Destroyer Kearny Is Torpedoed Off Iceland; Crew Safe, Ship Continues Under Own Power

Vessel Hit While on Patrol In Area Near Where Green Escaped Sub Attack

The Navy Department announced that the U.S.S. Kearny, a destroyer, was torpedoed this morning while on patrol duty about 350 miles south and west of Iceland. Despite the damage the ship was reported able to proceed under her own power.

The brief announcement by the Navy Department said no casualties to personnel were indicated in the dispatches

Under command of Lt. Comdr. A. L. Danis, the ship is one of the Navy's newest destroyers. Her keel was laid in 1939 and she was completed in 1940

Senator Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire called the and had sunk or damaged 14 merincident "an open act of defiance by Hitler."

Although news of movements of ships has been restricted for some time it has been known that a number of destroyers have been plying the North Atlantic particularly between the United States coast and Greenland and Iceland. They have been acting as protectors for the American cargo ships taking supplies not only to those two points, but which are sent on under British protection to Great Britain.

Greer Case Only Other Incident.

The only other engagement reported since the beginning of the Atlantic patrol was between a German submarine and the destroyer Greer. In a report released to a Senate committee this pursued by the Greer and that after.

FIRST RACE-IMPREGNABLE. ERIC KNIGHT, WAR ART. IMPREGNABLE just failed to click in his first at this point and right off that splendid showing he is selected to show the way home to this evenly matched band. ERIC KNIGHT lost his last by a nose and he could be the one to dispute the issue. WAR ART appears on the im-SECOND RACE-ITABO, MA-

ROC, AARON BURR. ITABO disappointed in his last at this strip, but all of his previous showing indicate that he should be able to master this small band. MAROC has won two in a row and he is in the best form of his life. He may be hard to defeat. AARON BURR is nearing peak condi-

THIRD RACE-JOANNY, BUN-NY BABY, BALLAST REEF. JOANNY has been racing cleverly of late and the rail post position may aid her in a quick getaway. If the mare gains an early advantage she will prove difficult to catch. BUNNY BABY hasn't won this year but she is working well. BALLAST REEF must be accorded stout consideration.

FOURTH RACE-VAGRANCY, UMBRIL, QUEEN LANE.

VAGRANCY just galloped to win her last at the local strip and right off that good effort she must be given the call over this opposition. UMBRIL has been improving with recent outings and she could be the one to force the issue. QUEEN LANE has taken second honors in her last two tries.

FIFTH RACE—ALSAB, COL-CHIS, SWEEP SINGER. ALSAB is the 2-year-old champion and he should experience little difficulty in mastering this field. Any old price we get against him must be considered a good one. COLCHIS deadheated Alsab at Havre and he could be the one to offer what argument there is. SWEEP SINGER is fit.

Boy and Two Girls Waive Extradition, Sheriff Informed

Harford County and Maryland State authorities, armed with warrants charging the murder of Grainger G. Browning, 38-year-old carpenter of Mount Olive, N. C., were to leave today for Portland, Me., to bring back two Alexandria (Va.) high school girls and their 16-yearold boy friend.

The body of Mr. Browning was found in a thicket near Conowingo, Md., about noon yesterday, only a few hours after Portland officials announced that Herbert H. Cox. ir., 16. of Alexandria, had admitted shooting the man somewhere between Baltimore and the Maryland-Pennsylvania line. He claimed that the man "made advances" to one of his girl companions, but later admitted he shot him to "take his car and go on," authorities there said, according to the Associated Press.

The two girls are Ida Mae Price, 15, and Leona Ellen Cunningham. 14, students at George Washington High School in Alexandria, who ran away from home with the Cox boy in Mr. Browning's car Sunday night The shooting occurred early Mon-

Joseph W. Frazer, president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., Toledo, Ohio, said yesterday he had pre-sented to the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board a proposal that automobile production be limited as weight car normally produced by each manufacturer. Setting this forth as the principal point in a 14-point plan to reduce civilian consumption of vital defense materials, Mr. Frazer told a press conference that the Government must answer the questions "Is this a real emergency or is it a lot of politics—are we going to face it squarely or pussyfoot around?"

The Willys-Overland manufacturer, who described his car as an example of economical production during the period of shortages, said that as an instance of how his plan would work out, General Motors would be permitted to make only Chevrolets, the Chrysler Co. only Plymouths and output of other concerns would be similarly restricted.

Plan Reported Considered. Mr. Frazer presented the plan to S. P. A. B. October 4 and he said he understood that it was receiving careful consideration by high Government officials.

Asked what would be the reaction of other manufacturers in the automobile industry, Mr. Frazer said: "I think the reaction of the various automobile manufacturers is still a competitive one to the extent that every one is still looking out for his own interest so long as there is a chance to wiggle something out of the Government."

Would Eliminate Trimmings. Mr. Frazer's plan included such proposals as elimination of all purely ornamental trims and parts from cars, use of cotton rather than wool in interior upholstery, manufacture of only two and four door sedans with elimination of all other body styles, elimination of so-called de luxe models, use of the smallest tires possible for the specific weight of a vehicle and delivery of cars from plants to dealers by driving or towing them in order to free railway

Nazi Plans Reported Ready for March Through Spain

Germans Declared Aiming To By-pass Gibraltar In Drive to Morocco

By HELEN RIRKPATRICK,

LONDON, Oct. 17.—German plans are completed for a march through Spain, bypassing Gibraltar, to Spanish Morocco if and when the British attempt to clean up Libya and invade Italy, according to British and American observers in North Africa.

While at the present moment the entire German thought and energy is being devoted to Russia, plans for closing the Mediterranean by seizing strategic Spanish Morocco have been completed, in the opinion of some of the best qualified Americans and British. Thus, if the United States intends to implement President Roosevelt's May speech, it probably will have to do so in the immediate future if the Atlantic hands, these observers believe.

Nye Wants President To Seek Negotiated Peace in Europe

Plans Amendment To Lease-Lend Bill Demanding Action

Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota proposed today that the Senate attach a rider to the administration's $5,985,000,000 leaselend bill, instructing President Roosevelt to inquire into the possibility of bringing about a negotiated peace abroad.

Senator Nye, a member of the Appropriations Subcommittee considering the measure, told reporters he was convinced that this Governto halt the conflict had become "burning issue" in the country.

Strike Threat Eases At Big Bomber Plant; Bendix Crisis Nears

'Mass Violence' Feared 'Inevitable' at Jersey Plane Parts Factory

By the Associated Press.

Strike threats eased today at the huge San Diego bomber plant of the Consolidated Aircraft Corp., but a crisis appeared to be at hand at the Bendix (N. J.) factory of Air Associates, Inc., where C. I. O. men walked out two weeks ago.

The Defense Mediation Board said ■ 30-day, no-strike truce involving more than 53,000 workers in captive coal mines would be extended on a day-to-day basis past Sunday's deadline. During the life of the temporary agreement the Mediation Board holds jurisdiction over the disputes.

The Executive Board of the A. F. L. Machinists' Union announced last night that plans for a strike at Consolidated would be held in abeyance "a reasonable length of time" in order to permit settlement to be reached here. The disagreement, the board contended, was between the Government and the management.

W. D. Chudleigh, president of the machinists' local, said the men began discussing the advisability of a strike after Maj. R. H. Fleet, Consolidated president had announced that he would not sign a proposed contract raising wages, unless the Government paid part of the extra cost. Maj. Fleet said the wage increases would amount to American Diplomats $82,000,000 and would "break the High officials of the Army and Navy were keeping in close touch with the situation and considering Maj. Fleet's demands.

The union has approved the proposed agreement which would increase the beginners' scale from 55-65 cents an hour to 60-75 cents, and give a 13-cent blanket increase to employes earning more than 65 cents an hour

Consolidated employs 28,000 workers and holds contracts for $750,-000,000 worth of aircraft.

Navy Buys Its First Gliders for Tests in Carrying Troops

Contracts Are Placed For Motorless Craft Of Three Sizes

Climaxing years of discussion of motorless flight, the Navy Department today announced purchase of its first 14 gliders. The contracts placed include orders for two 24place gliders and two 12-place ships for experimental work in troop transport. The other 10 are conventional two-place sailing craft.

The Navy conducted experiments with gliders several years ago in Florida and later abandoned the experimental flights. Federal Aid Sought For Small Business Affected by Defense

Vandenberg Urges Senate Inquiry Into Priorities System

By the Associated Press. Government aid was sought today for small businesses, hard pinched by the priority system.

Senator Pepper, Democrat, of Florida told the Senate yesterday that Congress should provide "com-pensation" for both the employes and operators of small firms which had been forced to close because the raw materials they normally processed are being absorbed by the defense program.

Senator Pepper predicted that hundreds of thousands" of persons would be thrown out of work by the application of priority orders, and called on President Roosevelt "to start meeting this problem by an adequate program."

Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat, of Wyoming called for action on his proposal to create a priorities board to which small business could appeal when denied supplies. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan suggested pushing a thorough inquiry into the priorities system. Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana declared that the system tended to produce "super-monopolies" with big firms getting the bulk of defense orders. Senator Vandenberg touched off the discussion by inquiring of Senator Truman, Democrat, of Missouri whether a proposed increase of three in the Senator Defense Investigating Committee would permit a thorough inquiry into the priorities

Ihlder Fears Curb Might Stress Building Of Apartment Houses

Tells Trade Board Unit 1-Family Home Decline Could Harm Capital

A warning that the Supply Priorities and Allocation Board building ban on non-defense housing might encourage the construction in Washington of more apartments and less one-family homes to the "detriment of the city" was sounded vesterday by John Ihlder, head of the Alley Dwelling Authority.

Mr. Ihlder's remarks were made during a meeting of the Private and Public Buildings Committee of the Washington Board of Trade, meeting yesterday afternoon in The Star Building.

Materials a Question. "If the S. P. A. B. program encourages the building of apartments rather than single-family homes, it might be detrimental to the city," he declared. Mr. Ihlder is a member of the Buildings Com-

Mr. Ihlder's remarks followed a comment of Committee Chairman Arthur B. Heaton, who said: "Our problem in Washington is whether we can get materials at this time to build anything at all." Mr. Heaton is also president of the Washington Building Congress. Parking Action Asked.

S. P. A. B. last week placed a ban on the country's building industry when it prohibited the start of any non-essential public or private construction which would divert vital materials from the defense effort. As an outgrowth of yesterday's discussion, the group adopted a resolution urging the Board of Trade directors to take immediate action on a proposal of the Board of Trade Traffic Committee adopted last year. The proposal recommends that future builders of apartment houses and office buildings here assure adequate parking facilities for tenants and workers before construction begins.

The Building Committee deferred approving the Traffic Committee's plan but authorized the appointment of a subcommittee to study the proposal.

German 'Electron' Fire Bomb Ranked Highest in Efficiency

U. S. Chemical Warfare Article Gives Details of Magnesium Weapon

By THOMAS R. HENRY. Details of the German fire bomb described as "one of the most if not the most efficient bomb ever devised," have just been described in the United States Army Chemical Warfare Service bulletin.

It is known as the "electron bomb." Most information concerning it has come to the United States through strict/censorship. It weighs, according to a report in the bulletin, approximately 2.2 pounds. This makes it possible for a single bombing plane to carry approximately 2,000 bombs. Hitherto, with the heavy explosive bombs, this number has been restricted to about 50.

The one-kilogram electron bomb makes use of its thick-walled 80 per cent magnesium shell to spread its fire. This shell is approximately 9 inches in length and 2 inches in diameter. It contains several ounces of a thermite mixture. Unlike the thermite type of incendiary bombs used during the last World War, however, this thermite serves only to ignite the magnesium shell. It is not itself the main incendiary ma-

Fired by Needle Igniter. The thermite reaction within the shell is set off by an igniter on either the nose or tail of the shell. This igniter consists merely of a needle which is driven into a small percussion cap by the impact of the bomb. "Unlike other types of bombs." says the Chemical Warfare Service report, by John A. West, jr., "the electron bomb does not explode upon impact but, rather, the thermite reacts violently for nearly a minute at a temperature of about 4532 degrees Fahrenheit. Jets of flame emit from vent holes in the shell and bits of molten magnesium which are forced through these holes scatter in every direction for a distance of about 50 feet. This scattering of incendiary material ends when the termite reaction has been completed and the pressure within the bomb has been decreased. However, the magnesium shell has been ignited by that time and will burn for 10 or 15 minutes at a temperature of approximately 2372 degrees Fahrenheit, setting fire to any combustible material within a radius of a few feet.

"The number of those 1-kilogram electron bombs that a single bombing plane can carry ranges from 1,000 to 2,000. Assuming that only 15 per cent of the average urban district is built over, out of 1,000 bombs only 150 would make direct hits. Of this number it is likely that half would either glance off roofs or fail to penetrate because of roof construction. Of the 150 bombs striking buildings, perhaps not more than 75 would be capable of starting serious fires.

Accurate Aim Impossible. willen these to nres would be scattered would depend upon the speed and height at which the plane was flying and the distance covered while it was dropping its load. At 5,000 feet, flying at 200 miles per hour and dropping 20 electron bombs a second, the bomber would spend its cargo of 1,000 bombs while moving only 3 miles, and set fires approximately every 60 yards.

"Owing to the lightness of the electron bomb any degree of accuracy in dropping it is impossible. Twenty bombs dropped at the same instant from 5,000 feet might strike anywhere within an area of 10,000 square yards. Thus the use of this bomb is reserved for indiscriminate bombing only. Heavier bombs of similar construction are used when specific targets are sought such as factories, supply bases and munitions dumps.

Water can be used to combat this bomb, the report points out, but must be applied carefully. It accelerates the burning of magnesium but cuts down the burning time from 12 to 2 or 3 minutes. If water is put on too fast there may be a violent explosion. Sand and other granular materials can be used to bring the electron bomb under control. The bomb should be thoroughly covered with the material until the glare and heat have been reduced. when it is possible to scoop up both with covering material and remove the whole into the open where the bomb can burn itself out without any great danger.

Konoye Quits

The grave crisis in Japanese-American relations precipitated by the resignation of the Konove cabinet should not be underestimated. Prince Konoye stood for a middleof-the-road policy. He is an imperialist in the sense that he believes Japan should and must eventually dominate the Far East, but he thinks Japan should attain that goal without taking extreme risks, such as war with the English-speaking powers. He staked his political career on the effort to make a compromise arrangement with America, and he sold the idea to the militarists, who were not averse to gaining a bit more time before taking drastic action in the Far East, provided Konoye could get America to call off its economic pressure and thus enable Japan to stock up more oil and other vital raw materials. On the other hand, Konoye naturally had the enthusiastic support of the true Japanese moderates -mostly bankers and big businessmen-who want a real settlement with Britain and America, wherein Japan would function as the economic middleman in Asia and other undeveloped parts of the world, with Anglo-American backing.

Konoye's program was wholly dependent upon his ability to get his compromise arrangement soon. But the "exploratory conversations" which he initiated with Washington quickly disclosed the fact that any concessions he had to offer would have to be paid for by America's something which Washington would | furnishings index of 117.9. not even consider. So it presently became clear to every one that Konoye's efforts were foredoomed to

Washington was willing to continue the negotiations, because it wished to avoid a showdown with Japan, particularly at a time when things were going so badly in Russia. But the Japanese militarists were not of the same mind. Economic pressure was hitting Japan hard and time was running against them. Even the navy, traditionally averse to war with America and Britain because it realized the risks involved, tended to swing over to the army jingoes, preferring to take long chances rather than see Japan's fleet and merchant marine become powerless from lack of oil. This swingover of the navy, emphasized by the bellicose utterance of its spokesman, Captain Hiralde, director of naval intelligence, showed that Konoye's time was up. Refusing to be responsible for a breach with America, he had

It is difficult to see how Konoye's fall can mean anything short of bankruptcy for his policy of compromise. Although a temporary stop-gap cabinet may succeed him, it is apt to be merely a smoke screen behind which the militarists can make their final preparations before openly assuming power. The next real government of Japan logically should consist of generals and admirals, plus the heads of the patriotic societies, all resolved to strike for the rapid realization of their cherished "new order in East Asia," no matter what the immediate cost.

This does not mean that such a government deliberately would make war on America and Britain. It does imply, however, that Japan would take aggressive steps against Siberia, Thailand or the Dutch Indies, which might well compel America and Britain to take counter measures out of which war probably would arise. Already public men in the United States, such as Senators Norris and Pepper, are urging that Japanese aggression be stopped dead in its tracks, if necessary by "cleaning up" Japan, so as to have a freer hand against Germany. Sentiment seems to be stiffening and hardening on both sides

Labor Racketeers

The American Federation of Labor has voted to purge its official ranks of George E. Browne, indicted president of the Stage Employes' and Motion Picture Operators' Unions, and has directed all central labor units to deny seats to convicted Undoubtedly, it will be pointed out to take both steps. Mr. Browne, a vice president of the Federation, is on trial in a Federal court on a charge of extorting $550,000 from years ago. And it also has been population was only 174,000. It probevident for some time that the A. F. ably is much larger now. If so, the Vigorous action against racketeers vastly increased.

themselves in official positions within the organization. However, despite this delay, the fact remains that corrective action has been taken, and if the Federation's stand against racketeering union leaders is translated into effective action, a distinct gain will have been recorded, both for labor and the general public.

In this connection, there is cause for regret in the attack made by the Federation on Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold because of his attempt to prosecute certain unions under the anti-trust law for acts which he believed to be in violation of the statute. It is true that the effort failed after the Supreme Court ruled that unions were exempt from prosecution under the monopoly laws. But that technical immunity did not go to the merits of the practices in question, and there can be no doubt that they were distinctly inimical to the public interest. Instead of assailing Mr. Arnold for what, under the circumstances, was a courageous attempt at law enforcement, the A. F. of L. might well have sought on its own initiative to eliminate the objectionable practices. To have done so would have been clearly in line with the general statement of policy to which it has formally subscribed.

Rents and Inflation

In view of the facts available to the committee, it is somewhat surprising that Chairman Steagall of the House Banking Committee, which is considering price-control legislation, should seem to be under the impression that rents in the District have played any significant part in the advance of living costs.

Commenting on the legislation before his committee, Mr. Steagall said that any bill to control inflation should "apply to rents everywhere." When Isadore Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, replied that the rent problem has not become acute in many places, Mr. Steagall said: "I am wondering if you are aware of rents in Washington? Have you heard of any one who could find space

The facts, as previously reported by Mr. Lubin, plainly refute the implication in this comment that rents in the District are excessive. During the three-month period ending in mid-September, rents had advanced only 0.6 per cent. Taking 100 as the average for the base period of 1935-1939, the total rise in rents still leaves the present figure at 100.9. This compares, for example, with an advance in food prices to 110.5largely due to congressional legislation in aid of farmers--an advance abandonment of China. That was | in clothing costs to 113.7, and a house that there has been no increase in rents in any way comparable to the advance in other living costs. It may be that Chairman Steagall and his committee feel that safeguards should be erected against the possibility of unreasonable rent advances in the future. But this should not be done on the false premise that rents already are out of line.

Kazan

There is romance in the name of the city to which the government of the Soviet Union is removing from beleaguered Moscow. Americans who know the place recall its dusty streets, its crowded markets with gratitude for having escaped from them. Yet the capital of the Tartars has authentic powers of attraction which they would be the last to deny.

Commentators liken Kazan to Grenada in Spain, and the comparison is reasonably apt. Both cities were outposts of Moslem culture. In both, especially in the metropolis of the Volga, the spirit of Mohammed survives. Conquest of the ultimate stronghold of the Moors in Spain set a fashion of a sort for Ivan the Terrible. Half a century, roughly, separates the victory of Ferdinand and Isabella from the triumph of the Czar, but neither event was altogether complete in effect. Journey along any Iberian road and you will meet Arabs; visit the banks of the Kazanka and you will find Mongols of the Golden Horde.

Nobody knows when Kazan first was established. It was old when the towns of Western Russia were new. Ruins thirty miles to the northeast of the present site show evidence of vast antiquity. The whole neighborhood is rich in relics of ancient times. Skilled craftsmen, whose names are unremembered. wrought weapons of iron and steel, beautiful articles of leather, brilliant textiles, rugs and carpets for the fair held on an island in the river during the Middle Ages. Slavic and Mongolian cultures met and mingled there, After the siege of 1552 the power of Islam was supposed to have been broken. Catherine II ordered the "converts" to sign a pledge that "they would forsake their infidel errors," but even under Bolshevik control thirteen mosques still raise their minarets against the sky for the convenience of muezzins summoning the faithful to prayer on five different occasions each day. The Kremlin, dating back to 1437, sheltered many Greek Orthodox churches and monasteries until the Marxist revolution of 1917. White armies then captured the city, only to be that the Federation has waited long expelled by Red, both sides inflicting cruel damage upon the monuments of the past. The civilian population suffered unspeakably in the famine of 1921. According to a census taken major film companies some four five years after that affliction, the lematical as to whether it could be held against violent assault. Its geographical position is 460 miles due east of Moscow-convenient to retreat to, but not far enough distant to be out of easy reach of Nazi legions equipped with mobile engines of destruction. The final stand of the Soviets, it would seem, cannot be much west of Omsk, where the two roads from the Baltic and the Black

Rail Bonus Plan

The first offer of the railroads in response to the pay demands of the brotherhoods finds the disputants far apart. The unions seek an increase the carriers estimate at $900,000,000 annually, or slightly less than the class one lines probably will show this year for net operating incomethat is, before the payment of interest and rentals. The railroads have countered with a cost-of-living bonus plan amounting to $95,000,000 for the first year, or just about a tenth of what the workers want. Laid before the President's Emergency Fact-finding Board, which is sifting the wage issue, the proposal has been flatly rejected by union spokesmen.

The amount that labor would receive under the plan is determined by a rather complicated process. To start with, living costs and gross revenues as of June 15, 1937-a period of relative prosperity for the carriers-are taken as a base. Next the percentage rise in living costs and gross revenues would be determined. The latter figure then would be halved, management arguing that 50 per cent of any gross revenue increase must go into non-wage operating costs. Finally, the full percentage increase in the cost-of-living index and half the percentage increase in gross revenue would be averaged, with the resultant figure representing the percentage to be added to wage rates as the bonus. As a counterinflationary safeguard, present basic pay rates would serve as a floor, with the ceiling fixed at a maximum increase of 15 per cent on the first thirty dollars of weekly earnings, and the bonus would apply only to the first $130 of monthly earnings. Effective November 1, for fourteen months, the plan would be subject to revision quarterly when there had been a change of at least five points in the composite index.

The cost-of-living bonus idea was borrowed from the Canadian government, which has adopted a comparable scheme as a wartime measure. The principle also is being employed in the shipbuilding industry on the Atlantic seaboard. Supporters point out that the arrangement has the advantage of compensating workers for increased living costs, while at the same time avoiding inflexible pay scales, threatening new problems if a slump in business occurs. The objections are equally obvious, labor looking for permanent, not transient gains.

Recognizing the fact that the railroad industry is far from the flourishing stage despite the present era of prosperity, it would seem that some sort of a bonus arrangement would be a reasonable approach to the wage issue. The finality with which the proposal has been turned down, however, does not encourage hope that the solution lies in this

State Taxes

In expressing his opposition to a reduction of State and local taxes, Marriner S. Eccles, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has taken a position that commands serious consideration. With State and local revenues in many areas exceeding budgetary expectations and with relief rolls declining, proposals to get rid of unpopular taxes are likely to win wide support. By reducing or eliminating these, it will be argued, taxpayers will find it easier to meet the burden of the increased Federal

But as Mr. Eccles pointed out in his address Tuesday before the National Tax Association, a reduction in these levies would result in expanding civilian buying power at a time when it is of vital importance to the defense program that a brake be placed on consumer expenditures. Taxes provide an instrument for siphoning off part of the new purchasing power created by the defense effort. If the States and local governments reduce their taxes, the effectiveness of taxation as a safeguard against inflation. will thus be correspondingly impaired.

Though Federal taxes, during the current fiscal year, will exceed the aggregate of State and local, these latter are still of great importance in our national economy. There are now approximately 175,000 individual public taxing bodies in the United States. In view of the large number of taxes, the competition between the various taxing units and the frequent duplication and overlapping of these levies, there is clearly a need for a closer co-ordination and integration between Federal, and State and local tax policies. Chairman Eccles recommends that State and local governments decrease expenditures and postpone the creation of new services unrelated to defense until after the emergency, using the resulting surplus revenue to repay existing debt. This, certainly, would put State and municipal governments in a better position to deal with post-war economic problems. There would seem to be a question, however, as to whether the repayment of this debt, or a substantial part of it, by placing cash in the hands of the holders of the securities might not tend to increase co

Famous Abbey Reported Closed

Writer Says Maria Laach Has "Succumbed" After Eight Centuries of Service

To the Editor of The Star: that one of the oldest and most famous civilization has been extinguished. Like so many other magnificent Benedictine monasteries in present-day Germany, the great Abbey of Maria Laach in the Rhineland also has succumbed at lighthouses of universal Christian

The abbey buildings stand on the western shore of a lake (hence "Laach") which is located between the old Roman towns of Coblenz and Bonn on the left bank of the Rhine. They are hidden among fruitful orchards and fertile gardens and encircled by pleasant hills.

Henry II von Hochstaden, count palatine, founded the monastery in 1093. For 800 years, under the crosier of 43 abbots, the monks lived there the Benedictine life of common observance and the worship of God. During the 12th and 13th centuries they built a church which, because of its five steeples and splendid dome and a most graceful atrium, is considered one of the most beautiful ecclesiastical buildings of Germany. It is a masterpiece of the Romanesque style unspoiled by later additions and alterations and restored in a very artistic way by the present Abbot Ildephonse Herwegen, D. D., LL. D., and his predecessor, Abbot Fidelis von Stotzingen, S. T. D. Under the inspiring direction of these prelates some 60 choir monks and 100 lay brothers have been working during the past 40 years. They have been zealously engaged not only as theologians, philosophers, historians, scientists, artists, but also as farmers. craftsmen, engineers, etc. Many of them had graduated as doctors at the German universities of Bonn, Tubingen and Gottingen or at the universities of Rome and Louvain. A library of more than 80.000 volumes offered them material for their research work. The monastery conducted a school of philosophy as well as an international academy for the study of liturgy and monastic history. In addition, approximately 25 boys were instructed annually as apprentices in the different trades to prepare them for work in the world. The lay brothers who taught these boys acquired recognition by their charges' successful completion of examinations conducted by the state authorities. Indeed, within the confines of their monastery these Benedictines realized what may well be called Christian civilization. A great many Americans have had opportunity to study the life and activity of this "City of God" on the shores of the beautiful lake in the Eifel Moun-

Of the numerous scientific and popular books and collections which have been published by the monks, the "Annual Review of Liturgical Science," of which 13 volumes have so far appeared, is appreciated universally.

In the same way products of the school of art at Maria Laach, pictures, statues in marble and bronze, chalices. shrines covered with gems and ivory and wonderful enamels can be admired in America as well as in Germany. More than once the officers of the government of the Reich conferred prizes and decorations upon the monks for their agricultural works and social endeavors. The monks themselves, however, were most modest regarding food, clothing and similar things. Instead of accumulating their goods, they preferred to distribute them to the poor. Each Christmas 600 poor families received from the monks boxes containing clothing, meat, bread, cakes, vegetables, fruits and toys for the children. During many years after the first World War 800 loaves of bread were given to the poor each week and 150 people received a warm dinner each day. Innumerable packages of food were sent to the starving people in the cities of the Rhineland. The monks kept approximately 50 rooms for their guests, many of whom would spend three days or more in the abbey. The hospitality of the monastery was unlimited, extended to every honest man, whether Catholic or Protestant, German or foreigner. Among the hundreds of thousands of guests from every field of human endeavor who have been received at Maria Laach, have been some of the highest dignitaries of church and state. Apart from the clergy and the faithful of Germany itself, these have included the Belgian Cardinal Mercier, the English Cardinal Bourne, the Roman Cardinal Verde, cardinals and bishops from America and from all other parts of the world, the late Kaiser Wilhelm II and his family, the late King Albert of the Belgians and his Queen, the late Margarita, Queen of Italy and many princes of royal blood, ambassadors and ministers of state from Austria, Spain and China; the late Gen. Allen and thousands of American soldiers, professors of ecclesiastical and state universities, artists, actors, journalists and craftsmen from everywhere, all these have enjoyed the spirit of Benedictine hospitality. It gave them an opportunity to experience broad-minded Christian charity, heavenly peace and a sublime universal culture. They felt themselves drawn nearer to God without external compulsion. It is no wonder that the present Pope and his three predecessors bestowed their benevolence upon the abbot and monks of Maria Laach. Nor is it surprising that there is no longer a place for such an institution in the Reich of the Nazis. According to their principles it had to disappear! "Necessitas parit coronam" ("Distress begets a crown") is the heraldic motto of the present abbot of Maria Laach, who during the 28 years of his abbatial government, has witnessed the prosperity of his abbey and currently experiences its greatest distress. He and his monks may be sure that while he now is bearing a crown of thorns in exile from his beloved abbey, divine justice and history are preparing crowns of recognition for him and for his helpers after their country again has become a home of true civilization and Christian culture.

By Charles E. Tracewell.

Two of the finest birds to come to | including Tommy Woodpecker, black and white driller, little sapsucker and little guinea woodpecker.

This bird is not a sapsucker, but it can drill as neat a hole in an old tree trunk as the larger woodpeckers. The The first was a nuthatch nest is usually in a dead tree trunk or limb. The eggs are laid at the bottom of the cavity, on a soft bed of rotted wood particles.

Experts say that the downy is one of the best garden friends, since it cleans up so many insects inimical to trees, especially fruit trees.

It is able to locate the various wood borers, and to get at them easily, without damaging the trees. In doing this, it does farmers an invaluable service, which more than makes up for the poison ivy seeds which it disseminates. Many species do the same, without having the charge made against them. It happens that these seeds are favorites of many birds, not only because they enjoy their taste, evidently, but also because the seeds are easily secured in dead winter when scarcely any other food is above the snow line.

The downy woodpecker is not downy, despite its name, except in the hand, and most of us will never get that close. "Birds of America" says of this feature:

"The casual observer who does not handle birds should not expect to find anything downy about the downy woodpecker, or hairy about the hairy wood-

"They are both plain black and white woodpeckers with ordinary looking feathers when viewed from a short distance. Both the downy and the hairy woodpeckers excavate holes during the fall, in which they pass the winter nights."

In thus making homes for their winter sleeping, these woodpeckers seem to possess more brains than most birds, which are willing to sleep in the open, despite any amount of wind, sleet or downy will sometimes drill in trees.

Often this drilling merely shows up a dead branch. The nuthatch never drills, but simply eats insects off the surface of the bark. In this way, along with its friend the downy, it cleans many trees each year, and helps to keep them free from damage

U. S.-Japan 'Crisis' Again Concocted

Military Element In Orient Risks Empire Setback

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Another "erisis" with Japan has developed. For several months it has been Japanese policy to impress mpon the United States that Tokio must have "concessions" in the Par East and that America must not stand in the way of Japan s "new order" for Asia. The United States has steadfastly refused to be stampeded by these tactics and has maintained throughout an attitude of dig- David Lawrence.

nity rather than of blustering. This past week-as Russia's fortunes have seemed to drop in the face of Nazi military successes-Japan has revived her belligerent tone and manner. But it is inaccurate, really, to use the term "Japan" to describe the attitude of the government at Tokio. A more accurate description would be to say the "Japanese military elements," which seem at times to control the government, have taken the microphone in hand and broadcast ominous warnings to America.

The latest outgiving by a Japanese naval spokesman to the effect that the Japanese Navy was just "itching" to go at America can be crossed off as merely matching a statement made a few days ago by Senator Norris, veteran member from Nebraska, that he believed the American Navy could now lick the Japanese Navy and that maybe this was the time to do it.

Such bellicose comments can do real damage in a delicate situation. but when they are merely part of the maneuvers of the so-called war to impress the other with the gravity of the situation, the detached observer can eliminate them as real factors.

Neither Wants War.

The United States does not want war with Japan and the Japanese really do not want war with America. What is important for Tokio to realize—and it is really understood heirs. there despite the various comments and the other touches the Dutch East Indies, where rubber -vital to American industry-is grown and shipped to us.

The moment Japan makes a step to occupy the East Indies, the Britich will resist and the chances are 10 to 1 that the American Navy will co-operate in the defense of our overseas commerce.

Any war in the Far East will turned back several decades in mean the release of a mighty bomb- Japan. This is expressed not by ing force from Manila, which is not way of implying any lack of bravery Dead, he again was Ho-To-Moie and far from Tokio. It also will mean or ability on the part of the Japan- was buried with full tribal honors. the sending of direct shipments to ese, but the resources of the Japan-Chinese ports and the beginning of ese islands cannot support a long s mighty effort to aid China in her war and it would be the biggest tragresistance to Japan.

What is more, war between Japan and the United States would mean with each other. Because such a that Germany could be of little contingency seems incredible, the help to the Japanese. Why, then, should sensible Japanese play Hit- over again this month as it has in ler's game and allow their govern- the past. ment to be made a tool of Berlin? The answer is that sensible Japanese do not agree with the Berlin-Tokio-Rome Axis treaty, and wish it never had been made a part of Japan's policy.

Aided in Previous Wars.

Japan has come a great distance since the days when Commodore Perry entered her ports and began the era of world trade. But Japan has had in all her major wars the active financial or naval support of either Britain or the United States. Without American money, Japan would not have defeated Russia in the early part of the present century. Without the aid of the British fleet, Japan would have been wiped out as a world power had the Tokio government cast its lot in 1914 on the side of Berlin.

The Japanese people and the American people do not hate each other. They have always been friendly. Today, however, Tokio is not an independent government with a free hand. The Japanese government is what the military men make it. They have a power of veto and it is the military in Japan who have prevented the liberal elements in Tokio from working out a compromise policy that would appeal to the United States.

Collapse of the negotiations is due to the fact that the United States Government has been unable to get the necessary assurances that Tokio would refrain from giving aid to Hitler. That is the acid test for the United States. Whoever is on Hitler's side cannot be on America's side. Most of the Japanese officials know this and many of them have been prepared to let the Axis treaty become a dead letter. But Nazi influence in Tokio is considerable and every time the Nazis make some military advance they exert pressure on the Japanese government to do something to embarrass America. The Nazis have everything to gain and nothing to lose by such tactics.

Setback Probable. It is important, however, for the American people to understand and be sympathetic with the plight of those Japanese in high office who sincerely want to keep Japan out of any war with the United States. Germany has never been as good a friend of Japan in Far Eastern matters as has Britain or America. From a truly selfish Japanese viewpoint, the trend requires that America. Britain and Japan remain on the same side. For, if American-British naval power is forced by Hitler to enter into hostilities with Japan, the

Stalin Faces Hard Task

What Hitler Will Do, If and When Moscow Falls, Draws Speculation

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT, Stalin's Russian government today appears to be making certain that when, or if, Hitler enters Moscow, he will find little more than the flames which mocked Napoleon.

The Red armies, at the least, will fight a staunch and possibly prolonged rear guard battle in the narrowing Moscow defense perimeter while officials and the diplomatic corps move 450 miles eastward to the Tartar city of Kazan. That Moscow may fall before many days must be considered and one may ask: What

It has been pretty broadly hinted that Hitler, after Moscow, will pursue what the Axis press calls a "moral" or "political" advance, that is, he will try to bring about at least a tacit armistice with Russia's fighting forces and will make another peace offer to England. That implies a pause in his military operations eastward. But if the Russians succeed in organizing and supplying a real offensive-defense beyond Moscow and in the south, and if Hitler finds nobody who can or will talk truce, the pause won't last long.

Tough Problem for Stalin.

Admittedly Stalin's problems of defense, after Moscow, are staggering in both the military and economic spheres. He must prepare to defend the 2,000-mile line of the Volga and Don, involving a vast eastward movement of untried troops and a successful withdrawal of a considerable force from the Moscow defenses. His rearward industrial plants must carry a double or triple load.

Above all the Red army in the south must stand firm on the Don line, pivoted on the Volga around Stalingrad, and defend the Caucasus and Astrakhan to the last in order to keep open the Persian supply route for British and American goods of war. Russia's only other practical inlet for cutside nateriel is Far Eastern Vladivostok. The hard lessons learned by the British in Flanders, published today in the dispatches of Gen. Gort, who was commander in chief of the B. E. F., apply now to the Russians as well as to their British allies.

Gen. Gort's Report Quoted. Even with its huge reserve of manpower, Stalin's high command may well ponder such conclusions as: "The pace (of modern war) has been so accelerated by the partnership between offensive aircraft and modern mechanized forces that the reserves available for the defense are of little use unless they are fully mobile or already in occupation of some reserve position."

Or, in the preparation of the new defenses: "The speed at which armored units can advance, once they have broken into a position, calls for a more elastic conception of defense than would be necessary were it designed solely to hold up a marching enemy. Consequently, frontages may, in the future, be considerably shorter * * *" Or still another lesson: " . Troops must be trained to stalk tanks by day, to keep track of their movements and to attack them in their harbors at night." Lack of B. E. F. Explained. There is good evidence that the Russians have known at least part of these answers for some time. As for the British, they are reminding themselves of still another Gort lesson: " . . The vital necessity for an expeditionary force, if it is to be used in a first-class war, being equipped on a scale commensurate with the task it is to be called on to ful-

Shooting War Between United States and Japan May Start Before Conflict in Atlantic

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

A shooting war between the United States and Japan may start in the North Pacific even before a conflict with the Germans starts in the Atlantic. This was the opinion of high officials in Washington yesterday when news of the resignation of the Japanese cabinet reached here while at the same time bad news from Russia was pouring into the White House.

The Russian lines have cracked, latest dispatches indicate. And only perfunctory resistance to the Nazis is being made. The Russian spirit is unflagging, but their supplies are almost exhausted and the 25 months of the European war have conclusively proven that bravery alone, unsupported by tanks and airplanes. can do nothing against mass attacks of panzer divisions and Stukas.

But in the meantime, Siberia is likely to become front page news within the next few weeks. Confidential reports from Tokio indicate that the change in the cabinet was due to pressure from Berlin plus agitation by the military clique.

Thorn in Japan's Side. There is no indication for the time being that the new jingoistic regime which will replace the present "moderate" administration of Prince Fumimaro Konoye will attempt anything in the South or openly adopt an aggressive attitude toward the United States. The Japanese are reported to have made up their minds to attack Siberia and settle their score with the Russians once and for all. Siberia with its excellent and well-armed professional army has been a thorn in the side of Japan for many years. If Tokio has refrained from attacking that region so far and establishing its domination over the free port of Vladivostok and the huge area as far as Lake Baikal, it was because the general staff feared defeat. Hard-pressed by the Germans, the Russian high command has withdrawn some of the Siberian Army's best units to throw them into the battle on the western front. At first only one or two divisions were removed. But as losses mounted and trained troops were required to fill the gaps inflicted by the Germans, no less than 200,000 men, according to available reports, were transferred from Siberia to Russia proper. Thus, the army which at one time boasted a strength of nearly 600,000 men is today by one-third. Moreover, a vast proportion of the mechanized units which made that army homogenous have been rushed to the battle front. Of some 1,200 airplanes which mounted guard on the Pacific borders of Russia, only about 500 are reported left. There are but few arms factories in Siberia. The army had to rely exclusively on replacements from the Russian arsenals in the west. And since August. all traffic between European Russia and Siberia has been going westward. The high command had to draw on reserves in Siberia rather than replenish them.

Army Ready to Move.

Thus today, the Siberian army, which at one time kept the Japanese at a respectful distance, is much weakened. Moreover, the Japanese no longer fear the striking power of the Russian aviation. They figure that at the outset of the campaign they may expect a few air raids from the Russian bases near Vladivostok. At the bidding of the numerous German agents in Japan, the Emperor's army is reported to be ready to move on Siberia. The Kwantung army-the toughest force on the Asiatic mainland—is reported ready to strike. Japanese agents in Siberia are trying to undermine Soviet morale. And defeat of the Russians in the west would certainly affect the armies defending the eastern outposts.

The Russians, of course, hope that war material promised by the United States will continue to be sent to Siberia. President Roosevelt, in his declaration that this country would support any armies opposing Hitler, made no restrictions regarding Siberia. Consequently, the war material we are gathering now to be sent to Russia could remain in Siberia.

Kept Hands Off Tankers. While the Konoye cabinet was dickering with the United States for peaceful settlement of the Pacific problem, the Japanese Navy did not interfere with the few oil and gasoline shipments which were sent to Russia. They were allowed free passage as Japanese destroyers watched from a distance. But now when the Japanese have reportedly made up their minds to pick at the Russian carcass, it is questionable whether they will remain similarly indifferent to American transports bound for Siberia.

Heretofore, Japan maintained a non-belligerent attitude toward the Russo-German conflict. Unlike Italy and the other Nazi allies. Japan staved out of the struggle against the U.S.S.R. But in the event of Japanese aggression against Siberia, there is no doubt that the Tokio leaders would order their navy to stop all sun. intercourse between that nrovince and the outside world. They are reported to have taken this attitude, particularly because they know that the bulk of the American Pacific fleet is so concentrated that it could reach the South Pacific in a short time.

McLemore-Turtles Are Kings Of Turf for a Day

By HENRY McLEMORE. CHATTANOOGA.—If right out of clear sky you were appointed presiding steward of a turtle derby, what would you do?

erly and honest-Henry McLemore. ly conducted? That is exactly the situation in which I found myself. The Lions Club of this city staged a turtle derby to raise funds for its sight conservation program for the underprivileged. From all over the country the Lions brought in the fastest, best-bred racing turtles. From the famed blue grass farms of old Kentucky came turtles whose blood lines go back to that mighty runner, Man O' Peace, the turtle who licked the hare in the never-to--be-forgotten race. From Maryland, from California, from Florida-from everywhere-came thoroughbred turtles ready to match their stamina and speed * * * * Chattanooga was pretty excited about the derby. It is remindful of Louisville before the Kentucky Derby or Baltimore before the Preakness. The streets and hotels were packed with lovers of what someone once so aptly described as "the sport of queens." Tips on "good things" and sure winners" and "sleepers" were thick. Touts drew you aside to give you "inside information." straight from the stables. The derby was run in the city auditorium over the historic old turtle course. Everyone of the 6,000odd seats were sold days before, and at the last minute there were reports that scalpers were asking and getting as high as 50 cents for a pair of pasteboards on the finish lines. I visited the track for the final workouts of the turtles. Picturesque characters in turtleneck sweaters, and speaking a language all their own, galloped the turtles on the track. Clockers, using sun dials and calendars, timed the thoroughbreds as they broke from the top of the stretch and inched along toward the judges' stand, their chestnut, bay and dapple gray shells glinting in the first shafts of the morning ful than that of a racing turtle in full stride. I have seen Seabiscuit take the lead at the turn for home. I have seen Whirlaway come charging from behind and I have seen Man o' War running through the pastures, but none of them was as eye-filling, as heartwarming as a thoroughbred turtle going all out. * * * *

The thoroughbred turtle in full stride has the rhythm of a grandfather's clock, the grace of a running hen. His patrician neck is arched forward. His deep understanding eyes are completely opened. He carries his streamlined shell as lightly as if it were a mere feather of a bank safe, and his feet pound at the incredible pace of two or three times an hour.

I didn't tell the Lions Club, but I had no idea of the duties of a presiding steward at a turtle derby. Was I supposed to take the turtles aside and give them a heart-toheart talk on the importance of running a true and honest race and outline to them the penalties that go with rough riding and other illegal tactics? If so, how was I to address them-open my remarks with a stern "No, men," or use a simpler and more familiar form of address such as "Turtles, old boys, the eyes of a Nation are upon

There are other details I was not guite sure about at the time Do turtles racing a derby earry any special weight? Are the rules like those of the Kentucky Derby, where the colts carry 126 pounds and the fillies a few pounds less? If they are, just how do you tell colt turtles from filly turtles? Is there any age limit on turtles in a derby? Must they be 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 years old? If so, how do you determine a turtle's age? Of course, I could saw off their legs and count the rings, but there is always a chance that such a measure would cripple them in later life.

And what does the presiding steward cry when the races begin? Perhaps, after all, this was right: "They are off and not running at Chattanooga." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Harold F. McCormick, Son of Inventor, Dies In California Home

Former Harvester Co. Head Was Art Patron; Wed Three Times

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 17. -Harold Fowler McCormick, son of Cyrus Hall McCormick, inventor of the reaper, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 69

Death followed an illness that caused him to be bed-ridden much of the time in recent years. He suffered from arthritis and recurring heart attacks and had to use a wheel chair and be assisted by a nurse.

At his bedside was Adah Wilson McCormick, 37, the nurse he married in 1938, and his son, Fowler McCormick, president of the International Harvester Co.

Miss Wilson was Mr. McCormick's third wife. His first was Edith Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller. This marriage united two of the Nation's wealthiest families. Mme. Ganna Walska, Polish singer, was Mr. McCormick's second wife but she spent most of her time in Paris, apart from him, and they were divorced in 1931 Romance With Opera Star.

Mr. McCormick became interested in Mme. Walska in 1920 at Havana. She was appearing in "Thais" in an enterprise backed by her husband, Alexander Cochran of Yonkers, N. erful army Britain has ever assemhissed her and critics ridiculed her western desert for defense of Egypt voice, Mr. McCormick was convinced and for whatever offensive action her to Chicago for an appearance Libya may be decided on by the in the Civic Opera, which he had British.

Lord Gort told in solemn military detail of the arrival of the B. E. F. in France and its evacuation, even though the French failed to provide transport for them.

"So ended a campaign of 22 days which has proved that the offensive once more gained ascendancy in modern war when undertaken with an army equipped with greatly superior material power in the shape of air forces and armored fighting vehicles," Lord Gort wrote.

Lost All of Artillery.

"The series of situations which the B. E. F. had to face was not brought about by failure on their part to withstand enemy attacks when holding a position of their own choosing; it was caused by the enemy breaking through completely on a front many miles away from that held by the B. E. F. Nevertheless this breakthrough, once it began, was destined to involve in its ill-fated consequences both the French 1st Army and the B. E. F. In the withdrawal which ensued, both these armies lost the whole of their artillery and transport. . . .

Men's Teams Begin Bridge Championship Quest This Afternoon

Women's Contest Is Led By Mrs. Robinson And Mrs. Rutherford

The men of the Washington Bridge League have their innings this afternoon in the 11th annual tournament at the Shoreham Hotel. Departing from its usual custom the League arranged a special event exclusively for them. Its popularity was attested by the fact that 24 pairs are entered.

In another part of the ballroom the women are playing the second session of their own championship pair match.

In the first session of the women's game yesterday there were 82 in competition for the President's Cup and the contest was a spirited one with 28 boards in play. Mrs. N. T. N. Robinson of Washington and Mrs. Allan Rutherford of Baltimore led with 239 points. Second were Mrs. C. W. Boyce and Mrs. W. S. Athey with 226. Mrs. L. L. Gibson and Mrs. Harold Young were third with 221, Mrs. Mary Plum and Miss Thelma Goodstein fourth with 217 and Mrs. James H. Lemon and Mrs. W. B. Van Devanter fifth with 212 Less than one board separated the first and second pairs, but then the totals ran down as low as 111 points. Last Year's Winners Falter.

Last year's winners, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Eberson, only reached 11th place in the first round. Entered in the championship match were Mrs. Eberson and Mrs. May Be Commanded Campbell, Mrs. A. J. made on a small slam bid, and this was top on the board. The cards were distributed as

East Was Dealer.

East was dealer and all hands passed up to North who opened the auction with two hearts and received a response in most instances of two spades. In the case where a grand slam was made, Mrs. N. A. Olmstead in the North, playing with Mrs. Henry Fischer, reached a small slam contract in hearts. Players who examined the board after play said it was impossible to win all 13 tricks, since there were five trumps adversely held including the queen and two in one hand and the jack and one in another. After much argument and debate, they finally concluded that seven could be made only if East opened a heart. That was exactly what happened. Such a lead was said to be unusual, but one that is made by some players when the leader's hand is a total "bust." Sometimes it succeeds in defeating a slam by helping to prevent declarer from trumping in dummy Usually, however, it is disastrous, as it was in this case.

Last night saw the opening of the mixed pair championship in which there were 96 pairs. All will play in a second session tonight.

Capital Store Sales 17 Per Cent Above September 1940

Nine Months' Volume 22 Per Cent Ahead Of Year Ago

By EDWARD C. STONE.

Retail sales in seven Washington department stores in September disclosed a gain of 17 per cent over September a year ago and cumulative sales for the calendar year through September showed a substantial advance of 22 per cent over the first nine months of 1940, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported today. The September rise compared with an increase of only 9 per cent last year over the same month in 1939.

Climb 20 Millions During Week

Declines in Treasury Deposits and Cash Reported by Board

By the Associated Press.

The Federal Reserve Board estimated that lendable excess reserves Am Export (1g) ... of banks increased $20,000,000 to a Am Gas&E 1 60a total of $5,230,000,000 in the week Am General 15g. ended October 15.

The board's statement said:

"During the week ended October 15 member bank reserve balances increased $31,000,000. Additions to member bank reserves arose from decreases of $45,000,000 in Treasury deposits with Federal Reserve Banks and $19,000,000 in Treasury cash and increases of $48,000,000 in Reserve Bank credit, $6,000,000 in gold stock and $4,000,000 in Treasury currency, offset in part by increases of $46,-000,000 in money in circulation and $44,000,000 in non-member deposits | Baidwin Lo war and other Federal Reserve accounts. Excess reserves of member banks on | Beaunit Mills October 15 were estimated to be approximately $5.230,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 for the week."

Gold Imports Jump. The Commerce Department said today September gold imports to- Bliss (EW) (1g)taled $65,706.561, or nearly double the August figure. The gain was due partly to the receipt of $5,652,000 from Russia, but mostly to increased shipments BN&EPpf 160 from Canada and other British Empire countries. The Russian gold was part pay-to the Treasury on a $10,-000,000 cash advance to be used in paying for war materials. The Treasury advance was made on the Carib Syndicate .. condition that gold would be shipped | Carrier Corp in repayment. Canada sent $42,563,000 worth of the metal, South Africa, $3.543.000 and Australia, $2,064,000. In addition, various South American countries, including Colombia, Chile and Peru, sent $6,148,000 and the Philippine Islands, $3,107,000.

Foreign gold deposts under earmark in the Federal Reserve banks increased $46,786,238 to a total of $2,022,502,023

Defense Seeks To Bar Catoe's Story to Police

Accused Slayer May Tell Court Officers Beat Him

Jarvis R. Catoe's lawyers today began their fight to keep from a District Court jury the defendant's alleged confession of the murder and criminal attack of Mrs. Rose Abramowitz on March 8, for which he is on trial for his life.

The jury was sent from the courtroom while defense and Government attorneys debated before Justice James W. Morris the admisssibility of evidence of statements made by Catoe to police following his arrest August 28. On this point, apparently, hinged the entire prosecution effort-for the alleged confession represents, so far as is known, the only convincing evidence against Catoe.

Catoe May Testify Today. It was indicated Catoe would take this stand this afternoon, before the jury returns to the courtroom, to allege he was beaten and mistreated by police.

The fight over the statements be-Wise took the witness stand for the Detective Quizzed.

M. Curran asked Sergt. Wise whether the defendant had made any statements to him and Defense Counsel Walter M. Shea objected. When the jury had been sent from the room, Mr. Curran continued his questioning of Sergt. Wise.

Were any threats made against the defendant?" he asked. "There were not," the witness re-

"Were any promises made that leniency would be shown if he came

"There were not "Was there any violence upon the defendant?"

"Positively not." Mr. Shea then began cross-examination, developing the fact that Sergt. Wise and Detective Sergt. Aubrey Tolson began questioning Catoe about 10:30 a.m. on the day he was arrested here on information furnished by New York detectives, who sought him in the slaving of a waitress in that city. Sergt. Wise said the preliminary questioning was not extensive and that the homicide squad detectives had chipped in to buy Catoe something

Catoe's Story Volunteered. About 1 p.m., the prisoner was returned to the 12th precinct, and Sergt. Wise said he did not see him again until 7:30 p.m. About 11 p.m., Sergt. Wise testified, Catoe began to talk of the attack slayings which he allegedly confessed. "There was only one question asked, and then he gave all the rest of it," the detective said.

During Justice Morris' inquiry into the circumstances under which the alleged confessions were obtained. the hearing branched off for the first time into some of the other attack slayings which police say Catoe admitted. Andrew M. O'Con- of the condition of the body. nor, New York City detective, was on the witness stand for an hour describing Catoe's purported admissions to the murder of Evelyn Andersen, Bronx waitress.

Mr. O'Connor recounted Catoe's story of how he had stopped Mrs. Andersen on a New York street to ask directions, had offered her a ride and had strangled and attacked her when she resisted his advances. Mr. O'Connor said that Catoe stuffed the body in the back of his car, went home to get something Catoe said he disposed of the body, leaving it on a vacant lot.

Denies Violence Used. At no time were any threats em-him. Then Mr. Shea turned to the witness and asked: "Is it not a fact that you, yourself, struck the defendant?"

"Absolutely not," replied the wit-"I'll swear to it," Catoe said in a

Mr. Abramowitz, calm and selfpossessed, spent more than 2 hours on the witness stand yesterday. He told of his marriage to the red-haired girl from Kansas City-"the only girl I ever thought about." He told how he had left her on the morning of March 8 in the best of spirits.

Planned to Celebrate. That night they planned to celebrate their first month of marriage and had been expecting another couple to come by their apartment to pick them up. Mrs. Abramowitz was "ashamed" of the appearance of the floors, which needed waxing,

Police say that Catoe told them that he went into the Abramowitz to the street entrance of the apartment and asked him to wax the floors. When he got into the place, according to the alleged statement, he attacked her and choked her

Windsor Lauds Setup at C. C. C. Camps Here

Interceptors Take Off

100 'Enemy' Bombers Repelled in Tests of Air Raid Warnings

After battling off almost 100 "enemy" bombers in a dozen raids on Bolling Field yesterday, 50 interceptors of the 40th and 41st Pursuit Squadrons took off for bases in the Southeast this morning at conclusion of operations to test air raid warning systems along the Atlantic seaboard from Boston to North

All day yesterday, from shortly after 8 o'clock until the "alert" period ended at 6 o'clock last night, the swift little Airacobras swarmed up from Bolling and Aberdeen Proving Grounds to maneuver for attack positions on medium bombers being sent over the Capital from Langley Field and New York.

Aided by Spotter Posts. The raiders came from unstated tective insisted. Rent Control Bill Agreed On In Principle

Randolph Expects Measure Will Be Approved Monday

The House District Committee, meeting in executive session today, agreed on the general principles of an emergency rent control measure for Washington, but differed on certain particulars and deferred action until 10 a.m. Monday.

A tentative bill placed before the committee, and understood to have its general approval, gives a proposed rent administrator wide discretion in raising or lowering rents. Chairman Randolph said after the closed session: "I have no doubt the committee will report out a rent

Five Points at Issue. Mr. Randolph added that although the tentative draft, representing a compromise of several suggested plans, was acceptable in principle to those present, five points remained at issue." These were:

1. Whether the administrator of rent control should be appointed by the President or by the District Commissioners. 2. The date to be used as the basis for fixing a general ceiling on rents. Real estate interests wanted

Montgomery Government Assailed

Obsolete as 1906 Auto, Rockville Meeting Is Told

The operation of the present Montgomery County government is as far behind the times as the mechanism of a 1906 automobile, Frederic P. Lee of Bethesda last night told more than 120 persons at the Rockville High School.

The meeting was the first in a series to be held every Thursday night in Rockville under the sponsorship of a county-wide study group organized to consider the Brookings Institution report on the county government.

Frequent applause greeted Mr Lee's criticism of various county agencies, particularly when he referred to the concentration of legislative and administrative power in the hands of the county commissioners as "a potential source of dictatorship to be feared much more than that which the commissioners say they find in the proposed establishment of a county administrator, as recommended in the Brookings report.'

Span Approach System Studied By Planners

4 Projects in D. C. To Cost $5,000,000 To Be Considered

The National Capital Park and Planning Commission today was to devote further study to the multimillion-dollar bridge approach improvement projects made necessary by erection of the new War Department Building in Arlington

The commission was to consider four major improvements, estimated to cost about $5,000,000, held necessary on the District side of the Potomac if traffic is to flow freely across Highway, Memorial and Key bridges when the 20,000 employe are put to work in the new Army building early in 1943.

One of the four projects, extension of Independence avenue from Fourteenth street to the Lincoln Memorial plaza, was to receive particular attention, with Secretary of the Interior Ickes participating in the discussions. Since the project involves cutting a road through park property, Mr. Ickes was asked to attend the meeting.

Yesterday the commission was presented with a new phase of another District project, involving widening of Twenty-third street from the Lincoln plaza to Washington Circle. This was a scheme to provide a curving tunnel beneath the memorial itself so that Memorial Bridge traffic could proceed up or down Twenty-third street without entering the plaza.

Tunnel Would Raise Costs. There appeared small likelihood of the tunnel scheme being incorporated in the Twenty-third street project, however, since it was estimated by commission members that it would add approximately $1,000,-000 to the cost. Unable to finance the projects if they are to be completed in time to serve the War Department Building, the District is

Party of Secretary of War And Mrs. Stimson Honors Leaders of Army Set

Gaiety Is Keynote of Reception At Woodley; House Guests Assist Hostess in Entertaining

By MONA DUGAS.

High-ranking officers of the Army and of the War Department wended their way Woodley-ward yesterday afternoon for the reception held by the Secretary of War and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson. Service people always give the impression they are attending a party for pleasure and not because of "protocol," or good policy, and gaiety was the keynote of yesterday's gathering, even though the host had arrived from the President's "war conference" only a moment before.

Mrs. Stimson received alone most of the time, the Secretary standing with her occasionally, but spending most of the time wandering through the rooms to see that all the callers were properly greeted and cared for.

Royal Blue Tea Gown.

The hostess wore a royal blue tea gown, heavily embroidered with gold, and her bag and slippers also were of gold color. Her niece and house guest, Mrs. David L. Daggett, and Mrs. Daggett's debutante daughter, Miss Frances Daggett, acted as general assistant during the party. Mrs. Daggett wore a tea gown of pale green, with bands of silver on the long sleeves. Her daughter, who confessed that the military ball of the night before had "simply thrilled" her, wore a rose-red taffeta gown with fitted black velvet bodice and a bouffant skirt.

Mrs. Stimson had asked a number of Army wives to assist at the tea and coffee urns and among those seen taking their turns at the tea table was Mrs. Robert P. Patterson, wife .

Before her recent marriage

By the Way—

If you prefer small dinners (and don't we all, really?) you would have loved the dinner we went to last night at the Massachusetts avenue house of the First Secretary of the British Embassy and Mrs. Hoyer Millar. The house itself is charming, done with great taste and restrains in pale gold and beige and cream color. Even the hostess wore cream color . . . a lovely and very becoming tailored dinner gown of crepe with clips and earrings of ruby red. Dinner was delicious, and for guests there were British Commander and Mrs. Coleridge (she just over from London to join her husband who already had found a small house and garden for the family and was completely settled when his pretty wife arrived). Lt. and Mrs. Harry Morgan (he's a son of Pierpont Morgan), who have a house on Woodland drive and told us gaily that they had to find one big enough for nine children, four of their own and five refugees. ("I kept wondering if we couldn't rent one that the Kennedys used to have," commented Mrs. Morgan, "but it seems they always took two!") Also at dinner there was Capt, the Honorable Bartholomew Bouverie, who is staying with the Hoyer Millars, and the Jack Newbolds and Spottswood White

Derek Hoyer Millar leaves very soon now for England, he'll fly back and probably will be gone a few months. Meanwhile, the lovely Mrs. Hoyer Millar will go South with her family. She'll love that, she says, but hates frightfully not to be going back to England with her husband ...

Once you get there it's really lovely, but for some reason Dexter street is always very hard for us to find. (A lot of other people were late, too.) When Mrs, Ives Lowe asked us there for cocktails yesterday, she said "Oh, you won't have any trouble finding it because it's just next door to the Carusis" . . . Well, we couldn't find the Carusis, but finally we did, and then right next door we saw a house very brilliantly lighted and lots of cars outside so we knew it was Betty Lowe's party . . . Guest of honor was Mrs. Varner Stevens of Michigan, who has visited in Washington often and has many friends here. She came with Bradley Nash, who is now with the O. P. M. to the delight of his friends. Then there was Lothron Stoddard and Beta's father, Mr. Ives, and Mrs. McCeney Werlich, dressed in evening cloines because she was going on to Mrs. Lionel Atwill's dinner (the weekly one that is a sort of roundtable broadcast on the radio) and it started very early. Mrs. Robert Walsh was there, too, and the Harry Villards and one or two others.

The beautiful and efficient ladies of Capital society who are working hard for various branches of war relief fortunately have sense of humor enough to take a lot in their stride. For instance, Mrs. George Garrett, who is as capable as she is pretty, has had some very amusing experiences anent her circus which opens a fourday run October 28 for the benefit of "Bundles for Britain." (Remember, it was Mrs. Garrett who was chairman of the successful pole game for "Bundles for Britain" last fall?) . . . Ethel says she decided that every one thinks she personally is going to put on the circus. One woman telephoned her and said she'd like to help. Ethel, thinking she wanted to be on the committee, said "Well, that's very kind. What can you do especially well?" "Oh!" replied the lady, "I can't do anything myself, but I have eight daughters who do a wonderful tumbling act!"

Mrs. Garrett has asked us to say that the circus performers are all professional. As a matter of fact, the acts will be some of the top performers in the country. There will be afternoon performances starting at 3:30 (so the little ones won't miss school) and evening performances for the grownups, with a gala opening, for which most of the boxes have already been sold. In case you don't want a box you can reserve a "block" of seats-give a dinner beforehand and let your guests help the worthy cause by buying their own tickets. Lots of dinners have been planned beforehand. Mrs. Garrett will give one the opening night and so will Mrs. William Streett in honor of Phoebe Spillman, daughter of Mrs. Harry Pool of Warrenton; Betty van der Straten-Ponthoz, daughter of the Belgian Ambassador and Countess van der Straten-Ponthoz; Mrs. Curtis Munson, who will entertain for her two young stepdaughters, and Mrs.

Goodlooking Sue Rosenberg's pet story of her successful collection for "overcoats for Britain" has to do with her asking some elderly gentlemen for overcoats, when they promptly ransacked the attic of their very elegant and exclusive men's club and sent her a box full of gav-nine w bathing suits! It's really a useful contribution. They are warm, they reach almost down to the ankle, and they're all wool and almost a yard ride. Sue's organization will sponsor the new and very smart restauran that will open here next month and for which Mrs. George Howe is going "all out." What few people here know is that the vivacious Mrs. Howe is an excellent cook herself and once had a very snappy little restaurant of her own in Bristol, called the "Gang-plank." Get her to tell you some time about the dinner she was preparing for her friend, the then Spanish Ambassador, Senor Riano, when she realized there wasn't any lemon juice or vinegar for the French dressing for the mixed green salad. So she substituted Scotch whisky and to this day the very critical and distinguished guests at that party smack their lips at the mention of Bussy Howe's French dressing.

Vice President Of Peru En Route To Washington

Washington will entertain another distinguished visitor before the end of the month when the Vice President of Peru, Senor Rafael Larco Herrera, will be here for four days. The Vice President arrived in San Francisco today and will start East Sunday, stopping in Chicago, Detroit, Montreal and Rochester. Minn., before reaching New York

October 24 for several days' stay. The Vice President will be entertained extensively while here. although his visit is unofficial. He will, of course, visit the Houses of Congress, with probably luncheon at the Capitol, and will be given a party at the Embassy.

Polish Diplomat Guest of Czechs

The Attache of the Czecho-Slovak Legation and Mme. Palic entertained at dinner last evening at their home on Rodman street for Miss Natalia Aszkenazy, who leaves Washington soon to take up her duties as second secretary of the Polish Embassy in Russia. Other guests at the dinner included the Polish Military and Air Attache, Col. Włodzimierz Onacewicz; the Polish Assistant Military Attache and Mme. Dobrowolska, Miss Lilita Dawson, Mr. Wyndham White of the British Embassy and, from the Czech Legation, the first secretary and Mme. Cervenka.

Two Dinner Parties Given to Greet Recent Arrivals

Dinner parties last evening included two fetes for recent arrivals. Capt. John Harry King, jr., U. S. A., and Mrs. King having come from the Philippines were guests in whose honor the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William D. Tewkesbury entertained at the Chevy Chase Club. Another such festivity was the din-

Cappel Concert Guild Series Is Launched Auspiciously

Excellent Music Presented in Friendly Atmosphere; Gala Program Closes Good Neighbor Broadcasts

By ALICE EVERSMAN.

A new concert course was inaugurated auspiciously last night at Constitution Hall when the first program of the Cappel Concert Guild presented two distinguished artists, Emanuel Feuermann, cellist, and Reginald Stewart, pianist, in joint recital. Mr. Cappel, manager of the series, welcomed his public in a cordial short address in which he stressed his desire to create a friendly atmosphere at these concerts, even urging newcomers to the city to speak with $

The calm line of the early classics was given with wealth of nuances representative of an exceptionally sensitive musical nature. But it was in the Bach works that he excelled. infusing them with minute shadings and in technical passages, with extraordinary fluidity and a rippling brightness. His success was great and immediate, calling for an encore for which he played Bach's famous "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desir-

Master of a bow that does his will with complete disregard of difficulties, carrying a bite and a spring of unusual quality, he played with an abandon and fire that struck deep to the roots of the music without any perception of technical pitfalls. Good Neighbor Series Closes.

At the Pan-American Union, the 'Good Neighbor" broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co., was concluded with a gala program in the Hall of the Americas before a distinguished audience. The N. B. C. Symphony Orchestra directed by Dr. Frank Black was brought from New York and soloists of this final program were Emma Otero, Cuban soprano, and Albert Spalding,

An elevated stage, constructed for the occasion, gave the audience a better view of the musicians and added so much to the appreciation of the performance that it is to be hoped the new arrangement will become a permanent one for further concerts. The lack of a proper stage has long been a drawback for the interesting programs the union has provided. Yesterday's inovation not only gave the proper professional touch but added a dignified setting for both orchestra and

The program was excellently chosen and excellently played by the famous orchestra which Dr. Black directed with spirit and authority. The volume of sound was perhaps a little too great for the character of the hall, but the fine details of interpretation were clearly marked and well balanced.

Chosen as representative works from different countries in the union for this part of the program were "Jubilee," from Chadwick's "Symphonic Sketches"; Alberto Williams' "Poeme des Cloches," Oscar Lorenzo Fernandez's "Batuque." dance from the opera "Malazarte' and Lecuona's "Malaguena." Mr. Spalding's numbers consisted of the Andante and Rondo from Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole" and Bach's "Air for the G String." The and gave a superb performance of the Lalo work, where both the beauty of his tone-given ample play in the Bach "Air"-and his masterly technique could be appreciated. The pearl-like coloratura of Miss Otero's voice had brilliant display in the aria "Gentile de cupre"

Radio News Service Witness Tells F. C. C. Of Early Hostility

Transradio's President Says Recognition and Equality Fight Won

By CARTER BROOKE JONES. Transradio Press Service's gradual transition from a stepchild of news services, with avenues of information closed in its face, to recognition and equality as a news-gathering agency of the air was described yesterday afternoon to the Federal Communications Commission at hearings on the Federal board's inquiry into newspaper ownership of radio stations. This recital from the history of and radio was given by Herbert Moore, president of Transradio. Describing the early days of the organization, Mr. Moore said the press associations and newspapers tried to block it at every turn. Reuters, the British press association, was told, Mr. Moore said, that sell-Ing its service to Transradio would be regarded by American press services as "not a friendly act." Says Reporters Barred. Radio reporters were denied admittance to the press galleries of Congress and of the various State capitals and to other sources of this situation was changed, and Congress, by joint resolution, gave all radio newsmen the rights of oth-

Eventually, Mr. Moore pointed out, a suit charging conspiracy in restraint of trade and monopoly in an interstate commodity - news - was brought in the Federal Court for the Southern District of New York against various press associations. This was settled, he told the commission, in consideration for payment of $125,000 as indemnity and agreement to an "open door" policy thereafter, with Transradio accepted into full partnership in the newsgathering business.

Another witness, Joseph V. Connolly, head of International News Service, was questioned at length about some exclusive contracts which his organization gave newspapers, under which they were protected from sale of I. N. S. news to a competiting newspaper or radio station in the same territory.

Mr. Connolly said, however, that newspapers no longer insisted on exclusive contracts and did not object to having a radio news report from the same press association sold to a local independent radio station.

Tells of Radio Contracts.

Asked by Judge Thomas D.

Thatcher, counsel for the Newspaper-Radio Committee, if certain radio stations not connected with newspapers did not have exclusive contracts in their localities to receive an International News Service report, Mr. Connolly said there were Judge Thacher wanted to know whether the refusal of I. N. S., in pendent radio stations with a news report because client newspapers had objected had resulted in failure of these stations to obtain an adequate news service from some other source. "I know that it has not," said Mr.

He said competiting news services were eager to serve such stations

About one-third of the receipts of I. N. S. from the sale of news comes from radio stations, Mr. Connolly

Further hearings were recessed until 10 a.m. next Thursday.

Businessmen Urged By District Attorney To Accept Jury Duty

Federation Elects William J. Mileham As President

Edward M. Curran, United States district attorney, last night called upon the members of the Federation of Businessmen's Associations to "accept their responsibility to society by accepting their duty to serve on juries in the District." and pointed out that this was the best way they could help reduce the enormous cost of crime in country. The meeting, held at the Hay-Adams House and fea- Wm. J. Mileham. turing the speech of Mr. Curran also saw the election of William J. Mileham of the Central Businessmen's Association as president of the Federation

"Instructive" Experience.

Mr. Curran was introduced by Louis L. Bowdler of Northeast. The district attorney, stating that the yearly cost of crime was approximately $15,000,000,000, showed how the businessmen of any community by co-operating with the authorities could help reduce this sum. He referred to jury duty as "the most fascinating, instructive, emotional experience of a man's

Nature's Children White Oak

(Quercus alba)

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY. The oaks are our most important hardwood trees. In the United States we have some of the finest oak timber available, and because of the strength and beauty of the wood, as well as its fitness for so many purposes, it leads the group of hardwoods.

We have 60 species of native oaks which extend throughout the United States. Of this number some 20 species, all growing in the eastern half of our country, are classed as commercially important.

Lumbermen speak of "white oak" and "red oak" as the leading groups, IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE and the different species are usually united States for the District of Co-

There were trees 400 years old with a diameter of 6 feet, and a tree of 130 feet was not unusual The reason for the size and age of these trees is their persistence of growth and their resistance to many of the foes that attack other trees The white oak produces the finest of wood for all purposes where durability, strength, toughness and ability to remain in its place are needed And added to these qualities is the beauty of the grain

So our forefathers cut down many many white oaks. They built sturdy lasting homes, with girders of great strength to support the floors. They fashioned beautiful doors, floors, furniture of white oak. Today many of the homes still stand, the wood in excellent condition and as dependable for its purpose as ever. The wide-spreading branches of the white oak when it grows in open places make it a most attractive tree in winter and summer. The rosy pink leaves arrive early in May By the latter part of the month the fringed catkins of the male flowers appear, and the close-fitting clusters of the female flowers are ready to by the spring winds.

The acorns mature during the early autumn days, and this is why you do not see any fruit on the trees during the winter. The glossy brown nut is three-fourths of an inch long and is set in a neat little shallow saucer. The squirrels, birds and other nuteating animals are very fond of the sweet-flavored meat of this acorn. Squirrels are not as likely to forget where these acorns have been cached as they do some of the others. So white oaks do not get a chance to have so many younger trees coming

New Law to Be Tried In Effort to Cut Rate Of Syphilis in Army

May Act Enables Military Chiefs to Set Up Any Size Zones Barring Prostitutes

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE. The Star's Special News Service. More than 1,000,000 young men entered the new American Army in the last year free from syphilis. Today their rate in that disease is about the same as the rate of the Regular Army before the emergency-or about half the civilian

Officials declare that organized prostitution has moved in on the

Now the law is about to step in and give the Army and Navy a chance at an experiment expected to ge far toward proving whether this shadow of disease can be lifted.

The experiment is the May Act, signed by the President in July. It authorizes the Secretaries of War and Navy to set up camp zones forbidden to prostitutes. The penalties are applicable also to owners as well as operators of buildings, vehicles and places. Liability extends to corporations, partnerships and associa-

50 Miles Wide and Mobile. Health authorities are talking about making the zones 40 to 50 miles wide. Even more drastic, they are contemplating making the zones mobile, so that military authorities can change them at will. Mobile zones, they say, would be a form of blitz that could wreck the organized aspect of the business.

The act fires simultaneously all the barrels of opposition in religion. médicine and science. One section provides that chaplains instruct enlisted men on moral and religious grounds, that doctors inform the boys not only about infection, but also about their sex needs, and finally is specific that full information given about prophylactic meas-

Even without the May Act the Army had done something in the latter category. Military approval has been given to requests for priorities made by manufacturers of some prophylactic devices.

Two Schools of Thought. There are two schools of thought about these health measures. One holds that medical supervision of the women promises the best results. The other aims at destroying the organized commercial side of the business, although that side seems to be the only one where supervision is feasible. Opponents say supervision does not prevent infection enough to

A baby's hands are more sensibody. They teach him a great deal of the knowledge that he is so rapidly acquiring, for he is learning much more quickly than we realize. From his sense of touch he discovers what various objects feel like; their consistency, their surface texture and their weight. Through the skin senses of his tiny fingers he learns the meaning of many words such as cold, hot, rough, smooth, wet, dry and so on.

It is great help to the baby in learning to talk if his mother will describe objects that she gives him to play with by saying "dog, cat, spoon, hard, soft" and the like. It is a great mistake to allow a baby to play with the same toys day after day, as he not only tires of them and is thus more apt to seek other diversion and develop bad habits such as biting his nails, sucking his clothes and so on, but he is not broadening his knowledge of ordinary objects. The baby's ceaseless activity trains his senses and teaches him how to use his muscles in proper co-ordination, and the young explorer should be allowed to creep about the room at will so that he may find out what a chair leg is really all about, how a rug feels and a hundred and one other details in the room that excite his curiosity. Making Fireplace Opening Smaller With a Copper Hood May Stop Smoke

Possible to Combine Several Types of Furniture in Room If Planning Is Well Done

By Margaret Nowell

Dear Miss Nowell: We have rented an apartment which has a fireplace in the living room. We took the place mainly because of the fireplace, but now find that it smokes so badly we hardly can stay in the room. We tried it with paper before we moved in and thought it was all right, but the minute wood is put on, the smoke puffs out into the room. What could be the cause of this, and is there anything we can do about MRS. W. A. D. &-

Carol Bruce Makes Debut In Keith's Sea Drama

'This Woman Is Mine' Lacks Thrills Worthy of Its Cast and Director; 'Texas' Is M. of T. Subject

By JAY CARMODY.

A couple of seasons ago when she was a smoky-throated brunette in "Louisiana Purchase," there are those who would have challenged any one who said of Carol Bruce "This Woman Is Mine." Well, here in deformed old 1941, Universal speaks those words in the title of Miss Bruce's picture and the general reaction will be that it can have her. It is not that Miss Bruce is any less lovely to lock at or her voice any less suggestive of its old fascinating throb. Rather * it is that she looks sort of silly along with a lot of other normally good players in Frank Lloyd's "This Woman Is Mine."

It seems a sound judgment.

Franchot Tone and Walter Brennan are among the casualties of which Miss Bruce is the saddest because it is her first screen role. The others have taken it.

In its vague way, "This Woman Is Mine" has to do with the Astors when they were fur traders who also carried a little stock of gunpowder as an attractive, salable sideline. If you are wondering what Miss Bruce could conceivably find to do in the early Astor setup, the answer is that she was a stow-away on one of their ships. She is not a psychopathic stow-away who never could resist a boat. On the contrary, she is an innocent waif of a singer who is lured aboard under false pretenses by a handsome, unscrupulous Astor hired hand who except in Hollywood. pretends to be a tycoon.

Miss Bruce, whose way with a song made her the toast of Broadway last season, is employed only briefly in her specialty in her cinema debut performance. When everyone was worrying about England - most of the English were talking about a movie.

Because even danger can get monotonous, because even a besieged people can get stale and slack, England still makes movies. And they try to make movies that have to do, not with war, but with the real enjoyment of life as it can be, because that is exactly what all people - particularly besieged people - long for and fight for.

Such a picture has recently been finished, near London, after having been bombed out of the studio five times. Very quietly it has proceeded to steal the hearts of men and women all over England. Every afternoon and every night, they are forgetting the war, by the tens of thousands, as they sit and watch this film of things as they were before—and as they will be again in their lives.

The name of the picture is "Quiet Wedding." The star is Margaret Lockwood, whom Americans know as the star of "The Lady Vanishes." 'Night Train," and "Girl in the News." The director is Anthony Asquith, the man who directed "Pygmalion." And the picture itself; the story? It can be told in ten words. A girl becomes engaged, prepares to get married-and does.

That's all. But people walk out of the theatre realizing that they have laughed, they have cried and they have laughed again. Women, misty-eyed, men no less affected, feel they have had the all-too-infrequent pleasure of having been touched magically by emotions warm and human.

"Quiet Wedding," with all its realness, its laughter and its tears, comes to the Pix Theatre, 13th and H Street, N.W., tomorrow, Saturday, at noon.

Pursuit of a Lovely Spy Is A Melodramatic Affair

'International Lady' at Capitol *Is Crowded With Suspense: Stage Show Is Varied

By HARRY MacARTHUR.

Suspense in a motion picture may be something achieved quite accidentally, a matter of timing that just happens sometimes and doesn't happen at other times. Until it is proven so, however, you will have to give Director Tim Whelan a place alongside Alfred Hitchcock, Carol Reed and any other masters of the edge-of-the-seat brand of melodrama you can think of offhand, if you cen think of any. Mr. Whelan is a veteran film-maker, of course, but it is his .

The "International Lady" of the title is, as you might have guessed, a spy, a beautiful blond spy who quite probably could worm military secrets out of that statue of Andrew Jackson in Lafayette Park. She and her cohorts prove no match however for the representatives of the F.B.I and Scotland Yard, who co-operate with cheerful competition in the pursuit, from bomb-ridden London to a deserted granary on a New England moor. In the end justice apparently is about to be done and bombing planes on the way to Britain are safe from sabotage.

You will learn many secrets of both the trades discussed while these exciting affairs of "International Lady" are in progress. You will learn on the one hand that the F. B. I. and Scotland Yard are relentless and resourceful in the gathering of evidence and the pursuit of their quarry. You will learn on the other hand that espionage is complicated and far-reaching and that its practitioners are indeed clever enough to conceal their coded messages in innocent-sounding soprano arias by Sam Jack Kaufman and the sent winging over the short waves orchestra, with songs by Lynn Alli-

Army Camoufleurs Kept Busy as Autumn Changes Tree Colors

Fort Belvoir Unit Is Only One of Kind in Enlarged Army

By RICE YAHNER, Associated Press Staff Correspondent. CAMDEN, S. C., Oct. 17.-Camoufleurs, with paint spray guns, are in a tight race in the Carolina Army maneuvers, trying to keep apace with nature in approximating the color changes of fall.

Every few days they paint again the leaves of trees that have been killed by axmen making a place for the great 1st Army to train in the Carolina sandhills. Each time they have to change the color combination to make leaves, dead for a week or so, resemble living cover so that airplane observers can't judge the heights they must fly to escape ground fire.

The dead leaves have the textureall the Army specialists have to do is match the everchanging colors.

Fort Belvoir Unit. Such is the task of the 84th Engineers of Fort Belvoir, Va., the only camouflage battalion in the Army. One company distinguished itself during the Louisiana maneuvers by converting the mobile headquarters of Lt. Gen. Ben Lear of the 2d Army into a popstand so realistic that natives just naturally stepped up and demanded service.

The enemy of the camoufleurs is not bullets-it is the camera. The eye may be fooled by false cover, but unless it is an expert job, trained observers studying pictures of the deception can discover the falseness. After summer maneuvers in Louisiana, the camouflage battalion -25 per cent of the 450 men accomplished artists-must meet nature on a middle ground in the Carolinas. Here the fallen pine needles are the deep brown of fall, the pine trees are still a lush green, and the oaks and maples just beginning to show the tints of autumn.

With spray gun and intimate knowledge of color they accomplish the task, matching nature in her almost seasonal changes.

Three Soldiers Killed. Paradoxically, the camouflage battalion is the only outfit among the 300,000-odd troops in the Carolinas that is in the middle of a field with not a stick of natural cover nearby. But the Army assigned it to the area and the camoufleurs are too busy instructing other units in the art of concealment to disguise their own head-

Three soldiers of the 26th (Yankee) Division were killed last night when a truck was upset during blackout exercises near Albemarle.

The dead were Ralph J. Capuano. Frederick J. Ahern and James T. Fells, all from Massachusetts. Five others were injured, but not serious-Two of them are Donald Pearsall and Joseph Burnella, both from Lowell, Mass.

All the soldiers were members of Battery B, 102d Field Artillery.

School Space Called Major Randle Highlands Problem

School space is the most pressing problem of the North Randle area, Archie C. Edwards, president, told members of the North Randle Community Association Wednesday night. The great influx of families into the neighborhood has so taxed present facilities, P. J. Chroniger reported, that local parochial schools have been forced to turn down large numbers of students.

Under such conditions, members of the association were alarmed at a report that a school scheduled for completion April 1 had been sidetracked due to the defense program. A committee was appointed to investigate this matter, particularly as the contract has already been let and the money appro-

Mrs. C. D. Chroniger charged that lack of adequate police protection at school crossings was endangering school children. Sergt. Fletcher of No. 11 precinct explained to the group that such safety service to all schools was impossible, due to a lack of personnel.

Co-operation in the District's civilian defense program was pledged at the meeting

Nominations for officers to be elected at the next regular meeting were made as follows: Harry D. Wood, president; R. E. Copland, Mr. Chroniger, vice presidents; Mrs. Chroniger, treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Farren. corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jessie Henderson and Mrs. A. J. By the Associated Press.

OSKALOOSA, Iowa.-War in Europe has turned L. H. McCall's nerb hobby into a profitable business. Wild sage from Yugoslavia has been the principal source of the seasoning for turkey stuffing up to now. But the war has cut off all imports and its former price of a nickel a pound has skyrocketed to 75 cents. McCall estimates that his crop this year from 12,000 plants will total 1.500 pounds and gross $1.000.

Records Tossed Out as Colonials Face Hilltoppers With Do-or-Die Spirit

Win, Lose or Draw Feel This Their

By FRANCIS E. STAN.

The Nocturnal Party on Mr. Griffith's Lawn

Up to now Bill Reinhart hasn't been one of those characters who sets a big store by superstition, but if there's anything in the hexing powers of No. 13 the gentleman who coaches football in George Washington is willing to put in henceforth with the witches who ride brooms through the midnight sky and the spit-and-throw horseshoe pitchers. As you may have heard, George Washington plays Georgetown again tonight at Griffith Stadium. It is their thirteenth engagement and the

It readily could develop into the best college game of the season in Washington. Neither team is going to the Rose Bowl, but neither is without some ability. There isn't a great deal either can lose and there is plenty to be gained, particularly in the case of George Washington. After all, the Colonials have been trying to lick Georgetown since 1890. That's 51 years.

Now 51 years is a long, long time. Just about the time that George- "I dare ya's," Georgetown and town's mustachioed warriors were beating back Columbian College (that George Washington will drag out was G. W. in those days), some mystic people known as electricians were installing the new-fangled lighting system in the White House and the First Lady of the Land, a Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, was quite upset because the carpets were ripped up along with her social calendar. At the moment Mr. Roosevelt is worried about the Japs, but 51 years ago Mr. Harrison had an Indian problem. The Cheyennes were raising a rumpus along the Tongue River.

Reinhart's Been Plagued by Mr. Whiskers

And now that it has been established that 51 years is a long, long downtown sector and the thundertime, let's look into this game tonight. With no R. O. T. C. to throw a ous reply of nayes comes from the protective blanket over the Colonials and keep their football players out of the draft, Reinhart has suffered. Ever since Mr. Whiskers decided to year and the year before Georgeorgafnize a new Army the old Oregon quarterback and World War I veteran has asked a stock question every morning: "Who's carrying a gun today?" Mr. Reinhart would query, and to Chief Publicist Johnny Busick would fall the unhappy duty of reporting that Center Mike that. Monchlovich or End Frank August or some fullback or tailback had exchanged his Buff and Blue uniform for khaki.

Georgetown has won both games of the modern series-1939 and doesn't have the rippling rhythm in 1940-but the Hoyas had great teams those seasons. This year they lost its backfield, the paralyzing power 19 seniors, including every regular, and they are not quite great. George- in the line it boasted last year and town will be favored again tonight, but a G. W. victory wouldn't be ex- the year before. George Washingactly a stunning upset

It's been an uneven series to date. A dozen games have been played and Georgetown has won 11 times. Back in 1907 a scoreless tie was played, but every other year it was the Hoyas, scoring victorious from 6-0 in 1890 to 62-0 in 1904. Football statistics are no more entertaining than any other kind, but these are before us and we'll pass them along. THE year for G. W. and if it doesn't Georgetown has scored 285 points and G. W. only 19. In 12 meetings the Colonials have been shut out nine times

Georgetown Always Fears Oregon's Bill

That is what is bothering Reinhart as he prepares for tonight's testscoring. In their last two games the Colonials couldn't score against a couple of troublesome lads in Ben Manhattan and Washington and Lee, the latter also being unable to (Little Bull) Bulvin and Joe Gyorcount. How, then, can G. W. be expected to score on Georgetown? . gydeak to run the ball. Ben Reiges

Reinhart professes not to know the answer to this one, but over can pitch the pigskin as far, straight at the Hilltop this is not taken too seriously. From tackle to tackle, and handsome as anybody around Reinhart has a crack line. It's the kind of a line that won't permit itself to be shoved around. With a little inspired play from the ends. G. W. could make it tough for any team.

Reinhart has the deep and profound respect of Georgetown. This isn't strange. Twice he has sent his teams against the Hoyas-both times when Georgetown ranked as one of the best 10 teams in the land. The first year, 1939, produced a 7-0 score, Georgetown counting when shouldn't be judged too harshly on Al Matuza, a center, broke through a pre-arranged opening to block a its record of tying Washington and punt. To this day Colonial rooters swear that Matuza was four yards Lee after getting whipped by a offside. Last year the Georgetowns won, 8-0, chiefly because their safety surprising Manhattan outfit. The man happened to be Sprint Champion Jack Doolan. A long pass to Tim Grady, a fast-stepper himself, ostensibly had been completed for a game-winning touchdown when Doolan overtook him.

Georgetown's Always Been Town's No. 1

This fellow Reinhart may not be the greatest coach that ever spieled between the halves, but as far as Georgetown is concerned, he has been poison. When the Hoyas only won by 6-0 in 1890, football was something brand-new to G. W. and certainly in the rough stages at the Hilltop. But in the next game, staged in 1903, Georgetown won by 33-0 and thereafter, in successive years, it was 62-0, 12-0, 16-6 and 0-0. Fol- Colonials the best punting they've lowing this tie the Hoyas turned on the heat again, winning by 47-7, had since Vic Sampson romped in 28-0, 46-6 and 20-0 before Reinhart took over.

Don't let the scores of this series fool you. Georgetown figures to win, of course, but Reinhart's job tonight is comparatively easy. Up to now Georgetown has been a great grid power, as the Hoyas' 67-year-old record of 239 victories as against 126 losses and 29 ties will attest. G. W. has nothing to match this mark, showing only 142 wins as against 149 dora, a tough hombre in any ball losses and 27 deadlocks, but Reinhart has a way of working up his team game

Tonight he has a chance of surpassing all previous efforts. Tonight there will be no backfield of Ghecas, Castiglia, Koshlap and McFadden. role in last year's victory, may get From the line are gone those crack centers, Matuza and Reichey, and Lio, Fullilove, Kopcik, Daniels, Ostinato and Mickey. Tonight may produce a pretty good football game.

15,000 Expected to See Rivals Settle Snappy Argument Tonight

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON. After much fist waving and the usual exchange of "Oh, yeas," and their football argument into plain view of at least 15,000 customers tonight at Griffith Stadium and settle scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The question before the house is, will G. W. ever beat the Hoyas? than 40 years. You've got me, mister, because that chorus of yeas you hear is from the Hilltop. Just remember that last town was supposed to give its neighbor a good tanning and had all it could handle. It won by 8-0 and 7-0 counts and was glad to settle for

G. W. Victory Lust Mounts.

This year Jack Hagerty's machine ton, on the other hand, not only has the same fire and zip that enabled it to check the Hoyas in their last two games, but is filled with an ever-mounting lust for victory. The G street eleven figures this is win tonight it may as well hand in its suits to Bundles for Britain.

Don't be misled by the records of the schools. Georgetown, despite its loss to Temple and Virginia Tech. still packs a potent punch. It has here, and in Jack Doolan and Frank all-around backs who have vet to hit their stride. Maybe tonight will be their night.

Pinnow Dangerous Threat. G W on the other hand Colonials' victory over Mount St. Mary's in the inaugural doesn't match Georgetown's victory over Mississippi, but Bill Reinhart has a few good boys himself, and if they start acting up it won't be surpris-

Reinhart hasn't kent Don Pinnow under cover for nothing. Here is a rookie who can run and heave the ball with the best of them. Jimmy Graham last week gave the the backfield a few years ago. Scouts Will See Both 'All Out' in Michigan, Northwestern Game

By TOM SILER,

Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, Oct. 17.-The swarm of football scouts who are gathering for the Michigan-Northwestern battle should have a happy and profitable time.

Quite a few spies have been trailing the Wildcats and Wolverines since the season began, but they didn't see anything but straight football. That's all Michigan needed to whip Michigan State. Thus the scouts should have a perfect setup for their work. The spies doubtless will return to their home bases with crowded notebooks and a multitude of diagrams.

Help to Gophers, Buckeyes. This won't do Minnesota and Ohio State, also undefeated and untied, any harm in preparing for their October 25 engagements-Minnesota vs. Michigan and Ohio State vs. Northwestern.

Minnesota, meanwhile, will be playing Pittsburgh, presumably another romp for the Gophers and a washout for the Michigan scouts at Minneapolis. Ohio State opposes Purdue at Columbus, a game which possibly might give the Buckeyes a

Eagle-Skin Clash Includes Bands

For the second time in three weeks, the once-unchallenged Redskin Band faces as much of a struggle for between-half honors Sunday as the Redskin footballers face for supremacy at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. Dispatches from Philly indicate that 28-year-old Alexis Thompson, who bought the Pittsburgh franchise last winter and then negotiated a trade for the Eagles, is outmarshaling George Marshall in marshaling music for his home games.

Although it's his first year in the league, Thompson already has a 110-piece marching band and a swing band. So, for once, on a foreign gridiron, the Redskin Band won't monopolize between-halves honors, each group of musicians being scheduled to entertain for seven minutes.

Clarke to Defend Two Bowling Championships on Consecutive Days at Norfolk

D. C. Sending Strong Line-up to Wallace And Levy Events

Jenkins Again Big Rival Of Nation's No. 1 Roller Tomorrow and Sunday

Winner of six major duckpin tournaments last season, Astor Clarke, the No. 1 duckpinner of the country, who manages the Lafavette Bowling Center, will strive to retain two of his championships on consecutive days when he treks to Norfolk tomorrow to roll in the fourth annual Norman Levy Anniversary event and stays over Sunday to compete in the fourth annual Jimmie Wallace affair. More than a score of Washington's topflighters will compete.

Arville Ebersole, executive secretary of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress, in an effort to cut expenses of out-of-town bowlers and at the same time increase the entries in both events, mainly was responsible for these two important Southern tournaments being tied together for the first time.

Change Tournament Site. The Levy Anniversary, a 10-game affair, with $400 for the winner, will be rolled at Norfolk's new Spillway for the first time instead of the Boush street drives. The Wallace, which pays a $100 top prize, to be held again at the Recreation Health Center, has been cut from 10 to 7 games.

As an added attraction, Levy, who annually adds $300 to the kitty of his anniversary event, will stage a three-game tournament at the Boush street plant to keep the bowlers busy between the two fivegame blocks. Entrance fee will be $3 and the victor will receive $50.

Clarke Cleans Up. Last season Clarke fired 1.328 to triumph in the Jimmie Waller Colonial Frosh After over Johnny Tribble of Burlington, N. C., and several weeks later posted 1.337 in the Levy to top Lou Jenkins, the Capital's No. 1 bowler, by kins, the Capital's No. 1 bowler, by a margin of six pins.

Both Clarke and Jenkins rolled brilliantly in the Pop Wolfe Memorial last Sunday at College Park and Hyattsville. Jenkins finished with 1,315, while Clarke landed sixth place with 1,306.

Record fields are promised for both Norfolk tournaments. Besides Washington's heavy entry, practically every leading bowler of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina will compete. Last year 122 rolled in the Levy Anniversary and 83 in

THE FAR-SIGHTED E ES OF OUR FLEET. OUR SCOUT SEAPLANES ARE THE FAST MOVING AERIAL PERISCOPES FOR THE NAVY ... IN THE OLD DAYS A BATTLESHIP WAS PRETTY MUCH AT THE MERCY OF A LURKING SUBMARINE -AND THE FLEET'S KNOWLEDGE OF ENEMY POSITIONS WAS LIMITED. NOW SCOUT PLANES ARE LAUNCHED BY A CATAPULT FROM A SHIP -TO SPOT THE ENEMY AND REPORT HIS STRENGTH AND LOCATION ... AND TO LOOK FOR WAITING SUBMARINES-WHICH THEY CAN SEE UNDERNEATH THE WATER, SO FAST DESTROYERS OR BOMBERS CAN ATTACK WITHOUT DELAY THE SEAPLANE MAY LOOK CLUMSY BUT

IT IS AND MUST BE VERY MANEUVERABLE TO ENGAGAGE ENEMY PLANES IT MAY MEET ... ANOTHER ITEM THAT MAKES OUR NAVALARM THE MOST POWERFUL IN THE WORLD.

WHICH ANSWER IS RIGHT?

WHAT DOES "TO STREAMLINE" MEAN ? I. TO DRAW A LINE AROUND A SEAPLANE FLOAT. TO SHOW HOW DEEP IT RESTS IN WATER. 2. THE METHOD OF REDUCING "DRAG" BY BUILDING UP PARTS OF A PLANE SO THE AIR FLOWS OFF SMOOTHLY.

me, Mr. Franklin? "Mrs. Fowler, when were you in and Franklin fumbled for a pencil, the library yesterday?" wrote a name on a slip of paper. trees The tall, graceful woman replied,

"Frequently, Mr. Franklin." "Did you touch anything?" She smiled. "Yes, I suppose I did. But after all, that is not unusual." "Who took care of the library,

Mrs. Fowler?" "The housemaid; sometimes Ames or I straightened up." She was plainly puzzled. "Is there anything

"Was there anything special you did in there yesterday?" "Not that I remember. Oh, yes; the humidor had been sent out for repairs. I put it back in the room." "Were you acquainted with the first Mrs. Tarringtotn?"

"Well, in a way. She arranged for me to come to work for her, but she died before I arrived."

"Where did you come from?"
"Kentucky." She threw her head back slightly.

"Mrs. Fowler, just what do you think of Jane?" "Think of her?" she sniffed. "Not much, I have to admit." "Would you say she was capable of murder?"

Mrs. Fowler let her gaze rest on the scene outside the windows before she answered. Then she pulled her attention back, apparently with an effort, and looked steadily at the detective when she said in a low voice, "That is a terrible thing to say of any one, Mr. Franklin."

"Even of some one you have cause to distrust?'

Admits Distrust. "Even of some one I do distrust." The words were almost a whisper. "You are a loyal servant, Mrs. Fowler. No doubt you are well provided for in the will?"

"I doubt it, sir," she said in a matter-of-fact tone. "Mr. Tarrington was not one to reward service generously." "Did he have any children?"

"No. sir." "You seem very emphatic." "I know of none, is what I mean." Franklin bowed. "That is all. Ask

Mrs. Tarrington to come in, please. Henry Tarrington's widow had changed into a soft green tailored frock. When she came in Franklin was struck by her beauty. "Have a chair, Mrs. Tarrington. There are some things that need clearing up." Shirley took a deep chair near the fireplace and sank back into its cushions. "First of all, who do you think sent you that money in the candy when you were at Farrar's Lodge?" Shirley shook her head. "I don't know. I don't know who knew where I was" "Your husband?"

A grim smile hovered around her lips. "I can't picture him sending said in a low voice, "I sometimes wonder how I came to think I loved

"Forgive me, but you were not the first rich widow whom he mar-

"No. The other poor girl died." The last words were a whisper. "Who told you about her?" "He did."

Franklin let the silence remain unbroken for a few minutes. "Well, we are at the end of the road, nearly, Mrs. Tarrington." Shirley raised troubled eyes to Franklin's face. "Can't we just let it drop?" she asked. "He so deserved to die, really he did."

"That's not the law's view, Mrs. Tarrington." Then he asked, "Did you see Edith Backrack here last

"Edith! No! Was she here?" "Yes. That is why she tried to keep you quiet; she didn't know what you had seen."

"It doesn't seem a bit like her." Franklin turned to look directly at Shirley, "Mrs. Tarrington," he said briskly, "have you any idea why your husband was killed, or who killed him?" Shirley took a long time to reply. Any one of us might have, Mr. Franklin. We were all in his clutches. He had us where he wanted us." The phone rang and Franklin scooped the receiver up to his ear with a sharp "Hello."
