Mr. Kading said he will file murder charges against the youths today. According to the attorney, the pair signed statements admitting the fatal beating of Mr. Shaddle and added they obtained $19, which was divided between them. The merchant died last Saturday a few hours after he had been found unconscious on a sidewalk near his home. Mr. Kading quoted Ramsey as saying, "We expected to get a little spending money. U. S. Promises Help In Arming Poles in Soviet, Sikorski Says

60,000 Kits on Way From America, Premier Asserts, En Route to Moscow

By the Associated Press.
TEHERAN, Iran, Nov. 27 (Delayed).—Premier Sikorski of the Polish government declared today that President Roosevelt had promised lease-lend help in arming a Polish army on Soviet soil.
After making his statement, Premier Sikorski left by Soviet plane for Moscow to complete arrangements with Premier Stalin.
Polish staff officers and Lt. Col. Townsend Griffiss of the United States Army Air Corps accompanied Sikorski in another heavily-armed Russian plane. Griffiss was bound for Kubyshyev.
Sikorski told foreign correspondents that 50,000 British uniforms and firearms had been distributed to Polish soldiers in Russia, while another 50,000 had arrived at Archangel and 60,000 kits were on the way from the United States.
"You might say I'm going to Russia to fetch the golden fleece," said Sikorski, who has just arrived from the Libyan front.
He said he would "like to see Polish forces fighting in the front line as soon as possible," and described the outlook as good for "creating a strong Polish army" from the half million of his countrymen now in Russia.
Sikorski said he had the "full support of Britain and President Roosevelt," and that the transport question was the "greatest difficulty" to be overcome in creating a Polish fighting force.

up to the Tokio government and that any further aggressive gestures by that government will bring immediate complementary action here. Seemingly desirous of avoiding the precipitation of actual war in the Pacific area, the Chief Executive disclosed the United States position on arming of merchant ships in a formal statement read to his press audience. In the reading he emphasized that the decision prevails only under "existing circumstances."
At the same time Mr. Roosevelt announced that cargo ships sailing on routes between the United States and ports of Spain, Portugal and other adjacent island possessions also will not be armed and further broadened this non-combat condition for vessels in inter-American trade with Central and South American ports.
Up to the time of revising the Neutrality Act and the wiping out of the restricted combat zones, Portuguese ports were the only entry for American shipping into Europe. It has been generally considered advantageous not only to this country but to all of Europe's belligerents to leave relatively safe this one shipping lane between the United States and Europe. The decision today not to arm vessels going to those ports evidently is calculated to carry on this understanding.
Mr. Roosevelt made it clear in a long news conference, however, that this Government considers the current Pacific crisis as the most serious problem now being faced. After emphasizing his declaration that merchant ships will not now be armed in the Pacific, the President was asked how long he expects the present conditions to prevail.
His answer was that the question should be answered at Tokio rather than at Washington.
Talks to Continue.
To a further question of whether recent Japanese-American conversations have been terminated, Mr. Roosevelt replied that they have not. American conduct in the entire consideration of the Pacific problem, the President added, has been one of infinite patience.
A restatement of this Government's opposition to Japanese policies of aggression in the East was handed to the Tokio representatives Wednesday night, and Mr. Roosevelt's attitude today

Kitty O'Neill, Musical Comedy Star of 80s, Dies at Home Here

Kitty O'Neill will be buried here tomorrow.
That name, for the younger generation, will mean little. But for an older generation it means the famous Boston belle and musical comedy star of the 80s.
Kitty O'Neill—Mrs. Catherine G. Johnson in private life—died Tuesday at her home, 512 First street S.E. Famed for her long red hair, she helped make famous such song hits as "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." She appeared with many stage notables during a career that began in 1870, when she was 16 years old, and ended in 1896.
Mrs. Johnson always retained her interest in the stage and stage personalities.
In her later years she described the younger generation of actors as "wonderful," but she also observed that they "put on too much," and failed to "let themselves go."

She thought, too, that the stars of today are pampered, recalling that when she was a leading lady at Albaugh's Theater here in 1880, she received $45 a week.
Mrs. Johnson met her husband, Frederick W. Johnson, while on tour in Newark, N. J., in 1893. A musician, he died last year. Two daughters, Mrs. Edna M. Greene and Mrs. Cora McFadden, survive. Mrs. Johnson made her home with Mrs. Greene here. Her grandson, William McFadden, a theatrical manager in New York City, played the lead in "Abie's Irish Rose" at the National Theater here several years ago.
Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Chambers' funeral home, 517 Eleventh street S.E. Requiem mass will be said at St. Peter's Catholic Church at 11 a.m. Burial will be in George Washington Memorial Park.

Polish Tenor Flies 1,500 Miles To Sing Lead in Chicago Opera

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Jan Klepura, the 37-year-old Polish singer who shouldered a gun in the 1939 defense of Warsaw, rapidly is becoming America's farthest flying opera singer.
Today this good-will ambassador, sent to the United States by the Free Polish government in London, is flying 1,500 miles from Edmonton in Northwest Canada to sing the lead in "La Boheme" at Chicago's $20,000,000 civic opera house.

In 60 days Mr. Klepura's flying tour has taken him to Hollywood Bowl in California, back to New York, south to Puerto Rico in the West Indies, and then by long hops to Mexico City, Youngstown, Ohio, and Edmonton, Alberta. British war relief officials have arranged another flying tour of Canada for him in January.

By then he will have outdistanced Grace Moore, who made a 36,000-mile excursion around South America last winter.
Singing with Klepura in tonight's performance will be Edith Mason, a queen of the Metropolitan Opera in the days of the first World War, and later the leading soprano of the Chicago Opera in the palmy era when Samuel Insull paid the bills. Miss Mason is coming out of retirement to make this single appearance of the season.

Tomadelli's Bond Reduced to $10,000; Hearing Continued

Art Collector Arrested On Second Charge Of Mail Fraud

United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage today reduced from $15,000 to $10,000 the bond of Juan J. Tomadelli, 55, charged twice with using the mails to defraud, and continued for 10 days the preliminary hearing on the second charge, which was placed yesterday.

Mr. Tomadelli, known here as Count Tomadelli, is accused of obtaining nearly half a million dollars from a New Jersey businessman through schemes involving paintings and patents on "electronic light."

He was released last night on $15,000 bond after his arrest in a downtown hotel by Deputy United States Marshal Howard Hughes, who bore a Federal warrant charging a $653 mail fraud.

Mr. Turnage, Assistant United States Attorney John W. Fihelly and Myron G. Ehrlich, attorney for Mr. Tomadelli, agreed at the hearing today that passage of time had released a previous bond covering another similar charge. The commissioner explained he did not want a double bond.

Mr. Tomadelli had been at liberty on $15,000 bond since last January when he was arrested on the first charge of mail fraud linked to the case. At that time, he was living in a suite at the Shoreham Hotel, which contained a number of oil paintings. The Government said Mr. Tomadelli claimed they were "old masters" but in fact were of little value.

Mr. Fihelly said that action on the initial charge was interrupted after one witness had testified before a grand jury. The charge still stands, he added. Mr. Fihelly explained that each alleged mailing of a letter resulting in fraud gives basis for a charge.

24 Sinkings in Month Claimed by British

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 28.—Authoritative British sources said today that thus far in November 24 Axis ships have been sunk, four probably sunk and 13 hit in attacks by the Royal Navy and Air Force in the Mediterranean.

Since August the Royal Navy has sunk or damaged 139 Axis ships in the same waters, they added.

They also denied Axis reports that the battleship Malaya had been damaged, saying "she is doing her work as usual."

"The German high command announced November 15, at the same time that the aircraft carrier Ark Royal was sunk, that the Malaya had been damaged. The German radio yesterday repeated this claim."

These sources said there was no confirmation of Rome's claim today to the sinking of three British submarines.

Truman Denounces 'Promoting Officers For Extravagance'

Yoo-Hoo Incident Taken More Seriously Than Waste, Mead Says

A Senate investigation of defense expenditures in connection with the building of the Wolf Creek ordnance plant in Tennessee was in recess today until Monday after hearing Chairman Truman denounce the War Department's Quartermaster Division for "promoting officers for waste and extravagance."

Senator Truman made his remarks yesterday during testimony on construction of the shell-loading plant at Milan, Tenn. He had previously described testimony of alleged waste at the project as "shocking."

While the cost of the project was originally estimated at $20,000,000, the committee has received evidence that $51,000,000 already has been spent although it still is unfinished.

Senator Mead, Democrat, of New York, remarked that the relations between Maj. Paul Brewer, former constructing quartermaster on the job and the contractors constituted a game of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours."

Claims Relatives Hired.
Senator Truman said the evidence indicated that Maj. Brewer was ineffective because after his "sisters and his cousins and his aunts were taken care of by the contractor, he came down off his pedestal and he couldn't tell them what to do so they went ahead and did just what they pleased."

Senator Mead said a recent incident where soldiers yoo-hooed at girls on a golf course was apparently taken more seriously by the Army than "waste of Government funds." He inquired what penalty might be applied to a representative of the Quartermaster Corps guilty of "malfeasance" and whether he was "subject to military court-martial."

"Yes," Senator Truman replied, "but in the cases investigated by this committee it has been the custom of the Quartermaster Corps to promote those responsible for the things we have found."

The senatorial remarks interrupted questioning of Maj. Glenn R. Hofto, present constructing quartermaster of the Wolf Creek plant about the activities of his predecessor, Maj. Brewer, and his relations with the contractors, the Ferguson-Oman Co.

Maj. Hofto said he had received the "heartiest co-operation" from the contractors after he took over the project and told them he would see that they lived up to their contract.

Offices Disorganized.
Concerning Maj. Brewer, Maj. Hofto said:

"He made mistakes, of course. I do know I found the offices were disorganized and that no one seemed to be taking much responsibility."

Maj. Hofto said Gilbert Olson, mentioned yesterday as a $750 a month co-ordinator employed by the contractors at Maj. Brewer's suggestion, seemed to be handling the situation.

Maj. Hofto said he found considerable evidence of idle equipment for which no use was being made but on which the Government was paying rent and that he put a stop to that practice.

Earlier the committee counsel, Hugh A. Fulton, produced correspondence he said he had from the Denny-Caldwell Co., Milan automobile dealers. This, he said, showed that the dealers "wrote up" the value of 61 Chevrolet trucks purchased for rental to the project. As a result of the write-up he said, the value of the trucks was set at $10,000 more than they cost.

This correspondence was introduced during questioning of Jesse L. McKoin, assistant chief zone project auditor from Atlanta. The trucks eventually were purchased by the Government at a "recapture" value of $49,827 after $28,557 in rental had accumulated. Mr. Fulton declared, while they cost the dealer but $38,916, most of which was borrowed.

Carolina Maneuvers Enter Final Phase With Hot Fighting

29th Division Units Are Scheduled to Return to Base December 8

By A. F. LITTLEJOHN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WITH 1st ARMY IN THE CAROLINAS, Nov. 28.—A bitter mock battle raged today between the Blue 1st Army and the Red 4th Corps as plans were made to return the 220,000 soldiers of the 1st Army to their bases next week.

It will end the Army's 1941 war maneuvers program.

A Blue communique admitted that many Red tanks had slashed through the 4th Division of Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall's 2d Corps in the vicinity of Pageland, S. C., but declared that they were met by the tank attacker units developed by Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum.

Maj. Gen. Karl Truesdell's 6th Corps, ordinarily made up of the 1st and 26th Divisions but augmented by the 29th for this maneuver, was reported to have captured Lancaster, S. C., deep in the rear of the Red forces.

Advance From Southeast.

The 1st Corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles F. Thompson and composed of the 30th and 8th Divisions, was said to have continued its advance from the southeast after considerable fighting.

Heavy theoretical losses were ascribed to both Blue and Red forces.

The plan for deconcentration of the 1st Army provides for starting the soldiers on their homeward trek two days after the end of this practice battle, the final phase of maneuvers.

Their bases are along the Eastern Seaboard.

Assuming that the maneuver will last until Sunday, the program contemplates that troops from Fort Jackson, S. C.; Fort Bragg, N. C.; Camp Davis, N. C., and other posts in this region will return to their home stations December 3. Most of these men are in the 1st Corps.

Two Days Allowed.

Two days are allowed in the calculation for disentangling the units of the two armies and getting the men back to their base camps.

The 6th Corps, under this program, will begin to move out December 5 and will clear the area by the next day.

The 2d Corps, made up of the 28th, 29th and 44th Divisions of National Guardsmen, is scheduled to begin moving out December 8. Included in its personnel are Guard units from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, the District of Columbia, New York and New Jersey.

Should the maneuver end before Sunday, the departure schedule probably will be adjusted to conform with the earlier termination.

Gen. Drum's army has become so mobile, it was said, that all its soldiers will return to their stations by motor transport except about 400 who will go by train. About 140,000 of the 220,000 personnel are to go back to Northern encampments.

Lack of Maneuver Room Menaces 4th Army

WITH 4th CORPS IN THE CAROLINAS, Nov. 28 (AP).—For lack of room to swing, the 4th Army Corps is being pushed almost out of the Carolinas maneuver area in its training with the 1st Army.

The 100,000-man force, half as strong numerically as the enemy, was like a man with a broadsword trying to fight from a sentry box—he can't use the full force of his weapon, and if he leaves the box the enemy will displace him.

Pushed on all sides, the command of Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold was backing into the neck of a funnel, striking with two armored divisions but too confined to have maneuver room. They couldn't get far enough back to strike deceptively, for the 1st Army's mobile anti-tank defenses could keep too close to them.

It was the beginning of the end for the 4th Corps, outnumbered five divisions to eight.

Fifth columnists entered the maneuvers for the first time, it was disclosed today.

Accident on Ground Damages Three U. S. Warplanes

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 28.—California traffic, already owning a record toll in life and property damage for the year, counted three war planes among its victims today.

The camouflaged Lockheed-Hudsons were being towed in trailers to the Long Beach ferry command. A swerving motorist caused the three vehicles to pile up.

Two of the planes were only slightly damaged, but the undercarriage and rear wheel of the third were wrecked.

California Paroles Marine Union Trio Jailed for Murder

Defense Group Worked Five Years for Release Of Engineer's Slayers

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—The California Parole Board, acting on a case of widespread labor interest, today granted paroles to Earl King, Ernest G. Ramsay and Frank J. Conner, now in San Quentin Prison for the slaying of a ship's engineer on the steamer Point Lobos, March 22, 1936.

The prosecution contended the stabbing of Engineer George W. Alberts, which occurred while the steamer was in the Oakland estuary, climaxed an argument over the issue of labor organization. King, 48, was secretary of the Marine Firemen; Ramsay, 32, patrolman for that union, and Conner, 44, a ship's delegate.

The three appealed from their conviction, but the appeal was rejected.

For five years trade unions have contributed thousands of dollars to the King-Ramsay-Conner Defense

Committee in an endeavor to win them freedom.

Convicted of second-degree murder, their terms were fixed at 20 years. They have served the equivalent of seven years, granting credits for good behavior.

In announcing the parole, Booth Goodman, chairman of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, said a fourth man, George Wallace, jointly convicted, was denied release from prison because he had two previous assault charges against him.

The Parole Board's report said it was not King, Ramsay or Conner who specifically killed Mr. Alberts; that he was slain by one or more of a group of five men. It named as the knife wielder a man who never has been apprehended.

93 Soldiers Lose Lives In Carolina War Games

By the Associated Press.

CAMDEN, S. C., Nov. 28.—Ninety-three soldiers have died in the Carolina war games since they began the first week in October.

Col. F. W. Weed, surgeon of the First Army, said that 75 men had died in the ranks of the 220,000-man First Army. Sixty-three of the deaths were accidental and 12 were from natural causes.

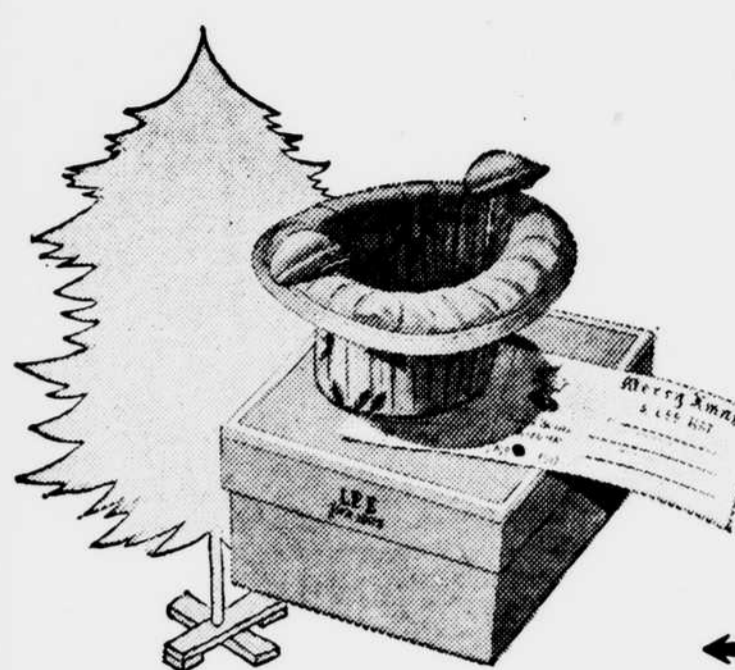

Most of the accidental deaths were caused by motor vehicle mishaps.

Since late October, when the 4th Army Corps moved into the maneuver area, there have been 18 deaths, all from accidents except one. There was one death from pneumonia. The 4th Corps has about half as many men in the field as the First Army.

Strike Curb Law Seems Inevitable

Administration Sees Sentiment in Several Quarters

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Although many observers have their fingers crossed and will not believe it till the ink is dry on a new statute, the chances of labor legislation are decidedly better today than they have been since the defense program shall cease.

For one thing, the administration is well aware that the country is demanding that interruptions to the defense program shall cease.

Union labor executives have so often stalled or killed off proposed legislation that they have relied on their lobbying power to stop the present drive.

The reason is clear. A substantial minority in the House has been getting ready to go on strike itself against any or all defense measures.

Two Sources for Grants. When it comes to writing a bill, there will be some objections from the management as well as the labor side to compulsory arbitration.

The real way to apply a national labor policy is to have a war labor board with statesmen and objective thinkers on it.

On the Record

Cards Stacked Against Japanese Victory; Choice Is Between Limited and Unlimited Defeat

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

We've now reached the climax of the war. It is reflected in extraordinary activities all over the world, and all of these events hang together.

Hitler's intensification of the drive against Moscow and in the Caucasus, his preparation for a new battle for the Mediterranean, both via Spain and North Africa.

Japan, of course, would like Hitler to win the war for Japan—as Mussolini hoped he would like to win, choosing exactly the most favorable moment to come in.

Some prohibition by law of sympathy strikes in America, as is the case with British statutes, is needed to prevent a general tie-up in an industry.

Discipline Lacking. Labor union leaders of both the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. now are clamoring for a national plan to be applied on a voluntary basis without governmental intervention.

what the eventual outcome of the European struggle. She will lose if Hitler should win—a terrible situation for Japan to contemplate: the position of being a small and economically weak power, terribly exhausted by war.

Furthermore, no one who knows Germany will believe for an instant that, in case the Nazis should be victorious, Germany would abandon China or the Pacific to Japan—at the risk of prolonged hostilities with the United States.

A victorious Hitler would not abandon French Indo-China or the Dutch East Indies to Japan.

On the other hand, the defeat of Nazi Germany after a long war must end in a far greater unity for the whole of Western civilization.

Japan, of course, would like Hitler to win the war for Japan—as Mussolini hoped he would like to win, choosing exactly the most favorable moment to come in.

The Great Game of Politics

Bigger Share in Operation of Defense Called Labor's Price for Stopping Strikes

By FRANK R. KENT.

It is not surprising that the White House movement toward anti-strike legislation should be received with a certain degree of skepticism.

They steadily held that attitude through a virulent epidemic of strikes which greatly retarded the defense efforts but greatly enhanced the power of the unions.

Accordingly, the White House conference, accordingly, the statements of all the administration leaders who heretofore had made no move in that direction; accordingly, the New Deal spokesmen now say "there must be a law."

Present no one should be fooled by the present pleasing unity of purpose on this subject of the Executive and legislative leaders into thinking that there has been a real change of heart in the White House.

In brief, the law, as it will be passed, will not be really objectionable to the labor leaders, though there is reason to believe that they will pretend it is.

They want more of that "co-equal power" with industry that Mr. Roosevelt gave in his first Knudsen-Hillman defense setup.

It will involve a reshuffling of O. P. M., S. P. A. B. and other defense agencies. It will mark the fourth reorganization since the original setup.

Reasons for the belief that the kind of reorganization here suggested is coming are clear.

These things strengthen the conviction that almost coincident with the enactment of a "temperate" strike-control law Mr. Roosevelt will move in the direction above indicated and in such a way as to make impossible any charge that he has "let labor down."

Outcome of Libyan Struggle in Doubt; French Fleet Declared Girding for Action

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

With the Japanese negotiations dormant since Wednesday, the White House and State Department are focusing their attention on the Mediterranean.

Tokio has received the American suggestions directed toward a settlement in the Pacific, but no one in Washington or Tokio believes they will be conducive to peace.

Libyan ports. But Nazi reinforcements have reached the battle front, and the conclusion reached by observers in Washington is that the Germans either have rushed new units through French ports to Bizerte and the Gulf of Gabes in Tunisia or that they have utilized the excellent railway which connects Tunisia with Morocco.

Whether the Germans have drawn some of their tank brigades from that army is difficult to say at the present time.

Libyan Situation Uncertain. The situation in the Mediterranean area is serious. According to uncensored news from England, the British are meeting far more serious opposition than the optimistic Ministry of Information anticipated.

It is known that the Nazis have an adequate tank force in Spanish Morocco. According to estimates made about eight months ago, there were then about 180,000 men in that North African Spanish colony.

Whether the Germans have drawn some of their tank brigades from that army is difficult to say at the present time.

McLemore—

Poses Timely Query For Mrs. Roosevelt

By HENRY MCLEMORE.

It is a task that is fraught with delicate decisions. One of the first that has to be made concerns the "put-out" as compared to the "haul."

But you never can be sure, and that presents another problem. Do you dare risk sending him something nice again? What does Mrs. Roosevelt do about a situation like this?

Another thing I would like Mrs. Roosevelt to explain is how she thinks up enough "different" presents to send out.

It has been a moot question in our little nest for seven years, an will come up for another settling the first time we reach the bargain basement in search of gifts for the McLemores and the Conrads.

Finland to Continue Fight Into Russia For Defensive Line

Minister Procope Says Country Has No Political Commitments in War

Finland will continue to fight in Russia beyond her boundaries until she has a suitable defensive line from which to protect herself "for the duration of the war," the Finnish Minister, Hjalmar Procope, told a press conference at his Legation yesterday.

Apparently this was the Finnish response to widespread protests that Finland should cease fighting when the territory is recovered that Finland lost to Russia by the "winter war" of 1939-40.

This "defensive line" would be set up somewhere in Eastern Karelia, north of Lake Ladoga, the Minister indicated, but whether it would reach to the White Sea and interfere with the rail line connecting Moscow with the Arctic port of Murmansk—an entry base for American-sent goods—was a question which the conference left unanswered.

On the south, the Finns already have advanced far into Russian territory north of Leningrad and west of Lake Ladoga along the Syvari River, interfering with the Murmansk-Leningrad rail line. Minister Procope said, however, that the Germans themselves had also cut this line near Leningrad.

Vague on "Duration."

Whether in speaking of the "duration of the war" the Minister meant the whole great war or the Finnish-Russian war alone Mr. Procope would not say. He said that the territory lost to Russia in 1940 and still in Russian hands included Hango in Southwestern Finland, some islands in the Gulf of Finland and the Fisherman's Peninsula near Petsamo, in Northern Finland.

The Minister justified the Finnish desire for a "defensive line" by reporting that after the end of the winter war the Russians built in sparsely populated Eastern Karelia roads and railways leading up to the Finnish border and 90 airfields suitably located for attack on Finland. He indicated his belief that these facilities were only for military purposes.

"One road means one division and a railroad means five divisions," Col. Per Zilliacus, the Finnish military attache, said in explaining the strategic value of the Russian construction work.

Explained to Government.

The Minister said that these matters had been explained to the British and American governments in the talks relative to Finnish withdrawal from participation in the war, but he declined to discuss Finland's diplomatic situation regarding Washington and London.

He held that Finland was fighting her own battle, "this time not alone," and that Finland was using equipment from Germany and other sources, including captured Russian goods. He distributed a statement giving an historical basis for Finnish adherence to the Comintern Pact. When he was asked whether Finland next would sign the Axis Pact, his answer skirted the question.

"Finland is not a member of the Axis," he said.

He used strong language in stressing Finland's independence of purpose in fighting.

"Finland has no political commitments in the present war," he said. "Finland is fighting for her own interests. For God's sake don't say we have identified our interests with any other country's."

The Minister and the military attache sought at all times to minimize the Finnish military co-operation with Germany.

Driver Is Exonerated In Traffic Death of Girl

Philip R. Anderson, 25, of the 8500 block of Broad Branch road N.W., yesterday was exonerated, through a directed verdict of not guilty by a Police Court jury on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the traffic death of Mary Elizabeth Stowell, 18.

Miss Stowell, student at the Marjorie Webster School here, was a passenger in the automobile said to have been driven by Mr. Anderson when it ran off Wise road N.W. and crashed into a tree, fatally injuring her, on November 30, 1940.

Judge Walter J. Casey, upon motion of defense counsel, ordered a directed verdict of not guilty as a result of opening argument by Government counsel and without any testimony having been heard.

The directed verdict was based on the Government counsel's statement that there were no eyewitnesses to the accident but that damage to the automobile indicated a high rate of speed.

Judge Casey ruled that negligence could not be presumed from the mere happening of the accident and without proof of other facts tending to show a high rate of speed.

Government counsel announced out of court that, according to police, Miss Patricia F. Kelly, 20, of the 1700 block of Massachusetts avenue N.W., another passenger in the automobile, did not remember any details of the accident or events leading up to it. Miss Kelly suffered a brain concussion in the accident, it was said.

Mr. Anderson was represented by Attorneys Robert Lynch and David A. Hart.

Roosevelt Will Call White House Parley On Tax Proposals

George Sees Pay Roll Withholding Levy As Inevitable

President Roosevelt will call Treasury experts and congressional leaders to a White House conference, probably next week, to seek an agreement on the substance of proposed new tax legislation.

Plans for the meeting were disclosed today by Chairman George of the Senate Finance Committee, who told reporters he expected any new revenue program to provide for a pay-roll withholding tax.

Senator George expressed the opinion that consideration of a new revenue measure was likely to be delayed until January, despite urgent Treasury appeals for speedy action.

While the Georgia Senator would not predict the form to be taken by the new bill, he said he looked upon the inclusion of a pay-roll withholding tax as "inevitable" and believed that it might be accompanied by a general all-around increase in corporate and individual levies.

He is going to have a pay-roll tax, Senator Taft declared, "let's make it an out-and-out tax and not disguise it as a social security levy."

The Ohio Senator said he had little patience with the theory that withholding a portion of the pay of all salaried workers could provide an effective brake against inflation, remarking that it would entail hardships for the 70 per cent of workers he said had received no increases despite the industrial boom created by the defense program.

Drunk Driver Tests Urged by Citizens' Campaign Committee

Bill to Forbid Sale Of Liquor Near Army Camps Also Indorsed

The Citizens' Campaign Committee of the District of Columbia last night adopted a resolution urging passage of the Randolph bill to provide scientific tests to determine the sobriety or state of drunkenness of automobile drivers involved in traffic accidents. A resolution urging enactment of the Sheppard bill to forbid the sale of alcoholic beverages in or near military camps also was adopted.

Action on both resolutions was taken at the meeting in the boardroom of the District Building after several speakers were heard. Legislation to make more severe sentences mandatory for first-offense convictions also was urged.

Speaking in support of the Sheppard bill was Representative Allen of Louisiana. Dr. A. Magruder Macdonald, the District coroner, urged legislation to provide for blood tests for automobile drivers to determine whether they are under the influence of liquor and Assistant Traffic Director M. O. Eldridge quoted statistics on accidents and drunken driving.

Doubts Army's Success.

Mr. Allen took issue with the War Department for its reporting it was against the bill and that the Army has effective methods of maintaining temperance. If the boys are to be protected from "wreck and ruin," he said, their parents must assert themselves. He deplored repeal of prohibition and quoted figures to show an increase in the amount of liquor consumed.

Coming out strongly in favor of legislation to provide blood tests for drivers suspected of being drunk, Dr. Macdonald said such tests provide a positive means of determining the extent of intoxication.

Mr. Eldridge told the meeting that during the calendar year 1940 there were 390 arrests for drunken driving in the District and only 130 convictions.

546 Permits Revoked.

During the fiscal year ending last June, he said, a total of 546 District drivers had their permits revoked for drunken driving. Of these, the majority had been convicted on the charge of driving while drunk outside the District. Of the total, 181 were convicted in the District, 179 in Maryland, 150 in Virginia and 36 in other States, he said.

The Rev. Thomas E. Boorde, pastor of the Anacostia Baptist Church and head of the United Dry Forces of the District, presided at the meeting. He explained, following the meeting that the Citizens' Campaign Committee of the District of Columbia is being organized through the United States Dry Forces here and that he has been chosen chairman until a permanent organization is completed. The committee is to be composed of some 100 members and now has about 25, he said. An election of committee officers is to be held later, the Rev. Mr. Boorde said.

McCarthy to Be Chairman Of 'Bill of Rights Day' Fete

Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy of Arlington County has accepted the chairmanship of the "Bill of Rights Day" celebration December 15 sponsored in the Arlington-Fairfax-Alexandria area by the Northern Virginia Regional Defense Council, it was announced today.

The appointment followed a suggestion by Gov. Price that regional defense councils hold appropriate ceremonies celebrating the ratification of the historic document. Congress, by joint resolution, requested the President to issue an executive order proclaiming December 15 as "Bill of Rights Day."

Council Chairman Gardner L. Boothe, in announcing the appointment, expressed the hope that all civic and patriotic organizations would participate in the ceremonies. Among the features of the program being considered is the placing of a wreath on the tomb of George Mason, author of the Virginia bill of rights.

"It is very fitting that Virginia, and especially this section of the State," Mr. Boothe said, "should celebrate the ratification of the Bill of Rights. The Virginia bill of rights was incorporated almost in its entirety as part of the Federal Constitution and may very properly be termed the American Magna Charta."

"It was through the ratification by Virginia that the Bill of Rights became a part of the Constitution and its author, George Mason, lived and died and is buried at Gunston Hall in Fairfax County."

Two Spinelli Gangsters To Be Executed Today

By The Associated Press.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Nov. 28.—Two of the "Duchess" Spinelli's gangsters die today in San Quentin's gas chamber where the strange woman, who led them in a career of murder and robbery, was executed last Friday.

The men were Gordon Hawkins, 22, and Mike Simeone, 33, former Detroit hoodlum and the common-law husband and first lieutenant of Mrs. Juanita Spinelli, 52, "The Duchess," first woman executed in California.

Like their leader, the men were convicted of murdering Robert Sherrard, 19, another member of their mob, because they were afraid Sherrard was losing his nerve and might tell police of the gang's slaying of an elderly man in a San Francisco barbeque stand holdup.

Mrs. Agnes Ruth Hawkins, mother of Gordon, paid her son a final visit yesterday and then tried vainly to see Gov. Curbert L. Olson to ask him to grant a reprieve.

Labor Will 'Rebel' If Arbitration Is Forced, Green Says

Testimonial Dinner Honors Fred S. Walker, Trades Unionist Editor

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, last night predicted labor would "rebel" if Congress enacts legislation providing for compulsory arbitration in labor disputes.

Speaking at a testimonial dinner for Fred S. Walker, editor of the Trades Unionist and a member of the District Minimum Wage Board, at the Mayflower Hotel, Mr. Green said:

"I protest any attempt of the lawmakers to snackle labor and rob it of its freedom.

"We will do all a generous public expects labor to do if we are permitted to do it voluntarily. Then members of organized labor will give their best skill and training in defense of America. If the same men are told they must, then, like any other human beings, they will rebel.

Plea to Typographical Union.

"The A. F. L. has adopted a no-strike policy in defense production. We have lost less time than the people in England who are at war. It will be unfortunate if they pass anti-strike legislation. It will be a blow at freedom just when we are trying to preserve freedom as a priceless heritage."

Mr. Green also asserted that legislation would violate the 13th amendment to the Constitution, which prohibits slavery.

Mr. Green asked the International Typographical Union to return to the American Federation of Labor ranks, which it left in 1939 because of an assessment levied against it by the national body. Mr. Walker, the honor guest, is a member of the Columbia Typographical Union No. 101.

Senator Shipstead, Republican, of Minnesota likewise protested enactment of legislation providing for compulsory arbitration and predicted that "labor's friends" in Congress would prevent it.

Representative Scanlon, Democrat, of Pennsylvania joined the others in opposing such a move.

A. E. Giegengack, public printer, echoed Mr. Green's plea that the union reaffiliated with the A. F. L. The address paying tribute to Mr. Walker was delivered by John B. Dickman, Sr. John J. Deviny, deputy public printer, was toastmaster.

Philippines Seek End Of London Sugar Pact

MANILA, Nov. 28.—President Manuel Quezon last night instructed J. M. Elizalde, resident Commissioner at Washington, to take necessary steps to denounce the London sugar pact of 1937, which expires next year.

The agreement restricts the sale of Philippine sugar abroad except to the United States. The Philippines desire freedom to sell their product in all foreign markets.

Mr. Elizalde was instructed to present the Commonwealth's case to the State Department in an effort to enlist its support.

capital, Russian cavalry were reported continuing a counterattack against German forces which drove between Kalinin and the capital earlier this week.

Tula, key point in the battle zone at the southern flank of Moscow's defenses, is under heavy artillery and trench mortar fire by German forces attempting to encircle the town, military dispatches reported.

A nearby town identified in the dispatches only as "N" was said to have fallen to the steady German pressure.

Moscow Peril Rising, Russians Declare

MOSCOW, Nov. 28 (AP)—The peril to Moscow is increasing, Pravda, the Communist Party paper, acknowledged today, despite "tremendous" German losses and a difficult Nazi supply problem.

The newspaper said the Germans' main strength had been marshaled on the flanks of the capital's defenses for an attempt to push east and north in the last several days.

The Germans have encountered supply difficulties because their gains have extended their front, it declared, and reported the destruction of 330 tanks between November 16 and 25 as an indication of the Nazi losses.

A Russian counteroffensive in the Kalinin sector, 90 miles north of Moscow, has driven wedges into the German lines, and Red Army troops have reoccupied several villages, Pravda said.

Advance on Rostov Front. On the Rostov front in the south, the army newspaper Red Star said Soviet troops had made further advances.

Authoritative London sources said the Russians had launched heavy counterattacks in the Rostov sector, but that there was no information on their progress.

A German military spokesman reported a fierce flare-up of fighting at the southern flank of the battle line and said the Red Army counteroffensive in the Rostov and Donets region apparently was under way.

The Germans said the Russian counterattacks were unusually strong, backed by tanks and planes.

At the same time the Germans reported starting a fresh push of their own in the same general region, at the northeast corner of the Sea of Azov, and told of new land and air activity on the Crimea.

Other Russian reports said the Russian air force, as well as the army, was taking a heavy toll of German forces before Moscow.

The Soviet communique said merely that Russian troops had fought the invaders on all fronts throughout the night.

Wedges Reported Driven. Pravda said the Russians centered their attack on the northern prong of the German-pincer movement against Moscow and "drove wedges into enemy lines and re-occupied many villages, some of which had served the Germans as bases of resistance and had been fortified."

Soviet reports told of 15,500 Germans killed in one day's period at three points on the Moscow front and said 105 Nazi tanks were destroyed by the Red airmen.

Russian planes also were credited with destroying at least 600 truckloads of German troops.

Triumphs at sea were reported by the Moscow radio, which announced that Russian submarines had sunk an Axis tanker and five transports loaded with troops and war materials.

(The Germans reported "progress" in the Moscow area. They also said numerous Russian attempts to break out of Leningrad had failed.

(The Berlin radio, heard in New York by N. B. C., said that Skopin, 50 miles southeast of Stalingorsk and about 150 miles southeast of Moscow, had been evacuated by the Russians and was about to fall to the Germans.)

The Russians were reported continuing counterattacks in the Leningrad area, where Soviet tanks were said to have destroyed 38 German tanks, three armored cars, 29 guns, two mortars and one regiment of German troops.

On the northern front, the Moscow radio said, a Red Star correspondent reported Finnish attacks had been repulsed south and west of Medvezhorsk, on the Leningrad-Murmansk Railway at the northwest tip of Lake Onega.

The correspondent for the Soviet Army newspaper also was quoted as saying the Soviets were advancing in the Kestenga area.

Army Wants Skilled Workers To Speed Its Offshore Bases

By the Associated Press.

The Army hung out an unobtrusive "help wanted" sign today for skilled men to speed some of its offshore bases to completion.

Without specifying whether additional workers were needed in Alaska, Panama, Iceland or the string of Atlantic bases acquired from Great Britain, officials said qualified men "could be used."

The Navy reported, however, it had all the workers and applicants needed for the time being, with work on its shore establishments abreast of or ahead of original schedules. By unofficial reports, the Army needs construction workers just now in Alaska, particularly at Dutch Harbor, in the Aleutian Islands, where barracks are being built for troops to safeguard the Navy's new bases there. Army air bases have been rushed at Fairbanks and Anchorage.

Because so many military secrets are involved, getting a job on one of the new bases is likely to be a complex undertaking. The thousands already at work—their number is a secret—were mostly hand picked. An engineer, skilled steam shovel operator, time keeper or skilled technician of any kind may apply at the War or Navy Departments or at the Civil Service Commission. When an applicant's reliability has been established, he is generally referred to one of the contracting firms that is working on base construction. Some contractors have paid top rates for skilled workers to assure completion of their tasks within time limits. In isolated Newfoundland and Alaska high wages have compensated for difficult working conditions.

Army Discloses Plan For Rivetless Tanks To Cost 53 Millions

Five Plants to Produce Welded and Cast Steel Hulls and Turrets

By NELSON SHEPARD.
Elimination of riveted armor plates in future light and medium Army tanks is contemplated in a new large-scale production program being initiated by the Ordnance Department, it was announced today. Commitments totaling $53,500,000 have been given to five forging plants to produce welded and cast steel tank hulls and turrets.

Information concerning this phase of tank production was contained in a report by Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, chief of ordnance, to Undersecretary of War Patterson, who is in charge of procurement.

Negotiations for other manufacturing facilities are in progress, Undersecretary Patterson announced, and the facts will be made public upon their completion.

60-Ton Tank Ready Soon.
No announcement was made about the Army's new 60-ton tank, which will roll out of the Baldwin Locomotive works at Edinboro, Pa., within the next two weeks. It was understood, however, from the War Department statement, that all welded tanks will be adopted for future production and this may also apply to the new 60-ton tanks, comparable in size to the "heavies" being used by both the Russian and German armies.

"Gen. Wesson reported to the Undersecretary," the War Department statement said, "that production plans have for some time contemplated the complete elimination of the riveted type of construction on all combat vehicles."

The department added, however, that no orders have been issued for canceling production of tanks where riveting is used. "This production will be carried out," it said. Officials said that as in the ordinary case of automobile production, the changing of new methods of armor plate required time and careful planning. The Army already has large orders for riveted tanks which remain to be filled, and there is no intention, it was said, of interfering with this phase of the program.

The report of Gen. Wesson is somewhat at variance with statements made yesterday at a press conference by Secretary of War Stimson. Secretary Stimson said some rivetless tanks have been produced as a result of long experiments, but he added that the department has adopted no policy with respect to replacing the earlier type of riveted tanks. The impression he intended to convey, officials explained today, was that the department had not ordered production of riveted tanks stopped, as reported in some news dispatches, because they had been found to be "death traps" for the crews.

U. S. Tanks Used in Libya.
Gen. Wesson's report explained that the new commitments, which will be followed by contracts, are required to provide for cast steel tank hulls and turrets. These hulls and turrets will be used, he said, to carry forward the enlarged program for production of new medium and light tanks. The mediums, now the largest in use by our Army, weigh 28 tons, while the light tanks are of 13 tons.

A minimum of 30 per cent of future production will have the cast steel hull, the report explained. The balance will be of welded construction.

Despite much criticism that has been aimed at the riveted tanks, American-made lights and mediums are now being used with success in the battle of Libya. Official reports received here were said to confirm press dispatches that the performance of these tanks, which are swift and heavily armored, has been "very satisfactory."

The rivets which join together the steel plates of the hull and turret were admittedly the cause of "some accidents to men in tanks," when hit direct by heavy explosive shells. This sometimes drives the rivets inside the tank.

German Propaganda In U. S. Described By Justice Official

Four Policies Followed, Defense Unit Chief Tells House Hearing

By the Associated Press.
Germany is spreading its doctrines in the United States through all kinds of printed propaganda, Lawrence M. G. Smith, chief of the Justice Department's special defense unit, told a House Judiciary subcommittee today.

Testifying in support of amendments to the Foreign Agents Registration Act, Mr. Smith detailed the types of propaganda studied by his unit over a long period, showing that about half of the material from Axis agents abroad consists of books, booklets, pamphlets and miscellaneous small sheets irregularly issued; while nearly a third comprises weekly or monthly periodicals, with the balance consisting of daily and bi-weekly papers and news sheets.

The amendments would transfer registration of foreign agents from the State Department to the Justice Department. In addition, they would tighten the definitions in the act and require that the agents give more information about their activities.

Mr. Smith testified that Germany followed these four principal propaganda policies:

1. To accuse the enemy of war guilt and insist that Germans are a peace-loving people.
2. Make a systematic attempt to prove that the enemy engages in widespread lies, whereas Germany presents only the unadulterated truth.
3. Insist that Germany's enemies are weak and decadent, while Germany is strong, young, progressive and invincible.
4. Systematically attempt to persecute the Jews, plutocrats and Communists, presenting the Nazi party as the world's "savior."

Sale of Ohio River Power Co. Proposed

The commission said the two communities, by ordinance and by election in September, authorized the purchase of the properties for municipal operation.

Capital Transit Net Slightly Below 1940

Mark in October Higher Operating Costs And Taxes Blamed For Decline

By EDWARD C. STONE.

Net income of the Capital Transit Co. in October totaled the substantial sum of $135,583.33, compared with $137,465.34 in October, 1940, or a tiny drop of $1,881.99, or 1.4 per cent, due to higher operating expenses and taxes, according to the monthly statement filed with the Public Utilities Commission today.

Operating revenues totaled $1,485,274.77, an increase of $302,553.33, or 25.6 per cent over October last year. Operating expenses required $892,229.29, an increase of $224,064.59, or 29 per cent, while taxes called for $174,147.55, an increase of $59,748.47, or 52.7 per cent. Depreciation was $2,775.92 more than in the October, 1940, because of additional streetcars and buses bought by the company.

Total operating expenses, taxes and depreciation amounted to $1,291,772.28, an increase of $304,589.98, or 30 per cent. Revenue passengers numbered 2,136,087, compared with 1,658,088 a year ago, a surprising increase of 484,611, or more than 26 per cent, the report said.

In the first 10 months of this year Capital Transit's net income amounted to $993,439.33, against $701,775.23, a sharp gain of $291,664.05, or 41.6 per cent. There was a gain of $240,906 revenue passengers carried, or 21.3 per cent.

C. & P. Phone Net Also Off. Net income of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in October amounted to $128,597, which was $41,439 less than in October, 1940, it was reported to the Public Utilities Commission today.

Operating revenues totaled $1,409,027, against $1,161,183 last year; operating expenses called for $1,074,515, against $823,347 a year ago. Operating taxes advanced to $128,095 from $116,632. Interest deductions were $484,611, against $62,830 in October, 1940.

In the first 10 months of the year net income amounted to $1,336,180, compared with $1,534,935 last year. Operating revenues totaled $12,627,656, against $10,960,639 in the first 10 months of 1940.

Operating expenses reached $9,510,197, compared with $7,721,461 last year. While operating revenues were up 17.9 per cent over last year, expenses, including taxes, were 21.3 per cent higher, the report shows.

STOCK LEADERS DOWN

More at Close Tax Sales and Rising For Eastern Tension Depress Market

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Further tax selling, combined with rising Far Eastern tension, thickened the ice in today's stock market.

Early sporadic attempts at recovery met with only feeble response and, while scattered issues clung to modest advances, many leaders went into new low ground for the week with losses of fractions to 2 or more points at the close.

Only a few low-priced issues turned around in large blocks, indicating a number of "blue chips" apparently for the purpose of establishing concessions in the 1941 Federal income statements, served as a bullish brake on the start.

Dealings picked up momentum after buying sentiment broke through. No great stimulation was discovered in the war news from Russia and Africa and doubts regarding the domestic labor picture and price-control legislation kept many potential bidders on the safe side of the speculative fence. Business developments, especially in the health of operating divisions, were helpful to a few favorites but failed to bolster many others.

Among stocks at bottom levels for 1941 were American Telephone, General Motors, Chrysler, Public Service, American Union, American Tobacco Co. and common.

Corporate Bonds Easy. Domestic corporate loans registered losses of fractions to around a point, with few issues resistant to buying sentiment. Bond market. Japanese bonds were down 4 points in some cases off more than 4 points by contrast, Kingdom of Denmark, which fell due January 1 sold for as much as 7 points more than previous quotations.

Treasury Issues, both in the list of new offerings and in the market, slipped down the price scale. Government securities weighed the price scale. Government plans to ask investors for $1,500,000,000 in new money next week.

U. S. Treasury Notes. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Prices quoted in dollars and thirty-sixths.

WORSTED-TEX PAYS TRIBUTE TO A MAN'S STORE ALL MEN WILL APPRECIATE

And the New and Greater Hecht Co. pays a tribute, too, to the nationally famous House of Worsted-tex for its scientific designing of men's clothing . . . the masterful tailoring that gives you a suit shaped to your actual silhouette, not a suit that has its shape pressed in. This Worsted-tex, British Lounge Suit does wonders with a man's figure. The deft workmanship accentuates your good points and minimizes your bumps and hollows. Yes, it actually gives you an athletic build with slightly broader shoulders, a fuller chest and a tapering waistline. Not extreme, mind you, but a suit of clothes for well-dressed gentlemen.

The Winter-tex overcoat is based upon the principle of center-balance. Its weight is evenly distributed over your shoulders and back and does not drag you down. Warmth without weight is this famous overcoat's feature.

The Knit-tex Tweed topcoat, tailored of imported British Wools, is one of the finest topcoats in America. It's wrinkle-resistant, shower-resistant, wind-resistant, light in weight yet warm enough for all but the coldest days.

The New and Greater Hecht Co. cordially invites you to visit the Modern Clothing Department on the Second Floor. It's truly a man's world.

Federation Seeks Relief for Those Renting Rooms

A resolution requesting that private homes renting rooms during the emergency be exempted from legislation encompassing social security and unemployment compensation was adopted by the District Federation at a meeting yesterday at 2800 Sixteenth street N.W.

The resolution, which referred to legislation applying to homes housing four or more persons, also requested that "minimum wage requirements be kept in compliance with the original law as restored by the decision of the Supreme Court."

Without adopting a resolution the federation voiced support for stricter enforcement of the May Act to control prostitution around Army camps.

Temperance Aid Asked.

Mrs. Arthur C. Watkins, the president, also urged the organization to co-operate with temperance groups in an effort to "dry up" the sale of alcoholic liquors near Army reservations.

Mrs. Watkins was authorized to accept the honorary chairmanship of the proposed temperance campaign, sponsored by the United Dry Forces of the District.

The organization also voted to co-operate with the Washington Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and Mrs. W. A. Winkelhaus was named delegate.

Appeal Made for Party.

An appeal for cakes, cigarettes and Christmas gifts for the federation's annual party for veterans on December 17 was made by Mrs. Joseph Randall of the Committee on War Veterans.

Mrs. Tilman Bacon Parks, chairman of American citizenship, urged federation support of the collection of canceled stamps being conducted by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The stamps are collected for the valuable dyes they contain.

The next federation meeting was advanced to December 18 because of the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. L. Whitehurst Returns to Capital

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has returned to Washington after a speaking trip which took her to Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Mexico City.

In Fort Worth, Tex., Mrs. Whitehurst perfected arrangements for the annual convention of the general federation to be held there April 27 to May 2. Plans for a post-convention tour to be sponsored by the federation were made in Mexico City. The Pan-American Round Table, a representative group of that city, has announced it will co-operate with the federation in holding a forum during the visit of the American clubwomen. Subjects of education, welfare and defense of the two countries will be discussed.

Vacancies Announced In Navy Music School

The United States Navy School of Music announced today that vacancies exist for players of all instruments who have had band or orchestra experience.

The course of instruction given by the school lasts approximately one year, and includes weekly lessons on one or more instruments, instruction in orchestra, dance band training and classes in harmony, ear training, history of music and musical theory.

Students have many opportunities to play in public and before high officials, including the President. Instructors are members of the Navy Band and 14 graduates of the school are members of that organization.

The school, located at the Washington Navy Yard, emphasized the opportunity for young men to serve the Nation and at the same time get a musical education.

Algeria has placed a tax on imports of clothing, fabrics and yarns to raise funds to supply fabrics to its natives.

Welders' President Ousted
 On Bad-Conduct Charge

By the Associated Press.

Lloyd Payne, secretary-treasurer of the United Brotherhood of Welders, announced here last night that Dave Basor of Seattle had been suspended as president of the organization "for conduct unbecoming an officer."

Mr. Payne said the action was taken by four members of the board here. Mr. Basor, who was the fifth man on the board, confirmed Mr.

Payne's announcement, and asserted: "Charges were preferred which I have never had read to me. In other words, I was suspended without having any trial whatsoever. It amounts to the other side cliquing up in the deal."

U. S. Women Fail Chances, Visitor Says

Dr. de Gaudino of Argentina Speaks Before A. A. U. W.

With all the privileges women have enjoyed in the United States they should have attained positions of greater importance in government, at a two-language luncheon yesterday at headquarters of the American Association of University Women.

Dr. Maria Teresa F. de Gaudino, president of the Argentine Federation of University Women, who was guest of honor at the luncheon, has traveled extensively in Europe, observing the position of women.

It had been her conclusion, she reported, that women of Scandinavia and the United States were the most independent and the least dependent on marriage for their livelihood. But women in this country, she also concluded, had failed to take full advantage of their independence.

The Argentine visitor is a doctor of medicine, a university teacher, director of a large maternity hospital and the first woman in Argentina to perform a surgical operation. She is here for the purpose of getting better acquainted with the A. A. U. W., as a result of interest kindled by the regional meeting of the International Federation of University Women held last week in Havana, Cuba.

Mrs. Yna McClintock, controller of the A. A. U. W., acted as chief interpreter at the luncheon, although about half of the guests also spoke Spanish when they explained their own occupations and professions to the honor guest.

Dr. Gaudino, whose criticism was tempered by a warm friendliness, was also frank in the appraisal of her own countrywomen.

The students in the university classes are men, she declared, because women don't like to attend.

Asked for an explanation, she said: "Because women haven't risen above a certain envy of other women."

All professions in Argentina, however, are open to women she added.

The Argentine federation, formed in 1938, has about 80 members, most of whom are doctors, lawyers, dentists or women of other professions, she said.

Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, also was an honor guest.

Others present were Dr. Kathryn McHale, Dr. Esther Caukin Brunauer, Mrs. Ruth W. Tryon, Miss Helen Hosp, Dr. Mary Turtel, Miss Minnie Bunker, Miss Lucie Furman, Miss Bess Furman, Mrs. Harriet Ahlers Houdlette, Mrs. Samuel Horton Brown, Dr. Elsie Brown, Dr. M. Margaret Ball, Mrs. Lawrence Radford, Mrs. James Irwin, Mrs. Lydia Driggs and Miss Irene Wright of the Division of Cultural Relations, State Department.

Capt. Alfred Mullikin was host last evening at dinner at the Army and Navy Club in honor of Miss Marie Therese Sattler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Edmund Sattler of Baltimore, who will make her debut Monday at the Bachelors Cotillion in Baltimore.

Mrs. Osmin Letrobe was hostess for Capt. Mullikin, and the other guests were Miss Carol Yates Franklin, debutante daughter of Mrs. Harris F. Franklin; Miss Phyllis Richardson of Fairfax, Va.; Miss Natalie Sutherland, daughter of Eric Gen, and Mrs. R. C. Sutherland; Mr. Harry Ghett, Lt. John Breckinridge, Mr. Edmund J. Frazier of Chicago and Mr. Benjamin Dudley Hill, Jr.

By the Way—

Beth Blaine

Most women cringe at the thought of a 40th birthday anniversary, but we know one lovely lady who is so proud of hers that she boasts about it when she asks friends to her 40th birthday party! It's Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson, who is giving herself a party December 11 at the lovely old house on North Fairfax street in Alexandria, which she and Maj. Davidson have taken for the winter. It's to be one of those nice relaxing "come in any time after 5:30 and stay for supper" affairs, just like the one the Albert Deweys had a week or so ago. "I even asked Felicia Dewey if I might copy her party," said Betty Davidson. It's bound to be amusing and fun—the Davidsons' said Betty entertain charmingly.

Snowden and Bee Fahnstock are back from a short vacation in Southern Pines. The weather was perfect, they say, and both feel rested and "in the pink." They're having a small party this afternoon at their house on Massachusetts avenue. Tonight, the Britton Woods are having a dinner, taking their guests to the Friday Supper Club dance at the Sulgrave. Tomorrow afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones will entertain in honor of the much feted Ralph Snowden Hills, and the Counselor of the Netherlands Legation and pretty Countess van Rechteren-Limpurg also will give an afternoon party. Among the dinners tomorrow is that of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beach at their house on Twenty-fourth street.

Looking further ahead . . . Mrs. Randall Hagner will give a dinner-dance for her debutante daughter Bella at the 1925 F Street Club Saturday, December 20 . . . Capt. and Mrs. Howard Vickery will give a tea dance for daughter Barbara Monday, December 22 . . . Maj. and Mrs. David Barry have changed their plans and instead of giving a dance for pretty daughter Frances the night of Tuesday, December 23, it's to be a tea dance that afternoon, but still at the 1925 F Street Club as originally planned . . . That same night, Peggy Nairn and Mary O'Brien will be joint hostesses at a young people's dance at the Wesley Heights Club . . . Friday, December 26, will be a red-letter for the "young folks" . . . Mrs. Demarest Lloyd will give a dinner for her daughter Karen, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joseph Fellows have asked a group of daughter Bebe's friends to dine at the Army and Navy Club preceding Barbara Caldwell's dance. . . Also, there's the somewhat larger dance which Mr. and Mrs. F. Henry Jones and Mr. and Mrs. William Marion Guthrie will give for Emille Jones and Ann Guthrie at the Sulgrave Club that night . . . In the afternoon, Mrs. Frank Dillard is having a coming-out tea for her daughter, Evelyn, at the Gadsby Tavern in Alexandria—made famous by George Washington. Tuesday, December 30, Mrs. Dillard will have a dance for her daughter . . . On Saturday, December 27, Mrs. William Miller is giving a dinner-dance for daughter Sara Boothe, and on Monday, the 29th, the Alan Mills are having a tea for their young Julia at the Sulgrave Club . . . And good news! The William Flathers, whose fancy dress party last year for daughter Georgianna at Grasslands was such a wonderful party that it was talked about for months afterward, will have a repeater in the dance they will give for daughter Agnes at Grasslands Saturday, January 3 . . . also fancy dress.

We've been so carried away by future dates for parties that we have very little room left for those that have already "been." There was Mrs. Donald Jones' luncheon yesterday at her house on S street (which is filled with beautiful old French furniture)—when the guests included Miss Polly Randolph, Mrs. William MacCracken, Mrs. Emil Hurja and one or two others. "You've haven't moved for three years" said one of the ladies to Cornelia, whose hobby used to be decorating and remodeling a house and then living in it until she sold or leased it, which she always did almost immediately. Well, it seems that Mr. Jones likes this house, and so does Mrs. Jones, and they're going to stay in it themselves—offers notwithstanding . . . Last night Mrs. Benjamin Thaw had one or two friends for dinner—Mrs. Lanier Winslow of Cleveland, who's spending a few days at the Fairfax. Both ladies wore smart, severe black . . .

Mrs. Pearsons Rust came in to one of yesterday's afternoon parties with a very attractive Philadelphia couple in tow . . . Mr. and Mrs. Dorr Newton . . .

Gordon Douglass is week-ending with the C. Mathews Dicks—they just got back from New York . . . Mme. Andor de Hertelendy is off for New York for a few days . . .

Leaves from an Old WASHINGTON DIARY

CHAPTER XXVII.

Sunday, November 2, 1862.
White frost last night, quite cold. A fire would be welcome.
The girls have gone to church. Tom Greene is waiting for Anne to return. This seems to be his church.
I had a letter from Ellen Hunter today describing the destruction and desolation on the James River. Nothing could be more deplored than the ruin of some of those beautiful old places. Blandfield, the home of the Beverly family, suffered cruelly in the hands of the enemy.
Tuesday, November 4, 1862.
Still cold.
This is my dear boy's birthday. I had a letter from him dated Holly Springs, Miss., October 26. God bless him and preserve him from all evil.
Mr. Seymour, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, was elected.
Mrs. Kennon of Tudor Place had tea with me this afternoon. She advised me strongly to hold on to my own house and not be induced to rent it, but Tom Buckler advocates our returning to Baltimore and certainly conditions are becoming more and more desperate for us.
Thursday, November 6, 1862.
Snowing.
Ogle Tayloe came today to say that he had a friend who wished to rent our house, that he would pay us a very good rent—I did not feel that I could refuse.
Friday, December 12, 1862.
Cold and dreary.
We have rented our house to the Millers.
I doubt if they are genteel but under the circumstances cannot allow that to influence me.
We will return to Baltimore.
Poor old Fredericksburg in flames—the Federals have crossed the Rappahannock and are now in possession. God help us.
(Battle of Fredericksburg, December 13, 1862. Federals crossed the Rappahannock on pontoon bridges and on December 13, charged the Monitor is lost off Cape Hatteras, which is very probable as she was never considered very seaworthy. John Bankhead was her commander. She was part of an expedition fitted out to carry death and destruction to the South.

Monday, January 12, 1863.
A charming day.
Anne and Julia have gone down in the city to do some shopping. They have been gone some time, I feel anxious about them. It is generally known we are Southern in our sympathies.
Gen. John Magruder has retaken Galveston, the Harriet Lane and several other vessels. It is a dashing affair and worthy of John.
Mrs. Bayard Smith and Mrs. Mason came to tea with me. Mattie Poor is staying with us; she is all kindness even though our families are divided. Her family fighting for the North, mine for the South. How sad it all is.
Sunday, January 25, 1863.
Conflicting accounts of the Army of the Potomac having crossed the river. Also that Norfolk has been retaken by the Confederates, but no confirmation of the news.
I long to be in Washington where one hears the war news quickly and correctly.
Tuesday, January 27, 1863.
Still raining and stormy.
The Army of the Potomac will have more cause than ever to complain of the roads of Virginia.
Burnside has resigned. Hooker is in command.
The Alabama has sunk the U. S. transport Hatteras off Galveston. Pretty bold!
The pavements are now a sheet of ice. My heart aches for the poor soldiers contending with the mud and cold in Virginia.
Saturday, January 31, 1863.
Bright day.
Anne and Julia have gone to take some food to two wounded Confederates, one very ill.
Just received a dispatch saying Lindsay had been ordered to Vicksburg—my heart is sick with fear—oh God, I implore Thee to spare and protect the life of my dear boy.
Monday, February 2, 1863.
A dismal day, but any day is better than the night when one's thoughts are beyond control and the pain in one's heart so great that sleep is impossible.
Yesterday Anne and Julia were arrested as Southern sympathizers.

sent to Old Point to be imprisoned in the casemates there—Virginia was sent to the Old Capitol in Washington. My poor darling, I'm afraid she will fare badly. We have friends stationed at Old Point. I feel sure they will treat my dear Page's daughters with consideration.
"My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me!"
The writer at this point became too ill to write more.)
Epilogue.
Apparently Mrs. Elizabeth Lindsay Lomax never recovered her health sufficiently to resume the writing of her diary. At any rate, no further notes were ever discovered among her papers.
However, it was learned from descendants of Mrs. Lomax that she finally attained her supreme ambition, reunion with her son. Shortly after the last entry in the diary her daughters Anne and Julia were confined at Old Point Comfort as Southern sympathizers. Virginia was imprisoned in the old Capitol for the same reason. Apparently Mrs. Lomax and her daughter Mary remained unmoored in Baltimore while Vic remained in the Fredericksburg area serving as a nurse.
In 1863 Lindsay was promoted to the rank of brigadier general and was given command of a brigade of Virginia and Maryland cavalry, which did effective work in the operations of General Fitzhugh Lee's division.
He was made a major general in 1864 and rendered distinguished service in the Valley campaign under General Early. In 1865 he was given full command of the Valley District of the Department of Northern Virginia.
When the war was over Lindsay purchased Bellevue, an estate in the Warrenton area now owned by Mrs. Clark Baldwin. He was joined there by his mother and by four of the daughters.

Vic apparently never forgot her love for Chandler and never married. Neither did Julia. Mary or Virginia despite their beauty, social graces and popularity before the outbreak of the war. Only Anne married as was foretold in the diary when Thomas Greene asked the right to propose. Anne and Mr. Greene made their home in the old Van Ness House which stood on the present location of The Pan American Union.
Following are copies of two letters all dated subsequent to the diary's last notation and which add a bit more to the information concerning the further experiences of some of the family prior to the end of the war.
Copy of letter to Gen. Benjamin F. Butler:
Old Point, Va.
November 28, 1863.
Dear Sir:
We, the undersigned, desire to respectfully protest against what we consider the hasty action in regard to our arrest, and to make the following statement.
That in the absence of the general commanding in Baltimore we were arrested by the order of the provost marshal and charged with actions against the Government. As no proof of our guilt has been shown we believe ourselves innocent and therefore ask from the War Department further investigation.
In reply to a telegram to that effect we are informed that the Secretary of War declined to interfere with orders originating with the command in Baltimore.
With the hope that what we say may not be construed into a petition for sympathy when we only desire to ask for justice, we wish to state that we have never offended against the laws of the United States, that we contribute to the support of our mother, the widow of a gallant officer of the Army, and we feel our lot to be one of especial hardship in our sudden banishment from home and friends.

Yours respectfully,
ANNE CORBIN LOMAX,
(Copy) JULIA L. LOMAX.
Headquarters of Eighteenth Army Corps,
Department of Virginia and North Carolina,
Fortress Monroe, Virginia.
December 6, 1863.
Ladies:
The provost marshal, as was his duty, submitted to me your communication asking for reasons there-in stated, that you be permitted to see the Secretary of War.
I am obliged to inform you that it is impossible for me to grant your request.
I beg to assure you that I have gone to the very verge of my discretion given me in this behalf in your favor, in allowing the delay in the execution of the order which I have so that Col. Townsend might apply in your behalf.
That application has been unsuccessfully made.
I have no alternative save to comply with the order, the propriety and justice of which I am not permitted to doubt.
I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
BENJAMIN F. BUTLER,
Major General Commanding,
To the Misses Lomax,
(Copy of original order.)
The End.

Miss Mabel Counts Becomes Bride of Mr. M. B. Harvey

Rev. Walton L. MacMillan, officiating at the double ring ceremony. An elaborate program of music arranged by Mr. Richard Beale included violin solos by Mr. Larry Guess and vocal solos by Miss Ruby Stevens.

The bride who is the daughter of Mr. George Counts of Abingdon, Va., was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She wore an empire gown of white silk jersey with a full shirred bodice and off-shoulder yoke of point Venice lace, fitted midriff and full, flaring skirt ending in a train. Her veil of illusion was finger-tip length and held by a cluster of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. A single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, was her only ornament.

Mrs. Ida Dishun was matron of honor for her sister, and she wore a dress of heather rose moire taffeta made with a fitted bodice, puffed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt. Her slippers were silver, and she wore a headdress of duobonnet velvet flowers and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Ruby Stevens, a niece of the bride, served as maid of honor, and she was dressed in Victoria blue moire taffeta made like the gown of the matron of honor, with a headdress of duobonnet velvet flowers, and carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Harvey, cousin of the bridegroom, who wore wood rose and carried talsman roses; Miss Beatrice Robinson, wearing peacock blue and carrying red roses, and Miss Audrey Myers, who wore hyacinth blue and carried yellow roses. Their costumes were styled like that of the matron of honor, and the bouquet of each was tied with ribbon matching the flowers. Fred Paul Fischer, Jr., 3-year-old cousin of the bridegroom, carried the two rings on a white satin pillow. He was dressed in a suit of black velvet with a white satin blouse. Four-year-old Jean Elizabeth Rice was the flower girl, and she was dressed in shell pink taffeta and carried a basket of pink rosebuds.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Harvey of Washington, had for his best man his brother, Lt. Cecil L. Harvey, U. S. A., of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the ushers were Mr. Roy Stea-gall, Mr. Hall Simpson, Mr. E. Cole Walker and Mr. Roy Gilson, Jr.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, where the senior Mrs. Harvey received in a gown of plum color chiffon cut velvet and a corsage of gardenias. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. John B. Simpson, Miss Mary Ellen Costes, Miss Betty Anne Robinson, Mrs. Lawrence Harvey and Mrs. Raymond Harvey.

The bride attended Abingdon Business College and the bridegroom attended Benjamin Franklin University in this city.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Stevens, Miss Helen Stevens, Miss Anne Stevens, Mr. J. A. Brown, Mr. Carl Powell and Miss Mildred Counts, sister of the bride, of Abingdon; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nunley of Charlottesville, Va., and Miss Betty Anne Robinson of Pittsburgh.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Harvey left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a beige and brown wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of orchids. They will make their home in Takoma Park, Md.

Miss Jacqueline S. Wilson Wed to Ensign D. B. Benham.

The marriage of Miss Jacqueline Smith Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Lucile Wilson Montgomery of Annapolis and Mr. Joseph F. Wilson of California, to Ensign David Blair Benham, U. S. N. R., son of Col. and Mrs. Webster Lance Benham of Oklahoma City, Okla., took place yesterday in the St. Andrew's Chapel of the Naval Academy in Annapolis. White flowers and lighted candles, arranged by the Chapel Guild of the academy, were on the altar for the late afternoon ceremony. Chaplain W. N. Thomas, U. S. N., officiating at 6 o'clock. Prof. J. W. Crosey, Naval Academy organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Lt. William R. Sima, who played violin selections.

Escorted by her grandfather, Mr. Claude Meredith Russell, the bride walked to the altar in an afternoon gown of blue and silver lame with a defense blue hat trimmed with a wine color veil. Her accessories were wine color, and she carried a white prayerbook overlaid with a corsage of white orchids.

Miss Eleanor Louise Smith of Moundsville, W. Va., a cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, and she wore a dress of moss green crepe studded with gold beads. Her accessories were black, and she wore a corsage of yellow orchids. Ensign Richard W. Parisian was best man.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bride, where Mrs. Montgomery received in a costume of brown wool draped with brown satin, brown accessories and a corsage of talsman roses. Assisting at the reception were Miss Kathleen Norman and Mrs. Richard Leary of Annapolis and Miss Elizabeth Carson of Baltimore. The house was attractively decorated with mixed chrysanthemums and roses.

The bride attended the University of Maryland, and Ensign Benham attended Oklahoma City University and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in the class of 1941.

Business Federation Urges Truck Stops In Rush Hours

'American Legion Night' Observed by Group At Dinner Meeting

A recommendation that commercial vehicles be allowed to stop at the curb for loading and unloading in the downtown business area during rush hours was among the resolutions adopted by the Federation of Businessmen's Associations last night at a dinner meeting, which was designated "American Legion Night."

"Merchants of Washington are severely handicapped," Francis C. Heigle of Central said in presenting the motion. "Early morning deliveries cannot be made satisfactorily under the present restrictions."

The matter was turned over to the Traffic Committee for further action.

Saunders Speaks. Heywood Saunders, commander of the District department of the Legion; Battalion Fire Chief Clement Murphy, chief District air raid warden, and Maj. Edward J. Kelly, superintendent of the Police Department, spoke. Present also was Miss Helen Feinder, "Miss American Legion."

Mr. Saunders, speaking for the Legion, said they were ready to meet the emergency of civilian defense when it comes. "It's time we all began to serve," he told the businessmen.

Battalion Chief Murphy stated that his department was backing the civilian defense program all the way and that his men "have been told to devote as much time as possible to the program." Maj. Kelly assured the group that his men also would respond when needed and spoke of the auxiliary police force which he planned to train as part of the defense program.

Drops Home Removal. Sylvan King, member of the committee on the advisability and possibility of removing the Soldiers' Home from its present location, reported that any such removal would have to be by act of Congress and would involve a number of other difficulties. The Federation voted to drop the matter.

A survey to consider the construction of a subway for the District was approved.

The recommendation that the rent control administrator be a District businessman and a resident of the District for 10 years was introduced by Bertram Wise, Northern Seventh Street, and passed by the group.

J. Nelson Anderson was appointed general counsel of the Federation for the 11th year by William J. Mileham, president, and presented a desk set by the members. John M. De Marco, president of Northern Seventh Street, presided over the dinner session while Mr. Mileham presided at the business session. The meeting was held at the Hay-Adams House.

Shanahan, custodian; Mrs. Joanna Hynson, chaplain, and Mrs. Emma K. Pairo, historian.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have to get up 2 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic kidney and bladder trouble often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating wastes, acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, back-ache, or swollen ankles, due to non-organic or non-systemic kidney and bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex costs only 35¢ at drug-gists and the guarantee protects you.

Conduit Road Citizens Urge $25,000 Fund For Civilian Defense

Association to Hold December Meeting at Call of President

Prompt congressional action to provide means of financing the local civilian defense program was demanded last night by the Conduit Road Citizens' Association, which recommended an initial appropriation of $25,000.

Walter D. Cunyus, air-raid warden for the area, told the association, "I think that the District ought to be protected not only for the benefit of the people who live here but for the 130,000,000 people all over the country, for Washington belongs also to them."

Mr. Cunyus said persons entrusted with high air-raid combat posts must be rigidly selected, since in an emergency they would be empowered to enter private homes at any time. He said the boys' room of the Palisades Park Field House was under consideration for the main warden's post in the area under his supervision.

On the motion of Mr. Cunyus, authorities were requested to remove a traffic signal from Thirty-third and M streets N.W., and to provide such a signal at Thirty-fifth street and Reservoir road N.W.

The group heard a complaint by Mrs. Irene O'Connor of refuse in an alley at the rear of the 5100 block of Conduit road N.W. and voted to bring the situation to the attention of the police.

The association voted to contribute $10 for gifts to soldiers at Christmas.

Since the regular meeting of the association would normally fall on Christmas Day, it was decided to leave the time of the December meeting to the discretion of the president, G. E. McGhee.

15 Pct. of New Police Asked for Traffic Duty

At least 15 per cent of the 100 policemen to be added to the Washington force should be assigned to full time traffic duty, members of the Keystone Automobile Club declared today through the club manager, George E. Kenelpp. In a receipt poll, said Mr. Kenelpp, 99 per cent of Keystone members declared that additional policemen, particularly motorcycle men, would be the best answer to those whose driving is "a menace" to community safety. The request was addressed to Commissioner John Russell Young. Camp Fire Girls of the Potomac Area will celebrate the successful close of their doughnut drive with a jubilee party tomorrow at the Calvary Methodist Church, Columbia road and Fifteenth street N.W. Prizes will be awarded the girls who sold the most doughnuts. For the first time in four years coffee prices in the Dominican Republic have stopped a steady decline.

After Exposure GARGLE LISTERINE-QUICK!
I WONDER IF I'M GOING TO CATCH HIS COLD
Listerine Antiseptic reaches way back on throat surfaces to kill literally millions of the types of germs that many authorities say are responsible for the miserable symptoms of a cold.
In clinical tests over a ten-year period regular twice-a-day users of Listerine Antiseptic had fewer colds, milder colds and colds of shorter duration than non-users. So, at the first hint of trouble, gargle Listerine and consult your doctor.

Prompt Treatment Big Aid to Health, Social Workers Told

Children's Hospital Aide Calls for More Funds to Track Down Disease

As more funds are made available, increased services bring decreased health problems, Miss Lucia Murchison, first assistant superintendent of Children's Hospital, declared today at the orientation course for social welfare volunteers sponsored by the Council of Social Agencies and the Central Volunteer Bureau.

Miss Murchison said two of the most serious health problems here are tuberculosis and venereal disease. The greatest problem is finding cases before they become acute, she said, pointing out that many more cases could be discovered in time if additional personnel were available to hunt them and to give early medical treatment.

33,100 Visits Made.

The speaker noted that last year three new pulmonary tuberculosis cases were discovered for each death from this cause. Last year, she said, 33,100 visits were made on 1,637 cases, of which 827 were white and 810 colored.

Miss Murchison said the expenses of venereal insane inmates of St. Elizabeth's Hospital is 10 times that of finding and curing cases.

She said there was available only $39,000 of local funds and $29,000 of Federal money for venereal disease work through public authorities. This is the reason for the continual outcry against the high rate in this city—which has been aggravated by the increased presence of soldiers in the city—and the rate will only be cut when more funds are made available for this type of work, she declared.

Calls for Greater Aid.

Calling for greater aid, Miss Murchison said the amount spent here is far below the United States Public Health Service standard. The District Health Department receives 93 cents per capita, while the Federal standard is set at $2.07 per person. This ratio of more than two to one should be reduced, she said, if health standards are to be raised in the city.

Miss Murchison said there are only 98 nurses in the public health clinics here, while the American Public Health Association standard is 331 nurses on the basis of the last population census. But, with the great influx of defense workers during the last year, "even that figure is too low," she added.

Rear Admiral Dungan Dies in San Diego

Americans Protest to Vichy On Arrest of Five Educators

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Franz Boas, German-born Columbia University professor, announced yesterday he had sent to Premier Henri Petain a protest against the imprisonment of five French educators, all members of the Academie des Sciences, demanding their immediate release.

Copies of the protest, which was signed by Prof. Albert Einstein and other scientists and religious and educational leaders, were sent to Secretary of State Hull and Gaston Henry-Have, French Ambassador at Washington.

The jailed men, arrested in October for "political reasons," are Paul Langevin, physicist and Nobel prize winner; Emile Borel, former French Minister of Marine; Aime Cotton, finder of magnetic birefringence; Louis Mangin, prominent French crystallographer, and Lin-Lapicque, professor emeritus of physiology at the University of Paris.

"Knowing the eminence of these men as scientists," said the protest, "we express our indignation at this proceeding and enter our most vigorous protest. We trust that our views will be heard by your government and that you will do all you can to see to it that these men will be freed without delay."

Among the signers were Dr. Frank Avelotte, Institute for Advanced Study director at Princeton University; Dr. Henry S. Coffin, Union Theological Seminary president; Prof. Carl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Prof. Robert A. Millikan, California Institute of Technology; Mary E. Woolley, president emerita of Mount Holyoke College; and Dr. W. D. Coolidge, General Electric Co. research direc-

Parran's Book Declared 'Inaccurate' by Stimson

"Quite inaccurate" was the comment yesterday of Secretary of War Stimson on a report of the handling of venereal diseases in the United States Army contained in a new book by Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the Public Health Service, and Dr. R. A. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general.

The book, "Plain Words About Venereal Disease" blamed Army commanders for failure to invoke the powers of the May Act, signed by the President last July, which outlaws prostitution "within reasonable distance" of Army and Navy reservations. This failure, the authors charged, was largely responsible for a sharp rise in the Army venereal rate.

Asked about the charges at a press conference, Secretary Stimson said: "I regard it as my duty to prepare as best I can for a foreign war and not, so to speak, for a civil war between various departments of the Government. I look for help in any direction and I have read this book. I would not be fair to my own department if I did not say that I believe the impression given by the book is quite inaccurate."

Since publication of the book, the War Department has issued figures indicating that the Medical Corps has been effectively battling gonorrhea and syphilis.

Three From D. C. Enter Navy Service Schools

Three young men from Washington, recently enlisted in the Navy, have completed the recruit training at the receiving station at the Norfolk Navy Yard, and have begun study at the Navy service schools.

The three, and the schools to which they have been assigned, are Douglas Clifton Moore, 821 North Carolina avenue S. E., radio school; Charles Raymond Dorr, 3518 Thirtieth street N.W., and Francis Richard Barnard, 3707 Thirtieth place N.E., clerical school.

Chiropractors Elect

Dr. William H. Dodge was elected president of the District Chiropractic Society at its annual meeting last night in the Thomas Circle Club. Other officers named were Dr. William McMillan, first vice president; Dr. Fred A. Gaylord, second vice president; Dr. Walter A. Neil, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Victor Meyers, sergeant at arms, and Dr. C. Richard Smith, director.

Rate of Increase In Traffic Deaths
In Nation Checked

Peak of 23 Per Cent in August Cut to 12 In October

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The National Safety Council today reported progress in the Nation-wide effort to dam the rising tide of accidents in the United States.
The increase has not been stopped, the council said, but a peak rise of 23 per cent in traffic deaths in August has been cut to a 13 per cent increase in September and 12 per cent in October.
It was in August that President Roosevelt called on the council to lead a defense emergency safety campaign to curb the growing menace. In an attempt to offset the usual rise in traffic deaths during the year-end holiday season the council and 130 co-operating organizations are undertaking a special Christmas safety drive with the theme, "Give Courtesy for Christmas."

4,050 Toll in October.
The October traffic toll was 4,050, approximately 400 greater than in October, 1940, but the 12 per cent rise was the smallest for any month this year. Traffic deaths for the first 10 months of 1941 totaled 31,620, a 16 per cent rise over the 27,210 toll for the same 1940 period.

Travel in September, the latest month for which mileage figures are available, was 12 per cent greater than in September, 1940. This was identical to the fatality increase. For the first nine months of this year travel was up 12 per cent and the mileage death rate 4 per cent.

Cities of 10,000 or more population reported an average death increase of 4 per cent in October, compared with a 6 per cent rise in September and 18 per cent in August.

6 Per Cent Increase Recorded.
For cities of all sizes a 6 per cent increase was recorded during the first ten months, compared with a rise in rural traffic deaths of 21 per cent over 1940.

Although the 14 cities of 500,000 or more population had a relatively unfavorable October record—an 8 per cent increase in deaths—they continued to be the only group with a cumulative reduction for the year. This reduction, however, has been cut to less than 1 per cent.

Memphis continued to lead the large cities in cumulative death reductions with a 10-month toll 59 per cent below the comparable 1940 figure. St. Paul was second with a 28 per cent reduction.

Firm-Ripe BANANAS

You have always bought apples by the pound... why not bananas? Both fruits vary in size, making "piece" pricing difficult. Safeway believes that the only fair way to price these items is by weight. This method automatically allows for the difference in size and assures you of full value for your money. Safeway is pioneering in this move and hopes that all grocers will follow. Then the consumer will be in a position to make accurate comparisons in prices.

12-Inch Mortar Practice Convulses Ancient Fort

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—For the first time in 20 years the big 12-inch coast defense mortars at Fort Andrews roared out yesterday and all but wrecked the fort. Four times 1,046-pound projectiles thundered out of the mortar pit and as each shot was fired another bit of a wooden barracks approximately 100 feet away fluttered to the ground. First some windows rattled out. At the second roar a window casing or two was shattered. The third time a door flopped down. And on the final boom the walls shed some of their clapboards. The firing was from two weapons at towed targets and the success of the coast artillerymen was not revealed. Oh yes, one of the Fort Andrews cooks had trouble, too. The first gun barked, the cook jumped and dinner was scattered to the winds.

Republic Starts Paying 1937 'Little Steel' Strikers

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—Republic Steel Corp. workmen who took part in the "Little Steel" strike of 1937 yesterday began receiving checks for back pay, it was disclosed by William F. Donovan, district director for the C. I. O. Steel Workers' Organizing Committee. The National Labor Relations Board ruled that 2,000 to 3,000 workers who were not recalled immediately after the strike should receive the pay, and the corporation lost in the Supreme Court a suit contesting the board's ruling. Corporation officials declined comment on the distribution of the funds, and the amount involved has never been announced. Union spokesmen recently estimated it at $1,500,000.

Former Colonel Leaves Army As Sergeant

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 28.—Paul Butin, 60, an Army regular who rose to the rank of colonel in the World War, left the service, then re-enlisted as a private, retired as a sergeant yesterday after 30 years of duty. Born in France, the son of an American diplomat, Butin was a consulting engineer before enlisting as a private in 1910. Promoted to a captaincy under Gen. Pershing during the 1916 Mexican border conflict, he became a colonel in charge of a quartermaster depot at Brest, France, during the World War. Reduced to a major after the war, Butin was in the Canal Zone when a physical examination disclosed him unfit for further service. He entered private business as a consulting engineer in El Paso, Tex., but finally joined up as a private again.

Acute Nail Shortage Hampers Building in Washington

An acute shortage of nails is about to prove "the biggest stumbling block" for Washington's private building industry, the Home Builders' Association of Metropolitan Washington announced today. The association said a check of leading hardware wholesalers in the city revealed that most establishments have no nails in stock and those accepting orders are able to fill only 20 per cent of them. Local dealers, moreover, report that buyers from New York, Philadelphia and other cities have been seeking supplies of nails here because of shortages in their locales. The association also announced that one of the leading manufacturers of plumbing supplies had informed dealers that no further sales of brass products can be authorized without priority orders. "Since nearly all plumbing fittings are made of brass," the association said, "this means virtual stoppage of this form of building activity." Under rulings of the Office of Production Management, it was said, only housing that sells for $6,000 or less, including land, and rental units costing $50 a month and under, are entitled to priorities assistance. Association statistics show that during the first eight months of the year only 21 per cent of the houses started in Washington have fallen in this category. It is in projects above the $6,000 level where the principal shortage of material exists, the association said.

Former Fall Ranch Sold to Thomas Ryan
By the Associated Press. EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Sale of a portion of the famed Tres Ritos Ranch, once the pride of former Secretary of Interior Albert Bacon Fall, to Thomas Fortune Ryan, 3d, was disclosed yesterday. The sale was confirmed by Mrs. Hal Gambrell of El Paso, sister of Ed Harris of Garrettsville, N. Mex., member of a syndicate which last February purchased the Tres Ritos holdings from the Palmes Land & Cattle Co. Mrs. Gambrell said she understood approximately 60,000 acres had been acquired by Mr. Ryan, president of Mid-Continent Air Lines.

Weygand's Memoirs of 25 Turbulent Years Probably Will Not Spare Marshal Petain

By PERTINAX.

When Gen. Maxime Weygand ceased to be the "delegate" of the Vichy government to North Africa, he announced he was going to take a rest on the Riviera and write his memoirs.

Thus he is back at his old pastime. For more than 20 years, he has carefully put on record all memorable dealings and developments where he had a hand. And, since he acted as executive aide and confidential adviser to Marshal Ferdinand Foch, his writings cover a fairly long stretch of history—World War I, the brief struggle in Poland (1920), the enforcement of the Treaty of Versailles, the leadership of the French army from 1929 to 1935, the battle of France from May 19, 1940, to the Franco-German armistice and finally the great task of supervision, from Rabat to Algiers and Tunis, which, last week, came to an abrupt end.

No man entrusted with great public functions ever had a more varied experience than Weygand or could bring a fuller contribution to the inside knowledge of the great European tragedy. But I doubt that Weygand's memoirs will be published in his lifetime. If he happens to infringe on his rule of self-imposed silence, I doubt that he frankly will tell the general public what he originally had in mind.

Petain Kicked Into Action.

Many years ago, he read aloud to me from the manuscript he kept in the drawer of his desk. Quoting chapter and verse, he explained that early in 1918, Marshal Henri Petain would have lost the war for France and her Allies, had he not been suddenly placed under the authority of Foch at the request of Lord Milner and Gen. Sir Henry Wilson, both of them frightened to death by the orders issued to the French army on the evening of March 24, 1918.

The 5th British Army of Gen. Gough was falling to pieces under the impact of the forceful drive the Germans had launched three days earlier. Petain had placed behind the Champagne front all the reserves available to him and stubbornly believed that the main German attack was still to come and that it would be directed toward Paris. He had sent 12 of his divisions to the rescue of Gen. Sir Douglas Haig. He refused to send more or to take over the British sector up to Peronne. In his opinion the British were done for and he made the protection of the French capital his first duty.

Such was the gist of the instructions issued to his three commanders of army groups. Foch, nearly at the same hour, took the opposite view. In a letter to Georges Clemenceau, president of the council, he urged that the gap at the junction of the French and British line must be filled at any cost and he insisted that the attending risk must deliberately be incurred. Foch was right and Petain was wrong. It turned out later that, on the German side, no offensive had been contemplated in the Champagne area.

Tried to Delay Offensive.

As soon as the name of Petain was mentioned, Weygand's talk, fed from his famous diary, became inexhaustible. How Foch compelled Petain to part with his chief of staff, Gen. Antoine, a clever man but of a still more pessimistic mood than his own chief; how Petain, who retained command of the French armies, visited Foch, the generalissimo of all the Allies, at the outset of September, 1918, and endeavored to convince the latter that the offensive, begun on July 18—the offensive which was soon to strike the death blow at the host of Wilhelm II—had better be postponed until the following spring. Those were the most salient points which I can remember.

In November, 1918, the baton of marshal of France solemnly was handed to Petain on the main square at Metz. Marshal Foch, Marshal Haig and Gen. Pershing were there. Behind them, in the words of Weygand, Gen. Desticker (Weygand's assistant) kept on repeating:

"When one thinks that our kick in the back put him in the place where he stands today! An excellent second in command but a second rate supreme commander; such was the summing up.

The wonder is that having formed me, an opinion of the present chief of state and freely expressed it to so many people. Weygand should have managed in May, 1940, to be on seemingly friendly terms with him. But, on the authority of Weygand himself, here is the key to the riddle. On November 4, 1934, Gen. Weygand, then inspector general of the army, called on Petain, who had been minister of war during the preceding nine months, and advised him not to continue in office under the new President of the Council Pierre-Etienne Flandin. "Some day, perhaps, you will be the Hindenburg of France," Weygand said. "Don't waste your prestige and authority." Weygand faintly perceived what was in store for Petain in the mist of the future and toward him he behaved accordingly.

Clearly, such passages will not be deemed fit to print as long as France's "national revolution" goes on and Marshal Petain is praised nearly to the same tune as King Henry IV, Cardinal de Richelieu or even Napoleon. But, without any delay, it will be Weygand's business to refute the charges brought against him by Lord Gort, the commander in chief of the British Expeditionary Force, in his dispatches.

Weygand's contention was, after the armistice, that France had been defeated on account of Gort's refusal to carry out his orders on May 24. The retort of the British general is that he never received any order from Weygand and even, on the night of May 23, received from the French general staff inaccurate information about the movements of the French Army along the southern bank of the Somme. Weygand is likely to take up the controversy. (Released by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Tied to Tree and Robbed, Taxi Driver Reports

A taxicab driver reported to police that he was tied to a tree and robbed last night by four men who had ordered him to drive to the District line on Beach road N.W.

The driver, Joseph Sullivan, 1016 1/2 Sixth street N.E., said two of the men hailed him at Twenty-first street and Pennsylvania avenue N.W. and asked to be driven to Macomb street and Idaho avenue N.W., where they met the other pair. Mr. Sullivan said he was hustled from his cab at the District line and the men took $340 in cash and left in the cab.

Clara M. Tucker, clerk in an ice cream store in the 600 block of Fourth street S.W., told police $25 was taken from the cash register last night by two colored men, one of whom was armed. They fled in a new automobile, she said.

Police said arrest of a 28-year-old man yesterday solved the theft of $220 worth of jewelry and other articles stolen from the home of Representative Treadway of Massachusetts October 1. The loot was recovered in the man's possession, according to police.

Far-Reaching Study Of Policy on Vichy Launched by Hull

Attitude to Be Governed By Reaction to Nazi Efforts to Take Control

By LLOYD LEHRBAS, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Secretary of State Hull today began a sweeping re-examination of United States policy toward Vichy France.

The Secretary turned to this new problem as soon as he was freed of the time-consuming conversations on the Pacific which have been suspended pending Japan's decision on whether to pursue policies of peace or aggression in the Far East.

Again the diplomatic objective was to avoid the spread of war to new areas which might affect the peace and security of the Western Hemisphere or jeopardize its interests.

The attitude of the United States toward the Vichy government will be determined, Secretary Hull has made clear, by its reaction to Nazi attempts "to take over by force or threat of force the sovereignty and control of the French empire."

The State Department announced November 20 that the United States would "review" its policy toward France in the light of developments which seemed to foreshadow complete Franco-German collaboration.

The announcement cited as an example the removal "at the express demand of Hitler"—of Gen. Maxime Weygand, Vichy's pro-consul for North Africa.

Since the date of that announcement, however, further evidence of closer collaboration has failed to materialize. On the contrary, a scheduled meeting of Chief of State Petain and a high Nazi official did not come off, and there have been reports that the aged marshal was balking at yielding to the Reich's latest demands.

Secretary Hull, nevertheless, evidently considered that the situation was still serious enough to warrant a re-examination of relations.

Major Questions. The major questions to be re-studied were said to include future policy toward French colonies in the Western Hemisphere, the use of French ships tied up in American ports and toward permitting further withdrawals from France's $1,500,000,000 in frozen assets here.

Also involved is the disposition of French requests for food shipments to help feed the population of the unoccupied zone, and French prisoners of war in Germany.

While severance of diplomatic relations may come up for discussion the United States is not expected to take such drastic action as long as France refrains from unfriendly actions.

Unfriendly actions presumably would mean Vichy's submission to the latest series of reported Nazi demands. These include control of strategic French bases in the Mediterranean and on the West African coast; for sea warfare; use of the French fleet; permission to move troops through unoccupied France to reinforce the armies in Libya, and "joint protection" of the French colonial empire.

Sixth Graders Tell Of Synthetics in Science Broadcast

Thomson School Pupils Present First in Series Of Eight Programs

"Science in Our Changing World" was off to a flying start yesterday as eight of the distinguished little scientists of Thomson School told of the role of synthetic materials in national defense and civilian American life. It was the first of eight such programs which will comprise the series sponsored by The Star and the Elementary School Radio Committee, with the co-operation of the National Broadcasting Co.

The listening audience had much to learn from the Thomson School sixth graders, aged 10 to 12. They heard the names and the processes involved in many new products now beginning to take the place of familiar materials formerly used in clothing, household accessories and defense goods. Vinyon, nylon, plio-sheen, fiberglass, zein are some of the items which the youngsters not only pronounced with ease, but explained as well. By way of illustration, the Thomson pupils gave a brief dramatic sketch depicting the discovery by the Frenchman, Henri Chardonnet, of rayon or artificial silk. Emphasized throughout was the fact that such common ingredients as coal, milk, natural gas, soybeans and corn go into the manufacture of anything from "wool" coats to waterproof, fire-resistant and odorless "rubber" shower curtains.

Taking part in the program, which was prepared and directed by O. E. Turner of the Thomson faculty, were Robert Abrams, Wendell Halterman, Shirley Holland, Florence Wiggins, Irving Lee, Marilyn Embree, Jerome Zevin and Niki Spilliois. Niki handled the sound effects in addition to her script lines.

Among those who witnessed the broadcast in the WMAL studio were Robert Eaves, principal of Thomson, and Mrs. Gertrude Howard, chairman of the Elementary School Radio Committee.

Painting Bought for School

Nine art students at King-Smith Studio School "chipped in" during national art week and bought a painting for the school art gallery. The picture was a scene of Pennsylvania avenue by Dante Radice, Washington artist with the W. P. A. art program.

IF you are a Merchant.....

IF people don't KNOW you,

IF they aren't friendly,

IF they don't BELIEVE in you

... it's the same as though you did NOT exist.

The shoppers who buy today... things that you sell... but buy them from other stores... you can catalog those folks somewhere in that headline above.

In it you'll find the simplest secret of a profitable modern business: People buy from the man that they know and believe in and like! They'll go blocks out of their way to buy from him. They DO NOT buy freely, willingly, from anybody else.

Today, tomorrow, watch and count the shuffling, countless, passing footsteps of buyers, shoppers.

Your only task is to determine that you'll win the liking, the faith and the belief of JUST ONE SMALL PORTION of that throng; then to determine that you'll hold and keep their preferences, keep their faiths, determine that there'll come a time when they'll call YOUR store THEIR store.

Don't wait. Start your advertising in our columns to do those things for they're the things that profits are made out of.

Create likings and preferences and unquestioning beliefs, and give folks a possessive feeling for your store.....

... for such things guide shoppers and buyers to you unerringly, cause them to come in throngs, smilingly, in a bit of a hurry, in pleasant and prejudiced anticipation.

Spread those incomparables in every mind. Ask us to help. Do within a year the things it may take a lifetime to do without advertising. Make many folks like and believe in you with unquestioning faiths.

A TIP FROM KING SOLOMON

Solomon didn't depend on his thousand wives when it came to cooking. He kept 11 stewards traveling on the lookout for new dishes and sauces.

No matter where you travel, you can enjoy the sauce for which Solomon might well have mortgaged the crown jewels—Lea & Perrins Sauce, the original Worcestershire.

To everyday dishes it adds royal seasoning—bestows banquet flavor on soup or fish, or meat dishes. Try it tonight, and watch your husband beam across the table.

Sardonic Football Fable Becomes Merry Screen Fare

'Rise and Shine' at Capitol Brings Thurber Together With Jack Oakie; Durant Heads Stage Program

By JAY CARMODY.

People with a passion for arranging monuments for heroes are not likely to have heard of James Thurber. It is a shame, too, for Mr. Thurber is fine monument material. His exposes (pronounced just as if the lingo had an accent sign) of the private lives of football players name Bolenczyz, Wieraszka, etc., has done as much for the American literature as any work of pharmacologists. In the hands of a Rocky, the Bolenczyz are merely mighty mastodons who destroy rival football teams. Thurber makes them comically funny by making them

For Authenticity's Sake, Actor's Take a Beating

Edward G. Robinson, for Instance, Is the Victim in This Scene

In Forthcoming 'Larceny'

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN.

Star or extra, today's movie actor must keep "in the pink" if he's to match his physique against all the crazy antics screen writers and directors are thinking up to make audiences laugh. On almost every sound stage the stars are taking a beating, usually in a revival or some new twist of Mack Sennett's system of slapstick.

Director Robert Siodmak asked if she didn't want to study a while. "No, I'm ready," said Gracie. "This one is easy."

Robinson was playing a confidence man and Jack Carson, as a high-pressure salesman, was trying to unload a shipment of expensive luggage on him. Jane Wyman, the pretty blond, was trying to help Carson sell the luggage. Ed Brophy, the thug, was getting in the way.

Carson made an expensive sweep with his arm. Three suitcases fell on Robinson.

"Cut," said Director Lloyd Bacon, a sober-faced gent with a swell sense of humor. He called the property man, "File the suitcases a little higher," he said.

Carson gestured again. Five suitcases fell on Robinson.

"Cut," order Bacon. "Move toward Robinson next time, Jack," he said. "Pile the suitcases higher, Jim."

Eight suitcases fell on Robinson, three on Jane Wyman, two on Carson, and Carson fell on Brophy.

"Good," said Bacon, grinning for the first time. "The scene begins to have more life in it. Now we can start shooting."

Gracie Allen "blows" dialogue, but usually it's the kind of dialogue that makes sense. Almost never does she require a second take on her particular brand of nonsense.

"Double talk is a cinch—it's always that straight stuff that has me baffled," says the screen's glumly zany.

In one short scene for "Mr. and Mrs. North," at M-G-M. All Gracie had to do was kiss William Post, Jr., who plays her husband, then walk across the room and make a few ordinary remarks. First, the kiss bothered her. Then she forgot her line of a dozen words. Six takes were necessary to get it pat.

Up came the next scene, in which Gracie was slated to rattle off three pages of dialogue with scarcely a breathing spell.

With so many wacky creatures perading the campus of Clayton it has not been necessary to pay much attention to the story in which they are involved. No one has, which has made it possible to make a full-length picture out of Thurber's sardonic joke about the football player who remained eligible because a

Some of These New Fashion Trends May Be Slow in Attaining Popularity

However, the Ballet Skirt And Dipping Hemline Are Very Influential

Chemisier Silhouette Among Those Viewed Doubtfully; Color Most Important

By Helen Vogt

If you have, handy, any limbs of the kind people get out on, we'd like to borrow one for the next eight or nine hundred words. There, precariously perched, we'll utter a few pearls of wisdom about some of the new fashion trends, knowing full well that we may be proved wrong within the next 30 seconds. However, since there is always the remote chance that we'll be right, and therefore lauded as a prophet, here are some of the things we believe are important in fashions for winter. Most of them are "high-style," but wearable, and our advice is that you give them careful consideration on your next budget-busting spree.

BALLET SKIRTS. These, of course, include the shorter dinner dress type of thing which many designers are advocating. Mainbocher is one, and there are others. Leading fashion magazines recommend that you wear the ballet slippers for evening, and they really are charming and most effective in creating an informal "don't-dress-for-dinner" costume. Try one in the new length, which is just above the ankle. You can, for example, buy separate skirts and change the blouses.

DIPPING HEMLINES. A number of names have been tacked onto dresses whose hemlines take a nose-dive in the back. Generally accepted in informal dinner and cocktail styles, they are one of a hem of your dress trailing. Good with jackets—very new looking in 1941.

SLIT SKIRTS. This looks like an assured success, and, having started timidly in dinner dresses, it is now translated into daytime clothes. Even some of the new wool suits have slit skirts, and frocks with draped fronts also feature this provocative, sirelike hemline feature.

PEPLUMS. No question about their success, either, for every other girl you see has a peplum, either all the way around or at the front or back. Dinner dresses make use of the peplum, too, often incrusting it with sequins.

GLITTER. Shoulders, peplums, pockets, yokes—all take to glitter via sequins, let alone beading or paillettes. Usually skillfully done, so that there is no effect of overornateness, this is a perfect treatment on dressy frocks. Sequin "beanie" hats combine beautifully, in an effect that is neither too formal nor too casual, but just right in these days.

CHEMISIER SILHOUETTE. Another beloved post-war fashion (last war, that is) comes to light in some of the new collections. This, as you know, is a dress with unfitted line from shoulder to short hem, very straight, and pulled in only at the waistline. We are not too optimistic about this trend, for most women shy like mad from the baggy costumes with straight lines and short skirts that we wore in the early '20s.

COLOR. Volumes have been written about it this year, and color is actually catching on. Bright reds, greens, plum shades, yellows—in dresses for all occasions, daytime as well as evening. We are a brown-for-evening advocate, too, as a change from the eternal black. Don't think for a moment that we've turned our back on the latter, however, because we haven't, but we do love color as a spice to a winter wardrobe. As for white, it's a honey for cold-weather chic. Remember "winter white" in wools for day, and often for evening, too.

So, there are a few of the outstanding fashion trends in a season that is full of influences. Most of them seem destined for acceptance, although it would seem that a number of them may be somewhat slow in reaching real popularity.

Excellent Pair of Aprons For the Kitchen Supply

By Barbara Bell

All busy housewives will find these aprons a joy—make both of them for holiday gifts as well as your own kitchen supply. As you busy yourself with many household errands you'll find the big pocket on the apron sketched at the top an extra help—as well as an attractive bit of decoration. You can apply this colorful bright apple easily and it does fit the apron individuality, doesn't it?

BARBARA BELL, Washington Star. Enclose 25 cents for Pattern No. 1483-B. Size _____ Name _____ Address _____ Wrap coins securely in paper.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1483-B is designed for sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. The top style apron, size 34, requires 2 1/2 yards, the lower style 2 1/4 yards of 32 or 35 inch fabric. Pocket applique requires a 6x3-inch piece for the apple and 6x3-inch piece for the leaf, 6 1/4 yards braid for finishing.

Speaking of trends, here are two of the newest. At left, a post-last war dress with the "chemisier silhouette," straight lines from shoulder to short hem, pulled in at the waist with a peplum sash. The other example is one of the "don't-dress-for-dinner" types in crepe with uneven hemline longer in back, a new draped skirt and collarless neckline.

Parade of Cookery Books

From the publishing house of Prentice-Hall in New York comes an unusual book by Charlotte Morris, "Favorite Recipes of Famous Musicians." It has been, generally, the somewhat hazy impression of the layman that musicians may be divided into two classes—those who live for their art alone and eat nothing whatsoever, rendering their best work under the force of hunger pangs, and those who live largely and well, are known to be gourmets, and to appreciate to the nth degree the virtues of the cup and plate.

Cod Liver Oil Is Rich in Vitamins

Olive Oil Cannot Be Used Instead In Baby's Diet

Just because two edible substances look somewhat alike and are of the same consistency does not indicate that they contain identical or even similar elements. One tablespoonful of olive oil contains no protein and no carbohydrate; it is 100 per cent fat. It contains minus or insufficient quantities of vitamins B, C and D. Its vitamin A content is so small as to be inadequate, and it shows so little vitamin D, if any at all, that this vitamin, too, must be discounted.

Dorothy Dix Says-- Youngsters Would Like Parents To Be Their Friends, Not Pals

What attitude should parents assume toward their children? You would think that is a question even a moronic father and mother could answer right off the bat and that, anyway, nature would furnish the necessary information when it delivered the little bundle from Heaven at their doors. But, unfortunately, such is not the case. No tips from on high on how to handle them are vouchsafed little Bobby's and Susie's mom and pop, and they are left, alone and unaided, to muddle through a job that calls for the wisdom of Solomon, the tact of a diplomat and the inner sight of a clairvoyant.

Clogged Spout and Gutter May Cause Rain to Seep In at Ceiling Line

Kapok Filling in Boudoir Chair Is Comfortable, Inexpensive And Average Wearing

By Margaret Nowell
Moisture is appearing close to the ceiling line in two of the bedrooms in my house. As the roof and the gutters were completely renewed about this time last year I cannot understand it. It is noticeable immediately after a rain, seeping in slowly, and has discolored a long section of new wallpaper. Is there anything that will clean the wallpaper and can you give me any ideas of what may be causing this leak?
MRS. E. W.

Answer—It may be that some of the joints in the gutters have opened up with this long dry spell and there is some way for the water to get into your walls. The contractor who did your roof last year could tell you about this. Or it may be that the gutters and spout are clogged with leaves and when it rains the water flows over the edge and seeps in through the walls. Check up on both of these points and I think you will find the difficulty. The paper will have to be renewed.

Dear Miss Nowell: I am re-covering a small boudoir chair which was very fluffy and deep when I purchased it. I bought it for that reason. It was filled with kapok and was very soft and comfortable. This has all settled and now has almost disappeared. What shall I do about renewing it?
K. H.

Answer—You might use the kapok again, if you do not mind renewing it every few years, for it breaks up and sifts out with use. However, it is still the softest and most comfortable of the inexpensive fillings and will last just about as long as any delicately tinted slip covers or upholstery fabrics that you might use in your own room.

Dear Miss Nowell: I have planned to paint and decorate an old chest that has a pair of small drawers just under the top and two doors below. It is covered with a reddish mahogany finish that is sticky and rough. If I sand this down will that be all that is necessary for the refinishing job? What kind of paint should I use for the background, and what kind for the decorations?
HELEN S.

Answer—The finish is probably a mahogany varnish stain, which, I think, it would be wise to remove before you start painting. It has a tendency to "bleed" through the paint as time goes on, and all your decoration then will be in vain. If this is pine or similar wood, you might remove the paint with a lye solution, provided you can take it out into the back yard to work on it. When it is clean, sand it down carefully and you will have a clean surface to work on. Use a priming paint, or undercoat, and two coats of semi-gloss enamel on top of that. Then you are ready for the decoration. If you are painting this by hand, use oil paint. If you use stencils, you will find that there is a special paint made for stencil use which is a little thicker than the usual variety. Enamel may be used if you work on a flat surface, but it has a tendency to run if placed upright.

Dear Miss Nowell: Is there any reason why a house should have a basement under its full length? One room in my house is over a brick basement and the other built right on the ground, with space only for the heating pipes under the floor. It has been suggested that we excavate a basement under the whole area, but this seems needless expense when I do not plan any use for the basement.
T. E. W.

Answer—The only necessity that I can see is that there should be a space for the circulation of air so that your floors do not get damp and warp. Also that you take some precautions against termites. Many of the finest homes were built without basements a hundred years ago and still are in good condition.

A perfectionist is Sheila Hibben, whose charming volume "A Kitchen Manual" has just been published by Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc. of New York. Mrs. Hibben, who is the author of "The National Cookbook," the originator of the Restaurants column in the New Yorker, and the "S. H." of that magazine's present Markets and Menus feature, is one of the country's foremost writers on foods and wines.

Pediatricians differ in their opinion in comparing cod liver oil to concentrated oils, but the general opinion is that the latter are efficient. However, I think that most doctors seem to favor the plain cod liver oil. It should contain no less than 85 U. S. P. units of vitamin D per gram. You can be assured of this by inspecting the label of the bottle that you buy.

Without doubt it must be a privilege to be descended from such faultless parents, but it makes an insurmountable barrier between them and their children, for what has poor, faltering, weak humanity got in common with godlings? How is Johnny to tell father the mess he has got himself into when father was temptation proof when he was young? How is Mary to confide in mother about petting parties when mother never kissed father until after they were married?

Waffle Iron Care

After using a waffle iron remove all particles of batter with a stiff brush, wipe off quickly with a cloth dampened in hot water, and dry with a soft cloth. Wrap up carefully in a clean slip or in an oiled paper bag and store in a clean spot. The iron is then ready for the next time.

Baking Powder

Always store baking powder in a tightly covered container. If it is exposed to the air some of the strength will be lost.

Star Not 'Sponsor' of 'Children's Institute'

It has been reported that certain salesmen now operating in Washington and vicinity have been using in the name of The Evening Star in connection with a "Children's Institute," indicating to parents that their children have been "selected" for some special honor and that The Star is sponsoring the institute.

For Added Flavor

For a different flavor, add a piece of lemon peel to sauce used for oysters. (Creamed or cheese, served hot.) Remove the peel when serving the oysters.

Wooden Rolling Pin

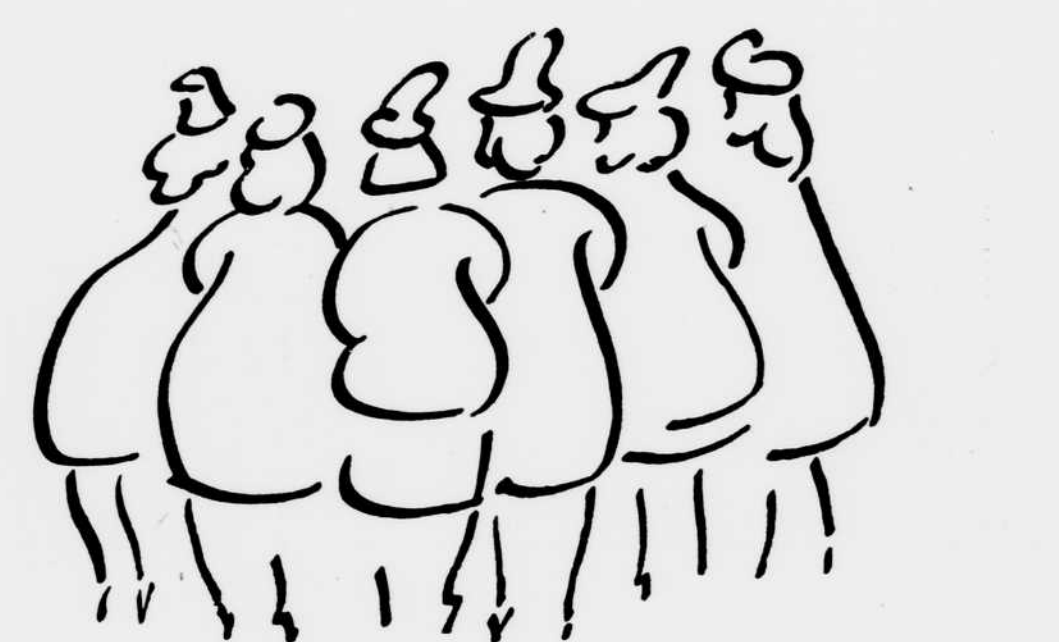

The wooden rolling pin needs special care to keep it from warping. As soon as it has been used, rinse it in cold water, wash it quickly in warm, soapy water, then rinse in hot water. Wipe dry and keep in a warm—not hot—place. Never soak wooden utensils or dry them directly over heat.

Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Wonderfully handsome was Lightfoot the Deer as he stood in the little opening by the pond of Paddy the Beaver, his head thrown back, proudly as he received the congratulations of his neighbors of the Green Forest who had seen him win the great fight with the big stranger who had come down from the Great Mountain.

Lightfoot didn't know this. In fact, he didn't know that Miss Daintyfoot was there. His one thought had been to drive out of the Green Forest the big stranger who had come down from the Great Mountain.

When he turned he faced the thicket in which Miss Daintyfoot was hiding. His keen eyes caught a little movement of the branches. A beautiful head was slowly thrust out and Lightfoot gazed into a pair of soft eyes which he was sure were the most beautiful eyes in all the Great World.

He wondered if she would disappear and run away as she had the last time he saw her. He took a step or two forward. The beautiful head was withdrawn. Lightfoot's heart sank; but he bounded forward into the thicket. He more than half expected to find no one there, but when he entered that thicket he received the most wonderful surprise in all his life.

There stood Miss Daintyfoot, timid, bashful, but with a look in her eyes which Lightfoot could not mistake. In that instant Lightfoot understood the meaning of that longing which had kept him hunting for her, and of the rage which had filled him when he had discovered the presence of the big stranger from the Great Mountain. It was love. Lightfoot knew that he loved Miss Daintyfoot and looking into her soft, gentle eyes, he knew that Miss Daintyfoot loved him.

POINTS FOR WALLACE

When a choice must be made, it is well to realize that the injured feelings of an adult are of less importance than the injured health of a child.

This Mother: "Billie's trip to grandpa's didn't hurt him a bit."

Father: "You showed your wisdom as well as your courage when you asked father not to give him any pie or nuts."

Not This Mother: "No wonder baby's cross. Your father fed him nuts and candy all day yesterday."

Father: "It would have hurt Dad's feelings terribly though if you'd asked him not to."

Bridge Swindles—No. 74

Until now, in this series of bridge swindles, we have presented only deceptive plays and have said nothing about deceptive bids.

But there are a few situations in which a tricky bid is more likely to get your partner in trouble and is very likely to embarrass the opponents.

West dealer. East-West vulnerable.

- ♠ K 4, ♠ 9 4, ♠ Q J 10 8 3, ♠ A 9 5 3, ♠ J 10 8 8, ♠ 5, ♠ Q K Q J, ♠ 8 5 2, ♠ W-E 10 6 3, ♠ 6 5 2, ♠ S, ♠ K 9 4, ♠ 10, ♠ A 7 6 3, ♠ 7, ♠ A 7, ♠ J 8 7 6 4 2

The bidding: West. North. East. South. Pass. Pass. 1♠. 2♠. Pass. 3♠. 4♥. 5♠.

When East jumped to four hearts South was in considerable doubt about his best course. North's club raise might indicate a defensive trick or two and South's two aces might add enough to set four hearts.

Then again, four hearts might be a lay-down, in which case South might do better to sacrifice in five clubs. Still another possibility was that South could score more points by bidding and making five clubs than by setting four hearts one trick.

Yesterday you were David Burnstone's partner and, non-vulnerable against vulnerable opponents, you held:

- ♠ A Q 10 7 5, ♠ K J 5, ♠ A J 4, ♠ A Q 10 7 5, ♠ K J 5, ♠ A J 4

The bidding: Jacoby. You. Schenken. Bistone. 1♠. Pass. INT. Pass. Pass. 1♠. 2♠. Pass. 2♠. Pass. (2).

Answer—Pass. This is not a satisfactory contract, but you are unlikely to find a better one.

What do you bid? (Answer tomorrow.)

by Hector (not: "HEK-tore"). A smelter is the place for ore; There it's refined. But, I implore, It's not refined in debtor nor inspector (as: "in-SPEK-tore"). Such incorrect pronouncing stunts are infantile. Desist at once. With love, your conscientious chief objector (not: "ob-JEK-tore").

Curtain Call The spotlight on Paulette Goddard for the attractive genuineness and simplicity of her speech pattern. She is one star who doesn't talk as if she were choking on a "dictionary school" textbook. As a guest on a recent comedy broadcast, she delighted my ears with her correct pronunciation of PRO-GRAM, even though her vis-a-vis repeatedly mispronounced it "PRO-grum." Her unaffected delivery demonstrates what I have long maintained—that correct American speech should be and can be altogether charming. Take a bow, Miss Goddard, and thank you!

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle: BALENS—SLANDER, CANDLERS—SHUNTER, SOUTHERN—SHUNTER, ENACTS—CANES, RIMES—EMIR.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER—Theaters of Ancient Rome Had No Roofs

In these days we can go to theaters to see plays of one kind or another. In theaters where "stage plays" are given, living persons stand before the audience and talk.

What were theaters all over Italy, and on the island of Sicily as well. Provinces of the Roman empire also had theaters. I saw the seats of a fine open-air theater near the city of Syracuse when I was paying a visit to Sicily.

Most of those who went to Roman theaters were men. There were seats for women, but these were in the back rows. At some comedies, women were not allowed to be present in the audience.

Nature's Children

Sassafras (S. sassafras)

By Lillian Cox Athey

Now that the autumn foliage has lost its brilliance and most of the trees are bare, we soon forget the glory of the color display of the handsome sassafras trees. The mingled purple, gold and red of the leaves set these trees apart in the woods. The hillsides blazed with their brightness, and we again and again exclaimed over their charm and beauty as ornamental trees either singly or in groups. But our intense enjoyment would be of longer duration if we would remember to plant one of these worthwhile trees in our own garden. Sassafras trees rarely reach higher than 50 feet in the North, but some of the Southern ones have been known to grow to be 100 feet high with a trunk diameter of 6 to 7 feet. Rich, sandy loam along the borders of peaty swamps and woodlands are the choice locations of sassafras. This situation is found in Southern Vermont, west through Michigan and Iowa to Kansas, south to Florida and Texas. The sassafras is a father and mother type of tree. That is, the male flowers are borne on separate trees from the female flowers. You will find the fruit on the mother trees, of course. In May, the delicate pale flowers are seen. The buds were large and swollen in early spring. Those of the leaves were much more plump and very spicy and made a walk in the woods quite fascinating, for the flavor of the tender buds is most acceptable to every nature lover we have met. Of course, you have heard about the queer little habit the sassafras has of developing three different shapes of leaves, and on the same twig, too. Look at them. Some reach a length of 6 inches. They are dull yellow-green above and pale beneath during early spring and summer. In the autumn, any one of the trees may apparently choose any color they wish, for there is no rule followed to show their individuality in hue. The fruit is the joy of traveling birds in autumn. It is truly beautiful. Soft juicy blue jackets cover the nutlet and these fruits swing from thick scarlet stems. Sassafras wood is valuable, as it is light and tough and is excellent for fishing rods, small boats, posts and rails. By this you see it is durable in both soil and water, and the wood has long been a favorite for making fine barrels. The bark, especially that on the roots, is important because of the amount of volatile oil in it, needed for taking the bad taste out of medicine. The bark itself used to be sold in large amounts to those who wished to make their own sassafras tea for "clearing the blood" after heavy eating during the winter. The leaves and twigs yield a mucilaginous substance that was once in demand in the South for adding flavor and consistency to the famous gumbo soups. Despite the fact that these trees have so many by-products which make them commercially important, their beauty alone should be enough reason for a place on your lawn.

Weather Man Promises Dry Field for Two-Ocean Navy's Battle With Fast Army

Win, Lose or Draw

By FRANCIS E. STAN

Shooting in National Defense
The way we heard the story was that our boy, Rod Thomas, called Uncle Sam and said:
"You want to sell some Defense bonds and I want to peddle a bowling tournament. Neither of us is going to make a dime, so how about playing together?"
Old Mr. Whiskers nodded and that's the way The Star's 14th annual Yuletide tournament started. Because Uncle Sam can use a little ready cash an entry fee—$1 is all—will be levied. This is the first time the bowlers have been asked to lay it on the line, but if some 16,908 rollers of 1940 shoot again they will divide, instead of $1,300 in cash, an unprecedented duckpin purse of $16,908 in bonds.
In jubilent moments we have called it the perfect tournament. It's almost perfect. The way the prizes have been listed the guy or gal who doesn't win something should be signed for the "We, the People" program or for a week's stage appearance, like Miss America. To our mind the non-winner almost will be a celebrity.
As it stands now The Star's tournament throws open to the person who momentarily has the magic touch an avenue literally paved with gold. The first prize for men is $1,000. That's in a defense bond, of course, cashable in all of its glory 10 years hence, but it isn't tin.

Big Prize Winner Near Head of the Class

When The Star tournament was born 14 years ago a single prize of $1,000 wasn't dreamed of. In the first place there was no entry fee. The purse was a gift to the bowlers. Nobody got anything out of it except the bowlers, and over the years these rollers, by and large, have been the non-stars and, in some instances, the dubs. There is nothing to keep a sharpshooter like Astor Clarke, with a 129 average, from winning. That is, there is no rule against him. But little Joe Anonymous, who ordinarily rolls 87 or even 78, has just as good a chance or better.

Joe may weigh 107 pounds, carrying a wet blanket under each arm, and he may never have made his ball team back at school, but if he's the guy who hits the jackpot there will be shoved in his paw a certified check for more money, for instance, than:

Any of the Chicago Bears got for routing the Redskins last year in the pro play-off. (Each Bear's share was $673.99 for the largest play-off game in history).
Almost any nationally famous jockey for riding a winner in anything except the Kentucky Derby and one of two other heavily-sugared turf tests.

Some of the highest-ranking stars in golf, tennis, billiards, baseball and other sports for a single contest.

Even Santa Can't Top the Rewards

There is a dreamy fascination to an affair like The Star bowling tournament. For one thing there are no odds. Tackling Astor Clarke in this competition isn't like running on a field and trying to bring down Clark Hinkle of the Green Bay Packers. If you are a 90 bowler you are allowed a full handicap. In other words, since Clarke's average last year was 129 you get 39 pins a game on him. This makes it tough on the star because averaging 129 is just about ceiling. But there hasn't been a 90 bowler yet who hasn't gotten lucky, or hot, and ripped off a game in the 140s or higher. Add 39 points to a score like that.

It's a form of hypnosis, watching The Star bowlers. In all pin plants they come and go. Day and night they fire away at the little sticks, hoping the fates will smile down benignly. They come in all shapes and sizes. There are teen-aged youngsters and middle-aged matrons. There will be a truck driver and a retired businessman.

We have seen them come in to bowl their games and remain for hours, watching others try their luck. Even those whose own chances have been blasted by a first ball that insisted on "cutting through" experience a sort of second-hand sort of somebody playing a slot machine.

It's worth trying, especially if you've never done it. You don't have to be a league bowler, either. If you're unattached dig up a few more in the same boat. You get a 115 handicap—that's still 14 pins a game on Clarke and, by the same token, it discourages any ringers—and you never can tell. Even Santa Claus can't top those rewards.

Whelchel, D. C. Man, Apt to Get Navy Post Larson Vacates

By the Associated Press.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28.—Major Emory E. (Sweede) Larson, a Marine who proved the combination of Leatherneck and Midshipman is tough to beat, will wind up his colorful Navy football coaching career tomorrow when the Redskins meet Army.

COMDR. JOHN E. WHELCHEL.

Larson will be transferred to duties as yet unannounced and reported as likely to replace him is Comdr. John E. Whelchel, U. S. N., who started his football career at Western High in Washington after later played on Navy elevens under Gil Doble. Whelchel currently is assistant backfield coach at Navy.
For Larson, the only big-time grid mentor who's coached football teams in China and on the high seas, the experience of being bounced from his job a scant 48 hours before the Army-Navy classic was a development right up his alley.
He came to Annapolis in 1938 as commandant of the academy marine detachment and, as such had to supervise traffic outside Thompson Stadium, a bitter pill for a virulent football man. The admirals must have relished the traffic directing, for they named Sweede head coach the following season.

Oklahoma, Nebraska Battle for Second Fiddle in Big Six

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 28.—Two teams which, according to pre-season predictions, were supposed to fight it out with Missouri for the Big Six title will ring down the conference curtain tomorrow at Lincoln, Neb.
But no crowd awaits the winner of this anti-climactic clash between Oklahoma and Nebraska—nothing but the doubtful honor to playing second fiddle to a great Tiger team which crushed all conference opposition.
Some make Oklahoma a favorite because of the sensational scoring bursts which have come from Dewey Luster's Sooners at times. But if the Sooners finish ahead of the Huskers they'll make gridiron history.
Oklahoma never has won on Nebraska's home soil. Their series dates back to 1912.

Service Contest Wagerers Are Split on Odds

Tussle Tomorrow Likely to Provide Unusual Angles

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—This city came down today with its annual attack of Army-Navyitis—and another this year its bad.

Hotels bulged at the seam, gold braided was a penny a yard as the first of 100,000 fans arrived to find out what happens (and anything can) when a two-ocean Navy encounters a lightning-fast Army rumored to be specially armor-plated for the occasion.

They get the answer tomorrow at Municipal Stadium, but at this hour, even the betting fraternity was split on the odds.
The sorriest spectacle in town was the ticket speculator. Everyone wants to go to the football game, but tickets were snapped up weeks ago through the regular West Point and Annapolis channels and few found their way into the hands of the middle-man.

He's asking $25 each for the few available—he could sell hundreds too—but won't guarantee the quality.

Weather in Army's Favor.
The weatherman bestowed his favor on the Army Grid right off, promising a fast field built for the swift-breaking aerial and ground attack which has brought the Cadets victory in all but three games this season. Navy, bulwarked two deep in sheer manpower that bowled over everyone except Notre Dame and Harvard (a tie), hoped for a heavy field on which to launch its dreadnaughts.

This year the Cadets are hosts, minus the gray-haired ranks will be first on the field with that precision march at 12:15 p.m., five minutes later, to the tune of "Anchors Aweigh," will come the Navy Blue. Fresh from a seclusion of a suburban country club, Navy took over Temple Stadium for its last workout. And Maj. Emory (Sweede) Larson, who hasn't lost yet to Army as a player or coach, promised to concentrate on the remarkable "little men who weren't there." They are Bob Leonard and Zeke Zechella, the conversion team which, without playing officially a minute in any game this year, made 20 of 26 tries for points after touchdowns—and their accuracy could well spell a Navy triumph.

Army, with virtually the same personnel which lost on the same field a year ago—but with a vastly more potent team now, was scheduled to work out the kinks after a daylight trip from West Point.

Last Game for Larson.
For Larson, the game will mark the end of a successful tenure as Navy's coach. Before the squad left Annapolis, it was announced that he will be detached as commandant of the marine group stationed at the academy for duty elsewhere.
He took over in 1939, and his record against Army so far encompasses a 10-0 triumph in 1939 and last year's 14-0 victory.

Missouri, Fordham, Duke Lead With Oregon State for Bid

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Supporters of the University of Texas renewed a clamor for a Rose Bowl invitation tonight after the Longhorns' smashing win over Texas A. and M., but Oregon State was reported favoring Fordham, Missouri or Duke if the Beavers wind up as the host team for the New Year Day game in Pasadena.
Here's what George T. Davis, sports editor of the Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express, printed from Bud Forrester, Oregon State publicity director:
"As you know," Forrester wrote Davis, "the Rose Bowl situation depends almost entirely on the outcome of our game Saturday with Oregon."
"Should we win, we'd probably invite one of these teams to play us in Pasadena: Missouri, Fordham or Duke. I think they rate in that order with Coach Lon Stiner and Percy Looney, athletic director."

Bowl Bids Are Heavy Issues In Last Big Football Day

Smearing of Texas Ags' Record by Texas High Spot of Second Thanksgiving

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The fading football season, which has had players, coaches and fans going in circles since last September, is facing its last big day with the problem of producing opponents for most of the bowl contests and settling several family feuds. Yesterday's second edition of the Thanksgiving holiday furnished a handful of backyard tussles, including one major scrap, in which once-mighty Texas returned to form and kicked Texas A. and M. right out of the ranks of the unbeaten and untied by the score of 23-0.

For the second time in two years Coach Dana Bible's Longhorns ruined a perfect record for their rivals at A. and M., although this time the Aggies had the Southwest Conference title safely tucked away. Another Southwest entry, tail-end Arkansas, kept its season from being a total flop by whipping Tulsa, its traditional Turkey Day rival and champion of the Missouri Valley, 13-6. It snapped a seven-game winning streak for the Oklahomans and a four-game losing streak for Arkansas.

Much Action in Southwest.
Fullback Jack Faubion scored all the touchdowns for Oklahoma A. and M., which trounced Wichita (Kans.) University, 33-13. Elsewhere in the Southwest, Arkansas Teachers noosed Arkansas Tech, 7-6. McMurry blanked Oklahoma City University, 7-0, and Ouachita stopped Henderson State by the same score.
Louisiana Tech crushed Centenary, 39-7, and Chattanooga whipped Mercer, 40-13. Tennessee Tech shut out the Middle Tennessee Teachers, 6-0. Florida A. and M. scored a 27-0 victory over Xavier of New Orleans, Morris Brown dumped Clark, 32-0, and Lemoine triumphed over Arkansas State, 7-0.
In the East, Muhlenberg and Franklin and Marshall came up with last-round decisions which divided the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference championship three ways. Muhlenberg downed Gettysburg, 28-

Xavier will have its full squad ready, including its star coach, Chet Mutryn, and a hard, close game is anticipated.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Georgetown's football squad, 30 strong, arrived here early this morning to put the finishing touches to its preparations for tomorrow's finale against Xavier's once-beaten eleven.

The Hoyas went immediately to their quarters at the Alms Hotel where Hilltop alumni are concentrating for the week end festivities and later this afternoon were to have a dress rehearsal on the Musketeers' field.

Abrams Choice To Rule Middle Class Alone

Win by Capital Boy Over Zale Tuxton Would End Mixup

By SID FEDER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Along bash boulevard these days they tell you the Navy has the jump on the Army generally in the matter of boys who can dish it out and take it, and particularly they'll have you notice George Abrams.

George was just a guy named Joe for years until this fall when he came out of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Navy base to start kicking things around. Right now he's better than even money to take good care of Tony Zale tonight and win the first undisputed world middleweight championship in a dozen years.

It has been a long time since a 160-pounder held his head up high like Mickey Walker and said, "Brother, I'm boss here."

Abrams is Slight Choice.
But when Sailor Boy George and the Indiana steel socker wind up their 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden, the middleweight tussle is going to be all straightened out again at long last.

And, if you'd listen to the would-be wise ones along Forty-ninth street, Abrams is due to be the little white-haired boy. The betting boys aren't leaning in that direction. The direction of the Washington wallop-er with the sailor's sock, but they will offer 5 to 6 in his favor.

And this corner puts the finger on George to outstab the Gary (Ind.) clouter and win the decision over the 15-round route.
Although more than a couple of the bashed beak experts decided to go into Gene Tunney's tussle emporium in Jacksonville, Abrams is the first flailer to step up and say he's good enough to be champ.

Outpouted Sooze Twier.
He outpouted Billy (the Swosee) Sooze twice for decisions—once while Billy was recognized as champion by the New York State Athletic Commission.

And New York's fistic fathers, faced with Sooze's abdication because regular steaks and the 160-pound limit aren't compatible, have decided to go long with the National Boxing Association in recognition of tomorrow night's winner.

Two Loop Soccer Tilts Listed Here Sunday

Duke Appears as Top Choice for Battle In Sugar Bowl

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—Speculation on the Sugar Bowl football game shifted away from the Southwest Conference today while officials kept their eyes behind-the-scenes maneuvering.

As rumors flew, none with confirmation, Duke was the center of much talk to meet Missouri, Duquesne or Fordham. Matching Duke and Missouri would mark the first appearance for either a Southern Conference or a Big Six eleven in the Sugar Bowl.

Duquesne supporters argued that a battle between the two "Dukes" would bring together two top undefeated and untied teams.
The loss by Texas A. and M. to Texas deflated Aggie rosters and caused many to believe that the Southwest Conference might be ruled out.

President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association has said the official announcement might come Saturday or Monday—and until then every one is having a big time guessing.

Loop Record 186 Game Bowled by Grigsby in Department Store League Debut

Raleigh Haberdasher Star Backs Mark With 452 Set

Big Score Helps Smash Palais Royal; Benmacks Trip Jacobsen Team

Ray Grigsby, a newcomer on the Raleigh Haberdasher team, today boasted an all-time record game of 186 and a season high set mark of 452 for Department Store League. Warming up with 126 as his league debut, Grigsby soon was the center attraction last night at Hi-Skor as he turned on the heat with eight consecutive marks in his middle game. After starting with a double-header strike, the new record-holder sandwiched three spares between a second double-header before climaxing his astonishing feat with a spare and two flat 10s in his last three boxes. His final effort was 140 as the Haberdasher quitted another Palais Royal. Kann's bowlers posted team highs of 374 and 1,700, while the leading Woodward & Lothrop pinners trimmed Hecht Co., 2-1.

Loyola, Bridgewater Joint Choices for Harrier Crown

Catholic U., Gallaudet And A. U. Among Seven In Mason-Dixon Race

Loyola and Bridgewater probably will go to the post in the role of co-favorites tomorrow when a small army of hill-and-dale hoofers toe the mark for the first annual Mason-Dixon Conference cross-country championship. Scheduled at 2:30, the course has been laid out over the uneven terrain of American University's campus and should provide a mean test. It will be a 3-mile run with four places counting in team scores. Loyola, with Clayton McKenney and Tom McCall sporting the Kelly Green, may have an edge on its Virginia rival, but Bridgewater has two outstanding men in Flory Diehl and Ray Flory and will give the Baltimoreans a fight for the bunting. It is possible that while they are killing off one another a dark horse, such as the Gallaudet aggregation that took Catholic U. and American in a triangular meet earlier in the week, may slip through and grab the laurels. The Blue has a strong team comprised of George Elliott, Ken Huffman, Arnold Daulton, John Galvin, Galvin George and Dick Mullins, and has worked hard for the event. Catholic's Johnny Doyle figures to be on the fringe of the first five on a basis of previous races, but Doryse Griffith's team as a whole appears to be in over its head. If the race goes according to form McKenney will win with Diehl second, McCall third, Flory fourth and Doyle next. Washington College is sending a four-man team, including two freshmen, but the Shoreman's entries will not be posted until just before the start. The line-ups:
John Henkins—Bert Collins, Sidney Jones, John Ager, Warren Kuhn, Phil Dunk, Paul Albert, and George Schenkel.
Loyola—Tom McCall, Dan Menahan, James Ball, and Clayton McKenney.
Washington—George Elliott, Ken Huffman, Arnold Daulton, John Galvin, Galvin George and Dick Mullins.
American—Herb Wood, William Lewis, Leon Glatz and Ned Kravtsoff.
Catholic—Johnny Doyle, Eddie Diehl and Vernon Yates.

Brooks to Put Camilli on Block At Minor Leagues' Meeting

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—Some real dynamite in the shape of inter-league trading is ready for a fuse when the baseball bartering gets hot at the winter meetings next week in Jacksonville, Fla. The possibility of swaps between clubs of the National and American Leagues was opened up by President MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers with the revelation that waivers had been obtained on several of his outstanding players. He did not designate the players, but it was learned that one of them was First Baseman Dolph Camilli, the home-run king and most valuable player in the senior circuit. All American League clubs also are understood to have waived on Jimmy Fox, veteran first baseman of the Boston Red Sox. There undoubtedly are many more headlines in both big leagues who have not been claimed by rival clubs and who could be traded at will in either league this winter. In spite of the high honors Camilli earned last season, he has not been dear to MacPhail's heart since they became involved in a vitriolic holdout controversy two years ago. There are good grounds for believing that MacPhail did not consider Camilli as valuable in the pennant fight as did the baseball writers. MacPhail said Pitcher Luke Hamlin and Catcher Babe Phelps are not among the players on whom he had waivers. He said both had been claimed by other National League clubs and indicated they were likely to be traded within the senior circuit.

Bowl Battle Awaiting Texas Ags, Despite Blot on Record

Texas, Led to Triumph By Crain, Also Sought For Post-Season Tilt

By the Associated Press.
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 28—Coach Homer Norton of the Texas Aggies stated emphatically today that his team would play in a bowl game January 1 despite its loss to the University of Texas. And he indicated more than one bowl might be seeking his Aggies. The 23-0 defeat at the hands of Texas yesterday tumbled A. and M. from the ranks of the Nation's unbeaten, but it had no effect on the result of the Southwest Conference race. The Aggies already were champions and as such automatically are invited to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Norton also said seven members of the Sugar Bowl Committee conferred with him yesterday. Orange Bowl Wants Texas. Texas remained mum on the bowl situation, but it is known that the Orange Bowl would like to have the Longhorns. A representative from Miami was here yesterday. Coach Dana Bible's team was very much in the picture as a result of its stunning triumph. While Texas was lone and tied one, both games were inside the conference. The Longhorns finish against Oregon next week at Austin. Norton paid tribute to Texas as a fine team. "We feared our comparatively inexperienced team would crack in some game," he said. "They did against Texas. But the better team won and we have no regrets." Credit for the Longhorns' performance, meanwhile, went to a couple of comparatively unknown backfield reserves as well as rock-solid Jack Crain.

Crain Is Sparking

Noble Doss raced 82 yards to pave the way for the first Longhorn touchdown, cutting behind his own goal line after receiving the ball from Crain on the second-half kickoff. "We feared our comparatively inexperienced team would crack in some game," he said. "They did against Texas. But the better team won and we have no regrets." Credit for the Longhorns' performance, meanwhile, went to a couple of comparatively unknown backfield reserves as well as rock-solid Jack Crain.

Gladys Gillem Tosses

Gladys Gillem, billed as the Oklahoma cowgirl, is in line for another crack at Mildred Burke and the women's wrestling title following last night's antics at Turner's Arena and probably will go against the champion some time next month. Miss Gillem earned her chance by defeating Carole Starr in 12 minutes of the co-feature. In the other headline nod Ernie Dusek was given the nod over George Koverly after 25 minutes of battling, although the latter claimed it was a steal and wanted to continue. There was plenty of action on last night's card, one of the best in several months. Nanjo Singh with his cobra clutch, or strange hold, disposed of Pat Healey, Pat Fraley won over Freddy Groomier, Jim Henry drew with Stanley Pinto and Emil Dusek made it unanimous for his family by defeating Herbie Freeman.

Bowling Mere Sport for Most, But Not in Bond Tourney

League Shooters Used to Receiving Small Prizes Lured by Big Ones

By ROD THOMAS.
Uppermost in the mind of your average league bowler when he swings into action is not an individual prize, but team victory. If, at the end of the season, he collects a personal award he is pleased beyond all getout, not as much by the intrinsic value of his check as by the achievement it represents. As a member of a 10-team league he would shoot 27 three-game matches, or 81 games. For high game he would receive about $10, for high set the same amount and for top average, largest number of spares and high strikes similar prizes. If his team won the pennant his slice of the league melon would be more delectable than the other bits in a remunerative way. But here we've concerned with awards for high set and high game, for only such will pay off in the Star's Defense Bond Tournament, to open a week from Monday at all of Metropolitan Washington's maple plants. Dismissing the fact that the average bowler joins a league mainly for sport and companionship, let's give the fellow a clear shot at big material awards and make him even happier. Consider that, for 27 cracks at his league's $10 high set prize and 81 passes at the top-game tenpost, he pays $27, a buck a week, which, of course, includes his alley fee. Then ponder this: For a $1 entry fee in The Star's Defense Bond Tournament he might fire at 184 prizes, ranging from a $1,000 defense bond to one of $25. If among the last 75 in the roll-off he would pocket a $25 bond. This is predicated upon the 1941 tournament equalling in entries that of 1940 in which 16,908 men and women competed. Based upon last year's figures, the women's separate prize fund would be approximately half that of the men's, with prizes scaled accordingly. That single-frogskin entry fee would see a bowler through the tournament, for there will be no charge for bowling in the final. An entrant may use league games for the qualification test in which 50 per cent of the participants at each alley will survive. In most leagues a bowler shoots from scratch for the high-game and high-set prizes. But in The Star tournament full handicaps will be granted in competition for most of the prizes so that the veriest duffer will be on an even footing with the brightest star. To mollify the experts who chronically squawk about the difficulty of whipping highly-handicapped duffers, some very fat prizes have been arranged in which handicaps won't count. The tournament has been planned to satisfy bowlers of every degree of skill. So many are its attractions that numerous leagues are appropriating coin from their treasuries to enter en masse. Quoting Arville Ebersole, executive secretary of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress: "With full handicaps, an almost negligible entry fee and the greatest prize fund in duckpin history likely, it ought to be difficult to keep a bowler out of it." Bond Tournament Sprout. Ebersole is swamped with requests from cities from New England to Florida to help 'em get rollin' in tournaments based on the setup of The Star's, chosen by the National Defense Savings Organization as a model in a campaign to enlist the bowlers of the United States and Canada in Uncle Sam's behind-the-lines army. Petworth Quint to Toil. Petworth A. C.'s basket ball team will hold a practice tomorrow in the Heurich gym starting at 12:45 o'clock.

Pacific Lutheran Ace, Tommervik, Minors' Best Grid Gainer

Passes, Rushes for 1,762 Yards in Eight Games; Gets 1,110 in Air

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Nov. 28—Marvin Tommervik, 1940 Little All-America halfback at Pacific Lutheran College, near Tacoma, Wash., will wind up his senior year as the greatest total offensive gainer in minor college football. American Football Statistical Bureau figures released today show Tommervik has gained 1,762 yards from passing and rushing in eight games and still has a game left against College of the Pacific at Tacoma tomorrow night, in which he hopes to be the first to amass 2,000 yards in one season. Whether he hits 2,000 or not, it still will be a Horatio Alger success story, because four years ago as a freshman, his coach Cliff Olson, clucked in despair at his awkward effort.

Pacific Gain Is Highest

Tommervik rushed the ball 652 yards in 110 plays to rank sixth in rushing offense and completed 61 of 120 passes to rank third among the passers in completions, although he boasts the highest pass yards total—1,110 yards for the season. His nearest total offensive competitor has closed out their season, so nobody can overtake him. J. G. Meeks, halfback from East Texas State, came in second with 1,596 yards in eight games, but injured himself before his final game.

Leonard Is Ace Receiver

Doug Rehner of Dickinson was the second man in modern grid history, either major or minor, to hit the 100 mark in forward-pass completions. He completed an even 100 out of 207 attempts for 1,093 yards to lead the minor leagues for 1941. The other century man is Bud Schwenk of Washington U., St. Louis, who has completed 103. Leonard Supulski of Dickinson caught 43 of Rehner's passes to lead the minor receivers. He accounted for 554 yards.

Others expected to take part are Bob Stange, Mr. Washington of 1941, and Roger Johnson, runner-up for that title. Any local registered weight lifter is eligible.

Georgetown Boys Play Host to Two Teams

Two Georgetown Boys Club football teams will meet invading eleven from Fredericksburg (Va.) Boys' Club in games tomorrow on the Monument Lot. Teams of 120-pounders will clash at 2 o'clock, followed at 3:30 with a meeting of 135-pound teams.

Needs Victory to Earn Deadlock With Duke in Southern Conference

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 28—Staking its hope for a share in the 1941 crown with undefeated and untied Duke, William and Mary will meet N. C. State at Williamsburg tomorrow in the standout contest of a six-game card in the Southern Conference. Beaten only by Navy, William and Mary will be seeking its fifth victory for an unblemished conference record. In the other within-the-loop contest, Virginia Tech will play host to the Richmond Spiders, who have been defeated in all five Conference starts. Tech has won three and lost two. Two inter-sectional games will add interest to the Conference's week-end card. South Carolina meeting Penn State at Columbia, S. C., and Wake Forest taking on the Texas Tech Red Raiders at Charlotte. Clemson, 1940 Southern Conference champion, goes outside the Conference to play at Auburn and the Citadel entertains another non-Conference rival, Sewanee. W. M. I. will meet Miami at Miami in a night game on December 5.

FURFARMING WEFENBERG SHOES FURNISHING

Star-Studded Green Bay Bringing Powerful Offense to Battle With Redskins

Great Packer Attack, Led by Hinkle, Isbell, Uram, Routs Foes

Team Has Gained 2,980 Yards, Made 236 Points In 9 Wins in 10 Tilts

By BILL DISMER, Jr.
It's a typical Packer team that will be rolling into town tonight, bent upon clinching a share of Western Division honors by beating the Redskins on Sunday.

Annually recognized as one of the National Football League's best offensive clubs, the 1941 Packer team has an attack second only to the champion Bears which the Redskins couldn't stop in Chicago earlier this month.

For in 10 games, Green Bay has amassed 2,980 yards, a total exceeded only by the record-breaking Bears who have averaged nearly 35 points per game in running their total to an unprecedented number of 313 in nine games. Further, in ground-gaining, the Packers' yardage of 2,980 would be the highest in the loop were it not for the similarly touchdown-crazy Bears.

It's not hard to understand the source of Green Bay's power. Not with such runners as Clark Hinkle, Cecil Isbell and Andy Uram—currently the 2d, 9th and 13th leading ground-gainers in the league—and that incomparable end in Don Hutson, who is a 50-50 shot to score any time the Packers choose to pass to him.

This is Hinkle's 10th year with the Packers, but the 30-year old ex-Bucknell star is the second greatest running back in the league, according to the latest statistics.

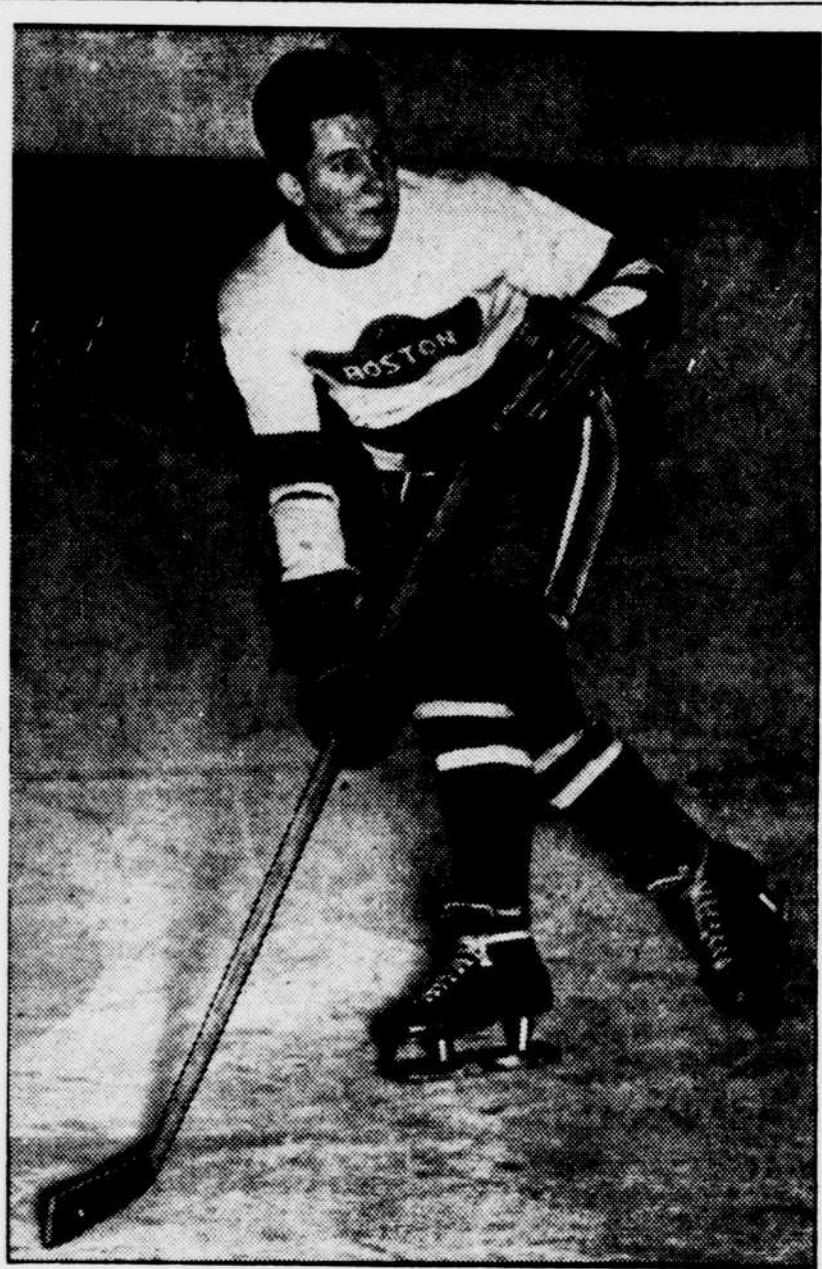

According to Curly Lambeau, who organized the Packers in 1919 and has been coaching them ever since, Hinkle is a better all-around full-back than Bronko Nagurski.

"The Bronk was terrific in his prime," Lambeau is quoted as saying, "but it is no discredit to him to say that he was not the all-around fullback that Hinkle was and is. Nagurski was heavier and had more straightaway power, but he couldn't start to do the things that Hinkle can. Clarke rams through the middle, runs wide, blocks and tackles viciously, punts and placekicks with the best, can do a good job as a pass-receiver and on pass defense has no superior in professional football."

Isbell, Uram Great Gainers.
Isbell and Uram, mere youngsters compared to Hinkle, joined the Packers after helping beat the Redskins in the All-Star game of 1938, but in their fourth year they're among Green Bay's attack leaders. Isbell, the third best passer in the league last year, is compiling an even better record this season with 103 completions in 181 attempts for 1,311 yards. In 1940, Isbell completed only 68 out of 150 for 1,037. What makes the old Purdue star a double threat is that he also can carry the ball, having averaged better than 4 yards each of the 66 times his signal has been called.

Uram, the lightest of the Packer ballcarriers at 168, is averaging even higher yardage—5.5 yards for each of his 42 attempts. Uram long has been the apple of Lambeau's eyes, being the veteran coach's first pick in the 1937 college draft.

Along with such rookies as George Paskvan of Wisconsin, Herman Rohrig of Wisconsin and Tony Canadeo of Gonzaga, it looks bad for the Redskins on Sunday. There's this to remember, though: Against the Bears, who were expected to murder the Skins, the latter played their best game of the season. But that was when the Washington team still had a chance to win the Eastern championship. Now —?

BIG SHOT—Lloyd Grosdal, a Canadian player farmed to the Boston Olympics by the Boston Bruins of the National League, who will play right wing on the Olympics' first line tonight when they tangle with the Washington Eagles in an Eastern League game at Riverside Stadium.

Rested Eagles Meet Olympics, Hockey Loop Leaders, Tonight

Refreshed by a sorely required rest after having played eight games in 11 days, the Washington Eagles will return to action tonight at Riverside Stadium, facing the league-leading Boston Olympics in an Eastern Amateur Hockey League battle at 8:30 o'clock.

The Eagles, who hit a goal-scoring jackpot here on Tuesday night when they humiliated the Baltimore Orioles, 14-7, will be operating without the services of high-scoring Center Tom McCormack, who suffered torn ligaments in his right leg when he crashed into the boards in the Baltimore engagement.

Washington won't be short-handed against the dangerous Olympics, though, for Donald Durno will be employed on defense and Keith Allen, normally a defenseman, will be shifted to wing to bolster the club's attack.

Boston, which has abandoned its custom of featuring American players exclusively, suffered its first defeat in eight games last night at Johnstown, Pa., when the Bluebirds dealt the Olympics a 4-3 walloping on the winners' pocket edition rink.

Five Canadians are with the Olympics this season in Clare Martin, Lloyd Grosdal, Jack McGill, Jack Wade and Cy Beiler, but Boston is importing familiar faces in Goalie Vic Polich, Gerry Desrosiers, Dan Sullivan, Al Yourkewicz, Ty Anderson, Johnny Fitzgerald and Jack Costello.

The Olympics have been averaging nearly seven goals a game, scoring 55 goals to the opposition's 24 in eight games.

Coach Redvers Mackenzie now is confident his Eagles will take considerable trimming, although he still is searching for a competent goalie. The Eagles' amazing goal production record against the Orioles has equipped the club with confidence, he feels, and he expects the team to retain its scoring punch.

Several Boston stars are products of colleges of the New England area. Al Dumond and Ray Chaisson still are students at Boston College, while Sullivan and Costello are Dartmouth graduates. Desrosiers is a former Boston College student, while Ed Barry attended Northeastern University.

Gienger Is Coaching Basketball Team At Kensington

George Gienger, who played guard on University of Maryland's football team in 1939, has been appointed basketball coach of Kensington Junior High School and his charges are going to go in for the court game in a big way this season.

Gienger will be sending his new charges against an alumni five in their first game today and has scheduled most of the junior high quints in the vicinity, as well as some senior high teams. The first outside game is with Leland Junior High on December 17.

Although it's the first year that the sport has been put on a major basis, 12 boys are on the squad.

Manthe of Lions Can't Play Against Hornets on Sunday

Hope was abandoned today that George Mantha, Washington Lions' crack winger, would return to the ice to battle the Pittsburgh Hornets at Uline Arena on Sunday night.

Mantha gamely but vainly tried to skate during a workout yesterday, discovering his injured knee won't support him properly.

Lou Trudel, who also missed practice due to a back injury, is expected to face the Hornets. Walter Zuke has recovered from an attack of tonsillitis, while Stan Rooke and Allen Shields are bouncing back from injuries.

Currently locked in a tie with Philadelphia and Providence for third place in the Eastern division of the American League, the Lions hope to improve their status at the expense of Pittsburgh, which is in the Western division cellar.

A new league rule will be inaugurated starting Sunday, permitting American League teams to dress only 13 players, excluding the goalie, for action.

Capital's All-Star High Eleven Gets Drill in Richmond Today

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE STAR.
RICHMOND, Nov. 28.—Washington's all-star squad of high school players was expected here this afternoon with a workout scheduled shortly after arrival at the University of Richmond stadium in preparation for tomorrow's Tobacco Bowl clash with a team of Richmond high all-stars.

Thirty-three players and two managers are in the invading Washington group with Coach Gene Auguster in charge. Between them this season those schools lost only one game.

The game will be played tomorrow, starting at 2:30, at City Stadium before a crowd expected to reach the 18,000 mark. No attempt has been made to establish either squad as favorite since each will be playing its first and only game as a team.

The Richmond eleven, coached by Mac Pitt, assistant gridiron mentor at Richmond U., has had extensive drills in stopping the Notre Dame and T formation plays expected to be offered by Auguster's team.

Coach Frank Murray of Virginia, who worked the T formation with exceptional success this season, was helping Pitt this week in setting up a defense against those plays.

Following today's last workout, the Washington eleven will set up headquarters at the Hotel Murphy and then embark on a round of activities not scheduled to be completed until tomorrow night. They will have dinner at the University of Richmond and members of the squad will appear on three radio stations here in pre-game pep rallies. An early theater party will follow.

A sight-seeing tour will be staged tomorrow morning and after the game members of both teams will be guests at a banquet, high spot of which will be presentation of gold footballs to all players.

Advance reservations for the game indicate that a big college scouting force will be on hand to see these high school players. Among those already set to view the game are representatives of Tennessee, Alabama, Duke, Carolina, Georgetown, George Washington, V. M. I., V. P. I., Washington and Lee, Virginia, William and Mary, Richmond, Hampden-Sydney and Randolph-Macon.
