Dutch Leonard's identification number of 16 was very appropriate this afternoon as he defeated the Athltics, 8-4, in the second game of the Shibe Park double-header, getting his 16th victory of the year, The Nats dropped the first game by a very similar score, 8 to 3. Leonard led the A's from the second inning when Roberto Ortiz

Each time Philadelphia became troublesome, Dutch turned on a little more speed or his knuckle ball became more elusive, and the Macks' chances went up the flue.

The Nats scored in five of the nine innings and had men on base in all but two. Beckman, who started the game, had to retire in the sixth when a return throw from Catcher Hal "...gner split his pitching hand FIRST INNING.

Roosevelt Accused of Giving Red Tape Is Worse Shooting Orders to Navy To Provoke War Incident

By the Associated Press

The German government admitted today that a Nazi U-boat fired two torpedoes at the United States destroyer Greer in the Atlantic Thursday in defense against an attack.

A communique said the submarine commander was not in position to know the nationality of the destroyer, but that the surface vessel attacked him inside the German blockade zone and he discharged two torpedoes "in justifiable defense."

Germany officially charged that the incident proved President Roosevelt had given shooting orders to the United States Navy and now was trying to provoke incidents to force the American people into war.

D.N.B., the official German news agency, which carried the communique, reviewed the American announcement of Thursday Two Hurt When Sub night, which said the Greer, en route to Iceland with mail for the United States garrison there, was attacked by an unidentified sub-Torpedoed Ship marine and replied with depth charges.

U-Boat Attacked Without Provocation.

Actually, the German statement said, the U-boat was attacked with depth bombs without provocation, at a point about 200 miles souhwest of Reykjavik, Iceland, the attack continuing for about 12 hours, until nearly midnight, without success.

Any claim by the United States Navy that the submarine started the fight was merely to try to give an appearance of justification to an American attack which violated neutrality, the ican recruits for the R. A. F. were German statement contended.

While thus giving a widely different version of the incident, the German acknowledgment settled one of the two principal undisclosed here today. certainties surrounding the case-identity of the submarine.

The other-whether the submarine deliberately tried to sink an American warship-was dismissed by the Germans as a matter of self-defense by the submarine.

The Navy Department here had no comment on the German Rivers announcement.

Nazis Are Declared Driven Out of Vital Zone

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Sept. 6. - Russian forces, pressing counterattacks on the approaches to Leningrad, were reported today to have driven the Germans out of an entire zone along a vital railway after a three-day battle.

The Russian counterblows still were smashing at the Germans, this report said. It did not specifically locate the area claimed to have been cleared of the invaders, but designated it as the zone between railway station "F" and village "N." Thick autumn fog hung over the northwestern sector where heavy artillery of both sides are dueling in the bitter struggle over Russia's second largest city.

15 Nazi Planes Claimed.

A Red Star dispatch said 30 German planes, flying despite the fog, attempted to bomb military objectives outside Leningrad, but that 15 were downed and the others fied. Two of those fleeing were said to have been destroyed trying to reach their base

One unit of Marshal Klementi Voroshilov's forces defending Leningrad was reported by the army newspaper to have crossed the river "Ch" and to have driven south, killing or wounding almost the equivalent of a German regiment and destroying an artillery company

Another unit was said to have surrounded a German tank column which had dug in, a third to have knifed in between the Germans, severing a highway communications line and two others to have pierced the German front at other points, destroying equipment and supplies.

"The attack itself is proof that Mr. Roosevelt, contrary to his claims, has already, at an earlier time, given general orders to American destroyers not only to report the positions of German ships and U-boats in violation of neutrality but, beyond that, to He asked if any officers were on attack them.

"Mr. Roosevelt, in this way, is trying by all means at his disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany.'

Two-Day Silence Broken by Officials.

The announcement broke a two-day silence by officials on the Greer incident, the Germans apparently having awaited a report from the German submarine commander. Authoritative sources had put off questioning with the statement that they could not discuss the case.

Issuance of the German communique indicated that the German U-boat had escaped destruction, although yesterday a dispatch from Reykjavik, Iceland, where the Greer arrived, said the officers and crew of the Greer believed that they had sunk the submarine, because their instruments indicated that they were warship. directly above the Nazi U-boat when they discharged their depth charges.

Last spring the Germans announced a blockade zone around Iceland and warned that any ship "under any flag" which ventured into those waters would be torpedoed. The United States has never recognized this zone. In this connection President Roosevelt explained to his press conference yesterday that a blockade to be legal has to be effective, while that around Iceland obviously is not.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 6 .-Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared today that Britain would place no monetary limit on her financial assistance to Soviet Russia

Describing British assistance to Russia as gladly given, he said in speech that the Russians "have told us they would not wish any such financial help be provided as a gift. But they have asked for credit insofar as the help we give them is not matched by supplies they send us."

He said Britain was "standing up well" under the strain of a daily expenditure of 12,500,000 pound sterling ($50,000,000) and expressed confiience that further taxation in the current financial year can be avoided if inflation is prevented.

Territorial Losses Have Failed to Break Spirit Of Red Soldiers

By A. T. STEELE, Foreign Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

MOSCOW, Sept. 6-In a military hospital today I talked with soldiers fresh from the front. Only a few months ago this building was a school, but now it shelters more than 400 soldier-patients with all manner of wounds, awaiting redistribution to specialized institutions deeper in the rear.

The majority of the cases coming in from the front-perhaps twothirds of the total-involve wounds from trench mortar and artillery fire, I was told by Dr. Michael Gorzky, the superintendent. The rest are a mixture of bullet and bomb cases.

What I saw went to confirm the Impressions which had grown in every contact with the Red Army: The spirit of the Russian fighting man is quite unbroken by the territorial losses his country has suffered.

Alexander Markoff, a wounded private, was smiling broadly when A's Pound Out 12 Hits I entered his room. He kept smiling even after the nurse lifted the blanket and exposed the stump that was his leg.

"Oh that," he said. "That cost a Fascist parachute attack. And In First Game it's going to cost the Nazis more because I'm returning to the front if they'll have me.'

Wilkes-Barre One of 10,000-Tonners Planned At Cramp's, Long Closed

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.-Keel-laying of the 10,000-ton Navy cruiser Wilkes-Barre today was the signal for official reopening of century-old Cramp's shipyard, famed builder of a major part of Uncle Sam's Civil and World War fleets.

Reclaimed from rust and desolation after 14 years or idleness, the giant plant has been turned into a modern workshop for defense and already is well launched on a $110,-000,000 Government building program to help equip America's twoocean Navy

Industrial heart of the city's Kensington community, the yard's revival prompted arrangements for a huge celebration topped by a parade of 10,000 after the keel laying and keynote speech by Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for which the new warship is named. Launching its new era on a rising tide of ships which again has made the Delaware the "Clyde of America." Cramp's is going about its work with the same urgency that it turned out surfboats for Winfield Scott's Mexican expedition, ironclads in '64 and gray, waspish destroyers in a deadly stream during '17 and '18.

Real awakening of the slumbering plant to meet 1941 naval needs oc curred 11 months ago for Cramp's thousands of workers. Since then two naval auxiliary craft have been launched and work started on the Miami, sister ship to the Wilkes-Barre.

Cramp's counts on its experience in the World War-when it built the United States destroyer Greer which was fired on this week by submarine-to enable completion of a fleet of six 10,000-ton warships by 1945. Others in the group are the Oklahoma City, Little Rock, Galveston and Youngstown.

It was during the 80s and 90s that Cramp's created the "Clyde of America" along the Delaware with the construction of ships for the United States Navy, for Russia, Japan, Turkey and South American countries. It also turned out liners large proportion of their available that made history for Cramp's and gold is being poured into this coun-America, as well as palatial yachts for Jay Gould, for J. P. 'Safety Zone' Decree Thought Possible as Second Tanker Docks

By LLOYD LEHRBAS, Associated Press Staff Writer American officials watched the North Pacific today for any sign that Japan-after failing to stop the first two American tankers carrying oil for Soviet Russia-would attempt to blockade Vladivostok by declaring a "safety zone" across the sea lanes between the chain of Japanese Islands which almost encircle the Siberian port.

International law authorities said that aside from involving the traditional American policy of freedom of the seas, any such action by Japan might be interpreted by Soviet Russia as a violation of the treaty of Portsmouth, which ended the Russo-Japanese War on September , 1905

(In peply to Japanese representations against the oil shipments, the Soviet Union has already informed Tokio that any attempt to interfere with trade between the United States and the Soviet would be considered an unfriendly act.)

Japan Missed Chance.

If the Japanese intended to take any action to prevent American oil deliveries to Russia, it was said, they missed the boat at the very start by failing to intercept the tanker L. P. St. Clair, laden with 95,000 barrels of high octane gasoline, which docked at Vladivostok Thursday.

A second American tanker, the Associated, was reported to have, arrived at Vladivostok yesterday with a cargo of aviation gasoline. Still another tanker was said to be due in the Russian port tomorrow or Monday, but in view of the precedent set in the cases of the L. P. St. Clair and the Associated, diplomatic quarters here believed no effort would be made to intercept the third vessel.

Although the State Department never has confirmed that Japan had lodged representations against the oil shipments, it is conceded that Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese Ambassador, probably mentioned the question in talks with Secretary Hull.

If the question was raised, it was said in informed quarters. Secretary Hull in all probability informed the Ambassador that the United States still maintains the policy of freedom of the seas and that any interference with American shipping would be considered on that basis.

Navy officers said commissioning of the ship probably would be delayed, too, but that a new schedule had not been completed. Workmen said the delay should not be long, for the ship was 90 per cent complete.

The Atlanta itself echoed the sentiment. As it rode the river it gave a blast of its whistle to announce steam was up.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland. - The ship's bells ring midnight. At the head of this Iceland fjord

It is like 8 o'clock of a late August evening in New England. There is the sharp tang of October in the air. The moon is full above the black-and-red mountain wall which looms over the water on all sides. This moon makes a path of gold from shore to ship.

In the western sky the sun is a pink curtain. It is just under the horizon. Below this curtain the water is pale yellow with strange islands of amethyst-blue. Around the moon the sky is the blue of Georgian Bay or of Lake Winnepesaukee.

There is a weird pinkness over all the landscape, due to the belowhorizon sun. American troops are in the land of pink summer midnights.

And when this war is over the accounts of Americans will bring returned thousands of tourists-although the Icelanders are far from sure they want them

Iceland is a mixture of a lot of places. Now it is the Black Hills of North Dakota with its sharp, barren, black volcanic cliffs stretching as far as eve can see. Now it is the moors of Scotland, treeless, rolling hills reaching to the horizon with clouds of black smoke-for rolling over them and a purplish tint now and then which gives a suggestion of the heather. Navy officers say that if it were not for the cold they would think sometimes they were in Hawaiian waters. The rolling moors make the most perfect setting for a mystery movie any director could ask and it is a safe bet that in a few years Hollywood cameras will be set up here. First Impression Bleak. Iceland strikes Americans at first as bleak and inhospitable. After a few days however, the weird loveliness of the land captures them. The first bad impression comes from the almost complete absence of trees. When Ingolfur Arnasson settled with his family in the neighborhood of Reykjavik, and even centuries later when Red Eirikur sailed away to Greenland, there were great dwarf birch forests from the shoreline to the hills. Ingolfur and his descendants chopped down these birches for firewood and Icelanders never have been able to get them back. They realize the literal truth that "only God can make a tree." Whenever reforestation seems to have gotten a start with a series of good years something has happened, like a volcanic eruntion to ruin all the hard work. Inland, at the head of some of the fjords, fragments of the original birch forest still remain and parts of the Arctic coast near Akureyri, a town of 5,000 and the second largest in Iceland. are said to be thickly wooded. But the birches and willows never get over three or four feet high. Wheat Will Not Ripen.

WITH 2d ARMY ON THE AR-KANSAS - LOUISIANA BORDER. Sept. 6 .- The 2d Army reached into its bag of tricks again today and came up with a navy-or at least the inland equivalent.

After the Red Army had thrown Its 50,000 men across the Quachita River in a mass movement southward toward the withdrawing Blues, no attempt was made by the 5th and 6th Divisions, which had constructed the pontoon crossings, to take them up.

Instead, the 2d Army brought up the 43d Engineers Regiment, take essential equipment on a 200- Malta in the Mediterranean are made their plans accordingly. mile trip down the Quachita to Columbia, La.

The fleet, powered by outboard motors, started southward today, allowing itself six days for the trip, which will deliver the equipment into North Louisiana in time for the 2d Army's meeting with the 3d, when it will be needed.

For the great pontoons, weighing 1.400 pounds each, it was a turnabout job, for they carried their own trucks and semi-trailers, which usually haul the bridge equipment overland. This experimental use of the river served a double purpose, for it also relieved congested South Arkansas highways of the long pontoon convoys

U. S. Ability to Fill Latin American Needs Seen Vital to Program

Pierson, Export-Import Bank Head, Cites Aid Through Credits

The success of the program of economic co-operation with the American republics will depend upon the ability of the United States to supply the essential machinery, supplies and materials needed by Latin America, Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import Bank, declared today in an article in Foreign Commerce Weekly, official publication of the Commerce Department. Since its establishment in 1934, the Export-Import Bank has extended credits totaling approximately $280,-000,000, most of them in the Western Hemisphere. Of this amount, $102,000,000 has already been repaid, and the bank up to date has made a profit of $12,000,000. No loan made to a Latin American country is in default, Mr. Pierson disclosed.

"During the past year, the bank has made dollar exchange available for purchases of United States products through the extension of credits to the banking institutions in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Paraguay Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela," Mr Pierson said

"Many of these dollar credits have been utilized for the purchase of United States machinery and equipment for the general development of those countries and of newly created assets, private enterprises and national potentialities.

"In Argentina, for example, the bank financed the purchase of United States railway equipment by the Argentine State Railways. In Brazil, the bank has financed the purchase of United States locomotives for the Sorocabana and other railroads, and the purchase of United States road-building machinery for new government highways to vital air bases. In Colombia, the bank has financed the purchase of United States shoe-making equipment for a Colombian factory, and the purchase also of United States agricultural and industrial with plans to continue for another products for other Andean programs.

Seven students who for a year occupied an experimental men's dormitory at George Washington University have refused to give up their rooms to new residents assigned by the university.

7,000 Virginia Youths

By the Associated Press.

Aubrey Williams, National Youth Administrator, estimated that N. Y. A. would provide an average monthly employment program for 7,094 boys and girls in Virginia in 1941-42.

The N. Y. A. will help approxi mately 450,000 students throughout the Nation to continue their education careers during the new aca demic year, and Administrator Williams estimated that the total num bor of students aided by part-time N. Y. A. jobs since inception of its work six years ago would pass the 2.000,000 mark this year.

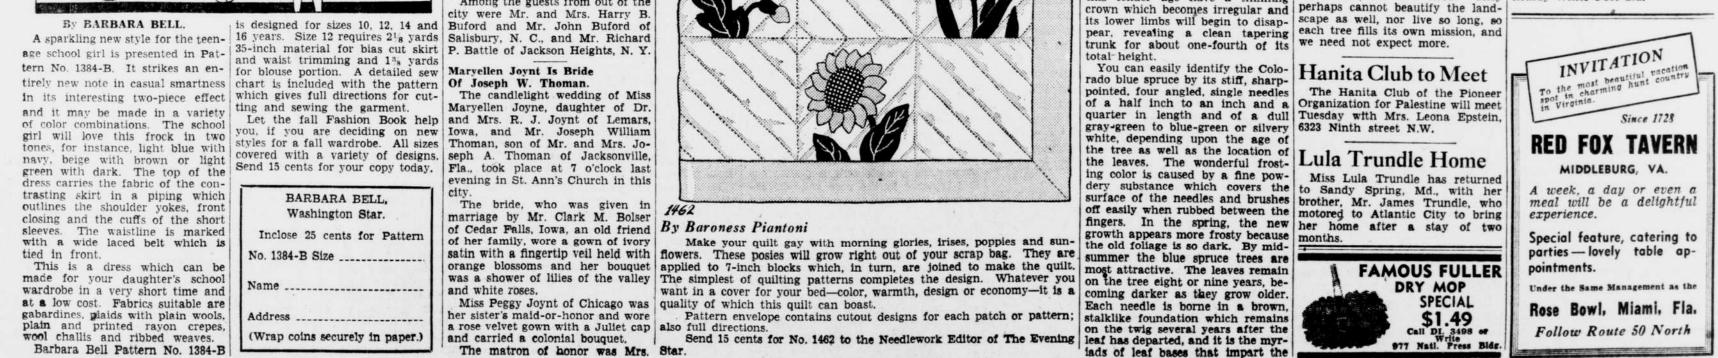

Students to be employed will be between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, and in need of jobs to remain in school. Youths enrolled in secondary schools may earn between $3 and $6 a month, college undergraduates between $10 and $20 a month and graduates between $10 and $30.

School officials are responsible for the selection of students to be employed, for assignment and supervision of work, and for certain phases of administration of the student work program.

Attack on the Greer

Assuming that the submarine which attacked the American destroyer U. S. S. Greer was an Axis craft, and that the torpedoes were fired with knowledge of the target's identity or in reckless disregard of its nationality, the determination of the American Navy to hunt down and "eliminate" the marauder is abundantly justified.

The destroyer, traveling alone, was bound for Iceland with mail. By no stretch of the imagination could such a mission be deemed a valid excuse for any attack. Adolf Hitler, to be sure, has decreed the sea approach to Iceland, including waters extending almost to the coast of Greenland, to be a war zone, and has repeatedly stated that his submarine commanders would torpedo any ship entering the zone if engaged on an errand useful to England. But this Government has neither recognized the war zone nor the legitimacy of Hitler's threats, and it is entirely within its rights in both respects.

It is important, also, to remember that the attack on the U.S.S. Greer is not an isolated incident. On May 21 a German submarine commander, with full knowledge of his victim's identity, sank the American freighter Robin Moor in the South Atlantic. Passengers and crew were left to shift for themselves in life boats, the submarine commander failing to summon aid, and they suffered great hardships before finally being rescued. So far as is known, Berlin has ignored this Government's formal protest.

it was rejected. The incident is one which has reflected no credit on the Roosevelt administration. For the President to revive it at any time would be unwise; to do so at this particular time can unfortunate blunder. District and Arlington

The proposal of Chairman Mc-Carran of the Senate District Committee, for extension of District jurisdiction to all territory in Arlington "contiguous to the District of Columbia" and now owned by the Federal Government merits the intensive consideration which he says will be given it by his committee. A somewhat similar suggestion was made in 1910 by President Taft in his annual message to Congress. Referring to the "importance of acquiring for the District of Columbia at least a part of the territory which was originally granted for the District | Olaf's was tall enough to be visible by the State of Virginia and then was from Helsinki on a clear summer retroceded by act of Congress in 1846." Mr. Taft said that if the exercise of Federal authority over property purchased in Virginia for governmental purposes were not enough, "the Legislature of Virginia would in all probability so enlarge the jurisdiction as to enable Congress to include it within the control of the Government of the District of Columbia and actually make it a part of Washington."

The plan which Chairman McCarran discussed with President Roosevelt yesterday is devoid of most of the controversial features which have characterized many of the boundary or other proposals for readjustment of jurisdictional authority in the rapidly developing section across the Potomac River. Virginians have vigorously opposed retrocession because it would involve, with other things, loss of the right of suffrage. They have resisted moves to extend the District of Columbia boundary beyond the traditional dividing line along the shore of the river. Every encroachment by the Federal Government into Arlington County has deprived the county and the State of certain tax revenues from the federalized territory. Furthermore, the long dispute over the exact location of the District-Virginia boundary has been attended by serious complications in the field of law sides of the river. The announced plan to transfer jurisdiction from Virginia to the District in such areas as Arlington National Cemetery, the New Washington National Airport, Fort Myer and the Experimental Farm site would involve no encroachment on land now owned by Virginia, would in no wise affect suffrage rights of Arlington's residents, would end the intolerable conflict of police authority and seemingly would deprive Virginia of but little revenue. The only appreciable potential source of tax revenue among the tracts affected is the airport, to which the District and Virginia both lay claim for taxing purposes. Virginia would derive comparatively small revenues from

Another Army Shake-up

Approximately 400 overage Regular officers and some 4,400 National Guard officers, from major generals in command of divisions to lieutenant platoon leaders, are awaiting transfers to less physically exacting administrative assignments in the largest shake-up the United States Army has yet faced in a continued effort to inject younger leadership in the combat field services. In view of the extensive maneuvers now in progress, it is not the intention to accomplish the removal of all overage officers from troop units immediately. To do so might seriously impair troop efficiency at a time when it is most needed. Wisely, therefore, many of the Guard and Reserve officers will be permitted to complete their twelve months of fall into the same pattern. enforcement, to the concern of police training but, in general, the policy and prosecution authorities on both is expected to be applied as rapidly

Through a complex mental mechanism this leads to the symptoms of the effort syndrome.

The condition is closely related, the English Army doctors believe, to two common physical conditions which are known to have a mental basis-gastric ulcer and collitis. The former condition, they say, is most apt to appear in a person who is worried about making a living, the latter in a stingy person who is worried about poverty. to cultivate this attitude. There are two aspects to the combined indoor-outdoor sport which merit consideration. One is the general aspect of health and security in birdland. The watcher seldom sees a sick bird. As far as he can tell, they are all sound and healthy. Writers often have commented on how seldom one sees a bird die or glimpses a dead one.

Nature takes care of their little bodies. We know of but one account of an observer watching an old bird die and tumble into a stream as he took his last drink.

It is this aspect of immortality, almost, which makes such an appeal. Although we know better, we like to think of the birds as winged immortals, coming and going as they please, secure with the universal security after which mankind pants so avidly.

Not for these feathered people, we think, the ordinary processes of life and living. For them, rather, a hap-

Declaring the United States would never submit to such a piratical attitude, the President added: "We are not yielding and we do not propose to yield."

Those words might be even more appropriately applied to the situation which results from the attack on the U.S.S. Greer, if the attempt to sink the destroyer means that the Axis now is bent upon disrupting our communications with Iceland. On the basis of known facts it is difficult to believe that Hitler has decided upon such a policy, but, since the two attacks have occurred, the burden of establishing a contrary intent certainly rests with Berlin. Meanwhile, there is ample reason to expect that the Navy will do everything in its power to insure safe passage for American ships in any waters not closed to them by law.

The Court Again

It is peculiarly distressing that the President, at a time when the promotion of national unity should be one of his primary concerns, has seen fit needlessly to revive and give renewed vitality to the bitter controversy which was aroused by the fight of four years ago to mold the Supreme Court to the shape of the New Deal. Yet that, indubitably, is what he has done in the first of a series of articles written for Collier's magazine

The article, in essence, is a harsh attack on the personnel of the "old court" and an attempted justification of his unsuccessful effort to reorganize the tribunal by creating a new majority of individuals who agreed with him, rendering impotent those who did not.

With the passage of time, the President has had his way and the court now includes seven members of his own choosing-all of them adherents of the New Deal philosophy. But the defeat of the ill-conceived method by which the President sought to accomplish his purpose in 1937 seemingly still rankles. And, strangely enough, the President evidently has not yet realized that the popular revolt against his court bill was aimed more at the method chosen than the objective sought.

In his discussion of the subject in Collier's, he says: "By the time of the election of 1936, however, it had become clear that this new concept of government (the New Deal) and of its relation to economic and social problems was in danger of frustration" at the hands of the court. That being the case, it might be supposed that the President would have made an issue of the court during the 1936 campaign, but he did not do there. Virginia, moreover, would be relieved of the responsibility and the expense of affording police and fire protection and other municipal services to the transferred territory. Arlington is looking to the Federal Government for assistance in these problems-and the District of Columbia, if it should be given supervision, naturally would expect generous help from the Federal Treasury in shouldering the new burden. Because of the varied problems involved in the latest plan, careful studies and full public hearings should precede final congressional action.

Congress might choose to seek concurrence of the Virginia Legislature in transfer of jurisdiction-or, more properly, specific assignment of jurisdiction-over certain contiguous areas in Virginia. On the other hand, Congress might order the transfer and invite a test in the United States Supreme Court of the validity of the original retrocession of Virginia territory, a question on which the Supreme Court has never passed.

The ancient capital of Estonia has been taken by the Germans after a siege like that which left Warsaw in ruins in 1939. A Russian garrison held the town for many weeks, its commandant announcing that he would leave nothing to the Nazis which they could use. When at last the Soviet forces withdrew by way of the Gulf of Finland, they probably had kept their pledge to the limit of their ability. Much of the city undoubtedly is ruined.

Yet few other places could have had equal claim upon the charity of great and powerful nations. Tallinn was a storybook picture. Waldemar the Victorious, a Danish prince, erected the castle which later was the fortress of Russians, Poles and Swedes successively. Muscovites were in control of the whole country from 1710 to 1918, but they did not erase its native civilization. "During all these years," says the Baroness Irina Ungern-Sternberg, "the Estonians never lost their national consciousness. The desire for freedom was kept alive in their poems and songs." It also survived in the very atmos-

Then it obtained authorization to create a "plucking board" with a view to discharging are awakened immediately and appear and retiring the incompetents or misfits who were protected by redtape regulations.

It speaks well for the Army that there has been no indication of a disruption of officer morale as a result of these severe, yet necessary, measures which they fully realize are being resorted to solely for the good of the service in a most critical emergency. The interested public, having in mind its own protection, is largely sympathetic with these efforts.

Perhaps the American public, reading about the comparatively young commanders in the German and British Armies, wonders why it has taken our own General Staff nearly two years to approve a similar policy. The answer given by Mr. Patterson is simple and plausible. "During the early phases of the expansion of the Army in the existing emergency it was necessary to utilize all experienced officers, regardless of age," he explained. "However, the War Department was well aware of the fact that as soon as the new Army got on its feet, the older officers with field force units would have to be replaced." Ironically, these older officers, having helped put the Army on its feet, now are to be assigned to duties away from the troops they trained. But this is no reflection on their records and most of them can still have the satisfaction of rendering useful and effective service to their country in other ways.

Money Back

The origin of the "money back" guarantee is undoubtedly lost in ancient history, as it must have started shortly after the invention of money itself-an unknown date. But from Denver comes a brand-new application of the principle-the installment repayment of a courtship that flivvered, through no fault of the wooer, as the fair object of his affection admitted This plan, if universally adopted, would both stabilize and stimulate courtship. It would make a girl think twice before jilting her beau. She would have to have a lot of mad money in her nylon stocking to be able to afford the luxury of giving him the air. .

Probably it will not gain wide favor. In the Denver case, the unsuitable suitor, tired of trying to recover a $200 Cupid's expense account by driblets of intermittent and oftenskipped five-dollar installments, attempted to speed up collection by hurling ammonia in the face of the debtor. He wound up in jail, with ceived. It is, says the latest journal of the Royal Army Medical Corps just received here, "a part of the new 'civilization' associated with an advancing science, and is produced directly by the brain of man." The condition, the army doctors say, is new to medical records.

Thus far six cases have been reported. A typical one is that of a 17-year-old boy who was pinned down by three dead bodies under timber and rubble for 14 hours before he was discovered by a rescue party. He had suffered a badly bruised leg, but no particular exposure. Mentally, of course, the experience was extremely terrifying.

The boy showed some symptoms of ordinary shock when brought to a hospital and a blood plasma transfusion was given. He appeared to recover completely. A few days later the more serious symptoms were found. There was an abnormal amount of urea in the blood stream. The red cell content of the blood was increased and in the kidneys was found something that looked like blood, but contained no free iron. The other cases are similar except for details of the experience.

There probably have been many other cases of the same kind which have not been discovered, the army doctors believe. All the standard remedies for shock are worthless and death is almost inevitable.

On this side of the ocean a curious new aviation malady has just been reported by Lts, A. R. Behnke and T. L. Willmon of the Navy Medical Corps. It is a severe congestion of the middle ear, which starts about 18 hours after prolonged breathing of oxygen at high altitudes. It is most likely when a fiyer takes a nap after a flight.

It can be explained, the Navy doctors believe, by the fact that when oxygen is breathed the air in the middle ear, including the mastoid cells, is flushed out and replaced by the pure gas. On return to the ground this oxygen is slowly absorbed by the surrounding tissues and circulating blood. As a result an inequality of pressure is set up.

The ear drums become very red. There is pain, tenderness, ringing in the ears and poor hearing. The victim may hear hissing and gurgling noises.

The condition seldom lasts more than six hours, Lt. Behnke says, and hardly

Files Another Protest Against Moving Jackson's Statue. To the Editor of The Star:

There are, it seems to me, two allsufficient reasons why the statue of Andrew Jackson should not be removed from Lafayette Square, where it has rested since 1853.

No. 1. In one of the most perilous moments in our national history, when the morale of our people was at its lowest ebb, he saved their self-respect by whipping the British at the Battle of

New Orleans. No. 2. He saved the Union from disintegration, and gave the national spirit confidence and an authority that enabled it to weather the most terrible, as it was the most unnecessary, brothers war the world has ever seen. Few informed persons, I dare say, will contest the first point I make. The influence of the victory of New Orleans cannot be measured in terms of human values.

A grateful people have erected in this city an imposing memorial to another great President for his services in saving the Union. That he did accomplish that end is a matter of controversy. No less an authority than Dr. James Brown Scott, whose name among scholars in history arrests attention in any group, told me, not so long ago, that Andrew Jackson saved the Union.

A bit of history will illuminate this thesis. In October, 1862, Secretary Chase, speaking for the President, in an address at Cincinnati said that whichever side gained and held Tennessee would win the war. Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy, in a speech at Atlanta, replying to Chase. said the great finance minister had faithfully stated the strategy of the war. This accounts for the early battles in Kentucky and for the bloody battles in the Volunteer State-Fort Donelson, Fort Henry, Shiloh, Murfreesboro, Memphis, Tullahoma, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Franklin and Nashville.

In the midst of that inferno stood a Tennessean whose influence dominated the State and made it possible for the armies of Buell, Rosecrans, Grant, Sherman and Thomas to win Tennessee and hold it for the Union. His name was Andrew Johnson. He was Military Governor of the State. And in him was reincarnated the spirit of Andrew Jackson, at whose feet he had learned that devotion to the Union which kept it from falling apart.

Old Wounds Reopened by President

Article on Court Fight Seen as Unfortunate

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

President Roosevelt's revival at this time of the acrimonious issues involved in his effort to enlarge the Supreme Court in 1937 so as to get a court favorable cated that they David Lawrence. considered his Supreme Court plan unwise.

The President reopens wounds that might well be healed by now. For example, he puts on record a denunciation of three decisions of the Supreme Court which were arrived at unanimously and which were voted for by such liberals as the late Justice Cardozo, Justice Brandeis, and the present Chief Justice, Harlan F. Stone

It does not seem possible that the President himself prepared all the article which is just published in Collier's Weekly. For it contains some misleading references to previous Supreme Court decisions. Thus the President's article says:

"Then came all in one day, May 27, 1935, a unanimous decision that the President could not remove a Federal Trade commissioner although in an earlier case, in 1926, the court had stated that the Executive could remove any officer he could appoint, even one with quasijudicial powers * * *."

Concerned Postmaster.

The 1926 case referred to was that of a postmaster named Myers and the court said a postmaster could be removed by the President and certainly the duties and functions of a postmaster are clearly administrative, whereas those of a member of the Federal Trade Commission are customarily quasi-judicial. This was the differentiation which the Supreme Court unanimously made in comparing the 1935 and 1926 decisions, but no hint of this distinction is given in the Roosevelt manuscript

More disconcerting perhaps is the statement made by the President that he regards his fight to enlarge the Supreme Court from 9 to 15 members "as among the most important domestic achievements of my first two terms of office." To proclaim openly that a Chief Executive who intimidated the judges on the bench and drove some of them into retirement by a radio campaign is entitled to characterize such a campaign as "an achievement" is to set a precedent for the future so that whenever a President doesn't like the decisions of a court he may seek to have legislation passed to humiliate such justices by putting alternates alongside of them to deprive them of the effectiveness of their votes. Mr. Roosevelt justifies his strange conception of the executive office by the expression of a fear that if he had not done what he did America might have lost her present form of government through seizure of power under some alien form of government. The President's exact words are important to reproduce: "For this was the year (1937) which was to determine whether the kind of government which the people had voted for in 1932, 1934 and 1936 was to be permitted by the Supreme Court to function. If it had not been permitted to function as a democracy, it is my reasoned opinion that there would have been great danger that it might have been ultimately compelled to give way to some alien type of government-in the vain hope that the new form of government might be able to give the average men and women the protection and co-operative assistance which they had the right to expect.

very large Just how far this kind of thing will tie the United States and the American people with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is what bothers some critics of the administration who hate Communism as much as they do Nazi-ism of Fascism. If Hitler is overthrown with the aid of Communist Russia-and Communist Russia persists in the efforts it has made for a decade or two to undermine the American form of government and lifewhat is to be the attitude of this country? Is it to take the Communists to its bosom? These questions are being asked.

From a realistic point of view this country would be stupid not to give aid to Russia, or to any other nation capable of aiding in the defeat of Hitler, whose defeat has been demanded by the President, the Congress and the vast majority of the American people. If and when Hitler is defeated, other problems will arise, and one of them undoubtedly will be what to do about Communist Russia if it still exists. One-Party Threat Seen.

The one danger to American liberties and the American form of government lies in the possibility of one political party, with the exclusion of all others. Dictatorship flourishes in a capitalistic country or in a socialistic country only when there is but one political party. No dictator could stand long where a strong minority political party constantly threatened to take control of government. As long, therefore, as the two-party political system flourishes in the

from dictators.

The New Deal has fostered many social laws and movements which are on all fours with the aims of the constsitution of the U. S. S. R., an examination of that document reveals. Indeed, the constitution of Communist Russia contains a lot of good reading. It has an idealistic tone. The catch lies, however, in the last half of article 126, which reads: "In conformity with the interests of the working people and in order to develop the organizational initiative and political activity of the masses of the people, citizens of the U.S. S. R. are ensured the right to unite in public organizations .trade unions, co-operative associations, youth organizations, sport and defense organizations, cultural, technical and scientific societies; and the most active and politically most conscious citizens in the ranks of the working class and other sections of the working people unite in the Communist party of the Soviet Union (Bolsheviks), which is the vanguard of the working people in their struggle to strengthen and develop the socialist system and is the leading core of all organizations of the working peoTHE opinions of the writers on this page are their own, not necessarily The Star's. A new set of orders, regarding protection of American naval patrol boats in the North Atlantic, is expected to be given to commanding officers as a result of the attempt of an unidentified submarine to sink the U.S.S. Greer. The officers in command of cruisers or destroyers will be authorized, it is reliably reported, to shoot first and ask questions later, whenever they think the safety of their ship is jeopardized. Heretofore officers commanding United States warships on patrol duty in the Atlantic have had instructions to protect the ships they commanded with all means at their disposal. Whenever the officer commanding a warship believed he had sighted a submarine which might fire at his ship, he could order depth charges dropped to protect the vessel. The decision whether to shoot or not was left entirely to the discretion of the individual skipper. He had to bear in mind that he must avoid a major incident which might lead this country into a shooting war and also that he was responsible for the safety of his ship and crew.

Almost Another "Maine." The Greer incident just missed being another "Maine." There is not the slightest doubt in the mind of high authorities that the hostile submarine was fully aware of the nationality of the destroyer fired upon. The captain undoubtedly was aware also of the implications which would have followed had the American warship been hit. Additional light cruisers and destroyers are reported to have been ordered to Atlantic patrol duty not only because of the possibility that such incidents like the "Greer" might be repeated but also because the waters around Iceland are likely to become the principal zone of operations in the forthcoming battle of the Atlantic.

As American factories speed up production, more war material is being shipped to England. At the same time our forces in Iceland are being increased. This means that besides more troopships we must send an increasingly large number of suppliesfood for the men and war material to hurry the defense of the island. To do otherwise would be tantamount to casting the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse in sympathetic roles and letting them win the heroine at the end of 10 reels. A man who wouldn't encourage the kicking around of Hitler is the type who would have a typhoid Mary dress up as Santa Claus and give away the presents at an orphans' home on Christmas. I don't think, however, that the investigation of Hollywood will be much of a success. Your Home by the EBERLY

Repairing • Renovizing • Modernizing Homes

In the First Line of Defense Is the House

Has that occurred to you? It is a summons to put the house in order-to save fuel and conserve comfort.

We are suggesting that you send for an Eberly Plan Supervisor and let him arrange with you to put the whole house in condition -tighten the cracks and crevices; plan for storm windows and doors; insulate so that you won't have to run your heating plant at top speed. All these things are part of The Eberly Plan service-renovizing and modernizing-making your house a 1941 home-with improved facilities and modern equipment.

Don't get the notion that it is going to be expensive. Rather consider the real economy in connection with greater comfort.

Of all times it is the expedient thing to do NOW-and the patriotic thing, as well as the profitable thing to do, for the value of your property investment.

The Eberly Plan Supervisor will go ino the details with you. And you will be interested in The Eberly Finance Plan-which is ready to cooperate in budgeting the cost-spreading it over such a period as will make it entirely convenient.

Now is a good time to get the work under way.

A. Eberly's Sons

Now. American culture may not be far past the iron lawn dog and burnt leather pillow stage, but we have made sufficient advances to know that no group of Interstate Commercers is qualified to judge one of the arts. The findings of such a sterling group of aesthetes will hold no more weight than if they were a bunch of apprentice veterinarians who, after looking at Rembrandt's work, said it just wouldn't do, and to make theirs Norman Rockwell.

To the average American the sending of an Interstate Commerce Committee of politicians to pass judgment on an art is ridiculous. Four bells on a picture from Senator Wheeler won't carry as much weight as one bell from Fidler and you won't find an American family Pepper, Bilbo and Byrd rate it as smashing and tremendous

The Senate can even go so far as to appoint one of its members as movie critic of the Congressional Record, but it won't sell any more copies. The chances are that the average Senator doesn't like any of the movies produced. When you deal in billions as they do, you can't be expected to think much of a production that was turned out for a lousy $3,000,000.

The investigation will be a good thing in one way, though. It will bring to light, and clearly, those Senators who dislike seeing Hitler painted as anything but a kindly old gentleman, paddling around the house and in his garden with a kind word for every person and a soft caress for every bloom.

If my Senator is one of these. I know exactly what I am going to do, I am going to rap him smartly over his wig with a Louisville slugger ba (Ted Williams model) and then go to a newsreel and wait until they show my Senator's burial without honors in a plot of ground purchased for just such a purpose from the Bergdoll estate. Mediation Board Tries To End Strike of 20,000 Miners in Alabama

By the Associated Press

President Roosevelt's expected action in a threatened strike of 1.250.-000 railroad workers was awaited today as the Defense Mediation Board sought to settle a walkout of some 20.000 Alabama coal miners and several other labor disputes. The railroad unions, seeking wage increases, authorized a strike yesterday after mediation and arbitration failed to produce an agreement with the companies. Under law, that strike authorization automatically placed the dispute before the President, who is charged with the duty of appointing a fact-finding committee to report back to the White House within 30 days. A walkout cannot be called until a month after the President receives the committee report.

Pay Increases Sought.

Five operating brotherhoods are seeking a 30 per cent boost in basic Absentees announced in favor of pay rates and the 14 non-operating unions ask increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour. A carriers' committee acting for 125 Class 1 roads maintains the union demands would cost $900.000.000 yearly and that the companies could not meet the proposals. Present wage scales differ greatly among classifications within unions and among various railroads. The non-operating unions, with made by R. F. Camalier, special aide to the committee, following a 230.60 731.00 visit to the White House yesterday by Senator McCarran, who discussed his proposal with President Roose-$12 velt and indicated he was given a sympathetic ear. Several weeks ago Senator Mc-Carran announced he planned to introduce a bill designed to pave the way for retrocession of that part of nearby Virginia that made up the 10 miles square that originally formed the District. At the conference with the President, however, he modified this plan and suggested that only Federal-owned property in Virginia "contiguous" to the District be added to the present District of Columbia. Would Include Airport.

of the District.

That would include the new Washington National Airport, Arlington Cemetery, Fort Myer, the Department of Agriculture's experimental farm near which it is planned to build a new home for the War Department, and possibly the Naval Torpedo Station in Alexandria. "I discussed with the President." said Senator McCarran, "a proposal for a study contemplating the taking over by the Federal Government of all Federally owned property in Virginia contiguous to Washington.

Mr. Camalier has been given authority by Chairman McCarran to proceed immediately with a study of his plan and to call for all necessary aid in the Federal or District departments.

Sees Proclamation Sufficient. Mr. Camalier first called on the Park and Planning Commission for information as to the area of Federal-owned property in nearby Virginia. Next, he told newspapermen it was his opinion the President himself could, by proclamation, place that area within the boundaries of the District, without either approval of the House or Senate or the Virginia State Legislature. tion of the District given back to deprive Virginia of revenue. # District Fire Code Dispute to Be Heard By House Group

Underwriters' Protest Bill Would Restrict Alarm System Bids

A controversy over the pending bill to revise the District fire code will come before the House District Committee again, probably September 15.

Certain fire underwriters protested to Chairman Randolph that the bill would restrict competitive bidding. but this was denied by District officials who helped frame the measure

H. E. C. Rainey, assistant manager of the District Underwriters Association, wrote Chairman Randolph: "I feel that the bill, as it stands at present would exclude all but one manufacturer of municipal fire alarms."

Mr. Randolph requested opinions from several leading underwriters on the measure after protests had been raised by committee members when the bill was reported by a special committee to the full House Committee. Several underwriters approved an amendment which would include authorization for a "manual fire-alarm system operating through a private-controlled station connected with the municipal alarm system" in the bill.

Fire Chief Stephen Porter said the bill as originally drafted did not create a monopoly, in his opinion, and the amendment would be unnecessary. Any manufacturer meeting requirements of the specifications could qualify for a contract, he said

District Commissioner Charles Kutz and Corporation Counsel Richmond B. Keech were said to feel that the original bill creates no monopoly.

On the other hand, Horatio Bond chief engineer for the National Fire Protective Association, Boston wrote to Representative Randolph that the reference in the bill "to a firm alarm box connection to the municipal fire alarm box system is unfairly restrictive as it does not recognize a manual alarm box system which is connected through a private central station.

Study Your Flower Border With a Critical Eye if Change Is Indicated

Plan to Rearrange Material To Bring Out True Beauty Of Individual Varieties

By W. H. Youngman

As the summer draws to a close it is well to look at the flower border with more critical eyes. It may be necessary to draw upon your memory to quite a length, too, if you are to rearrange your flowers in such a way as to give the greatest measure of real satisfaction to you

Perhaps you have been fortunate in getting all the tallest plants to the back, those of intermediate height in the center, and the shortest ones near the front. That is fine!

Perhaps all of your plants are fine and healthy-well-grown and disease free. That, too, is good. But what about the color combinations? Have you succeeded in keeping all colors harmoious? Or are there several shocking disagreements? You are, indeed, fortunate if you have been able to combine different colors to the spring, summer and fall bloomers into a completely harmonious whole. Most gardeners find as they observe the passing floral parade that certain rearrangements can be made to improve the picture. No border is ever finished-we learn of new kinds or varieties that will enhance the appearance. We see that certain ones combine more effectively than others. And so it goes. We improve our work each season

It is my purpose here to suggest some combinations of plants which have proven satisfactory to me. In order to rearrange plant material in such a way as to bring out the Gaillardias are lovely and coreopsis is useful, but the former can seldom be used satisfactorily in the border and the latter must be used discreetly. So no matter how well you like these brightly hued flowers do not try to combine them with others of more delicate hue and texture or you may fail to achieve the "thing of beauty" you desire.

You may decide to have a blue border or a pink one, or a combination of them and white, but for the purposes of this article I am

To aid the indoor garden enthusiast in getting the best possible results and the maximum amount of pleasure-in "pot gardening." many practical and inexpensive devices have recently appeared on the market. Among them mention may be made of the plant light fixtures, the general purpose of which is to provide supplementary light as an aid to plant rowth during the short hours of winter sunlight; the illumination in the average room being inadequate for this purpose. The plant light fixture may be a wall bracket with special metal supports for the potted plants, it may be a desk lamp with plant holders in its base, or it may be a bridge lamp with plant tray at the correct level for the plants to receive maximum benefit from the illumination. The last mentioned fixture is usually equipped with 100, 150, 250 watt Mazda lamps, while the other types use 60-watt globes.

For supporting heavy plants, one manufacturer has developed a new neat and attractive means for tying plants to stakes which takes the place of raffia or string. It is a strip about 1/4 inch wide and may be purchased in 4-inch or 8-inch lengths. Made of wire encased in green waterproof paper, it merely requires a simple twist to attach the plant securely to its support. Many house plants suffer from insufficient nourishment. Fertilizers Vitamins play an important part in our own health and research has Rose Bushes been conducted to check the effect of vitamins on plants. Vitamin B1 was found to be beneficial in vitalizing pot plants when applied in a very dilute solution. Manufacturers have put it up both in tablet and liquid form and it is very simple to mix. A useful device that can be bought for a few cents is a spray nozzle with rubber bulb attachment. It is excellent for simulating rain when washing the leaves of plants or when watering them. It, along with many other useful gardening gadgets, can be purchased at the Five and Ten. The same store will yield an atomiser. Those of you who heeded the advice on early stakes for annual and perennial plants have come along this far without having your plants beaten down by the strong summer winds. One of the jobs which can now be done is tying up the roving canes of climbing roses. Blooms Bravely In the Snow By Robert C. Moncure Galanthus, commonly called snowdrops, are truthfully named. They bloom even when the snow is on the ground, unless the temperature drops very low and there is much sleet and ice, in which event they simply hang their dainty white heads, fold their, foliage around their stems as a protective cloak, and await the warmer weather and sunshine, which brings them forth again unharmed. In England they are sometimes called "Fair Maids of February" and there the double and single forms of the common snowdrop, Galanthus nivalis, are often naturalized in orchards and woodlands. However, they thrive in shade without this protective covering underneath trees and shrubs. If heavy clay soil prevails in the garden, sand and woods-earth, or peat mos should be added to lighten it.

By a judicious planting in different exposures I have found it possible in Northern Virginia to have Galanthus elwesii in bloom from late November to early March. Most varieties, however, do not begin to bloom until early February and carry on through to early April, except in a very early spring. Planting should be done in September or early October in this vicinity at a depth of about three to four inches and the bulbs are best left undisturbed for a number of years unless they become too crowded. Some varieties have short and dainty white blossoms on short stems while others grow on 8 to 10 inch stems bearing large, petaled white flowers with intense green an early spring and late fall op- and yellow centers. By the Associated Press.

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., Sept. 6 .- Thousands of men of the 29th Infantry Division broke camp today for a week-end holiday, welcome respite from four strenuous days of divisional maneuvers and review.

From Tuesday to Thursday they had been encamped in a bivouac area in the forests near Beltsville, engaged in their first maneuvers as a unit.

secretary of War Robert P. Patterson late yesterday in a final display of men and equipment before leaving the division area next week for 75 days of field maneuvers in Virginia and the Carolinas. It was the first review as a unit since reaching wartime strength.

Officers and men on foot and in 1.500 motor vehicles took nearly two hours to pass the stand. Approximately 10,000 troops of the division's two infantry brigades, the 58th and the 88th, completed their march in less than a half hour. The motorized units, which included the division's three artillery regiments, engineers, anti-tank battalion, quartermaster and medical regiments and special troops took another hour and a half.

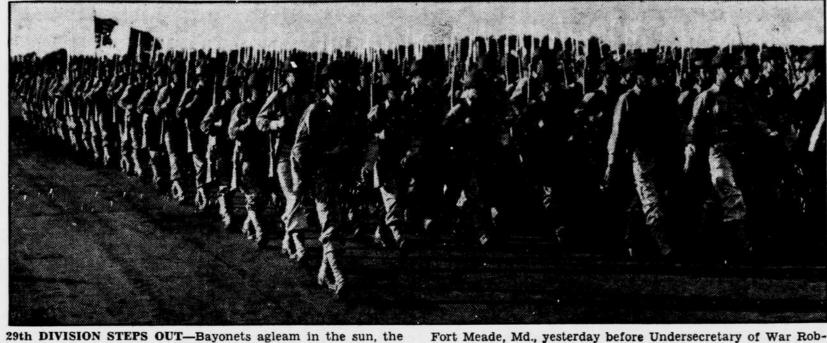

The parade was under the command of Brig. Gen. G. M. Alexander, 88th Brigade commanding officer.

By DON S. WARREN. Hopes that the penny milk project would be considered a community arrangement were dashed vesterday at a meeting called to clarify issues now standing in the way of Washington getting the Federally subsidized program.

It was explained at the meeting that to get the program, which would make half pints of milk available to undernourished school children at a penny a bottle, the schools would have to show that a 270 per cent increase in the consumption of milk would result in the schools proposed for the program

The District Nutrition Committee, which called the meeting, had understood the penny milk program was to be a community project, thereby increasing the consumption of milk by spreading the program to boys' clubs, nursery schools, playgrounds and other places where

The 39 schools where the program was requested already have such a large number getting free milk under the school lunch program that it would be impossible to increase the consumption by 270 per cent, it was said.

Week End Off For Thousands At Camp Meade

Respite Follows 29th's Maneuvers And Full Review

By the Associated Press.

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., Sept. 6.-Thousands of men of the 29th Infantry Division broke camp today for a week-end holiday, welcome respite from four strenuous days of divisional maneuvers and review

From Tuesday to Thursday they had been encamped in a bivouac area in the forests near Beltsville, Col. Farr Enters Race engaged in their first maneuvers as secretary of War Robert P. Patter-son late yesterday in a final display House of Delegates of men and equipment before leaving the division area next week for 75 days of field maneuvers in Virginia and the Carolinas. It was the first review as a unit since reaching wartime strength.

In the reviewing stand with Undersecretary Patterson were Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, division commander; Maj. Gen. Henry C. Pratt, commanding officer of the 3d Corps Area, and Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres of the War Department.

Officers and men on foot and in 1,500 motor vehicles took nearly two hours to pass the stand. Approximately 10,000 troops of the division's two infantry brigades, the 58th and the 88th, completed their march in less than a half hour. The motorized units, which included the division's three artillery regiments, engineers, anti-tank battalion, quartermaster and medical regiments and special troops took another hour and a half.

The parade was under the command of Brig. Gen. G. M. Alexander. 88th Brigade commanding officer.

pecial Dispatch to The Star. FAIRFAX, Va., Sept. 6 .- A twoway race for the local seat in the House of Delegates was assured this week, as Col. R. R. Farr, Mayor of Fairfax, filed his notice of candidacy on the Republican ticket with County Clerk John M. Whalen. Col. Farr will oppose Delegate Francis P. Miller, Democratic nominee for another term. Two years ago in a similar race, Col Farr was defeated by Mr. Miller by a small margin. In announcing his candidacy, Col.

Farr said he is opposed to repeal of the poll tax law, and any change in the present form of county government. He also expressed opposition to increase in State and county taxes, taking the position that sound administration of both State and local government can be carried out and a reduction in taxes effected.

He also declared that he is thoroughly acquainted with dairy problems, having operated a dairy farm for more than 20 years. During the World War he served

By DON S. WARREN. Establishment of three new services, to fight the spread of cancer, to give guidance to mentally handicapped school children and to conserve the hearing of pupils, is pro-posed by Health Officer George G. Ruhland in the 1943 estimates for his department, released today by the Commissioners.

In all, the Health Department seeks $3,530,788 for the next fiscal year, as against $3,110,507 this year, an increase of $420,281, or about 13 per cent. This would provide for expansion of many existing services, including employment of 176 additional workers.

The only major construction item s a request for $115,250 for compleion of the proposed Northwest health center, for which the Appropriation Act for the present year carries $14,750 for purchase of a site and $120,000 for starting of construction. At latest report, the District still was encountering difficulties in selection and purchase of a site.

Mental Clinic for Pupils.

A bureau of mental hygiene, with staff of two part-time psychiatrists, two psychologists and three ices. psychiatric social workers, would be set up to operate a clinic to aid pupils who are "in need of assistance to become adjusted to their environments." The annual salary costs would be $16,800. The work, it is said, would be entirely diagnostic and consultative. Such a service, the department said, was requested by the Board of Education and previously had been recommended in the Kepecs report, approved by an land said there had been a treadvisory committee on child welfare mendous increase in tests for problems

Meeting Is Informed Schools Alone Must Show Big Increase

Hopes that the penny milk project would be considered a community arrangement were dashed yesterday at a meeting called to clarify issues now standing in the way of Washington getting the Federally subsidized program.

It was explained at the meeting that to get the program, which would make half pints of milk available to undernourished school children at a penny a bottle, the schools would have to show that a 270 per cent increase in the consumption of milk would result in the schools proposed for the program.

The District Nutrition Committee, which called the meeting, had understood the penny milk program was to be a community project, thereby increasing the consumption of milk by spreading the program to boys' clubs, nursery schools, playgrounds and other places where groups of needy children might gather.

Huge Increase Impossible.

The 39 schools where the program was requested already have such a large number getting free milk under the school lunch program that it would be impossible to increase the consumption by 270

per cent, it was said. Leon J. Steck, agricultural economist in the Surplus Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture, which operates the program, said each group of children would have to be considered separately; that is, that public and parochial schools were separate units, as were the boys' clubs and other groups which it had been hoped would join in the program. Other requirements of the program, Mr. Steck said, were being met here. The only crucial point was the increased consumption. However, after the meeting, when Mr. Steck was asked by reporters should some group of schools be found that would meet the requirement of increased consumption, he commented only that "conditions

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6.-Shares of stock of credit unions are subject to assessment by the Maryland State Tax Commission under a ruling by Attorney General William C. Walsh. The opinion, handed down by Mr.

Walsh yesterday and directed to Tax Commission Chairman Harry O. Levin, flatly rejected a ruling by one of Mr. Walsh's predecessors, Thomas H. Robinson, attorney general during part of the late Gov. Ritchie's administration.

The former attorney general's opinion "was based upon a false assumption and we are compelled Dog Finds Long Way Home in charge of a committee investigatto differ with his conclusion," Mr. Walsh said, adding that its only basis "was the fact that credit unions are exempt from all taxation, except as to real estate. * * *

And Real Estate Personalities

We hope that none of the advice being handed out by real estate men today will explode like that of an 18th century investment counselor in Virginia. A Washingtonian has quite a bit of correspondence handed down from ancestors in Colonial times. In one letter dated about 1760 a forebear who lived in Virginia tells a friend that he has some cash he wishes to invest in real estate and that he is unable to decide whether to buy in New York City or Dumfries, Va. The friend advised him by all means to invest his savings in Dumfries and added a paragraph to the effect that "things are really humming there."

Representative builders from all over the country attended the conference on priorities and substitute building materials which was held at the Willard Hotel by a committee of the National Home Builders' Institute. The committee, headed by John W. Mowbray of Baltimore, heard talks by officials of O. E. M. O. P. M. and other Government agencies. The realtors wished to find out just about what they will be able to build in coming months and most of them went home only slightly better informed than when they arrived.

Washington was represented at the conference, which ended vesterday, by Morris Cafritz, Edward R. Carr, Harry Bates and Charles J Rush, executive secretary of the local Real Estate Board. On Wednesday the Home Builders' Committee of the Washington Board, headed by Mr. Carr, met to discuss plans for the larger conference.

Attending the big meeting were many of the best known realtors of the country, including Philip W. Kniskern of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; Herbert U. Nelson, Chicago, executive secretary of the association, and Henry E Price, secretary of the Home Builders' Institute.

First Aid For the Ailing House

By ROGER B. WHITMAN.

A neighbor of mine recently was badly hurt by a fall down the stairs leading from the kitchen to the cellar. Knowing those stairs, I could understand her accident, for going down them was tlike stepping into a tunnel. The family had planned to "do something about it," but the accident happened before they got around to it. For full safety, an electric light should have been put in the ceiling, although this would have meant somewhat complicated wiring. As an alternative, white paint could have been used-and plenty of it. In the first place, the treads of the steps at the top and bottom could be painted solid white, while white bands an inch or two wide could be painted along the front edges of the remaining treads. These would have shown the position of the steps, even in a dim light. In addition to this, the sides of the ceiling of the stair even could also be white. Had this been, the accident would have been prevented, and needless to say the saving of the doctor's bills would have paid for the improvement many times over.

Cracking Plate Glass. Q. A 5 by 6 foot plate glass window has begun to crack. It cracks a little more each day. Replacement would be expensive. Can the cracking be stopped?

A. The cracking can be stopped by drilling a small hole one-eighth inch or so in size at the extreme tip of the crack. The job can be done by any dealer in plate glass at very little cost.

Storm Windows.

Q. Is there anything new in the way of storm windows? I have the usual kind and putting them up and taking them down costs about $4. A. Storm windows are now made with metal rust-proof frames that are permanently attached to the outside of window frames. Both glass and insect screening are provided in frames to fit the openings and can be taken out or put in from inside the room, with but little effort. Dealers in building materials or lumber yards should know of them.

Removing Verdigris. What will remove verdigris Q. from brass pipes and bathroom fixtures?

Green stains on enameled plumbing fixtures can be removed by rubbing with scratchless cleaning powder moistened with kerosene or with a powder for cleaning porcelain that can be had at dime store

White Crusted Bricks.

Q. Does a white crust appearing on bricks "indicate deterioration? A. That is the coming to the surface of mineral salts in the mortar and sometimes in the bricks. It is usually harmless, except for appearances. It will eventually disappear.

Variety of Closets Need of Efficiently Conducted Home

Partitions Will Help Solve Problem in Older Residences

The daily complaint of many household managers is: "Not enough closet space." To the person who has the regular, everyday chore of keeping things in their placesout of sight, yet easily accessiblefew houses, especially older ones, have enough organized storage space.

"Dead storage," the kind of space under the eaves in the attic where you keep the inherited heirlooms and old trunks, usually can be found. The real problem lies in making handy disposition of the things you have to use frequently.

rIf you are planning a new home, give serious thought not only to the number and size of closets, but also to their strategic location. While you are planning closets, you might as well go all the way and plan their interior arrangements so that each will best serve its intended purpose.

Types of Closets Needed. Here are a few suggestions of the types of closets needed in most households and their arrangement: Certainly a closet for food storage is important, with shelves in the upper portion for canned goods and other imperishables, and bins for potatoes, apples and the like below. An efficient arrangement of the linen closet places shelves for blankets at the top, for sheets, towels and pillowcases below, and space at the bottom for a soiled clothes ham-

Increase of 20 Pct. In Building and Loan Receipts Reported

Associations Take In $688,511,000 During First Half of Year

The money people saved the first half of this year out of the swelling national income went conspicuously into home financing and national defense, the United States Savings and Loan League pointed out this week.

Into the two channels of thrift with which the savings, building and loan associations are concerned these days, their own share accounts and the Treasury's Defense Savings Bonds, $1,395,706,000 flowed between January 1 and July 1, according to Paul Endicott, president of the league. The receipts of savings and loan institutions were 20 per cent greater than in the first half of 1940, it was pointed out.

Old and new savers put an estimated $688.511.000 into the associations during the first half of the year, and practically all of it will go into home loans, the principal use to which the associations always put their funds. During those two months of the half year when Defense bonds were on sale at the savings and loan associations and other institutions. May and June, total sales of $707.195.000 were accomplished. Since then the bonds have accounted for another $300 .-000,000 or so of the savings practice by the inventor and, which, it is reported.

"An important key to the stepup in savings and loan association reincome of wage earners who constitute so large a part of the members of these institutions and the comparatively small rise in the cost of their necessities of life during the same period." Mr. Endicott said. "The past six months to a year have been clearly the easiest period in idea was a going concern. which to save money in the past decade.

Brass Sleeve Now Made to Replace Washers

By HILSON MUNSEY.

One of the principal minor troubles of the homeowner is the faucet. The washer has a bad habit of wearing out and needing replacement at frequent intervals, and, while the renewal is not a difficult process, it is a constant source of annovance and takes up time that might be devoted to more satisfying occupations. This constant trouble can be reduced to a minimum with a washer replacement that does away with the washer altogether. One of the main causes of the destruction of faucet washers is in the seating of the faucet. If this is imperfect and has an uneven surface or if it has become slightly corroded the turning of the washer against it will inevitably wear the washer out in a very short space of time Even if the seating is ground down to smoothness it is always possible that grooves in the seating will permit the leakage of water. This, in the case of metered water, is a serious matter, more serious than is evident by the slow drip of the water from the faucet. The steady and useless drip is costly

Money Saving. This wasted money can be saved by the installation of a washer substitute that does away with the washer altogether.

Frequently the glue that holds the rungs of a chair in place will dry out and disintegrate with uncomfortable results. There is always the question of what is best to be done under the circumstances. There are several devices on the market to take care of this condition, but one that has come to the attention of this column seems to provide a logical and permanent solution to the trouble

This is made of a piece of fabric in the form of a cross. This fabric is impregnated with glue. Its method of application is very simple. First, all the old glue is scraped away from the joint. Then the fabric cross is soaked in water for half a minute. After that, it is placed across the hole in the article of furniture to be repaired. Then the rung is forced into the hole and the fabric takes up the space between the rung and the hole.

There is, according to the manufacturer, no chance that the glue will dry out and crack away from the wood under strain.

These patches will repair many articles including umbrella handles and the cost is only a cent a patch.

Fiery Football Scramble Due Along Ivy Trail

In searching around for sectional football leaders you will find very few fingers pointing in the general direction of Ivy League teams this fall, whereas many pointed to Cornell a year ago.

But the late Mr. Dickens still is right in suggesting that the ivy green is a wonderful plant. For the scramble this season along the Ivy Trail should be one of the closest and most interesting of many years.

The Ivy has no 1940 Cornells or Pennsylvanias on hand to wreck the rest of the ensemble arrayed in blue, crimson, orange and black, green, etc. But it has a number of first-class teams which will play first-class football and give good crowds more than average action from start to finish.

Offhand, I would say that Pennsylvania and Harvard have suffered more from enlistments and the draft than any other Ivy Leaguers, but both the Crimson and the Red and Blue still will be first-class opponents for any teams they meet.

Columbia, Cornell Have Promising Material

Columbia and Cornell will be two of the best. Lou Little has a better set of Lions than he unloosed from the den a year ago. Carl Snavely loses most of his 1940 veterans, but he has good stuff left.

You can enter it in your ledger that Lou Little and Carl Snavely can get as much from their available material as any two headmen handling football squads. Both belong around the top. You can be sure their teams it was only yesterday when Helen will be ably coached.

Yale is one of the harder guesses. Yale men who have been on the pig-tailed Helen Wills. But that scene tell me that Spike Nelson already has made a hit with his squad actually was back in the fabulous and those who wave blue banners will get their share of thrills. The Yale team will be young. But it will be better fixed up in fundamentals and it will have more than its share of spirit.

"We may not win so many games," a member of the Blue squad told ing as good as ever that it is more me. "but we'll be a better outfit than many think. We'll have speed, good than likely she will be the one to hold out her arms when they start had for some time. We might surprise a lot of people before the year passing the silverware late tomoris over."

Harvard Loses Heavily to Uncle Sam

I'm not placing Army and Navy in the Ivy League group. They make their own group and the game of football can't show any two institutions that work and play by higher, harder standards.

The Ivy League may draw more than a few headaches from Swede a little something about each com-Larson's Navy squad. So will Notre Dame and any others on the Navy schedule

After last spring's practice Tack Hardwick wrote me suggesting that I keep an eye on Harvard. Tack, at that time, had the answer. But within a few weeks three of Harvard's best backs enlisted in the country's military service. This was a fine thing for the country, but eration. not so good for Harvard Otherwise, Dick Harlow's young men would have faced a neat opportunity of heading their community.

Princeton will be good, at least on a par with most of her rivals. Pennsylvania was another with a fine chance until Ed Allen and others left for purposes of defense.

This leaves us Dartmouth and Brown. The Green of Hanover has anster. other sound, inspirational coach in Tuss McLaughry, for so many years with Brown. Dartmouth can't be favored in the Ivy League race, but she should-then probably it will Dartmouth easily can offer an armful of trouble to any opponent. ### Delayed Training Start Seems Foolish Scholastic requirements build up a handicap for Ivy League teams and the Ivy League increases this handicap by reducing the fall training season.

The great majority of football teams started training on Monday of this week. The Ivy Leaguers won't get under way until the middle of the month. This is a badly delayed start. Their players are required by hard schedules to face many opponents who are well advanced. Certainly in the earlier games this is a tough barricade to face. And it doesn't make any sense.

Is it better to have an Ivy League player getting in good physical for Schroeder, the youngster who is shape on the 1st of September for a hard season, or to have so many more noted for his ability at doubles of them spending this training time at night clubs and cocktail parties? Ask most of their parents. I can give Ivy League directors more than a few personal examples

Why wouldn't a young football player be better off at some early September training camp than he would be on his own? In the majority of cases he surely isn't putting himself in any better physical shape. The big surprise is that more parents haven't stepped in to end this nonsense for the good of their sons.

In spite of these various handicaps, the Ivy department of football should hold its own this season. It will offer the intersectional group no against Frank Kovacs, the tall boy Minnesotas, Fordhams, Stanfords or Texases. And probably no Navys, Dukes or Alabamas. But is will offer its supporters one of the most interesting groups of the new campaign. And it will play its full share of good football, under able coaching.

Torrid Intrasquad Strife Due As Redskins Tilt Tonight With Injury-Hit 'West' Underdog

By BILL DISMER, Jr., Star Staff Correspondent,

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 6 .-With the largest advance sale for any event in this boom town's history betokening a crowd of 15,000, the Redskins will start separating their wheat from the chaff tonight when they engage in the first exhibition game of their training season.

It's only an intrasquad contest, billed-for publicity purposes-as an "East-West" contest between teams coached by Ray Flaherty and Turk Edwards, but it promises to be more rip-snortin,' knock-down and dragout than most National League games Washingtonians will see this year. Intrasquad games always are, players being prone to fight harder for their own individual survival than they do for themselves, collectively, in the heart of the campaign later on.

Apparently San Diegans realize this, for the "gate" this morning already was over the $7,500 mark which local officials figured would assure the financial success of their promotion. If the attendance does reach the 15,000 mark, it will be the greatest crowd which ever saw the Redskins play among themselves. Slightly in excess of 14,000 watched their intrasquad game in Seattle, Wash., last year, but Spokane's largest turnout was short of 12,000.

Minor injuries may keep three veterans and two rookies on the side lines. Because three of the five casualties are members of Edwards' Westerners, who will have Sammy Baugh and Andy Farkas as their prize generators, odds are expected to be slightly in favor of Frank Filchock, Dick Todd & Co., who will represent the East. Tackle injuries are balanced, with Rookie Fred Davis of Alabama, originally slated to cavort for the West, still suffering with the remnants of a boil on his

Wizard at Freak Bets, Plays Blindfolded And on One Leg

By EARL HILLIGAN, Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, Sept. 6 .- Golf fans, meet the young man from the Ozarks, Leonard Dodson, a swashbuckling vagabond of the bunkers who'll bet you on anything, any time, anywhere-and probably make you like it.

He's the laughing boy of professional golf today, for he's leading the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter golf championship field with a 36-hole total of 133-and has a great chance to come in tomorrow night with the $2.000 first prize money. Regardless of where he finishes, however, he'll continue to rank as golf's Dizzy Dean-a likable, happy-go-lucky chap whose story-spinning and shotmaking ability make him the game's most colorful personality

"I love a bet," he smiled, with a twinkle in his blue eyes, then added quickly, "if the odds are right."

With Four Pictures Held Over and One A Rerun, the Week Was Light For Professional Movie-Goers

Professional colleagues, which is a lot of syllables to waste on some of them in view of the way they asked the question, battered the drama department yesterday with:

"What do you do when you have a week in which no new movie open?' It really was a pretty silly question, although it would not have been

As one of the two brightest comedies of the season it demonstrates once more that its star, Robert Montgomery, is an excellent judge of story and has been entirely correct in telling his bosses what dopes they were when they made the selections.

The Montgomery choice this time is the whimsical fantasy of a prize health he is ready to break his fighter who dies in an airplane wreck and is forced to return to As aviation pictures always are, earth for 50 years because he died "Dive Bomber" is blessed with a before his time. You've heard about the skeletons that rattle in Hollywood closets. But never perhaps about the film city's "ghost gallery." This is just one more addition to a long list of movie curiosities-totaling more than the combined exhibits of the world's greatest museums.

But not only did you never see an actress portraying Rebecca-you never even saw a photograph or portrait of Rebecca. And this despite frequent references by the characters to her painted portrait hanging in the Great Hall of Manderly. Because no one saw her, Rebecca was to each member of the audience just what they wanted her to be. That was the way the movie-makers wanted it. It proved an economical gesture, too. By showing no hint of Rebecca, they lopped $8.25 off the film's budget. (Released by the North American

Director Julien Duvivier swears he will never again attempt to film a dinner scene before noon. Here's why. During the filming of Alex-ander Korda's "Lydia," a scene was shot showing Merle Oberon, Alan Marshal and Frank Conlan eating a meal of steak, baked potatoes, peas and coffee. Lunch hour was approaching as Duvivier started the scene. The three players were hungry and really fell too on the food during the first shot, with the result that when they moved the cameras in for the close-ups there was no more food. New steaks, potatoes and peas had to be sent for and cooked before the scene could be completed.
