Sinking of James To Spur Training Of Army, Says Drum

Importance of Carolina Maneuvers Brought Out By Incident, Officers Told

By the Associated Press. CAMDEN, S. C., Nov. 1.—First Army officers met their troops with a new tenseness today because of Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum's reference to the torpedoing of the destroyer U. S. S. Reuben James, in the North Atlantic.

Seven thousand of the leaders—commissioned and non-commissioned—heard their commander say last night that the news of the evening was "adequate proof of the seriousness with which we are training."

He was praising and criticizing the work of approximately 200,000 men of the North Atlantic States who have been participating in training battles in North and South Carolina for a month.

Echoes Gen. Truesdale. "We all must realize our best efforts are needed, not only in the interests of our country but in the interest of preserving lives of our men in any engagement in the future," Gen. Drum said.

His words followed closely those of Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdale, commander of the 6th Army Corps, who declared the "effectiveness of our training is not far enough along."

Referring to errors of his soldiers in the week's exercise against Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall's 2d Corps, Gen. Truesdale announced his command (1st and 26th Divisions) would begin drilling on days ordinarily devoted to rest.

Battle Technique Sloppy. "In the battle technique of the small unit we are getting sloppy," he said. "We are slurring along. We must learn how to bring men, weapons and ammunition up to the front as we would in a real battle, not fought in the middle of the road sitting in trucks."

Speaking of the Army as a whole Gen. Drum said there still were defects to be remedied but troop leadership in the small units had improved greatly and the chain of command, from corps headquarters down through regiments, was strengthening.

Pedestrian Killed By Hit-and-Run Auto; Confession Reported

Police Say Youth Tried To Divert Suspicion By Stolen Car Ruse

Police of the Accident Prevention Unit said today an 18-year-old colored youth had admitted he was the driver of a hit-and-run automobile which struck and killed a pedestrian last night in the 1500 block of Fourth street N.W.

The victim was Willis Scott, 35, colored, of the 1000 block of Euclid street N.W. He became Washington's 79th traffic fatality of the year when he died in Casualty Hospital less than an hour after being struck.

The youth in custody attempted to divert suspicion from himself by going to No. 2 precinct station and reporting his car stolen, police revealed. The A. P. U. was notified of this action because the license tags of his car bore the same last three numerals as witnesses said were on those of the hit-and-run vehicle. The suspect was taken to headquarters and after persistent questioning changed his story.

Auto Abandoned.
Police said he then told them two other youths were in the car. He related that they parked the car around a corner after the accident and returned to the scene. Hearing the three license figures mentioned, he said, they decided to use the "stolen car" ruse and drove to fourteenth and Perry streets N.E. where they abandoned the automobile after tampering with locks and damaging wiring to lend credence to the story.

Police remained puzzled by failure of relatives to claim the body of a boy about 11 years old who was fatally injured by a skidding automobile yesterday afternoon while he was standing on the sidewalk at Bladensburg road and Eastern avenue N.E. He was dressed in a Halloween cowboy suit.

The A. P. U. today continued to seek two other hit-and-run drivers who struck and injured pedestrians in Washington.

Grace Bray, 26, colored, of the 1600 block of V street N.W. was knocked down early today at Third and N streets N.W. She was taken to Georgetown Hospital and admitted for treatment of face injuries.

Another car failed to stop last night after hitting John Johnson, 18, colored, of the first block of Pierce street N.W. at Fifth and R streets N.W. He was treated in Freedmen's Hospital for lacerations and released.

Bert Atkinson, 56, of Berwyn, Md., was in Casualty Hospital with a compound leg fracture and a fractured elbow received early today when struck by a hit-and-run automobile on the Washington-Baltimore boulevard near Berwyn.

James Henry McKeever, 5, of 1204 Sixth street N.W. was admitted to a private hospital yesterday with cuts, bruises and shock after being knocked down by a car in the 400 block of N street S.W.

Two Killed, 5 Hurt as Auto Goes Through Guard Rail

HARRISONBURG Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Two persons were injured fatally and five others hurt yesterday when their automobile crashed through a guard rail on a wet roadway and dropped into an underpass below, 14 miles north of Harrisonburg on the Valley pike.

State Trooper E. P. Landers listed the dead as: Mrs. Lill Giles, 75, of Pleasantville, N. J., who died before an ambulance arrived, and William O. Perkins, 75, also of Pleasantville, who died in a Harrisonburg hospital a few hours later.

Armistice Eve Service Planned at St. Matthew's

A pre-armistice vesper service in memory of every veteran who died in an American war will be held under the sponsorship of the Committee for Departmental Organization, Catholic War Veterans, at the Cathedral of St. Matthew the Apostle, 1700 block of Rhode Island avenue N.W., at 7:30 p.m. November 9. The service will be open to all veterans, auxiliary members and friends, Catholic and non-Catholic. The Right Rev. Msgr. Edward L. Buckley, rector of the Cathedral, will preside at the service.

Announcement also was made that William T. Slattery, past department commander of the District American Legion, will be installed as commander of the Father Francis J. Hurley Post, No. 112, Catholic War Veterans, at Carroll Hall, Tenth and H streets N.W., at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Other officers who will assume their duties at that time are Matthew Angevine, first vice commander; Charles J. Dean, second vice commander; John Joseph Murphy, third vice commander, and J. Frederick Burns, adjutant and treasurer.

Virginia State Society Elects Judge McCarthy

Circuit Judge Walter T. McCarthy of Arlington was elected president of the Virginia State Society at a short meeting prior to the entertainment

Army Relies Heavily On Its Cooks to Keep Fighters in Trim

Proper Nutrition Pays In Stamina and Morale, Col. Howe Tells Surgeons

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 1.—The Army's cooks and bakers were described today as the generals in the present preparedness program. Col. Paul E. Howe of the Army

Sanitary Corps, Washington, D. C., told the Association of Military Surgeons at the final meeting of the organization's annual session today "nutritional accounting" instead of cost accounting was the factor which would keep America's fighting forces in trim for any job required of them. The Army today is carrying out a program of nutrition which is unprecedented in history, he declared.

Nutrition Fighting Slogan.
"From the generals in command of corps areas down to the kitchen police proper nutrition is becoming a fighting slogan," Col. Howe said.

"The development of the science of nutrition has brought evidence of the possibilities of efficiency and stamina in an adequately fed soldier and, conversely, of low morale in an ineffective, listless soldier—even with partial nutritive deficiencies which have been detected in individuals of all walks of life and all levels of income, as the result of poor diets."

The Army is not wasting the $2,000,000 a day spent in feeding 1,600,000 men, he declared. The buying, shipping, preparation and serving of 4,800,000 meals a day is supervised more closely than any housewife or hotel chef could dream of.

The chief difficulty now is in finding nutrition specialists to supervise the purchase and distribution of thousands of pounds of food daily and insure that it will be properly cooked, Col. Howe said.

"Our Army is today better fed than any other army in history," he declared, "but there is still a great deal of room for improvement in utilizing the knowledge which we have and in educating our soldiers in proper nutrition—a lesson which may be of great value in improving the food habits of all our people."

Greenough Support Suit Names Sally Rand

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Naming Fan Dancer Sally Rand as the new heart interest of her husband, Mrs. Helen A. Greenough has filed suit for separate maintenance against Rodeo Rider Thurkel (Turk) Greenough. Mrs. Greenough, asking $100 a week, declared Mr. Greenough called her long distance October 4 from the East and told her he was in love with someone else—then to prove it put Sally on the wire and had her confirm his sentiments.

The Greenoughs were married April 5, 1933, in Red Lodge, Mont., parting last September 1.

Mr. Greenough filed suit for divorce October 28 at Billings, Mont., charging desertion.

Choosing now, you avoid any possibility of disappointment later, when stocks grow less.

All in a secluded corner on our First Floor—but how it sparkles with Christmas anticipation—is the Engraving Room, where you sit comfortably, quietly, being just as pleasantly pick-and-choosey as you like—seeing hundreds of cards—discovering one that looks exactly as though the artist had known all along what you wanted.

Blithe cards that brim with joyous greetings—quiet cards with all the serenity of Christmas' deeper import—cards in striking modern designs—cards gay with Christmas tradition—cards in conservative mood—cards especially for men—cards engagingly feminine—cards with space to represent each member of the family even unto pussy or puppy—cards that show Colonial landmarks round about Washington—even balloons to "inflate" your greetings amusingly, and cards gleaming with celluloid—listing them cannot begin to tell you how excitingly varied they are—how ingenious some of them are—what fun it is to see and compare them all.

Choose from such well-known, such popular series as the American Artists Group (most of them, this year, in Christmas-spirited colors), Hallmark, Norcross, Etchcraft, Hollywood, Brownie Block prints and others deserving fame. Most personal of all—cards that frame charmingly photographs of your home or your baby, your whole family or a beloved pet.

Prices begin at $2.50 for 50c cards imprinted with your name—so you may make your selection as thriftily or lavishly as you like.

A Treasury of Original American Masterpieces

Another New Personality—instead of a card, you may have your name printed in Christmas greeting on your choice of books, all about Christmas or in Yuletide mood. Ten titles are included and you may have each boxed separately or send all ten, beautifully packaged. 25 with name, $14.75.

National Gallery of Art Cards—a New Series of Prints from Famous Paintings in the National Gallery

Rich copies of paintings noted even in so notable a collection—favorites for their gracious individuality, newest and most distinguished of personal cards for you. Twelve designs are included—24 cards (2 of each design), $4; 96 cards (8 of each design), $11.

Price includes your name on cards

Realty Meeting To Study Effect Of Priorities

Home Builders Seek To Solve Problems New Order Creates

By JAMES Y. NEWTON. The effect of defense priorities on every phase of home building and real estate will be a chief topic of discussion throughout the big convention in Detroit, next week of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Home builders are hopeful a program can be worked out that will enable them to continue in operation and at the same time use no more materials termed "critical" than the O. P. M. says they can.

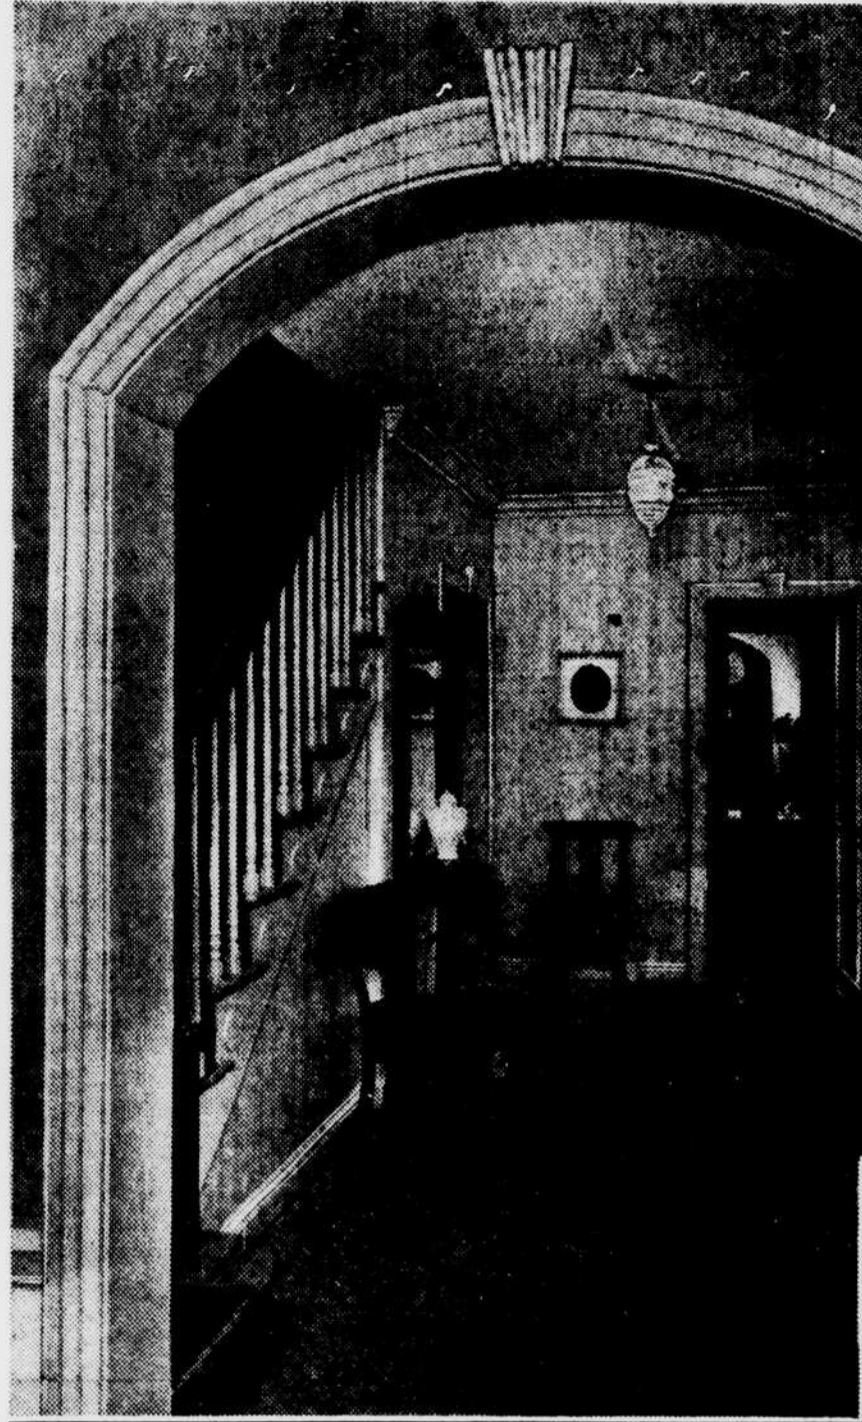

Fight to Lift Ban Likely. Some builders of higher-priced homes, faced with the necessity of closing shop by priority restrictions they term "fair," are expected to fight to have the convention go on record as favoring complete lifting of the restrictions.

Defense housing priority officials will be on hand in Detroit and will meet again with the builders.

Defense Housing Units May Total 200,000

The record of private housing construction in defense areas indicates that the 200,000 housing units for defense workers, allocated by the Government to private financing, will be rapidly provided.

For the 200,000 new defense dwelling units, for which the defense housing co-ordinator has provided priorities assistance from the Office of Production Management, applications for critical materials have already been received from builders covering nearly one-half of the total figure, it was reported at the meeting.

Exhibit Home Goes Into Its Second Week

Crestwood Dwelling Hailed as One of Year's Best

Hailed by many as the most attractive home presented in Washington this year, the big New Orleans Colonial dwelling at 1811 Quincy street N.W. tomorrow will enter the second week of its exhibition period.

The spacious, white-painted brick house overlooks Rock Creek Park in Crestwood, the community of higher-priced homes which is nearest downtown Washington. It was built by Paul P. Stone and Avon Shockey. The architect was Arthur L. Anderson. Mazon masterpieces decorated and furnished it completely, even to the large maid's room. Crestwood is a development of Stone, Lord & Caldwell.

The beautiful home, on a large tree-dotted lot, was indorsed unanimously by the building experts who comprise the Silver Star Homes Committee. This group acts on all applications for the coveted Star Award. James S. Taylor of the Federal Housing Administration is chairman of the committee.

Motorists may reach the home by driving out Sixteenth street N.W. to Shepherd street. Turn left on Shepherd street two blocks to Eighteenth street and left again to the home.

The 11th Silver Star Home of 1941 is a charming white-painted brick house with deep blue-green shutters and iron grillwork and it has all the gracious hospitality of the deep South mansion in a setting of brilliant landscaped oak trees to the home. Within are many interesting and unusual comforts and conveniences, combined with very fine detailing in the way of paneling, overhead treatment, cornice and fireplace mantels that deserve special mention. and eliminates the necessity of moving the radiator from the wall. Yet the valve's cubic dimension is larger, accounting for its greater venting capacity.

These valves can be installed on any existing one-pipe steam-heating plant that is automatically fired. No piping changes are necessary.

Paint Brush Saver.

The easiest way for the home-owning painter to save his paint brushes is to lay them in a saucer of turpentine or stand them in a paint can filled with turpentine.

YOUR American ANTIQUES

BY CARL W. DREPPERD

As the late A. Edward Newton once said, "Sir, there are times in this business of collecting when one must approach certain objects with bared head; that is the only way for a book collector to look at a Gutenberg Bible."

lectors feel the same way about some things, and certainly "lowboys" such as we are privileged to show today are in this elect category. Alice Winchester, the editor of Antiques, when sending us these photographs said: "Here are three gems."

ing with common antiques. You are dealing in old masters, in works of art. Just who first made this unique piece of furniture is not known. Whether the lowboy came before the highboy or vice versa we do not know for sure.

Study Seeks Savings And Simplification In Construction

Consumers Are Expected To Benefit by Lower Building Costs

An all-industry study to effect economies and simplification in construction through the co-ordination of dimensions of building materials and equipment has been organized by the American Standards Association, with the American Institute of Architects and the Producers' Council as sponsors.

A sectional committee of 53 members and 22 alternates, representing various groups connected with or interested in the building industry, is conducting the project.

The chairman of the committee is Max H. Foley of Voorhees, Walker, Foley & Smith, New York architects, representing the American Institute of Architects.

Called More Efficient. "Co-ordination," the announcement explains, "is a rationalization of sizes and dimensions, opening the way to progress in many directions.

Standardization of Parts. "Since it is not practicable to standardize the product of the building industry, the finished building, this broad purpose will be accomplished in 13 colonies and in the first tier of new States the lowboy flourished.

Today they are to be found, well worth the prices asked, in the shops of many antique dealers. And I know of no better investment for the wise coming collector than a lowboy of authentic design, and as nearly in original condition as time and wear has allowed.

IN WINDSOR HEIGHTS—New home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley M. Skillman at Lanark way and Markham street, Silver Spring, which they purchased through the office of F. R. Spear, Inc.

plished by the standardization of parts without standardizing the building. Certain branches of the building industry have already made important progress in the standardization of sizes for building materials and accessories and, as a result, are now enjoying substantial economies and advantages.

Advantages Declared Recognized. The advantages of a greater degree of co-ordination of dimensions of building materials and equipment, the announcement states, has long been recognized by those seeking economies in the fabrication of the component parts of buildings and their assembly in completed structures.

Washington Gas Light Reports Revenues Above Year Ago

$539,994 in September Compares With $530,527 in 1940 Month

By EDWARD C. STONE.

Operating revenues of the Washington Gas Light Co. for September, 1941, as shown by the company's report filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday, were $539,994, compared with $530,527 for September last year. Operating expenses amounted to $559,932 this September, an increase of $36,836 over September of a year ago, resulting in a reduction in net operating revenue of $27,369.

Non-operating income increased $4,498 over last year to a total of $24,362. Income deductions were $1,073 higher, and the final figure for September was a seasonal loss of $57,547, compared with a loss of $33,603 for September last year.

Higher Taxes Reduce Net. The result of the company's operations for the first nine months of 1941 was a net income of $399,335, compared with $963,851 for the same period in 1940. The reduction of $24,516 is attributable to higher taxes—the increase in this item during the same period being approximately $170,000.

The report shows gas sales of 783,337 M cubic feet for the month, compared with 762,414 M cubic feet for September last year. There were 135,371 meters in service in the District of Columbia on September 30, 1941, an increase of 7 per cent over last year. The company expended approximately $238,000 in September and $1,332,000 in the first nine months of this year for extensions of its property in Washington.

Railroad Earnings Soar. Class I railroads in the southern district in the first nine months of this year had an estimated net income after interest and rentals of $55,306,173, compared with $30,861,100 in the like period last year.

The same roads had a net operating income of $104,449,124, compared with $50,369,673 in the same 1940 period. Operating revenues in the nine months were 28 per cent better than last year.

In September last year, net income amounted to $6,734,093, compared with $1,649,332 in September, 1940.

Selected Stocks Up Fractions at Close Of Dull Session

Chrysler Improves, Union Pacific Hits New 1941 Low

By VICTOR EUBANK.

Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The stock market tumbled in a little specialized recovery today, but there still was enough speculative static to interfere with any real comeback program.

A number of extra dividends and favorable earnings reports propped sentiment to some extent, brokers said, although clouded by news of labor and indefinite war developments.

Wall Street seemed to have calmed down after yesterday's sell-off in the wake of the United States destroyer sinking. The suggestion was heard that a lot of buyers may have been pretty well discounted by the recent market decline. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks suffered its worst drop of the year in October, falling 27 points.

The list started the brief session today with mild upward inclinations here and there. While fractional advances were plentiful at the close, minus signs also were numerous. Dealings were sluggish at times and transfers ran to around 250,000 shares for the two hours.

Chrysler, one of the relatively weak peaks of Friday, revived today, attracting support, included Bethlehem, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texas Corp., Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Caterpillar Tractor, International Harvester, New York Shipbuilding, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, International Mercantile Marine, Kennecott and Western Union.

Standard Oil of California pushed up when directors voted an extra dividend of 40 cents a common share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents. This brought the company's disbursements for 1941 to $1,500, larger since the $2-a-share paid in 1937.

Union Pacific slipped to a new 1941 bottom along with Public Service of New Jersey, Commonwealth Edison and North American. Among laggards were Cerro de Pasco, General Northern, Santa Fe, Montgomery Ward, American Tobacco "B" Air Reduction and International Nickel.

Bonds and commodities were irregular throughout.

Pensacola: How do you pronounce the word REAR, as in "Hold her, Newt, she's a-rearin'?"—P. H. Answer—The verb rear (to rise up on the hind legs) should not rhyme with bare, care, dare.

Jamaica: Who is the author of the expression "The straight and narrow path"?—S. S. Answer—It is from the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew vii, 14: "Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

Portland: The society columns make a bad mistake in stating that some young woman marries a man. They should say that the man marries the woman.—Mrs. R. E. M. Answer—Sorry, Webster's: "Marry. To join a man to a woman as his wife, or a woman to a man as her husband; used indifferently of either."

San Pedro: Please explain and pronounce the word FACETIOUS.—D. B. Answer—The word means "given to somewhat unseemly jesting." The pronunciation is: fuh-SEE-shuss.

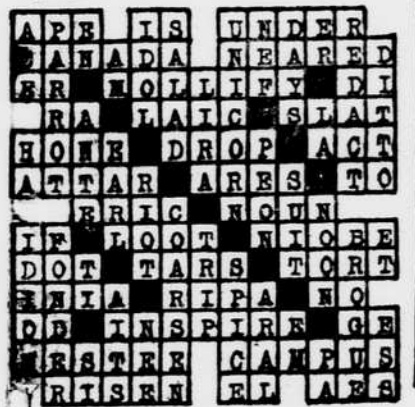

Cleveland: How should I say the word GHERKIN?—McN. Answer—The "g" is hard as in girl; rhyme the first syllable with her. Say: GER-kin.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

—A Little Saturday Talk

Not long ago I met a 13-year-old girl who has spent several years of her life in India. She lived there when she was a "tiny tot" and went back in 1939, to stay until the present year. Thinking that readers would like to know something about this girl's experiences, I asked her to write me a letter. Here it is: "When we went to India about two years ago, my sister and I were surprised because we had thought we would never go back. We had forgotten some things about the country, but we knew we'd like it better than staying in boarding school. My father was the supervisor of a bank in Bombay, so we had quite a number of servants, nine of them. Many families there have lots of servants, because labor is cheap, and each Hindu servant will do only one kind of work. The butter will not cook, and the person who makes the beds won't clean the floors. "Hindus think cows are holy, and if one lies down in the street, only a priest can move it. Once a cow died on the steps of the bank and nobody could go inside until a Hindu priest came and took it away. "When we were up in the hill station called Matheran, there were monkeys which would come into the place you were living in—if you didn't have bars on the windows. If they got inside, the monkeys would steal things; they like silver and mirrors best. "One time some people we knew didn't have bars, and a monkey came in and stole a bottle filled with candy. They had been saving it for their children, who were very sorry to lose it. "In India the winter is the best time of the year. The weather grows hot in the spring, but you don't feel it much because people there take life easy and stay indoors from 10 o'clock in the morning until half-past 3 in the afternoon. "Sincerely yours, "Katherine Anne Hayden." I am glad to publish letters such as the one Katherine wrote for us. If readers who have lived in foreign lands will write me about the customs there, I shall be pleased. So far as I can find space, I shall publish letters of that kind. If you wish to join the 1941 Uncle Ray Scrapbook Club, send me a self-addressed envelope. You will receive a membership certificate, a leaflet telling how to make a scrapbook and a printed design to paste on the cover. Address me in care of The Evening Star.
