Army Soon to Form Infantry Battalion To Be Borne by Air

500 Men Will Undergo Training in All Phases Of Landing Operations

By NELSON M. SHEPARD. The Army's first air-borne infantry battalion, equipped with "jeep" reconnaissance cars, motorcycles and folding bicycles to be used with parachute troops, will be formed October 10 at Fort Benning, Ga., the War Department announced today.

Designated the 88th Air Borne Battalion, its initial strength will be 500 men. Officials said the new unit will be trained in all phases of air landing operations, which will serve also as severe tests of equipment.

Men for the new unit are to be selected from volunteers only. Fifty will come from the 8th Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., and 450 from infantry replacement training centers at Camps Croft, S. C., and Wheeler, Ga. They must have the same qualifications as parachute troops.

280 Riflemen in Unit. Two rifle companies, one heavy weapons company and a headquarters company will constitute the battalion. One rifle company will be equipped with motorcycles and a number of "jeep" 1/4-ton trucks. Of the 280 riflemen, 40 will ride bicycles and 140 use motorcycles.

Secretary Stimson said at his press conference today that the new battalion already has been assigned a full complement of large cargo planes. The number was not divulged. He explained that the heavy weapons company, one of the units, would be equipped with 60-mm. guns, 81-mm. mortars and 50-caliber machine guns.

Mr. Stimson emphasized that air-borne troops are not to be confused with parachutists in the public mind. The former consist of combat units, transported and landed by airplanes for use in emergencies. The battalion will be expanded as experimental work continues. Testing will include all types of air-borne weapons and equipment. The new battalion will be commanded by Lt. Col. Elbridge G. Chapman, jr., infantry, who served with the 5th Machine Gun Battalion of the 2d Division during the World War. He now on duty in the tactical department of the Fort Benning Infantry School.

He is a native of Colorado and a graduate of the University of Colorado. For his World War record he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star with oak leaf clusters.

Since the new air-borne battalion is the first of its kind to operate en masse, experience will be gained in methods of training such troops. As in the case of the parachute battalion, trained men will be used later in expanding other units.

Hundreds of D. C. Stores Selling Defense Stamps

All of Washington's large stores and hundreds of smaller ones are siding in sales of Defense savings stamps, Charles B. Dulcan, sr., vice president and general manager of the Hect Co., said today.

Speaking on a radio program over WOL in connection with "Retailers for Defense Week," Mr. Dulcan said many stores have set up special booths for selling stamps and that a number of stores promote sales of the stamps daily through their newspaper advertising, radio programs, circulars and the like.

"I can't recall any similar effort where a large group of commercial institutions have so completely and so wholeheartedly joined hands to lend their united support to a common cause to the cause of democracy," Mr. Dulcan said.

He pointed out that heretofore Defense stamps have not been easily available. While the stamps—prior to the retailers' participation in the program—were available in post offices, banks and other financial institutions, and some large stores and motion picture theaters, Mr. Dulcan declared that "on the whole, they weren't easy to find."

Gorilla Meant For President Already Dead

The uncertainty of ocean mail from West Africa was blamed today for the mixup which caused a White House aide to announce that a Free French general was sending President Roosevelt a gorilla after the animal already had died in the equatorial jungles.

Philip Carroll, professional animal collector, told the Associated Press in St. Louis today that the gorilla, a huge female, was alive and well when the letter was written to Maj. Gen. Edwin Watson, White House military aide, offering to send the animal to Washington.

The gorilla died, Mr. Carroll said, after giving birth to a baby. Mr. Carroll returned to the States on the same ship which brought the original letter to Gen. Watson. The collector said he had 18 other gorillas in Africa and added he "might" bring one of them to the President on his next voyage.

guns which were concealed along the roadside for use against tanks. The theoretical shelling lasted for half an hour, but long before it was over the Reds tanks arrived.

Their arrival was heralded by a crashing of underbrush and a grinding of gears several hundred feet out on the right flank. Later, a sergeant volunteered that a similar flanking attack had been made simultaneously on the left flank, across the highway, but that was of no immediate concern to Company F, which had its own problems to think about.

Expert Scouts Arrive. In a few minutes two Indians, moving easily through the tangled mass of briars and underbrush, walked up to the captain to report that there were two Red tanks, accompanied by a number of armored scout cars, just downstream. After they had gone back into the brush the captain said: "They're full-blooded Choctaws, and I don't believe you can find better scouts anywhere. There are a good many of them in the 2d Battalion, but they could use more for scouting work in this country."

When the tanks began to move again, the tired-looking men in the thicket, probably 25 in all, came suddenly to life. Twenty-five feet to their rear was a more or less open field, possibly 100 or ten acres in extent. The question of immediate concern to them was whether the wallowing tanks, now coming into view at the far end, would skirt the cleared area on Company F's side or to the south. Fortunately, or so it seemed, they went along the far side of the highway, but Company F, nevertheless, was cut off from its supporting forces.

This was a situation which seemed hazardous to say the least to a correspondent liable to capture and detention of 24 hours by the Red forces. But it soon took a surprising turn for the better because the tanks after reaching the highway turned around and made their noisy way back.

From off in the woods came an explanation in the form of chattering machine guns and automatic rifles.

Support Failed.

"They've dropped back for the time being," a captain said, "because their infantry support couldn't get through. But don't worry—they'll be back."

After the tanks had disappeared, the Company F men, who had been watching closely from the edge of the woods but who had made no effort to run or to fire on the tanks, went back to the stream bank and flopped on the ground. I asked an officer why they had done nothing about the tanks. "We were out of it," he explained. "You see, our infantry arms are useless against tanks and, under the rules, we are 'neutralized' whenever tanks get within a hundred yards of us, whether they see us or not.

Assignment Policy For National Guard Officers Changed

Same Treatment to Be Given as in Regular Army and Reserve

A new assignment policy for National Guard officers as a step toward integration of all officer components of Army units was announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

It is a furtherance of the one-Army idea by extending to National Guard officers the same treatment that has been in effect heretofore for Regular Army and Reserve officers.

Mr. Stimson said that under this policy there will be an exchange of Regular and Guard officers in various units. "I do not anticipate any wholesale shuffling," he explained.

No Discrimination. Since the emergency, Regular and Reserve officers have been assigned to units under a single policy. The National Guard officers were kept intact in their own divisions, since it was expected they would be kept in service for only one year.

Now that the Guard may be retained for 30 months, the War Department considered it practicable to adopt a policy governing assignments of all officers, without unnecessary distinction between components.

There has been a slight fusion of National Guard officers in other units, where occasion necessitated, but whenever possible the Guard officers are kept with their own units.

Mr. Stimson said no discrimination was intended against the National Guard in the new policy and he believed it will be exercised leniently. He emphasized that naturally Guard officers and Regulars preferred to serve with the units they had in the past.

Age Limits to Apply. The maximum age limit set by the War Department recently for field service commanders will apply to the National Guard on the same terms as it does to the Regular Army, Mr. Stimson said. It was purely a question of years, he said, since age affects all officers regardless of their service.

He did not seem to believe any problem would be encountered in putting over-age Guard officers in administrative or other non-field duties.

The War Department said the promotion system for National Guard officers would not be materially changed by the new assignment policy, except that advances in grade will no longer be made without regard to length of service. Such changes as will be made are for the purpose of bringing the Guard promotion system more nearly into accord with similar requirements for Regular and Reserve officers.

Public Hearing Slated On Plea to Convert 161 Streetcars

Date on One-Man Operation Issue To Be Announced Later

A renewed petition by the Capital Transit Co. for permission to convert 161 of its two-man cars to one-man operation, filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission, will be debated at a public hearing, the date to be announced later.

Notice of an engineering investigation to be made of the proposal and its intention to call a public hearing was issued yesterday by Elmo J. Milligan, commission secretary.

The new development came after the transit company had challenged the power of the commission in an earlier case, to reject plans for conversion of older street cars to one-man operation and had taken the case to District Court. The suit was withdrawn September 12.

About a year and a half ago, the company sought permission to convert a number of cars and the court action was filed when the commission rejected the plan as unwise at that time. Last February the company filed another petition for conversion of about 161 cars but the commission refused to consider it because of the then pending court test.

In filing the new move yesterday, and asking that the older one be withdrawn, the company said it had dropped the court test of the commission's power and declared new conditions had arisen which should permit approval of the conversion plan. Economic conditions and Washington's increased population, due to the national defense effort, are expected to be cited as arguments of the need.

Fort Monroe to Release 102 Men From Army

One hundred and two men of the 246th Coast Artillery 2d Battalion, including one Washingtonian, are being discharged at Fort Monroe, Va., this week on completion of their year of active duty, according to an announcement by the post today.

The Washington man is Pvt. (First Class) Leonard W. Snellings, who enlisted in the Regular Army for one year just after the National Guard mobilization last September. Others to be discharged, all Virginians, enlisted similarly. One-year regular enlistments were curtailed when the selective service program got under way.

Other one-year men at Fort Monroe will be discharged from time to time, the announcement said, and replaced by selectees.

Daylight Battering Of French Coast Resumed by R. A. F.

New Assaults Follow Night Raids Against Rhineland Points

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 18.—The R. A. F. today resumed daylight battering of the German-held coast of Northern France, following up night raids into Germany in which Karlsruhe and other Rhineland points were bombed.

The whine of fighter planes and the roar of bombing planes resounded over the Southeast English coast and the following dull explosions across the water told observers that French targets were being bombed again.

Dozings Near Shore. Shortly after the first sweep went over, the fighters came streaking back. A long burst of cannon fire from these escort ships indicated a dogfight near the shore.

The night attacks were announced by the Air Ministry. It acknowledged the loss of one plane, but said hits were scored and fires started in the target area.

Coastal command bombers were said also to have made a night attack on docks at St. Nazaire, French Atlantic coast port used by the Germans as a U-boat base. All these planes returned, the Air Ministry said.

On the home front, German planes dropped bombs at two places on the southeast coast last night and caused some damage and a small number of casualties, the government said. Other bombs fell in East Anglia, but caused no casualties or damage, it was said.

Power Plant Bombed. The latest raid on the Rhineland came several hours after one of the strongest air fleets assembled by the R. A. F. flew over the Channel and bombed the power plant at Bethume, Northern France.

British Last 18 Planes Yesterday, Nazis Claim

BERLIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—The R. A. F.'s daylight operations against Germany yesterday cost the British 18 planes, 15 of which were downed in combat, the German high command reported today. Germany's losses were listed as three planes.

The communique said German airmen heavily damaged a large merchant ship in a low, diving attack off the Faeroe Islands yesterday and bombed harbor works of Southeastern England last night.

R. A. F. Strikes Axis Bases In Sicily, North Africa

ROME, Sept. 18 (AP)—R. A. F. blows on Axis bases in Sicily and North Africa were reported today by the high command.

The British, it said, bombed Licata, on the Sicilian south coast, and Tripoli and Bengasi, Axis supply ports in Libya.

Alexandria Area Bombed. CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 18 (AP)—Two bombs were dropped on the Alexandria area in an air raid last night, killing three persons and wounding six, but causing only slight damage, the Egyptian government announced today.

U. S. Navy Searching Both Oceans in Hunt For Axis Raiders

Convoys Are Only Part Of Sea Defense, Knox Says; Details Withheld

BACKGROUND—Administration forces defeated all attempts to write no-convoy prohibition into original lease-lend bill. As concession, however, proviso was inserted that nothing in act should be construed to authorize convoys by United States naval vessels. Administration supporters pointed out that this provision in no way circumscribed power President holds under Constitution as commander in chief of Navy.

By the Associated Press.
With convoys plowing the Atlantic and a grim raid hunt on in the Pacific, the United States Navy let actions do the talking back today to repeated Axis threats of dire consequences.

When Germany believed there was a possibility of convoys months ago, no less a person than Grand Admiral Erich Raeder openly warned the United States that the Reich would consider such a step "an open war" and that the German Navy would use its guns if necessary against American warships on such duty.

But all uncertainty on the question of American convoys was dissipated late yesterday when Secretary of the Navy Knox disclosed that the Atlantic Fleet was using all methods, convoys included, to safeguard British-bound lease-lend cargoes in the 2,000 miles of the North Atlantic that are regarded as "defensive waters."

Withholds Details.
The Navy chief thought it "unwise and indiscreet" to go into further details, and he declined to answer a question as to whether the American escorts were turning over the protected cargoes to the Royal Navy somewhere en route for the final 800-mile voyage to port.

At the same time, however, Mr. Knox revealed that the Navy believed an Axis surface raider was operating near the Galapagos Islands in the South Pacific and, while the fact had not been positively established, the hunt was on. "We'll tell the world about it," Mr. Knox promised, if any raider was caught.

The twin disclosures gave official notice that no halfway measures were being employed to enforce the policy which President Roosevelt enunciated in his speech a week ago, when he barred "defensive waters" to Axis raiders and ordered the Navy to protect all shipping in those areas.

"The sole responsibility rests with Germany," Mr. Roosevelt asserted then. "There will be no shooting unless Germany continues to seek it."

As far as words went, the announcement of convoys appeared to join one issue securely, for Admiral Raeder already has placed himself on record that lease-lend cargoes would be attacked, regardless of the nationality of their escorts.

"Since the nature of the cargoes of convoys ships, according to American admissions, was established from the very beginning as contraband," he declared May 25, "resort to this type of convoy system would not be a neutral convoy in the sense of international law or American treaties, but an open war act and a bare, unprovoked attack against American warships."

Admiral Raeder summed up by saying that "convoys mean shooting" and attributed authorship of that phrase to President Roosevelt.

(Press records of the day the expression first appeared attribute it not to Mr. Roosevelt, but to an unnamed high authority here who said that the administration view was that convoys might result in shooting and that shooting was close to war.)

Debate Expected.
Admiral Raeder's statements, because of their direct application to the United States, were considered even more pointed than Adolf Hitler's earlier dictum: "Every ship with or without convoy that comes within range of our torpedoes will be torpedoed."

The announcement that convoys and all other means of protection were now in use was expected to kick up a furor of some duration in Congress, where the subject already has caused much acrimonious debate.

Secretary Knox and other cabinet members who appear in Republican congressional committees while the lease-lend bill was pending counseled against a no-convoy amendment. They said that, while no plans for convoys existed then, the international situation was subject to rapid changes and such a prohibition might tie the Government's hands in an emergency that required immediate action. They also contended the ban would greatly weaken the administration's hand in world affairs.

House debate yesterday found Representative Woodruff, Republican of Michigan asserting that President Roosevelt's order to attack German U-boats and raiders was "nothing less than a declaration of war" and that neither the Army nor Navy was ready for war now. Representative Rich, Republican of Pennsylvania said the President should be "taken out of office" because he was "deliberately violating" a pledge to keep American ships out of certain areas. With Representative Hoffman, Republican of Michigan he joined in repudiating Wendell L. Willkie as a party leader. Mr. Willkie, last year's Republican presidential nominee, is a supporter of the Roosevelt foreign policy.

New York Harbor Filled.
New York Harbor was jammed with shipping today, including 53 British, Dutch and Norwegian vessels having arrived within 36 hours. This led reporters to ask Secretary Knox if the concentration of vessels was for the purpose of forming convoys.

He did not reply specifically, but the inquiry did lead to his statement that, among other methods, the convoy system was in use. To assume that conveying was the only method, he said, would be to put a narrow construction on President Roosevelt's shoot-on-sight speech of last week.

NEW YORK.—CLASS FOR AIR RAID WARDENS—Residents of America's metropolis are ready for anything now. Maj. George A. Sherron, Army ordnance expert, explains to class of air raid fighters how to use gas mask. The quickly shifting battlefields of this war have seen no major use of gas, but it might be let loose by long-range planes raiding East Coast cities.

Here are some of 25,000 New Yorkers now attending lectures to prepare them for jobs as post wardens and building control directors of the air raid protection services. Maj. Sherron's dragon-like gas mask is taken calmly by man at right, but girl at his side is dubious.

no brushes between American and Axis warships since the "capture or destroy" orders were given earlier this week, and when asked whether the Navy would inform the public if it "catches a raider," he replied: "We'll tell the world about it."

Net Deposits Set Up.
During his press conference, Mr. Knox also disclosed arrangements for laying nets at the mouths of important United States harbors, and declared plans had been completed for the use of mines to protect naval shore installations.

He reported that net deposits had been established at unarmored ports on both the East and West Coasts, and that "practically all" the net material needed for blocking harbors to hostile vessels had been delivered to the Navy.

Officers and men to man the net depots and net-laying vessels and tenders have been trained at San Francisco and Newport, R. I., the Secretary said, and about 21 vessels have been built or converted for use in connection with the net defenses. These are in addition to 25 tugs purchased and about 32 small net tenders which have been built or are under construction.

Strikes

of them engineers, technicians and workmen en route to the government's off-shore defense bases in St. Thomas, St. Lucia, Antigua, Trinidad and British Guiana.

A. F. L. sailors on the Pacific Coast were reported ready to join in the walkout today unless shipping companies met their demands.

A second conference was called by the Defense Mediation Board here today in an effort to obtain an agreement for reopening a group of "captive" soft coal mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, owned by major steel companies.

Lewis Proposal Made.
The 43,000 striking C. I. O. United Mine Workers demand a union shop. A conference yesterday, attended by union representatives and steel company executives, failed to bring settlement of the dispute. However, John L. Lewis, U. M. W. president, submitted a proposal for quick resumption of work. Terms of the proposal were not disclosed by the Mediation Board, but it was to be considered today.

A dispute over increased union dues and assessments continued to hold up production in a number of Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite mines. Twenty thousand C. I. O.-U. M. W. members remained away from work at 44 collieries, although 4,000 men went back to the pits in the Wilkes-Barre area after the mine operators had agreed to quit deducting union assessments for the present time.

A strike in progress since August 19 at the New Haven Cloak Co., New Haven, Conn., was ended by signing of a contract which gives a 5-cent hourly pay raise, union security and seniority rights to 1,700 C. I. O. clockmakers. The old wage scale was not announced.

Machinists Seek Raise.
The International Association of Machinists (A. F. L.) asked the Consolidated Aircraft Corp. at San Diego, Calif., for immediate wage increases for 27,000 employees to meet wage advances announced by eight other Southern California aircraft factories.

A reply was requested by tonight. A blanket raise of 10 cents an hour, retroactive to July 1, was asked. H. C. Brown, union representative, said the company had signed a contract with the A. F. L. organization.

U. S. Planes to Test Air Raid Defenses Along East Coast

Interceptor Forces Will Seek to Thwart Bombing 'Attacks' in October

By the Associated Press.
"Bombing raids" will be aimed at the big industrial cities of the East Coast in October, the Army announced today, in simulated attacks to test the potency of the air force's interceptor commands.

Thousands of civilian volunteers, acting as aircraft spotters and relay points for aircraft warnings, will participate with the first and third interceptor commands in efforts to thwart bomber assaults which may be hurled at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Charleston and Wilmington, N. C.

Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the air force combat command, said the exercises were "actual tests of a permanent system of active air defense which is being worked out for the entire United States as rapidly as possible."

"Air raids" in an area from Massachusetts to North Carolina will take place October 9 to 16. The first interceptor command, commanded by Brig. Gen. John C. McDonnell and based at Mitchell Field, N. Y., will wing into action to attack the raiders.

Civilians to Assist.
The third interceptor command exercises, covering a region from North Carolina to Georgia, will last from October 20 to 25, commanded by Gen. Walter H. Frank, with headquarters at Drew Field, Tampa, Fla.

A network of communications, taking in civilians, Army units and the air force, will be perfected before the exercises begin, and anti-aircraft artillery will be placed at points deemed most essential for co-operation with the strategically located warplane squadrons, Gen. Emmons said.

Information centers for the swift transmission of news of the approach of menacing planes will be established at regional command posts at Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk, while fighter squadrons, to make preliminary collection of reports from "spot sites" in far-flung places will be located in those cities as well as at Harrisburg, Pa., and Baltimore.

Attack from Bolling Field.
For the southern coast tests later in the month regional command posts and filter stations will be at Charleston, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C., with additional filter stations at Savannah, Ga.; Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C., and Columbia, S. C.

The bombardment craft will launch their assaults in the north coast area from Langley Field, Va.; Westover Field, Mass.; and Windsor Locks, Conn. The pursuit and fighter craft will be poised to intercept them at Boston Municipal Airport, Rhode Island State Airport at Providence, Mitchell Field, Floyd Bennett Airport, Fort Dix, N. J., Trumbull Field at Groton, Conn., the Suffolk (Long Island) Airport, Phillips Field at Aberdeen Proving ground, Md.; Bolling Field, D. C., and the Norfolk Municipal Airport.

The bomber bases in the third interceptor command area will be Jacksonville, Fla.; Savannah and Langley Field. Pursuit craft will operate from fields at Charlotte, Columbia, Wilmington, Fort Bragg, Augusta, Savannah and Charleston and the Empire.

Other Demands Planned.
Mr. Brown indicated that the union's demands might not be ended, even if the raise is granted. He said the company and the union would hold a conference in October to review the pay schedules of all workers employed more than 12 weeks, and that more increases might be expected.

Clarence Higgs, business agent for an A. F. L.-affiliated Carpenters' Union, said last night about 600 workers employed on defense projects at Key West, Fla., had agreed informally to "go fishing" today. He said the men made the decision at a meeting last night but that it was not a union-sanctioned strike because the American Federation of Labor has an agreement with the Government not to strike on defense projects during mediation.

The work involved is on expansion of a submarine base, including construction of a marine railway, an expansion of a Naval Air Station, and on low-cost housing projects.

Quake Jolts California
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18 (AP).—Thousands of residents of San Francisco and other cities as far away as Santa Cruz, 80 miles southward, were awakened by a sharp earthquake at 11:32 o'clock last night, but there were no reports of damage. The quake lasted more than a minute.

Japan's Difficulties Betrayed by Caution in French Indo-China

Recent Reports of Big Troop Movements Are Belied in Survey

(This is the first cabled dispatch by Leland Stowe from the Orient, where he has just arrived by clipper.)

By LELAND STOWE,
Foreign Correspondent of The Star and the Chicago Daily News.

RANGOON, Sept. 18.—Far from being ready or able to push her initial tactical advantages, Japan is moving with surprising caution in Indo-China and is so doing she betrays both the seriousness of her economic and financial difficulties and her reluctance to risk an early clash with Britain and the United States in the Far East.

These are inescapable conclusions after two weeks' observations while traveling back and forth across Cambodia and Cochinchina, where the bulk of the Japanese forces are now stationed.

The rigid Japanese-dictated censorship to which the French authorities are obliged to consent now prohibits any mention of Tokio's Indo-Chinese garrisons in dispatches filed from Saigon and a roundup picture is only possible after leaving Indo-China.

Less Than 40,000 in Country.
The most important fact to be cited, however, completely belies recent reports of huge Nipponese troop movements into the rich French colony, which is a third larger than prewar France.

Six weeks after Japan first began landing troops in Southern Indo-China she still has, according to the most reliable reports, a maximum of 300, or possibly less than her Vichy-accepted quota, stationed throughout the colony.

The Japanese are busy building barracks at the airport outside Saigon, at Phnom-Penh, capital of Cambodia, and elsewhere in the south. Obviously they are digging in for a long stay and some reports insist that if less than two divisions are on hand now, eight more are scheduled to be sent in during the autumn.

Nevertheless, the Japanese are merely in the first stages of entrenchment in Indo-China and are making haste with what may be significant slowness.

At present the Japanese are believed to have about 150 airplanes scattered in eight Indo-Chinese air ports, or, possibly a maximum of 300. Perhaps 50 of these are at Saigon, where planes kept roaring over the suburbs daily, apparently to impress the French inhabitants and natives.

But many Indo-Chinese airfields are either too small for heavy bombers or, like Siemreap Airport, close to Angkor, near the Thai border, they will be entirely unusable until late in November due to the rainy season's inundations. Consequently, the Japanese will be unable to put any large air force into an offensive status in Indo-China for another three months at least.

Prudent Procedure Adopted.
This fails to explain, however, why the Japanese have not mustered large aviation units at the few dry Indo-Chinese airports if Tokio really plans to utilize Southern Indo-China as an armed menace equally against Thailand, Singapore and the Netherlands Indies. As with Nippon's army of occupational forces, it appears that Tokio had adopted a prudent if thorough procedure.

What is most impressive about the Japanese military throughout Cambodia and Cochinchina is the quality of their equipment. They keep

Skipper of Illustrious Bitten by Pet Goat

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A ship's mascot has inflicted the first injury on Capt. Lord Louis Mountbatten, who has been through numerous sea engagements and survived the sinking of two British warships under his command.

Speaking to members of the Overseas Press Club yesterday, the cousin of King George VI, here to take command of the damaged aircraft carrier Illustrious, said a friend presented him with a goat for mascot of the Illustrious and the animal bit him.

HELSINKI, Sept. 18 (AP).—Finnish storm troops struggling across rain-soaked Karelia were reported today to have captured Svaerri and cut the Leningrad-Murmansk railway, a main artery of supply for far northern Soviet troops, in two places.

Army correspondents said the Finns overran Red Army garrisons both at the town and on the south bank of the great Svaeri River and blasted the tracks at each place.

(The references apparently are to Sviristol, a city 200 miles northeast of Leningrad, and the Svir River, a canalized stream which links Lakes Ladoga and Onega.)

When you over-indulge in food and drink and delayed elimination distresses you try this first thing in the morning. Take Pluto Water. Its swift, gentle, osmotic action creates a fluid bulk that quickly flushes the intestines of delayed digestive wastes, usually within one hour. Pluto Water, an agreeable saline mineral water, is not absorbed, passes through the stomach without disturbing its normal functions, and acts only in the intestines. The new, handy two-dose bottle is only 10 cents. Larger economy sizes, too, available by drugists everywhere. French Lick Springs Hotel Co., French Lick, Ind.

missioners for use for "fuel and clothing for the poor."
The Hauer trust fund, which amounted to $1,250 originally, now has a present interest account of $530.14, which also can be used for the Home, although the principal cannot be touched.
Meeting informally today, the Commissioners directed Budget Officer Walter L. Fowler, Welfare Director Conrad Van Hynning and Otto Cass, superintendent of the home, to work up a proposal as to how much of this total they can spend and to recommend what to buy immediately.
Two-Year Delay Seen.
James V. Bennett, director of Federal prisons, told The Star that while his office wanted a new location for the training school, that institution could not be abandoned until Congress provided money for a new one.
Mr. Bennett also pointed out that even if the money was available today, it would probably be two years before the new Federal school could be built and the 415 boys transferred.
However, it shall be very glad to co-operate in seeing that the property is put to its best use.

Mr. Bennett suggested that the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, the Budget Bureau and the committees of Congress would probably have to participate in any disposition of the site when a new Federal school is made available.
The 350-acre tract has been asked for a defense housing development, a park area, and other purposes, it was indicated.
The prison director said the site was unsuitable for a training school, which should be located in a more rural site.
For some time now the Federal penal authorities have planned to cease operation of the Bladensburg road training school and absorb its population in other institutions.
The Home for the Aged was one of the institutions which would have been moved to the proposed welfare center outside the District which was asked in the 1942 budget hearings. The $75,000 item for a site for the center was dropped from the estimates and it is now understood the welfare center plan has been abandoned.

Some thought was given to use of the present National Training School for Girls on Conduit road for the site, but this was discarded as too small. The present population of the training school is about 80 against more than 600 at the Home for the Aged.
Land May Be Too Costly.
Discussions on the use of the Bladensburg tract by the District were very informal, it was said, but the opinion was expressed that the land was too valuable there now for institutional use if abandoned by the Federal Government.
Asked his opinion on the site, Director of Public Welfare Van Hynning said he thought it was a good one, although he has never been in the buildings on the property. He declared selection of a site sought to consider the factors of health for the inmates, many of whom are rheumatic, and accessibility to visitors.
The Commissioners found conditions at Blue Plains had improved from the time they were denounced by Mrs. Roosevelt and investigating members of the House, due mostly to W. P. A. help, but that they still were rather "appalling."
Boilers Old in 1914.
Considerable attention was devoted to the old power plant. Welfare officials have asked an appropriation of $150,000 to replace it next year, if the institution is to be operated there. They said it would be a waste of money to repair the present plant. The city heads were told the plant has one new boiler, but that the other two were obtained second-hand from the United States Capitol in 1914 and that they were 20 years old then.
Gen. Kutz said the present buildings could be rebuilt, but that this might take 10 years and would prove costly and when the work was done the District still would have an out-of-date plant. Commissioner Young wants a new plant with one-story buildings, except as to administrative offices, and having a number of cottages for married couples living at the home.
Considerable credit was given the W. P. A. for a variety of improvements to the buildings, including a screened porch and construction of a number of bedside tables, and for food preparation and service, but officials are wondering what will happen if the W. P. A. program, already reduced, is abandoned.
Lack of proper toilet facilities, plumbing, good flooring and domestic service were cited by the Commissioners as outstanding problems, aside from well-designed housing.
"The walls of some of these wings are not so bad," said Commissioner Young, "but the whole institution shows there have been many years of neglect."

Social Agencies' Council To Act on Child Care Bill
Acting on the bill to license child placement agencies, which was forwarded to the Council of Social Agencies yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Lauderdale, a council subcommittee planned to meet immediately to go over the revised measure.
The bill, drafted by the council subcommittee last year and sent to the Board of Public Welfare for its approval, provides for annual licensing of homes where children are placed.
It also calls for the establishment of a standard-setting board consisting of representatives of the Board of Public Welfare, the Health Department and five private child-placement agencies.
The long-delayed child care measure, which follows the recommendations of the Children's Bureau, has not yet been reviewed by the Corporation Counsel, Richmond B. Keech. The bill will go to him for forwarding to the Commissioners after the revisions have been approved by the council subcommittee.

Lease-Lend Letter Text
President Submits Appropriation
Estimate of $5,985,000,000 More.

Following is the text of President Roosevelt's lease-lend letter today to Speaker Rayburn and the text of the budget director's letter on the same subject:
The Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Sir:
I have transmitted to the Congress the second report of operations under the Lease-Lend Act. This report indicates the increasing amount of material aid we are rendering to the democracies. Of the $7,000,000,000 appropriated six months ago, aid in the amount of $6,280,000,000 is now moving through the successive stages of allocation, obligation, production and delivery. Additional funds are now needed in order that there be no interruption in the flow of aid to those countries whose defense is vital to our own. I am, therefore, transmitting a supplemental estimate of appropriation in the amount of $5,985,000,000, the details of which are set forth in the accompanying letter from the director of the Bureau of the Budget. I recommend its speedy enactment.
Respectfully,
(Signed)
F. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.
September 13, 1941.
Sir:
I have the honor to submit for your consideration a supplemental estimate of appropriation to carry out the provisions of the act entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States," approved March 11, 1941, in the amount of $5,985,000,000, as follows:
Defense Aid.
To enable the President, through such departments or agencies of the Government as he may designate, further to carry out the provisions of An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States, approved March 11, 1941, and for each and every purpose incident to or necessary therefor, there are hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, in addition to the sums appropriated by the "Defense Aid Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1941," the following sums for the following respective purposes, namely:
(a) For the procurement, by manufacture or otherwise, of defense articles, information, and services, for the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States, and the disposition thereof, including all necessary expenses in connection therewith, as follows:
(1) Ordnance and ordnance stores, supplies, spare parts, and materials, including armor and ammunition and components thereof, $1,190,000,000.
(2) Aircraft and aeronautical material, including engines, spare parts and accessories, $685,000,000.
(3) Tanks, armored cars, automobiles, trucks, and other automotive vehicles, spare parts and accessories, $385,000,000.
(4) Vessels, ships, boats and other watercraft, including the hire or other temporary use thereof, and equipment, supplies, materials, spare parts and accessories, $850,000,000.
(5) Miscellaneous military and naval equipment, supplies and materials, $155,000,000.
(6) Facilities and equipment for the manufacture, production or operation of defense articles and for otherwise carrying out the purposes of the act of March 11, 1941, including the acquisition of land, and being disposed of to a foreign government, whenever in the judgment of the President the defense of the United States will be best served thereby.

Section 4. No part of any appropriation contained in this act shall be used to pay the salary or wages of any person who advocates, or who is a member of an organization that advocates, the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or violence: Provided, That for the purposes hereof an affidavit shall be considered prima facie evidence that the person making the affidavit does not advocate, and is not a member of the organization that advocates, the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or violence: Provided further, That any person who advocates, or who is a member of an organization that advocates, the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or violence and accepts employment the salary or wages for which are paid from any appropriation in this act shall be guilty of a felony and, upon conviction, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both: Provided further, That the above penalty clause shall be in addition to, and not in substitution for, any other provisions of existing law.
Section 5. This act may be cited as "Title II of the Defense Aid Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1941."
I recommend that the estimate be transmitted to Congress.
Very respectfully,
(Signed) HAROLD D. SMITH,
Director of the BUREAU OF THE BUDGET.

disposed of the new tax bill yesterday.
The new lease-lend fund will be in addition to the aid to Russia which Mr. Jones announced yesterday would take the form of a loan-purchase agreement.
At the direction of the President, Mr. Jones announced the Defense Supply Corp., an R. F. C. subsidiary, had contracted with the Amtorg Trading Corp. for purchase of $100,000,000 worth of manganese, chrome, asbestos and platinum, strategic materials needed by the United States.
The R. F. C. subsidiary will advance up to $50,000,000 against the purchase of these materials before delivery, thereby giving Russia the necessary dollar exchange for buying war supplies here.
$10,000,000 Already Advanced.
A total of $10,000,000 was advanced yesterday and the remainder will be supplied as needed.
Mr. Jones made the announcement at his press conference late yesterday and made public the contents of a letter from President Roosevelt, of September 12, which directed the deal.
"The Russian government needs dollar exchange with which to buy war supplies in the United States," Mr. Jones said in his letter to Mr. Jones. "We need many critical and strategic materials produced in Russia, some of which we normally import from that country."
"To assist the Russian government in paying for war supplies, which it is buying in the United States, and which it can get in limited quantities, and to expedite our national defense program, I would like you to arrange through the Reconstruction Finance Corp., or one of its subsidiaries, for the purchase from Amtorg Trading Corp., a United States corporation owned by Russian interests, of manganese, chrome, asbestos, platinum, and other articles and materials which we usually import from Russia up to the value of $100,000,000 for delivery as rapidly as possible with proper allowance for dislocation of transportation and of their productive facilities and that advances up to $50,000,000 be made against the purchase price of these critical and strategic materials to be used by Russia in paying for purchases in this country."
"Though no R. F. C. loan to Russia is in contemplation at the present time, the contract does not preclude the possibility of such a loan," Mr. Jones said.
Delivery of the strategic materials from Russia is expected over a period of several years, Mr. Jones explained. The prices paid will be the have met every bill in this country since I have been Secretary." He added:

"They said they wanted the money to pay American manufacturers and I gave them the money because we always want to see that the American manufacturer gets his money."
The money, Mr. Morgenstern said, was disbursed through the Amtorg Trading Corp., a Russian-owned corporation in this country. Yesterday's $100,000,000 minerals purchase also was arranged through Amtorg.
No Gold Here Since August 13.
The Secretary said he did not know whether any of the Russian gold had arrived yet, and Commerce Department statistics showed no gold received from Russia since the week ended August 13. Receipts that week were $3,407,285. That shipment, incidentally, was the first one from Russia in over a year.
The money, Mr. Morgenstern said, was disbursed through the Amtorg Trading Corp., a Russian-owned corporation in this country. Yesterday's $100,000,000 minerals purchase also was arranged through Amtorg.
Testing and Repairing.
(b) For testing, inspecting, proving, repairing, outfitting, reconditioning or otherwise placing in good working order any defense articles for the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States, including services and expenses in connection therewith, $175,000,000.
(c) For necessary services and expenses for carrying out the purposes of the act of March 11, 1941, not specified or included in the foregoing, $285,000,000.
(d) For administrative expenses, $10,000,000.
(e) In all, $5,985,000,000, to remain available until June 30, 1942.
(f) Each of the foregoing appropriations shall be additional to, and consolidated with, the appropriation for the same purpose contained in Sections 1 (a), 1 (b), 1 (c) and 1 (e), respectively, of the "Defense Aid Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1941." Provided, That with the exception of the appropriation for administrative expenses, not to exceed 20 per centum of any such consolidated appropriations may be transferred by the President to any other of such consolidated appropriations, but no such consolidated appropriation shall be increased more than 30 per centum thereby.

Turks Deny Bulgars Ask That Destroyers Go Through Straits

Sofia Government Said To Be Mobilizing Army In Crisis With Soviet

By the Associated Press.
ANKARA, Sept. 17 (Delayed).—Balkan diplomatic sources said today they had information that Bulgaria, whose diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia are tense, is mobilizing her armed forces rapidly and already has summoned 350,000 men to arms.

In addition to these Bulgarian forces, informed sources said, three German divisions or more already are in Bulgaria.

Turks Deny Request Made.
British sources said today the British Embassy had been informed by the Turks that Bulgaria had made no proposal to permit warships purchased from Italy to pass through the Dardanelles Straits into the Black Sea, as reported here in high quarters. Turkey controls the Dardanelles.

The Balkan informants said the engineering organization said today Fritz Todt, which built Germany's Westwall and great motor highway system, was working at top pressure to construct roads in Southern and Eastern Bulgarian which would be useful in any military action toward the Suez Canal.

Six hundred German engineers and 6,000 Serbian laborers also were reported by these sources as repairing the railroad between Belgrade and Nis, one of the main routes from Germany to the southeast, and the rail line from Sofia to Salonika, also essential for any Aegean or Eastern Mediterranean action.

A diplomatic observer arriving from Syria reported that the British were moving artillery and other military units northward toward the Turkish border in a constant stream. He declined to estimate the total movement.

Inquiry Based on Rumors.
The assurance that Bulgaria had made no proposal to permit passage of warships through the Dardanelles was given in reply to an inquiry based on repeated rumors that the Axis was using a "blind" fleet of six Italian destroyers and submarines to non-belligerent Bulgaria in order to strengthen the Axis navy in the Black Sea, where the Russian fleet is predominant.

The Soviet fleet is considered a substantial stumbling block to German use of the sea lanes to supply and reinforce the advance Nazi positions in the Ukraine.

Feverish Preparations Made by Germans

By RICHARD MOWBR.
Foreign Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

ANKARA, Sept. 18.—The Germans are preparing for something on the Near Eastern war front, foreign sources believe, as information on Axis activities in Southeastern Europe is accumulated.

In the case of German activity displayed on Bulgaria's and Rumania's Black Sea coast, it is anybody's guess whether the Germans are preparing some sort of Black Sea offensive against the British, or whether they are preparing for a defensive war in case they fail to smash the Red Army before winter.

Whatever the Axis intention may be, the following facts are noteworthy.

German Grand Admiral Erich Raeder's tour of inspection recently of the enlarged and fortified ports of Varna and Burgaz; Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch's recent visit to Bulgaria where the commander in chief of the German Armies conferred with the Bulgarian general staff; German sailors' arrival at Varna and Burgaz; Axis attempts to get vessels into the Black Sea from the Mediterranean; news that the Transylvania and Bessarabia, speedy Rumanian luxury liners anchored for months at Istanbul, are preparing to put to sea.

Bulgarians Reported Speeding Mobilization

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Vichy radio reported today that because of increasing tension between Bulgaria and Soviet Russia Bulgarian mobilization is going on "in all haste." National Broadcasting Co. heard the broadcast.

CERTAIN DEATH TO BEDBUGS

Safe, Sure... Inexpensive way to get rid of bedbugs. Results guaranteed on contact. Non-staining when used as directed. Simply pour Discovery down baseboards, in cracks in walls or spray on bed—wherever bedbugs lurk and breed. Over 1,000,000 cans of Peterman's sold last year. At your drugist's, 25¢.

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have to get up 3 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic kidney and bladder trouble often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backache, or swollen ankles, or non-organic or non-systemic kidney and bladder trouble, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfied to you. Cystex costs only 35¢ at drugists and the guarantee protects you.

Nazi Plotting Exposed At Espionage Trial By F. B. I. Movies

Secret Film Portrays Accused Reich Agent With 'Friendly' G-Man

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A film, shot secretly by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and thrown on a screen in Federal Court yesterday, showed Frederick Duquesne, 63, one of the 16 defendants charged with espionage conspiracy, going over a picture of planes, guns, tanks and cryptic notes and diagrams.

Government witnesses—F. B. I. Agent William Friedman, who made the picture from an adjoining office, and Counter Espionage Agent William Sebald—testified that the silent film recorded Mr. Duquesne explaining American war secrets which he had stolen for Germany and discussing several more sabotage projects, including the blowing up of the Schenectady (N. Y.) General Electric plant and the scattering of minute incendiary bombs on warships.

sound effects were unnecessary to indicate his speech.

Parts of Mr. Friedman's testimony served as subtitles.

"Duquesne advised Sebald to be very careful about carrying materials on his person," testified Mr. Friedman. "He said that personally he carried things on his leg."

The picture showed Mr. Duquesne delving into his sock for a sealed envelope, the contents of which he spread out before Sebald.

"Duquesne told Sebald that these (papers and pictures) were materials procured at maneuvers in Tennessee and specifications of a Navy speed boat, which he said he obtained in Washington," continued Mr. Friedman.

"He said he saw in Tennessee an anti-tank device which the Government called a 'deep-deep secret'—a pill box buried in the ground with room for one man to operate against tanks."

In the background were a calendar—registering June 25, 1941, two days before the round-up of 33 persons, 17 of whom have pleaded guilty—and a clock, whose minute hand went from 6:18 to 6:42 during the showing.

Candy Best Bomb Case.

Dr. Duquesne, Mr. Friedman added, said in a discussion of incendiary bombs, that "candy split into two pieces with a combustible phosphorus compound inserted before putting the pieces together again, made a good and safe incendiary bomb."

"He said it was best, however, to use chewing gum. It was to be well chewed, he said, and then wrapped around a phosphorus compound which would not ignite until the temperature rose above 75 degrees. He said that in this manner it could be planted on warships on a cold day and would not set fire until a couple of days later."

Under cross-examination by Frank J. Walsh, Mr. Duquesne's counsel, Mr. Friedman said: "Duquesne said he had dropped these bombs in times past on dock facilities." He quoted Mr. Duquesne as having told Mr. Sebald he had looked over the General Electric plant a year earlier and that it was Mr. Duquesne's purpose to blow it up.

America First Discusses Roosevelt's Navy Order

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Members of the National Executive Committee of the America First Committee were summoned to a meeting today by Chairman Gen. Robert E. Wood to discuss President Roosevelt's recent speech regarding naval operations.

A spokesman at the organization's national headquarters said Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech also might be brought into the discussion.

No mention of the Lindbergh speech was made, however, in Gen. Wood's communication to committee members concerning today's meeting, an executive session.

Although America First has made no official comment on Mr. Lindbergh's speech, it was termed "un-American" by Herbert K. Hyde, Oklahoma State chairman of the organization. Mr. Hyde expressed the opinion that Mr. Lindbergh's "attempt to divide America into racial or religious groups by making charges against the Jews" did not reflect the view of the America First Committee.

20 Nazi Fields Reported Discovered in Britain

TORONTO, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Toronto Star yesterday quoted "an influential placed Englishman who recently arrived here" as saying that British authorities had discovered 20 secret Nazi landing fields in the British Isles last September.

"Fifth columnists had rolled out the fields and then disguised them with fences and brush," the Star quoted its informant as saying.

Counterespionage agents discovered the secret fields were to be identified from the air by a brilliantly painted red barn at the edge of each field.

Catholic Priest Reported Slain on Hainan Island

HONG KONG, Sept. 18.—The Central (Chinese) news agency reported today that an unidentified French Roman Catholic priest was killed and other missionaries were killed or wounded on Hainan Island August 27, when the Japanese captured a small town. The Catholic Church was burned, it said.

Windsors Will Visit In Baltimore and New York on Trip

Duke and Duchess To Arrive in Capital Next Thursday

The former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore will have a chance to show her royal husband around her home town before the Duke and Duchess of Windsor complete their forthcoming American visit, the British Press Service disclosed today.

The Duke and Duchess, who will arrive here next Thursday en route to the Duke's ranch in Alberta, Canada, will visit Baltimore and New York before returning to the Bahamas.

British spokesmen have not said officially whether the Windsors will fly to Miami from the Bahamas and have not given exact train times "for reasons of protection."

The official release said only that the Duke and Duchess will enter the United States Tuesday from the Bahamas at Miami and will en-train the following morning for Washington.

Since the visit is to be strictly unofficial and informal, the details of the 24-hour Washington visit await the arrival of the Duke and Duchess. Already scheduled, however, are a luncheon at the White House and visits to the National Press Club and the Women's National Press Club.

How the Windsors will spend the rest of their time in Washington is up to them, according to advance information.

On the afternoon of September 26 the Duke and Duchess will leave Washington for Chicago by train, arriving the following morning. They will reach Calgary September 30, motoring to the ranch, which is about 40 miles from Calgary on the High River. They are expected to remain at the ranch for about 10 days while the Duke "conducts administrative business" at the ranch he hasn't seen for 14 years.

Returning to the United States, the Windsors will go to Baltimore, where they will stay at the home of Henry M. Warfield, uncle of the Duchess. They will then go on to New York for a visit before returning to the Bahamas.

For holding a dance in his home without a license, John O'Brien was fined in Ennistymon, Eire.

Tax Bill, Now Awaiting Signature, Will Hit Public in Dozen Ways

Levies on Phone Calls, Footballs and Radios Are a Few of Imposts

BACKGROUND—Record $3,553,400,000 tax bill passed by Senate yesterday is expected to lift Federal revenues above $13,000,000,000 mark next year, but, because of mounting defense expenditures, will not be enough to carry out Secretary of the Treasury's Morgenthau's suggestion that two-thirds of governmental costs be paid from taxation and only one-third from borrowing.

By the Associated Press.
The unprecedented $3,553,400,000 revenue bill, which won final Senate approval yesterday and now awaits President Roosevelt's signature, will hit the average citizen's pocketbook in a dozen ways or more.

Take, for example, a married man with a wife, two children and a $3,000 income. This year he paid no income tax.

When he sits down to figure his tax next year he can either use a simplified return form provided for gross incomes of $3,000 and less or he can do it the hard way by working out his own computations on a standard form. Under the simplified return, his tax would be $34. Under the standard form, it might be slightly more or less, depending on the amount of his charitable contributions, business expenses, etc.

Many Other Levies.
Under the new bill, however, he would start handing over money to the Government long before the March 15 deadline for income tax returns rolls around.

Starting October 1, he would pay 6 per cent on his local telephone bill and another 10 per cent on any long-distance calls or telegrams. He could not replace burned-out electric light bulbs without paying a 5 per cent tax, and a new refrigerator would involve a 10 per cent impost.

If he took his wife to a night club, he would pay an extra 5 per cent on his bill; if they went to a movie it would be 10 per cent. A week-end trip by plane, train, bus or boat would cost an extra 5 per cent.

If the man had a car, he would pay double taxes on tires and inner tubes and, beginning next year, he would pay a flat $5 annual tax on the car itself.

Jewelry and Footballs.
Giving his wife a bracelet would involve the 10 per cent jewelry levy. A new radio, phonograph or camera would bear a 10 per cent tax, and he would pay the same levy on a football for his son or a bottle of perfume for his daughter.

If he shot a game of pool with the boys at the corner, he would be helping to pay the annual $10 tax on pool tables. If he had friends in for bridge the tax would be 13 cents on each pack of cards.

He would have to pay 10 per cent on any club dues in excess of $10 a year. While he could drink beer without paying any additional taxes, whisky and wines would cost him more. The bill would raise the some comparatively recent history is pertinent.

In 1938, when rail revenues touched bottom, the I. C. C. was asked to allow a 15 per cent horizontal freight rate increase. Countering with an increase that averaged only slightly more than 5 per cent, the commission said that to have acceded to the railroads' request actually would have tended to "stifle" traffic. In view of the extraordinary freight movement occasioned by the defense program, it is not likely that an increase now could "stifle" traffic. It is certain, however, that once the emergency is ended, and the railroads must compete with rival agencies for the dwindling business, a rate structure dependent on the defense "boom" cannot be maintained.
The same holds true of passenger fares. Several years ago, Southern and Western lines reduced their tariffs to meet highway competition. Later, the I. C. C. forced the Eastern systems to follow suit. To argue that the railroads now could raise these rates and keep them up is to flout experience.

With several drastic rent control bills already in the legislative mill, a new proposal has come before the House District Committee at the instance of those who would be most affected by rent legislation, the owners and managers of rental property. The new bill would establish a rent ceiling as of September, 1940, levels, with enforcement of the ceiling vested in an administrator named by the District Commissioners. Sponsoring the measure is the Joint Defense Housing Committee, composed of representatives of realtors' and builders' organizations.

Argentina Speaks Out

All over Latin America there is a movement of protest and preventive activity against Nazi intrigue. It is as significant as it is gratifying to see Argentina abreast of this current trend. Argentine public opinion has been increasingly angered by revelations of Nazi activities made by a congressional committee headed by Deputy Raul Taborda. Its investigations have implicated not only German residents and local Fascists but also the Reich's consular and diplomatic representatives, including Ambassador von Thermann himself. The Argentine House of Representatives undoubtedly voiced the overwhelming opinion of its constituents when it voted almost unanimously a series of resolutions explicitly censuring the German Ambassador and demanding the dissolution of German societies in the republic. These resolutions, sent to Acting President Castillo, constitute a formal and urgent congressional request for executive action.

This threatens to precipitate a political crisis. President Castillo and his Foreign Minister, Ruiz-Guinazu, consistently have adopted a policy of strict neutrality, and critics have alleged that the Taborda committee met with covert executive opposition in its investigations. The administration can hardly sidestep this congressional demand. If it does nothing, it risks an explosion of public disapproval. If it accedes, it must at the very least declare the German Ambassador persona non grata and compel him to leave the country, which would cause an acute strain in diplomatic relations with the Reich.

The present situation in Argentine politics can best be visualized if we imagine President Roosevelt and the State Department to have been strongly "isolationist" in face of an increasingly anti-Nazi Congress and public opinion, stirred especially by the revelations of the Dies Committee and by the tactless actions of the German Ambassador. Under such circumstances it would seem unlikely that any administration would stand out against the two-fold pressure thus exerted. It is reasonable to conclude, therefore, that Argentina will adopt a stiffer official attitude toward Germany and will tend to fall in line with the policy of Pan-American solidarity which most of the other Latin American republics already have adopted. Such a shift in foreign policy on the part of the largest and most powerful Spanish-speaking country in this hemisphere would intensify everywhere the current trend toward curbing Nazi schemes and co-operating wholeheartedly with the United States.

In Argentina, as elsewhere in Latin America, German diplomacy has shown itself amazingly shortsighted. Germans are wont to boast that they have studied carefully the psychology of our southern neighbors and know how to handle them. Yet the arrogance displayed by German diplomats and agents in Argentina, Mexico and many other of these countries has touched to the quick the national pride of those peoples, and has done more than anything else to make the Germans lose advantages gained by long and patient effort. German prestige in Latin America was founded largely on fear and popular belief in a German victory in the present war. Now that Latin Americans see that the Reich is not invincible and that its chances are at least dubious, resentment at Nazi attitudes and practices has freer play. Everything seems to portend that, throughout this hemisphere, the Nazi star is rapidly on the decline.

Rail Pay Problem

According to seemingly well-founded reports, the public will be called upon to foot the bill if the railroad unions are successful in the wage demands that now are being studied by the President's Emergency Fact-Finding Board. In this event, it is predicted that the carriers as a whole will petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase in freight rates, and that the Eastern lines, at least, may seek higher passenger fares.

It is probably safe to assume that the board will not support the union demands in full. The carriers estimate that the raises sought would boost their costs $900,000,000 annually, and the industry, of course, could not stand such a drain. Granting, however, that some increase is recommended, the important question is whether the railroads will be able to meet it at the existing level of income, or if it will be necessary to try and pass the added cost on to the public. On this latter point, extend the street in the manner proposed. The current policy not only is assuring the eventual extension of an important thoroughfare but also is enabling the county to obtain the right of way in a gradual fashion without making a large outlay of funds at one time.

Actual construction of the extension involves erection of an underpass or overpass across the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, a factor which will delay the project for some time. Priority has been given to improvement of the existing underpass on Georgia avenue, a costly undertaking but one that is urgently needed. The Silver Spring community can hardly expect to receive two expensive grade elimination projects at once.
Eventually funds for the Sixteenth street work will be allotted, and when that is done, motorists will reap the benefit of the wise policy now being followed. The Silver Spring area and the traffic through it has increased even more than was anticipated two years ago when the plan was projected. An acceleration of that growth is in prospect for the immediate future, emphasizing the importance of what has proven to be a foresighted move.

New Taxes

The new tax bill, awaiting signature of President Roosevelt, is expected to bring into the Treasury a total of $3,553,400,000 and to boost Federal revenue collections for all sources during the next fiscal year to about $13,000,000,000. It broadens the base of the Federal income tax by lowering exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons, thereby achieving the commendable goal of reducing the number of taxpayers who escape payment of any income taxes. It is high time that more of the citizens who enjoy the benefits of democracy should have a share in the costs of preserving it. Actually, the lowered exemptions will bring in scarcely more than $47,000,000 additional. The bulk of the burden, as usual, will fall upon those who already have been supporting an increasingly heavy proportion of the weight of the tax structure. The act will approximately triple taxes of persons in the middle income brackets, will step up corporation surtaxes and will levy a number of new excise and miscellaneous taxes.

The lowered income tax exemptions were accepted by the House in lieu of the proposal for mandatory joint returns by husband and wife, which would have added more than $300,000,000 to next year's tax collections, it was estimated. The Senate Finance Committee earlier had agreed to eliminate the joint return clause with the definite understanding that the plan would be taken up again when the next tax bill is considered. And there will be another soon. In fact, it already is in the making. Representative Doughton, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made it plain that a new bill will be necessary to raise additional revenue to meet the steadily mounting deficits. With the President about to send another multi-billion-dollar lease-lend request to Congress, it is obvious that tax authorities must look for new pay dirt and must find it in prodigious quantities as the defense program proceeds.

One important way of easing the tax impact in the future is to curtail non-defense spending right now. The new tax law will create machinery designed to explore economy possibilities with a view to effecting substantial savings in the cost of Government. Under the Byrd amendment, a special committee of House and Senate members and administration officials will be set up for this purpose. The proposed committee will have exceptional opportunities for service, not the least of which would be the relegation of the political pork barrel to the scrap heap "for the duration," if not longer.

Bicycle Ordinance

The proposed bicycle ordinance under consideration by the Arlington County Board merits the support of the citizens in the rapidly growing community across the Potomac River. With the increase in population, congestion on the principal highways of the county has magnified traffic hazards, one of the worst of which is the careless riding of bicycles by children unfamiliar with or oblivious to rules of street safety. The ordinance presented to the board by Chairman Freeland Chew would strike at a particularly dangerous practice, the operation of bicycles at night without lights of any kind. Washington long has required bicycles to carry headlights and tail reflectors, but Arlington in the past has neglected to deal with this important safety problem. Under the proposed regulations, Arlington cyclists would have to light their bicycles at night or suffer impounding of their bicycles. The impounding provision is a sensible penalty in lieu of arrest, for there would be widespread opposition to the latter procedure in the case of children.

An interesting feature of the plan calls for the registration and licensing of all bicycles at a nominal cost, perhaps twenty-five cents. A small license plate would be attached to each bicycle for purposes of identification. Arlington police say such a plan would aid them in investigating and preparing evidence in stolen bicycle cases. Because most bicycle riders are children, the authorities should make certain that any such registration and licensing regulations are neither so complicated nor so costly as to be unduly burdensome for the average bicycle owner.

Notebook of Science Progress In Laboratory, Field And Study

By Thomas R. Henry.
A new vitamin has been isolated from green leaves.

It is also present in extremely minute amounts, in every tissue of the animal body.

This was reported before a vitamin symposium at the University of Chicago yesterday by Dr. Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas.

He calls the hitherto unknown substance "folic acid" from the Latin word for leaf, "folium."

It fulfills all the chemical requirements for inclusion in the growing complex of B vitamins and probably is essential for life and growth. Its functions are not yet known. The fact that it is present in animal tissues indicates that it must be necessary because there is no chemical waste in nature.

Biologists have long suspected a "green grass vitamin." Cattle turned loose in the spring show a remarkable improvement, although the hay and grain they have received during the winter presumably has contained all the food elements present in the pasture grass. There is no assurance, however, that the improvement is due to folic acid.

This has been the history of the recently discovered members of the B complex. First they have been found by chemists. Then they have been identified in the body. Then their function has been determined.

The complex now includes eight accepted members: Thiamin, essential to prevent beriberi and general nervous breakdowns. Nicotinic acid—preventative of pellagra.

Riboflavin—preventative of a variety of human maladies. Biotin—most powerful of all the vitamins in promoting growth of microorganisms. There are only microscopic amounts of it in the world.

Inositol—preventative of certain forms of blindness in animals. Proxidin, essential for life in many animals.

Pantothenic acid one of the preventatives of gray hair, possibly a preventative of degeneration of the adrenal glands.

A new vitamin which may prevent other forms of hair graying was announced before the American Chemical Society last week.

Dr. Williams today extended the known uses of pantothenic acid when he described experiments showing that when minute amounts are fed to laying hens the number of eggs which hatch can be increased as much as 30 per cent.

The diet of both chickens and hogs, he said, probably is deficient in this substance. There is little of it in corn, which constitutes a major part of their food.

At the same symposium Dr. Tom D. Spies of the University of Cincinnati, one of the foremost living authorities on the B vitamin complex, advocated a practical way for everybody to get an abundant supply in quick lunches.

This could be brought about, he said, by a sandwich made of whole-wheat or vitamin-enriched bread and peanut butter into which has been mixed 20 per cent of dried yeast. Such a sandwich, he said, would contain not only plenty of vitamins but a lot of fats, proteins and energy-supplying starches and sugars.

An impaired diet, Dr. Spies said, is only one way of causing vitamin starvation. Sometimes the digestive tract will not absorb the vitamins in the food and sometimes the body will not store them.

A blood-pressure-reducing substance has been isolated in relatively pure form from kidneys.

It has just been reported to the American Chemical Society by Drs. Benjamin Jablons and Isadore Chamelin of the Welfare Hospital, New York.

It may open a new approach to the most serious medical problem of the age—the heart-brain-circulation syndrome which has become the leading cause of death in middle age.

Dr. Jablons explained that there are two substances in normal kidney which counteract each other. One raises and the other lowers blood pressure, according to the immediate needs of the system.

The two chemists have obtained this blood-pressure antidote in a purer state than it has been obtained hitherto by a new method of alcohol fractionation.

"When properly prepared," Dr. Jablons said, "it produces no local reaction or injury. It has been found to neutralize a number of blood-pressure-raising substances manufactured in the body, such as adrenalin, pituitary extract, and the substance known as renin, which is obtained from the kidney itself.

"The substance also lowers the blood pressure in animals in which hypertension has been produced by various other procedures. These procedures represent methods which reduce the amount of functioning kidney tissue by removal of from three-fourths to five-sixths of the total amount of kidney, by cutting down the blood supply through clamps placed on the kidney arteries, or by encasing the kidney in a thick shell of scar tissue.

"The use of this material is followed by a drop in blood pressure which varies depending on the amount injected. In most animals this drop does not occur until from three days to a week after the injection. The effects persist from one to five days—sometimes for considerably longer periods.

"In some animals and humans the injection is associated with marked increase in the output of urine and an increase in the amount of salt excreted. The material also slows the heart rate and improves the circulation.

"Its injection into the blood stream is not followed at first by any increase in blood pressure, indicating that it is free of blood-pressure-raising substances. Its value in helping to modify symptoms of older people with hypertension in charge of the defense program, as well as its possible benefit to selectees who may suffer from high blood pressure, is self-evident."

Efforts to obtain in pure form the alternate kidney substance, renin, were described by Dr. Otto Schales of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

THIS AND THAT

By Charles E. Tracewell.
"GREEN ACRES, Md.
"Dear Sir:
"I am an ardent observer of birds and cater to them with sunflower and mixed seeds at my year-round feeders, which are patronized by titmice, chickadees, nuthatches, cardinals, sparrows and song sparrows.

"There appeared an unusual bird at the breakfast tray Sunday morning about the size of the cardinal, but with the most beautiful jade-green color on the breast, spotted yellowish-gray wings and head, and blue tail, no crest, very short beak, rather flat against the head, a real tropical bird.

"First I could not believe my eyes, but watched him for about 15 minutes eating seeds in the green grass, rather high for a lawn but wonderful for birds, after which he flew off with the flock of sparrows he seemed to follow.

"I am of the opinion he was in migration, since I have never seen a bird with green plumage except at the Zoo or in the tropical countries.

"Can you help me identify this unusual bird?
"I have enjoyed your column for many months; it has afforded me much pleasure during the year and a half which I have been feeding the local birds.

"Sincerely yours, C. K."
This bird sounds as if it were something which had got out of a cage somewhere. There is no songster of our acquaintance with such a color combination, certainly none with a blue tail.

There are many green birds. The female scarlet tanager, for instance, is a green bird, though one would scarcely call her jade green. The scarlet tanagers run through a variety of plumage, from the fully adult male, with its familiar black wings and tail and the rest of him red, to the moulting male with black tail and wings, but mixed green and red on head and breast and back.

The winter plumage of the male scarlet tanager is a fine green shading to yellowish, still with the familiar black wings and tail. There is a disease of this bird which changes the breast to a deep yellow, and pales out the black to a sort of brownish. No one would suspect it of being a scarlet tanager.

The first breeding season male has brownish wings, and the red is not the clear flame of color which distinguishes the fully adult males.

Among the green birds of the East may be placed the tree swallow, the tiny ruby-throated hummingbird, the golden-crowned kinglet, the ruby-crowned kinglet, the solitary vireo, the red and white eyed vireo, the warbling vireo, and the ovenbird. Some of these are greenish gray, others olive, and a few yellowish olive.

Females of the red crossbill, and the orchard oriole, as well as of the scarlet tanager, as stated, and the summer tanager, have green phases.

Referring to Charles N. Bratcher's letter headed: "Approves Arrest of Bus Driver," I don't think it unusual for any one to approve a just arrest, nor is it so unusual for a bus driver to get a ticket for a traffic violation.

The police give us only an even break. They are our co-workers and friends. Still, we all know that we must observe the law, and 99 per cent of us do. Would Mr. Bratcher condemn the F. B. I. because a few of its agents are said to have been found unworthy of trust?

I wish the police would give out more "rare treats" (as Mr. Bratcher experienced) by giving every one who walks or drives against a red light a ticket.

As an experienced bus operator, I would like to tell all motorists in Washington that a green light in this city should be approached with great caution. It is not an all-clear signal. Pedestrians constantly cross against red lights, so take the green lights easy or you will have two or three Government workers on your bumpers. They, too, must think they are in the "privileged class" mentioned by Mr. Bratcher. As to the no stopping or standing signs on Pennsylvania avenue, they might as well read: "Welcome, Rest here."

The only time I feel I am in the "privileged class" is when I have finished a day without an accident.

The bus operators have a key job in national defense and are endeavoring to give safe, rapid transportation through co-operation with the police and the general public.

The inference that we have a "feeling of superiority on the streets of Washington" is entirely unjustifiable.

A BUS OPERATOR.

Q. Please give an account of the occasion when Clemenceau insulted President Wilson?—O. E. N.
A. Sir J. Basil Thompson, former British intelligence service chief, described the incident as follows: Mr. Wilson and Mr. Clemenceau were already near the breaking point when the "Tiger" offered Andre Tardieu's compromise solution. Mr. Wilson rose, straightened his glasses and replied that France should have nothing to do with the Saar. He rejected all of Clemenceau's suggestions. The "Tiger" was white with fury. He spluttered something unintelligible to his colleagues, then sprang at Mr. Wilson's throat. He shook him violently, as though to strangle him, spat in his face, and shouted, "Boche, boche!"

Q. Did Little Langtry, "the Jersey Lily," ever visit America?—M. T. P.
A. The famous actor visited this country first in 1882. She returned in 1903, starting in "The Crossways," and made a subsequent tour here in 1912, when she appeared in vaudeville.

Q. How are the judges of the United States Supreme Court appointed?—T. H. A.
A. They are appointed by the President, by and with the consent of the Senate.

In the Canyon
Couched on a trail beneath the canyon green
Of redwoods rising in a dense dark wall,
I lie at ease, and scarcely can recall
The rumblings of a less reposeful scene.
Here, in the windy-whispered ravine,
The progress of the world comes not at all;
The quiet of this vast, high-columned hall
Tells of an age before man's first machine.
And all the tools contrived by wizard hands
To serve us, and to hurtle us through space,
The dynamos that roar, the wheels that race,
Are phantoms where the garbled sequoia stands.
Strange, that where time and science leave no trace,
I seem the nearest to the blessed lands!

Soviet Bulletin Claims Evidence of Nazi Morale Decline Embassy Says Letters Of Captured Germans Show Tension

Declining morale of both German soldiers and Germans as they face the prospect of a long war is "increasingly evident" among Nazi prisoners and letters captured by Russian Army forces, according to an information bulletin issued by the Soviet Embassy here.

The Embassy quoted reports from Moscow that one captured German aviator said everybody at home was asking, "When will this accursed war end?" and that one woman wrote to her brother in the Nazi Army that Hitler and Goering "would never have gotten away alive" if it had been known that the Nazi leaders were visiting a certain bombed town.

Soviets Bomb Cities. "Becker" Russian aircraft have been repeatedly appearing over Berlin, Koenigsberg, Stettin, Altona and other German cities. Recently I witnessed a bombardment of Berlin by Soviet planes. Numerous fires broke out and frequent bomb explosions were heard throughout the city. I know that a munitions plant was hit.

Escaped Censor's Stamp. "Helen Gerricke of Aachen writes to her brother, Lance Corp. Gerhardt, the following letter bearing no censor's stamp, which probably means it was delivered by a soldier returning from furlough: "Today we had a visit from the English. Not a single anti-aircraft gun was fired, not a single fire brigade was to be seen—nothing. Bomb after bomb fell. I shall never forget their terrible whistling. When we came out of the shelter the whole town was in flames. Whole streets vanished. It was horrible! "The old town is now a heap of ruins. They say Hitler and Goering came to see the 'insignificant damage.' It's a good thing nobody knew about it or they would never have gotten away alive. Casualties are heavy. About 10,000 people are left without shelter. One thing is clear—these are critical days for Germany."

F. C. C. Hears Troubles Of Radio Station Hit By Three-Sided Fight

Son Francisco Programs Of A. F. L., C. I. O. and N. A. M. Described

By J. A. FOX.

The trouble encountered by Hearst Station KYA when caught in the middle of a three-sided fight involving the C. I. O., the American Federation of Labor and San Francisco businessmen was placed before the Federal Communications Commission today as the inquiry into newspaper ownership of broadcasting stations was resumed.

With the C. I. O. hammering away at the businessmen and the A. F. of L. in a radio program over KYA, the station made a program contract with the A. F. of L., which had sought the opportunity, according to E. M. Stoer, general manager of Hearst Radio, Inc., to present programs reflecting the "conservative" type of labor. The contract was signed in June of last year and according to a letter from Relland Quinn to Mr. Stoer which was put in the record, he believed that "both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. will be at one another's throats on the air."

The action came at the same time to this letter, he was working on a program with the National Association of Manufacturers.

Other Developments Intervene.

That there were unforeseen developments, however, was disclosed by another letter sent to the commission later to R. E. Berlin of Hearst Magazines, Inc., New York, by Clarence Linder, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner. Explaining that counsel had showed him documents in a new controversy "in which KYA is engaged" he added:

"This time it is an A. F. L. broadcast attacking local business firms which was revised by the station under conditions objectionable to the A. F. of L."

The script ought to have been revised—it was libelous and dangerous. However, the controversy is about the method.

"A combination of the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., each raising hell with business on KYA, cannot be offset by any powder puff programs suggested by the National Manufacturers Association."

Both Labor Programs Off.

Shortly thereafter, according to further correspondence, the A. F. of L. cancelled its program "because of severe censorship" imposed by the station. On October 8 the C. I. O. contract expired and the station refused to renew it.

Another letter from Mr. Stoer to James Lawrence Fly, chairman of the F. C. C., in November, 1940, showed that the commission had inquired why the C. I. O. renewal was refused. In this letter explanation was made that refusal "was based on the fact that the program was controversial and was therefore contrary to the provisions of the N. A. B. (National Association of Broadcasters) code which provides that controversial programs cannot be accepted by a station on a pay basis."

Another factor, Mr. Stoer told Chairman Fly, was a broadcast in September, 1940, which "contained material offensive to the Irish Catholics of San Francisco" and brought widespread protests. Only the intervention of the Irish consul in San Francisco saved that situation, Mr. Stoer said. He brought out in this letter that the C. I. O. had charged that statements in the new A. F. of L. program "were false and libelous" and had demanded a retraction.

This was the second day that the commission had spent in delving into the Hearst radio enterprises. As the session opened today Chairman Fly said that it would adjourn this evening until next Wednesday and then run through three days.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people eliminate about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Clark Disputes Need Of Senate Authority For Movie Inquiry

Subcommittee Chairman Plans to Delve Into Financial Setup

By J. A. O'LEARY.
Chairman Clark of the Senate Interstate Commerce Subcommittee investigating war films for the past 10 days insisted today the subcommittee has the power to continue the probe without waiting for the Senate to pass the investigating resolution on which the testimony is being taken.

He made the statement following published reports that Senate leaders are looking into the question of how far the subcommittee can go without a specific allotment of funds from the Senate's contingent fund.

As the same time, the Idaho isolationist Democrat revealed that from the proceedings are resumed Tuesday, to begin hearing moving picture executives, he "plans to develop the entire financial and economic structure of the industry, with a view to finding out whether charges of monopolistic control are based on fact."

Sees Exhibitors Affected.
Thus, the hearings, which started out to ascertain whether war propaganda is injected into movies, appears destined to turn to the question of whether there is a monopoly in the film industry.

Senator Clark said today the question of whether there is monopolistic control "is important, because if true, it forces exhibitors to show pictures the industry wants shown."

When the monopoly issue was first raised near the outset of the hearings, Wendell L. Wilkie, counsel for the industry, said that question had been disposed of a year ago, when the Justice Department complaint against the industry was settled by a consent decree in Federal Court. Mr. Wilkie charged the monopoly issue was being revived to divert attention from the subcommittee's purpose, which, he said, was to "sabotage this country's foreign policy."

Accuracy Claimed.
Mr. Wilkie also has contended throughout the proceedings that the film industry is against Nazi-ism, and that the only question to be considered should be whether the war pictures have been accurate. He predicted the accuracy of the pictures could be proven.

Answering this contention today, Senator Clark of Idaho argued that "it is no answer to say it is true."

Defending the subcommittee's authority to go on with the investigation under the general authority extended to all Senate committees at the opening of a Congress to hold hearings, Senator Clark said the Interstate Commerce Committee not long ago followed the same procedure by holding two weeks of hearings on the new radio rules of the F. C. C., without Senate approval of the resolution introduced at that time calling for an investigation of the rules.

Similarly, the subcommittee in this case, is holding its hearings on the question of whether it should report back to the Senate the Nye-Clark resolution, proposing an investigation of alleged propaganda in the movies and radio.

Cites Gas Hearings.
Senator Clark said also that, more recently, the Commerce Committee created a subcommittee to inquire into the East Coast oil shortage, although it went to the Senate for approval a day or two later.

The general authority granted at the opening of the session in January to hold committee hearings carried no fixed appropriation. In making known yesterday that he is considering the question of how far the Clark subcommittee can go without obtaining a special investigating fund from the Senate, Chairmen Lucas of the Committee on Audit and Control of the Contingent Fund said he was not trying to stifle an investigation. He added, however, that his attention had been attracted by public reports that the subcommittee was planning an "all out" investigation, extending over a long period of time.

Wheeler Says President Strives to Get U. S. in War

By the Associated Press.
BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 18.—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana said last night that President Roosevelt's recent shooting orders to the Navy indicates he is "doing everything humanly possible" to get this country into the European War.

Senator Wheeler added that the shooting order tendered to confirm rumors that Prime Minister Churchill told the President during their recent sea conference that England would have to make peace unless the United States came into the war with its Navy within 60 days.

Montana's senior Senator in an interview said he is now convinced the people of the United States "must read the London newspapers" to find out what the (Roosevelt) administration is going to do about the war.

Paper Clips, Rubber Bands, Carbon Paper Shortages Foreseen

Business Office Supplies Made Increasingly Scarce By Defense Demands

By JAMES FREE.
Defense supply shortages today threaten to extend to every business or professional office in the country. And the shortages might very well affect all users of typewriters—and even pencils.

The office supplies situation has not yet assumed serious proportions, but it is developing fast and some dealers say that at the present rate they will be completely out of stock of a number of important items in six months.

Already dealers report difficulty in obtaining deliveries of paper clips, staples, typewriter ribbons, steel filing cabinets and furniture, carbon paper, rubber bands, pencils and certain grades of paper.

Rubber Bands Tighter.
"We've been told that we can expect only limited supplies of paper clips and rubber bands," one dealer said here today. "We don't know yet just how drastic cuts in these or other supplies will be. But it seems to be getting progressively more difficult to obtain normal deliveries."

Tightness in supplies of filing cabinets, metal furniture, paper clips and staples is due, of course, to diversion of metals to defense use. Some pencil orders are being held up, it seems, partly because of the rubber erasers and partly because of the use of brass to fasten the erasers. Curtailment of graphite imports from Vichy-controlled Madagascar has also had its effect on pencil production, defense officials declare.

Figuring Profits.
Moreover, unusually heavy demands of defense agencies and plants for pencils have cut down on available stocks.

One expert predicted that pencils produced in the future might not write so distinctly and would have a rubber substitute eraser inserted in the wood instead of attached with a band of brass.

Typewriter ribbons may become scarce largely because of transportation handicaps in getting from England the high grade of cloth used in their manufacture heretofore.

Corner in Ribbons.
Apprehensive of a shortage of typewriter ribbons, the War Department, according to reliable sources, recently planned to buy virtually all available stocks, but was dissuaded from doing so on the ground that this would handicap seriously work of many defense plants and offices aiding indirectly in the defense effort.

Carbon paper troubles are attributable to the fact that particular types of wax used in making it, previously obtained from Germany and England, are getting scarce. Many pigments and dyes used in coloring paper are being offered in reduced quantities, if at all. And chlorine, employed in bleaching paper, is being diverted to defense production; thus leading to the forecast by some that ordinary writing paper and paper on which magazines are printed will have a yellowish color in the future.

Bombing U. S. Property Justified, Peru Holds

By the Associated Press.
LIMA, Peru, Sept. 18.—The Peruvian Foreign Office said yesterday that Peruvian planes had bombed the property of a United States company because Ecuadorian troops were being concentrated there in preparation for "aggression against Peru."

The announcement, in reply to Ecuadorian charges, said also that Ecuadorian "war elements" were being transported on ships belonging to a United States banana company. It added that during the bombing in question Peruvian planes did not drop their projectiles until they were fired on by Ecuadorian anti-aircraft guns.

An Ecuador dispatch Monday said Peruvian planes bombed three frontier villages.

British See Delay In Fixing Prices of Lease-Lend Goods

Discussion Said to Be Proceeding on Methods of Accountancy

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 18.—Well-informed financial sources predicted today indefinite delay in fixing a basis of prices on which Britain plans eventually to repay the United States for lease-lend supplies.

They reported that discussion was proceeding on methods of accountancy to be used in fixing the value of the delivered goods, but "the difficult nature of the problems encountered" is likely to defer a final settlement.

The Financial Times said "one school of thought maintains that Britain would do best for herself by agreeing to have all goods accounted for at current world controlled commodity price levels rather than wait for the end of the war, thus risking the possibility of higher prices then prevalent.

"The decision is realized nevertheless to be one for the United States authorities to take rather than for their British counterpart and it is understood that President Roosevelt himself is anxious to play a leading part in determining the broad lines of policy governing the problems concerned."

The paper said special attention was being given to prices on cotton tonnage due for shipment under the Lease-Lend Act and added that "settlement of all price levels is known to be regarded as a very subsidiary problem to the major basic issues aroused by the scheme."

BOND AVERAGES

Summary table of bond averages including Domestic, Foreign, and U.S. Government bonds, showing price changes and trends.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Sharp rises in a number of foreign bond issues and normally inactive rails stood out in a generally steady to firm bond market today.

El Salvador 8s, Great Consolidated Electric of Japan 6 1/2s, Greek 6s, Oriental Development and Finance 7 1/2s, and Yokohama 6s were among those showing advances of 1 to 3 or more, though transactions were in most cases sparse.

Loans of Pere Marquette, Boston & Maine, Canadian Pacific, Erie Railroad and Erie & Jersey managed gains of a point or more.

United States Government securities neglected in the listed market, were a little higher over the counter.

Several of the low-priced rails held buying interest and a large block of Missouri Pacific 7 1/2s of 77 changed hands at 102.

Other changes included American & Foreign Power 5s, Rock Island general 4s, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s, Western Union 5s, Southern Railway 4s and Montana Power 3 1/2s.

CIVILIAN ORDERS FOR STEEL CUT BY PRIORITIES

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—New orders for steel products are falling off under application of strict priorities, and "one important Midwest mill reports a drop of almost 30 per cent within the past few days."

Daily Metal Trade reported today. While no new steel demands are taking a nose dive, specifications for defense tonnage are expanding, the trade publication said, adding:

"However, swollen defense needs are not sufficient to offset the drop in civilian requirements, and it is likely the huge steel mill order backlog will begin to shrink noticeably shortly."

RAIL LOADINGS RISE 13.6 PER CENT AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

By the Associated Press. The Association of American Railroads reported today that 913,952-car volume of freight revenue freight was loaded during the week ending last Saturday.

This was an increase of 116,212 cars, or 14.6 per cent, compared with the preceding week; an increase of 109,687 cars, or 13.6 per cent, compared with the same week of 1940.

Loadings were the highest for 1941 and the highest since the week ended November 2, 1930, when they totaled 934,715 cars.

The report classified the loadings, compared with last week and the corresponding week a year ago, as follows:

Table showing rail loadings by commodity type: Miscellaneous, Grain, Lumber, etc.

All classes of freight showed increases over the preceding freight week, with miscellaneous freight leading the rise. The gain in total shipments, however, was less than seasonal.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index of loadings, based on 1929-30 as 100, declined to 86.5, compared with 87.5 the previous week and 75.7 a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—After a hesitant start, due to profit taking and hedging sales as well as another sharp break in soybean prices, wheat rallied in the final hour today and scored net gains of about a cent a bushel, with other grains following.

The recovery was prompted largely by purchases to cover previous short sales and other buying stimulated by the President's request for additional lease-lend funds, including appropriations for purchase of agricultural commodities. Some buying also was attributed to mills.

Wheat closed 1/4 cent higher than yesterday, December, 1.22 1/2-3/4; May, 1.26 1/2; corn, 1/2 cent higher, December, 83 1/2-3/4; May, 83 1/2; oats, 3/4 cent to 1/2 up.

Soybeans fell 1/2 cent to 5 1/2 cents at one stage but rallied later and closed with net losses of only 1/2 to 3 cents.

BANK CLEARINGS SOAR TO HIGHEST LEVEL SINCE MARCH, 1937

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Bank clearing for 23 leading United States cities for the week ended Wednesday totaled $7,500,476,000, the largest for any week since March, 1937, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Excluding New York City, clearings for the remaining 22 were the biggest for any week since July, 1930.

The 23-city aggregate in the latest period represented a rise of $1,660,674,000, or 22.2 per cent, over the preceding week and a gain of 32.6 per cent over the $5,441,494,000 for the like week of 1940.

New York clearings alone totaled $3,919,643,000, the largest in 11 weeks, and Philadelphia 52.5 per cent, or $2,913,197,000 over last year.

The remaining 22 cities, excluding New York City, had clearings totaling $3,430,833,000, or 30.5 per cent over the $2,628,297,000 a year earlier.

Some of the biggest gains over a year ago included Louisville, with a gain of 50.6 per cent; New Orleans, 48.9; Detroit, 45; Seattle, 42.9; Baltimore, 40.9; Buffalo, 38.3; Cleveland, 37.6, and Minneapolis, 36.7.

EFFECTS OF PRIORITIES ON JOBS TO BE STUDIED

Table titled 'Stock Averages' showing various indices and their values.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

Associated Press Financial. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Stock market in-and-outers, who for a long time have been scrambling for pennies, today raked in enough dollars on yesterday's rally to effectively halt the upswing.

At the start it looked as though another bulge would eventuate as leaders advanced fractions to a point or so, a number to new peaks for the year longer.

Dealings, speedy in the forenoon, slackened appreciably as the session proceeded but transfers were around 750,000 shares.

Russian-American battle headlines were hardly conducive to bullishness, brokers said, although proppings were discerned in business items.

Up at intervals were Great Northern, Southern Railway, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Woolworth, J. C. Case, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Texas Corp., American Can, Goodrich and International Harvester.

Backward most of the day were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, American Telephone & Telegraph, Standard Oil (New Jersey), United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Boeing, Sperry, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric and United States Rubber.

Navy's Patrol Bombers Carry Almost All Comforts of Home

Something Useful Is Fitted Into Every Available Space in 'Whale Belly'

(Third of a series on the Iceland Air Patrol.)

By MORGAN M. BEATTY, Associated Press Feature Service Writer.

ABOARD U. S. NAVY PATROL BOMBER OVER THE ATLANTIC.—Jonah in the whale is perfectly plausible to the crew of a Navy flying boat. That's the shape of their workshop and you've got to play corkscrew to get around inside.

The men around me savvy the crooks and turns. That makes it simple for them, but I find dozens of gadgets to step on, trip over and bang my head against. Lucky the designer thought to pad some of these objects.

I seem to have developed a positive genius for sitting down on ration-filled seabags and knocking flare pistols sky-winding into the solarium—that's what they call the blisters on the fuselage aft. It's bright and sunny out there. It's the home of the gunners.

Rare Comforts.

Things seem confused, as if it were moving day aboard a flying boarding house, but confusion turns out to be convenience, the way these men go about their work. This whale belly is fantastically compact. There's a place for everything and everything's fastened down, including ash trays and anchors. Smoking's permitted everywhere except near the compartment carrying the fuel lines.

Every inch of space is taken up by something. Neat squares of canvas tacked to the hull carry most of the stowage, including the yellow life jackets. These are rubber contraptions. Dangling down from them are two pieces of plastic about the size of dice. Pull them and you punch a hole in a carbon dioxide gas cartridge. Then your belt blows up like a pouter pigeon and you're supposed to be saved from drowning. If we get a ducking in that ice water down there I wonder whether that 10 minutes of life would really be worth while.

Windows Overlook Motors. There's no mistaking the wing design mixture and drinking water, or vice versa. Everything's labeled but the paper towel rack. That's a recent addition, screwed to the back of the meck's (mechanic's) chair in the tower. You "wash" your hands with these towels.

The tower is a flying dashboard. It's tucked in the space where the fuselage fastens onto the wing. There's room enough for duplicate sets of all the instruments in front of the pilot up front. The meck's chair hangs down from the roof. The tower watch climbs up narrow ladders, where he can see those two motors. His orders come from the flight commander through the phone system.

High pressure fire extinguishers are all over the place. The han-die like pistols. Each engine carries a special extinguisher. It operates from the tower. The plane can take off, fly and land on one motor. That makes me several notches happier.

Oxygen Masks for All. Almost underfoot along the 60-odd feet of runway are chests of tools, spare parts and whatnot, all screwed down. Near each man's normal position is oxygen apparatus and mask. The ship will climb to 25,000 feet. At 15,000 men sometimes go silly without oxygen, try a waltz or play tag.

The various banks of indicators carry clocks, all of them with different brands of time. One usually is on Greenwich time. A copper still fills one small gap of space. In case of a forced landing the men can brew fresh water indefinitely.

We've got all the comforts of home except the easy chair in the living room. Somehow I don't seem to miss it up here.

Tomorrow: The men who run a flying tunnel.

Venezuelan Ambassador And Senora de Escalante Fete Former President

Senor Lopez Contreras and Wife, Here for Brief Visit, Are Entertained At Formal Party at Embassy

The very popular Venezuelan Ambassador and Senora de Escalante gave the opening festivity yesterday afternoon for the former President of their country and Senora de Lopez Contreras, who arrived earlier in the day for a brief visit here. The fete also was the first large formal party of the early autumn though the weather was no evidence of fall. The number of officials in the large company showed the effect of the war on diplomatic affairs here, so many of the men having had to remain here through the summer.

The Venezuelan Embassy, one of the newer buildings on Massachusetts avenue, was built under the supervision of the Ambassador and Senora de Escalante, who had the pleasure of being hosts at the house warming some time ago. Well arranged for entertaining, the large rooms give ample space for the comfort of several hundred guests and yesterday the hosts and their guests of honor stood in the spacious drawing room at the left of the great entrance hall.

Guests Received In Drawing Room.

The Ambassador was the first to greet the callers, introducing them to Gen. Lopez Contreras, who established Venezuela as a democracy after the overthrow of the dictator, Senor Lopez Gomez. Senora de Lopez Contreras was next in line, with Senora de Escalante beside her. The hostess wore a becoming gown of black, the skirt fashioned in tiers edged with deep black silk fringe, and the visitor had a gown of mauve silk faille, the skirt flaring and falling into soft folds about her feet and the bodice having a black net-bertha. In the center of the becoming neckline, where the black net was tied in front, was a cluster of deep mauve orchids, accenting the shade of her frock. Senora de Escalante also wore a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Senorita Maria Teresa Escalante, daughter of the hosts, wearing a dainty frock of black taffeta with a hip-length jacket of beige chiffon embroidered in pearls and two rows of carnations in her black hair, assisted through the afternoon. She was assisted by Senora de Jurado, wife of Maj. Jurado, who is an aide to Gen. Lopez Contreras. Senora de Jurado was dressed in black, the front of the frock having a bright red panel. Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Hull are warmly greeted.

Guests were asked from 5 to 7 o'clock and very shortly after the appointed hour the rooms were well filled. Many guests remained until well after 7 o'clock for conversation with others recently returned from brief vacations or newcomers to the official or diplomatic ranks. The Vice President and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace and Mrs. Cordell Hull, wife of the Secretary of State, were warmly greeted by their scores of personal friends among the Latin Americans as well as their own country. Mrs. Wallace looked particularly pretty yesterday in black, the daintily embroidered batiste collar brightening the severity of the black, and her sailor hat having a bird on the crown. She was making headway in her Spanish, which she recently started to study, the Vice President having mastered the language some time ago.

Mrs. Hull, stately and gracious, also wore black, the lapels on her bodice of white and her becoming black hat had a moderately wide brim. Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, wife of the Secretary of War, and Mrs. Jesse Jones, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, were others in the cabinet circle who attended. Mrs. Stimson wore her favorite wine color, so becoming to her snow-white hair, and Mrs. Jones was in black, the light blue trimming on her hat relieving the black.

Other Diplomats Attend Party.

The Argentine Ambassador and Senora de Espil, the latter the ranking hostess in the diplomatic corps, were there, and also from the ranks of Ambassadors of the heads of our sister republics in this hemisphere were Mexican Ambassadors and Senora de Castillo Najera, the Brazilian Ambassador and striking Senora de Martins, the Panama Ambassador and Senora de Brin, the Chilean Ambassador and Senora de Michels, who will be hosts this afternoon to celebrate their independence day, and the Cuban Ambassador, Senor Dr. Aurelio F. Conchoso.

The new Ambassador from Uruguay, Senor Dr. Juan Carlos Blanco, who is the first personal representative from the President of that country to be accredited to the Capital, was warmly greeted by other guests. Envoys of other Central and South American countries at the party were the Guatemalan Minister, Dr. Adrian Recinos; the Salvador Minister, Senor Dr. Don Hector David Castro; the Nicaraguan Minister and Senora de De Bayle and the Honduras Minister and Senora de Caceres.

Easter Lilies Decorate Long Buffet Table. The long buffet table was placed in the dining room across the wide entrance hall from the drawing room. Artistically arranged Easter lilies were in the center of the table and, in addition to the usual dainties found on tea tables, were whole turkeys and salmon, as well as salads. The other rooms of the lower floor were gay with quantities of late summer blossoms. A large cluster of golden yellow chrysanthemums and bronze dahlias brought out the striking portrait of Bolivar, liberator of so many of the Latin American countries.

The several hundred guests included the Director General of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, and the former assistant director general, Dr. Gil Borges, now here on special mission from Venezuela; Mrs. Claude Pepper, wife of the Florida Senator; the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Breckinridge Long; Mrs. Adolph A. Brele, Jr., wife of one of the Assistant Secretaries of State; Mr. George T. Summerlin, chief of protocol; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bonsal and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins; Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling, Mrs. Walter R. Mr. T. Edward Stukes of Charlotte, N. C.

Dr. and Mrs. Stukes are now making their home in Lenoir.

White flowers, palms, autumn leaves and candelabra decorated the altar of the United Brethren Church for the marriage Saturday evening of Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Lowe, to Mr. Lloyd La Verne Miller, son of Mrs. John Miller of Staunton, Va., and the late Mr. Miller. The Rev. Simpson B. Daugherty officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony, for which Mr. Richard Wagner of Charlotte Hall Academy played a program of wedding music and Mrs. Daugherty sang solo numbers.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of antique ivory satin with seed pearl trim and a long fan-shaped train. Her full length veil of antique ivory illusion was held by a coronet of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of ivory roses. The wedding ring of her late grandmother was used in the ceremony.

Miss Evelyn Lowe was maid of honor for her sister, and she was dressed in aquamarine mouseline de sole made with a square neckline, puffed short sleeves and a skirt of three flounces. Her headpiece was a shoulder length veil of aquamarine net crowned with a velvet band and she carried a bouquet of yellow gladioluses.

Other attendants of the bride were Mrs. Marion Grosskirth and Mrs. Lucille Settle, who wore yellow mouseline de sole over net, fashioned with heart-shaped necklines, puffed sleeves and full skirts with yellow velvet bows at the back falling to the bottom of the skirts. Their headpieces were yellow veils and they carried bouquets of salmon pink gladioluses.

Mr. Horace E. Lowe, Jr. of New York, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Roland Settle and Mr. Garnett Settle.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the guests were received before a mantel decorated with autumn flowers, the bride's mother wearing gray chiffon and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Fairmont Junior College.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lowe of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Mollie Pittman of Lancaster, Va.

For traveling the bride wore a gray wool suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Miss Mary Jane Aldcorn Wed To Capt. E. T. Brennan.

Word is received here of the marriage in Norwich, N. Y., of Miss Mary Jane Aldcorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Aldcorn of Norwich, to Capt. Eugene Thomas Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Brennan of Elizabeth, N. J., the ceremony taking place September 6. St. Paul's Church was the scene of the wedding, and the Rev. Francis M. Murphy officiated. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and duchesse lace from the wedding dress of her mother, and a tulle veil held by a coronet made of the same lace. She was attended by Mrs. Hubert O'Brien of Elizabeth, N. J., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Lyons of Norwich, a cousin of the bride.

The bridegroom's father was best man and the ushers were Mr. Hubert O'Brien, Mr. Richard Leonard and Mr. Franklin Connelly of Elizabeth, N. J., and Mr. Leo Hynes of Norwich.

Mrs. Brennan is a graduate of St. Paul's convent and the Packard School of New York, and Capt. Brennan was graduated from the Xavier Preparatory School, Georgetown University, and attended Fordham and Brooklyn law schools. They are now residing in Washington, where Capt. Brennan is on duty with the Army General Staff.

Miss Richie May Groves Wed To Mr. C. H. Jarrett.

Announcement is made of the marriage in the Del Ray Baptist Church of Alexandria, Va., on August 30, of Miss Richie May Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. Groves, to Mr. Charles H. Jarrett, son of Mr. A. H. Jarrett of Morgantown, W. Va., and the late Mrs. Jarrett.

The Rev. J. P. Gully officiated at the 7 o'clock candlelight service for which Mrs. Neta Broadbuss played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. W. C. Jolliffe.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a dress of white rose point lace over white satin with a full train and tulle veil held by a Queen Mary style headpiece. Her bouquet was a shower of white bride's roses.

Miss Virginia Rollins of Alexandria was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Austin of Norfolk and Miss Cora Jean Downs of Fauquier County, Va. Miss Rollins was gowned in lemon yellow taffeta, Miss Austin in Nile green taffeta and Miss Downs in mauve taffeta.

Mr. Jarrett was best man for his son and the ushers were Mr. James McLean and Mr. Joseph Brooks of Alexandria.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett are now at home at 229 East Oxford avenue, Alexandria, Va., after a trip to Virginia Beach.

Miss Pauline Puleo Wed To Mr. Daniel Baker.

The marriage of Miss Pauline Puleo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Puleo, to Mr. Daniel Baker, son of Mrs. Thomas Baker and the late Mr. Baker, took place Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Nativity with the Rev. Lawrence McClosone officiating at the 4 o'clock ceremony.

The bride was gowned in especially designed white silk lace in rose pattern which was fashioned on princess lines with a separate train falling from the waistline. A coronet of lace and orange blossoms held her veil of illusion and she carried a cluster of Belmont gardenias. She also wore a strand of pearls. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Josephine Puleo was maid of honor for her sister, and she wore green marquisette made with heart-shaped neckline, puffed sleeves and a flounced skirt. A short green veil was held by a headpiece of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Stella Puleo, another sister of the bride, and Miss Helen Chifala of Cumberland, Md., a cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They were attired in white marquisette with veils to match and carried bouquets of tallman roses. All three attendants wore necklaces of pearls which were the gift of the bride.

Mr. Michael Baker was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Daniel De Rosa of Boston and Mr. Peter Cucinotta of Newark, N. J.

Ambodum ferns and palms decorated the church for the ceremony, and Mrs. Lillian Gibbs sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Lona Houck, who played the wedding music.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Puleo received in a gown of powder blue chiffon lace with a blue veiled hat to match and a corsage of gardenias. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was dressed in black chiffon and wore a black velvet turban and a corsage of white orchids. More than 250 guests attended the reception.

The bride is a graduate of St. Aloysius Catholic School and is president of Tau Phi Sigma Sorority.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Salles, Miss Carmel Foti and Miss Anne Lea of Boston, Miss Mary Colonna and Miss Terese Colonna of Everett, Mass.; Miss Hilda Peterson of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kluth of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Anna Amari and Miss Jean Amari, Mrs. James Pizzo, Mrs. Vincent Ferrara and Mr. Joseph Caputo of Corona, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Russo of Baltimore, Mr. Lacy Cipla and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cipla.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will make their home with the bride's parents at 1315 Tuckerman street on their return from a trip to New York. When they left after the reception the bride was wearing a navy blue bengaline suit with accessories to match, a jeweled lapel watch and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Catchings Return From Wedding Trip. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Catchings, Jr., whose marriage took place September 1, have returned from a trip through the North and along the East Coast and are now making their home here.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Catchings was Miss Lela Margaret Samuel Pinckney Hatchett. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Catchings. The Rev. O. J. Randall officiated at the ceremony, which was held in the Potomac Heights Community Church at 8 o'clock in the evening. Baskets of white gladioluses and white cathedral candles against a background of palms and fern decorated the church, and Mrs. C. F. Blackburn played the wedding music. Miss Elizabeth Strayhorn of Dallas, whose mother played the wedding music, Miss Elizabeth Strayhorn of Dallas, whose mother played at the wedding of the bride's parents, sang.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported leaf brocade made on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline, long, tight sleeves and flare skirt with a long train. A full-length veil of illusion was held by a tiara of pearl lilies of the valley and she carried a crescent bouquet of white orchids, tuberoses and gardenias. For ornamentation she wore a diamond sunburst necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Robert Custis Walker, the matron of honor, was gowned in hyacinth blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of blue delphinium and pink gladioluses. The bride's other attendants wore hyacinth pink taffeta and carried bouquets of delphinium and gladioluses. They were Mrs. Creighton Coleman of New York, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. Adolph Spear of Atlanta, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Barbara Feiker, Miss Anne Blackstone and Miss Imogene Bollch.

Mr. Francis Stearns McNeil was best man for Mr. Catchings, and the ushers were Mr. Samuel E. Hatchett and Mr. Stephen P. Hatchett, brothers of the bride; Mr. Joseph Catchings, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. James Johnson and Mr. Richard Rule.

If it isn't Mink, what is it?

Mink-blended muskrat, of course! It's hard to believe, isn't it? Even the queenly mink herself would blink jaded eyes at the sheer perfection of the reproduction. Zirkin's mink-blended muskrat is no distant country cousin, it's related by marriage—the marriage of the genuine mink-blender's delicate art to the susceptible muskrat's sturdy fur. The result is a dream—and at Zirkin's thrifty prices you can make it come true.

D. A. R. Told Isolation Is Dangerous

Dr. Gewehr Says Policy Would Mean Planned Economy

Isolation was pictured as a threat to the United States' system of government by Dr. W. M. Gewehr of the University of Maryland's history department in an address before District Daughters of the American Revolution last night.

Dr. Gewehr spoke on a Constitution Day program presented at the D. A. R. Chapter house and later broadcast.

Isolationism and facing the consequences of a Hitler victory constitute one of but two courses the country can pursue, the speaker declared.

"But this," he said, "would require an indefinite period of exhausting military preparation for an eventual conflict. Whether it actually came in our time or not we should have to prepare for it."

"Further," Dr. Gewehr said, "we should be forced to adopt a planned economy and live mainly within our own resources and those of part of the Western Hemisphere."

"But there can be but little doubt that militarization and planned economy would eventually lead to authoritarian government with its numerous controls. This course clearly would carry a real threat to our constitutional system and our American political democracy and free economy."

The other course, he asserted, would be for the United States to "accept the challenge as we are now doing" to make all the necessary sacrifices to insure the victory of the democratic way of life.

"Britain's hegemony in Europe is gone, for that depended upon her financial, industrial and naval leadership," he declared. "She has lost the first two of these irretrievably. Her navy alone cannot save her this time because of the development of the new type of totalitarian war."

Adding that world leadership in the future would rest either with Germany and her satellites, or with the United States and her allies, Dr. Gewehr concluded:

"Britain cannot survive alone, but she will survive because the American people . . . are committed to the free way of life."

Mrs. Chapman And Mrs. Ball Aid Voteless League

A Senator's wife and the wife of a Government official have accepted chairmanships in the Voteless District League of Women Voters for the coming season, it was announced today.

Mrs. Oscar L. Chapman, wife of the Assistant Secretary of Interior, will head the department of economic welfare, the largest in the league.

Mrs. Joseph H. Ball, wife of the Senator from Minnesota, will serve as publicity chairman. Mrs. Ball, like her husband, formerly was engaged in newspaper work and handled publicity for the Minnesota League of Women Voters before coming to Washington.

Mrs. Chapman has been one of the league's most active members for several years. Her department includes committees on housing, taxes and prices, among others.

Mrs. Eugene Callaghan is league president.

'Heirs of Liberty' Tonight on WMAL

Franklin Bache Huntington, of New York, a descendant of Benjamin Franklin, will speak on the "Heirs of Liberty" radio program to be presented at 10:30 o'clock tonight over Station WMAL. The role of Benjamin Franklin will be taken by Frank Craven, stage and screen actor, in the dramatization which will precede Mr. Huntington's short talk.

The program is one of a series arranged by the Department of Justice in co-operation with representatives of patriotic organizations headed by Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It originates from New York over Station WEFB each Thursday at 5:30 p.m. and is rebroadcast here by electrical transcription.

Mr. Huntington, an architect, is said to bear a remarkable resemblance of Benjamin Franklin.

Takoma Women

The Executive Board of the Takoma Park Women's Club will hold its first meeting of the season tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the home of the new president, Mrs. Gilbert G. Sward, 2825 Greenvale road, Chevy Chase, Md.

A luncheon will be served before the business session by Mrs. Sward, assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Nickols and Mrs. Wilbur H. Youngman.

Mrs. Reginald Kassebaum, with her son Robert and daughter Phyllis, have returned to their home in Arlington from a two-month stay in their summer home at Maria-ville Lake, N. Y.

Katherine Richards And Her Fiance Feted at Party

Mrs. Walsh Richards and Mrs. A. I. Sheehan entertained yesterday afternoon at cocktails for Miss Katherine Richards and Mr. Larry Davis Gibson, whose marriage is to take place Saturday. Tonight the rehearsal will be followed by a supper party at the home of Miss Richard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richards.

Mrs. Warren Wells entertained at a cocktail party and shower Saturday for Miss Richards and Mr. Gibson, and Tuesday Mrs. Raymond C. Moffett entertained at a buffet supper for the couple.

Bettelheims Cancel Reception and Tea

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., regret to announce that the reception and tea which was to have been given by them tomorrow afternoon at the Army Navy Country Club in honor of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Albert L. Cox has been postponed indefinitely because of the illness of Mrs. Cox.

Bombproof Shelters Planned for Storage Of Valuable Records

Survey Being Made To Determine Space Needed by Agencies

Government agencies here have been asked how much space they would need in bombproof shelters for the storage of valuable records and are to have the information in the hands of the Public Buildings Administration tomorrow.

The survey was conducted under instructions from President Roosevelt by a subcommittee of the Committee on the Cultivation of Cultural Resources of the National Research Planning Board, headed by Archibald MacLellan, librarian of Congress, preliminary to a request to Congress for funds to provide facilities for the protection against possible air-raid damage of materials of cultural, scientific and historic importance.

The subcommittee contemplates that material which an agency must have continuously in its possession should be protected at the scene of operations so far as is possible; such material as is used only from time to time is proposed to be moved outside the city. As to the latter the agencies were told: "Materials of the very highest historic, cultural or scientific value should be given the highest degree of protection—i.e., protection in specially constructed bombproof shelters. Materials of considerable or secondary value should be given as much protection as possible in shelters less expensive than bombproof construction. Such materials could be removed to fireproof buildings constructed outside of the city in locations where danger of air-raid damage would be slight, or could be stored in existing buildings having these characteristics. Other materials not essential to an agency in the performance of its functions, and not having primary or secondary historic, cultural or scientific importance should be stored in the buildings of the agency in Washington."

Attention was drawn to the fact that "storage in bombproof shelters is extremely expensive and space in these shelters must therefore be reduced to the lowest possible point consistent with adequate protection of materials of the highest value."

Youth Surprised on Roof Admits Housebreaking

A 16-year-old youth, struck on the head with a baseball bat Tuesday night when he was surprised on the roof of 1442 Somerset place N.W., was arrested early today at Garfield Hospital, where he had applied for treatment.

Bernard West, janitor, had reported to police that he had heard noises on the roof and had gone to investigate, armed with the bat. When the youth drew a knife, the janitor said, he hit him on the head. The janitor has identified the youth, according to police.

Held for suspected attempt at housebreaking, the youth, police said, already has admitted 25 housebreakings in the last two months. His case will be brought before the Juvenile Court.

Population of Oslo Cheered R. A. F. Raid, Norwegians Report

Several Thousand Declared To Have Taken Flowers To Wounded Airmen

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN, Foreign Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The whole population of Oslo turned out to cheer the British bombers when they raided Oslofjord a week ago last Sunday, it is reported by Norwegians who were there at the time. Later, when word got around that a British bomber had been shot down at Frognakerken, a small fjord outside the city, and that two wounded airmen had been taken to the hospital, several thousand persons marched to the hospital carrying flowers and gifts. The Germans then decided to remove the wounded men to a hospital in the country and when the ambulances emerged from the hospital gates it was surrounded by a cheering throng.

As a result of this episode the Germans now have ordered all Norwegians to go to shelters when the sirens sound and severe penalties are promised those who cheer the British.

The Germans are still making widespread arrests in Oslo in an effort to prevent a repetition of the recent strike in which between 35,000 and 40,000 persons participated. The chairmen of all the trade unions, merchant and artisan guilds in the country are now under lock and key and trade unionists estimate that 300 of their leaders have been arrested during the past two weeks. Altogether about 1,000 persons have been placed in concentration camps.

The Norwegian authorities here have now begun the preparation of a comprehensive blacklist, including the names of all the German officials in Norway who have maltreated Norwegian citizens in an outstanding way. A similar list of Norwegian traitors has been in preparation since the evacuation of Oslo and it is promised that everybody on the two lists above the age of 18 years will be dealt with expeditiously when the Norwegian government returns to Norway.

Considerable astonishment was caused in Norwegian circles the other day when a Quislingite turned up here with his wife. Although he protested that he had been forced by the Germans to work for them and later had had trouble with them, the truth seems to be that he came here to seek safe asylum from his fellow countrymen. He has been locked up for the duration. (Copyright, 1941, Chicago Daily News, Inc.)

Services Are Held For Mrs. W. T. Keenan

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Church of Our Lady of Victory for Mrs. Martha V. Keenan, 91, of 4643 Conduit road. A lifelong resident of Washington, she died Sunday at Gaithersburg, Md., where she was visiting during the summer.

The widow of William T. Keenan, Mrs. Keenan is survived by Mrs. Ida M. Doyle, a niece, with whom she made her home.

Filipino Veterans Plan Fete

The Filipino War Veterans of the United States will give a dance Saturday night at Wesley Hall, 1703 K street N.W., in honor of officers of the chapter. Jack Morton's orchestra will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Joseph Dyer, Who Rode 1885 Aintree Victor, Dies

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Sept. 18.—Funeral services were held today for Joseph Dyer, 92, who rode the winning horse in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England, in 1885. Before coming to the United States in 1893 Mr. Dyer was chief groom for the Earl of Lonsdale. He owned stables in Chicago and San Francisco and was coachman for Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Taft when they visited those cities.

Denver Capitalist's Wife Kills Self After Calling Physician

Mrs. Charles Boettcher Had Been Despondent Over Ill Health

DENVER, Sept. 18.—A few minutes after she had asked a physician by telephone if drinking a quart of liquor would kill her, Mrs. Charles Boettcher II fatally shot herself with a .38 caliber revolver late yesterday. Deputy Coroner Gus Economy reported.

The attractive 37-year-old blond's husband was the Denver capitalist who was held by kidnapers for two weeks in February, 1933.

He was released March 1 from a South Dakota ranch hideaway after a bundle containing $60,000 was tossed into a ditch near Denver for the abductors.

Mrs. Boettcher's body was found in her locked bedroom, dressed in a negligee, Mr. Economy said. The family chauffeur climbed on the garage roof and entered the room through a window after Mr. Boettcher was unable to break in. Mr. Economy said Mrs. Boettcher called Dr. W. D. Van Stone, a friend, and said: "I intend to drink a quart of whisky. Will that be enough to kill me?"

Then she hung up. Dr. Stone notified the family doctor, who called Mr. Boettcher. Mr. Economy said Mrs. Boettcher was despondent over ill health.

Red Cross Roll Call Committees Complete Plans at Meetings

General Business And Utility Units Map Member Drive

The General Business Committee for the District Red Cross Chapter's silver anniversary roll call was to meet at luncheon today to complete its organization. The committeemen are part of the 15,000 volunteer workers sought in the roll call scheduled to begin Monday.

David E. McCoy, chairman, and J. F. O'Donnell, vice chairman, were to conduct the meeting at the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Building.

The Utility Committee, under Robert C. Owers and Edward T. Stafford, also scheduled a meeting today at the University Club to complete its program. All committee chairmen are to meet tomorrow afternoon at roll call headquarters, 2020 Massachusetts avenue N.W., to report and join in planning final steps of the campaign, for which a quota of 200,000 members has been set.

Appointment of Miss Mabel T. Boardman as chairman of the Special Gifts Committee was announced by Edgar Morris, general roll call chairman. Miss Boardman, who is national secretary of the American Red Cross and who served last year as vice chairman of the District Roll Call Committee, will have as co-chairmen of the Gifts Committee Lloyd B. Wilson, Marcy Sperry and John Saul, local businessmen.

Mrs. Theodore Leary, whose appointment as full-time nutritionist for the Red Cross was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. F. R. Keefer, met this morning with the chapter's nutrition and food selection unit to work out plans for classes in nutrition.

Army Orders Meade's Actors From Footlights to Grim 'War'

"Snap It Up Again," the musical revue of soldier-actors from Fort Meade which made a hit in Baltimore this week, will not come to Washington as scheduled.

Business in Baltimore at the first five performances of an anticipated two-week run was fine, but the show was closed last night by order of the War Department.

Col. Eugene R. Householder of the adjutant general's office said here today that the closing order was under a section of the National Defense Act that forbids soldiers being assigned to their posts to compete with civilians in business or professional enterprises.

Secretary Stimson will "personally investigate" reasons for the cancellation, however.

At a press conference today, Mr. Stimson said he had heard of the order only 10 minutes before he met with newsmen. He believed the order was issued last week, but knew of no reason for it. As a result he said he would look into it so as to get both sides of the incident.

Dates for the show's appearance in Washington had not been set definitely, but Col. Householder said that further performances here or anywhere else were "out." He said "those men of the 29th Division are supposed to be on military maneuvers, not performing before the footlights."

Last night's closing of the show, which has a number of former professional entertainers in the cast and which had acts ranging from strongman exhibitions to opera bouffe, came two hours before curtain time.

In their dressing rooms when the order came, the soldiers got back into their uniforms and manned entrances of the downtown Baltimore theater where the show was playing. In two hours they turned away close to 1,000 customers and refunded money for tickets sold in advance.

Governor Disavows Maj. Galt's Civilian Protection Forces

Col. Kemper Calls Such Groups 'Unnecessary And Undesirable'

Gov. James H. Price's office said today that it considered organization of private, unauthorized "emergency protection" forces such as that formed by Maj. Alexander Galt, jr., of Falls Church, Va., as "unnecessary and undesirable." "The major undeniably may have the best of intentions," said Col. William M. Kemper, executive assistant to the Governor, "but he seems to have approached the problem the wrong way. The State of Virginia has machinery for establishment of civilian protective groups whenever or wherever they may be necessary."

"Maj. Galt's organization does not have the sponsorship of any responsible group in the defense program, and it does not have any recognition from the Governor's office."

Willing to Disband.
Advised of the attitude of the Governor's office, Maj. Galt, a retired marine officer, said that his group of about 160 men, from Falls Church, McLean, Vienna and Fairfax, Va., was willing to disband at any time a State-approved organization could give the community civilian protection.

"We will offer our services to them," said Maj. Galt, "but in fact most of us already have signed up for volunteer civilian defense work."

Maj. Galt said he had written to Virginia officials in charge of civilian protection programs over a month ago asking why no group had been formed near Falls Church.

Denies "White Wand" Title.
"It should be me that is something that should have been done many weeks ago," he said. "None of us knows what might happen this close to the Capital, if sabotage attempts are made."

Maj. Galt denied reports that his organization was called the "White Wands" or that he had advised its members to arm themselves with pick-handies. "I did tell them at one meeting that a heavy, white stick would serve many useful purposes in case of trouble during a blackout. They make identification and visibility easier for one thing, and provide a handy weapon in emergencies."

"Folks, try this new EXTRA tasty way to fix MACARONI AN' CHEESE" SAYS AUNT JENNY

Macaroni Cheese Cutlets

4 tablespoons Spry
5 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
1 pimento, cut in pieces
1 cup cooked macaroni, drained
1/2 cup parsley, chopped
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup grated bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten with water
1 tablespoon water

Melt Spry in top of double boiler. Add flour, salt and paprika and blend. Add milk and cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add cheese and blend. Add macaroni, pimento, parsley and onion and mix. Spread mixture in shallow pan and chill until stiff.

Cut into cutlets with biscuit cutter. Roll in crumbs, then in egg, then again in crumbs. Fry in hot Spry (375° F.) until brown. At this temperature a 1-inch square of bread will brown in 1 minute. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serves 6—and what a hit they'll make! The macaroni and cheese blend delightfully with the tasty seasonings and you get the FULL savory flavor, thanks to purer Spry. Notice, too, how Spry fries without unpleasant smell or smoke—low crisp and digestible foods are. Do all frying with purer Spry. Use for cakes, pies and all baking, too. (All measurements in this recipe are level)

Macaroni Cheese Cutlets with crisp, delicate crust...soft, creamy centers, zestfully seasoned. And purer Spry lets you get the FULL savory flavor

"I use pimento an' parsley an' a little minced onion to season these Macaroni Cheese Cutlets an' they're so flavory an' savory," says Aunt Jenny. "But if you want to enjoy 'em at their best, be sure to fry 'em in Spry. For ordinary shortenin' may 'smother' some of the tasty flavor but purer Spry's a real flavor saver. An' that goes not only for fryin' but for all your bakin', too. Spry cakes an' pies are wonderful!"

3 extra advantages
"Spry's purer so it lets the FULL flavory goodness of the other ingredients come through. Spry stays fresher longer, too, and creams so easily. That makes three big extra advantages an' only Spry gives all three!"
"No need to be afraid of foods fried the Spry way. They're crispy-light an' so digestible a child can eat 'em. Do all your fryin' with purer Spry—bakin', too."

Knox Approves Sub Report

Secretary of the Navy Knox announced yesterday his approval of a court of inquiry finding that the cause of the loss of the submarine O-9 in deep diving tests off Portsmouth, N. H., "cannot be determined," and that the death of 2 officers and 31 men in the disaster occurred "in line of duty and was not the result of their own misconduct."

Controversy Arises On Demand to Limit Price Bill Hearing

Kopplemann Says He Doubts Measure Will Be Reported by Christmas

By the Associated Press.

A controversy developed in the House Banking Committee over the demand of one of its members for speedy termination of the hearings on the administration's price-control bill so as to allay public anxiety over steadily rising prices.

Representative Koppelmann, Democrat, of Connecticut, declaring there was "cause for alarm" in the trend of prices, called on Chairman Steagall to seek an understanding in the committee on the question of closing the hearings by October 3, and to limit the time allotted to future witnesses and also to limit the questioning by committee members.

Representative Koppelmann said that if the committee went along as it had done thus far in questioning Leon Henderson, price administrator, the only witness, "I doubt that we will report this bill by Christmas." The hearings started August 4, but were recessed for about a month while the House was in recess.

Representative Gore, Democrat, of Tennessee interrupted to say that the proposed bill was one of the most far-reaching pieces of economic legislation ever presented to Congress and added, "I don't think we ought to hurry it through."

Representative Steagall said he did not believe the committee could limit the questioning by members at this point, in view of the freedom accorded those who had questioned Mr. Henderson thus far, but expressed belief that the hearings could be finished before the date suggested by Representative Koppelmann.

Thieving Runs Rampant When Comics Get Together

'Start Stealing' Is Film Director's 'Go' Signal When Involved With Skelton, Blue et al.

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN. HOLLYWOOD.

"Panama Hattie" was more than half through its shooting schedule before Allan Mowbray's part turned up. Slated to play a comedy butler, the belated Mowbray looks around at his compatriots, seated at a table in a cafe scene. They are Red Skelton, Rags Ragland, Ben Blue as sailors; Joe Yule, a waiter, and Harry Smith.

"A fine spot for me," remarks Mowbray coolly to Director Norman McLeod. "Tossed in with five other comedians! Those gentlemen will murder me—or at least they'll try. I don't know much about their cheap showboat, medicine show, walkathon, burlesque and vaudeville tricks."

"They're harmless," said McLeod. "Let's rehearse."

The script says the whole crowd are old friends, so Mowbray saunters up and greets the rest, who you supposed to return his cordiality. Instead, Skelton, a demon ad libber, looks up at the newcomer and inquires: "Who are you? How did you get into this picture?"

"This is a ringer?" says Ragland to McLeod. "I throw him out."

"This is our production," said Blue. "Beat it."

Mowbray gives them a steely stare. "Listen, boys," he says, his voice dripping venom. "Just keep your faces straight and you'll back to the camera."

McLeod finally calms the scene-stealers, gets through with a pretty good rehearsal. "Let's take it," he says.

But instead of the customary "camera," he tells the boys: "Start stealing!" They do.

HALF-A-FOUR—Greer Garson and Herbert Marshall are importantly involved in the affairs of "When Ladies Meet," the picture starring Joan Crawford and Robert Taylor. It remains now for a second week at Loew's Palace.

Casting a Picture Can Be An Artistic Job, Too

Many a Noted Artist, at Any Rate, Has Had His Influence in Some Way On Players or Settings

HOLLYWOOD.

More than you know sometimes, or ever could have expected, famed artists of this and bygone generations have had a lot to do with "casting" some of Hollywood's photoplays, and with designing them, too.

Latest of the artistic gentry to join the ranks, and all unwittingly, is Mexico's famed Diego Rivera. He does it quite informally, as inspiration for some south-of-the-border backgrounds, in Paramount's "Hold Back the Dawn," for the honeymoon there of Charles Boyer and Olivia De Havilland.

It's right in the picture's script, in the following passage: Sc. 19. Traveling shot, small Mexican town dominated by a church. It should be as simple and realistic as possible. The main square is in carnival, crammed with holiday couples. Booths are set up for the sale of straw hats, pottery, candies, shawls, etc. Church bells are ringing and mandolins are playing.

"To offset any operetta feeling"—the picture is romantic melodrama—"the Diego Rivera quality of the peasants should be emphasized."

For years, no camera has turned on a Cecil B. De Mille picture until Artist Dan Sayre Groesbeck first has done comprehensive visualizations of all key scenes. Similarly, "The Parson of Panamint" benefits from advance drawings by Ralph Berger, and "Forced Landing" by Gordon Wiles.

Thus, even films with flesh-and-blood actors owe their debt to the artists' pens and brushes. And when the actors aren't f. and b., then it turns out to be a cartoon, and really a field day for the cartoonists.

'Picking and Choosing' Essential If Proper Balance in Diet Is to Be Maintained

Now is the time to revel in tomatoes—cheap, red, ripe and juicy. They have never been better and are selling 'way down on the price scale. If you prefer, you can buy baskets of the little yellow round or pear-shaped varieties, to eat with salt as refreshing cocktail tidbits, or to serve halved in salads. It goes without saying that if you are energetic you will want to use them in delicious yellow tomato preserves or marmalade! New shipments of crisp chicory and bitter escarole have arrived, too, to add zest to the salad bowl, and the fall crop of bright red radishes will make it even more tantalizing. There's good romaine available, too, if you are a wee bit tired of lettuce.

The first Brussels sprouts were noted in some markets the first of the week and broccoli is becoming more plentiful all the time. It has not been of top quality lately, however. A new "crossed" corn, the yellow of Golden Bantam, with the irregular kernel rows of Country Gentleman has been winning favor on all sides. Tiny striped zucchinis are staging a comeback, which is good news to those who like the succulent flesh of this variety of squash. Big mushrooms are coming in now, too, and can be used to great advantage in place of some meat dishes, thereby easing the strain on the budget considerably. Celery cabbage, fennel and kohlrabi are good and not expensive. Spinach is a little higher than it has been, but good turnip and mustard greens make fine substitutes.

Damsons and crab apples are here in full force, so you gals with active preserving knees can get to work putting up these favorite fruits. Nice Smokehouse apples have been added to the list for cooking and all kinds of grapes are coming in with a rush, including Delaware and some Niagaras. Peaches are about done for the season, except for a few scattered shipments that will appear from time to time for the next week or so. Honeydew melons top the list this week and are not as expensive as they have been. Serve them well chilled with paper-thin slices of smoked salmon or Italian ham—or sprinkled with lime juice and powdered ginger. Huge Bartlett pears and green Kelsey plums are especially good, with fresh prunes enjoying their annual popularity.

It is hard to give you any really helpful suggestions as to meats for this week end. There seems to be a lot of uncertainty as we go to press as to just what will constitute the best buys along this line. My guess would be that there will be some bargain cuts of beef, and perhaps cheaper cuts of lamb, such as shoulder, will be recommended. Maybe veal cutlets will not be too high, and will be large enough to feed a small family. There is no waste to this cut, as you know, which is a fact to take into consideration when buying. You might try stuffing the largest mushroom caps with a mixture of minced bacon and chicken livers—rich, but fairly reasonable in price, and fancy enough for a "company" luncheon or dinner. If you are tired of budgeting, stand by, ground beef, use it to stuff green peppers or tomato cases, mixed with a little cooked rice to make it go farther. Fresh pork is way up these days, so you'd better wait a while to indulge in a good roast or succulent chops. The first "country" link sausages are in—a half pound of them cooked with sliced apples make a delicious dish at small expenditure. Frying chickens, turkeys, ducks and squabs are attractively priced at this season. There is plenty of fish on hand, although the Fishery Council sadly reminds us that Americans on the average do not take full advantage of their fine supply of seafood. Latest figure on fish consumption in the United States shows that only 13 pounds per person are consumed annually. . . . Sweden's 52 and Great Britain's 35.

While, thanks to excellent transportation facilities, fresh fish is now shipped to every corner of the United States, Washington is especially lucky to have such a wealth and variation of temptingly priced seafood so close at hand. Fish is full of food values and should be included in the diet of every one of us in the Nation's Capital. It brings us appetizing nourishment at very little cost and merits a far greater popularity on our tables. Right now the little pan fish from local waters are especially good and cheap. Try cooking them in new ways, such as poaching them whole in a solution of vinegar and water, or white wine, or a court bouillon. Serve them hot or cold, with delectable sauces. Don't always fry them to a crisp, squeeze a little lemon juice over them and let it go at that. A clever cook can make "truite au bleu" look to its laurels with a fat little bass, tasty butterfish or firm spot cooked and served in an epicurean manner!

"All American" Cheese Tray . . .

The most fastidious gourmet will appreciate the sharp, smooth flavor and texture of this bevy of American-made cheeses, which are rapidly equaling the popularity of the types formerly imported. Here wedges of creamy Camembert, Chantelle and "Coon" are arranged with slices of Swiss and Netteklost about a golden pineapple cheese in the center of the wooden tray.

To a true connoisseur of cheese, this infinitely various and delectable product of the dairy has no season! Fine cheeses the year round fit into every sort of menu and every sort of meal. And now, with European supplies cut off, this is the time for all lovers of good cheese to discover what a wealth of varied foreign type cheeses in addition to the familiar stand-bys are made right here at home.

Although it is generally recognized that Americans have, within the past 20 years, doubled consumption of cheese, it is not so generally known what the cheese industry in this country has done to improve the quality of all kinds of cheese, and even less what the industry has done to develop new and distinctive types.

American Cheddar cheese, the yellow, semi-hard cheese, which we purchase so frequently in many different styles and shapes, is familiarly thought of as the universal cheese in this country. And so it is by far the most popular. But the cheese lover who thinks that this American cheese is simply American because it's made here—that it has no history other than the genteel background of its English ancestor, Cheddar cheese, has sadly missed one of the most glamorous chapters in all food history.

For those who love sharp, venerable Cheddar, an initiation into the delights of "Coon" cheese is in order. This fine, crumbly Cheddar is a product of New York State and Wisconsin, distinctly an American development. It has the pleasant "bite on the tongue" so much prized by the connoisseur—a delicate sharpness which gives it a character all its own.

And "Coon" cheese is only one of many highly individual and distinguished Cheddar types originated and produced in this country. Then there's the pineapple cheese—a cheese which is distinctively American, produced first in this country in 1945 at Litchfield, Conn. The pineapple cheese is a festive looking affair, pineapple-shaped, glistening in its yellow coat. Pineapple is a very hard cheese. A scoop is used for its service.

Comparatively few cheese lovers have visited the quaint and interesting Swiss cheese factories which abound in several States, notably Wisconsin. But they can savor the delicious product of America's fine Swiss cheesemakers. American-made Swiss has a delicious nutlike flavor—and a connoisseur will recognize its goodness at the first taste.

In the soft cheese classification, American-made cheeses are many and notable. American-made cheese is the finest, smoothest, creamiest in the world. American-made Camembert type, which long evaded the cheesemaker's art in this country, is today the peer of any—creamy, melting, mellow cheese—a perfect dessert cheese. Produced widely in Wisconsin, domestic Camembert is a cheese for the initiated, properly ripened, fine in texture, with just the proper tang.

Red Tomato Once Was Dessert

Cream and Sugar Served With Raw Slices

A famous Englishman once remarked that he was glad that he was not born before his countrymen knew tea. I feel the same way about tomatoes, which up to about a century ago were used as ornamental plants in the garden.

The fruit had an undeserved reputation of being responsible for causing all sorts of diseases. We do not know who was daring enough to tempt Providence by putting them on the menu. They were served first of all with sugar and cream as dessert.

Among our favorite methods of cooking tomatoes today are the two recipes below. Perhaps even better we like them in fried form. The most commonly used recipe demands slicing the tomatoes and dipping them in flour, well seasoned before sauteing them. Sometimes they are also dipped in fine, dry bread crumbs, but you need the flour as the base in any case. Cream gravy made from the fat in the pan is then poured around the well-browned slices.

Being loyal to the tradition, I like my great-grandmother's recipe, for which the tomatoes must be skinned. They are fried merely to give them flavor, and I should warn you that the final results lack attractive form. Flavor makes up for it!

TOMATOES MICHAEL.
6 to 8 tomatoes (2 pounds). Flour. Salt. Pepper. 2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat. Speck of baking soda. 2 tablespoons sugar. 1/2 cup heavy cream. Wash, peel and cut tomatoes in 1/4-inch slices. Dredge with seasoned flour. Melt butter or bacon fat in heavy frying pan, add tomatoes and saute until well browned on both sides. As tomatoes brown, transfer to another pan. Add more fat when necessary. When all slices are brown, stir together with a wooden spoon until well mixed. Stir in soda, sugar and cream and cook over low heat until well blended. Yield, six servings.

BAKED STUFFED TOMATOES.
Wash tomatoes and remove slice from stem ends. Remove center pulp with teaspoon. Sprinkle inside with salt. Invert tomatoes and allow to drain. Fill tomatoes with any stuffing mixed with the tomato pulp. Tomatoes may also be filled with cooked or canned corn seasoned with minced onion and green pepper or with sautéed mushrooms or chopped cooked spinach. Left-over creamed vegetables, macaroni, noodles or rice also may be used. Arrange stuffed tomatoes in a baking dish, dot with butter or pieces of bacon or sliced sausage. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Baked tomatoes may be served with cheese sauce. Allow one tomato and one-third cup stuffing for each serving. E. M. B.

Baked Apple Surprise

A new and glorified version of the familiar fruit dish that should win the approval of the family for daily as well as gala occasions. Vanilla ice cream tops the apple, snug in its pastry nest. —Kelley Photo.

With the wealth of tart, juicy apples rolling into the markets these days, desserts made with the wholesome fruit are very much in order. Children love red apples baked, after the cores have been removed, and the centers filled with brown sugar, raisins and little red cinnamon candies. Old-fashioned apple Betty is always a favorite, especially if you sprinkle just a bit of ginger and cinnamon over the top. Apple whip, of finely strained applesauce, sweetened and beaten to a froth with whipped egg whites is light and delicious as a dessert. And don't forget apple tapioca—the thick, brown, runny kind, with sliced apples floating in its sluggish depths, served with cream.

A basic recipe for plain baked apples will give you the foundation for many desserts. In addition to "dressing up" the apples with cinnamon and raisins as mentioned above, you can serve baked apples cold with whipped cream or with maple syrup. Or for a really fancy and delectable dessert try BAKED APPLE SURPRISE. Bake generous-sized individual pie shells. Have warm baked apples prepared and when ready to serve place a baked apple in each shell; top with vanilla ice cream.

BASIC BAKED APPLES.
Select medium-sized tart apples. Core and pare about 1 inch down. Fill the center with a small piece of butter and yellow or granulated sugar. Around the apples put 1 cup granulated sugar and 1 cup water. Bake 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Baste several times. If the sirup is not quite thick enough, remove the apples and boil the sirup on top of the stove until it thickens. Serve either warm or cold.

Treat Child's Misbehavior Correctly

Give Him Program Of Responsible Routine Work

By Angelo Patri

When a child goes wrong we look for the cause. Once found, we expect to remedy it and so change the behavior that was wrong into what is better. We have psychologists and guidance teachers and specialists to help with this.

My experience with many children and their parents has disclosed one phase of this situation that is disquieting. The cause is discovered. The parents are told that this and that is the reason for their child's untoward behavior. And there the matter rests. Or, which is just as ineffective, the expert says, "I'd like to see this child once a week, or every 10 days, for the next three years."

Now that child has a set habit of behavior that is doing him harm and annoying his teachers and his family. When he hears that he will be cured in three years he says to himself, "I can be like this for three years and nobody can say a word about it. The doctor says so." And he proceeds to set his bad habits upon himself more firmly than ever.

When the cause of a child's misbehavior is traced to some psychological situation or condition, stating the reason isn't going to change things. Talking to the child over a period of years is too lengthy a process because during that time the child continues to grow and his habits keep setting. Something must be done to change the child's attitudes and consequently his habits.

Don't stand by helpless. This child who is running away because his father died and his mother married again; this one who is the youngest child and feels inferior to the others; this one who is the oldest and feels himself being set aside for the youngest; this one who is slow and feels ill-used because his companions are quicker; on through the list we so frequently scan these days—all need prompt, effective, positive treatment today.

If all the children who lost their fathers or mothers, all the oldest and the youngest of the family, all the too slow ones, all the ill-favored ones in life began wrecking their lives and making other folks' lives miserable, what a world this would be. The war would be nothing compared with it. The truth is that children can and do adjust themselves to their lives, and when they don't they have to be helped to do so and that right sharply.

The physician should see them and set any physical difficulty right. The psychologist should see them and direct the teacher and the parent the right way, and he will if he is a genuine psychologist who is responsible and consequently an authority in this field.

He won't say, "This child has a complex. Bring him over every week for the next three years and I'll talk to him about it." He'll know that things move along in a child's life and the movement needs direction and not acceptance. The child's program is to be set

Smart New Pattern

You Will Wear This Lovely Dress On Many Important Occasions

By Barbara Bell

Here is a design for the most important dress in your wardrobe. Pattern No. 1466-B will make for you the distinguished style-right dress which you will wear for every kind of fall and winter social activity. It is cleverly proportioned to give your figure ease and comfort—and smooth, controlled lines at the same time. The front may be finished with a fresh white vestee with its own gracefully shaped collar—a detail which will give this dress unusual charm and smartness. Or, if you prefer, a self-fabric section may be added with a deep or closed neckline.

The skirt is designed to achieve the desired flat line across the front, and you'll find, when you wear the dress, that it takes pounds off your appearance. Any of the rich new fabrics for fall, crepes of silk, wool, rayon or mixtures are suitable for this pattern.

Watch Those Reactions When Things Go Wrong; They Prove Plenty!

Way of Meeting Adversity Reveals True Character Of One Taking Knock

By Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison

Freddy may be a swell fellow when things are going great and life is just a breeze. But you'll never know the real Freddy until you see how he acts when he has to "take it."

In the same way, Margie may be the essence of sweetness when everything is coming her way. But have you ever watched her reaction when the breaks are against her? That's the real test of her disposition—and her character.

You don't have to know somebody for five years to find out these things, either. You can size up his reaction to adversity, his ability to take punishment, in your ordinary day-to-day contacts with him.

For instance, how did Freddy act when you came out of the movies last Friday night and found a flat tire on the car? Did he grumble a little, perhaps a little, or exclaim on the poor quality of his luck? Okay—that's perfectly natural. A fellow who can take a flat tire without verbal protest is just too sweet a character for this world.

But what did he do then? Did he buckle down to changing the tire, with a minimum of grumbling? Good. Did he grin a little, and say philosophically that he was glad it hadn't happened out in the country on a rainy night? Fine!

Or did he kick the tire angrily, revile the manufacturer, and voice his opinion of the blankety-blank asterisks who throw nails in the street? Did he shirk the unpleasant job, taking you home on a bus and bribing or browbeating his kid brother into coming over to change the tire the next morning? If so, you have reason to be skeptical about Freddy.

As for Margie, how did she react when the store failed to deliver her new gown in time for the dance, as promised? Was she so disappointed and outraged at the store's negligence that she wept? Well, you can hardly blame her for that.

But what then? Did she sit and pout all evening, flatly refusing to stir a step outside the house, and making you miss the dance? Did she blame it on her father, for not letting her have three extra evening gowns in reserve at all times? Did she vow the store did it deliberately, just to spoil her good time? If so, you can look for some stormy times with Margie.

Or did she dry her tears after a reasonably short weep, and set to work pressing her old dress? Did she make an interesting bit of conversation out of the incident, without letting it monopolize her thoughts or spoil her evening? Those are plus signs for Margie.

Everybody gets a certain amount of trouble—illnesses, disappointments in jobs or in school, friction with the family, misunderstandings with friends, unpleasant incidents and minor accidents. Naturally, nobody is pleased by these misfortunes, but some people take them a lot harder than others.

The real test of a fellow or a girl is how he reacts to such inevitable bad breaks; and how quickly he or she recovers from them. Some people can take a stiff punch, shake it off, and come back for more. Others lose their heads and start swinging wildly, or scream that they've been fouled, or simply curl up and die.

Watch your friends for these traits of character—they are important. And it might also be a good idea to watch yourself.

Use Clean Brush

Hygienists say that the traditional "40 strokes at bedtime" are practically waste motion unless the hairbrush that is used is thoroughly clean. The brush should be washed in soapy water once a week, rinsed, and set in the sun to air and dry.

Frankfurters Used In Unusual Dish

1 medium-sized head young cabbage.
2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat.
2 tablespoons vinegar.
12 grilled frankfurters.
Shred cabbage. Melt butter or bacon fat in heavy frying pan. Add cabbage and cook uncovered about 10 minutes, until cabbage is tender and slightly browned, stirring frequently to avoid burning. Add vinegar. Arrange hot grilled frankfurters on hot platter and surround with fried cabbage.

an idol is something which is made of the lower jaws of hogs. The hogs on those islands have good, strong tusks, and the natives know how to make them grow longer and curl around. If a hog were let alone, the upper and lower tusks would grow out until they met. Then they would be "ground together" a good deal, and would be worn off so well that they would not grow much longer.

Among the islands of the South Pacific are the New Hebrides. There are dozens of these islands, and 20 of them contain the homes of people.

The natives watch their hogs, and break off the upper tusks. This leaves free space for the lower tusks to grow out. The months pass by, and the tusks curl around as they grow. Cases are known where they have curled clear around twice.

Lady Luck Favors Dodgers in Fight to Stay in Front of Cards in Flag Race

Win, Lose or Draw

By FRANCIS E. STAN, Star Staff Correspondent.

Fire and Brimstone in the West

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—It has been reported from time to time that nothing short of a pennant victory for the Brooklyn Bums will please the Nation's baseball fans.

Everywhere the Bums stop on this wild tour of the West they find the enemies' best pitchers rested and ready to cut them down.

"Beat the Bums!" seems to be a sort of a battle cry and this is understandable. Larry MacPhail is not the kind of a fellow who figures to be immensely popular with the other poon-bahs of baseball.

Something of the sort goes for Lippy Leo Durocher, the equally loud little manager. Together, MacPhail and Durocher are the spade-callingest duo in baseball.

MacPhail's Bums Don't Flatter National League

The Bums, or Dodgers as they also are known, are not a representative National League team in the strict sense. They are more the loot of MacPhail after he had finished robbing the baseball graveyards.

Many of MacPhail's top stars are men like Dixie Walker, Whitlow Wyatt, Luke Hamlin, Jimmy Wasdell and Johnny Allen.

And how have the Bums reacted to this venomous attitude along the Western front? For a ball club unaccustomed since 1920 to even thinking of a pennant, the Bums have done all right.

Cards and Brooks Two-Game Clubs

These are two-game ball clubs tearing down the stretch. Let's look at the Bums for a moment. They played 56 games of ball last spring before the season opened.

The circumstances which have surrounded the Bums in their last-ditch drive almost are unbelievable. The last time they had an easy game was on September 7, when they buried the Giants, 13-1.

Five of the next 10 games were won or lost by one-run margins, a pair in extra innings.

We should like to sketch the picture here yesterday at Forbes Field. The Pirates were out in front, 3-1, when the Bums came to bat in the ninth inning.

This was quite a jolt. If the Bums lost and the Cards won a pair, as they did, Brooklyn would lose first place.

Don't All Good Teams Get the Breaks?

The Dodgers aren't playing consistently good baseball. They are playing characteristic World Series baseball.

We should like to refer again to that ninth inning yesterday. A rally sent the Brooks ahead, 4-3. Nobody was out and Rip Sewell replaced Heintzelman.

And then Sewell, after purposely walking Camilli, unintentionally walked Walker, too.

Yet the Bums are working to get those breaks. They are pulling together and doing things few other teams do.

Macon Finally Beats Columbia, Prolongs Sally Playoff

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 18.—With sudden disaster stalking them from without the shadows of Columbia's ball park last night, the Macon Peaches finally came to life and took their first Shaughnessy series victory from the Columbia Reds, 4-2.

The Reds lead in the final post-season playoffs, three games to one, and victory for them last night would have meant a clean sweep.

Doubleheader Slated at Softball Stadium

A twin bill pitting Greenbelt and Carr Bros. and Boswell in the first game and Rockville and Silver Spring in the nightcap will be held tonight at Washington Softball Stadium.

Kavakoe Grill defeated Westminster Church, 8-4, while the Firemen won from Park View, 6-4, in last night's games.

Stars Yesterday

Jim Vernon, Senators.—Single against winning run in tenth inning against Browns.

Audie Galan, Dodgers.—Hit pinch double to set off five-run ninth inning rally that beat Pirates.

John Vander Meer and Gene Thompson, Reds.—Former pitched three-hit 10th shutout and fanned 11 to beat Phils in first game of doubleheader.

Dom Di Maggio, Red Sox.—Batted in all Boston runs in victory over Indians, accounting for two in ninth by single with bases loaded after providing run in third.

Brooklyn Saves Lead as Freak Hit Nips Bucs

Rally in 9th Capped By Scratchy Blow; Cards Bag Two

The favorite flippancy of baseball players is "I'd rather be lucky than good" and this little crumb of wisdom explains why the Brooklyn Dodgers still are in first place in the National League and seem destined to win the pennant.

Their daily adventures read like chapters out of a story book and yesterday they outdid that fictional piker, Merriwell, again.

Brooklyn was on the verge of dropping its second straight game, trailing, 3-1, going into the ninth inning at Pittsburgh.

But what happened? You guessed it, the Dodgers scored five runs in the ninth inning and beat the Pirates, 6-4, to retain a one-game margin over the Cards, who whipped the Braves, 6-1 and 3-2.

Galat Starts Dodger Rally

Brooklyn's ferocious flurry was started by little Augie Galan, whose batting average at the time was exactly .200 and who was waived to the minors last month by the Chicago Cubs only to have the Dodgers toss him a life preserver.

Mississippi Mentor Fears Squad Won't Be Set for G. U.

Reserves Disappointing; Georgia and Alabama Are Hit by Injuries

ATLANTA, Sept. 18.—New worries popped up to plague some of the Southeastern Conference's football coaches today as they raced against time.

His promising squad of 50 cut to less than 40 by injuries and the draft, Georgia's Wallace Butts reduced scrimmaging to a minimum to avoid further reduction of his ranks.

Coach Frank Thomas of Alabama had so many men on the injured list he couldn't tell whether his outfit was a football squad or an infirmary. Eight were out of the sidelines.

Some nice sprinting by star Fullback Merle Hapes failed to cheer Coach Harry Mehre of Ole Miss. He said the work of his reserves was disappointing and he was afraid he could not get them into trim for the opening game with Georgetown at Washington, D. C., September 26.

With Furman on deck for Saturday, Tennessee's Vols are putting in quite a bit of work on mastering the Purple Hurricane's "spread" formation.

Vanderbilt's Red Sanders is enthused over Bernie Rohling, 178-pound soph fullback. He tore off one 80-yard run for a touchdown and scored several times on shorter runs.

Coach W. A. Alexander at Georgia Tech concentrated on developing a suitable passer to assist little Johnny Bosch.

Royals' Success Withholds Ace From Dodgers

Movies Cost Bears $110 a Game; Todd Deserts Competitive Golf

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—One of the biggest disappointments Leo Durocher has had lately was when Montreal got into the International League's final playoffs.

After the last three days it seems that the Dodgers could make things a lot easier for themselves and the fans by playing the ninth inning first.

After Lew Jenkins knocked out Cleo McNeal at Minneapolis last week a flock of autograph hounds gathered around the exit of most of them passed up Lew to get signatures from his wife, Katie.

Ump Beats Klem's Mark, Then Quits

TOPEKA, Kans., Sept. 18.—The white broom he has carried the past 13 years won't a stub, Ollie Anderson says he is through umpiring after 38 seasons.

"I only worked this year to beat Bill Klem's mark of 37 years and set a record," says the gray-haired man who has to stuff every pocket in his blue serge suit with baseballs to scale 140 pounds.

Anderson also believes he is holder of another mark, 5,000 games without a miss. That string was ended in 1936 by an automobile accident.

Kampouris Aids Old Club as Bears Win Over Royals, 6-5

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 18.—Last season Alex Kampouris broke up many a ball game for the Newark Bears and he was still at it last night, much to the regret of his present employers, the Montreal Royals.

The second-sacker led Newark in home runs in 1940 and was sold to the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers shipped him to their Montreal farm and Kampouris helped spark the Royals to a spot in the Governor's Cup playoff finals.

But misfortune dogged Alex's heels last night as he bobbled Gene Corbett's grounder just long enough in the ninth inning to permit Leo Nonnenkamp to score from third with the marker that gave the Bears a 6-5 victory in the opening game of the playoff series before a crowd of 8,291.

Bid of $500,000 Declared Made For Phillies

Kelly Group Is Ready To Spend $250,000 To Improve Club

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—A syndicate headed by Jack Kelly, national director of the civilian physical training program, has submitted its offer to President Jerry Nugent for purchase of the National League Phillies and is ready to talk turkey.

"The next move is up to Mr. Nugent," declared Kelly. "We are willing to negotiate if he wants to sell the club. If he doesn't—well, that's another matter. We want to give Philadelphia a winning ball club, and I think Gerry is ready to talk business."

Still skeptical, however, Nugent said at Cincinnati, where the Phillies are playing, that newspapers have been selling the club every year, but I haven't. I want to see those sprouts develop into blooms before I make any decision.

Kelly declined to make public the price his group offered for the tail-end outfit, but previous reports were the syndicate was willing to pay $500,000 and then put $250,000 into rejuvenating the club.

He said the offer was for all the club's stock, its franchise and players, free of encumbrances.

Baseball Lives of Stephens, Stevens, Browns' Rooks, as Much Alike as Names

Two Are Teammates In School, on Minor Road to Bigtime

'Eph' Member of Combine Idles as 'Ev', St. Louis Bow to Nationals

Only one detour has marred the blended baseball careers of a brace of St. Louis Browns rookies. The trail was picked up in New Mexico some 20 years ago and since that time Shortstop Vernon Stephens and First Baseman Chuck Stevens haven't been very far apart. There is more to their relationship than similarity of names.
Both born in New Mexico—Vernon at McAlister and Chuck at Van Houten—within two years of each other, Stephens and Stevens actually first merged at Long Beach (Calif.) Poly High. Their families, you see, had moved to Long Beach about the same time and lived within six blocks of each other.
It was in high school, too, that the baseball careers of Vernon and Chuck were molded. On that scholastic team, Stephens was the shortstop and Stevens the first baseman. Even then, on trips, the boys were roommates and constant companions and the same setup continued at Long Beach Junior College.
Separated only in 1939, they were together, too, with Johnston, Pa., of the Mid-Atlantic League in 1939. In 1939, however, they separated, but to the Browns it was similar to whacking a sandwich in two and then eating the halves.
To Mayfield, a St. Louis farm in the Killy Valley, went Vernon that year and he led the league with .366 batting mark. Chuck meanwhile was playing with Springfield, Ill., of the Three-Eye League, another of the Browns' farms, and doing a good job.
Last year they got together again, this time at the Browns' San Antonio farm of the Texas League. They weren't teammates, but at least they cemented their baseball brotherhood. Vernon hit .266 and Chuck batted .264.
To Toledo, the St. Louis farm in the Toledo Association, went Stephens and Stevens this year. Vernon, the more powerful of the pair, hit .300 and Chuck says he hit about .300.
They're with the Browns now. Imported for trials, and naturally they're pulling for each other. Back at Long Beach, hoping, too, are their wives—the girls they met in high school and double-dated.
Chuck broke into the line-up here yesterday as the Nats' sparked St. Louis, 9-5, in 10 innings. On his first trip to the plate he swatted an Early Wynn offering off the right-field fence to drive across two runs, but Chuck marred his feat by neglecting to touch second en route to third.
Later he thumped a single that led to three runs, but he also contributed an error that led to a trio of Washington runs in the fifth inning. A switch hitter, he is confronted with no easy assignment in attempting to out George McQuinn from first base.
Vernon, at a right-hand batter last year he sparked the Texas League in runs batted in and is regarded as one of the Browns' more promising youngsters.
It was Mickey Vernon who yesterday the game-winning blow yesterday, a single to left with two out. Rookie Hills Layne had reached first safely when his grounder took a weird hop past Second Baseman Don Heffner and Travis had moved him to second with a single to center. Vernon's hit was the Nats' 20th off Elden Auker, Maurice Newlin and Archie McKain.

Rice Named Prexy Of Golf League

LACY I. RICE.
Special Dispatch to The Star.
MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 18.—Lacy I. Rice, local business leader, has been named president of the Tri-State (Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland) Golf Association.
Paul Snook of Frederick, Md., is vice president, and Fred P. Glazie of Winchester, Va., is secretary-treasurer.
It was voted to hold the 1942 pre-season meeting here about March 1, at which a schedule will be drawn.
Invitations to join the league have been sent to Waynesboro and Chambersburg, Pa., and Frederickburg, Staunton and Front Royal, Va.
Present members are Winchester and Alexandria, Va., and Martinsburg.

Ellis Begins Defense Of Ringer Title In Star Tourney

16 Seeking D. C. Crown; Shoot It Out Tonight In Semifinal Round

George Ellis, colored horseshoe pitching champion of the District, will begin defense of his title tonight on the Commerce Building courts in the 13th annual Evening Star tournament.
With play starting at 6:30 o'clock, under the direction of Arthur Greene, physical director of the Twelfth Street Y. M. C. A., Ellis first will take on David Daniels. He figures to win this match decisively, but looks for trouble from Ike Bell, Joe Cole or Ernest Marbury, also in his bracket.
Last year's runnerup, Harry Budd, seeded in the lower half, has Harrison Tyler and Andrew Campbell for formidable rivals.
The field of 16 which survived a 100-shoe qualification test will shoot it out to the semifinals and the championship will be settled tomorrow night when a consolation event among eight pitchers also will be held.
Chairman Greene today announced the following pairings:
Upper Bracket.
George Ellis vs. David Daniels. Maurice Prazier vs. Ike Bell. Joseph Coles vs. Robert Jones. Leon Hawkins vs. Ernest Marbury.
Lower Bracket.
Harrison Tyler vs. John Curley. Walter Brooks vs. Charles Davis. Harry Budd vs. Mark Johnson. William Humphries vs. Andrew Campbell.

Best Field Day Ever At Congressional Enjoyed by 300

Varied Golf Tournaments Last Until Dark; Big Steak Feast Held

More than 300 linksmen from all the clubs around town today were looking forward to more tournaments such as the gala Congressional Country Club field day staged yesterday at the big links organization on Bradley boulevard. So big was the crowd that all the golfers were not able to finish and at the end Pro Wifly Cox and Toastmaster Charlie Hillgeist branded it the best party any club has held around the town in years. Nearly 300 gathered for dinner and were served steaks in the traditional Congressional fashion, which means they donned aprons, chose their meat, and watched it sizzle to taste in the kitchen.
They held every kind of golf tournament you could imagine, from gross and net contests down to hole in one affairs, with three local pros aiding Cox in running the affair. These were Tony Sylvester of Banockburn, Al Houghton of Beaver Dam and Al Jamison of Bradley Hills.
Prize winners were:
Gross—George F. (25); George F. Buske (29); W. B. Rummel (53); George W. Neville (75); Ed Baker (76); George W. Neville (76); Ed Baker (76); Dr. Munden (81); low gross, first nine, 17; second nine, 17; Ed Baker (44); Ed Baker on No. 17; W. E. Kinniswell (87); driving contest, C. W. Hammett (four feet); hole in one, Tom Huddley (2); hole in two, Tom Huddley (2); hole in three, Tom Huddley (2); hole in four, Tom Huddley (2); hole in five, Tom Huddley (2); hole in six, Tom Huddley (2); hole in seven, Tom Huddley (2); hole in eight, Tom Huddley (2); hole in nine, Tom Huddley (2); hole in ten, Tom Huddley (2); hole in eleven, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twelve, Tom Huddley (2); hole in thirteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in fourteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in fifteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in sixteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in seventeen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in eighteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in nineteen, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-one, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-two, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-three, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-four, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-five, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-six, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-seven, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-eight, Tom Huddley (2); hole in twenty-nine, Tom Huddley (2); hole in thirty, Tom Huddley (2).

Missouri Has Happy Prospects Despite Christman's Loss

Has So Many Good Backs, Regular for Two Years Decides Not to Try

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 18.—Once upon a time Missouri had Paul Christman. This season Coach Don Paurat has four top-flight fullbacks and expects to live happy all autumn.
There's no doubt that Christman, whose clips kept Missouri in the Big Six and national limelight the past three seasons, will be missed. But the crop is so bountiful that Bill Cunningham, regular two years, hasn't bothered to report, and Fred Bouldin, another candidate, has been remodeled into a blocker.
That leaves Don (Bill) Reece, 204 pounds of terror, as the No. 1 plunger; Rayburn, Chase as his understudy and two ace sophomores—Leo Milla and Mike Popovich.
Harry (Slippery) Ice and Maurice (Red) Wade are nominees for quarterback, with the former in the van because of his experience and speed.
Up front Missouri carries on the tradition of great centers with Capt. Darold Jenkins, the most vicious line backer in the conference, and Jeff Davis. Davis would be a starter at virtually any other school. All other line jobs will be superbly manned.

W. & L. Football Hopes Rising With New Regime in Control

By The Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Va., Sept. 18.—A new spirit and a new head coach may conspire to deal a few jolts to unwary opponents inclined to take too literally Washington and Lee's underdog role in Southern Conference football.
The generals play four conference games, concluding with Maryland in the Baltimore Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. They also play George Washington in Washington on October 10.
The generals, with a nucleus of experienced men and a band of spirited sophomores to offset the loss of 11 lettermen, are on the rebound from 1940's dismal season.
The boys have really been toiling for Riley Smith, former Alabama and Washington Redskins star, who moved up to head coach in an unusual shuffle that left Warren (Tex) Tilson as assistant—an exact reversal of positions.
Washington and Lee's tradition of a stout line seems safe in the hands of such tackles as John Rulewick, 220-pound junior; Lillard Ailor, 205, and Frank DiLoreto, 215, sophomore. Roy Fabian, 190, and Bill Gray, 165, are good junior guards, backed by Bill Purman, 215-pound soph, who may be the find of the season, and Jimmy Graff, 190, another soph. Paul Skillman, 215, and Joe Littlepage, 190, are capable at center.
End positions and backs are the unknown quantities. Johnny Ligon, junior tailback, who was drafted into the Army, will be missed particularly. A punter is sorely needed, especially since Pres Brown has been shifted from the backfield to end. Bert Nelson, a converted tackle, and Jim Wheeler are other leading terminal candidates.
Capt. Bobby Pinck has been shifted from blocking back to fullback, with Frank Socha, place-kick specialist, as his alternate. Paul Cavaliere, 185-pound soph, is running at blocking back. Joe Baugher, fiery senior, and Harry, his sophomore brother, are dueling for the tailback post with Ed Marx as competition.
Jack Roehl, a nice-looking sophomore; Eave Russell, a shifty broken-field runner; Floyd McKenna, junior; and Ted Olesia, 156-pound junior, are conducting a free-for-all for wingback.

HAS FEEDING PROBLEM—Rusty Jean, 2d, finds it difficult to keep her 17 Irish Setter pups from going hungry, as this picture will testify. There are nine females and eight males in the litter, the first for Rusty Jean. She is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Julian V. Hulser, Ridgewood, N. J.—A. P. Photo.

Wildcats May Run If Line Produced

By The Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 18.—Coach Burt Ingwersen of the Northwestern football staff and loyal Wildcat fans are wrestling with the same problem these days—"getting a line" on the Wildcat 1941 eleven.
It's not as tough a job for Wildcat supporters as it is for Ingwersen, veteran line coach. For the fans believe that if Ingwersen can come up with a strong forward wall the school may be represented by one of its best teams in years. There are plenty of backs who'll be plenty good if given a little help up front.
Ingwersen and Head Coach Lynn Waldorf know, however, that they have a big job ahead.

Treder Planning Grosner Golf As Major Affair; Worsham, Bogart Rally for 1-Up Win

By The Associated Press.
Hampden-Sydney, which upset Maryland at College Park last fall, 7 to 6, and which will try to repeat September 27, may be better than last season, although 17 of the 32 squad members are soph.
The two winners licked Baltimore's Andy Gibson and Spencer Overton, 1 up, to win their way to the final, while Spencer and Rippy were licking the giant killer pair of Mel Shorey and Eddie Ault from Indiana Spring, also by 1 up.

Ten Bouts Scheduled As St. Mary's Club Ends Campaign

Latsios Tackles White In Feature Contest Tomorrow Night
St. Mary's Boys' Club of Alexandria will bring its summer boxing program to a close tomorrow night with an all-star amateur card at the Alexandria Municipal Stadium. Ten bouts, featuring the best of local ring talent, are scheduled.
Nick Latsios, St. Mary's welterweight who went to the final in the 1941 Eastern Golden Glove Tournament at New York, will mix with Jack White, Indiana A. U. mid-dweight champion, in the feature attraction. It will be a five-round affair.
Sharing the spotlight, however, is the return battle between Dick Mullins, Golden Gloves 118-pound champ of Washington, and Bernie Rodill, Red Shield strapper who recently lost a hair-splitting duke to Mullins. The three bouts were divided, each judge voting for one boy and the referee calling it a draw.
Mullins got the nod when Referee Ray Bowen, who remembered he couldn't vote draw under the rules, gave his ballot to the kid.

New Daddy of Twins, Jennings Celebrates With Torrid Golf That Earns Munny Crown

Husky Dick Jennings, the powerhouse from Waco, Tex., cherishes the replica of the S. G. Leoffler Trophy, which he won together with the District public links title, but the apple of Dick's eye is the brace of twins presented to him a few days ago by the Missus.
"It was great winning this tournament," said Dick, "but you ought to see those kids."
He cradled the big Leoffler trophy and the replica in his arms as the photographers snapped him from all angles. "I'm getting used to this motion," he said. "You know how it is with something in your arms about 2 a.m. And I don't mean a golf cup."
Dick's victory proves two things. First, that Tommy Doerer again proved himself quite a golf proponent, and second, that Texas is right on the beam again, turning out fine linksmen.
Beats Seay for Title.
Two months ago Tommy began tooting the trumpets for Dick. All Dick did was win the qualifying round, and then win the tournament at East Potomac Park without being hard-headed in any match. He licked red-headed Wilbur Seay, veteran linksman from Anacostia, yesterday by a 5 and 4 margin, playing out the round for a subpar 69. Wilbur, who works over in Uncle Sam's big Department of Agriculture and is a good golfer himself, couldn't do anything about it. "Dick was far too good for me," he grinned.
Jennings is 23 years old, was born in Waco, Tex., and now works in the office of Senator Tom Connally of Texas. He passed the District bar examination a few weeks back and is awaiting a Government appointment. Dick, he revealed, is the son of a former Washington baseball infielder. His father-Morty Jennings—now athletic director of Texas Tech at Lubbock in the western part of that State, served a short hitch in Clark Griffith's infield two decades ago. "He wasn't around here long," said Dick. "But I remember him telling me how he played baseball for Washington after playing in Milwaukee." The elder Jennings used to be football coach at Baylor, which ought to make Ralph Pittman happy, now that Dick, the younger, has won the public links title.
Shoots Par 72.
The new champ was only slightly short of terrific as he crashed the ball around the par 72 East Potomac course in 33-69-69. He turned a 4 up, added another hole with a bird on the 12th and shook hands with red-headed Wilbur Seay on the 14th. Seay sprang the big surprise of the tourney with a 19th hole win over 1940 Champion Leroy Smith in the semifinal. Seay whipped last year's champ with a bird on the extra hole, while Jennings was licking Bill Lespey of Rock Creek Park 2 and 1.

Rider Tears Pants And Quits Race

By The Associated Press.
POMONA, Calif., Sept. 18.—Jockey Ray Neilsen races modestly above all else, including long-shot race bettors. Riding a 40-to-1 shot named Zamboango at the Pomona track yesterday, Neilsen felt a slight breeze behind as he rounded the first turn. He looked back and confirmed what he feared.
His pants had ripped. Discreetly, he galloped Zamboango off to one side and dismounted. The race was finished without Neilsen and Zamboango. Dignity had been saved and the horse probably wouldn't have won, anyhow.

Transcontinental Golf Match Is Close

Lt. Cols. Francis and Parks, Six Holes Apart, Continue Here
A transcontinental golf derby covering three and a half years and extending over 1,935 holes of hard fought links combat finds two Army officers, now in Washington, only six holes apart. Lt. Col. Francis and Parks and J. L. Francis will resume again at Columbia over the coming week end their friendly links feud which has stretched over more than 40 months, a dozen States and hundreds of holes of many golf courses. Parks now is on duty with the General Staff Corps here, while Francis is on temporary duty here after months of galloping around with and in charge of those belching death spreaders—the tanks.
Their golf feud all started in April, 1938, at Columbia, back in the piping days of peace when both were on War Department duty. They decided that since their feud might run on for years and they'd clash wherever they met, in Hawaii or Manila, they would keep records on their contests.
Both left Washington last fall and they met again at Fort Benning, Ga. Parks on staff duty and Francis with the 2d Armored Division. Inevitably they wandered over to the first tee of the post golf course. "Jack gave me the works," said Parks, and got mad as he rounded the first turn before he was ordered to Camp Bowie, Tex., with the 75th Tank Battalion, of which he was C.O." Last week end they met here, and again went at their golf feud. Francis had been galloping around the country in the tanks, and didn't have the feel of a golf club. So Parks, smarting under the Benning licking got back 14 holes, and now after three and a half years, they stand just six holes apart, in 1,935 holes played since April 1, 1938.
But Francis has another week end to have at Parks. They'll meet again at Columbia, and then Francis will leave. And no one knows where they'll get together again. Maybe they'll resume their feud in some foreign land.
Tom Belshe, former Congressional and Indian Spring starter, is back in town wearing the bars of an Army captain. Tom is on duty at G. H. Q. at the War College, under Lt. Col. Parks.

Dearth of Snapperbacks Brings Big Problem to High School Grid Mentors

Key Spot Apparently Has Lost Its Appeal, Mulvey Figures

Wilson's Is Only Team In Public Series With Talent in Position

By GEORGE HUBER.
One of the biggest problems facing high school football coaches—and they are almost unanimous on it—is finding dependable centers. As Coach Fred Mulvey of Western's championship squad puts it: "I don't understand it. Few of the boys come out for the position—it seems to have lost its attraction."

To quote Artie Wondrack of Tech: "The center is the most important man on the team, especially if you can get a good one. The quarterback calls the plays, but the center is the one who starts them."

Both Mulvey and Wondrack particularly are interested in finding good centers because last year they had the best two boys in the inter-high series, Jack Xanten at Western, selected on the All-High first team, and Art Newsome at Tech, named on the second.

Even a real 40-minute man (high school version of a 60-minute man) and his replacement, John Boaze, had only about 10 minutes of actual playing time in the series. Coach Mulvey will use Boaze as his starter probably, but still is seeking a substitute. In desperation he is recruiting the make centers of Welles Kendrick, end, and Gene Shoemaker, a back.

Newsome's Sub Gone, Too.
Not only did Newsome graduate from Tech but so did Dick Borkora, his substitute, leaving Wondrack to start this season with Bud Sanders, third-stringer last year. Bud still needs plenty of polishing but he's the best so far. Another kid who may be used is Robert Smith, a third-semester boy out for the first time. He is a tough youngster. Bud was a candidate for tackle but Wondrack switched him to center.

The same story with minor variations is heard at most other schools. Roosevelt has no center of any description returning, and Coach Artie Boyd is using Bernie Miller, a good tackle, in the slot. Central has George Lavinder, an experienced man, to start, but no reserves. Woodrow Wilson seems the best supplied with two letter men returning in Jim Craine and John Kerishlian.

De Witt also is an exception with two capable centers on the team in Paul De Meglio, Eastern letterman last year, and Gus Kirven, All-State center with the Lynn (Mass.) championship team. "I don't know if Jim O'Leary is hard up for starters in other positions, however, that he is leaving Di Meglio at center and transferring Kirven to tackle."

De Witt meets puzzling foe. De Witt plays its first game tomorrow night, meeting an unknown quantity in Hagerstown (Md.) High. For his starting backfield O'Leary has selected Bob Kaufman at quarterback, John Brechler, Central player last year, and Allen Waitman as halfbacks, and George McGowan at fullback. McGowan in practice has been outstanding.

De Correvont Feels Ready for Blazing Gridiron Finish

Blames His Mediocrity Of Last Two Seasons On Excess Weight

By the Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 18.—Bill De Correvont, who's been bounced around roughly for two seasons, believes he's ready to climb into the driver's seat this fall for the stretch run of his collegiate football career. The Northwestern back, who came to the Wildcats in 1939 as the most highly publicized high-school player in years, never has tried to excuse his mediocre showing of the last two years. He'll have no excuse if he fails to come through this fall. He does believe, however, that he'll prove he doesn't rate the "nop" tag many fans hung on him after the 1939 and 1940 campaigns.

"The publicity I received after playing at Austin High School didn't have a thing to do with my showing as a sophomore," De Correvont said. "For one thing, I was overweight. I weighed about 185 then and last year I was up to 190. This fall I'm down to 180, and I'm stronger and much faster. I'm sure I'm ready for a fine year. If I don't have it—well, I'll admit I just haven't got it."

Hapes Year Late Shooting for All-America

Ole Miss Star's Record for 1940 Better Than Kimbrough's

By the Associated Press.
OXFORD, Miss., Sept. 18.—Merle Hapes, who plays against Georgetown here September 26, and the fullback who out-Kimbroughed "Jarrin" John Kimbrough on the gridiron last fall, is shooting for all-America honors—one year late.

The chunky Mississippi plunger was just another good backfield performer at the start of the 1940 season. Kimbrough was the Texas Aggie's great all-America fullback and the man from Texas made the grade again. But Hapes, the Rebels' big chief from Garden Grove, Calif., didn't lag behind.

He hurtled his 175-pound frame into the line 120 times, grossed 851 yards. Charging 44 yards lost on plunges, he netted 807, or an average of 6.73 yards every time he carried the ball. Kimbrough, behind the massive Texas Aggie's line, tried rushing 162 times, gained 669 yards and lost 58—a net of 611. His average was 3.77 yards.

Maryland Ball Toters Show Fight, G. W. Gets Weber Going Right

Okay men, bring on Hampden-Sidney and the rest of 'em, Maryland is ready to play football. The Terps tossed another hard-hitting, fast-moving attack at George Washington yesterday in their second scrimmage of the season. It wasn't the gains but the type of work that produced them that made Coach Jack Faber smile.

But the day was not without honor for the Colonials, who evidently confined themselves to only a couple of plays in an effort to do one thing at a time and do it correctly. Paul Weber, an elusive sophomore back, starred for Bill Reinhardt's gang, which sorely missed Don Finn, Walt Fedora and Johnny Pico, all of whom were out with ailments.

George Washington's blocking decidedly was below par. Time and again the Colonial interferences refused to cut in ahead of the ball carrier, sending him wide around the ends where he fell easy prey to Terp secondary. But Reinhardt is content to take one thing at a time and yesterday he was imparting the niceties of a cut-back to Weber, who was an able pupil.

Dark-Horse Apaches Seek to Eliminate Maryland Nine

Washington Apaches, dark horse team of the Metropolitan baseball community, will try to out Maryland Sports Club from the lists tomorrow night when they tangle in the first half of a twin-bill at Ballston at 7:30. General Accounting Office and Hume Springs will meet in the nightcap.

Chicards Obtain Balazs

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP).—Frank Balazs, fullback with the Green Bay Packers the last two years, has been bought by the Chicago Cardinals.

Cifers From Vols Only Redskin To Play in Three Bowl Games

Of all the members of the Redskin squad, veteran or rookie, Ed Cifers of Tennessee is the only one who experienced the thrill of playing in three major bowl games—Rose, Orange and Sugar. Regular end on the Vols' Southern Conference championship eleven for three years, Cifers helped his team beat Bob Seymour's Oklahoma eleven in the '39 Orange Bowl, 17-0; played as it lost to Bob Hoffman, Jack Banta, Al Kreuzer and Jack Stonebraker in the '40 Rose Bowl, 0-14, and when it was whipped by Frank Leahy's Boston College eleven, 14-20, on last New Year Day. But, strangely enough, playing in none of these games gave Cifers the thrill that came in 1938 when his predominantly sophomore Tennessee team upset a highly favored Alabama eleven, 13-0. That, incidentally, was the first of three games he was to play against Fred Davis, now his roommate on the Redskins.

ED CIFERS.

Cifers was all-Southern end in 1939, being beaten out last year by Elrod of Mississippi and Rast of Alabama. There were five other members of the Tennessee team chosen, however, which may explain the selectors' reluctance to name him again.

Didn't Lead Share Curb, Says Steve

By a Star Staff Correspondent.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 18.—Steve Sivinski says it isn't so. A teammate told him the other day that he had been accused of being the ring-leader of the Redskins' action which deprived Andy Parks, Don Irwin, Trainer Doc Mauro and General Manager Jack Grey from receiving full shares of the playoff last year—and Steve was fit to be tied. "That's the silliest thing I've ever heard," said the University of Washington product who made the all-league team as guard last year. "If it were true it would be a personally flattering thought that I could influence more than two dozen of the Redskins to voting my way. But I never raised a voice one way or the other—merely voted my own sentiments. And if I ever catch the guy who started the rumor—"

Southern Loop Grid Losses Are Heavy As Battles Near

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 18.—They haven't played any football games this year, but members of the Southern Conference already are off to a good start down hospital lane.

Injuries Weaken Three, Generals, Duke Each Has Player Quit

By the Associated Press.
DAVIDSON, N. C., Sept. 18.—Three members of the Southern Conference already are off to a good start down hospital lane. William and Mary, with Newell Irwin, Guy Moates and Quarterback Jack Freeman on the sidelines, balanced the return of injured Fullback John Korczak by sending out Ben Read, senior reserve guard, with a smashed nose.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP).—Army and Syracuse football squads will hold joint workouts here today and tomorrow.

Five Redskins Scrap For Three Jobs as Blocking Backs

Hoffman Only One Sure To Be Retained After Intraclass Battle

By BILL DISMER, Jr., Star Staff Correspondent.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 18.—Probably the least publicized of the individual battles for positions as the Redskins' training camp nears its climax is the fight two veterans and three rookies are waging for the important blocking-back berths.

Those involved are the veterans Bob Hoffman and Red Morgan and the freshmen Cecil Hare of Gonzaga, Lee Gentry of Tulsa and Jack Guthrie of St. Mary's of California. At this writing, two days before the intraclass game here which will decide the fate of four, Hoffman is the only one certain to be retained.

Small Drivers Seen As Giving Thrills At Auto Racing

Little men are expected to create a big fuss tomorrow night at the West Lanham Speedway midget auto races, for among the drivers are a trio stretching skyward less than 5 feet 3 inches.

John Rutter, a 5-footer; Shorty McAndrews, only an inch taller, and Johnny Jars, who spreads 185 pounds over a 5-foot 3-inch frame, are among the leading Eastern drivers who will compete.

Sons of Grove, Lentz Enter Shore College

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Sept. 18.—Sons of two well-known sports figures were among the first-year students who registered at the opening of freshman week at Washington College.

Track Ace Trains Into Flat Feet

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Minnesota, exponent of the steamrolling and bone-crushing type of football, is preparing for an occasional heavy attack this season led by a good little fellow, Bud Higgins.

ROLY POLY—"Jarrin" Johnny" Jars, 10th ranking point scorer of the Eastern division of the American Automobile Association, who will compete on the seven-event program sponsored by the three A's at the West Lanham (Md.) Speedway tomorrow night. Jars packs 185 pounds behind a 5-foot 3-inch frame.

Those involved are the veterans Bob Hoffman and Red Morgan and the freshmen Cecil Hare of Gonzaga, Lee Gentry of Tulsa and Jack Guthrie of St. Mary's of California. At this writing, two days before the intraclass game here which will decide the fate of four, Hoffman is the only one certain to be retained.

Two others will be selected from the remaining four, but trying to pick them is a task complicated by the lack of clean-cut superiority of any. If Guthrie and Gentry, both from Shawnee, Okla., could be molded into one, you'd get the ideal size of a good blocking back. Gentry stands 6 feet, but weighs only 192, while Guthrie carries 228 pounds on a 5-foot-7 frame. In other words, Gentry appears a bit light and an Guthrie about 5 inches too short, especially for pass defense purposes.

Hare, the brother of the veteran Ray, weighs 190 and stands 5-foot-11, but he runs and blocks hard and is showing a dogged determination to stick. The kid lost two teeth in the exhibition with the Pacific Coast All-Stars last Friday night, but was rarin' to go again Monday morning despite a patched-up mouth and chin.

Blames His Mediocrity Of Last Two Seasons On Excess Weight

De Witt also is an exception with two capable centers on the team in Paul De Meglio, Eastern letterman last year, and Gus Kirven, All-State center with the Lynn (Mass.) championship team. "I don't know if Jim O'Leary is hard up for starters in other positions, however, that he is leaving Di Meglio at center and transferring Kirven to tackle."

Par Whacked as Stars Tune for Hurst Event

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Par is taking a beating in practice rounds preliminary to the $7,500 Henry Hurst invitation tournament opening Friday at Torresdale-Frankford Country Club.

Wilson's Is Only Team In Public Series With Talent in Position

De Witt meets puzzling foe. De Witt plays its first game tomorrow night, meeting an unknown quantity in Hagerstown (Md.) High. For his starting backfield O'Leary has selected Bob Kaufman at quarterback, John Brechler, Central player last year, and Allen Waitman as halfbacks, and George McGowan at fullback. McGowan in practice has been outstanding.

Richmond Eleven Seeks Foe From Washington

Optimists, a Richmond (Va.) football team averaging about 170 pounds and composed of former high school players, would like to book the first Washington outfit for Sunday games in the Virginia capital. There, of course, would be a guarantee.

Munhall Leads D. C. Area Trio In Fight for Virginia Job

Special Dispatch to The Star.
CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., Sept. 18.—Three youngsters from the Metropolitan Area of Washington, D. C., are competing for the fullback berth on the Virginia eleven with 18-year-old Herb Munhall, a product of St. John's, the outstanding candidate.

Hapes Year Late Shooting for All-America

Ole Miss Star's Record for 1940 Better Than Kimbrough's

By the Associated Press.
OXFORD, Miss., Sept. 18.—Merle Hapes, who plays against Georgetown here September 26, and the fullback who out-Kimbroughed "Jarrin" John Kimbrough on the gridiron last fall, is shooting for all-America honors—one year late.

He hurtled his 175-pound frame into the line 120 times, grossed 851 yards. Charging 44 yards lost on plunges, he netted 807, or an average of 6.73 yards every time he carried the ball. Kimbrough, behind the massive Texas Aggie's line, tried rushing 162 times, gained 669 yards and lost 58—a net of 611. His average was 3.77 yards.

Hoyas, Far Below '40 Form, Outplayed in Drill With Navy

Doolan Makes Long Run, Snags Pass for Score; Dornfeld Bottled Up

Special Dispatch to The Star.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 18.—After watching Georgetown battle Navy in a practice scrimmage the consensus is the Hoyas will have to call on more sleight-of-hand and less power to come close to matching last year's splendid record.

Georgetown had the worst of it yesterday and while Navy admittedly has one of its finest teams coming up and is farther advanced in practice, the Washington eleven obviously is far below its 1940 form. The Hoyas miss Mike Kopick at end. They could use the height and heft of either Al Matusa or Jim Reichy at center, and a couple of guards to go with McMahon and Patmore.

The session, which saw Navy roll up four touchdowns before the Hoyas approached pay dirt, definitely proved that Georgetown was an offensive outfit this autumn. Jack Dolan got away for a pretty 35-yard jaunt off tackle and later took a pass from Benny Bulvin for another touchdown. Frank Dornfeld, on whom Jack Hagerty is banking heavily for yardage this year, didn't have a chance to show much as Navy kept a close watch on him.

Hawaiian Catholics Bow To Chicagoans in Ring

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Hawaii's Catholic Youth Organization boxing champions are the losers for the second straight year in team competition with Chicago's best C. Y. O. fighters.

The Hawaiians dropped last night's match, six bouts to four, before 26,381 at Soldier Field. Hawaiian individual victors were Wilbert Mann and Frank Fernandez in the 135-pound bouts, Dan Fernandez at 147 pounds and Ray Quintal at 175 pounds.

Track Ace Trains Into Flat Feet

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Minnesota, exponent of the steamrolling and bone-crushing type of football, is preparing for an occasional heavy attack this season led by a good little fellow, Bud Higgins.

From the Gopher camp come reports of this 155-pound sophomore halfback who has the old college try and the ruggedness usually associated with beefier lads.

If Bud continues to come through on the Minnesota practice field, he appears a good bet to fit Coach Bernie Bierman's need for a replacement for Capt. Bruce Smith at left half. He's a nifty ball carrier and shows ability at blocking and defensive tactics.

Way to Snappy Starts in Race for Bowling Title

Washington bowling fans look to another sensational struggle between Lorraine Gull and Lucy Rose for the Ladies' District League championship following exceptional performances by both last night to open the campaign.

Brookland, who for more than a dozen years had little or no competition for the high average and has watched Mrs. Rose snatch the title on the final night of rolling the last two seasons, got the jump last night with a stellar 412 set that topped the opening night's matches in the Capital's premier women's circuit.

In any stream, the headwaters are the spawning grounds and the nursery for the small fish, while the pools and fast riffles are the hang-outs for the adults.

Too, the Susquehanna flats are the feeding grounds of myriad waterfowl. In the past it always has been accepted as the point of greatest concentration anywhere in America for canvasbacks. Millions of ducks are going to be forced to find food elsewhere this fall, for low-flying planes and gunfire isn't to their liking.

Substitute Wife
by Louise Andrews

The story thus far: Julie Nash, beautiful 19-year-old secretary to Mike Gray, wealthy young Miami businessman, is in love with her boss, but despairs of ever winning his love when he becomes engaged to Rita Deming, Miami socialite.

CHAPTER XI
Julie went to a movie theater. She sat perfectly still in the throbbing dark, eyes glued to the silver screen, the figures and voices cut shadows across her distress.

"Where have you been, Julie?" he asked when she did not speak. "To a movie."

"Yes, I forgot," it didn't seem to matter that she had forgotten. She added lamely, "It was a good picture."

Julie jerked away from him. "So that's it. You're going to punish Rita by forcing me to stay with you?"

"Run away," she said, "I despise you, Mike Gray—I despise you."

Nature's Children
Common Musk Turtle
 (Aromochelys odoratus)

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY.

Few come in contact with the pugnacious little musk turtle, dwelling in the slow-running streams and muddy rivers. Those who do, however, are amazed at the hostile attitude of the turtle and realize how much like its older and larger cousin, the snapping turtle, it is. If any one is foolish enough to try to capture this turtle, a strong and lasting odor of musk will prevent him from getting the experience out of his mind. No matter how strong the soap or hot the water, that musk odor clings and it is a disagreeable odor. This is the weapon bestowed upon the turtle, and like the perfume of the skunk, once a whiff of it is sprayed upon your flesh or on your clothes, it has staying qualities that are almost unbelievable.

Out in the open, the hostile musk turtle seems to go about in the shallow waters with a "chip on his shoulder," but in captivity, he is a timid creature, taking advantage of every hiding place in the tank. The musk turtle is a rather deliberate swimmer and loves to go on exploring expeditions either in his captivity tank or his beloved muddy stream. After a long time below, the turtle will come to the surface for fresh air.

These turtles rarely leave the water. The mother goes ashore to deposit her eggs, a shallow pocket in the sand being made for this purpose. Then she returns to the water. The small turtles have to shuffle for themselves when they leave their shells. One thing they instinctively do—tuck for the water. Of course, some of them no doubt fall prey to enemies, but few even see the small musk turtles trying to reach the water and safety. The identification marks of this turtle are easily remembered. The upper shell is narrow and oval and arched to a high degree. The younger generation have strongly keeled upper shells, and as they grow older, the keel disappears. The lower shell or plastron is very narrow and much shorter than the upper one. None of the lobes are capable of being drawn upward to any appreciable extent. With the younger turtles they are rigid, and the rear part remains immovable until the turtle is grown.

The head of the musk turtle is large, with tapering, conical snout. The feet are broadly webbed. There are markings on the head that will help you to identify it. Two bright stripes of yellow extend from the tip of the snout to the neck. One of these stripes passes over the eye, the other one extends backward beneath the eye, running parallel with the line of the jaw, finally bending slightly downward behind the angle of the mouth and following this line to the neck.

Old musk turtles are lusterless brown and usually covered with moss. That shows you how slow-growing the older generation is. You will find musk turtles from Southern Canada to the Gulf of
