Judge Orders Recess, But Trial Resumes After Short Delay

The trial of Jarvis Catoe was recessed abruptly this afternoon following a report that the 36-year-old colored man had been halted in an attempt of commit suicide but was resumed after a short delay

It was reported that Catoe was found in his cell in the Police Court Building after lunch, stripped of all his clothing and holding a leather belt and a piece of lead pipe in his hand. Deputy United States marshals are reported to have seized They said they believed he him. was attempting to hang himself. Justice James W. Morris, when court reconvened aftter lunch, ordered a half hour's recess, and instructed attorneys for the Government and the defendant not to discuss the incident. Catoe was led into the courtroom and out again. and showed obvious signs of distress. The report that Catoe had made an attempt on his life could not be confirmed officially. Deputy Coroners Christopher Murphy and Richard Rosenberg were summoned to the Court House to examine Catoe and later said that he was in good physical condition.

When this announcement was received. Justice Morris ordered the trial resumed and Catoe brought back into the court room at 2:40 o'clock.

In the court session before lunch Catoe modified his story that police tormented him into confessing crimes he did not commit. during cross-examination by United States Senators Delay Action Attorney Edward M. Curran. In some details Catoe, on trial for the attack-slaying of Mrs. Rose Abramowitz, altered the lurid tale he related in court Saturday.

FIRST RACE-WITNESS ! STAND, DRESS BOOT, AT BAT.

WITNESS STAND turned in two clever efforts at Havre de Grace and his best effort should be good enough to distance the sort he encounters in the opening dash. DRESS BOOT has been second in his last two outings and he appears the one most likely to force the issue. AT BAT for the show.

SECOND RACE - JACKET. ROLL AND TOSS, MANS-FIELD PARK.

Laurel

JACKET copped a clever race at Aqueduct last month and she took place honors in her first at this point. The daughter of Blenheim II appears to deserve the nod. ROLL AND TOSS has disappointed at Laurel but he has be given stout consideration. MANSFIELD PARK might be in the picture. sort.

THIRD RACE-NICK, MISS HAPPY, HIBLAZE. NICK has compiled an excellent record in recent starts and he has as good a chance as anything else in this very evenly matched affair. MISS HAPPY is consistent and she continues to train in a very satisfactory manner. HIBLAZE has early foot and he may be with the pace at the start.

FOURTH RACE - REGENT, WAUGH POP, SIR MOW-LEE.

REGENT just missed in his last at Laurel and previously he trimmed a good field at the local plant. He hooks up with much the same caliber of opposition here. WAUGH POP has scored twice at this meeting and he is sure to be in the thick of the battle. SIR MOWLEE wins often when matched with this

Jolt to Capital.

Announcement by the Navy last night of the injured and missing among the Kearny's crew came as a jolt to the Capital as the first disclosure of personnel losses to the Atlantic Fleet

When the torpedoing of the new $5,000,000, 1.630-ton destroyer, on patrol duty off Iceland, was first made known Friday, the Navy's communique said "no casualties were indicated" and relief tempered the Capital's reaction to the incident. Last night, however, the Navy received further information—the wounded Kearney had made her way to an undisclosed port and reported her casualties. It was the first time since Japanese warplanes bombed and machine gunned the United States gunboat Panay on the Yangtze River in China that a unit of the Navy has had losses due to belligerent action. The toll in the Panay bombing in December, 1937, was 2 dead and

"trumped up" by administration officials to inflame the Nation against the Reich.

The assumption here was that the Navy believed it possessed positive proof of the submarine's nationality, but there was no hint how it was obtained. One conjecture was that some of the Kearny's crew caught a glimpse of the underseas boat before or during the engagement, but the opportunity for such observation is usually remote under the circumstances indicated.

In its supplementary announcement on the incident the Navy, for the European war, found itself using in the torpedoing of the Kearny, the long since familiar language of giving a list of missing, follows:

Afghan Hound Ruled Best Dog at Annual Kennel Club Show

Imported Champion Beats 555 Entries as Season Ends at Chevy Chase

By R. R. TAYNTON. The 12th annual dog show of the National Capital Kennel Club held at Chevy Chase yesterday saw a new dog enter the best in show circle. This was the cream-colored Afghan hound, ch. Rana of Chaman of Royal Irish, owned by Marion Florsheim and handled by Dick Hill. Rana was imported from England just as war broke out and was on the high seas when hostilities really started.

The dog has made an enviable record within his breed, having more than 25 best of breeds to his credit and a number of group awards, but this was his first break into the charmed circle. In order to make it, he had to defeat at least two finalists from other groups that have best in show records. These were Mrs. James M. Austin's phenomenal Pekingese, ch. Che Lle of Matson's Catawba, which was gven a better than even chance by the ringsiders, since the best in show judge was Frank Downing of Baltimore, a very weil-known Pekingese breeder. The other dog that has a best in show record came from the working group. She is the almost invincible boxer, ch. Serenade of Mazelaine, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Kettles, jr. Dr. Fletcher Vinson of Baltimore owns the dog which topped the sporting group, a very handsome orange belton English setter, ch. Big Boy of Rockboro. The best terrier was the Welshie, ch. Flornell Rarebit of Twin Ponds, owned by Mrs. E. P. Alkers, and the best from the nonsporting group was Mrs. W. French Githen's black standard poodle, Ensarr Astre.

556 Dogs Entered.

the 556 dogs that turned out to enjoy the last of the outdoor fall shows were locally owned and of this num-ber a large proportion reached the tops of their respective breeds. Nor did this excellent showing re-sult from lack of quality competi-tion since the quality was high in all breeds and dogs from the lead-ing kennels in the North were among the contenders. Early in the day, two well-known local exhibitors were able to show the handsome trophies their dogs had won for best of breed. They were Mrs. Martha Hall, whose Irish terrier Abtram Moon Prince, has A surprisingly good proportion of

Latin Artists Enter Sculpture, Pottery In Syracuse Exhibit

Portions of Show to Visit Washington From March 4 to 25

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 20 .- The good neighbor policy has touched the field of pottery and sculpture, with 15 South and Central American countries represented at the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts' 10th National Ceramic Exhibition.

Approximately 480 pieces, the work of 200 American artists, were selected by judges for the show from a record-breaking 1.500 submitted by 500 artist from 38 States. In addition, the work of ceramic artists of Canada, Hawaii and Iceland were displayed.

The exhibit, which continues through November 16, offers no awards to pottery and sculpture from Latin American nations and Canada, but because of the widened scope, the display has been designated the "first contemporary ceramic exhibition of the Western Hemisphere.'

Coming to Washington.

Selection portions of the exhibit will be shown in New York, December 8-24; Chicago, January 20-February 23; Washington, March 4-25; Cincinnati, April 3-26, and Philadelphia. May 6-27. Prizes were awarded to:

Under Way, Leader Says

WESTERVILLE, Ohio. Oct. 20.

On the eve of his 86th birthday, a veteran crusader against liquor asserted today that the spread of local option through Central States indicated that a "dry comeback" was under way

Eventually, Dr. Howard Hyde Russell predicted, local option will spread across the Nation and offset "quite a setback" dry forces suffered when the Prohibition Act was repealed in 1933.

The founder of the Anti-Saloon League of America pointed in particular to Kentucky, where, he said *an excellent county option law with "teeth' for enforcement has abolished all kinds of liquor in 55 counties

Despite his advanced age Dr. Russell works constantly in a campaign to spread local option. He is making appearances as a lecturer and is active head of the Lincoln-Lee Legion. Inc., which controls the education and abstinence department of the Anti-Saloon League.

As Decisive Weapon In European War

But U. S. Forces Fail To Test Chemicals in Mass Field Training

By the Associated Press.

CAMDEN, S. C., Oct. 20 .- Chemical warfare officers, training an ever-growing group of specialists in the Caroline maneuvers, expressed a belief today that neither Germany nor England could force a decision without the use of gas.

The terrible weapon, so effective in the World War, has not been used in the present fighting.

Experts working in the twomonth field exercises of the 1st Army contended that England, on the defense in virtually all her land operations, is in the most advantageous position to use gas, because a fast-moving attacking force does not have the opportunity for the extensive preparations necessary. It also was learned that the United States Army has perfected a secret more efficient compound for neutralization of mustard gas, probably the principal agent any of the armies could rely on in chemical warfare. Mustard gas burns victims externally and internally, and, authorities say, caused about onethird of the A. E. F. casualties in the World War

Not Used in Games.

In Army maneuvers throughout the Nation earlier this year little was said or, on the surface, done in demonstrating the tactical use of gas, the ever-present threat in conflict.

During an official discussion of maneuver exercises in Louisiana last month. Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of general headquarters, said:

at the outset why gas was barred from the maneuvers. There is no implication that gas is unimportant. or that it will not be employed in the future. The fact is, however, that gas has not yet been employed in the current wars abroad. Accordingly, it seems unnecessary and inappropriate that we here complicate our training by intmoducing gas-either actual or simulated. * * *

orces ever existed in America." The new support command will be one of five to operate in close partnership with the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th Field Armies, and with the Armored Force, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Dargue, commander of the 1st Air Force

Mitchel Field Headquarters.

The support commands will include observation aviation, both heavier and lighter-than-air: light bombers, dive bombers, gliders, transports for parachute and airlanding troops and other aerial weapons which may be developed to work with field armies. Headquarters for the new command will be at Mitchel Field, N. Y. although its units will be based in many Eastern States from New England to the Carolinas. Included will be the 104th Observation Squadron at Frederick, Md.

Units assigned initially to the command include three observation groups, a bombardment group, three tow target detachments, a balloon squadron and a signal company.

Col. Kepner in Command. Chief of the command will be Col. William E. Kepner, veteran Air Corps officer, who was chief pilot of the first stratosphere balloon, and has had a wide experience. Col. Kepner has been an officer of cavalry and served with the infantry during the World War before going to the air arm.

He holds ratings as a command pilot, combat observer, senior baloon pilot and balloon observer. The command will unify aviation elements that a ground force needs to achieve air superiority under the conditions of modern warfare.

Truck and Bus Inventory Pressed as Replies Lag

In an effort to complete the national defense truck and bus inventory, many States today began mailing "follow-up" letters to owners of vehicles who have not yet responded to the original appeal for information.

Federal Works Administration, which is conducting the survey for the Army, said trouble had been encountered because of the part of the questionnaires asking "In case of an emergency would you voluntarily hire or lease vehicle to a Federal agency?'

F. W. A., emphasizing that only ambulances, hearses and fire department equipment are exempt. urged all vehicle owners who have not yet responded to do so.

The inventory is being taken to set up much needed records of all trucks and buses in the United States for possible use in organizing highway transportation for national defense.

Planning Traffic Relief

It is encouraging to note an increasing tendency in official quarters to emphasize long-range planning in connection with efforts to solve Washington's traffic problems. Piecemeal, stop-gap measures are necessary, of course, to bring immediate and temporary relief during the emergency, but they are palliatives, at best-not cures for troubles that are as deep-rooted as the traffic ills of a fast-growing city like the Nation's Capital. When Washington's streets were laid out, there were no traffic problems, no parking difficulties. There was ample room on the city's broad thoroughfares for moving vehicles as well as for the horses and buggies parked at the curb. Today those thoroughfares are inadequate.

Proposals designed to afford varying degrees of immediate relief include those for restricting or eliminating parking in the more congested areas, for retiming traffic signals, for increasing the number of traffic policemen and for minor engineering improvements to the highway system. The Commissioners have acted wisely in moving to ban parking on certain of the principal traffic arteries leading into the downtown section. Lines of automobiles parked at the curb are utilizing valuable lanes that should be reserved for moving traffic. There is no quicker and simpler way of widening a street than by removing parked cars from its curbs. The ultimately desirable goal of a street system used only for the free movement of vehicles cannot be attained, however, until adequate off-street terminal facilities are available for passenger cars. The Whitehurst proposal for municipally operated parking centers on the fringe of the downtown district is directed toward solution of the parking problem, especially as it relates to the Federal departments. As a matter of fact, the Federal Government must share the blame for the near-intolerable congestion around its office buildings, for had it made proper plans to care for the parking of employes' cars when public buildings were being erected in recent years, there would be no need to park automobiles today on parkways near the Lincoln Memorial and on other park property. Having learned its lesson, the Government is providing large parking areas adjacent to the new War Department Building in Arlington. The suggestion of Representative Schulte that in the future all office and apartment buildings be required to provide off-street parking facilities for the occupants is a long-range proposal that is theoretically sound, although it may involve economic difficulties that would make it inadvisable to apply such a rule generally. Congress will find in the Whitehurst report numerous long-view recommendations for traffic relief that hold great promise, although they entail large capital expenditures. Radial highways, grade separations, elevated roadways, off-street parking facilities and other major improvements are costly, but they represent an intelligent and prudent investment that will bring inestimable dividends in terms of safety, convenience and general civic betterment, in all of which the Federal Government has an important stake.

mystery, believed by some astronomers to be "vast swarms of independent bodies, like meteors" ceaselessly whirling around its equatorone of the grandest sights in the cosmos. The "lordly giant of planets"-

Jupiter-also is visible in the east this week. Its "stately glow" is indescribably compelling. Once viewed, it easily is understood to be more than thirteen hundred times the size of our globe. No other object in the sky compares with it in majestic luminosity save only Venus, the "queen of the West," and, temporarily, symbolic Mars, the warrior. Ordinary opera glasses will help an amateur in his pioneer examination of the illimitable picture of the firmament. The experience is refreshing, even if one is bewildered by the complexity of the scene. There terial. is order in the confusion, peace in the chaos of it.

Self-Delusion

Wendell Willkie's blunt declaration that the United States must abandon hope of peace comes at a time when there seems to be considerable conflict of opinion, even in official quarters, as to the real significance of recent international developments.

This conflict is most marked in the case of the cabinet change in Tokio, which has placed the reins of Japan's government openly in the hands of the militarists. Mr. Willkie sees no reason for American satisfaction in this change. "Berlin, Tokio and Rome," he says, "are irrevocably linked by the dangerous dream of world conquest." But this view is not universally indorsed.

In Washington there are suggestions, presumably emanating from some quarters in our own State Department, that reaction to the Japanese cabinet change has been unduly pessimistic. This relatively optimistic attitude is based on several considerations - that the men now heading Japan's government are not as "hot-headed" as some who might have been chosen: that conversations seeking an adjustment of differences between Tokio and Washington still are in being, and that more tangible results may be achieved now that our negotiators can deal with the men who really are running the show in Japan instead of civilians merely "fronting" for them.

This line of reasoning, however, smacks strongly of wishful thinking. It does not follow that our relations with Japan are better merely because they are not as bad as might have been expected following the cabinet shake-up.

It is possible, of course, that an armed clash with Japan may be held in abevance indefinitely. On that score, much will depend on whether Japan desires to provoke such a clash, for the American Government undoubtedly will do everything within reason to avoid it. But there is a vast difference between actual resort to war and a fundamental improvement in American-Japanese rela-

per cent of annual salary was suggested as a proper amount to give. "All were to know that this news came from the local manager, the final authority in the office on questions involving their welfare as employes," the commission says.

In rebuttal, Mr. Patterson denied that workers were coerced, insisting to the contrary that it was understood that contributions were "voluntary." Inquiries by the employes themselves as to their right to give to the campaign were responsible for his actions, he contended. That some of the donors did not see the matter in this light, however, is evident from testimony at the commission hearing that they feared refusal to contribute would cost them their jobs. In spite of denials, the commission also concluded that Mr. Patterson distributed Bricker campaign ma-

The Ohio inquiry still is under way by the commission, and while Governor Bricker has assailed it as a political maneuver, developments thus far lend no substance to such a charge. In fact, on the face of the matter, conditions were such that the commission would have been derelict in its duty had they been ignored.

The case also served to emphasize an anomaly in the law that calls for correction. A woman employe in the Cincinnati office faced charges for serving as a precinct election clerk, but the commission was convinced that her violation was due solely to a misunderstanding as to the scope of the law, and consequently dropped the complaint. Under exactly the same set of circumstances, the commission would have been bound to order the discharge of a Federal civil service worker, the wording of the law permitting no alternative. Certainly, Government employes should be entitled to the same consideration given State workers under like conditions.

Canada's War Economy

Prime Minister Mackenzie King's broadcast to the Canadian people announcing the establishment of a general ceiling on prices, costs and wages is highly significant. Even more than Britain, Canada thereby accepts the grim yet inescapable logic that in order to wage total war, a war economy is needed which will evoke every ounce of efficiency and at the same time avoid the peril of uncontrolled inflation. That is a conclusion which the American people have not yet faced frankly. Thus, our good neighbor to the north is doing us a real service by setting an example which we may profitably watch and ponder.

After setting forth the need to prevent inflation, with all its disastrous consequences, and to permit the financing of the war on a sound basis without a catastrophic depression afterwards, the Prime Minister put the matter in a nutshell when he declared: "We have decided to halt the rise in the price of all goods or services sold in Canada by imposing a general ceiling on prices. By a ceiling is meant an upper limit above which prices will not be allowed to rise. It will call for new and complicated administrative machinery. It will interfere with established methods of running business; it will impose irksome restrictions, and its success will depend not on the government alone but equally on the willingness of all who are affected to accept, and to accept cheerfully, the limitations imposed upon them as a necessary contribution to Can-

Conquest of Russia Held Impossible Author Contends Bolsheviks Could Continue Struggle With Hitler Indefinitely

Hitler Cannot Conquer Russia, by Maurice Hindus. Doubleday, Doran: New York.

At a moment when Adolf Hitler's legions are deep in the heart of the Ukraine, besieging Leningrad and Moscow and conquering vast expanses of the Russian soil, it is, to say the least, courageous-and some would say foolhardyfor a writer of standing to predict that Hitler cannot conquer Russia.

Mr. Hindus has not undertaken that task with the idea that Hitler cannot triumph over the Russian armies, that the Soviet is invincible, but with the idea that the Soviet system, now nearly a quarter century old, has unified Russians everywhere in a resistance which will rob the Germans of any real profit from the lands they are winning. He thus summarizes his thesis: "I must repeat that even if Hitler occupies Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, all of European Russia, and pushes eastward to the Urals, he will never conquer Russia, because he will never be able to hold the Russians. The formal front may collapse. The Red Army in Europe may break up into separate disconnected units. That will not end the hostilities. All occupied Russia will become a front. Fighting will go on anywhere, everywhere. Not a weapon the human imagination can invent but will be put to use by both sides. Treacherv and deceit, the knife and the ax poison and the torch, hunger and disease, will supplement the rifle and shotgun, the hand grenade and the machine gun, in the guerrilla fray that is to follow."

Mr. Hindus has written his book, it should be explained, out of a vast experience with and knowledge of not only the Russian people but the Soviet system as well. He always has been a careful critic of Communist Russia-where, he insists, no Communism exists-admitting with facile readiness the shortcomings of the Bolsheviks, but giving them the balance of credit. This book is written in just that vein

The burden of his theme is that Russion people of all classes never can submit to the Nazi "new order" because out of the Communist revolution they each have acquired a national consciousness and a stake in the preservation of the Soviet Union.

He rests his argument for ultimate Soviet victory on the success of the Bolsheviks in remaking the Russian earth and Russian humanity in the knowledge war to preserve their system. The goal was set to "remake the Russian earth so it would supply them (the Soviet leaders) with the sinews of war," and to "remake Russian humanity so it could competently handle the sinews of war that the factory of today is capable of forging."

The Sky This Week

If the spectacle of human folly on the earth proves intolerable, there is as yet nothing to prevent an average citizen from turning his attention to the quiet pageant of the heavens. The eastern sky just now is especially worthy of study. Orion, probably the most distinctively beautiful of all constellations, is conveniently close to the horizon. In the right shoulder of the imaginary hunter gleams Betelgeuse, at the position of the left foot Rigel-both magnificent examples of stars at their classic best.

Higher, the V-shaped group of the Hyades burns in the blue. Perhaps its form signifies that victory in Europe's struggle for which all friends of freedom yearn. In any case, the sight is inspiring. Men have gazed upon it with admiration for uncounted centuries. The fiery red star is Aldebaran, a tip of the horns of Taurus the Bull.

Nearer the zenith are the Pleiades, the Seven Sisters of antiquity, daughters of Atlas, one-Electrahaving left her place, so the poets say, to avoid witnessing the ruin of Troy, founded by her son, Dardanus.

Such improvement, it seems clear, cannot come about unless one of the two governments radically alters its policy, and it is not to be supposed that the United States will abandon its avowed determination to assist China and Russia, while resisting any Japanese effort to expand at the expense of the Philippines, the East Indies or Singapore and contiguous British territory. But what about Japan?

The new Premier, General Toio, says: "Internally we must consolidate a war-time structure, while externally we must strengthen our ties with treaty nations" That means Germany and Italy. The new foreign minister, Shigenori Togo, asserts that Japan's course already has been set and that he will do his best to follow it. Japan has one potential army of aggression on Russia's Siberian borders; another in Indo-China, and a Japanese spokesman says the navy is "itching for action."

In the light of these circumstances it is difficult to follow the reasoning of those in Washington who find any ground for comfort in the changes that have taken place at Tokio. A more realistic view would seem to be that Japan is impatiently marking time, waiting for what seems to her to be the safest moment to strike. And, as Mr. Willkie says, the Axis powers are winning now. If we are to act effectively, we will have to act soon. This is no time for selfdelusion.

Hatch Act Conviction

In the first Hatch Act case involving an employe of a State government, the Civil Service Commission has decided that the political activities of Harry J. Patterson, manager of the Cincinnati office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, warrant his removal. Mr. Patterson was charged with soliciting co-workers for the 1940 Republican campaign chest, and distributing material in the interest of the candidacy of the now Republican Governor, John W. Bricker. Authority for the ouster order is derived from the amended Hatch Act extending its restrictions on "pernicious political activities" to employes of State and local governments whose functions are financed in any degree by Federal funds. As outlined in the final report of the commission, the case is a flagrant example of the type of activity which the "clean politics" law was designed to reach. Certain employes reputedly were interviewed by the accused official and instructed to discuss the ada's maximum war effort." No words could better exemplify the spirit as well as the method of a true democracy girding itself for a supreme test. There is here a frank recognition that a democratic government functioning normally cannot match the ruthless compulsion of a totalitarian regime. which demands blind obedience and exalts material efficiency above spiritual values. The sense of equity that infuses Canada's war economy is best seen in the interesting experiment known as the cost-of-living bonus. Under this system, Canadian workers get temporary supplements to their regular wages sufficient to offset rising living costs. Those supplements, though paid by their employers, are calculated by competent official experts, and may be revised every three months. The system, which has been tried out experimentally for the past year, and which has worked well in New Zealand even longer, evidently is to be extended to all Canadian industry.

The same underlying idea of adjustable equity is to be applied to agriculture, for Premier King states that, while a ceiling will be placed on farm prices, "total agricultural income will be supported, where necessary, by government actions. In other words, while wages and the prices of farm products will be stabilized, the income of both labor and agriculture will be safeguarded." This should satisfy the legitimate demands of the agricultural elements and thereby deter them from using pressure-group tactics to get what they consider their rights by isolated action.

If this statesmanlike program is successful, it will be the best answer to Germany's scientifically planned "Wehrwirtschaft" or wartime economy, whereby everything and everybody functions as a nicely co-ordinated whole. Deplorable as are its objectives and ruthless though its execution may be, there can be no doubt that the German system works efficiently and that price rises there have been negligible. In the totalitarian war which Nazi Germany has definitely. Increase in industrial productivity was regulations, new hardships and violation of all those liberal principles which were supposed to lead to a better life for the Russian masses. Likewise the Russian peasant has paid for the new sinews. of war with the almost complete reformation of Russian agriculture. Collectivization, Mr. Hindus notes, makes easy a unified national discipline of people. Now what are the elements which unify the many diverse groups of the Soviet Union for a finish fight against

Hitler's "new order"? For the peasant the social and economic benefits of modern life and a new consciousness which solidifies his national and racial antagonism to Naziism and make him impossible of subjugation. For the new intelligentsia a fiery belief in the Soviet system and the opportunity to fight for the new society. For women, equality and self-expression which would be denied them under Hitler.

For the Cossacks, for many years stigmatized in Soviet society, rehabilitation in their old form and a measure of freedom on their own lands, which they love intensely.

For the factory workers who comprise Russia's proletariat all that the Soviet system provides him in theory, usage and promise, a position as the elite of Russia's millions, and the prospect of slavery under Hitler.

For the Ukrainians, preservation of their language and customs within the Soviet Union and the well-founded apprehension that Hitler would dispossess them to provide Lebansraum for his Germans.

What will these people do if they fall under Hitler's dominion? Mr. Hindus expects them, of course, to engage in the same kind of sabotage-but to greater and more effective degreethat now is going on in other occupied lands. One has only to remember the four-year civil war which followed the Bolshevik revolution to realize that Hitler would have a long fight on his hands. Mr. Hindus has written his appraisal very, very close to war events as they develop. Too close, many might conclude. But the great bulk of the book is devoted to analysis of those forces which make for permanent resistance to Hitler's "new order" rather than the purely military aspects of the fight against the invaders. From that standpoint it is valuable. CRESTON B. MULLINS.

Criticizes Police for Tagging Cars And Not Tracing Thieves. To the Editor of The Star:

Why does the Washington Police De partment devote so much time to putting tickets on cars for trivial parking offenses that it has insufficient time left to deal adequately with thieves and murderers?

My husband's overcoat was stolen from our parked car. The police were notified immediately but did not trace the theft. However, the few occasions that, due solely to the impossible parking condition in Washington, our car has been parked a little too near the intersection or a little too long, there has been a ticket. The police have somehow found time for that. But on the occasions when our car has been broken into, or gas has been siphoned out, the efficient Washington police have chanced to be elsewhere.

The answer is obvious. It is easy to persecute the conscientious, self-respecting, law-abiding taxpayer. It is, on the contrary, difficult and dangerous to deal with the criminal Optimism is good only insofar as it gets action and results. But in the recent past, optimism on the part of the democratic world has been the democratic world's destruction.

What we all need is a good scare. We need to be frightened regarding not only our possessions, but also our immortal souls.

It is a good thing that our optimism is running low. It is a good thing there now are many persons to warn us that the road to victory can be a challenge to everything that is in us.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Two major powers-Japan and the United States-are supposed to be on the verge of war. And yet the peoples of both countries are almost complete-

The main ex- David Lawrence. cuse for secrecy is that a "third power" might muddy the waters. Doubtless Nazi masters of intrigue on the one hand or overzealous and suspicious Chinese on the other could make it difficult for negotiations to be conducted in the open. but this does not erase the fact that if war between America and Japan comes it will be exactly what these "third" powers want

It is incredible that, with all the accusations of war-making heaped upon dictatorial governments and all the virtue claimed by democratic governments because their processes of coming to a decision are free and hence subject to the correctives of an alert public opinion, the Japanese-American dispute has been permitted to grow to the danger point without the slightest effort to inform public opinion in either country.

If war does come it will have to be accompanied by the most general of statements to the effect that Japan is hostile to our interests and that America is hostile to Japanese interests. Whatever constructive efforts might have been made to work out a peaceful relationship between the two countries would then in retrospect be subject to no correction or revision because it would be too late

"We need to end now all illusions that others have the duty of doing all the dying and fighting while we in Britain are not called upon to make such gigantic sacrifices.'

This isn't the first time that such a call has been made on the British government If the people of England feel this way about the matter, it's easy to understand why many Americans should be puzzled over the inability of the British to render greater aid to their new ally. I have been hearing that question raised daily for weeks now.

Suspicion of Caution.

Well, it's easy to answer the specific inquiry as to why the British haven't tried an invasion of Western Europe, because that great operation has been so far from feasible that it would have been committing hara-kiri to attempt it. However, one must admit that it's far more difficult to explain why some other measure hasn't been undertaken-a more vigorous bombing of Berlin, for instance One can understand the feeling of the British public that perhaps the Government has been playing it a bit too safe. This is a crisis in which great risks must be taken. War is largely a risk, and one reason Hitler has achieved such great successes is because he not only has grasped greedily at opportunity, but has taken chances,

By CONSTANTINE BROWN. There is a feeling in authoritative quarters in Washington that the Japanese may be preparing another "Port Arthur" against Vladivostok. It is recalled that the Russo-Japanese war of 1905 started with a surprise attack on the Russian naval base at Port Arthur. Japanese torpedo boats, supported by light cruisers, drove unexpectedly into the Russian port, sank the flagship of Admiral Makaroff and a number of cruisers forming the Far Eastern squadron of the Imperial Czarist Navy while most of the unsuspecting Russian officers were ashore. The admiral, who had retired to his cabin, lost his life. So did the world-famous Russian painter, Veretschaghin, who as the admiral's guest was painting the fleet at anchor by order of Czar Nicholas.

The Soviet fleet at Vladivostok is not likely to be caught in the same manner as the Imperial fleet was 36 years ago. But neither does it have the same striking power that Admiral Makaroff's squadron had.

In naval quarters it is believed that before the new 100 per cent pro-Axis government of Japan decides on any military operations in Siberia, the navy may dash over to Vladivostok, subdue the fleet there, reduce the fortifications, land troops and attempt to occupy the principal port of the maritime provinces. Until the end of last week, it appeared from reports received in Washington that the Japanese admirals had not yet indorsed such a plan.

The Soviet forces at Vladivostok are not expected to be caught napping as were those of Imperial Russia. The main Soviet base in Siberia is as well defended by land fortifications as was the formidable Port Arthur fortress in 1905. The defenders of Vladivostok are on the alert The Soviet forces in the Far East. however, do not possess a single large naval unit. They are reported to have some 60 destroyers and submarines and an air force. How well trained for naval warfare the Soviet crews are, nobody knows. The U.S.S.

great outdoors beckons. From now until the end of November every able-bodied person is supposed to go tearing McLemore. through the woods like a healthy hound, pausing only now and then to bind a sprained ankle or admire a sunset. Newspapers are filled with feature stories, outlining the joys of putting on rough, serviceable clothes and stoutly hiking to inaccessible spots. Department stores advertise all sorts of ingenious little gadgets for cooking a meal and making it possible for outdoor lovers to keep body and soul together until they can get back home and tear into the icebox. The publicity for nature is so strong at this time of year that a man is almost made to feel ashamed to be caught indoors when he has a free moment.

At the risk of making Henry Thoreau roll right over, and waves lash the shore of Walden Pond, I would like to say a few words in defense of the great indoors.

Let's consider outdoor cooking and indoor cooking for a starter. One of the most familiar expressions in America is: "Why is it that things cooked outdoors taste so much better than things cooked indoors? Well, I've never had a better meal.' As we all say this we usually are holding a paper plate. containing a steak that has suffered third-degree burns on one side and the slightest of sunburn on the other, and a potato that has been cooked in the coals and is more coals than potato. Under the sinister spell of the great outdoors we all tell these lies, and almost mean them. Yet, you must admit and I must admit that if such food were served us at home we'd go howling from the dining room. Furthermore, who ever heard of a restaurant growing famous on wood-cooked meals or of a chef who gained his fame from dishes cooked on a collapsible stove while he had

Today in Japan due to the control over the press exercised by the Nazi propagandists much has been made of the fact that America is actually giving money and supplies to China. 1:::: we'd keep it up tenaciously, doggedly, stubbornly, regularly, persistently .....

...... until, it had told all of the families and all the folks for miles around all of the things that we could do for them, in our laundry, if we'd do their washing ...

..... until, they'd BELIEVE in our ability to wash and finish things for them like they like to have their things washed and finished .....

..... until, they'd have a friendly, kindly feeling, a LIKING for us that'd cause them to refer to us always (with a possessive sound in their voices) as: "OUR LAUNDRY."

That would be doing wholesale the same thing that our drivers do retail. That would be creating the exact conditions that would (some day) cause many women to get on the phone to tell us to stop at their homes

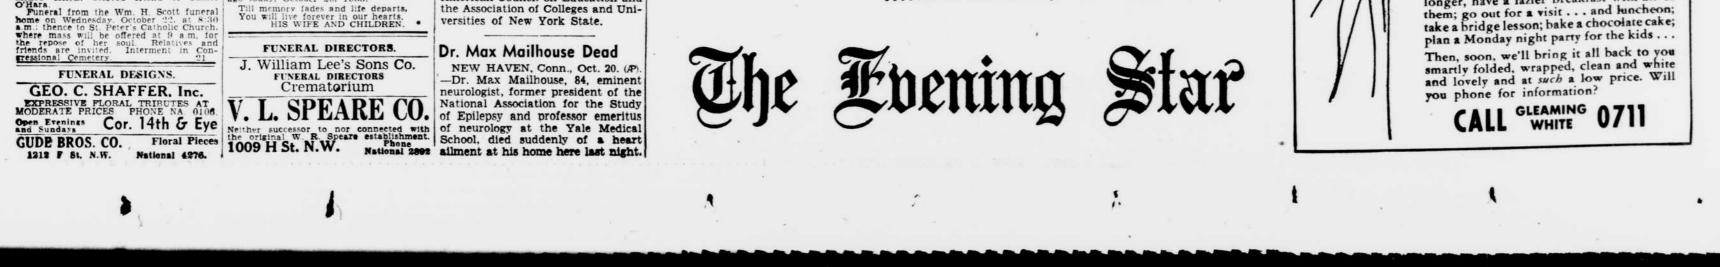

For women select their laundries just like they select the stores where they buy shoes, or smart clothes, or groceries. or milk, or cosmetics, or hair-dos, or what-we'd lift the hot and steamy burden of wash day off their shoulders, take it out of their homes, give them a whole, free day, EXTRA, every week (or every two weeks) and charge them probably not more than 10% more than it would cost if they'd do their laundry at home.

We'd tell of our modern machines, how we had eliminated rough churning, how much longer the things they send would last; we'd tell of our sterile washing; tell of our fourteen changes of water; tell of the milder soaps we use; tell of our ability to get things clean and white, to give them that starchy, goodsy smell that women knowingly nod their pretty heads over; we'd tell of our quick service; of our courteons service;

For, if we HAD the finest, most satisfying laundry in the world ... and if women and MEN didn't know it ... it would be the same as though we did not exist! How COULD our drivers tell everybody.? What's the wense in keeping our good news to ourself? How marvelows to go (with our advertising in this newspaper) into almost ALL the homes, for we'd need JUST ONE SMALL PORTION of them.

So, we'd SPREAD the news of our virtues, tell women what they want to know, tell it and tell it and tell it, in SMALL advertisements, regularly, doggedly, always, never stopping ... and we'd get and keep that one small portion .....

estuary controlled by Argentina, these two landlocked countries have been long-time swains of Argentina Their courting has netted them little. The last outstanding opportunity Argentina muffed to hog-tie Bolivia and Paraguay to its political chariot came at the Montevideo regional conference of River Plate countries in February, 1941. Bolivia and Paraguay got nothing at that conference but promises. In desperation, the former ene mies in the Chaco war have turned to Brazil. Dr. Vargas met Bolivia's Foreign Minister at Corumba. Result: Activation of the railroad now abuilding from Corumba to Santa Cruz de la Sierra, thereby tapping a fruit, cattle and vegetable raising region at the eastern foot of the Andes almost impossible of access from La Paz. Maybe there's oil in Santa Cruz, too

The Vargas visit to Asuncion was even more fruitful for Paraguay Dr. Vargas opened a branch of the Banco do Brasil there, assured Paraguay a free port zone at Santos and promised to push the construction of the projected railroad from Concepcion (Paraguay) to Porto Esperanca (Brazil), where Paraguay's traffic links up with Brazil's internal railroad system.

Concessions of No Cash Value.

None of these concessions to Paraguay are of any real hard-cash value, but their prestige is great In response to Paraguayan prayers Argentine Banco-de la Nacion has delayed opening its branch in Asuncion. Requests for reduction of the fantastic freight rates maintained by the Mihanovitch Steamship Line, which monopolizes river traffic between Buenos Aires and Asuncion, have been ignored. Paraguay has been asking for a free port somewhere, anywhere, in Argentina and has been refused. Argentina even blocked Uruguay's conceding Paraguay a free port at Colonia

Brazilian-Paraguayan cooing was very noticeable during the September 7 Independence Day celebra tions in Rio de Janeiro. Argentina was represented by its war minister, Gen. The Brazilian press (government controlled) turned on its brightest lights for the Paraguayans who stayed on after the celebrations and were entertained far and wide Since then Brazil has regally entertained the publisher of El Tiempo Paraguay's semi-official spokesman. # Germans Assail Long For Saying Nazis May Turn Against Italy

Reich Never 'Stabbed Friend in Back,' Berlin Spokesmen Assert

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.-Authorized German sources expressed strong resentment today of Assistant Secretary of State Breckinridge Long's remarks on alleged German intentions toward Italy and said it was a low down trick to intimate that Germany and Italy ever could be separated

The German spokesman commented that the personal relations of Premier Mussolini and Adolf Hitler were enough to guarantee enduring friendship of the two nations

"Read German history." the mokesman said, "and you will find no instance where the Reich ever stabbed a friend in the back.

"Throughout the relationship of Fascism and Nazi-ism, Germany and Italy have supported each other, sometimes under great risks. After all other hopes of help melted like ice in the sun, an effort now apparently is being made to drive a wedge between Germany and Italy." Authorized sources said they thought it "noteworthy" that Mr. Long's remarks came just after the return from Rome of William Phillips, United States Ambassador to Italy

These sources said they had no confirmation of reports from Afchanistan that German citizens there were to be deported.

Defense

The demands of Defense have increased Washington's population beyond all former limits. This increase has come swiftly . . . far more swiftly than most prophets forecast.

One of the foremost needs for Washington's increasing population is expanding transit service. This need is being met.

CAPITAL TRANSIT has been expanding its facilities and efficiency at an accelerating rate for the past several years. Improvements this year are at an all time high.

MORE NEW BUSES AND STREET CARS. During this year, 132 Streamlined Street Cars and 395 New Buses have been delivered or ordered, at a cost of $6,500,000. This is more than double the yearly average of the past two years.

IMPROVED RUSH HOUR SCHEDULES. Staggered hours for government departments have bettered rush hour traffic. This has enabled CAPITAL TRANSIT to improve running time on the majority of rush hour trips.

30% INCREASE IN RUSH HOUR SERVICE (VEHICLE MILES). Today, there are 24% more buses and street cars operating during rush hours than there were a year ago, and each of these operates more miles under the staggered hour plan.

28% MORE PASSENGERS. CAPITAL TRANSIT is carrying 28% more passengers than a year ago. 51/2 million more passengers per month.

115% INCREASE IN TRAFFIC CHECKERS. These men are the eyes and ears of improved service. They watch at 62 points on car and bus lines from 6:00 A. M. to midnight. They count passengers. They check to see if buses and cars are on time. On the basis of their reports service is constantly being improved. (Last year there were 20 of these men. Today there are 43.)

CAPITAL TRANSIT is doing the biggest transportation job in Washington . . . carrying several times the number of passengers of all other means of city transportation combined.

The record shows CAPITAL TRANSIT is improving its service, giving more service. Doing a bigger job than ever before. And doing a more efficient job in spite of increasing traffic congestion.

Dogs Is Dogs and This Is Dogmatic

We have just witnessed the National Capital Kennel Club Dog Show, practically from the beginning and down to the last four-legged strut, and post-haste would like to suggest that it isn't the fault of the pooches that they look as they do.

Some day this particularly artless but highly curious observer is going to dip deeply into this subject of show dogs. This will be done immediately or soon after we have wrung from the books of learning why college bandleaders act as they do and how the trumpet players who follow them keep from laughing into their horns, because, while a college bandleader is ridiculously funny viewed from any angle he must be a scream from the rear

There wasn't a mutt in the 600 on the grounds of the Meadowbrook Baddle Club vesterday. There wasn't a pooch that looked as if he might answer to "Spot" or "Prince" or "Skippy." probably because the sponsors were so determined to have only the aristocracy of dogdom that pedigrees strapping bay colt called Alsab were scanned at the gate and the entrance fee was a drop of blood, blue, of course

Yet for all of this royal ancestry there remained a feeling that under the skin, which also would mean under a layer of well-combed fur except in the cases of the Mexican hairless, dogs is dogs.

Some of the Pooches Deceive the Layman

The big winner, titled as "best in show." proved to be a glamorous with, although he's only 2 years old Afghan hound, name of Ch. Rana of Chaman of Royal Irish. It was a dead ringer for Veronica Lake and it may have been those languid lamps and taffy hair that caught the eye of the judge. Ch. Rana of Chaman of Royal Irish (now how would you like to call him from a dog fight?). came over from Britain to take this prize, vacating the hard-pressed citadel of London when the Jerries first started dropping those eggs.

It is difficult for the layman to appreciate the hidden qualities in show dogs. That is one reason why this occasional kennel connoisseur is inclined to believe that if you scrape off the nail polish, throw away the combs, brushes and curling irons and give some journeyman fleas haif a chance they would prove to be very decent and democratic critters.

The dog is apposed to be man's best friend. It is possible the dogs can't say the same for the man. Ch. Che Le of Matson's Catawba, for instance, gives the wrong impression to the layman. Ch. Che Le of Matson's Catawba is a Pekinese, with a skate-like face and hair that drags along the ground like an old-fashioned petticoat. It may have legs Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sabath of for, if necessary, Ch. Che Le moved through the grass, like a bulbous Chicago, have not yet accepted for caterpillar after a meal of Mexican jumping beans. him

The dog show people, however, insist that Ch. Che Le of Matson's Catawba isn't a bad sort at all. "Don't say you wouldn't have it," one will of them cautioned, "because the danged thing is worth $6,000 or $7,000. Market Wise. Big Pebble and Me, I like hunting dogs, but that Peke isn't bad."

The outside and downfield blocking was not all it should have been, but as a whole, the team's play was much improved over its first two games. Merrill Hoover, Bob O'Hora and Ted Stawicki were standouts in the line, although Cassell was heartened by the work of Jim Petro and Ray Shepherd. Frank La Fontaine and Paul Weidler shaped up well at the ends, although A. U. still misses Mac Potter, the injured wingman whom Line Coach George Menke regards as the squad's best forward. Not to be overlooked is Russ Atkisson, whose runing and passing were

Farkas Back in Form.

Thirdly, Andy Farkas left no doubt that he is the Farkas of 1939, ripping and tearing through the opposition as if it were tissue paper and accounting for a third of the Skins' 18 first downs by his rushes. Lastly, but perhaps most imporfant-the Redskins resembled real champions for the first time this season, every one of the 28 players who got in the game playing his head off and refusing to give up in the face of breaks which might have discouraged a less game team. PHILADELPHIA. Oct. 20.-Defending Champion Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia and his chief challenger. Ralph Greenleaf, are listed to play in the two matches that open the 1941 world pocket billiard champiorship at Town Hall tonight.

Mosconi meets George Kelly, also of Philadelphia, in the first match. Greenleaf, 17 times former cham-New York Buffalo pion and making his first start in a title tourney since 1938, is paired against Don Tozer of Chicago in the second.

The other eight contestants in the round-robin tourney that will run through November 5 start play tomorrow, when both afternoon and evening sessions will be held.

Each contest will be for 125 points and under a new rule the first player making three consecutive deliberate scratches must shoot a break shot, driving two object balls to the cushion. The new rule was adopted in an effort to eliminate stalling by shooting safeties indefinitely.

Leading Winner Here, Lew Worsham Looks to Big Golf Coin on Winter Trail

Chance to Get Money On Tour Is Seen for Burning Tree Pro

Has Financial Backing Assured for His First Major Attempt

By WALTER MCCALLUM.

For a youngster who was toting colf bags around Kenwood half a dozen years ago, dreaming dreams of winning golf tournaments in the top professional flight, and maybe a national championship, 23-year-old Lew Worsham, the Burning Tree pro, is away to a good start.

Lew unquestionably is the topwinning pro in this sector this year. He doesn't talk much about his winnings, but it isn't any secret that the youngster with the big swing has won around a thousand dollars in competition in 1941 and has more tournaments coming up in which to fatten the Worsham bank roll

A thousand bucks is pin money, of course, compared with the cash grabbed by men of the Hogan, Nelson, Wood and Snead stripe, But Lew is on the way, and the time may come when the "Eagle Beak" of the Kenwood caddie pen will be up there in the top money-winning brackets

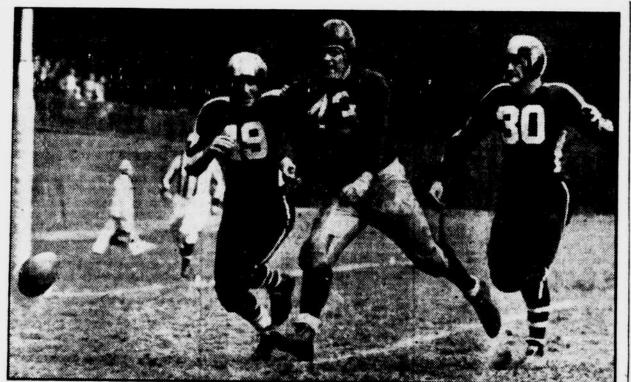

Hasn't Fully Decided.

Right now Lew is toying with the Idea of making the winter tourna-ment tour. It isn't certain he will Meet Voigt Misses go, although a Burning Tree member is willing to back the youngster to the extent of relieving him of financial worry. •

It takes around $1,500 to make the big swing through the winter tournament circuit, starting at Miami early in December, moving wind-up late in March.

Worsham never has taken the big swing. He has played in the bart of play in the tourney at the big swing. He has played in the dam by the bart of the gross prizes at 77. # Break in Main Stops Flow in County For Six Hours

Arliington County officials intenified their efforts today to obtain Federal funds for a large reservoir after a water main break yesterday cut off the supply in many homes during the lunch hour.

The break occurred in the main 22-inch line from the Dalecarlia filration plant near the Virginia end of Chain Bridge.

The break was reported shortly after 10 a.m. and within an hour the 1.500.000-gallon tank at Twenty-fifth street and Old Dominion drive, the county's only reservoir, was almost empty, reducing pressure in the higher sections of the county. The county uses from 4,000,000 to 6.000,-000 gallons a day, a large portion of it during the period from noon to 7 p.m., according to A. T. Lundbrug, county water engineer.

While police were answering more than 1.600 calls from housewives wondering how they were going to prepare their lunches and dinners with little or no water, workmen struggled to repair the break. By about 6 p.m. the repairs had been completed and water pressure restored to the entire county, Mr. Lundberg said

The county now has pending an application for Federal funds to tia, across the Anacostia River from construct a large reservoir to eliminate accidents of this nature. Mr. Lundberg explained. The 1.500,000between the county and a total hour's supply, he said.

The cause of the break was not determined, Mr. Lundberg said.

Boy and Pedestrian, 60, Among Victims; Several Injured

Two men, a woman and a 9-yearold boy died yesterday and early this morning as a result of traffic accidents in the Washington area. The victims:

Crist Tsepouros, 60, of 1304 Queen street N.E., whose death brought the District's fatality toll to 73 for the year, compared with 55 at this time in 1940.

Mrs. Mary Kirst, 48, 1916 Seventeenth street N.W.

Barnard Douglas Stack, 9, of street, Alexandria, Va. William Allison Snyder, 36, a soldier attached to Company F, 44th Engineers, Fort Belvoir, Va.

All except Mr. Tsepouros were injured in Virginia. He and a companion, Makis N. Katsouros, 52, of 1136 Seventh street N.W., were struck by an automobile last night as they were crossing the intersection at Seventh and I streets N.W., police said.

At Casualty Hospital it was determined that Mr. Tsepouros had suffered a fractured skull. He died at 10:40 p.m. three hours after the accident. His companion was treated for compound fracture of his left leg and a possible skull fracture. Police said they were holding the driver, listed as John L. Sullivan, 50, of Alpena, Mich. for a coroner's inquiry.

Collided With Taxi.

Mrs. Kirst, who came here from Little Rock. Ark., died this morning in Emergency Hospital from a skul fracture police said she suffered 10 days ago on the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway.

Police said the car in which she rode was making a turn into the Deaths in Traffic parking space near the bird sanctuary when it was in collision with a taxi driven by Cecil Sandall of 12 Third street S.E. The injured woman was hurried to the hospital by the National Airport police ambulance. Hurt in the same accident was her mother, Mrs. Mabel Chase, of the Seventeenth street address it was reported.

Arlington Seeks U. S. Aid After Water Cutoff

Break in Main Stops Flow in County For Six Hours

Arliington County officials intensified their efforts today to obtain Federal funds for a large reservoir after a water main break vesterday cut off the supply in many homes during the lunch hour.

The break occurred in the main 22-inch line from the Dalecarlia filtration plant near the Virginia end of Chain Bridge.

The break was reported shortly after 10 a.m. and within an hour the 1.500.000-gallon tank at Twenty-fifth street and Old Dominion drive, the county's only reservoir, was almost empty, reducing pressure in the higher sections of the county. The county uses from 4,000,000 to 6,000,-000 gallons a day, a large portion of it during the period from noon to 7 p.m., according to A. T. Lundbrug, county water engineer.

While police were answering more than 1,600 calls from housewives wondering how they were going to prepare their lunches and dinners with little or no water, workmen struggled to repair the break. By about 6 p.m. the repairs had been completed and water pressure restored to the entire county, Mr. Lundberg said

The county now has pending an application for Federal funds to construct a large reservoir to eliminate accidents of this nature, Mr. Lundberg explained. The 1.500.000gallon tank, which is all that stands partments had saved $1,072,509 in between the county and a total drought, is little more than an hour's supply, he said. The cause of the break was not

Supreme Council Plans Reception for Members Tonight

The Supreme Council, Southerin Jurisdiction of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry today opened its five-day biennial conference at the House of the Temple, Sixteenth and S streets N.W

Presided over by Col. John H Cowles of this city, grand commander, the council held a business session this morning and planned to go to Mount Vernon this afternoon to lay a wreath on the Tomb of George Washington.

The morning session was given over principally to administrative business of the Council. Grand Comdr. Cowles also conducted a memorial service for the dead who had been members of the various Supreme Councils throughout the world. Music for this was presented by Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, soprano, accompanied by Harry G Kimball at the organ, and trumpeters from Fort Myer, headed by Louis S. Yassel, a member of the Scottish Rite, who is leader of the Army Band at Fort Myer.

A reception will be held at the House of the Temple at 8 o'clock tonight by the Supreme Council to which all Scottish Rite Masons and their guests have been invited. There will be a musical program featuring Edward C. O'Dell, organist of Baltimore, and the Chevy Chase Chanters.

Special Ceremonies.

The council tomorrow will honor outstanding Scottish Rite masons by selecting those to receive the Thirtythird Degree and the degree known as Knight Commander of the Court of Honor. The K. C. C. H. degree will be conferred Wednesday night at ceremonies open also to Thirtysecond Degree Masons and the Thirty-second Degree will be conferred Friday night, following a banquet for the men newly elected to this highest degree of the Scottish Rite

Many distinguished members of the Rite are in Washington for the sessions. C. F. Kleinknecht of this city is acting secretary general of the council, and council members are present from all parts of the Southern jurisdiction, which includes those States south of Ohio, west of the Mississippi and the territories of the United States.

Among the active members of the council is Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former chief of staff of the Army and war-time commander of the 1st Division overseas.

Tribute to Gen. Price. Representing the Northern Jurisdiction Scottish Rite, of which he is grand commander, is Melvin M. Johnson of Boston, dean of Boston University School of Law and former grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Massachusetts Tribute was paid yesterday to the memory of Gen. Albert Pike of Arkansas, who was grand comander of the Southern Jurisdiction from 1859 to 1891. His name is perpetuated here by the Albert Pike Consistory of Scottish Rite, whose temple is at 2800 Sixteenth street N.W. The eulogy to Gen. Pike was delivered at the House of the Temple vesterday afternoon by Dr. Claud F. Young of Fort Scott. Kans., after which the council went to Oak Hill Cemetery to place a wreath on his grave.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES. Argentina, Oct. 20 .- Nicolas Repetto, Socialist presidential candidate in 1937. yesterday urged Argentina to abandon her policy of strict neutrality and to join with the nations which fight for the defeat of Germany."

The administration has been weak. Mr. Repetto said, in its attitude toward the virtual demand of the Chamber of Deputies for ouster of the German Ambassador, Baron Edmund von Thermann, on grounds of activities hostile to Argentina.

Mr. Repetto said Argentina should not wait for Berlin to act, but "exercising an essential right should provoke the departure of an un-wanted diplomat."

Secretary and Mrs. Knox Honored in Norfolk at Ship Ceremonies

Mrs. McLean Hostess at Dinner at Friendship; Party in Chevy Chase Fetes Gen. and Mrs. Surles

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Frank Knox are taking part in the social activities connected with the commissioning of the aircraft carrier Hornet, which was sponsored at its launching by Mrs. Knox. Today's ceremonies, at which the Secretary and Mrs. Knox are honor guests, are taking place in Norfolk.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ralph A. Bard were hosts to the Knoxes over the week end at the Bards' place, Half-In Plantation, near Randolph, Va. The Secretary and Mrs. Knox flew there Friday from Washington.

Mrs. Edward Beale McLean Is Hostess at Dinner Party.

Washington itself had a number of gay parties on yesterday's calendar, two prominent Sunday hostesses being Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, who entertained at dinner last evening, and Mrs. John Thomas Taylor, who, with Col. Taylor, entertained at cocktails in honor of the new director of public relations of the Army and Mrs. Alexander Day Surles.

At Friendship, Mrs. McLean's guests included diplomats, members of Congress and those from official Washington, and the dinner was followed by the showing of a new film.

Mrs. McLean received in the drawing room and as usual her famous Hope diamond flashed against her black gown.

Gen. and Mrs. Surles Feted in Chevy Chase.

The cocktail party for Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Surles was held at the Chevy Chase home of Col. and Mrs. Taylor, who received in the drawing room with their honor guests. ter and the Abigail Hartman Rice of an athlete.

The story thus jar: Clare Calridge, daughter of the wealthy lawyer and banker, Stephen Calridge, announces to her widowed jather that she is going to take up flying. Remembering the girl's mother, Steve smiles sadly, but consents, and an hour or so later Clare is at the new airport in the office of the manager, Clay Hanley. The two antagonize each other immediately, almost before they speak, and, after it is finally agreed that the first lesson will be at 1 that afternoon. Clare pays in advance and goes out to look over the place. As she leaves the office Clay discovers what it was that made her familiar: It was her picture over the words "With all my love" that he had sent back to Mrs. Caswell after her son Roger had been killed while testing a new bomber out on the Coast.

by these insect pests. Farmers held a council to outwit these grain consumers. They planted wheat after the date when the flies were most abundant, and the result showed a material reduction of loss. From 1926 to 1936 the estimated amount needed to supply the appetite of the Hessian flies was something like 17,030,000 bushels. What about this intruder that is consuming such quantities of important food material? The Hessian fly is the most famous of the tiny flies in the family Ceidomyiidae. It lives in its larval state in the stems of wheat. Ordinarily the word sanction means "approval; authorization recognition." Lately, however, t word has been given a new meani that may not be found in your di tionary.

Economic sanctions are measure that a nation takes to prevent a other nation from receiving fina cial aid, raw materials, foodstui munitions, etc., with which to pr pare for or carry on a war. San tions may be applied by a suspe sion of credit, by a refusal to sell ship vital materials, or by actu blockade of a country. Nations m edopt sanctions against a coun with which they are technically peace.

'Quiet Wedding' Finds Fun In Becoming a Bedlam

New Film at Pix, Bombed Five Times, Was Completed to Become One Of Season's Brighter Comedies

By JAY CARMODY.

A foreword to "Quiet Wedding," the gentle, unassuming little picture which was bombed out of its English studio five times before it was completed says it will steal your heart. Bless your heart, that is precisely what it does and those who miss it do so to their own loss. Not since "Call It a Day" has anything so simple and charming as the picture at the Pix come along to prove that the trivia of life can be so dramatic and amusing thony Asquith, who also directed "Pygmalion.' has the spirit of a family album. It is nothing more than an unretouched photograph of life itself, that part of life represented in the marriage of a sweet and pretty English girl to a handsome, up-

man. But the drama and humor of its incident, its character and its dialogue is so beguiling it leaves ments in "Quiet Wedding."

The picture starts with a young man stammering a bad proposal to the bored brother and the emotionthe pretty girl. She says yes. A little sister hears the whole thing. whispers it to some one and it is all over the community in a few minutes. Then and there, the whole thing is taken out of the hands of the lovers. They merely want to be married, but the families, the ser-
