loss is not the acute one you might imagine it to be. Her place is taken quite capably by Marie Carroll. With her, the play remains at that standard of presentation which it requires to give the full value of Miss Hellman's study of an evil family

Incidentally, in town yesterday to discuss the screen adaptation of the play which Samuel Goldwyn will produce was Director William Wyler. Mr. Wyler, whose aptitude for work in an atmosphere of brooding tragedy was amply demonstrated in "Wuthering Heights," would appear to be just the man to plant "The Little Foxes" on the screen

His leading lady, who, of course, will be no lady this time, is Bette Davis. Miss Davis, working her first loan-out under her Warner contract, will find Regina just the type of magnificently villainous character she prefers to play. It will be the second time that she has stepped into a role which Miss Bankhead created on the stage. The first was "Dark Victory," in which she reveled in one of those almost deliriously emotional roles which make acting look better than it probably is. It almost won Miss

Davis an Academy award; undoubtedly would have had she not been even better-the Academy thoughtin "Jezebel."

Paulette Goddard and Olivia de Havilland are getting ready for the cinematic fight of the year. At the end of this week they will p.m. play the key scene in "Hold Back the Dawn."
