Three U-Boats Sunk, Four Damaged in 56 Attacks, Knox Says

Subs Have Fired On 114 Ships in West Atlantic

Navy Accounts for 53 Jap Vessels Since January 1

By CLAUDE A. MAHONEY. Fifty-six attacks have been made on enemy submarines in the West Atlantic since January 1, resulting in the certain sinking of three U-boats and crippling of four others, Secretary of the Navy Knox disclosed late today.

Simultaneously he told a press conference that 114 merchant ships of United Nations registry had been attacked during the January-February period.

In a recapitulation of losses inflicted on the Japanese in the Pacific, Mr. Knox reported that 15 combatant vessels had been sunk, three others were believed to have been sunk, and two, including a battleship of the Kongo class, were thought to have been damaged.

53 Japanese Ships Sunk. Non-combatant vessels sunk by American naval action were put at 38, with four more believed sunk and three damaged, giving an overall total of Japanese losses of 53 sunk, seven believed sunk, and five damaged.

The results of activities in the Atlantic area were contained in a brief two paragraphs at the end of naval communique No. 45. In describing the attacks by the United States Navy on the enemy undersea raiders, the secretary said no sinkings were reported unless the Navy was sure that the vessels had been sunk.

The description of activities in the Atlantic area as given by the Navy follows: "During January, 1942, 22 ships of the United Nations registry had torpedoes fired at them in waters west of the United States. In addition, 38 other ships were attacked in the area west of 30 degrees west longitude. One enemy submarine is believed to have been sunk, three are believed to have been damaged and 34 additional attacks were inconclusive in evidence of damage."

"In February, up to and including the 23d instant, 23 ships of the United Nations have been attacked by enemy submarines in United States coastal waters and 33 additional ships in the area west of 30 degrees west longitude. Two enemy submarines are believed to have been sunk and one damaged in these areas. In addition, 15 attacks have been made on enemy submarines by our forces with inconclusive results."

Doesn't Include 14 Earlier. Secretary Knox made it plain that this recapitulation of submarine did not include the 14 he said on December 21 had been sunk in the Atlantic.

In discussing the Far Eastern battle activities, Secretary Knox listed the sinkings by types as follows: Battleships: One of Kongo class damaged. Aircraft carriers: One sunk, one believed sunk. Cruisers: Two sunk. Destroyers: Seven sunk, one believed sunk. Submarines: Three sunk, one damaged. Seaplane tenders: One believed sunk. Mine sweepers: One sunk. Gun boats: One sunk. Fleet tankers: Three sunk. Transports: Thirteen sunk, two believed sunk. Supply ships and merchantmen: Sixteen sunk. Miscellaneous (type unidentified): Six sunk, two believed sunk, three damaged.

Secretary Knox was asked if he did not think the American forces in the Far East were doing very well with the supplies and equipment they had and he gave this emphatic answer: "I'd say that as Americans we ought to be darned proud of our boys over there. I know I am."

Secretary Knox said that Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, who had asked for retirement following his relief from command in the Pacific, soon would be in the news again, but that the Navy was not quite ready to make an announcement about him yet.

British Lose 2 Planes Mining Nazi Waters

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 25.—The R. A. F. laid mines in German waters last night, losing two aircraft during the operations, the Air Ministry announced today.

Loss of another plane on patrol yesterday also was acknowledged.

Knox Calls Raid On Los Angeles A False Alarm

Says War Plants May Be Moved to Safer Areas, However

(Earlier Story on Page A-1.) Discussing the alarms on the Pacific Coast which brought alerts and anti-aircraft fire early today, Secretary Knox told a press conference this afternoon that the only reports that the Navy was able to receive were that it was a false alarm.

"There were no planes over Los Angeles last night, at least, that's our understanding," Mr. Knox declared. "None has been found and a very wide reconnaissance has been carried on."

In this connection, however, the secretary admitted that it seemed probable that vital industries, like the aircraft industry along the West Coast, might have to be moved piecemeal to safer areas in order that "we will not have all our eggs in one basket."

He had discussed the matter with Lord Beaverbrook, he said, and the British production chief had explained the method of building certain parts of a plant in duplicate in a safe place and moving a plant section by section without actual interruption of production.

"I expect we will have to do that before we get through," said Secretary Knox.

A reporter said he had heard that merchant ship captains had complained that the Navy was not moving fast in equipping the ships with guns for defense against submarines and Secretary Knox answered that guns had been ready for a long time. The holdup lies in the fact that these ships are not in port enough, it was explained. The secretary said we are arming all merchant ships, but giving priority to those that operate in submarine infested areas.

Billy Jurgens Refuses To Accept Giant Terms

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Add Billy Jurgens, the New York Giant shortstop, to the list of baseball's holdouts.

General Manager Bill Terry said today that the infielder and the club are far apart on the matter of salary.

At New York, where he operates a bowling alley, Jurgens said any announcement of his position must come from Terry.

The Giants' troubles with Jurgens were offset by the signing today of Outfielder Hank Lieber, infielder Connie Ryan and Outfielder Babe Barna.

Army's New Adjutant General Is Brig. Gen. James A. Ulio

19 Other Generals And Colonels Named For Promotion. President Roosevelt today nominated a new adjutant general of the Army, Brig. Gen. James Alexander Ulio, who is to have the rank of major general in his new post. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Emory S. Adams, retired.

The President also nominated 19 other generals and colonels for temporary promotion. Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, who recently was reported slated to be sent on a special mission to China, was named a temporary lieutenant general. Among the six new major generals and 12 new brigadier generals are 13 Air Corps officers.

The new major generals include Brig. Gen. Ralph M. T. Fennell of Belton, S. C., who is commander of the 27th Division of the New York National Guard. The others are Brig. Gen. Follett Bradley, born at Fort Omaha, Neb.; George C. Kenney of Gardiner, Me.; Oliver P. Echols of Charlottesville, Va.; Henry J. P. Miller of Miami, Fla., all Air Corps officers, and Thomas J. Hayes of Ironton, Ohio.

JAPS' WOTJE ISLAND BASE BLASTED BY U. S.—This picture, made from a Navy scouting plane, shows the opening phase of the Navy's bombardment of Wotje Island, one of eight Jap bases in the Marshall and Gilbert group, attacked January 31. The fires were started by United States bombers and included two fuel dumps and an ammunition dump. Later attacks wrecked other installations on the island. Six ships were sunk here by the Navy.

Spy Chief Subscribed To Service Journal, Co-Defendant Says

Books of Defense Purchased by Ludwig, Ex-Soldier Testifies. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—A former United States Army private, Rene Froelich, 30, testified in Federal Court today he had sold copies of "Aerial Warfare" and the "Aviation Directory" and a subscription to the Army and Navy Journal to Kurt Frederick Ludwig, named by the Government as the leader of an alleged espionage conspiracy.

Froelich, who is German-born and came to the United States at the age of 12, is one of five men with whom one woman are on trial charged with gathering vital American defense information and transmitting it to agents of the German Reich.

He testified that he met Ludwig in 1926 as a member of a hiking club. Ludwig was Customer. Froelich said that after losing his job with the North German Lloyd steamship line because of the war, he was recruited by Ludwig.

Mr. Green termed the meeting today "another very satisfactory conference." There was no discussion, he said, of proposals in Congress for abandonment of the 40-hour work week during the war.

Meanwhile Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, protested in the Senate this afternoon against failure of the Education and Labor Committee to act on anti-strike legislation passed by the House early in December.

"I want to express my protest that a Senate committee should suppress so important a bill passed by the House and affecting the production necessary to winning the war," the Senator said.

He said he hoped the committee would report the bill either favorably, adversely or with amendments so that the Senate may vote on it.

Ship Welders Strike; Naval Job Continues

HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 25.—Welders struck today at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. repair yard, but a union spokesman said enough of them returned to "continue without interruption work on naval contracts."

John Grogan, secretary of Local 15, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America (C. I. O.), announced the walkout as a protest against a foreman's estimate of $6,320,000.

For maintenance and operation of the Soldiers' Home, he asked an additional $44,214. For the Bureau of Mines and the General Land Office he asked an additional $155,523.

Labor Chiefs Present Man Power and Wage Pact to President

'Very Satisfactory' Session Reported; Welders on Strike. By the Associated Press. An agreement on the questions of wages and mobilization of industrial manpower, worked out by the C. I. O. and American Federation of Labor, was presented to President Roosevelt today by leaders of the two major labor organizations who comprise the new Labor War Board.

Philip Murray, C. I. O. president, and William Green, president of the A. F. L., said the statement of policy had been turned over to the Chief Executive in the course of a conference lasting an hour and a half. It was the second meeting of Mr. Roosevelt with the group.

Just what the two big labor agencies managed to agree on was not disclosed.

Mr. Murray also said that labor's opinion on legislation to assist workers who are unemployed by reason of priorities or conversion of industry to war production also was expressed to the Chief Executive.

Mr. Green termed the meeting today "another very satisfactory conference." There was no discussion, he said, of proposals in Congress for abandonment of the 40-hour work week during the war.

Meanwhile Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, protested in the Senate this afternoon against failure of the Education and Labor Committee to act on anti-strike legislation passed by the House early in December.

"I want to express my protest that a Senate committee should suppress so important a bill passed by the House and affecting the production necessary to winning the war," the Senator said.

He said he hoped the committee would report the bill either favorably, adversely or with amendments so that the Senate may vote on it.

Additional $1,075,000 Asked for Printing Office

President Roosevelt today submitted to Congress supplementary appropriation items totaling $1,075,000 for the Government Printing Office, which is an increase over the budget estimate of $6,320,000.

For maintenance and operation of the Soldiers' Home, he asked an additional $44,214. For the Bureau of Mines and the General Land Office he asked an additional $155,523.

Tydings Offers Court Bill Amendment. Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland late today launched a move to strike from the local court reorganization bill the requirement that judges appointed to the new Municipal Court and the new local Court of Appeals must be District residents. Under his amendment today they could live outside the District provided they practiced law here for at least five years.

Senate Group Meets Tomorrow to Act on D. C. Defense Housing. The Senate subcommittee considering the wartime housing needs of Washington will meet at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, with indications it may add $10,000,000 to the House total of $50,000,000 in the Lanham bill.

Various agencies dealing with the program agreed at the last hearing that a total of $72,146,000 is needed, of which $47,000,000 was suggested for housing and the balance for related facilities.

In announcing the executive session for tomorrow, Chairman Ellenor, Democrat, of Louisiana, said he could not predict what his colleagues would decide as to the amount, but intimated he was considering the $60,000,000 figure, to be earmarked $40,000,000 for home construction and $20,000,000 for water, schools, and other facilities.

D. C. to Fingerprint Boxers and Managers. India Port District Nearest to Burma To Be Evacuated Move Is Precautionary, With No Need for Panic, Announcement Says. (Earlier Story on Page A-1.) By the Associated Press. MADRAS, India, Feb. 25.—Certain areas of the Chittagong district, the Indian port district which is nearest Burma, will be evacuated shortly for the public benefit, an official announcement said today.

It added that there was no reason for panic, and that the move was purely precautionary.

The Chittagong district is on the shores of the Bay of Bengal near the Burma frontier.

From Rangoon, meanwhile, came news that American volunteer group flyers and B. A. F. pilots struck one of their heaviest blows at Japanese strength over Burma today, destroying about 30 enemy planes and carrying out effective sweeps over Japanese positions along the Sittang River front.

An R. A. F. communique from Rangoon said: "Allied air forces in Burma have dealt some hard blows at Japanese air and land forces. Two Japanese river boats were destroyed."

Army Awards Contract For Blackstone Camp. Award of three War Department contracts for Army construction in Virginia and Maryland was announced today.

One contract—of more than $5,000,000—called for the construction of a cantonment at Blackstone, Va., the award being made to Granville Higgins, Thompson & McDevitt Co., of Charlotte, N. C.

The other two contracts were awarded to a Richmond firm of architect engineers, Carmel Johnston & Wright, for work done in Virginia and an authorization for new construction in Maryland. The Baltimore-District office of the Engineer Corps will supervise the construction.

Rejects Plea Of Roosevelt Against Plan

Brown Amendment To Consider Benefits Is Turned Down. (Earlier Story on Page A-1.) By the Associated Press. Overriding a direct appeal from President Roosevelt, the Senate voted late today to prohibit sales of Government stocks of farm commodities below full parity prices.

With its powerful farm bloc in command, the Senate approved restrictive legislation on sales of Government surpluses of agricultural commodities and sent the measure on to the House for consideration.

A parity price is one computed to give a farm product the same relative purchasing power it had in a base period, usually 1909-14, and farm-minded Senators said the measure should allow cotton, corn and wheat to rise to this level, somewhat above recent market prices.

President Roosevelt opposed passage of the measure in a letter to Vice President Wallace, but farm bloc leaders said the President's objection that the legislation would give "selfish interests" was based on a "misunderstanding."

They denied that the bill would add $1,000,000,000 a year to rising costs of living.

Approval of the controversial measure came after the Senate rejected, 48 to 24, a compromise version offered as an amendment by Senator Brown, Democrat, of Michigan.

Texas F. B. I. Raids Net 13 Aliens and Contraband

By the Associated Press. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 25.—M. W. Acers, chief of the local F. B. I. office, said a Japanese map of San Antonio with vital military establishments outlined in red pencil was among contraband seized from enemy aliens in raids early today.

The map was taken from a Japanese, one of 13 persons arrested, who also had in his possession gas guns, gas masks, blackjacks, picks and axes.

Other articles taken in scores of raids by 200 officers included code books, binoculars, motion picture film, radios and guns. Some of the raids were made in the vicinity of Fort Sam Houston.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 25 (AP).—C. E. Hennrich, Federal agent, announced today that F. B. I. agents last night seized five German and Italian aliens, seven shortwave radio receiving sets, two expensive cameras and a quantity of ammunition.

The seizures were made as a result of a search of piers and docks in the downtown section of Norfolk and in the vicinity of the naval operating base.

Bird Dogs Brave Cold In National Field Trials

By the Associated Press. GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., Feb. 25.—Two crack bird dogs braved the hardships of unfavorable conditions as the National Field Trials, postponed twice because of weather conditions, got under way at last here today.

Luminary, black and white pointer from the kennels of A. G. C. Sage of New York, made the best of poor hunting conditions to turn in a strong bid for the coveted title. The veteran ran a steady race, handled admirably and was seen on six beaves and two singles, one of which was unmarked.

His brace mate, Freebooter, sandwiched two single finds between three beaves but was edged after two hours of work. The white and liver pointer is owned by J. S. Getty of Freeport, Pa.

Army Guns Shell Mystery Aircraft Sighted Over Los Angeles Area; 30 Jap Planes Shot Down in Burma

Shrapnel Falls In City; Planes Delay Pursuit

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25.—Anti-aircraft guns thundered over the metropolitan area early today for the first time in the war, but hours later what they were shooting at remained a military secret.

An unidentified object moving slowly down the coast from Santa Monica was variously reported as a balloon and an airplane.

Some observers claimed to have seen two planes over Long Beach. Army Intelligence, although uncommunicative, scoffed at reports of civilian observers that as many as 200 planes were over the area.

No Bombs Dropped.
No bombs were dropped and no planes were shot down during the anti-aircraft firing, the Western Defense Command announced in San Francisco.

"Cities in the Los Angeles area were blacked out at 2:25 a. m. today on orders from the 4th Interceptor Command when unidentified aircraft were reported in the area," the Western Defense Command said.

"Although reports are conflicting and every effort is being made to ascertain the facts, it is clear that no bombs were dropped and no planes were shot down."

There was a considerable amount of anti-aircraft firing. The all-clear signal came at 7:21 a. m.

Property Damaged.
There were several instances of damaged property from anti-aircraft shells.

A garage door was ripped off in a Los Angeles residential district and fragments shattered windows and tore into a bed where a few moments before Miss Blanche Sedwick and her niece, Josie Duffy, had been sleeping.

A Santa Monica bomb squad was dispatched to remove an unexploded anti-aircraft shell in a driveway there.

Wailing air raid sirens at 2:25 a. m. (P. W. T.) awakened most of the Metropolitan area's 3,000,000 citizens. A few minutes later, they were treated to a gigantic Fourth-of-July-like display as huge searchlights flashed along a 10-mile front to the south, converging on a single spot in the sky.

Shells Light Sky.
Moments later the anti-aircraft guns opened up, throwing a sheet of steel skyward.

Tracer bullets and exploding shells lit the sky.

Three Japanese, two men and a woman, were taken by police at the beach city of Venice on suspicion of signaling with flashlights near the pier. They were removed to F. B. I. headquarters, where Richard B. Hood, local chief, said "at the request of Army authorities we have nothing to say."

A Long Beach police sergeant, E. Larson, 59, was killed in a traffic accident while en route to an air raid post.

Henry B. Ayers, 63-year-old State Guardsman, died at the wheel of an ammunition truck during the blackout. Physicians said a heart attack apparently was responsible.

All Clear in Daylight.
It was broad daylight before the all-clear sound was heard.

Late homegoers and early workers, who had been flagged down by air-raid wardens, started moving.

Soon traffic was snarled. Thousands were an hour or more late to their jobs.

The blackout was the first covering the metropolitan area since the first week of the war.

There were isolated instances of failure to comply with blackout regulations. Neon signs were left glowing inside stores. Traffic signals continued to flash in some areas.

Radio stations went off the air with the first alert, and were not permitted to resume broadcasting until 8:23 a. m.

Planes-Carrying Subs Reported Used by Japs
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Japanese are believed to be using at least one plane-carrying submarine and possibly more, informed sources declared today.

They said that when the New Zealand armed merchant cruiser Monowai was engaged by an enemy submarine near New Zealand waters about a month ago she was attacked simultaneously by a plane believed to have come from a submarine. Neither attack caused any damage.

Australian Planes Attack Japs In New Britain and Timor

Large Enemy Naval Forces Are Sighted In Vicinity of Portuguese Island City

By the Associated Press.
CANNBERRA, Australia, Feb. 25.—Australian bombers, striking at an encroaching rim of Japanese lodgments in islands 400 to 500 miles north and northwest of Australia, attacked both Rabaul and Timor last night, a Royal Australian Air Force communique announced today.

The attack on Timor followed the observation of large Japanese naval forces in the vicinity of Dili capital of the northern, Portuguese portion of Timor, and the report that Japanese transports in Dili harbor were burning.

Today's communique said the attack was carried out under good conditions of visibility and that good results were obtained on anti-aircraft sites and searchlight positions but did not mention any ships being bombed.

Dili, about 450 miles northwest of severely-bombed Darwin, had been occupied by Allied forces until Japanese launched an invasion.

The R. A. A. F. operations last night extended from Timor to New Britain," the communique said, and added that all bombs fell in the target area.

While Japanese bombers struck for the second successive day at vital Port Moresby, on the southern shore of New Guinea, less than 400 miles from Cape York, a large force of Australian bombers again attacked Japanese-occupied Rabaul in New Britain to the east, where buildings, aircraft, searchlights and anti-aircraft guns were blasted and fires were reported last.

One person was killed and five were injured in the Japanese attack on Port Moresby yesterday.

Details on damage and casualties resulting from today's raids at Port Moresby were not available immediately.

Japanese planes also were reported to have been shot down.

Allied Bombing Planes Sink 3 Jap Transports Massing at Macassar

Concentration Believed In Preparation for Big Attack Against Java

By the Associated Press.
BANDONG, Java, Feb. 25.—Three large Japanese transports, part of a concentration possibly massing for the expected direct assault on Java, have been sunk by Allied bombing planes off Macassar, enemy-held port in Southwest Celebes, within 400 miles of Java's eastern tip, the Netherlands Indies high command reported today.

A War Department communique said seven American P-40 pursuit planes intercepted a formation of nine Japanese bombers escorted by 14 fighting raiders over Java and forced the raiders to flee. It said one Japanese bomber and one fighter plane were shot down. Four other enemy bombers and two fighters were damaged, without loss to the Americans.

At the same time, Japanese planes concentrated their attacks on this fortified island's airdromes—the Jap Rear Admiral Killed in Action Off Borneo, Tokio Says

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, From Japanese Broadcasts, Feb. 25.—The Navy Ministry announced today that Rear Admiral Shusaku Shibuya had been killed in action yesterday off Borneo.

The announcement identified him as the former commander of a special service vessel.

Sixth day in succession that the Japanese have followed the familiar pattern of softening up Allied defenses before launching a full-scale invasion attempt.

"Tokio asserted 68 Allied planes were shot down or destroyed on the ground yesterday in raids on Western Java," and claimed direct hits on a light cruiser and two 3,000-ton ships in the harbor of Batavia, presumably Tandjong Priok.

Palembang Airport Raided.
Allied planes also raided an airdrome near Palembang, Japanese-occupied city in Southern Sumatra, and set three enemy planes afire, it was announced.

Roosevelt, Jr., Won't Join Fleet for Another Month

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Lt. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President, has been ordered to remain ashore for a month to keep contact with physicians before rejoining the Atlantic Fleet.

Capt. C. E. Robertson, commanding officer of the Brooklyn Naval Hospital where young Roosevelt underwent an appendectomy February 10, said he was in "fine condition" and would be released soon. He issued the shore order to provide for a routine checkup of the President's son after a period of recuperation.

44 on Guam Reported Prisoners of Japanese

The Navy today released a second supplemental list of 44 persons serving at Guam at the time of the Japanese invasion and who are now "deemed likely" to be prisoners of the Japanese.

British Reported Given Respite on Sittang Front

By the Associated Press.
RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 25.—American Volunteer Group flyers and R. A. F. pilots struck one of their heaviest blows at Japanese air strength over Burma today, destroying 30 enemy planes and carrying out effective sweeps over enemy positions along the Sittang River front.

An Army communique indicated that the British imperial forces, pushed back to the west bank of the Sittang River some 70 miles from Rangoon, had been given a breathing spell after facing intensive Japanese pressure and were making the most of this opportunity to reorganize their defenses.

The communique said: "On the southern front there has been no contact with the enemy. Our troops on the Sittang River are reorganizing after heavy fighting."

"On the northern front there is nothing to report."

"On instructions from the governor of Burma, a military commander has been appointed in Rangoon to prevent looting and arson. Curfew has been ordered from tonight in Rangoon."

Some observers in London predicted that if the Japanese crossed the river in force Rangoon would fall in less than 48 hours. The Sittang River is about 60 miles from Rangoon.

One London commentator discounted reports that the Japanese were employing 140,000 men in the attack on British lines. He said the best estimate was two divisions attacking, with one in reserve, or a total of 45,000 men.

There was no confirmation in London of Japanese claim of Sunday that they had taken Pegu, a junction on the Rangoon-Lashio Railroad that has fed supplies to the Burma road.

The commentator said, however, his information was limited to the situation of Monday night.

It was said that if Japanese were not able to bring pontoons up to cross the Sittang as they did Jobore Strait in the assault on Singapore, they could obtain small boats which abound in villages along the river.

If the invaders once crossed the Sittang, it would be almost impossible to prevent them from cutting the railway and the main road from Rangoon to the north.

The main Japanese thrust probably will be directed, leaving upper Burma to be mopped up later.

Advantage in Air.
From Pegu to Rangoon the country is flat, and at this time of year vehicles can go almost anywhere over the short stubble of the rice paddies. Once past the main road, only light scrub and jungle would present any kind of natural barrier to the Japanese.

The British in Burma have one advantage over the defenders of Singapore—the combined forces of the R. A. F. and the American Volunteer Group have inflicted heavy losses on the Japanese air force.

Rangoon, however, is not well adapted to stand a siege. On the land side there is no strong natural defense line and the Japanese could be able to spread across the city.

Russian War Keeps Hitler From Nazi Celebration

By the Associated Press.
MUNICH, (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 25.—Preparations for the "final struggle" this spring against the Russians kept Adolf Hitler from a Nazi party celebration here last night for the first time in years.

The Fuehrer sent a message from his Russian front headquarters to Nazi chiefs observing the 22d anniversary of the Nazi party platform, saying the snow was melting in Russia and "it is impossible for me to leave my place where preparations have been made for the final struggle."

He placed blame for the disruption of his Russian plans on wintry weather, which "has not happened for more than a century, descended as early as the end of November."

"Snow and frost then brought to a temporary standstill the series of victories of the German Army, unique in history. Our enemies are hoping to inflict on the German Army the fate of a Napoleonic retreat. This attempt has collapsed miserably."

The coming spring struggle, he said, will be "a settling up with both enemies men and selections."

Shot Dims One Light In Idaho Blackout

By the Associated Press.
LEWISTON, Idaho, Feb. 25.—Only one light—in a battery shop—showed through the blackout in Nezperce county.

But it didn't shine long. An air-raid warden called in to Chief Warden Glen Miller to make a report on a shooting.

Three British bombers were declared to have been destroyed in the North Sea north of Cromer, England.

The ships were so heavily hit, it was said, that "their destruction can be reckoned with."

By the Associated Press.
RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 25.—American Volunteer Group flyers and R. A. F. pilots struck one of their heaviest blows at Japanese air strength over Burma today, destroying 30 enemy planes and carrying out effective sweeps over enemy positions along the Sittang River front.

An Army communique indicated that the British imperial forces, pushed back to the west bank of the Sittang River some 70 miles from Rangoon, had been given a breathing spell after facing intensive Japanese pressure and were making the most of this opportunity to reorganize their defenses.

The communique said: "On the southern front there has been no contact with the enemy. Our troops on the Sittang River are reorganizing after heavy fighting."

"On the northern front there is nothing to report."

"On instructions from the governor of Burma, a military commander has been appointed in Rangoon to prevent looting and arson. Curfew has been ordered from tonight in Rangoon."

Some observers in London predicted that if the Japanese crossed the river in force Rangoon would fall in less than 48 hours. The Sittang River is about 60 miles from Rangoon.

One London commentator discounted reports that the Japanese were employing 140,000 men in the attack on British lines. He said the best estimate was two divisions attacking, with one in reserve, or a total of 45,000 men.

There was no confirmation in London of Japanese claim of Sunday that they had taken Pegu, a junction on the Rangoon-Lashio Railroad that has fed supplies to the Burma road.

The commentator said, however, his information was limited to the situation of Monday night.

It was said that if Japanese were not able to bring pontoons up to cross the Sittang as they did Jobore Strait in the assault on Singapore, they could obtain small boats which abound in villages along the river.

If the invaders once crossed the Sittang, it would be almost impossible to prevent them from cutting the railway and the main road from Rangoon to the north.

The main Japanese thrust probably will be directed, leaving upper Burma to be mopped up later.

Advantage in Air.
From Pegu to Rangoon the country is flat, and at this time of year vehicles can go almost anywhere over the short stubble of the rice paddies. Once past the main road, only light scrub and jungle would present any kind of natural barrier to the Japanese.

The British in Burma have one advantage over the defenders of Singapore—the combined forces of the R. A. F. and the American Volunteer Group have inflicted heavy losses on the Japanese air force.

Rangoon, however, is not well adapted to stand a siege. On the land side there is no strong natural defense line and the Japanese could be able to spread across the city.

Russian War Keeps Hitler From Nazi Celebration

By the Associated Press.
MUNICH, (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 25.—Preparations for the "final struggle" this spring against the Russians kept Adolf Hitler from a Nazi party celebration here last night for the first time in years.

The Fuehrer sent a message from his Russian front headquarters to Nazi chiefs observing the 22d anniversary of the Nazi party platform, saying the snow was melting in Russia and "it is impossible for me to leave my place where preparations have been made for the final struggle."

He placed blame for the disruption of his Russian plans on wintry weather, which "has not happened for more than a century, descended as early as the end of November."

"Snow and frost then brought to a temporary standstill the series of victories of the German Army, unique in history. Our enemies are hoping to inflict on the German Army the fate of a Napoleonic retreat. This attempt has collapsed miserably."

The coming spring struggle, he said, will be "a settling up with both enemies men and selections."

"When we black 'em, they stay blacked," commented Mr. Miller, filing the report.

Stalemate in Bataan Is Seen As Japs Delay Big Attack

MacArthur's Fighters Counting on U. S. For Tools to Continue Campaign

By CLARK LEE,
Associated Press War Correspondent.
WITH GEN. MACARTHUR ON THE BATAAN PENINSULA, Feb. 23 (Delayed).—The battle of Bataan appears to have entered a definite stalemate, with the Japanese abandoning at least temporarily their hitherto costly efforts to crack Gen. Douglas MacArthur's line across the peninsula.

There are at present no indications whether the Japanese are awaiting reinforcements, planning attacks against Bataan and the island fortress of Corregidor from new directions, or whether they are content to tighten their encirclement in an attempt to starve the American-Philippine defense forces into eventual capitulation when supplies and provisions are exhausted.

Fighting was renewed on the Bataan front today after a comparative lull of 48 hours, War Department communique reporting "sharp encounters" between American and Japanese patrols all along the front lines.

Gen. MacArthur's forces were "uniformly successful" in small aggressive actions at various points. A War Department spokesman said the American-Philippine lines undoubtedly were being maintained along the positions they have held for weeks in the center of the Bataan Peninsula.

There was still no evidence in Bataan that Gen. Masaharu Homma, the Japanese commander, had any immediate intention of starting a long-awaited offensive.

Jap Aerial Activity Declines.
In the past week infantry activity on the Bataan front has been desultory, while artillery duels between Japanese batteries on the south shore of Manila Bay and the guns of Corregidor and other fortified islands have been intensified. The Japanese have fired hundreds of shells against Corregidor.

In the Manila Bay sector of the Bataan front, which is dominated by American-Philippine artillery, the Japanese have abandoned medical supplies and other supplies which the defenders either captured or destroyed. Hitherto there has been no explanation of these evidences of hasty departure, but the theory has been advanced that the Japanese may have withdrawn some troops from Bataan to prepare defense positions along the Lingayen Gulf and Eastern Luzon, fearing American forces will land behind them.

All fronts have been relatively quiet, with artillery action limited generally to counterbattery firing. Japanese aerial activity also has decreased, although the Japanese still control the air and periodically make additional planes, especially 97 dive bombers which probably were brought by ship from Formosa and landed somewhere in Northern Luzon.

In various areas of Luzon American-Philippine forces are carrying on guerrilla warfare, raiding Japanese-held towns and picking off Japanese in small groups.

It is generally believed the Japanese high command is preparing for further assaults against Gen. MacArthur's Bataan positions, but may delay a major drive pending the arrival of reinforcements released from action in the Malaya and Netherlands Indies areas, where their main strength is at present occupied.

Heavy casualties suffered by the Japanese 14th Army undoubtedly have contributed to the halting of the Japanese drive. Exact Japanese losses have not been estimated, but it is certain that thousands—perhaps as high as 30,000—have been killed or wounded.

Some 2,000 Japanese have been buried by the American-Philippine defenders alone. These were wiped out in attempted landings on the west coast, and in thrusts against the west central section of the front, where Japanese were annihilated by artillery fire. An entire Japanese infantry regiment is believed to have been killed in the west coast landing attempts.

The artillery took a terrific toll of the Japanese, who in the early days of the Bataan fighting used to

O'Connor Advised Him Not to Tell Truth, Says Hill

Bermuda Censor Tells Of Intercepting Holt Manuscript, Viereck Sent

George Hill, former clerk in the office of Representative Fish, Republican, of New York, told a District Court jury today that Attorney John J. O'Connor, a former member of the House from New York, told him not to tell the truth at Hill's own trial on perjury charges.

Hill is under sentence to serve two to six years in prison for perjury in testifying before a grand jury that he was not acquainted with George Sylvester Viereck, now on trial charged with violation of the law requiring agents of foreign governments to register with the State Department.

Under examination at Viereck's trial again today, Hill was asked by William P. Maloney, special assistant attorney general, what he had deduced "to tell the truth."

"I was at the communion rail at the Epiphany Church one Sunday when I decided to tell the truth," said Hill with some emotion. "I then went to my attorney. I told him I was going to the F. B. I. and tell the truth."

"Who was your attorney?" asked Mr. Maloney.

"The Honorable John J. O'Connor. He told me to sit down and when I told him I was going to tell the truth, he said 'You are going nuts.'"

Hill further testified that "on every occasion when I said I was going to tell the truth I was told not to tell the truth."

"This happened several times," he said that a few days after he was sentenced he finally decided to tell the truth regarding his meeting with Viereck "As I've told it here."

Earlier under cross examination by Emil Morosini, counsel for Viereck, Hill said that he had not been promised any job, after he serves his sentence, as a result of his testimony at the perjury trial.

Another high light of the trial today was testimony concerning interception by the British censor at Bermuda of a document allegedly sent by Viereck to Dr. Hans Dieckhoff, former German Ambassador to the United States, and addressed to the German Ambassador to Portugal under an alias.

The document Viereck sent was a manuscript of a book by Rush Holt, former Senator from West Virginia, called "Who's Who Among the Warmongers," according to evidence brought out by the Government.

An inner envelope containing the manuscript, addressed to Dr. Dieckhoff, was included in an outer envelope addressed to "Hoyngero Huerneras" at an address in Lisbon, Portugal, Miss Nayda Gardner of the British Office of Censor in Bermuda, called by the Government as a surprise witness, identified the envelopes and their inclosure. She explained that the name to which the outer envelope was addressed was the alias used by the German Ambassador to Portugal.

All letters addressed to that name were turned over to me," Miss Gardner said.

James V. Blaine, expert on documents at the Federal Bureau of Investigation, gave the jury in Justice P. Dickenson Letts' court the opinion that the envelopes addressed (See VIERECK, Page A-6.)

Roosevelt Raps Limiting Farm Surplus Sales

'Selfish Interests' Press Bill, He Tells Wallace

By the Associated Press.
President Roosevelt stepped into the Senate dispute over farm prices today with a letter protesting that a pending bill represented "selfish interests" at a time when the very existence of the country is at stake.

The Chief Executive, in a letter read at the opening of the Senate session, said that a proposal to restrict sales of Government-held stocks of farm commodities would do "irreparable damage to the war effort and farmers of the country."

Declaring that the production of American foodstuffs is vital to Allied nations, the President said the two most important needs at this time were livestock and oil-producing products.

Expansion Would Be Impeded.
Expansion of production in those fields would be impeded by proposed restrictions on the sale of corn, wheat and other commodities by the Commodity Credit Corp., he declared.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that the Government had taken large stocks of corn, wheat and cotton in order to keep prices up and insure a fair return for the farmers. He said it was "generally understood" that the stocks would be available in time of emergency.

"That emergency is now upon us," he declared.

The letter, directed to Vice President Wallace, opposed a pending bill that would prohibit any sales of Government stocks at less than a parity price.

Mr. Roosevelt said that, in order to expand, it would be necessary to maintain a favorable ratio of prices between food and livestock.

The good will created for the farmer by the past, the President said, "should not be shattered by grasping for a few dollars in the name of the farmer."

Showdown Vote Sought.
Administration leaders have offered a compromise to the farm bloc and called for a showdown vote.

Protesting that the pending bill might add $100,000,000 to the costs Senator Brown, Democrat of Michigan urged farm State Senators to accept his amendment intended to keep market prices of cotton, corn and wheat near present levels.

Majority Leader Barkley planned a floor speech in support of the Brown proposal before the vote expected later this afternoon.

"My amendment puts the farm bloc in a bad position if they do not accept it," Senator Brown said. "All that has been asked is a parity price, and they will get it under my amendment."

Reduction of Benefit Payments.
The bill was approved unanimously by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Pointing to the recent average annual farm benefit payments of $700,000,000, Senator Brown asked that "those deducted from the parity level to fix floors for sales of the Government stocks."

"This would permit Government sales at about present levels," the Senator said, noting that wheat now was at 82 per cent of parity, cotton at 84 per cent, corn at 78 per cent.

He said that benefit payments already voted by Congress exceeded each crop about a parity level.

Farm bloc leaders, including Senators Gillette, Democrat, of Iowa, Bankhead, Democrat, of Alabama, Russell, Democrat, of Georgia and Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma, said they would oppose the Brown amendment and ask support of the original full parity floor under Government sales.

'Petticoat Ponzi' Gets 8 to 12 Year Sentence In Confidence Cases

Mrs. Carr Denounced By Judge for 'Mask Of Pietistic Pretense'

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Amelia Everts Carr, revealed by police records as a "petticoat Ponzi" with a half-century career, was sentenced today to serve eight to twelve years in prison on her plea of no defense to eight charges of obtaining money under false pretense.

County Judge Daniel J. Brennan pronounced sentence on the woman's 66th birthday. He decreed that consecutive terms of two to three years at hard labor be served on each of four charges and that similar sentences, to run concurrently, be served on each of the others.

"Mrs. Carr," said the court, "apparently during the better part of your lifetime, behind the mask of pietistic pretense, you have hidden an incredible and almost grotesque duplicity and destroyed the confidence of decent, trusting people wherever you went."

"I suppose people like you get some perverse satisfaction out of the fact that a few old persons who have saved money against the specter of poverty in their old age are now bereft of their property, but you are forgetful of the position that civilized society occupies on confidence, which is something that is akin to faith."

"Your whole adult lifetime has been a destruction of that kind of confidence, putting people on their knees even against charity."

The defendant made no comment. She smiled faintly on the way out of the courtroom, under escort of a matron.

Churchwomen Present. A delegation of women from the Roseville Methodist Church, where she was an ardent churchwoman, was present.

On the way into the courtroom, Mr. Carr smiled pleasantly at the women and spoke a word of greeting. They smiled in response.

What Mrs. Carr had said, however, was: "Hello, all you hypocrites."

Mr. Wachenfeld had said the defendant waived jury trial so her fellow churchwomen would have no chance "to come down and gloat."

Mrs. Carr's comment was unheeded throughout the brief proceedings.

The eight charges involved a total of $11,242. Her long record was disclosed after a fellow church member had lodged a complaint against her of obtaining $4,000.

Under her plea, which threw Mrs. Carr on the mercy of the court, Judge Brennan could have sentenced her to a maximum of 24 years in State prison and fined her a total of $8,000, or he could have placed her on probation.

Judge Brennan had before him confidential records submitted by Prosecutor Louis Sklarey, who returned Saturday from a swing through Washington, California and Oregon cities where he investigated Mrs. Carr's far-flung activities.

The defendant's wife, of J. Clarence Carr, 70, chairman of the Board of Trustees at Roseville Methodist. He knew her only as a "noble, loyal and good woman" who had nursed him devotedly through three serious illnesses in their five years of marriage.

After her arrest Mr. Carr announced he would seek an annulment of their marriage, but later said he would not. He visited the jail yesterday, but was unable to see her. He was not seen in court today.

Women Report Submarine In River Near Essex, Md.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—A report from two women that they saw what they believed to be a submarine in the Middle River sent a Coast Guard patrol boat on a search of the area today.

Comdr. C. H. Abel, captain of the boat, who dispatched the patrol boat to investigate the women's report, said it was unlikely the object they saw was a submarine, for the water in the area is only 10 to 15 feet deep.

Mrs. Mildred Berthold and Mrs. Virginia Arnold reported seeing what they believed to be the conning tower of a submarine in the Middle River. Mrs. Berthold, who informed the Coast Guard.

Mrs. Berthold said the object she saw was several hundred yards offshore, moving in a circle and apparently motor-driven.

"It had a ladder on front," she said. "The nose came out first. There seemed to be a pipe sticking out of it, whatever it was, and the pipe looked like a periscope."

"The nose went up and down three times. The sun glistened on it and it looked like it was white or light gray."

"I guess it was in all about a hundred feet long. I couldn't see any men on it. It was there about 10 minutes before it headed out of the river and into the Bay."

The former Countess Erica von Haacke, member of an old German family and now the wife of Abraham G. H. Reimold, has been taken into custody at Palm Beach by the F. B. I. as an enemy alien, her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. G. Reimold, said here.

Mr. Reimold, Indiana-born, served in the United States Army in the first World War and now operates a defense plant. The F. B. I. declined comment. They are shown together at a club.

Biddle Reveals 60% Of Arrested Aliens Go Free After Hearing

448 Enemy Nationals Interned; 421 Placed On Parole, He Says

On February 19 Attorney General Biddle revealed this afternoon that he had ordered either parole or release for approximately 60 per cent of enemy aliens now under arrest whose cases have been heard by Alien Enemy Hearing Boards.

Through February 19 Attorney General Biddle acted on a total of 1,084 individual such cases heard by local boards, and reviewed by the alien enemy control unit of the Justice Department. Of this number, 448 were ordered interned for the duration of the war, 421 were placed on parole and 215 were released outright. To date, 137 alien enemies have actually been delivered to the Army for internment. Others will be turned over by the department as rapidly as plans for their safe keeping are completed, officials said.

Of 448 aliens ordered interned, 255 are Germans, 156 Japanese and 37 Italian. The paroled group includes 274 Germans, 102 Japanese and 46 Italians.

The Justice Department also announced that the P. B. I. through yesterday had apprehended 5,132 enemy aliens. This total includes 3,259 Japanese, 1,532 Germans and 369 Italians.

Enemy aliens not considered dangerous enough to be interned are paroled, the Justice Department said.

"The procedure usually followed is to require them to report at regular intervals to a sponsor—a reputable United States citizen who knows the alien personally and will vouch for his good behavior—and to the nearest parole officer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service," it was said.

"Any infraction of special parole requirements or of the regulations governing alien enemies generally, may result in immediate internment for the duration of the war."

The 215 persons released represent nearly a fifth of the cases acted upon by the Attorney General. This group includes a few cases of mistaken identity and about 40 in which the person apprehended was found to be an American citizen, Justice Department officials explained. It also includes two larger groups: First, persons thought to be Germans but found later to be nationals of some other country; second, a number of persons taken into custody because they were with enemy aliens apprehended by the F. B. I.

Froelich said he continued his subscription business while in the Army stationed at Governors Island here and continued to sell books to Ludwig.

On one occasion, Froelich said, while he was in uniform, he was invited by Ludwig to take an automobile ride. He said he was introduced at that time to Miss Lucy Boehmler, 18, who has pleaded guilty to her part in the alleged conspiracy.

Froelich said that Ludwig and Miss Boehmler had driven to the home of Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, a defendant in the trial, where a party was in progress. He said that Hans Pagen, 20, a Brooklyn chauffeur, who has pleaded guilty to the conspiracy indictment, was among the guests.

The witness said that he saw Ludwig in May, 1941, and that Ludwig then bought a number of books and gave him an order for a subscription to the Army and Navy Journal.

In the House the $50,000,000 was not earmarked, but the general impression prevailed that $40,000,000 would be for housing. If, therefore, the Senate subcommittee makes the changes indicated, the effect would be to add $10,000,000 for municipal public works.

Although the plan is to devote the entire $40,000,000 to permanent-type houses, Senator Ellender said he favors a unit cost limitation of $4,000, which would provide for 10,000 houses. A temporary shelter that may be required for war workers not in need of houses would be provided out of the President's emergency funds, witnesses testified Tuesday.

Dairy Farmers' Union Throughout America Planned by C. I. O.

Organization of Chicago Milkshed to Start Next Week, Official Reveals

By the Associated Press. UTTICA, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Ralph Marlatt, national director of the United Dairy Farmers (C. I. O.) said today the C. I. O.'s campaign to organize milk producers will be undertaken "on a national scale" and that organization activity will be extended next week to the Chicago milkshed in Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota.

Mr. Marlatt made the announcement upon arrival from Flint, Mich., in advance of conferences with officials of the Dairy Farmers' Union here. The union's general organization committee voted February 7 to affiliate with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers through District No. 50, by-products section of the U. M. W.

Mr. Marlatt said since December 5,000 Michigan farmers had voted C. I. O. affiliation, that organization activity, already under way in Pennsylvania and New Jersey also would be extended to New England.

He declared he would confer with the General Organization Committee of the Dairy Farmers' Union, which claims 22,000 members in New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont, on plans for a campaign aimed at bringing into C. I. O. ranks all 60,000 dairymen in the six-State New York milkshed.

"Within the next few days the D. F. U. General Organization Committee will go to Washington for a meeting with Mr. Lewis," Mr. Marlatt said. "On their return the campaign will get under way. We intend to organize all the 3,000,000 dairymen in the United States."

He explained the C. I. O. ultimately expected to bring dairymen under the recently formed United Dairy Farmers, Affiliation at present is through District 50.

Meanwhile D. F. U. headquarters announced 15 of its 28 county units had ratified C. I. O. affiliation and action by remaining county organizations was expected shortly. Other counties approving the move included Bradford, Wyoming, Susquehanna and Wayne in Pennsylvania.

Used Car Prices Blamed For Higher Auto Taxes

The higher personal property tax local motorists are finding themselves forced to pay this year when obtaining automobile tags is due to an increase in used-car prices rather than to an increase in the tax rate.

The valuation of vehicles for property taxes in the District is based on the "cash value" as reported in a standard used-car market guide, but the figure is higher this year.

The Senator said also he believes any employees who may no longer be needed in connection with housing should be given preference in filling openings in defense agencies.

Senator McKellar, a high-ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, pointed out that defense agencies can go into the question of how much retrenchment is possible when the time comes to appropriate funds for the new national housing agency for the coming year.

He pointed out that transferring some of the personnel of the existing separate housing groups to defense agencies would help relieve congestion in Washington by reducing the number of new employees still to be brought here. This would be in line with the objective of the Tydings investigation, recently ordered by the Senate, to find out how many non-defense employees throughout the Government service could similarly be transferred to defense work.

Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, expects to send out before the end of this week a comprehensive questionnaire to all division chiefs, the answers to which will form the basis for the inquiry.

Let Army-Navy Run War, Ousted Deathraze Urges

By the Associated Press. PETERSBURG, Va., Feb. 25.—George E. Deatherage, dismissed from an important engineering post at the Norfolk naval base as the order of Secretary of the Navy Knox, said today that he was one of "millions of American citizens who wanted to stay out of the war, but since we have been attacked 'our only job now is to win this war.'"

"I regret, of course, having to leave the naval base," Mr. Deatherage said. "The men there are doing a great job and I suggest that for the first time we let the Army and Navy run this war. They haven't had a chance at it yet. They haven't had a chance at it yet."

"Most certainly if running George Deatherage out of the naval base will help Frank Knox avert the Pearl Harbor and Singapore, I am quite content."

Deatherage, according to testimony before the Dies Committee in 1939, was organizer and national commander of the Knights of the White Camelia and organizer of the American Nationalist Federation. His testimony related to visits to the German embassy to discuss anti-Semitic and Nazi fund-raising techniques.

Secretary Knox classed him earlier this week as an "undesirable person" for Navy work.

Redistricting Bill Passed

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Legislature, after a year-long controversy, today approved a bill reducing the number of congressional districts from 34 to 33 to meet census requirements. The measure was sent to Gov. James for signature after the Senate passed it by a vote of 41 to 7. The House already had approved it.

This dummy "periscope" held by an American sailor was picked out of the sea off Pearl Harbor recently. It was made of wood, bamboo, glass and tin cans and apparently set adrift to lure Army and Navy patrols into wasting bombs. Officials said it wouldn't have fooled a surface observer very long and couldn't have duped an aerial observer two seconds.

ganda work from the State Department—the widow said she had never heard the defendant make "an un-American" suggestion to her husband.

Mrs. Lundeen said she had known Viereck about three or four years before that he had worked in a longer period. She added that Viereck had visited their home a couple of times and she had seen him in her husband's office a few times.

Discussed Speech Together. Mrs. Lundeen admitted that the Senator and Viereck had talked over a speech on German-American trade relations which Mr. Lundeen was to deliver before the German-American Board of Trade in New York. But she added that the speech was delivered extemporaneously—"without notes or manuscript." A former employee of the Lundeen office testified for the Government that Viereck dictated a part of this speech in the Senator's office.

A speech also brought into the Government's case a German-American element was one of a series, the widow explained, dealing with contributions which people of foreign extraction had made to this country.

The Senator already had made a speech on the Swedish element in America. Mrs. Lundeen explained, and the German speech was similar in nature.

"By that I mean," she told the jury, "that he was dealing with Americans of German extraction, to the Senator's personal use, but he held this country to the great Nation it is today."

In reply to the charges which two girls formerly employed in the Senator's office made to the effect that they were required to "kick back" a portion of their salaries to Mr. Lundeen, his widow said this money was not for the Senator's personal use, but was used so that he could hire additional research workers for the last two years of his life.

Recessed Until Monday

Mrs. Lundeen described a visit from an agent of the Internal Revenue Bureau. She said he had a report that the Senator had been collecting a part of his employees' salaries and using the money for his personal funds.

"I was shocked," Mrs. Lundeen said. "I knew it wasn't true. We kept a bookkeeping system that covered all expenditures."

Mrs. Lundeen said she and two of the Senator's employees searched the files and found that the money was not placed in her husband's personal bank account but all went for research work.

Mrs. Lundeen had not completed her testimony when court adjourned for the day. The trial was recessed until next Monday morning because the presiding judge, Justice F. Dickson Letts, and the other justices of the District Court are required to attend a judicial conference during the next three days.

At the outset of her testimony, Defense Attorney Emil Morosini had Mrs. Lundeen identify a reprint in the Congressional Record of a radio speech she made in May, 1941, defending the late Senator against attacks on his loyalty as an American. The attorney then read the speech to the jury. In it Mrs. Lundeen related to assertions made by New York and Washington columnists concerning her husband, who she said, had been "crucially slandered."

Friendly With Viereck

Senator Lundeen, whose name has figured prominently in the Viereck trial because of testimony from three former employees of his office to the effect that he was friendly with the accused propagandist and that they wrote speeches together, was killed in a plane accident August 31, 1940.

Mr. Morosini sought through the widow to impeach the testimony of Edward L. Corneaby, Senator Lundeen's former secretary. Mr. Corneaby testified to a close relationship between the Senator and Viereck.

Contradicting this witness, Mrs. Lundeen said that when Mr. Corneaby was running for Congress at the time of the Senator's death he used posters and "every available means" to advertise the fact that he had been the Senator's secretary, though he had left Mr. Lundeen's employ some months before.

U. S. Rests Its Case

Mr. Corneaby was defeated in an attempt to win a congressional nomination from the old Minneapolis district which the Senator once served in the House.

The Government rested its case early this afternoon after bringing out testimony to the effect that the British censorship at Bermuda had intercepted communications between Viereck and the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin, which he had been addressing to the secret alias of the German Minister to Portugal.

The Espino filly stepped a handy mile in 1:42 and is ready for a hard effort. GEORGE LA MAZE, a winner over a good field at the meeting, should be the runner-up. INCONCEIVABLE fits close.

FIRST RACE—TELLME NOW, AMPLE REWARD, BIT OF NERVE. The Headly filly TELLE NOW evidently is a pretty fair sort and cannot go beyond this one for the winner of the opening dash of 3 furlongs. AMPLE REWARD on the rail, looks as the most dangerous. A winner of his only two starts at the meeting, the gelding should hold the balance. BIT OF NERVE for the show.

SECOND RACE—INSCOGERET, MISS MILITANT, LADY GOLDEN. Here is a bird that has been doing some fast flying in the morning and the inco gelding INSCOGERET gets the call over an ordinary band in the second. MISS MILITANT has not been doing badly with a trifle better horses and should be close up. LADY GOLDEN drops down a notch and could take it all.

THIRD RACE—BARNEGAT, HIS SHADOW, NEW FLOWER. The Barrington colt BARNEGAT appears well placed in the sprint for 3-year-olds in the third. Was a trifle short in his initial start of the meeting and improvement can be expected. HIS SHADOW drops way down the ladder and should take care of the balance. NEW FLOWER won his last and is very fit.

FOURTH RACE—HAPPY NOTE, K. DORKO, TEE MIDGE. HAPPY NOTE appears ready to cop a heat soon and this probably is the right day. The Happy Argo gelding is well placed and no mistakes should be made. K. DORKO has been on all right, well in the morning and figures close. TEE MIDGE always shows an honest effort and can hardly be worse than third.

FIFTH RACE—FATE, CURIOUS ROMAN, MEDIA LUNA. FATE showed a rather impressive performance on the 13th to Layaway. Finished in the third slot and was messed about in the running. Should be a good price today. CURIOUS ROMAN stacks up well with these and rates a good money chance. MEDIA LUNA has a good flight of early speed, but may weaken.

Britain to Clamp Down On Business as Usual, Cripps Tells House

New Lord Privy Seal Says Decision Will Be Made Soon on Indian Problem

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 25.—Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal in the revamped British cabinet, told the House of Commons today the government would not permit a "business as usual or pleasure as usual" attitude toward the war from now on.

He made this statement as government leader in the House when he rose to defend the Churchill cabinet toward the close of a two-day debate on the conduct of the war.

He announced that a government decision would be given shortly on the problem of India, and that the House of Commons today the government would not permit a "business as usual or pleasure as usual" attitude toward the war from now on.

On the home front, Sir Stafford said, steps will be taken to halt "dog racing and boxing displays," which he called "completely out of accord" with the "solid and serious intention of this country to achieve victory."

Chaired by the House, Leslie Hore-Belisha, a former war secretary, declared today that he welcomed Prime Minister Churchill's revised government, but that "it must stand or fall by the manner in which it meets the needs of this war."

He and other members speaking in the second day of war debate in the House declared three big needs were:

1. That the army be given control over its own supporting aircraft instead of the R. A. F.

2. That an immediate "generous" gesture be made to India, and that the British colonial policy be revised.

3. That the government take drastic steps to obtain a maximum of production and a minimum of civilian consumption.

Mr. Hore-Belisha, was secretary in the Chamberlain government at the outset of the war, declared an adequacy of air support for the army and navy had been a constant factor in British reverses. Another, he asserted, was underestimating the enemy.

He told the House that Britain was presumed to have reached parity with Germany in plane production, but that "neither the army nor the navy has the types required."

"The navy," he said, "lacks land-based torpedo bombers. There is no dive bomber. There is no airplane armed with cannon sufficiently powerful to explode tanks."

"There is inadequacy of machines of the kind to carry parachute troops, and not enough transport-carrying planes * * * and gliders."

Colonial Policy Argued.

Mr. Hore-Belisha's plea for a "new outlook in our colonial policy" was echoed by Sir Richard Thomas Dyke Acland, Liberal, who added that "not an hour must be lost."

Opposing this view, Maj. Gen. Sir Alfred William Porteus, Conservative, said it would be "absolutely lunacy to think of any big political changes in India today during the stress of the war."

He said Indian independence would result in a Moslem revolt.

Trenton Tank Car Blaze Delays Pennsy Trains

By the Associated Press. TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 25.—A 10,000-gallon tank car of oil caught fire in a Pennsylvania Railroad switching yard early today, shutting down service on the line to New York—Philadelphia main line for an hour and 20 minutes.

George Halleran of the Pennsylvania press department said at New York the fire followed a collision of a freight train and the tank car. The train was en route from Washington to Jersey City and had stopped at Trenton to let off or pick up cars.

The burning car overturned on a siding a mile north of Trenton. Flames shooting high in the air melted connections on overhead electric power lines.

Murder Verdict Solves Vanishing From Train

By the Associated Press. MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, Feb. 25.—The mystery of what became of W. G. Faber, 56-year-old Cleveland passenger train conductor for the Big Four Railroad, has been solved, but police sought today to discover who stabbed him December 29 and threw him from his moving train into a canal.

Only clues were his battered cap, some small change and a patch of blood on the floor of a deadhead coach.

Mr. Faber's body was found floating at the headgates of the canal yesterday. Coroner Garret J. Boone, reporting that the conductor had been stabbed in the chest, returned a murder verdict.

Mr. Faber was last seen shortly before 11 p. m. December 29 when his mail and express train left Middletown station.

Army Pilot Killed; 10-Day Bridegroom

By the Associated Press. SCITUATE, Mass., Feb. 25.—An Army pursuit plane plunged into Massachusetts Bay late yesterday, carrying to death Second Lt. Denis J. Dowling, 22, a bridegroom of 10 days.

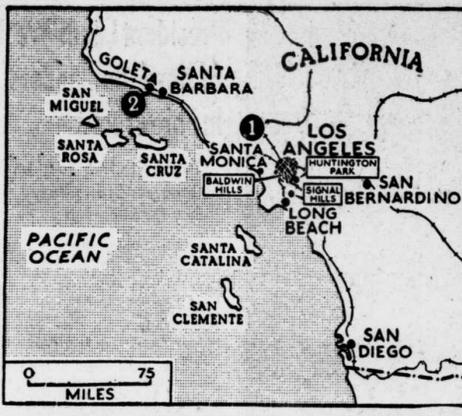

Lt. Dowling was flying in formation with two other planes 3 miles off shore. Pilots of the other ships said that they did not see him go down.

An Army board of inquiry was named to investigate the cause of the accident.

Lt. Dowling's home was in Whitestone, Long Island.

LOS ANGELES.—WHERE ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS OPENED UP—Map spots areas (1) about Los Angeles where anti-aircraft guns opened up and searchlights sought out either a plane or a blimp. The object moved down the coast from Santa Monica and disappeared south of the Signal Hill oil fields. All of Southern California was blacked out. Defense Sidelights Connecticut Avenue Headquarters Being Moved to 2800 Woodley Road

Headquarters for the Connecticut avenue civilian defense area are being moved today from the Uptown Theater to a large basement room in the new apartment building at 2800 Woodley road N.W. Deputy Warden Leon Pretzfelder and his assistants will meet in the new office at 8 o'clock tonight.

Radio possibilities in connection with the civil air patrol will be discussed at a meeting at 8 p. m. Saturday at the Capital Radio Engineering Institute by two officers of the patrol. Speakers will be Arthur Hyde, wing commander of the patrol for Maryland and owner of the Congressional Airport, and Dr. R. K. Thompson, commander of the air patrol operating out of the Congressional flying field.

A Red Cross first-aid instruction course will begin at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Grace Lutheran Church, Sixteenth and Varnum streets N.W. under the direction of Miss Virginia Cullen. Those completing the 20-hour course will be eligible for a Red Cross first-aid certificate. Sessions move were those with blackout permits, and zealous wardens halted them as often as three times in a single block.

Speculation on Blimp. There was speculation, meanwhile, that the unidentified object might have been a blimp—although veteran lighter-than-air experts in Akron, Ohio, the Nation's center of such construction, said Japan was believed to have lost interest in such craft following experiments soon after World War I. These sources said inability to obtain fireproof helium was behind discarding of the plans.

Observers lent some credence to the blimp theory by pointing out that the object required nearly 30 minutes to travel 20 or 25 miles—far slower than an airplane.

An official source which declined to be quoted directly told the Associated Press that United States Army planes quickly went into action. Later, however, another official said no United States craft had taken off because of possible danger from the Army's own anti-aircraft fire.

All of Southern California from the San Joaquin Valley to the Mexican border was blacked out. Los Angeles doused its lights first, at 2:25 a. m. San Diego, just 17 miles from the border, did not receive its lights-out order until 3:05 a. m.

Any Singapore Withdrawal Impossible, London Says

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 25.—Any attempt to withdraw British troops from Singapore would have "been sheer murder" because Japan controlled both the air and sea about the island, an informed source said today.

He disclosed that the British had only merchant shipping at the smoking city of Singapore at the end, that there were no warships or air protection for any ships which might have been used to take off the troops.

In the evacuation of the naval base all oil accumulations were "denied to the enemy" through planned destruction, this source declared, and the Japanese therefore would have to rely on their own tankers to supply their invasion forces in the Netherlands Indies.

He said he believed Prime Minister Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons yesterday of a recent increase in shipping losses referred to the over-all Allied situation rather than to British losses alone.

The source said it was impossible to determine at present the extent of British shipping losses at Singapore.

"Three convoys got in with reinforcements and supplies before Singapore fell," he declared. "We don't know what ships got out or what we lost, but our shipping certainly suffered."

'Streamlining' Order Gears Agriculture for Warime Effort

Improved Utilization Of Resources Seen Under Consolidation

Consolidation of 15 Agriculture Department agencies under three administrators, announced yesterday by President Roosevelt, was seen today as completing the gearing of the department to a wartime basis.

Streamlining of the department also was hailed as another step in furthering prosecution of the war through better utilization of agricultural resources of the Nation.

Veterans of department service head the three new administrations. Two are former "dirt" farmers, one from Western New York and the other from Iowa. The third, a former Washington newspaperman, was raised on an Iowa farm.

Roy Hendrickson, former chief of the Surplus Marketing Administration, with 10 years' experience in the department, has been named chief of the Agricultural Marketing Administration. Before coming to the department Mr. Hendrickson covered Agriculture for the Associated Press. He was also wartime chief of department personnel.

Evans Was Aide to Wallace. Chief of the new Agricultural Conservation and Adjustment Administration is Rudolph W. Evans, former head of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. A native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Mr. Evans has been with the department since 1933, when the A. A. A. came into being. He was aide to President Wallace, then Secretary of Agriculture, in 1936.

Eugene C. Auchter, the Western New York farmer and former dean of horticulture at the University of Maryland, heads the Agricultural Commodities Corp. the Agricultural Marketing Service, except the Agricultural Statistics Division, and the Commodity Exchange Administration are grouped under the Agricultural Marketing Administration.

The A. A. A., the Soil Conservation Service, the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. and the Sugar Division are consolidated into the Agricultural Conservation and Adjustment Administration.

Several Units Under Research. Grouped under Agricultural Research are the Bureau of Animal Industry, Plant Industry, Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering, Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Home Economics, the Office of Experiment Stations and the Beltsville (Md.) Research Center.

Actual reorganization of the department began as early as December 13 of last year under direction of Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and yesterday's executive order cleared the way for final implementation.

A department official pointed out the change would enable the Secretary to confer directly with his three key men rather than reaching separate heads of the old bureaus.

The consolidation will cause no decrease of personnel here or in the field, the department said, nor will there be any cutting down by the

Army Calls Two Thrice Rejected For Combat Duty

Two selectees, who must have been endowed with more than their share of patience and persistence, will give Uncle Sam another chance today to use their services.

Robert Victor Bailey, 6024 Broad street, Brookmont, Md., enlisted in the Marines, but was rejected because he was too tall—6 feet, 3 inches. Then he tried to get in the Army and the Navy, but was turned down by both.

The other selectee, Jack Tunstall Brown, 1734 P street N.W., brother of a 21-year-old Marine killed in the defense of Wake Island, tried to enlist in the Marines after Pearl Harbor, but was rejected because he is over 30 years old. He attempted to enlist in the Army and then in the Navy, but was turned down for the same reason.

Undiscouraged, both men appealed to selective service to accept them as volunteers, and they were among the 160 selectees from Washington scheduled to be inducted at Camp Lee, Va., today.

Boy, 13, Battles Burglar With Old, Rusted Pistol

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—A 13-year-old boy, armed only with an old, rusted and unloaded pistol, took on a colored burglar ransacking his home early today, and, although stunned by a blow on the head, came out the winner.

Donald T. Morrison, jr., momentarily left alone in the apartment by his father, heard the burglar in a bedroom. He picked up the old revolver, entered the bedroom and ordered the thief to "go."

"He called me a name," Donald told police later. "I got mad and slugged him with the revolver. Then he grabbed a bottle and swung at me—I ducked and tripped him."

"He came up with a shoe—with a wooden shoe tree in it—he swung. I ducked but I guess I was too slow. When I came to, he was gone."

U. S. Must Change Habits To Win, Wilbur Asserts

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The peoples with "the most health, vigor, fitness, sobriety, training and devotion to a common cause" will win the war; America must throw off its night-clubbish habits, loose thinking and health-destroying tendencies to be on the winning side, says Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford University president.

"If we are to be the winners in the last days of this war," he told the American Association of School Administrators today, "we must begin training now. There is no way to escape the fact that health will win this war for some people. God grant that it be our people."

Dr. Wilbur said the extent of tavern patronage, the waste of life on highways and extent of preventable disease suggested cause for concern when compared with well-placed, number of services the public has come to expect of the bureaus affected.

The President has ordered the changes to remain in effect until six months after the war ends.

Joint Congressional Committee to Open O. C. D. Inquiry Friday

Senator Byrd Questions Real Defense Value In 'Costly Organization'

By the Associated Press. Chairman Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia said yesterday the Joint Congressional Economic Committee would begin an inquiry Friday into the Office of Civilian Defense, which he asserted "gives the appearance of a highly complicated, costly organization, little of which actually goes to real defense."

Senator Byrd said James M. Landis, O. C. D. director, had furnished the committee with a list of all employees receiving $2,500 yearly or more and would be questioned Friday.

"Scrutiny of the 22-page list of employees shows actors, baseball players, football coaches, trackmen, tennis players, newspaper and magazine writers, radio and advertising writers, social workers, Army and Navy officers, doctors, engineers, nurses, ex-public officials, lawyers and others in nearly every walk of life among those employed for promotion of Civilian Defense," Senator Byrd said.

Duties assigned to these officials of extremely varied qualifications do not always appear directly connected with national defense."

He added there appeared to be "a notable duplication of effort" with other branches of Federal, State and local governments.

Nazis Unable to Gear Occupied Russia To War Production

Hampered by Scorched Earth Policy and Flight Of Thousands of Workers

By the Associated Press.
 BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 25.—The devastating effect of Russia's scorched earth policy, serious labor shortages, and the flight of thousands of potential workers before the German army were reported today to have crippled Germany's attempts to gear the economy of occupied Russian areas to that of the Reich.
 The German press has complained of hardships and difficulties created by the Russian scorched earth policy. The newspapers said also that in some areas more than 50 per cent of the population departed with the Russian army, taking most of the horses, tractors and other implements, and that in Ennsperovoak alone 200,000 of a total population of 380,000 left the city.

Workers "Taken Away."
 Those leaving usually are described by the Germans as being "taken away" by the Russians.
 The Nazis also complained about the number "taken away" from the Baltic states. German sources said that more than 50,000 persons, all skilled workers or professional men such as engineers and doctors, left with the Russians, and that more than 100,000 left Estonia.
 The Germans have issued a decree providing for compulsory service of doctors, dentists, druggists, nurses and members of auxiliary medical branches in the Baltic states.
 In the Ukraine, the Deutsche Ukraine Zeitung said, the agricultural situation is difficult because the Russians killed or removed the best workers and because of a great shortage of equipment.
Resorting to Forced Labor.
 The Germans were said to be resorting to forced labor in some sectors as well as attempting large scale population transfers.
 In Bessarabia, the labor shortage was said to be so great that even the Rumanian population has been conscripted for farm work. A new decree ordered all persons between the ages of 12 and 60 to work on the farms from "sunrise to sundown."

At home, the Berliner Lokal Anzeiger reported that Karl Sautmann, 63, Mayor of the village of May-schoss, west of Coblenz, Germany, had been executed for violating Germany's economic war decrees.
 The Budapest newspaper Pester Lloyd said that in dismembered Yugoslavia Serb guerrillas had caused a shortage of bread in Belgrade by blocking communications. Some cars of corn did reach Belgrade but it was said the shortage was expected to continue for some time.

Finland Sentences Seven For Planning Treason

By the Associated Press.
 HELSINKI, Feb. 25.—Dr. Juhani Helo, former treasurer of the city of Helsinki, and six expelled members of the Finnish Parliament were sentenced to prison terms ranging from two to eight years yesterday after conviction on a charge of "preparation for high treason."
 The trial, which began last November, was secret. Each defendant was charged with engaging in subversive Communist activity and with membership in an organization known as "The Society for Peace and Friendship with the Soviet Union."
 The heaviest sentence, eight years, was given Socialist Leader Cay Sundstrom. The only woman defendant, Mrs. Aino Rydberg, and the former newspaper columnist, Yrjoe Raelsaenen, were sentenced to four years each. Dr. Helo's sentence was three years.

Venezuela Protests To Reich on Sinking

By the Associated Press.
 CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 25.—The government yesterday protested strongly to Germany over the sinking of the Venezuelan tanker Monagas by a submarine.
 Foreign Minister Pares Peres instructed this country's Charge d'Affaires in Switzerland to forward the protest to the German government.
 At the same time officials at Puerto Carupano, on Venezuela's eastern seacoast, ordered a blackout to offset the probability of new submarine attacks such as those which sunk several shallow-draft crude oil tankers used in the shuttle service to Aruba's offshore refineries and the shelling of the island itself last week.

Seattle Judge Leads Mayor in Primary Race

By the Associated Press.
 SEATTLE, Feb. 25.—Police Judge William F. Devin earned the right to oppose Mayor Earl Millikin in the general election by running far ahead of the Mayor in yesterday's primary.
 Judge Devin polled 27,940 votes to Mayor Millikin's 17,035. The closest of the other four candidates was Councilman William Norton, with 9,495.
 Judge Devin also opposed Mayor Millikin in the finals a year ago for the unexpired majority term of Gov. Langlie.

California Oil Field Shelled by Jap Sub Shows $500 Damage

By the Associated Press.
 SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Feb. 25.—Southern Californians, increasingly casual toward the war in recent weeks, were jolted into a state of alert by the enemy's first attack on continental United States. Damage was only $500, but here and elsewhere along the Pacific Coast the cries "It can't happen here" had been drowned out by whining 5-inch shells, rocketing from a big Japanese submarine into a tidelands oil field.
 Imperial headquarters in Tokyo announced today that a Japanese submarine had shelled military objectives on the California coast Monday night, "achieving highly successful results."
 There was little hysteria and a universal compliance with military and blackout regulations which brought high praise from authorities. Perhaps a farmer who shouldered his gun and marched into the sheriff's office personified the general feeling.
 "Just let me see a sub," he said. "I'll empty my 30-30, and then I'll throw rocks."
Citizens' Wrath Doubled.
 Senator Feller, Democrat, of Florida, in Los Angeles for a Washington birthday dinner, observed Southern Californians' reaction and commented:
 "I have no doubt after witnessing the calm of West Coast citizens that Americans will only double their wrath on the Japanese for trying to disturb the address by President Roosevelt."

'Lt. Frenchy' Inspires His Filipino Fighters, Japs Give Up Efforts to Break His Line

By CLARK LEE, Associated Press War Correspondent.
 WITH GEN. MACARTHUR ON WESTERN BATAAN FRONT, Feb. 22 (Delayed)—Even the Japanese on this sector of the front know "Lt. Frenchy"—Lt. Roland G. Saulnier of New Bedford, Mass.
 Several times a day "Frenchy" inspects his young Filipino troops in their fox holes and trenches along the front line and calls out:
 "Hey, you damned Japanese, come on over here."
 From their own dug-in positions in the underbrush only a hundred feet from the Filipino-American barbed wire, the Japanese answer: "Profanity, you Fwrenchee."
 "Whenever they face problems, his troops call for Frenchy. Whenever fighting starts he's in the middle of it, this 24-year-old who is one of the most colorful figures in the American forces in the Philippines."
Parents French-Canadian.
 I won't attempt to produce his dialect, which is typical French-Canadian, although he was born in New Bedford. Both his parents were French-Canadians and he attended mostly French schools. He drove a delivery truck at Cape Cod for his father, went West in 1938 to see the country, worked as a cook, joined the National Guard at Santa Barbara, Calif., and then transferred to the Army when he came to the Philippines in 1940. He learned to use the rifle in the New Bedford "French sharpshooters."
 Early one morning his position was attacked and he and a private were pinned in their fox holes four hours while the Japanese attempted to dislodge them with hand grenades. During that scrap Frenchy killed seven Japanese, and his total now is over 30 with a revolver alone, not counting those killed with machine gun and trench mortars.
 Frenchy finally re-established his front lines and erected barbed wires which have kept the Japanese out despite frequent attacks, in which he directs his men by signals. "They do not understand his English and many of them fail to understand each other as they speak numerous dialects."
Japs Stay on Their Side.
 The Japanese have abandoned their efforts to break through his lines, with the exception of occasional attacks, and now have dug in outside the American wire.
 When the Japanese show signs of unusual activity Frenchy calls for artillery fire and directs it by telephone from the front lines. "I just sit and watch 'em fall and tell 'em where to shoot next," he told me. "Sometimes shrapnel falls all over our place and that's the way I like it because it keeps the Japs away."

 Many times Frenchy has "come close to being wounded."
 "One hit me on the bottom of an elbow," he said. "Others have come so close they have clipped holes in my pants. I guess I'm just plain lucky or the Lord's with me."
 This young American says "It's real comical" out there in the front lines when the Philippine and Japanese cuss each other out in the Filipino language, which the Japs pronounce badly.
 "Men 'Don't Scare Any More.' " "When the Japanese attack," he continued, "they yell 'assault' and 'avance' trying to scare my men, but they don't scare any more."
 "Lots of times we throw grenades at each other. I throw quite a few and also have shot the machine guns, Garands and pistols. We have a lot of Japanese guns which we are using on them."
 "The Japanese don't like to surrender much. One of them came over with his hands up and then threw a hand grenade, so we haven't taken many prisoners since. The Japs have pretty good teamwork."
 "We've killed lots of them around our place. There's maybe 400 or 500 bodies around our wire. The smell is terrible, so I guess we'll have to move either up or back a bit soon."
 Frenchy is back on duty again after being hospitalized for malaria. He has been cited for a decoration. When the war started he was "just a greenhorn, but everything has turned out good." He has complete confidence in his troops and superior officers. He is a natural-born soldier and his experiences prove that under inspiring leadership Filipinos make first-class troops.

President Lauds Work Of Newfoundlanders In Shipwrecks

Talk With 'Big Four' of Congress Starts Busy Day for Roosevelt

President Roosevelt today sent a message of thanks to the people of St. Lawrence, Newfoundland, for their work in aiding the men and officers of the two Navy ships, the destroyer Truxtun and the cargo ship Pollux, which went aground and broke up on Newfoundland's shores.
 "I have just learned of the magnificent and courageous work you rendered and of the sacrifices you made in rescue and caring for the personnel of the United States ships which grounded on your shores," the President said in his message, which was transmitted through the Navy Department.
 "As commander in chief and on behalf of the Navy and as President of the United States on behalf of our citizens, I wish to express my most grateful appreciation of your heroic action, which is typical of the history of your proud, seafaring community."
 The President began a busy day by receiving the "big four" from Congress—Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader Barkley and House Majority Leader McCormack—and going over with them the current legislative problems.
 The President's schedule for the rest of the day call for visits by Ambassador Ciechanowski of Poland and the Polish Foreign Minister, Count Edward Raczynski; the Joint A. F. L.-C. I. O. Labor Peace Commission and Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox.

Villagers Pull 43 Men From Truxtun and Pollux to Safety

Wreck Survivors Hauled Up 200-Foot Cliff With Rope During Storm

By the Associated Press.
 ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Feb. 25.—Forty-three survivors of the United States destroyer Truxtun and the United States supply ship Pollux owed their lives today to the hardihood of men, women and children from the village of St. Lawrence who rigged up a boson's chair in defiance of the storm that smashed the ships, and pulled the seamen to safety over a 200-foot cliff.
 The survivors were hospitalized in Argentina at a United States naval base across the bay from the place where the vessels were wrecked with the loss of at least 189 men.
First Report on Rescued Men.
 The story of the rescue was the first report of the number of men saved. Yesterday's announcement from Washington merely estimated the number of casualties.
 Work on the survivors were in distress brought the villagers of St. Lawrence to the scene from across three miles of snow-covered, wind-swept hills.
 They found a cluster of men clinging to a cliff and began hauling them to the top with the boson's chair, a rough wooden seat slung from a rope.
 Other rescuers attempted to save some in the surf by a dory lowered from the top of the cliff but the little boat was swamped. Its crew was saved.
 A United States ship struck the shore in the same storm which wrecked the destroyer and supply ship, but floated clear and reached harbor.

U. S. Aid Urged for Dealers Whose Stocks Are Frozen

By the Associated Press.
 The Senate Small Business Committee proposed today that the Government assist retail dealers of rationed articles by authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corp. to purchase their frozen inventories or lend them money to help them carry their investments.
 Chairman Murray proposed to introduce a committee bill to carry out the proposal.
 Senator Murray said upward of 500,000 new automobiles and trucks might be frozen for many months, during which dealers would have to pay storage, insurance and other costs.
 "It is unfair to ask these dealers to bear the sole burden of all this investment and expense," he said.

Knox Promises Navy Reinforcements in Not Distant Future

Sea Forces Outnumbered Now, He Says in Speech Before Relief Society

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Declaring that the United States "is now engaged in the greatest naval war in its history," Secretary of the Navy Knox last night promised reinforcements for outnumbered American forces on a "not too far distant" day.

"You men of our naval service are now being asked, in most cases to fight a foe who outnumbers you in men and equipment," Secretary Knox said in an address broadcast at the Naval Relief Society dinner and short-waved to ships and stations. "It is not necessary to add that you can never be outmatched in courage and devotion to your country."

"But I can promise you here and now—with the United States of America to witness my pledge, and to share the pledge with me— I can promise you here and now that the day is not too far distant when you will not be outnumbered."

America Backs Fleet.

"I can promise you that the man behind the man stands behind you—that man is a strong and sturdy American, an American with his jaw set and his sleeves rolled up. That man is a personification of all America—a giant of a man who is slow to anger, but who is terrible in the majesty of his might when he is aroused by such crimes as the trampling of right, the murder of innocence, and the brazen flaunting of injustice. That man who is standing behind you men of the fleet is all America—and he will not let you down."

Secretary Knox declared that complacency toward "is in the sole possession of a very small minority whose ranks grow thinner every day as the terrible urgency of our peril confronts them—a thoughtless minority of thoughtless people who alone today deserve the phrase 'the vanishing American.'"

Discussing the future, Secretary Knox declared: "All our battle accomplishments of the past can be viewed in the light of mere skirmishes compared to the mighty tasks which lie ahead of us—tasks which you fighting men of our fleets will be called upon to perform."

Pictures Immense Task.

"Consider these figures, and use them as a probable yardstick to measure the enormity of this task: In one day at Pearl Harbor more naval casualties were inflicted by a dastard who crept by night than were suffered by the Navy during the Spanish-American War and the World War combined. All of that happened in one day, before our job was actually begun."

"Since then, we have had many pointers to show us the vast scope of what the future holds in store. To mention just two, there was the loss of two mighty combat ships of Britain, our ally, in an engagement which lasted a few brief hours; there was the loss of Singapore, often called the world's mightiest stronghold, in only a few short weeks. There were these disasters, and there were many others."

Secretary Knox spoke at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria at a banquet opening the first Nation-wide fund campaign in the 40-year history of the relief society. Money raised will be used to care for the families of men in the naval forces.

Officer Offers $70,000.

Secretary Knox announced that Clendenin Ryan, now a lieutenant at a naval air station, wrote a letter saying that he, personally, would donate $70,000 to the Naval Relief Society.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and president of the society, said $5,000,000 was needed in the national campaign.

Other speakers included Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States Fleet; Lt. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, commander of the Marine Corps; and Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche, Coast Guard Commandant.

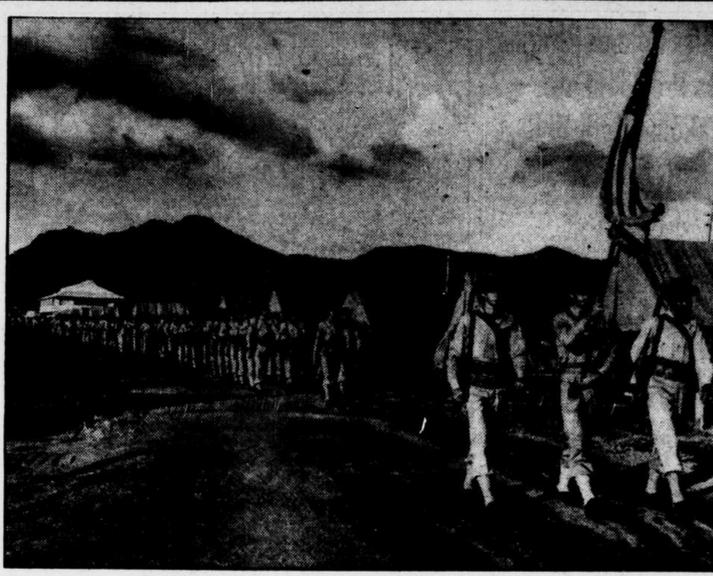

Russians Know Might of Steady Air Offensive

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Feb. 25.—Unending German aerial assaults which last October finally forced Russian troops from Bryansk, a railway center 210 miles southwest of Moscow, taught Soviet flyers a lesson in offensive tactics they have since put to good use, an air force general wrote today in Red Star.

Premier Joseph Stalin summoned him November 26, 1941, "on the eve of our offensive," to discuss how to insure from the air a break-through north of Moscow, the general said. "Do you remember Bryansk?" he quoted Stalin. "We must act the same way. To rout the enemy we must smite him incessantly day and night in continuous waves without giving him time to recover, destroying his fortified bases and depriving him of the possibility of bringing up reserves. All our operations should be effected in the closest co-operation with land troops."

Conservation of Paper

Every citizen is called upon to see that not a pound of paper is wasted. Demand from every clerk that any unnecessary wrapping of packages or unnecessary use of paper bags be dispensed with. Waste paper for paperboard is vital to the packaging of a great quantity of war equipment. Do not burn newspapers, but when you have saved enough for a bundle, give them to the school children who are co-operating in the defense program with the parent-teacher organization in The Star's campaign for reclaiming old newspapers.

Merchant Shipping Lost in War Totals 14,000,000 Tons

8,300,000 Tons Sunk Were Allied and Neutral Vessels, Britain Says

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Merchant shipping losses of all nations from the start of the war to January 1, 1942, were estimated by the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom today at approximately 14,000,000 tons.

Britain, her Allies and neutral nations have lost 8,300,000 tons, said the chamber's annual report, while Germany and her allies have lost "not less than five or six million tons."

During the last six months of 1941, the chamber added, Axis air raiders, mines, submarines and surface vessels sunk about 180,000 tons of shipping a month—or a total of more than 1,000,000 tons for that period.

The report concluded that the United Nations hold a great advantage over the Axis because of the tremendous shipbuilding program of the United States, which produced some 1,000,000 gross tons of deadweight in 1941 and is expected to provide approximately 18,000,000 tons of new shipping during the next two years.

"On the debit side," the chamber added, "there is a longer haul imposed by the loss of safe passage through the Mediterranean. This has been estimated as 30 per cent loss of efficiency to British Empire sea communications."

The 2d Army Corps, disregarding the danger of being cut off, should hold its ground. "There is a longer haul imposed by the loss of safe passage through the Mediterranean. This has been estimated as 30 per cent loss of efficiency to British Empire sea communications."

In connection with the Staraya Russa victory, it was disclosed for the first time that Lt. Gen. P. A. Kurochkin now commands the Russian forces on the northwestern front. He replaced Field Marshal Klementi Voroshilov when the latter was assigned last October to the task of organizing new reserve armies in the rear.

Trap Operations Concluded. A special communique said laconically that northwestern front units commanded by Lt. Gen. Kurochkin set the trap February 15, and "a few days ago the operations were concluded."

The 290th Infantry Division, 2d Army Corps; the 13th Infantry Division, 10th Army Corps, and an SS (Elite Guard) division were smashed, it said, and the field was littered with German dead and equipment abandoned by the survivors.

"The battle, of a scope rivaling activity in the bloody Smolensk zone 200 miles farther south, evidently represented a major stroke in Russian efforts to clear communication lines of the Lake Ilmen region in preparation for further thrusts at the rear of invasion units entrenched before Leningrad."

The latest Red Army success was:

REDS CLAIM GERMAN ARMY SHATTERED BELOW LENINGRAD—Russian sources yesterday claimed the shattering of an entire German Army of 45,000 men in a smashing 10-day Red Army victory below Leningrad. A special communique said that Russian troops (arrows) under Gen. Kurochkin encircled the 16th German Army in the vital Staraya Russa (shaded area) district, 140 miles south of Leningrad and 270 miles northwest of Moscow.

seen as giving the Russians a vitally important sector from which to launch new operations covering the entire northern zone.

In addition to Lake Ilmen to the north and a railway line running almost due west, the Staraya Russa area controls the junction of three highly usable rivers—the Pola, Polista and Lovat.

The important Nazi defense position at Velikie Luki lies on the Lovat, the longest of the three, some 110 miles south and slightly west of Staraya Russa.

Staraya Russa is a mineral springs resort below Lake Ilmen on a railway which—like the crossbar of a huge "A"—links trunk lines from Leningrad to Warsaw and from Leningrad to Moscow.

The Soviet radio said Russian troops had recaptured four settlements and inflicted 2,250 casualties on the Germans on the southwestern front during the last few days.

Perhaps referring to the same engagements, the Soviet Information Bureau said five days of fighting on a southern sector cost the Germans 2,700 dead and wounded, 18 tanks, 11 machine-guns, 11 mortars, 30 guns, three motor vehicles and 10 radio stations.

"During 20 days of fighting in February on the southwestern front," the information bureau went off "a unit commanded by Comrade Zinoviev inflicted a heavy blow on the Germans. The Germans lost 3,200 officers and men, 140 machine-guns, 130 guns, 9 tanks and 180 motor cycles."

Moscow dispatches to London said that in the last 48 hours the Russians had made important gains on the southwestern front, presumably between Orel and Kharkov, and were slashing a path through the complicated German defense system. Berlin dispatches told of heavy fighting in the Eastern Crimea.

Much Equipment Captured.

Youth, 17, Confesses Mysterious Slaying Of Girl in Theater

'Kissed Her and Shot Her, That's All,' Prisoner Tells Investigators

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—A young boy friend confessed today, Coroner A. L. Brodie said, that he fatally shot brown-haired Dorothy Broz, 17, in the balcony of the downtown Palace Theater, a mystery that had been more baffling than the one being shown on the screen.

Mr. Brodie named the slayer as Clarence McDonald, 17, of suburban Berwyn. He was picked up after police questioned a girl friend of the victim. She told investigators she knew of a theater date Dorothy had with McDonald.

The clue was obtained shortly after the identification of Dorothy's body in the morgue, where it had lain among the unknown dead for almost 11 hours after the shooting. Identification was made by an uncle who said Dorothy, also of Berwyn, was the daughter of a real estate man and that she had finished high school this month.

Police had obtained only a vague description of the youth, who stepped across Dorothy's body, sprinted up an aisle and escaped in the dark and confusion of the theater.

Young McDonald directed officials to a garage at his home in suburban Berwyn where the coroner said he had hidden the pistol with which the girl was killed. Later McDonald made a statement to the coroner and Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis.

"No Argument With Girl. 'We seen the picture and I kissed her and shot her—that's all,' the youth was quoted by Mr. Brodie as saying. He added he had had no argument with the girl, but said that he had been going with her "off and on—not steady" for about two years.

When Prosecutor Curtis asked the prisoner how the shooting happened he replied: "I don't know. It just happened." Dorothy, he continued, had felt the pistol in his pocket and had pleaded with him to give it to her, but he refused.

Walked Out Alley Door. After the shooting young McDonald said he ran to the upper balcony, mixed with the crowd, went to the first floor and then walked out an alley door, later taking an elevated train home, where he burned all of the photographs of himself. Subsequently he said he and a companion went to a moving picture in suburban Cicero.

Miss Elaine Mastney, 17, a senior at the Morton High School and friend of the victim, was named by the officials as the girl who gave the pistol to McDonald, who said he was afraid of the youth, quoting him as saying: "If I can't have you, nobody else will."

Honolulu Drunkenness Lower Than Before War

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, Feb. 25.—Arrests for drunkenness the first day liquor sales were permitted since the bombing of Pearl Harbor, December 7, were less than that of the ordinary week end before the war, police said today. Fifty civilians and five service men were arrested.

Conviction for intoxication may bring a penalty of up to $500 fine and imprisonment for six months under a new military government order.

Argentina to Abandon Representation of Italy

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 25.—The Argentine government has informed Italy that Argentina can no longer represent Italian interests in Mexico, it was learned reliably last night. Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla of Mexico disapproved of the arrangement, it was said.

Argentina also has been representing Italy in Central America and Japan in Asia Minor. The Argentine Foreign Office has refused an Italian request that two secretaries from the Italian Embassy in Rio de Janeiro be accredited to its Buenos Aires embassy. Brazil has broken relations with the Axis.

Attacking Flyer Swoops So Low He Snaps Pole

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—Pilot Officer J. J. Lynch, 24, of Alhambra, Calif., blasted a freight train with machine gun and cannon fire yesterday in a sweep over Nazi-occupied France—and came back with the piece of telephone pole jammed through the wing of his Spitfire.

Lynch, a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, said he dived down low to attack the train, which was on a siding, then swung up for his climb. As he did so his plane hit the pole, it snapped off and a piece of it drove a third of the way into the plane's wing.

"I rocked a bit after the collision, but I didn't realize it was such a near thing or that I was bringing home such a souvenir," Lynch said with a grin after landing. Another United States-born flyer with the R. C. A. F., H. F. Marting of Indianapolis, also took part in the raids. He reported he had strafed a column of Nazi soldiers with cannon and machine guns from a height of not more than 50 feet, and also had attacked another party of Germans on a truck.

had more than 1,000 planes in that area and had 40 to 50 submarines based on Manila and Singapore.

He said the Japanese Navy already was using Singapore as a base for wide-scale operations extending into the Indian Ocean, and that some of the damaged oil fields at Miri, in Sarawak on Northern Borneo, had been restored to production for the Tokyo war machine.

He said repair work on other oil fields in Northern Borneo also was progressing satisfactorily.

British Prepare to Move Subjects in East Indies

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—An official spokesman said today the consul general at Batavia, capital of the Netherlands Indies, had been arranging since last December for evacuation to Australia of British subjects in the East Indies, "particularly women and children who are not required locally for the war effort."

Soldiers Get 390 Days For F Street Pistol Play

Two soldiers from the Arlington Cantonment today were under sentence of 360 days for having concealed weapons as the result of an impromptu celebration Sunday night at a downtown corner.

The soldiers, Sgt. Joe Jacob Brutz, 23, and Pvt. George S. Gordos, 24, were taken into custody at Eleventh and F streets N.W. after having fired several shots into the air from 45-caliber revolvers. When arrested, police said, they each had two guns and about 70 rounds of ammunition.

Judge Walter J. Casey in Police Court yesterday also gave them an additional 25 fine or 30 days in jail for discharging the weapons.

'All-Wool' Labels May Disappear From Clothing

W. P. B. Sharply Cuts Allocation of Fiber For Civilian Use

By the Associated Press.
R. W. Guthrie, textile chief of the War Production Board, dropped a hint today that "all wool" labels might disappear from civilian clothing by the end of the year as the W. P. B. ordered drastic curtailment in use of high-grade new wool for civilian purposes.

Mr. Guthrie said an order would be issued soon requiring clothing manufacturers to blend substitute fibers—such as cotton and rayon—with new wool for civilian uses.

The W. P. B. reduced its wool allocations for civilian orders during April, May and June to 20 per cent of the amount used for worsted cloth during the comparable period last year and 10 per cent of the amount used for woolsens. The amount of carpet wool was reduced to 25 per cent of the amount used in the second quarter of 1941.

Additional supplies of mohair and low-grade wools will be made available to the industry to give it about the same quantity of mixed-grade wool and mohair as was allowed of new wool for January, February and March.

War developments in the Western Pacific vitally affecting this country's Australian wool supply, together with increasingly heavy demands of the armed services for uniforms, made the sharp reductions necessary, officials said.

They estimated that the allocation amounted to about 22,000,000 pounds of high-grade wool for the three months—or an annual rate of 86,000,000 pounds, compared with consumption last year of approximately 800,000,000 pounds.

Jap Planes Shot Down.

The same aircraft attacked an air-drome near Batavia and burned some drums of gasoline, the communiqué reported.

Attacks against naval objectives near Soerabaja, the United Nations fleet base, and on the air-drome near Bandoeng, headquarters of the United Nations Pacific command, caused damaged described officially as slight.

The communiqué said one Japanese fighter and one Japanese bomber definitely were shot down and the probable toll was three fighters and five bombers.

Japs Say United Nations Have 1,000 Planes in Pacific

TOKIO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 25 (AP)—Imperial headquarters asserted today Japanese air raiders had delivered a "mortal blow to the British and Dutch air forces" by destroying 68 Allied warplanes based in Java yesterday, but a navy spokesman said the United Nations had more than 1,000 planes in the Southwest Pacific.

From 40 to 50 submarines were reported authoritatively to be operating against Japanese shipping in the area.

Imperial headquarters announced blows at both air-dromes and shipping of Java, heart of the Netherlands Indies. The raiders also scored bomb hits on a light cruiser and two merchant ships, a communiqué said.

Domeki reported that the merchant ships, identified as 3,000-ton class vessels, and the cruiser were attacked in port at Batavia, Netherlands Indies capital.

Listed as the main targets of the Japanese bombers were airfields at Bandoeng, Buitenzorg, Ijlilitan and Batavia.

"One Japanese plane was seriously damaged," the announcement declared. Comdr. Itaru Tashiro of the naval press section acknowledged before the Central Co-operative Council that 26 Japanese transports had been sunk or damaged in the Southwest Pacific. Of 16 damaged, he said, 6 already have been repaired and put back in service.

Tashiro said Japan had expected even heavier losses because the Allies

Coleman Jennings Begins Fifth Year As Head of Chest

New Officers Include Wilbur J. Carr and Mrs. Eugene Meyer

Coleman Jennings, president of the Community Chest for the past four years, today began his fifth term in the office following annual elections of the Board of Trustees yesterday in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

Named as the new first vice president was Wilbur J. Carr, former Assistant Secretary of State. Other new officers named were Mrs. Eugene Meyer, third vice president, and Joseph D. Kaufman, fourth vice president.

Frank A. Birgfeld, former fourth vice president, was elected second vice president, and John F. Victory was named secretary for a third term. J. Clifford Folger, campaign chairman last year; Capt. Rhoda Miller of the Women's Bureau, and Mrs. Frederick Altemus were elected to the Executive Committee for two-year terms.

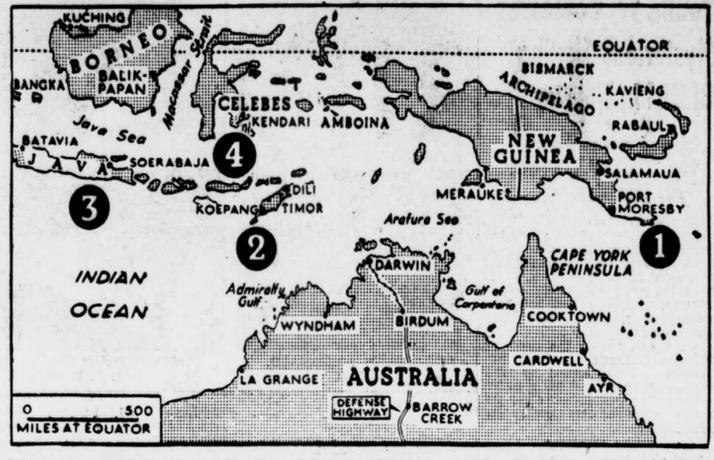

Warning of a "tough year ahead of us," Mr. Jennings promised his "very best efforts" for another term in the office.

Trustees learned yesterday that $50,000 set aside for war catastrophes following United States entrance into the war has been released for meeting emergencies faced by Chest agencies. The action was announced by Frank M. Gray, budget secretary and controller, who read the report of Col. William O. Tufts, Budget Committee head.

Herbert L. Willett, director of the Chest, reported that $1,070,800 has been collected in pledges made during last year's drive. This figure, he pointed out, compared with approximately $1,000,000 collected during the same period last year.

Mr. Willett warned, however, that some donors had lagged behind in making payment on their pledges, some as much as two years behind.

Savings Puts to New Uses. The Chest director said that money produced by savings last year in agency budgets will now help to meet demands for increased welfare services, rises in food prices and other costs, and "an unprecedented turnover in staff personnel."

JAPANESE TRYING TO CLOSE NET ABOUT AUSTRALIA, JAVA—Japanese raiders bombed Port Moresby (1) a second time, and their naval units were reported off Dili (2) in Timor, while parachute troops were reported landing at Koepang. Japanese transports in Dili Harbor were bombed. The Japanese hit hard at airports on Java (3) and claimed they had struck a "mortal blow." A Dutch communique said Allied aircraft sank two Japanese transports off Celebes (4).

Viereck

to "Huenaras" and to Dr. Dieckhoff were written on the same typewriter as letters previously placed in evidence by the prosecution and identified by another witness as having been written by Viereck.

It previously had been brought out that the manuscript by former Senator Holt was to have been published by Viereck's propaganda publisher, Flanders Hall, Inc., but that Mr. Holt withdrew it after it had been put into type. The manuscript consisted largely of clippings from the Congressional Record.

Just before Miss Gardner took the stand, Viereck's American publisher, Sigfrid Hauck, president of Flanders Hall, identified three letters which he said Viereck had signed with a peculiar signature he frequently used. This consisted of the word "Sylvester," followed by a square drawn with pen. Mr. Hauck explained that the word Viereck in German meant a square.

Miss Gardner saw the same. Miss Gardner said she also was familiar with that signature and that it had appeared in other communications she had intercepted.

"I have seen it on several occasions," the British official said. "Sometimes he signed it G. S., or George S., with a square, sometimes 'Sylvester.'" ported to have dropped four bombs on Salamaua, in Northeast New Guinea.

The Australians reported the Japanese also had reinforced their forces on the Dutch half of Timor, declaring that parachute troops had landed near Koepang, the capital.

Meanwhile, opening a parliamentary debate on the war situation, H. V. Evatt, Australian attorney general and minister of external affairs, told the House of Representatives that "direct thrusts against our homeland seem certain."

"When the invader comes," he said, "he will be fought here by a people who know they are not only defending their own homes but also are standing on one of the most critical battlegrounds in the history of mankind."

Offensive Action Urged. He declared it could not be argued that Germany would be defeated first and Japan later, since defeat for many would be postponed indefinitely if the Japanese successes continued.

Only Evatt asserted, adding that planning alone is not enough, but that these plans must be carried out ruthlessly.

Australia

An Australian broadcast heard by Columbia Broadcasting System said Mr. Evatt announced that the government of the commonwealth was considering exchanging Ministers with Soviet Russia.

2 Dutch Ships Taken Near Timor, Japs Claim. TOKIO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 25 (AP)—Japanese warships operating against Koepang, capital of Dutch Timor, have captured the Dutch freightship Tobelo and the tanker Sema, Domei news agency reported today.

Lloyd's register lists the Tobelo as a vessel of 983 tons of Dutch registry, but does not mention the Sema.

War Imposes New Duties, Volunteers of America Told. The Volunteers of America, along with other welfare organizations, are faced with three duties during the war, Col. Charles Brandon Booth, national secretary, told the local Advisory Board during its annual meeting last night in the Hamilton Hotel.

Those duties are regular peacetime work, special emergency service in connection with local defense programs and a responsibility to separate the individual seeking aid from the masses shown work in his field of welfare and social work, he said.

Officers of the local Advisory Board installed last night were J. B. Hess, chairman; Mrs. Ernest W. Howard, vice chairman; Mrs. Franklin G. Sartwell, secretary, and Maj. Walter O. Urey, treasurer.

Cites School Duties; Committee Named to Select Successor

Miss Grace B. Holmes tendered her resignation as president of the Takoma Park Citizens' Association last night, despite requests that she continue in office until the expiration of her second term.

Walter Irey was appointed to represent the association on the Salvage Committee.

L. R. Grabill reported as the member on the joint committee comprising four civic organizations in Takoma Park on the Brookings report on government for Montgomery County, Md.

The meeting was held in the Takoma Park Branch of the Washington Public Library.

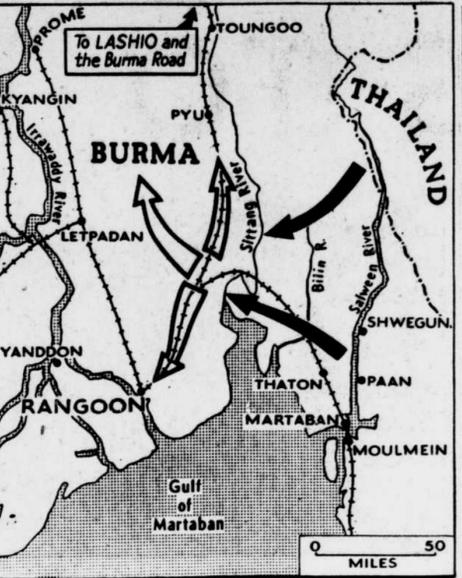

Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling Asks Divorce in Illinois

By the Associated Press.

WOODSTOCK, Ill., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," filed a divorce suit in the McHenry County Circuit Court yesterday against Albert W. Dilling, a consulting engineer.

She charged cruelty and infidelity. Her complaint alleged that her husband had "clandestine meetings" with a "Mrs. X" in 1922 and a "Mrs. C" in 1941.

The Dillings were married in 1918 and resided in Kenilworth, Ill. Mrs. Dilling's book lists organizations and individuals who, she charged, had aided the Communist cause in the United States. A year ago she led a group of women to Washington to protest against passage of the lease-lend bill.

BRITISH FALL BACK IN BURMA—British troops yesterday held positions on the west bank of the Sittang River, last natural barrier to advancing Japanese columns (black arrows) before the Burmese capital of Rangoon, 60 miles away. The Japanese were only 20 miles from the Rangoon-Lashio railroad which feeds the Burma road. Control of the rail line would permit the Japanese to drive north into Upper Burma or south into Rangoon, and also open the way for a drive toward India (light arrows).

Lunde, veteran of another sinking last May, said a torpedo hit the No. 2 hold without exploding 50 seconds before the two torpedoes crashed into the engine room.

Chief Lunde said "We dragged anchors all night waiting to see if there were any men in the water. When we found none we tried to start the motor. It failed. It was full of water."

Lifeboat Capsizes. "Then we tried to raise the sail and the lifeboat capsized. Everybody went in the heavy sea, lost our food, our water, our oars, our sail. One man was lost. The rest of us clung to the keel and righted the boat."

Two men clambered aboard to bail out, but waves poured water in as fast as it could be bailed. The other seamen boarded the boat, sitting on the gunwales or cross seats in icy water up to their waists.

The lifeboat capsized twice more that day. Lunde and the others repeatedly were washed overboard by huge waves.

Far East Messages Indicate Safety of Many Missionaries

59 Maryknollers Free; Adventists Believed Released in Philippines

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Messages announcing, for the most part, the safety and well-being of American missionaries in the Far East were released today by the Maryknoll (N. Y.) Missioners and the Foreign Missions Conference of North America.

First word, since Manila's fall, of the 59 Maryknoll missionaries in the Philippines was contained in a cablegram from the Rev. Robert E. Sheridan, superior of the Maryknoll fathers at Cebu. It said: "Every thing quiet here. All Maryknollers free."

A. W. Cormack of the general conference of Seventh-day Adventists received a cable without date or place of origin but which he believed to be from either Mindanao or Iloilo in the Philippines, indicating that missionaries there had been released from concentration camps.

The cable, signed by Forrest Pratt, said that Northern Luzon Academy was reported destroyed, and that other institutions were occupied but undamaged.

The Foreign Missions Conference also announced receipt of a message from Chungking asserting that Christian universities in occupied Chinese areas were closed, affecting several thousand faculty members and students.

A February 14 message from Dr. Herbert Liu in Chungking to the General Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists said missionaries in Shanghai "can still go about their work as usual" and that interned missionaries in Hong Kong were all safe.

The Rev. George R. Snyder, president of the Evangelical and Reformed Board's Mission in Yunnan, Huanan Province, China, advised his headquarters February 23 that the Rev. Karl H. Beck at Yochow (Yoyang) and Miss Mary E. Myers (N. Y.), of Holy Memorial Hospital, also at Yochow, were "unharmful, confined Myong compound." He added that no information was available on Dr. R. Pierce Beaver, a professor of Central China Union Theological Seminary, who was caught in Hong Kong on his way home.

Camp Show Fees Slated To Be Abolished March 8

Admission fees for soldiers, sailors and marines attending performances of Camp Shows, Inc., a subsidiary of the United Service Organizations, will be abolished after March 8, it was announced by the War and Navy Department yesterday.

The joint announcement stated that the new policy had been reached at a conference here of leaders in the entertainment field with War and Navy Department officials.

Nominal scale of admissions has been in effect since the organization was set up last November with four units of professional entertainers touring military cantonnments. Twenty-six units are now on tour.

Lucy Monroe Here to Arrange For Defense Bond Songfest

Soprano Recalls Thrill of Hearing Multitude at Water Gate Fete

The mellow scene last summer, when 30,000 persons gathered on the river bank at the Water Gate and sang in the moonlight while canoes drifted up out of the shadows is still a strong memory to Miss Lucy Monroe, the "star-spangled soprano."

"It will always remain with me," she said with a note of sincerity yesterday. She was here in connection with plans for the songfest to be sponsored by The Star at Riverside Stadium March 4 as an aid to the sale of Defense stamps and bonds.

Miss Monroe said she is thrilled over the forthcoming event mainly because of that gathering last summer.

"Whenever people have sung with me since then," she explained, "I have always compared them with the Water Gate. Nothing has come up to it as far as romantic setting and quality of singing by the people are concerned."

Gives Up Radio Work. Some of the romanticism involved in last summer's scene may be missing, but the quality of singing again is expected to be noticeable.

In the next 52 weeks, Miss Monroe will make 52 similar appearances throughout the Nation at the request of the Treasury Department and will sandwich between them an equal number of programs at Army and Navy camps.

In order to carry on this patriotic work she gave up her weekly part on radio's "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" last month.

With Miss Monroe leading, 40 songs will be sung at Riverside Stadium. Music will be furnished jointly by the Army, Navy and Marine Bands. Irving Berlin, the composer, and Barry Wood, baritone on radio's "Hit Parade," will be there to take part.

But one of the high lights of the evening will come when Miss Monroe, director of patriotic music for R. C. A.-Victor, sings the "Star Spangled Banner," the song she is believed to have sung oftener than any other person.

Since she was here last summer, she has sung it innumerable times—on 42 occasions since January 1 of this year by actual count. She sang it at the World Series, at the Louis-Baer fight, and 40,000 revelers in Times Square were silenced while she sang it there New Year's night.

Thrilled at Hospital. A thrill in connection with this song came recently, she recalled. She was on a program with Mr. Berlin at Baltimore and, when some one asked him to sing a medley of his songs, he objected.

"There is only one song that could be sung appropriately at this time in Baltimore," he said. "That's the greatest song of all—the 'Star Spangled Banner'—and right here is the young lady who sings it as no one else can."

Another thrill was in store for her that day. She sang at a crippled children's hospital and took care, because some of the children could not stand, to choose songs other than the National Anthem.

As she prepared to leave, the nurse questioned her about it. Miss Mon-

Silver Spring Lutherans Plan Lenten Services

The Calvary Lutheran Church, Silver Spring, Md., will hold special Lenten services at 8 o'clock tonight. It was announced yesterday by the Rev. Carl A. Koerber, pastor, who will discuss in his sermon Christ's second word on the cross: "Verily I say unto you, today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise."

Other Lenten services to be held today in nearby Maryland churches include:

At Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Mount Rainier, the Rev. Edwin E. Pieplow will speak at 8 p.m. on "The Disappointing Savior," while the Rev. C. F. Phillips will lead a Lenten meditation at the First Methodist Church of Hyattsville.

At 7:30 p.m. Dr. J. R. Edwards will preside over a quarterly conference at the Cabin John Methodist Church. The Rev. U. S. A. Heavener has announced that the congregation is invited to attend.

Lenten services will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Christ Lutheran Church of Bethesda and Chevy Chase. The Rev. Raymond A. Vogeley will preach on "Our Own Selves—so Great."

Ads to Put 'Punch' Into War Effort Urged on U. S.

Commerce and Treasury Departments Disagree, However, on Use

Experts of the Commerce and Treasury Departments are in disagreement over the place of advertising in the Nation's war effort, it was indicated today.

According to an article in Domestic Commerce Weekly, official publication of the Commerce Department, the British government has become England's largest advertiser, accounting for approximately 17 per cent of all the advertising expenditures in that country. Suggesting that the United States might well emulate the British example, the article estimated that a similar proportion of last year's advertising in the United States would mean a fund of approximately $340,000,000 for "advertising essential war needs."

World Curtail Ads. In preparing the new $7,000,000,000 revenue program, many Treasury experts are supporting a proposal that manufacturers exclusively engaged in war production should not be permitted to deduct advertising expenses for income tax purposes. The effect of this proposal, if incorporated into law, would be to curtail advertising by war manufacturers.

Citing the successful use of advertising space by the British government, the Commerce Department declares that "similar propaganda is vitally needed here."

"This may be a war of production," it said. "A machine never surrenders. It just quits operating. Men surrender, quit before the ultimate victory, because their minds falter, their wills fail, the machines which they operate are destroyed."

The article carried the title "Advertising Puts Punch Into Britain's War Effort." At the Commerce Department today, it was said that the article was written by John H. Morse, chief of the division of economic and commercial information of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Had to "Sell" Idea of War. The United States is an amateur at modern war, and so was Britain when the storm hit her shores, the article pointed out. "The peoples of both nations were slow to waken to the crisis headed their way," it continued. "England had to have Dun-

Subcontract System For Army to Replace Cost-Plus Basis

Building Program for Year to Equal That of Previous 12 Months

The War Department will replace the cost-plus-fixed-fee type of contract on $3,500,000,000 in construction projects scheduled for this year with a new policy permitting subcontracting by thousands of small construction firms throughout the country, it was announced today.

M. J. Madigan, special adviser to Undersecretary of War Patterson on construction work, revealed that the building program slated for completion this year is fully as large as that finished during last year, which included many of the larger Army cantonments.

While the cost-plus-fixed-fee basis will not be eliminated entirely, a new form of contract, described as the architect-engineer-management form, will replace it on all the larger projects running into several millions of dollars, Mr. Madigan said.

The cost-plus-fixed-fee system has drawn considerable fire in Congress, where charges of high cost and waste have been leveled as a result of investigations into cantonment construction.

Defends Use at Time. Without mourning its elimination, Mr. Madigan defended the cost-plus-fixed-fee system as the only method which could have accomplished the immense building program presented by demands for housing the selective service Army and erecting the many munitions plants. Since no plans were available on which to ask for lump-sum bids, in accordance with the peacetime War Department policy, the only method of getting contractors to undertake projects as large as some of the Army cantonments was the fixed-fee basis, he said.

The new architect-engineer-management policy will bring back into the construction picture thousands of small contractors who have been squeezed out under the cost-plus-fixed-fee basis, which cuts the fixed fee 75 per cent when subcontracting is done on a project. Rather than lose the major portion of the fee, contractors have rented equipment on a considerable scale in order to carry out the entire contract themselves, although their peacetime organization provided only for performing part of the contract and subletting the remainder.

Police Subcontracts. To eliminate the possibility of doubling profits by subcontracting, the new policy provides for approval by the War Department's district engineer of all subcontracts let in his area.

In the case of a general contractor awarded a munitions plant project, Mr. Madigan explained, the bid would be broken down into several parts. The general contractor would, for example, build only the main plant, while contracts for roads, water and sewers, electric lines and power plants and the homes for workers, if any are planned for the project, could be subcontracted to specialized firms in these fields.

These subcontracts, Mr. Madigan pointed out, approved by the War Department, will have the effect of giving a wider participation by local construction firms in the new construction program.

Navy Yard Seeking Women to Inspect Ordnance Parts

More women workers are wanted at the Navy Yard.

Faced with a shortage of male help, the Civil Service Commission today called for feminine trainees for ordnance-inspection work, including such items as fuses, detonators, primers and igniters.

The pay ranges from $3.92 to $4.88 a day, with time and one-half for overtime after 40 hours. Applicants must be in sound health. The principal basis for selection will be a mechanical aptitude test.

About 200 women already are employed at the local yard, and others are in service at ordnance establishments elsewhere.

kerque. We had to have Pearl Harbor to wake us up."

Even with bombers roaring overhead, it was necessary to "sell" to the British people the idea that they were very much in the war, the Commerce Department article declared.

"Untrained observers of human reaction might think that a few stories in the papers now and then about the need of saving food, or donating or selling binoculars to the fighting services, and other wartime needs, would be sufficient to cause the people to respond properly."

Colored Tenant Ordered From Restricted Area

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue has issued a judgment in District Court requiring Mrs. Sallie Broadway, colored, owner and occupant of 122 Adams street N.W., to vacate the premises within 60 days, holding that she is violating a restrictive covenant in that neighborhood against colored persons, it was learned today.

The jurist also issued a permanent injunction against Raphael G. Urciolo, white, real estate operator said to be the owner of the premises, and against Mabel Chamberlin, white, holder of the record title to the premises, to prevent them from selling or leasing the property to colored persons.

Attorneys Henry Gilligan and James A. Crooks represented the complaining property owners, Arthur S. Buppig, 138 Adams street N.W., and Miss Elizabeth E. Musson and Miss Sarah Musson, 147 Adams street N.W.

Place of U. S. Women in Wartime Outlined

The position of women in the war was outlined yesterday to Trinity College graduates and undergraduates by Anne Sarahon Hooley, a Trinity graduate and director of the women's division of the National Catholic Community Service.

Miss Hooley divided the women of America in wartime into three groups—those employed in war industry plants who are strangers to the community in which they work; those in the military and industrial areas either as family members or serving the families of soldiers, and those remaining at home.

Reception followed the address, after which the senior class members were the dinner guests of the alumnae association. The alumnae directors have been holding a two-day session.

Esso Dealers' air gauges have been checked for accuracy can and will help you to make your tires last! He knows that tires 30% under-inflated rob you of one-quarter of your possible mileage. One mile in four! And a recent check showed that nine out of every ten air standards are inaccurate!

So your Esso Dealer has had his air gauge tested and, if necessary, adjusted to give the exact pressure needed. Further, he has a special chart showing the car-maker's tire pressure recommendations for your car. And he'll be glad to give you a ready reference memo card, which shows proper pressures for your tires, both front and back.

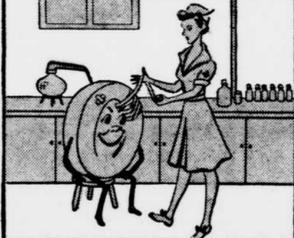

Here are other services that lengthen tire mileage:

SWITCH WHEELS EVERY 3,000-5,000 MILES. If you have no spare, move front tires straight back and shift rear tires to opposite sides in front.

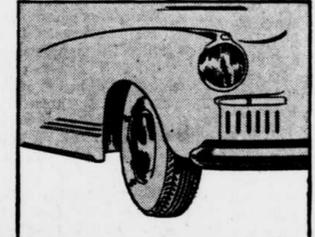

CHECK WHEEL ALIGNMENT PERIODICALLY. Watch for uneven or spotty wear. Tires out of line literally drag sidewise at every revolution.

REPAIR SMALL CUTS. Even a tiny cut can work right through and ruin a tire. Have tires examined frequently and repaired.

KEEP WHEELS AND TIRES IN BALANCE. Whenever tire and tube are removed from rim, have wheel balanced again to avoid uneven wear.

BE SURE TIRES AND TUBES ARE PROPERLY MOUNTED. Use proper tools to prevent damaging tire bead or pinching the inner tube.

Chat Gives Reassurance On Fleet

Picture Differs From View of Churchill

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Judging by comments of the man on the street, President Roosevelt's optimistic assurances concerning the future and his emphatic repudiation of the pessimism that grew up as a result of the attack on Pearl Harbor are apparently what the American people like to hear.

David Lawrence.

Morale building is important but if the tactics of artificially created impressions are to be successfully maintained and critics are to be deprived of the basis for many of their comments, it will become necessary for the American Government politely to ask Prime Minister Churchill to refrain from making speeches to the House of Commons discussing the conditions of the American battle fleet in the Pacific.

It will be recalled that when the Prime Minister returned from his American visit of December he spoke of the American battle fleet in the Pacific as "crippled" temporarily. Last week, in explaining the fall of Singapore, he told the British people in a broadcast heard in the United States:

"By an act of sudden and violent surprise... the shield of sea power which was protecting the fair lands and islands of the Pacific Ocean was for the time being—but only for the time being—dashed to the ground. Into the gap thus opened rushed the invading armies of Japan... the overthrow for a while of British and United States sea power was like the breaking of some mighty dam..."

Roosevelt's Version. After hearing the above on February 15, the American people were given in a fideside chat of February 23 this version by President Roosevelt:

"Of all the combatant ships based on Pearl Harbor—battleships, heavy cruisers, light cruisers, destroyers and submarines only three were permanently put out of commission. "Very many of the ships of the Pacific Fleet were not even in Pearl Harbor. Some of those that were, were hit very slightly and others that were damaged have either rejoined the fleet by now or are still undergoing repairs. When those repairs are completed the ships will be more efficient fighting machines than they were before."

"This certainly doesn't sound like a "crippled" fleet or a fleet that has been put out of commission for very long, and it is reassuring news because it evidently means the Japanese have a surprise in store for them in the speed with which our Pacific Fleet is to be restored to the fighting strength it had prior to Pearl Harbor, with exception, of course, of the three ships "permanently" put out of commission.

Withholds Dates. Just how long the damaged ships will be undergoing repairs is important military information and that's why the President did not disclose any specific dates. But the tenor of his address was to the effect that the damaged ships would soon be back on the fighting line. If they are not, and his prophecy proves wrong, the whole war will be that time have taken a turn in so many other directions that it will only be of academic importance to debate whether the President's fideside chat of February 23, 1942 was or was not overoptimistic.

The President, incidentally, did a superb job in hammering away at Axis propaganda and also in pointing out the importance of big distances and shipping to the future trend of this war. His discussion of our naval strategy will, of course, stir up plenty of debate among the naval experts. He gave the impression that for 40 years our basic strategy had been not to defend the Philippines and that Japanese encirclement had prevented us recently from doing anything different than we have done. Some naval experts have insisted that the battle fleet should never have been based at Pearl Harbor, that a scouting fleet should have been maintained in the Far East to protect Hawaii against the very thing that happened, and that the American Government should never have looked passively on the fortification of the Japanese mandated islands or on the deal between the Vichy government and Japan whereby Indo-China was occupied by the Japanese.

Roberts Report Cited. The Roberts report says about our basic naval strategy:

"At our hearings reference was made to what has been known—that there are, and have been, diverse views of national policy respecting the basing of the entire United States Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor. We feel that the national policy in this matter is one that has been decided by those responsible for such decisions and that it is not in our province... to discuss any such topic."

Mr. Roosevelt gives the impression that the basic naval strategy has been settled for many years, but in the last nine years that Hitler has been in power there have been many prominent naval men who have tried in vain to get our Government to revise its strategy. Some day what the Roberts report failed to discuss will be discussed, but this is not the time for such debate, as the important job is to win the war with the tools available and with the strategists who have command of our destinies.

Red Cross Graduates 28 In Nurses' Aide Class

The largest nurses' aide class in its history—28 volunteer workers—has been graduated by the District Chapter of the Red Cross and its members have gone to hospitals and other posts.

Among the members of the class who went into Red Cross service this week were Deloise Emmons, daughter of Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaii Department. Others in the chapter's largest class were Ruth Hurley, daughter of the former Secretary of War, and Mrs. Gerald P. Nye, wife of Senator Nye.

Due to pressure of war work the traditional "nurse capping" ceremony was not held.

Stalin's Order to Red Army Is Interpreted As a Stern Warning to the Allies

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

Stalin's order of the day to the Red Army cannot be otherwise interpreted than as a stern warning to the Allies. One must consider the circumstances under which it was made—in a nation which has conducted the only brilliant war against Hitler.

No other than Gen. MacArthur testifies to this. In a greeting to the Red Army he said: "In all my lifetime I have participated in a number of wars and have witnessed others, as well as studying in great detail the campaigns of outstanding leaders of the past. In none have I observed such effective resistance to the heaviest blows of a hitherto undefeated enemy followed by a smashing counter-attack. The scale and grandeur of this effort marks it as the greatest military achievement in all history."

The effort of the Russians has been greater than that of all the other Allies combined. Their sacrifices, in life and property, have no parallel. The manner in which they have mobilized the entire nation for resistance and offensive is unique.

And now, what does Stalin say? First of all, he is astonishingly cool and dry. He expresses confidence that he can liberate the Russian soil. But he does not insist on the necessity to go farther. He dryly expresses the hope and expectation that the Hitler regime will be liquidated as the result of this war. But the only condition of Russian victory is that the Germans should get out of Russia.

Stalin does not deny his agreement to make a separate peace with Hitler. But he does not promise to continue an offensive war, beyond the Soviet Union. He sees that Hitler is gathering together a million Hungarians, Rumanian and Bulgarian troops. But the United States has not yet declared war on these countries whose armies are fighting our major ally in the field.

The isolationist version of waging war—not yet abandoned by many people in our own State Department, and not abandoned by Britain—until this latest shakeup in London—creates and justifies an isolationist version of waging war by Russia.

Let us look at this whole business of appeasement, still going on among ourselves—through Mr. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, if you want an example. And let us compare it with relations with Russia before the war began. Russia had an alliance with France and the Little Entente, and was prepared to fight until it.

It was broken by the same Frenchmen who are now trying their fellow-nationals at Riom for losing the war. For the consequence was not, as they hoped, the bleeding to death of Germany and Russia to the advantage of the west.

The consequence was a disastrous defeat for France, while Russia adopted isolationism. If now any one is again going to appease, the Russians are in a better position than we are. First, they have proved to be stronger. Second, their war is the most unpopular war with the German people.

Third, the Russians understand psychological warfare. Stalin asserts that he is not afraid of the German masses, and does not desire to destroy Germany as a state or as a people. He therefore brings the greatest menace to Germany, while, at the same time, he offers the greatest hope. And in political warfare, therefore, no less than in military, the Russians alone have conducted a grand strategy, or indeed, they are the only people who have conducted any strategy at all.

British Reply to Reality. Now, Britain is responding to a reality. It is obvious that Sir Stafford Cripps has informed Britain both of the strength and the trends in Russia.

Britain draws the consequences and makes a clean sweep of the whole clique who have still had a toe hold in the door—from the Archbishop of Canterbury down. Britain has decided to win the war together with Russia. Have we? We are contemplating whether Hamilton Fish can be renominated for Congress. Stalin has very fine ears. He hears what is happening everywhere.

This war cannot be won by manipulations and agreements. Agreements hold or do not hold, according to the disposal of the instruments of power. Stalin has no intention of sharing the fate of Spain, which was manipulated into ruin.

Stalin's reference to the Russian "war of liberation," as contrasted with "imperialistic wars," may also be taken either as a backhand thrust or as warning. It is probably both. Our strength in the Far East—and Russia's strength—is not that we are defending white supremacy in the Orient, but that we are defending China against an aggressor. And we need the help of India.

Although the interests of India certainly do not lie with Japan, neither—they feel—do they lie with the maintenance of the rule of the West. Russia's doctrine and practice of racial equality and national independence is today a political weapon of immense power.

The influence in the whole Orient is divided between the western powers and Russia. If our alliance is a sincere one, we can pool that influence. If we do not, we shall lose it either to Japan or Russia. As things are now, it is Russia, and not we, who is appearing in Asia as the prophet and defender of national liberty.

There is another restriction in Stalin's speech, which is an offer to the West. He is waging a war of national liberation, he says—not a war of social revolution. We are being given a choice—to fight with Russia for her liberation and for our survival and to mean business. Otherwise Russia will fight for her own liberation, and let us take care of ourselves. The Great Game of Politics

Mrs. Roosevelt Pictured as Using Age-Old Political Retreat From O. C. D. Job

By FRANK R. KENT.

Mrs. Roosevelt would have been better advised to have omitted the Sunday night radio defense of her recent O. C. D. activities which resulted in her being forced out of a position in that organization into which she had thrust herself and for which she clearly was unqualified. It seems to show that this lady does not know when to leave well enough alone.

Frank R. Kent.

She had been permitted without comment to say that she had resigned voluntarily in order that a fine program should not be handicapped by personal attacks upon her, when the program was not fine and when no personal attack had been made. And James Landis had been permitted without comment to say in accepting her resignation that she had done immensely valuable work, which was not true, and that every farm and home in the country was impressed with her genius and nobility, which was not true either. And the newspapers which had been foremost in pointing out the obvious reasons Mrs. Roosevelt should retire bent over backward to praise her warm heart and humanitarian endeavors when she did retire. So far as known, not a single unpleasant word came from them—quite the contrary.

But Mrs. Roosevelt was not content to leave it at that. On Sunday she felt it necessary to occupy the 10 minutes, for which she is paid $2,000, in name calling and self-praise. She berated her critics, referred to them as "unenlightened men" whom she pictured as favoring the "privileged few" and against the downtrodden many, whose champion she asserted herself to be. In brief, she cornered precisely the way every politician has reacted against criticism of his acts since politics became a profession. The long accepted political device for such a situation is to abuse the critics, assume an air of injured righteousness, and make the age-old demagogic class appeal to the many as against the few. Politicians have been doing that for centuries. It was never done more according to the rules than on Sunday night.

Nothing has better illustrated Mrs. Roosevelt's ability to miss the point. Whether she misses it because her belief in her own wisdom is so great that she cannot see it, or whether she just closes her mind to the facts, there is no way to know. Some think one thing; some the other. The facts in this case are very simple. Mrs. Roosevelt was not forced out of the O. C. D. by "unenlightened men" instigated by the "privileged few." That allegation does not really make sense. She was forced out because revelation of the things and individuals she was sponsoring in the O. C. D. created an extraordinary wave of public irritation and resentment all over the country.

Reflection of this feeling in Congress was such that neither her continuance nor that of her dancing and moving picture protege was possible. In consequence of this feeling, sales of Defense bonds fell off sharply, discontent with the Government spread and the O. C. D., which really is an important agency, was in general disrepute. People generally were exasperated by the expenditure of their money at a time like this on what they felt were frills and foolishness. It is too bad that Mrs. Roosevelt so greatly misconceives her position. It is a pity that she apparently is determined to continue in a defiant way, protruding herself into controversial issues and taking part in class struggles.

Within the last week she has used her column to defend the congressional self-pensioning bill, concerning which the public was properly indignant, and to criticize rejection of the $300,000,000 plan of the Federal Government to take over from the States the job of caring for those temporarily unemployed because of the conversion of factories from peace to war basis. In previous columns she had indicated her hostility to the Byrd committee's recommendation for curtailment of the N. Y. A. and the W. P. A. On the air, in print and personally she has done much to encourage labor to strike, as witness her recent picket-line performance with her communistically inclined young friend, Joseph Lash; her address to the Brooklyn strikers and her membership in the C. I. O. Newspaper Guild union.

Not a Trivial Case. There are, in fact, few public issues or measures upon which Mrs. Roosevelt does not undertake to guide, instruct and advise the American people. She covers a wider field than any one else in the country—and she is very highly paid for it, not because her views are valuable, but because she is the wife of the President of the United States. It is unpleasant to criticize Mrs. Roosevelt, first, because she is a lady; second, she is undoubtedly a good woman whose motives are all high; third, because she is the wife of the President, and, finally, because, with the world at war, it may seem trivial to take time and space to discuss what she does and what she says.

Actually, of course, it is not trivial at all. Actually, it is a pretty important matter. For Mrs. Roosevelt is an influential woman with a large and credulous following. She also has the capacity of irritating millions of her fellow citizens. It is impossible to deny that her activities in the O. C. D. diminished national unity and created a lot of bad feeling. Her disposition is to blame this on the "privileged few" and "unenlightened men" who wanted to attack her personally. No one wants to attack her personally. Personally she is an admirable woman, but politically she is anything but helpful to the common cause at this time, though no one can convince her of that. However, if she is going to keep on showing her sympathy for strikers, if she is going to snipe at the rearmament program, and if she is going to continue to stir up class feeling by harping on the "privileged few" as against the downtrodden many, what she says cannot be ignored because it is distinctly damaging. It is to be regretted that her recent unpleasant experience has apparently left her in a truculent state of mind.

Nazi Fleet Expected to Launch Campaign To Disrupt Our Supply Lines to Europe

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

Concern is being expressed in responsible Washington quarters because maintaining lines of communication between the United States, Britain and Russia is likely to be difficult in the next few weeks.

Unless reports from Europe are entirely misleading, the German Navy plans to start spectacular raids very soon in the North and South Atlantic. It is believed that the German high seas fleet will put to sea shortly—probably after the Mediterranean campaign begins—in order to disrupt throw at least 90 per cent of their naval strength into the Atlantic. The Mediterranean lends itself more to air operations. Furthermore, the Italian fleet, despite its lack of fighting spirit, will attempt to take care of British naval forces between Gibraltar and Suez. The Italian fleet will be rejuvenated, it is believed, by the addition of a number of surface and undersea vessels of the French fleet.

Daily reports from France and adjacent countries seem to indicate that the French have definitely made up their minds to throw in their lot with the Nazis. Some French naval officers who could not be completely relied on have been retired. The remaining officers, according to careful surveys made by our own people in France, are fully devoted to Admiral Darlan, either for personal or ideological reasons.

U. S. Forces Inadequate. Britain has added a number of battleships to her squadrons, but they do not compensate for the losses suffered in heavy ships or for those under repair. The battleships and heavy cruisers being repaired either in this country or in England will be ready for action in a few months but, it is feared, not by

On the basis of the improved production capacity of the three most important navy yards in the Reich and those in Danzig, Holland and France, it is assumed that the Nazis now have some 300 submarines of all types. This means they can operate at least 100 such vessels all the time.

Sea Lanes Threatened. The increased activity of U-boats off our shores and especially along the Atlantic Coast of South America indicates that a large number of ocean-going submarines are already on active service. By adding to this category the German navy ships—surface ships—in which category the Germans are known to have at least three battleships, four cruisers and two plane carriers—the Nazis could seriously endanger the sea lanes along which supplies are carried to Britain and Russia.

We in the United States of necessity think along lines of long-term policy, for it will take many months before our production is sufficiently speeded up to match the Axis. The Nazis, on the other hand, are thinking in terms of quick and immediate blows and, like the Japanese, are not sparing either men or material to bring about a quick victory.

the time the Nazis start their major drive in the Atlantic. Our naval forces in the Atlantic are excellent but insufficient to meet the threat from such vessels as the Tirpitz and her sister ships. Furthermore, it is not likely that the Nazis will attempt to give battle in traditional fashion but will employ their warships as raiders to blast our smaller vessels sent on convoy duty. In all probability they will travel in packs in order to avoid such encounters as that in which the powerful pocket battleship Graf Spee was lost in the South Atlantic and will attempt to steer clear of such ships as our new North Carolina and Washington.

Washington hopes the British will be able to spare some of their heavy ships from Mediterranean duty to augment existing American-British naval forces in the Atlantic and to cope with the menace of a Nazi naval campaign which might interfere most seriously with assistance to Britain and Russia.

Navy to Make Pilots 'Tough Gents'

By HENRY McLEMORE.

ATHENS, Ga.—In their recent announcement of a program whereby they will train 30,000 pilots each year, the Navy Department's Bureau of Aeronautics planned to pull it into its plan to "meet the Axis menace." According to the plan, and I first heard of it here in the land of sorghum and Sunkwich, the Navy will select four universities throughout the country where it will send its neophyte pilots for an indoctrination course. These universities will be known as reception centers, and the University of Iowa have already been chosen.

To these universities will be going men, hand-picked physical specimens, to the number of 625 a month. And what they will get there is the story.

Over these schools, which will turn over many of the buildings and instructors, the fledgling aviation pilots will get the customary courses in mathematics, navigation, radio and all the others necessary to making a fighting ship out to sea and bringing it home again.

But the part of the program that appeals to me was pointed out by Lt. Ted Mann, the former publicist for Duke University's football endeavors and now public relations officer at the Atlanta naval air base.

The young eagles are going to get a course in physical training that will make them the toughest gents ever to sit at the controls of a ship. Not only the physical education stuff that calls for wand drills, swinging here and there on horizontal bars, breathing deep, and standing up and squatting down after the manner of children playing squat tag. The young pilots will be put to such tasks as marching 40 miles a day, digging ditches, felling trees and clearing away forests.

And that's not all, either. Under the so-called "toughening process" will come other training such as instruction in jujitsu (spelling not guaranteed), wrestling, boxing and plain, old-fashioned pier 1, barroom, street-corner rough-and-tumble fighting.

It is this course in rough-and-tumble, every-man-for-himself fighting that does my heart good. I have maintained for a good while now that the day of chivalry and the Alphonse and Gaston stuff was gone from war. And that to meet the Axis brigands on an equal footing our soldiers must be taught to get in there and swing from the floor. And may the toughest gent win.

One of the parts of the new naval training will be the art of "liquidating" an opponent by physical means. Just what that word, liquidate, I would not know, but I do know that liquidate is a powerful word.

The statement by Lt. Tom Hamilton, who will head the physical training side of the new program, is very enlightening. Lt. Hamilton, a two-fisted fellow who used to coach the Army football team, said, in effect:

"We know the Axis powers train their men to fight by any method, fair or foul, particularly the latter. While the Navy would much prefer to follow the principles of sportsmanship in warfare, we are going to train our pilots to fight by any means, whatever they may be. It would be unfair to our men not to have them ready, able and willing to fight back in exactly the way the fight is carried to them."

As we got it, the youngsters for this new program, all of whom will be especially selected for the job, will start moving to the four universities within the next few weeks. Prominent figures in the sports world already have been called to handle the training of them.

Following their indoctrination, these physically perfect and "toughened" youngsters will be moved to flight elimination bases, one of which is in inland Atlanta, to start their actual flying. And then, if successful at these, will move on to advanced bases to get the final training preparatory to moving against the Japs, the Germans and the Italians, if there are any of Mussolini's boys still fighting.

The civilian population of this country could well take a tip from the Navy's new "hardening process." It is high time all of us started conditioning ourselves for the tough and mean days that are ahead. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Mayflower Descendants Plan Party Tomorrow

The Society of Mayflower Descendants in the District will hold a card party at the D. A. R. Chapter House, 1732 Massachusetts avenue N.W., tomorrow evening to raise money for the purchase of historic Winslow House in Plymouth, Mass. The local society is now seeking to raise the quota assigned it for the cause, which is known as the Winslow House fund.

Card games will follow a brief meeting of the society scheduled for 8 p.m. Frank B. Steele, Fund Committee chairman, and Meredith B. Colket, jr., entertainment chairman, are in charge of the affair, assisted by Maurice H. Thatcher, governor of the society, and other officials. Mrs. Wales C. Brewster, assistant secretary of the society, is in charge of tickets. Her address is 3015 North Second street, Arlington, Va.

The General Society of Mayflower Descendants already has made a contract of purchase for the Winslow House. The structure will be preserved as a Plymouth landmark and as a rendezvous for the various branches of the organization.

Signs on Buses and Cabs To Warn of Careless Talk

Acting at the request of the War Department, the District Public Utilities Commission late yesterday authorized Washington taxicabs, streetcars and buses to carry the following warning signs, beginning tomorrow:

"Don't Kill Americans By Careless Talk!" "Never Discuss Military or Naval Information in a Public Vehicle." Commission Chairman Gregory Hankin explained the agency's order was not a command that such signs be carried, that the commission was depending on taxi operators to post them as a patriotic duty. He added that officials of the Capital Transit Co. already had agreed to donate the necessary space for the signs on streetcars and buses.

Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes. While you're waiting, why not buy some Defense Bonds?

Gestapo Payroll Of $16,000 to Aid War on Axis

Representing an unwitting contribution of Adolf Hitler to the war against the Axis, a check for $16,387.90 will be turned over to the Treasury today by Attorney General Biddle.

The check covers the payroll of the Rev. Gerald F. Dillon, dean of the New York branch of the German Gestapo, recently seized by F. B. I. agents. The money to be turned over to the Treasury is sufficient to buy and equip two armored combat cars.

The money was quietly slipped into New York over a period of nearly a year, and was supposed to pay the wages and running expenses of a group of Nazi agents, the Department of Justice explained. "Instead it found its way into the hands of the F. B. I. The money was held in a New York bank pending the conviction of 33 spies for whom it was intended."

C. U. Dean a Navy Chaplain Catholic University announced today the granting of leave of absence to the Rev. Gerald F. Dillon, dean of men since 1939, to allow him to accept appointment as a Navy chaplain with the rank of lieutenant. The Rev. Dr. Edgar A. Lang, a student proctor, will act in Father Dillon's place. Father Dillon will be honored at a banquet in the university dining hall tomorrow.

Mrs. R. N. Simms Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

Mrs. Robert N. Simms, who died Monday at her home, 1427 Q street N.W., will be buried tomorrow in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery after funeral services at Nineteenth Street Baptist Church. She would have been 71 today.

Mrs. Simms, one of the 12 daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. Marshall Whittingham of Markham, Va., was a deaconess of Nineteenth Street Church, of which she was a member for 51 years, and treasurer of the Household of Ruth, serving also as supervisor and treasurer of its juvenile department.

She is survived by her husband, Robert N. Simms; a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Hall; a son, Robert N. Simms, jr., of New York city; three sisters, Mrs. Martha Logan, Mrs. Willie Milles of Marshall, Va., and Mrs. Julia Ashton of Elkins Park, Pa., and a brother, James G. Whittingham.

Funeral Rite Tomorrow For John L. Wirt, 77

John Loughborough Wirt, 77, who died Monday at his home, 3726 Oliver street N.W., will be buried in Fort Lincoln Cemetery tomorrow after funeral services at 1:30 p.m. at the John R. Wright funeral home, 1337 Tenth street N.W.

Mr. Wirt, native of Washington, was burser of the Carnegie Institution of Washington for more than 25 years. He retired six years ago, and had been in failing health for the last eight months. In his youth Mr. Wirt was a member of the Capital Bicycle Club.

He married Lena O. Stearns, daughter of Dr. S. S. Stearns of Washington, and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on his birthday last November. Besides his widow, he leaves a brother, Dr. William Douglas Wirt.

Former Governor Dies

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 25 (AP).—Former Gov. A. H. Longino, 87, died at a hospital here yesterday following a lengthy illness. During his administration between 1900-04, the new State Capitol was constructed at a cost of $1,000,000, all of which was paid in cash.

Federal Agents Move Into California Areas Forbidden to Japanese

German-Born Countess, Wife of Arms Maker, Seized in Florida

In the wake of a Nation-wide series of raids Monday night and yesterday in which upward of 75 enemy aliens were taken into custody Federal agents today moved into 46 forbidden areas in California with orders to arrest or investigate any aliens remaining.

In the round up yesterday, conducted by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in cooperation with local authorities, two members of the Florida Gold Coast set were picked up along with lesser lights at Dallas, New Orleans and Paterson, N. J.

Twenty-nine Germans, Italians and Japanese were taken into custody in the series of 80 raids in Florida.

While the names were withheld by Special Agent R. G. Danner of the F. B. I., it was reported from Orange, N. J., that Federal agents at Palm Beach had seized the former Countess Erica von Haacke of Germany, now the wife of Abraham G. H. Reimold, president of the Woburn Dressing Co. of Kearny, N. J., which is operating 60 per cent on war work. The Reimolds were wintering in Florida. The Italian—a man—also was understood to be a member of the nobility.

Cameras, weapons, ammunition and radios were taken in the New Jersey and Florida raids.

Mop Up in California. The mop-up in California was directed primarily at ridding strategic areas of Japanese, for whom last midnight was the evacuation deadline. Only the aged and bedridden were permitted to stay and the Associated Press reported that others, some 8,000 in all, had to leave their homes and businesses in the areas or face internment.

Curfew areas covering nearly one-fourth of the State affected thousands of other aliens. They must have special permits to visit or work in these zones between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A mass migration of Japanese farm workers to California's inland areas and even to other States was forecast. Operators of extensive agricultural properties and sugar refineries told Government agencies they could use 20,000 Japanese workers because of the expected shortage of other labor.

"They are all seasonal jobs, and it offers no complete solution of the alien problem," said Richard M. Neustadt, regional director of defense, health and welfare. "The only ones that would be wanted are agricultural laborers and thousands of the enemy aliens are not farm workers."

Shortage Called Acute. The evacuation of alien Japanese and Italians from the farms in the San Francisco Bay area was reflected in soaring prices on the San Francisco vegetable market. Celery, for instance, was up to $3 a crate as against $2 last year at this time. Shipments were down nearly 40 per cent.

"The shortage already is acute, and it's going to get worse," said one produce man.

The apprehension of the former Countess von Haacke was disclosed at Orange by her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. G. Reimold, who said the arrest followed simultaneous raids at the Reimold homes in Orange and Florida. The Orange raid, according to F. B. I. Agent Danner, netted two cameras, a gun, literature and other matter.

Tells of Countess' Sentiment. J. Edward Good of Nyack, N. Y., vice president of the Woburn company, said there that in 1939 the former countess said to him: "I am an American now. I realized when I married an American that I was automatically giving up German citizenship."

"That was her sentiment then and I am sure it is the same today," Mr. Good said.

He added: "The F. B. I. went through a number of our records and books and found we have not had any dealings with enemy aliens or questionable transactions whatever."

The Reimolds were married in London April 28, 1937, after he sailed from New York and she flew from East Africa for the ceremony.

The countess, whose full name is Erica Eva Matria Johanna, is the daughter of Erica Huberta, Countess von Haacke, nee Imperial Countess von Merveidt, Baroness zu Lembeck of Castle Altwarthau, Silesia. The 70-room castle is said to be 500 years old and the family dates back even further.

Castle Near Czech Border. In 1938 Mrs. Reimold visited her mother at the castle, which is near the Czech border. Her mother and cousin, Countess Desi von Kaiserlingen, spent more than a year in this country and returned to Germany last year.

The elder Mrs. Reimold, an invalid, said she was in the house when the raid was made.

She said she was convinced of her daughter-in-law's innocence.

"Erica was planning to take out citizenship papers. She lost her citizenship in Germany at the time of her marriage and has no one left in Germany but her mother."

Oil-Burning Equipment Being Converted for Coal

By the Associated Press.

Deputy Petroleum Co-ordinator Ralph K. Davies disclosed to a congressional committee today that orders for the conversion of industrial oil-burning equipment to coal, gas and other fuels, wherever feasible, have been submitted to the War Production Board for approval.

Testifying before the House Interstate Commerce Committee investigating the oil situation, Mr. Davies said the action was prompted by what he described as a growing petroleum shortage along the Eastern seaboard and in the Pacific Northwest.

Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes previously told the committee the conversion, wherever possible, would be necessary because of the sinking of oil tankers and an acute shortage of transportation facilities.

For the future, Mr. Davies could foresee "many and even more serious difficulties" and he commented that "optimistic assurances are totally unwarranted."

Blame Hitler, Hirohito, and Benito!

... Don't Blame Your Grocer!

AS YOU KNOW, our Government is rationing tin beginning March 1st.

So that means for a time—after present warehouse stocks are exhausted—some of the famous Heinz "57" Varieties will not be available in their familiar tin containers. However, stocks are large enough so that your "57" favorites will probably be on most grocers' shelves for several months at least... and after that we have every confidence they'll still be there—but newly packaged.

However, if there should be a period when a few are missing, don't blame your grocer! And don't blame your Government!

Pin full responsibility on Hitler, Hirohito and Benito—and be glad that less tin for us means more bullets and shells for America's guns!

After all, there's no need to fear a shortage of essential foods. America's reserves and resources are too great for that. Unlike most warring nations, we must sacrifice temporarily only our modern, convenient way of enjoying some of the things we like to eat.

For instance, most of the famous "57" Varieties of Heinz quality foods are not affected. There will be no scarcity of the Heinz Baby Foods that are helping the busy mothers give their children the wholesome, nutritious foods young bodies need. Heinz Tomato Juice... Heinz Ketchup and Chili Sauce, Pickles, Relishes, Vinegars, Jellies, Peanut Butter, Apple Butter—all these and many more of the "57" are ready to help you keep right on setting the finest table in the world.

What about the future?

Progress due to research helps us face it with confidence. Our Research Laboratories have expanded steadily, until now they have twice the personnel and equipment they had during World War I. And because we have been working constantly on the development of new packages, new products and new methods, this crisis does not find us unprepared!

The House of Heinz steadfastly adheres to its established principle of maintaining, and endeavoring to improve, the high quality of its products.

Now or years from now, when you see the Heinz keystone label you can be sure that it guarantees wholesome, delicious foods of finest quality. That has been true for more than 73 years and will always be true.

Until all this is over and we can go about our daily work in peace and security, we know you will cooperate with your grocer and with your Government in the biggest job of all—winning the war!

Interiors Lost All Individuality in Alarming Era of Victorian Decoration

Furniture Was Terribly Ornate and Overdone, Lacking in Artistry

In the Present Day, America Has Come to See the Value Of Workmanship, Design

By Margaret Nowell

America jogged along for nearly a hundred years thoroughly satisfied with the homes and the furniture of the 18th century. And well they might, for the world never has been able to produce anything any more useful or more perfectly designed. There were changes, of course, but these changes were in the form of variations on the same theme, or fashions, rather than definite trends. It was not until after the Civil War when "big business" brought large sums of money into the hands of an entirely different class of people that there came the new and alarming blooming of the lush flower of Victorianism. Why this happened in our own country is comparatively easy to understand, but the flowering of a great deluge of middle class bad taste in all the other parts of the world hardly can be blamed on one Victoria.

Unlike most other furniture eras, this one did not evolve slowly, but seemed to spring up with mushroom rapidity. Furniture factories were partly responsible for this. No longer was it necessary for furniture to be finished and fitted by hand; machines could do it much better and more quickly and if something in the way of individuality and artistry was lost in the process, it was simply gone and no one seemed to mind. In fact, individuality was not fashionable. The same pattern was turned out in carload lots, and the person who could afford a whole suite of matching pieces, upholstered in plush for the front parlor, with matching plush draperies over lace curtains, could become fashion news overnight. Everything was ornate and overdone, everything was lush, lavish and expensive, and on top of this everything was draped, be tasseled and be spangled until it would seem impossible to have finished the housekeeping task of cleaning and dusting one day before they must be started all over again.

Out of this period we have salvaged a few good things, however. The nice, curved-arm, small chairs and sofas which were originally covered with horsehair are now more comfortably upholstered in velvet, and these, combined with simpler pieces, are graceful and attractive in present-day homes. With upholstery and fussy accessories removed, they have a "homey" comfort that is very appealing.

After the 1880s architecture and furniture design in this country gradually slipped into the dark depths of bad taste. As machine precision was perfected and production on a large scale increased, design became worse and worse, probably hitting a mean low about 1910. The monstrosities of this 30-year period are worthy of a place in history merely to indicate the depths of human ingenuity—in reverse. Presently the demand for simpler, more comfortable and more pleasing designs began to be felt. Hating the cumbersome, overornamented "sets" of furniture that were offered, women began to buy only the plainest and most severe items, depending on their own inventiveness with color in draperies and upholstery for charm to a room. Pictures on the wall were likely to draw attention away from the fact that furniture was there only for utility.

Charming Frock Inspired By Peasant Costumes

By Barbara Bell

The sensational new silhouette—the basque blouse and the full ballerina skirt is presented in a youthful new pattern, No. 1556-B. Gay, glamorous and beautiful, here is a dress to make the most of your figure—with its skin-tight girldie and its wide, flaring skirt! Make the blouse top of a sheery cotton or handkerchief linen—with a low neckline outlined with ribbon-run embroidered beading or braid. Make the skirt of a colorful plain material—faulle, poplin—even sailcloth or unbleached muslin may be used in this frock, which is so new and different. Inspired by colorful peasant costumes, here is a frock so unusual in its charm that you'll take unusual pleasure in wearing it. The extreme youthfulness recommends it for dancing and parties—its charm also suggests this dress for bright spring afternoons when you want merely to look your prettiest!

Barbara Bell Patterns No. 1556-B is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 12 (30) blouse requires 1 1/2 yards 35-inch material, skirt 2 1/2 yards, 1 yard beading with 1 1/2 yards velvet ribbon for neckline, 3 yards braid for skirt.

Dorothy Dix Says --- Child Raised in Happy Home Likely To Succeed in His Own Marriage

According to a distinguished psychologist many marriages fail because of the habits and attitudes husbands and wives acquired in youth, and if parents wish their children to be happy though married they should begin training them for matrimony in childhood. Also, he might have added that if fathers and mothers want their children to keep out of the divorce courts they should hold before their eyes—from infancy up—the pattern of a successful marriage. For children are copycats who nearly always treat their husbands and wives the way they have seen their mothers and fathers treat each other.

One of the truest and most cynical stories in the world is that of the woman who overheard her innocent little darlings at play in a bitter quarrel in which they called each other vile names and accused each other of every sort of crime and misdemeanor, and who, shocked, called out to them: "My dears! you mustn't talk to each other like that! You mustn't say such things to each other. You mustn't fight. You must love each other and be sweet and gentle with each other."

"But, mother, we weren't fighting," protested the children. "We were only playing husband and wife, and we were just talking the way you and papa talk to each other." This story might have happened in millions of homes. Countless men and women serve an apprenticeship in house-wrecking in their cradles when they see their parents make home a place where they give free rein to their tempers and cantankerousness and general cussedness, and where they feel that they do not have to use any of the decencies of self-restraint in dealing with a mere husband or wife.

But it is also true that happy marriages run in families. Peaceful homes are practically hereditary, and good husbands and wives rear the children who have their own qualities. A man who has always seen his father treat his mother with a tenderness and consideration treats his wife as if she were a Lady Love. A girl who has always seen her mother show her father the affection, attention and appreciation makes the true husband-spoiler.

Considering that marriage is the most important act in our lives, for on it depends not only our happiness but also our health and our success in life, it is strange that parents who desire their children to be being above everything else, make no effort to prepare them for it. The boy who has been indulged all his life; who has never been taught to consider anybody but himself or anything but his own pleasure, or to control his temper; who has treated his mother as if she were a servant and his father as if he were nothing but a cash register; who has had no sense of responsibility or duty developed in him, cannot possibly make a decent husband.

Manners of the Moment

This problem of a girl's bureau drawers is, it seems to me, pretty much her own problem and not her mother's. At least after she reaches the age where she cares how her clothes look, it seems to me that she is responsible enough to handle her own bureau drawers. If a girl has the way of her own, and she likes to keep her bureau drawers looking like a mess of postage, what does it matter? It affects no one but herself. Her clothes get wrinkled, and she loses the clip she particularly wanted to wear. But who else cares that her bureau drawers are untidy?

After a couple of weeks of being unable to find the things she wants to wear, a girl will usually put in a Saturday straightening up. But if she doesn't, why should any one else worry? She's just that way. Some day she may change. And if she doesn't no doubt some one will love her anyhow. JEAN.

Active Child Needs Food

Large Meals Will Supply Energy And Promote Good Growth

Bob is 11, and oh! what an appetite that child has! He is a big, robust boy with a swinging stride that usually breaks into a full gallop after he has taken a few steps because he is so bounding with pep that he finds it hard to walk. He likes sports and is completely happy when he is racing and tearing with the "gang" in some rough game. On Sunday at lunch his mother exclaimed, "Bob that is your third piece of cake! Surely you do not want another piece after all you have eaten!"

Bob looked reproachfully at his mother. "Aw, gee, mom. I'm hungry," he mumbled through checks bulging with cake and jam. Bob's father caught the mother's eye with a look that said, "Please leave the boy alone. Mary" and wisely, she said no more about cake or eating too much. The father was wise, too, because he realized that this active, growing boy of his has an energy requirement higher in proportion to body weight than he himself has, a grown man.

Metabolism is a word used to designate the chemical changes that are taking place within the body, and there are two kinds: One is an upbuilding process and the other is one that destroys. We are healthy when the former is in the superiority. The metabolism of the young is more highly geared than that of adults. The young have to build up a body while grownups only have to maintain a status quo. Also, children indulge in greater bodily activity than do adults; their muscles are in use more constantly.

The body obtains energy from burning up foods in this order: First, the carbohydrates (starchy and sweet foods); second, the fats, and last, proteins. Therefore, while it is wrong for a child to be given a diet that is too high in starches and sweets, he needs a sufficient amount of them to supply him with needed energy. Overeating which leads to overweight, is, of course, not a good practice, but parents can judge this by observing their child's health and weighing him regularly. The mother of a placid youngster who enjoys quiet activities such as reading, drawing, painting, modeling and games played with the hands, may find that her child has not a voracious appetite like Bob's, but this is no need for concern as long as her young one continues to gain, likes his food and is rosy and strong. No child should be restrained from eating within the bounds of common sense. For example, while it may be perfectly all right to allow a hungry boy of 10 or 12 to eat three helpings of meat and vegetables, it would not be wise to let him make up a meal of three huge plates of ice-cream with chocolate sauce and three hunks of cake, nor is it ever correct to give a child sweets between meals. The ravenous youngster who begs for in-between meal snacks may be given them in the middle of the morning or the afternoon so long as they do not impair his appetite for his regular meals and so long as they include needed foods such as fruits, milk, whole wheat crackers, fruit or vegetable juices.

Economy Hat for Spring

Every woman wants to economize and especially does she want to economize inconspicuously. This hat pattern gives you a chance to make your spring chapeau with a minimum of expense and, at the same time, to look really smart. Fashion calls for hats to match dresses and suits, so make this hat from left-over fabrics from your spring outfit. Many manufacturers give matching pieces of dress fabric with ready-made garments for this purpose. The pattern envelope contains pattern pieces for 21, 22 and 23 head-sizes; also full directions. Do Remember Rumors Are Not Facts

Don't Be Guilty of 'Tell-a-Woman' Communication

By Emily Post

My own needlessly distressing experience of late, because of a mistaken rumor repeated to me as a fact, has moved me to print a perhaps unnecessary warning word of caution against too easily giving credence to unfounded and disconcerting rumors.

The very well-balanced, widely-informed, expertly capable are alone given the privilege of writing the editorials in all newspapers of high standing. No editor ever announces unconfirmed reports as facts. Moreover, the writers of the news columns in these same papers report plainly where each bulletin comes from.

When we read "it is rumored" or "an unconfirmed report says," we must train ourselves to realize that such news belongs in our "hoped-for" list, or our "hope it's not true" list. But let us train ourselves now to read the news with a little more attention as to whether a qualifying doubt heads the dispatch before we risk adding to the jitters of everyone by rushing into our neighbors' houses to babble a rumor as a fact.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a full supply of general letter paper which has a wrong street address both on business letterheads and on visiting cards. It was given to me and is of very good quality. Anything I could afford to buy at the present moment would be inferior in quality to this, and I was wondering in just how poor taste it would be to use this paper and make the correction in ink as I go along?

Answer: If I were you I should draw a line neatly through as much of the present marking as is incorrect and write (print) the correct address above it. In times like these when everyone is trying to save waste, I can't think it in poor taste to use what you have.

Amazing People, These Publicity Directors, And This Proves It

Lyrical Description of a New Perfume Was Written Amid 'Different' Surroundings

By Helen Vogt

If you've ever stopped to think about it, and undoubtedly you have not, you may have wondered how in the name of all that's good and printable these publicity boys and girls get so many brainstorms. "What sort of person," we can see you asking yourself, "can turn out lyrical, estatic praise of a hairpin or a new dishcloth? What do statistics show is the average consumption of cigarettes per day? And what sort of surroundings do publicity writers seek when they want to say, for example, that a perfume is 'the breathless moment of a clean dive into a sparkling pool—the sharp ecstasy of a perfect ski jump—as one so recently did?'"

In short, if you've read with mild amazement descriptions of everything from toothbrushes to locomotives you're eligible to learn what makes a publicity director tick. Lots of people would like to know—including, often as not, the P. D.'s employer.

There's a wide variety of the species sometimes known (against his wishes) as a press agent. There is the wild-eyed genius with a bright idea a day and a five-figure income to account for in March. There's the type who's super-bored with everything except the product he's paid to publicize. And, finally, there's that rare and exclusive creature who is quite normal—according to the writer's definition of normality. This is the idea boy or girl who manages to handle his publicity like a

Very often the people whom he approaches wonder idly how he happened to plunge into his profession; sometimes they picture this personification of the publicity man in a law office or a home in the country, or, for that matter, anywhere except in the trying business in which he obviously is doing so well.

But we digress, as they say. "Way back in this editorial 'strange interlude' we mentioned a particularly elaborate perfume description, and therein lies a story that proves nothing or other about the strange conscientiousness of publicists.

About a year ago we met a most attractive young lady who was press representative for a well-known perfume and cosmetic organization. The first time she contacted in person and through the mails, she was always "Miss Blank"—a confirmed career woman, for all we knew, and a personable individual who did a good job. Well, suddenly Miss Blank disappeared. A letter in later contact, News from her organization kept coming in, but it wasn't signed by Miss Blank. And then came the now-famous description of the perfume which was positively delicious with enthusiasm, so frantic with excitement that we read it with wonder, deciding that she couldn't do half as well, and passed it along in its original effervescent form. The manufacturers sent us a pretty note of thanks for our praise of the item—which really was their praise, and we said so—and following that came a letter from Miss Blank. She had seen the description in this column, she said, and thought we'd enjoy knowing that it "was written in the hospital after the baby's arrival!"

It turned out, of course, that our Miss Blank was really Mrs. Space, complete with husband, home and, at this reading, a new publicity man in the family. It further developed that Miss—pardon us—Mrs. Space left her job with only one task left undone—that of telling the beauty editors about this new read. She put off the task until one day, while still in the hospital, she was seized with a great burst of energy and wrote the remarkably vivid description (between callers, we presume). "And now you understand," she said, "why I was lyrical and slightly wacky."

Sure, we understand. What did that copy say again? Something about a perfume "compounded of pure emotion, essence of beloved beauty . . . the perfume for those moments that make your personal history. . . ." Aren't publicity people amazing?

Harris Sees Brilliant Stardom for Hudson If Pitcher Irons Out Several Faults

Must Learn to Rely Less on Fast Ball, Develop Curve

Needs Change of Pace Also to Be Sensation, Says Griffith's Pilot

By BURTON HAWKINS, Star Staff Correspondent.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25.—There is no guarantee that Slim Sid Hudson will enjoy his most successful season this year, but if Manager Bucky Harris' observations have been correct, the Nats' youthful right-hander at least is calculated to improve.

Sid's flaws are few in the estimation of Harris, who has groomed the 25-year-old blond carefully since the day he reported as a rookie here two years ago. Bucky is convinced, though, that Hudson must remedy those defects before fulfilling the promise he has displayed.

"Sid has a swell fast ball," declares Harris, "but he's been depending on it too much. In a tight spot he's been inclined to bank on that fast one and it's gotten him in trouble. He could stand a better curve. He must develop that change of pace to become a really fine pitcher. The fellow with the strongest arm in the world couldn't get by on a fast ball alone and that's about what Sid's been attempting to do.

"I'm not worrying about him. We're gonna have several chats down here and I'm confident he'll absorb what I have to tell him. He's been losing some close games because he's been throwing that fast ball in the groove in ticklish situations. Batters have realized what's coming but this season Sid should show 'em a better mixture."

Bucky Always High on Sid. Hudson has been no failure in his first two years in the majors, but Harris believes that in Sid the Nats possess a hurler who should be sensational, not merely successful. Since taking the tremendous leap from class D baseball Sid has won 30 games and lost 30 and Harris doesn't feel he is being overly optimistic in thinking Hudson can whittle his defeats and increase the victories.

Harris has been high on Hudson since his first preliminary peek at the towering youngster. Two years ago, give or take a few days, Bucky saw Sid toss a few balls and sounded onlookers by predicting 15 major league triumphs for a pitcher who had tolled for Sanford, Fla., the previous season.

Bucky admittedly was plunging overboard and it seemed he had allowed his enthusiasm to sway him, for two months after the season had been launched, Hudson owned a miserable record of two wins against nine losses. The long-branching miserables didn't boost Hudson's stock. In both winning engagements he had permitted a dozen hits.

Then came the night of June 21, 1940, an evening that will live for keeps in the Hudson and Harris minds. It was the turning point. Ridiculed and discouraged by early pastings, Sid faced the Browns on a sweltering night at St. Louis, and not until the ninth inning did the Browns obtain a hit. Rip Radcliff destroyed Hudson's hopes with a double to right that fell in fair territory by less than 2 feet.

Made Neat Comeback. Succeeding events pushed Hudson's caliber, for one pitch later Radcliff was perched on third base, due to a passed ball, with none out and the Browns trailing, 0-1. Caimly Hudson struck out George McQuinn, disposed of Harold Clift on a foul and forced Walter Judnich to fly out, ending the game with Radcliff still floundering on third.

That was the springboard, for Hudson won seven straight games before dropping a close one, then came back with his second 1-hitter against the Athletics. Next to Johnny Vander Meer's brace of no-hit games with Cincinnati in 1938, Hudson's two 1-hit games probably rank highest in first-year pitching achievement. He completed that freshman year with 17 wins, 16 defeats.

Hudson again was away to a poor start last season, but with a club that nestled in the American League basement most of the year he finished with no worse than a 13-14 record. Of all the Nats, Hudson's future probably is brightest. He has youth, ability and 3-A draft rating on his side, with only a better change of pace barring him from the heights.

He never will create friction among the Nats. He's no crack with his ability to flatter a suit and conduct himself in gentlemanly fashion, but he isn't above accepting the challenge of the rawest recruit to a game of pool. If he reaches the sensational stage, nobody will regret it.

Breuer, Lindell Sign, But Five Yank Slab Aces Are Balking

Reds Advancing Rapidly; Rubber Shortage Seen As Helping Pitchers

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25.—Manager Joe McCarthy of the World Champion Yankees signed with relief when Pitchers Marv Breuer and John Lindell signed their contracts, but the Yankee's overgrown holdout list still includes the cream of his mound talent—Red Ruffin, Marius Russo, Johnny Murphy, Atley Donald and Spud Chandler.

TAMPA, Fla.—Despite the wind and adverse weather, the Cincinnati Reds are rounding into shape on schedule but what's really making the rookies hustle is the presence of Jewel Ems, manager of the Reds' farm club at Syracuse. Ems is looking for players and the freshmen would like to show up so well that Manager Bill McKechnie will tell the farm boss "hands off."

SARASOTA, Fla.—Frank Shellenbach, Red Sox coach, thinks the rubber shortage will be a blessing in disguise for pitchers. He believes that baseballs will stay in the game longer and that the moundmen "will be at the top of the long-banned emery ball without using any gimmicks."

MIAMI, Fla.—Hank Leiber, last of the John McGraw discoveries, returned to the New York Giants late yesterday and said he was willing to play his head off for Mel Ott. After being named manager of the Giants during the winter, Ott immediately sent Pitcher Bob Bowman and cash to Chicago Cubs for the slugging outfielder, who started with the club in 1934.

CLEAVATER, Fla.—Cleveland's first serious workout of the year is scheduled for today with five Tribe members still missing. Manager Lou Boudreau says he doesn't know if outfielders Jeff Heath and Gee Walker and Pitchers Joe Heving, Charles Ebbree and Millard Howell are holdouts.

Dozen Chisox in First Bunch to Start West

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—A dozen pitchers, most of them batterymen, formed the advance unit of the Chicago White Sox leaving today for the Pasadena, Calif., training site. The rest of the squad will report March 5.

Only two players have expressed dissatisfaction with contract terms, and the most important of these, Luke Appling, was expected to sign his contract after arriving in Pasadena. The other, Dave Philley, rookie outfielder, has not figured in Manager Jimmy Dykes' plans anyway, so no special effort has been made to bring him into the fold.

Walsh Tops for Jefferson

Johnny Walsh tallied 14 points yesterday to lead Jefferson Junior High cagers to a 31-24 victory over Central High's second team.

Tar Heels and Jefferson High Favored to Repeat in Track

Terps Figure to Press Duke for Second If Stored Is Unable to Compete

CHAPPEL HILL, N. C., Feb. 25.—Two defending champions—the University of North Carolina and Thomas Jefferson High School of Richmond, Va.—are favored to repeat in the 13th running of the annual indoor track and field games here Saturday.

The games really are four separate track meets rolled into one big staid and conducted simultaneously. The result is something like a four-ring circus performing to the accompaniment of machine-gun-like fire from starters' pistols.

More than 400 athletes, representing 19 colleges and 21 high schools already have entered. North Carolina, which won the Southern Conference collegiate division last year by nosing out Duke, has few individual stars, but should run up an impressive total of points by capturing seconds and thirds.

Maryland and Duke Rivals. Duke again appears the principal threat to North Carolina's title aspirations. The fact, if Moffat Stored were in shape to run, the Blue Devils probably would hold the favorite's role.

Stored injured a knee while practicing for the Rose Bowl football game, and was operated on last month. The outlook now is that he won't participate in either the 60-yard dash or the high hurdles events, which he almost certainly would win if in top form.

Without Stored, Duke may be yard-pressed by Maryland for runner-up honors. The Terps finished third last year. Thomas Jefferson High School, which won the scholastic division last year, will get plenty of competition from Jefferson High of Roanoke, Va., and possibly from two or three other schools.

Track Coach Bob Fetzner of North Carolina, who started the indoor games back in 1930, describes the Roanoke team as a "very good prospect."

The games will start at 1 p.m. and continue far into the night. The four separate divisions are Southern Conference Collegiate, non-

Fine Record Missed By Terp Boxers as Gilmore Hits Deck

His Knockdown Only One Suffered by Old Line Ringman in Season

When Lyman Higdon dumped Jack Gilmore for a count in the Maryland-North Carolina ring match last week he ruined a record almost without parallel in college boxing. Until that time no Marylander had been on the deck in seven matches, although Maryland had lost three fights on technical knockouts and had a couple of others interrupted because of cut eyes.

There is no quick, accurate way of checking the record, but it almost certainly would have been the first time in the game's history a team had survived a full season without at least one knockdown. Coach Bobby Goldstein, harking back to the days when Virginia ruled the roost in the Southern Conference and Johnny La Rowe was turning out his own brand of "murderers row," couldn't recall a Virginia team, nor any other, that boasted such a record.

Weakened by Shedding Weight. But for a small matter of two pounds Gilmore might not have gone down and Maryland would have chalked up a record. Johnny, however, was that much overweight, the first time this year any Terp was bothered by such trouble, and spent the afternoon of the match boiling out. Consequently, he was weaker than a second cup of coffee.

"But I give him credit for coming back after the knockdown and making a fight of it," Goldstein said today. "He won the first two rounds by good margins. I thought, and almost kayoed Higdon after being floored. He made such a strong finish I thought he won anyway. The irony of it is that the punch that floored him knocked him cold. He actually was out on his feet when he got up, and then he almost kayoed Higdon."

Maryland's best individual record (surprise, surprise) was made by Hotsy Aipstein, who racked up six consecutive victories, climaxing the season with a knockout over Earl Burton last week. It was the first victory of his career.

Terps Await Eastern Meet. In all, the Terps won four and lost two of seven scraps, tying the other. They scored 32½ points to 23½ for the opposites. The Terps are resting until tomorrow, when work will be resumed for the Eastern intercollegiate tournament at Charlottesville next week.

G. W. High Basketers Scoring Heavily in Boosting Record

Four Fairfax for Tenth Win in Last Five Tilts, Reach .643 Percentage

George Washington High cagers of Alexandria are displaying some real scoring punch as they near the end of their schedule. They sport a .643 average following last night's decisive win over Fairfax High, 48-20, at Alexandria, and have triumphed in four of the five games played within the last 10 days.

Only the second of the annual contests against Washington-Lee remains to be played and the Presidents indicate they will be able to give a good account of themselves against the team which took a 37-34 overtime win the last time.

In last night's game the Presidents took a 22-5 lead in the first half and coasted home with no trouble. Russ Herick paced the winning attack with 15 points while Stan Davis was best for Fairfax with 7.

Shots From Foul Line Give Coolidge Edge Over A. U. Jayvees

By virtue of accuracy from the foul line, Coolidge High today boasted a 35-25 victory over American U. junior varsity. It gave the Colts an even break against college competition for the season, they having dropped a game to the George Washington freshman.

Both teams tallied 10 goals from the floor yesterday, with Coolidge gaining its edge by making good on 15 of 20 foul shots while the Eagles dropped only 5 of 19. Coolidge led all the way, but the game was close until the last period, by which time the Colts had a 26-13 edge. Adity Bassin of Coolidge was high man with 9 points for the winners.

Two of Monday night's winners get back in action tonight in the Middle Atlantic basket ball tournament at Heurich gym.

Alexandria Police and Petworth meet Hot Shoppe and Jewish Community Center, respectively, at 8 and 9 o'clock tonight. The opening game at 7 o'clock lists Northeast Falcons against Staff Squadron of Bolling Field, while another Bolling Field unit, Air Combat Command, tackles Jacobsen Florists in the feature game at 10 o'clock.

The Florists won the second-half title in the Heurich League race, and are among the favorites in the current tourney.

This is the second night of action for the two Bolling Field units after they successfully came through initial round play last night.

N. Y. U., Among Grid Pioneers, Drops Game to Economize

Makes Effort to Retain All Other Sports; Coach Mal Stevens May Join Service

By HAROLD CLAASSEN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—New York University, fifth college in the United States to have a football team, has dropped the gridiron sport for reasons of economy.

The school's last two seasons, winners of only four out of 18 contests, were maintained at an approximate deficit of $65,000 and late yesterday the institution's governing body voted to join the University of Chicago of the Big Ten Conference in doing without football.

That ended a gridiron "life" started with a defeat by Stevens Institute, 6 goals to 1, in 1873. During the following years the Violets played 393 contests, of which they won 178, lost 186 and tied 29.

Reached Peak Under Meehan. N. Y. U.'s football teams had varied success with the Violets' peak coming in the late 1920s and early 30s under the coaching of Chick Meehan. Then such stars as Ken Strong and Bob Pastor made the school a gridiron giant.

Embarrassed by the publicity of its football successes, the school announced a de-emphasizing program in which subsidization and recruiting were out when Meehan resigned in 1931. Howard Cann, captain of the 1919 squad, returned to tutor his alma mater.

In 1934, Dr. Mal Stevens, late of Yale, took charge and yesterday's action terminated his $10,000-a-year contract which was to have run through 1946.

Dr. Stevens, an outstanding bone specialist with practices both here and in New Haven, Conn., said he had no immediate football plans and might join the Army.

Recently he offered to coach the Violets during the present financial emergency without pay if the school would retain the sport. He labeled the 1941 freshman squad as "the first in eight years on a par with those of our opponents."

No 1942 Schedule Announced. No 1942 schedule had been announced although games had been arranged with Fordham, the Violets' intercity rival; Missouri, Syracuse and Lafayette. All New York games were played in the Yankee Stadium.

The university council, governing body of that institution that has a student enrollment of 35,063, said a determined effort would be made to retain all other sports. The Violets basket ball team is one of the best in the New York City area while the track team includes Leslie Mac-Mitchell, famed miler.

Wilson Five Unhappy Over Tourney Bid It Can't Accept

Gets Invite to Durham, Where Other Teams Would Gladly Go

Wilson High basket ball team today finds itself in the strange position of having a formal tournament invitation it can't accept but which a lot of other schools would like to have but can't get.

Coach Tony Kupka of the inter-high champions received a bid yesterday to the Duke-Durham Southern high school championship tournament to be held March 13 and 14. School rules, however, do not permit a team to play post-season games without permission of the superintendent of schools, and Dr. Frank Ballou has said that no permission will be granted.

In recent years, Eastern, Roosevelt and Central case teams have participated in post-season tournaments, but last fall public school officials announced no more such trips would be permitted.

Meanwhile there are several other school teams in this area ready to hop the next train South if an invitation comes.

In the event Wilson is unable to obtain the needed permission, which seems foregone, Duke-Durham officials are asking that Roosevelt at least be permitted to enter this season to defend the championship they won last year.

The disappointed Wilson student body was informed of these matters at a big assembly yesterday, held to honor the team which brought the Tigers their first major sports championship. High spot of the assembly was the ceremony of affixing a claw to the Wilson Tiger. A claw is added every time a team there wins a title and the only previous claw game with the school's grid crown two years ago.

St. John's Gets Even With W.-L. Tossers In 39-33 Victory

St. John's and Washington-Lee High cagers are all even for their forays against each other this season. The Johnnies avenged a previous setback by topping the Generals yesterday, 39-33, on their home court. The earlier game was a 39-37 Washington-Lee triumph.

With Sleepy Thompson leading the way, the Johnnies took an early lead of 9-5 in the first quarter and led all the way. Individual honors went to Thompson, with 14 points.

It was St. John's 13th win in 20 games, while Washington-Lee has won 14 and dropped 8.

Two of Monday night's winners get back in action tonight in the Middle Atlantic basket ball tournament at Heurich gym.

Opportunity Beckons Dapper of Dodgers

HAVANA, Feb. 25.—Cliff Dapper, the young catcher who appeared in 125 games for Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League last season, appears in line for the No. 2 Brooklyn Dodger backstopping job.

The trading of Blimp Phelps to Pittsburgh and the continued absence of Herman Franks has given Dapper his chance.

Borican After New Mark

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (P).—John Borican, artist-athlete who already holds or shares three middle distance indoor world records, has been given permission to continue for a little more than 109 yards in the A. U. 1,000-yard run Saturday night in hopes of cracking the 1,000-meter mark.

Transportation Lacking, No Holdout, Says O'Dea

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25.—Catcher Ken O'Dea informed the St. Louis Cardinals today that he wasn't a holdout.

Draft Likely Soon to Get Pitcher Anderson of Nats

Roos, Waking Harris at 2 A.M., Gets 'Hot' Orders; No Word Received From Dutch Leonard

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star. ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25.—No popular figure with Manager Bucky Harris is Pitcher Phil McCullough. The Nats' rookie right-hander arrived in town at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and when told the hotel couldn't accommodate him, asked Harris out of bed and hauled him what to go, but it wasn't a hotel or boarding house.

Pitcher Arnold Anderson doubts if he'll be permitted to open the season with the Nats. His draft classification is 1-A and he's had his physical examination. If he is called, Harris will select two rookie pitchers to stick and Ray Scarborough is likely to be one of them.

Scarborough, incidentally was offered $20,000 to sign with the Yankees before he developed a sore arm that shelved him for a season.

President Clark Griffith says he has had no word from Holdout Dutch Leonard since last Saturday. Asked how far they are apart on salary terms, Griffith merely says, "I don't know what he wants. I know what I offered but he doesn't think it's enough." A safe bet is that the portly pitcher will sign in a few days. He's in good shape as the result of serving as an instructor at Joe Stripp's baseball school.

Alejandro Carrasquel's carrot-colored streamlined car is one of the flashiest in town. When a policeman handed him a ticket for making an illegal turn the other day, Carrasquel said, "Sank you" and it isn't as silly as it sounds. "I can't read some of these signs," confesses Alex, "and I may do the wrong thing again.

Maybe if I'm polite to them they won't give me as many tickets."

Working with the Nats is Theodore Majeske, who caught for Orlando last season. The Nats require catching insurance but the inexperienced Majeske isn't likely to be the answer.

Catcher Al Evans was due here today. He was to huddle with Griffith and no trouble was anticipated in obtaining his signature on a contract.

Washington's two days of practice haven't been accompanied by good weather. Monday was mucky, with light rain, while yesterday brought one of the wretched days in years. Workouts consequently have been light.

The Nats don't toll until 1:30 but Griffith is permitting no breakfast in bed. His chattels are routed out of bed at 8 o'clock, which is an antidote for night life.

Hardest working member of the Nats is Pitcher Jack Wilson. Inclined to pick up poundage, Wilson suffers through medicine ball sessions with Trainer Mike Martin, then rests in an ankle-length heavy woolen coat that induces more perspiration. B. H.

Georgetown Basketeers Need Triumphs Over Navy and DePaul for 50-50 Showing

At Annapolis Today, Entertain Chicago Quint Tomorrow

A. U. Has Play Off Spot At Stake in Opposing Terrors Here Tonight

Still striving to keep their heads above the 500 mark, Georgetown's Hoyas open a strenuous homestretch drive against Navy this afternoon at Annapolis, following up with a duel with DePaul of Chicago tomorrow night at Riverside.

Locally, American University tangles with Western Maryland at 8 o'clock in a game that may decide whether the Eagles will get a berth in the Mason-Dixon Conference playoffs or be left out in the cold.

Navy has beaten some good teams and lost some tough games this year, and while not as formidable as Navy teams of the past still seems too fast and rugged for the Hoyas. The Midshipmen trounced Maryland not so long ago and the Terps, you may recall, handed Georgetown a fancy shellacking.

DePaul Is Real Barrier.

DePaul also figures to be a high barrier for the District team. The Chicagoans meet Duquesne in Pittsburg tonight and may be somewhat travel-weary tomorrow, but Ripley's men aren't counting on that. They saw DePaul play earlier in the season and were particularly impressed by a 6-foot 5-inch center by the name of Frank Wiscons, around whom the offense is fashioned.

Wiscons' tremendous height gives him the advantage on the backboard, and it probably will be necessary to put two men on him. Capt. Bob Wozny, an eagle-eyed, pot-shot; Jim Cominsky, Cliff Lind and Dick Starzyk round out the first team. All are supposed to be crack courtmen.

DePaul's record isn't impressive. The Demons have won only 8 of their 16 games, but one of their victims was Long Island, probably the No. 1 team of the East.

Terrors Are Seeking Revenge.

American could be troublesome for the Hoyas if Bing Berman continues his hot streak. The big center has been the ringleader in the Hoyas' stretch drive, having his heart set on a conference berth, and has been pouring leather through the hoop with amazing consistency.

Western Maryland comes here seeking revenge for the 1-point setback suffered at A. U.'s hands last Saturday on its home court, and a repetition of that game would almost be asking too much.

Lions Need Win Over New Haven in Fight For Third Place

Tied for third place in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League, the Washington Lions will take the ice tomorrow night at Uline's Arena determined to stay abreast of the Providence Reds who are giving them a tussle for the third spot.

Providence pulled into a tie at 39 points with the Lions last night when they played the Indianapolis Capitals to a 1-1 tie in an overtime game at the Hoosier capital.

A victory tonight in the Smoky City over the lowly Pittsburgh club would put the Reds two points in front of the Lions, but in that case the Lions can square accounts tomorrow with a win over the second-place New Haven team.

The big blowoff in the tight scrap for third place will come Sunday night at Uline's when the Lions entertain Providence. Tomorrow's game, as usual, starts at 8:30 p.m.

Large Spring Flight of Fowl in Prospect; Ducks Unlimited Getting Results

During the seasons of 1934-5 our duck population reached an all-time low—estimated by the Wildlife Service at only a little more than 30,000,000 birds, and less than a third of the number coming down the four major flyways at the turn of the century.

The creation of the "dust bowl" by the unwise use of land during the first World War contributed in part to this great decrease. Drained marshes in the United States and drouth in the Canadian nesting grounds, did their part, too. Add the eelgrass blight along the Atlantic Coast and the consequent near extinction of our brant to the annual hunter's kill and the wonder is even 3,000,000 wild waterfowl remained.

75,238,000 in 1941 Flight.

According to Ducks Unlimited there were approximately 75,238,000 ducks on the flyways during the last season, which was double the number in 1938 when their first census was made, and only 6.17 per cent more than the estimated flight of 70,861,000 in 1940, which showed a 20 per cent increase over the 1939 crop.

A prolonged summer and December weather unpropitious in many years resulted in a kill comparable to those of the lean years along the Atlantic flyway. Abnormal rains flooding long-dry areas in the Middle West caused a wide dispersal of birds there. The result was a small number on the Mississippi flyway. Added together it means a larger spring flight North than at any time during the last 40 years.

The Migratory Bird Treaty with Canada saved the nucleus from which the present flights sprang, but it wasn't the stringent regulations alone which increased their

Eagles Bolster Fourth-Place Grip by Routing Rovers, 7-1

Likely to Finish Campaign in That Position; 2,600 at Game; Courteau Gets Prexy's O. K.

By now even the frenzied hockey addicts who invade Riverside Stadium Tuesday and Friday nights know the Washington Eagles, 1941 champions of the Eastern Amateur League, are not going to win any pennant this year.

With only seven games remaining on the regular schedule before the playoffs start March 10, the Eagles are comfortably ensconced in fourth place, and the tip is out that fourth place is where they are going to end. That is, unless they run into a losing streak, and Baltimore, in fifth place seven points back, starts to win.

But the addicts, despite the comparatively lowly position of the Eagles, continue to turn out to see Courteau, Burrage, McLennahan and company. They like to see the Eagles win, but they can take it any way. More than 2,600 turned out last night to see the Eagles overwhelm the high flying New York Rovers, 7 to 1, here for one of their rare victories over the Gothamites, who have won six out of ten from the Eagles this year.

New York is tied for the league lead with Johnston.

Best of the news to the rabid Eagle fans was the word that Paul Courteau is solid with the league bosses, and won't absorb any serious penalties unless he goes back to swinging with his fists. President Tom Lockhart of the Eastern League thinks Paul is O. K. He said so today as he attended a luncheon of hockey men and writers.

But Redvers MacKenzie, Eagles coach, won't make the mistake of not telling the referee that Paul is under a $50 peace bond.

Referee Wilkin didn't know it last Friday when Cy Beigler of Boston took some wallops at Paul and Courteau didn't return 'em, but drew a misconduct penalty just the same.

The Eagles moved into the 500 percentage mark with that heartening win last night, having won 24 games against the same number of losses, with five ties. Their big scoring spurge came in the final period, when Marty Madore and Ken Ulliyot, who previously had belted the net cords, connived with Les Hickey, Art Thompson and Ernie Munday to ring up five counters.

The local lads scored first, at 3:41 of the opening period, and led, 2 to 1, at the end of that stanza. The second period, marked by the only

Seventh Rec League Win in Row Scored By Hyattsville

Seven straight victories is the record streak owned by Hyattsville basket ball team in the Recreation League after it turned back War Department T. and C., 44-14, in last night's feature game at Roosevelt.

In other Roosevelt tilts War Department Reserves nosed out A. G. O., 27-26, and the Vulcans topped O. P. A., 30-14. Three games also were played at Central. Weather Bureau won over Thumbs Up, 36-29; A. G. O. defeated Sholls, 30-20, and St. Charles defeated Navy, 34-28.

One close game was played at Macfarland, with the Hendersons nosing out Internal Revenue, 16-15, while at Eastern B. & B. Farm topped National Electric, 35-20, and the Joe Boyles downed City Post Office, 28-21.

Bladensburg Girls Ahead

Bladensburg High girls' basket ball team invaded Maryland Park yesterday to take a 27-14 victory, with Goldie Malakaitis pacing the winning attack with 14 points.

Baltimore and Rosslyn Stars In Maple Battle Tomorrow

An intercity match between the Stadium All-Stars of Baltimore and the Rosslyn All-Stars will be an added feature tomorrow night at the Rosslyn Bowling Center when Manager Galt Davis plays host for the second time to metropolitan rollers in the weekly Rosslyn Handicap.

Jimmy Libertini, Howard Parsons, Nova Hamilton, Don Almony and Nick Almony, five of Baltimore's finest, will be on the firing line against Astor Clarke, Bill Krauss, Whip Litchfield, Ed Blakeney and Billy Sialcup when action starts in the intercity fray at 9:30.

Leon Fleischer, cutting quite a figure in Arlington bowling circles this season, will strive for his second victory when the Rosslyn Handicap gets underway at 10:30. With an 8-pin handicap, the diminutive Arlington Bowling Center star posted a 3-game score of 414 to triumph as the affair was inaugurated last week.

Contestants can enter as late as 12:30. Entrance fee is $1.60. A two-third handicap will be given based on a scratch of 125.

Bill Hughes of Central with 141 and Kenny Fewell of Brightwood No. 1 with 356 were tops in the Letter Carriers' League at Brookland. The Ben Franklin Castoffs swamped Cleveland Park No. 1 with a high of 1,642.

Two veteran women rollers shone in the Women's Country Club League at Silver Spring when Emily Nell posted 121 to give Manor No. 1 a 3-pin handicap, and Pauline Ford marked up 332 to aid Kenwood No. 1's 1,444 aggregate.

Perce Wolfe fired 424 to chalk up his sixth 400-set of the season in the Hyattsville Commercial League while Chet Bailey marked up top single of 159. Community Market led with scores of 635 and 1,882. Other highs for the evening at the Hyattsville Recreation were Tim Skinner's 414, Keller's 392 and Ray Punk's 384. Billhimer & Palmer, league leaders, swept the Romeos while the Lanahans moved to second place with a 3-0 win from Gallilher & Hugely.

Hal Kessel, former star center on one of George Washington's best basket ball combinations, had plenty on a bowling ball when he fired a season record of 429 in the Income Tax League at Hi-Skor. His excellence enabled Miscellaneous No. 1 to post a high of 1,746. Eddie Rhine shared the spotlight with top single of 155 to lead Revenue Agents' high of 608.

Lucy Rose was top roller with 417 as the second-place Arlington Trust trimmed Regal Neon Sign, 2-1, in the Rosslyn Independent League. Despite Ernie Hauser's 412 the pace-setting Goss Co. swept the champion Shaffer Flower Shop to increase its lead to three games. Tom Goss climaxed a 375 count with a double-header strike to pace the winners. But Geutler was best for the Neon rollers with 391.

George Clark's 390 was the big poke as O'Meara's Tile whitewashed Ellis Radio, while Brad Mandley's 390 gave Cooke Press a 2-1 edge over Arlington Tress. Odell Gant was high for the losers with 389. Although on the losing side as A. L. Kelly & Son swept C. & C. Restaurant, Eddie Keith showed up in time to fire 272 for two games, which boosted his top average to 125-19 for 71 games.

Senior Boxers Given Last Call to Enter A. A. U. Tourney

Must Weigh in Tonight For Action on Friday; 21 Already Listed

A last call for seniors in the District A. A. U. boxing tournament, currently in progress at Turner's Arena, will be sounded tonight when the last few stragglers will be weighed in and examined at the District Boxing Commission offices between 6 and 9 a.m.

Twenty-one filed their entry blanks and passed the physical tests last week and these will not be required to report again. At least a dozen youngsters are expected to sign up tonight, paving the way for the completion of Friday night's program. Thirteen novice bouts already are scheduled and at least four senior duels will be added.

Hopes for Better Crowd.

Billy Blake, chairman of the A. A. U. Boxing Committee, was disappointed with last week's turnout, but hopes for a better attendance Friday. While all novice cards, such as last week's, necessarily are without name fighters they generally stir up a lot of excitement and the inaugural was no exception.

One of the most promising youngsters to show his wares was Harry Reid, rugged 147-pounder, who dispatched Dan Robson of Brookland in one of the two knockouts registered. Reid's performance stamped him as one of the leading contenders for the outstanding novice trophy and this week he'll have ample opportunity to further prove his ability at the expense of Johnny Atkisson.

Atkisson Is Hard Puncher.

Atkisson is the widely publicized youngster from the stable of Matt Twomey, who calls him the stiffest right-hand puncher he ever has seen in amateur ranks. Johnny won his debut, too, outpointing Milton Hurley of National Training School. Atkisson was not overly impressive in that fight, but he'll have to fight or else, this time, and Twomey is confident he'll come through.

Seniors already in line include Grover Davis, former 118-pound novice champion, who is essaying a comeback in senior ranks. Davis must dispute the claims of such formidable leatherpushers as Danny Petro, who is gunning for revenge for his loss of Pete Cillinski in the Golden Gloves, Gene Miller, John (Cotton) Corbin and Daryl Smithson.

Novel Dog Race Victor Would Show in East

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 25—Everett Hesean wants to bring his string of staghound-Irish setters East to prove his unorthodox method of dog racing is as successful as his record indicates.

Hesean has won nine firsts over snow-packed Western courses since 1935. Instead of hitching the dogs, three sets of two each with a lead dog in front, he staggers them along a single pull line so that no two run side-by-side.

Deffinbaugh Snares Sherbahn Tourney Paid-Up Entry

Rolls 160-414 in Prelim; Arbaugh Shoots 159; Beatty Fires 405

The paid-up entry list in the eighth annual Dutch Sherbahn tournament to be rolled at Takoma Recreation Saturday and Sunday was given another boost last night when Mout Deffinbaugh of Willis Builders fired 414 with 160 his top single to win a Silver Spring American League preliminary.

Hugh Arbaugh, Silver Spring bowling proprietor, was only a p.m. shy with 159 of tying for the night's top game in the regular league matches. The Sandifords and State Loan rollers divided team highs with respective counts of 615 and 1,748.

Set Arlington Record.

Two records were posted in the Arlington Village Mixed League when Rose Reinhart paced the Chestnuts to a 3-0 victory over the Hazelnuts with 327 and Leona Dwyer of the losers posted 125. Tops among the male rollers, George Blakeslee led the Maplenuts to a 2-1 win from the Beechnuts with 354.

Capt. Charley Miller's 337 was best as the league-leading Team No. 3, won the rubber game from team No. 4 in the Methodist Protestant Church League of Alexandria at Arlington Bowling Center. B. Harris of the losers was tops with 124.

Bill Beatty High Man.

Bill Beatty was the star with 160-405 as the Kronhems trimmed the second-place Jernigan Cleaners, 2-1, in the Rhode Island Avenue Businessmen's League at King Pin. Ed Nash gave Finn's Texaco a 2-1 edge over E. A. Merkle, Inc., with 47-402.

Alvin Beyer increased his lead to four games with a 2-1 decision over Shamrocks, while Ed Hutchinson's single of 153, which climaxed a 375 set, gained Greyhound Liquor the odd game from Wilkins Coffee.

Despite high scores of 500 and 1,394, the pacesetter Actuary quint dropped a 2-1 verdict to Branch for its third loss of the season in the Peoples Life Insurance with 111-308 while Laura Claggett's 116 and 307 were best for the losers. Branch must dispute the claims of such formidable leatherpushers as Danny Petro, who is gunning for revenge for his loss of Pete Cillinski in the Golden Gloves, Gene Miller, John (Cotton) Corbin and Daryl Smithson.

By PAUL J. MILLER.

To his string of scalps indicative of kleiner meister chess prowess, Donald H. Muirgride has added another—his ninth—the 1942 club championship of Washington Chess Divan.

Muirgride still holds the club title of Capital City Chess Club, although he has left that organization and now is president of the Divan. A former District title holder, he now is best known as probably the "lightning chess" champion of the District.

Muirgride swept a field including Kenneth Stubbs, L. Korsstrom, E. M. Schara, B. W. Holmes and Ben Goldberg.

In the general tournament, C. H. Talman defeated J. Launspach, A. Marmor won from William Lurie, F. W. F. Gleason scored over Conrad Willnich and Maud G. Sewall, while the Healey-Bass game stands adjourned.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. at 1836 I street N.W., Luis Nedfall Fonce, sometime District champion, will oppose alicormers in a public simultaneous exhibition. Players must bring their own equipment. No admission charge.

Some 40-odd fans enjoyed the entertaining lecture by Norval P. Wigginton on William E. Napier, former British chess champion.

United States Title Tilt.

Callin's all stars! Aspirants to the United States chess championship should file their applications to play in the preliminaries with L. Walter Stephens, chairman of the United States Chess Federation's executive committee in charge of the biennial title tournaments to begin April 10 or 11 in New York. His address is 279 E. Thirty-fourth street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Players seeded into the championship section who do not have to display their wares in the preliminaries are Samuel Reshevsky, Reuben Fine, I. A. Horowitz, I. I. Kashtan, F. J. Marshall, A. S. Kenker, A. C. Simonson, Sidney Bernstein, May Karff and Mrs. Donald Beicher. (February 25, 1942.)

Police Defeat Marines

Alexandria Police basket ball team made up for an earlier defeat by topping Quantico Marines, 39-29, in a cage game last night at Quantico. Finlchum's 18 points was individual high.

Capital Bank Stocks

Make Good Showing in Two Months

Riggs Most Active; Closing 1941 Marks

By EDWARD C. STONE. Washington bank stocks have made an excellent record in the first two months of this year...

American Security & Trust Co. stock sold the other day at 210 per share, 13 points higher than the final 1941 figure.

Bids are strong on other bank stocks which have not appeared in the 1942 trading.

Operations during 1941 required 58,000 tons of coke, 13,000 tons of steam coal and 286,000 barrels of oil...

The proceeds from the proposed sale of stock, when approved, will be used to pay off bank loans which had to be made during 1941...

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. started 1942 off with two more new records, according to latest reports.

The number of telephone stations in service climbed to 327,140, in comparison with 273,333 in January, 1941.

Florida sunshine is luring Washington bankers to the famous winter resorts.

Edward L. McAlear, chairman of the newly appointed House Committee of the District of Columbia Building and Housing Association...

David Hendrick of W. B. Hibbs & Co. is one of Washington's brokers who spent part of the winter in Florida.

Edward L. McAlear, chairman of the newly appointed House Committee of the District of Columbia Building and Housing Association...

Another luncheon speaker was Fred T. Green, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis.

Endicott on Bond Program. Ralph Endicott, assistant treasurer of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., will speak at Station WWDC tomorrow evening at 8:30 in support of the District Bankers' Association's Defense bond campaign.

President Ernest L. Norris of the Southern Railway reports that gross earnings in January were around $19,000,000 against $10,000,000 in January last year.

Market Volume Jumps. Trading on the Washington Stock Exchange today was featured by a sharp increase in volume.

Capital Transit registered a 40-share sale at 22, Washington Railway & Electric preferred moved a 100-share turnover at 15, etc.

The Federal Reserve Bank's latest report shows that the Richmond Reserve District topped the other 11 in trade gains from January 1 through February 14.

Stock Market Slides

Lower; Bond List Also Is Down

War Reports Watched Closely; About 350,000 Shares Are Sold

By VICTOR EUBANK. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The stock market had little stamina or purpose today and prices as a rule slipped a shade lower.

Uninspiring action of motors, steels and other leaders of the Tuesday upturn supplied the cue for the balance of the list although here and there the heaviness was relieved by bright individual performances.

Dealings continued small, totaling around 350,000 shares.

A bit more encouraging, but potentially buyers still were concerned over Burma and Java, additional tanker attacks in the Atlantic and expected hiking of corporation levies in the new tax bill.

Commodities gave ground on selling, attributed to President Roosevelt's pronouncement against the farm bloc's move to prevent sales of Government-held staples at less than parity prices.

Bond List Declines. Resistance to higher prices developed in today's bond market and the main list fell back into a narrow and irregularly low position.

Heavily demanded for several Seaboard Air Line loans which brought fractional gains.

Inclined to lag behind most of the time were Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s, Nickel Plate 4 1/2s and 5 1/2s, St. Louis San Francisco 4 1/2s.

United States Government securities likewise held a narrow course both over the counter and on the Stock Exchange but the undertone was generally steady.

Australia 4 1/2s and Queensland 6s gave up moderate amounts but other foreign debt bonds, including Uruguay adjustments, were mostly higher.

Dividends Announced. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Prepared by the Fitch Publishing Co.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Cotton futures turned easier in late trading today following reports of presidential opposition to the pending farm bill concerning Government buying and selling of commodities.

Commodity markets and locals were principal sellers, although around the best levels of the day spot house offerings were liberal.

Later afternoon prices were 20 to 70 cents a bale lower, March selling at 18.41, July, 18.64, and December, 18.72.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25.—Commission house and local selling in the final hour of the day, futures closed 70 cents to 1 1/2 a bale lower.

East Coast Fuel Oil Problem 'Desperate,' Refiners Told

Standard of New Jersey President Appeals For Supplies

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 25.—The problem of supplying fuel for the East Coast apparently remained one of the oil industry's biggest worries today.

Another proposal also is being studied to aid the East Coast supply situation, from Houston, Harry C. Weiss, chairman of the transportation committee of district 3, Office of the Petroleum Co-ordinator, said he had named two sub-committees to study the transportation problem.

Results of the committee's study, it was said, "may involve such usual measures as moving some existing pipe lines for use elsewhere, or the conversion of gasoline to oil for emergency movement."

Consolidated Amount Is Equal to $1.92 Per Common Share

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—North American Co. giant utility holding company, reported today consolidated earnings available for the common stock in 1941 amounted to $16,451,737, equal to $1.92 a share.

This compared with $16,495,100, or the same amount per share on the common in 1940.

Consolidated gross revenues for 1941 totaled $144,647,290, an increase of 11 per cent over 1940.

The Remington Arms Co., Inc., reported today its net income for 1941 was $3,058,839, equal to 38 cents a share, compared with $1,845,663 or 23 cents a common share in 1940.

The company said sales in 1941, aside from the output of plants operated by Remington but owned by the Government, were $62,627,282, a jump of $39,500 over 1940.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—General Foods Corp. reported yesterday net income for the year ended December 31, 1941, was $14,153,400, equal after preferred dividends to $2.56 a common share, compared with $15,244,077 or $2.77 in 1940.

At the same time, C. M. Chester, chairman, said 1941 sales set a record of $180,358,903, or 18 per cent above the $152,188,337 reported for 1940.

Rayonier, Inc. makers of sulphite pulp and paper, reported today for three months ended January 31 net profit of $927,083, equal to 63 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $924,841, or 60 cents a share in the quarter a year ago.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. reported for 1941 consolidated net income of $4,804,493, compared with $4,548,324 in 1940.

The National Lead Co. and its wholly-owned domestic subsidiaries reported for the December quarter, 1941, net profit of $5,375,685 after charges and Federal income and excess profits taxes, equal after preferred dividend requirements, to $6.03 a share on 94,583 shares of Class "A" stock, excluding 5,417 shares held by the company, and $3.46 a share on 200,000 Class "B" shares.

This compared with $1,339,593, or $6.44 a share on Class "A" stock and $3.85 a share on Class "B" stock in 1940.

Ulio (Continued From First Page) Division of the War Department's Morale Division when it was first organized at the start of the rearmament program. He was succeeded in that position by Brig. Gen. Frederick H. Osborn.

During the World War, Gen. Ulio went to France, where he attended the Army General Staff College and was awarded the army's Distinguished Service Medal for staff duty with the 4th Army Corps. The same citation recalled his success in evacuating and feeding French civilians in occupied territory recovered from the Germans.

France, Italy, Montenegro, Panama, Serbia and Greece also decorated him for humanitarian work during and after the World War. He was graduated from the Army War College in Honolulu from 1935 to 1937, part of which time he was chief of staff of the Hawaiian Department. He came here in 1938 from Governor's Island, N. Y.

Douglas Sales Tripled; Net Profits 18 Millions

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 25.—Douglas Aircraft Co. reported today it boosted output to $180,940,110 in the fiscal year ended November 30, 1941, from $60,970,774 in the preceding year.

While tripling output as measured by dollar value of sales, the company lifted net profit to $18,176,691 from $10,831,971.

Earnings per share rose to $30.29 from $18.05. President Donald W. Douglas reported for every dollar the company earned for itself it earned and paid $1.40 tax money.

Bulk of the profits came from sales to foreign governments. Combined sales to the United States Army and Navy brought an average profit of 1.36 per cent.

On the much-publicized world's largest bomber, the B-29, the company lost $2,643,968. It converted transport planes to military use at a loss of $2,000,000.

Wages averaged 21 per cent higher than in the preceding year.

Chicago Grain By FRANKLIN MULLIN, Associated Press Staff Writer. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Wheat prices sagged more than a cent and a bushel and other grains took corresponding losses today as the futures market retreated due to trade nervousness over the Government program involving disposal of large stocks of ever-normal granary wheat and corn.

President Roosevelt's statement opposing a bill pending in the Senate which would limit sale of Government grain, prohibiting disposal of prices below parity, was an important factor in the trade. Sales of Government wheat and corn the last few months have had the effect of checking price gains in the grain market, with prices of all cereals still below parity levels.

Wheat closed at 1-1/4 cents lower than yesterday; corn, 1/2 cent lower, May 86 1/2, July 86 1/2-88 1/2; oats 1/2-1/2 lower; rye, 1/2-1/2 lower; soybeans, 1/2-1/2 lower. Soybeans were off more than 2 cents at one time.

Chicago Cattle Market. Wheat and rye prices weaker; shipping sales, 8,000 bushels; no bookings; corn was 1/2 cent lower; basis weak; shipping sales, 15,000 bushels; no bookings; receipts, 190 cars.

28 Requested To Help Plan Defense Here

Committee to Look After Long-Range Part of Program

Twenty-eight representatives of various Washington activities were urged today by Welfare Director Conrad Van Hynning to accept appointment as members of the District Planning Committee of the Voluntary participation division of the District civilian defense setup.

The first meeting of the committee will be held Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Taft House Inn, 1601 K street N.W. Scheduled as speakers are Charles P. Taft, assistant director of defense health and welfare services of the Federal Security Agency; Jonathan Daniels, director of program planning, voluntary participation division, C. D. C.; Col. Lemuel Bolles, executive director of the District Defense Council, and Mr. Van Hynning, chief of the District voluntary participation division.

Will Initiate Plans. Mr. Van Hynning explained the responsibility for co-ordination and development of community services, which affect the efficiency and morale of the civilian population during the war period, as well as making preparations for the community to meet post-war problems. He said:

"The Planning Committee is to assume responsibility for initiating plans and securing action on all matters relating to the functioning and development of community services which affect the well-being of citizens. The committee will function through other volunteer committees organized to take responsibility for a particular area of community service, such as health, recreation, conservation of resources, housing and other subjects."

Labor to Be Represented. Those asked to serve on the planning group include the following:

Clarence A. Aspinwall, James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons and president of the Council of Social Agencies; Dr. H. J. Crosson, member of the Board of Public Welfare; Charles A. Gamble, Mrs. H. S. Light, Mrs. E. H. Meyer, Frederick W. McReynolds, president of the Board of Public Welfare, and John R. Pinkett, a welfare board member; Msgr. Lawrence J. Sheahan of the Catholic Charities; Fred A. Smith, president of the Board of Trade; Mrs. Harlan Stone, Mrs. Conroy, Mrs. J. R. Dr. William Charles White, Dr. E. C. Wiggins, Mrs. Frank A. Linzell, Mrs. Helen Monroe, Mrs. M. O. Lorenz, Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the Housing Committee, and James E. Colliflower, chairman of the Waste Prevention and Salvage Committee.

Representatives of organized labor will be added to the Planning Committee.

Filling Station Bandit Flees in Stolen Car

A young holdup man eluded police by a stolen automobile last night after taking about $30 from a filling station attendant and ordering him to fill the car's gasoline tank.

Roy Wiles, 36, employed at a filling station at 1129 Twentieth street N.W., reported to police the bandit, sitting in the office talking for more than an hour. Suddenly, he whipped out a nickel-plated revolver and demanded money. Mr. Wiles, who had placed nearly $100 in a safe a few minutes before, told the holdup man he would have to take the remaining funds from his pockets.

The bandit did so and directed Mr. Wiles to fill the tank of an automobile parked at the station. Two taxicabs drove up at this point, and Mr. Wiles dashed behind one, shouting, "This is a holdup. I am being held up." The car was followed by police on Massachusetts avenue extended.

Theft of $112 from a safe in Wesley Hall, 1703 K street N.W., sometime during the night was reported to police today by Lofton Wesley, proprietor of the safe. The safe was opened by use of the combination, since it was not damaged, Mr. Wesley said.

Maryland Man Found Guilty Of Attacking D. C. Girl

Frank Haywood, 33, colored, of Lakeland, Md., last night was convicted of criminal assault on a 17-year-old Washington girl Christmas eve. A jury in Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro deliberated for 35 minutes before returning the verdict about 11 p.m.

Circuit Judge Charles Marbury withheld sentence pending a motion for a new trial by Haywood's lawyer, John S. White, who was appointed by the court to represent him.

Haywood told the all-white jury that he was innocent of the crime. The girl and her 21-year-old escort, a soldier, testified that Haywood had come up to their parked car near College Park and forced them to drive to a sand pit. There Haywood tied the soldier's wrists and the attack took place. Haywood then forced the couple to drive to nearby railroad tracks, where he left them, after robbing the soldier of $37.

The jury heard Dr. George H. Preston, chairman of the State Board of Mental Hygiene, and Dr. Arthur C. Gillis, a member of the board, testify that Haywood was sane.

Two Child Explorers of Yukon Leave Here for Illinois Home

Billy Albee, 9, and his sister, Jo Evelyn, 6, shown at Union Station with Miss Sara Brown, Travelers' Aid Society station worker, before they were put aboard a train for Chicago.

Two child explorers who have hiked across the Yukon Territory of Canada and walked through the Sierra Mountains of California were headed for their Illinois home today after making their first public appearance in Washington.

They are Billy Albee, 9, and his sister, Jo Evelyn, 6. Their parents are William Albee, 35-year-old explorer and author, and Ruth Albee, who became an explorer after their marriage in 1928.

The trip back to Illinois was a contrast for Billy and Jo Evelyn, who learned long ago to take care of themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Albee escorted them to Union Station late yesterday and placed them aboard a train for Chicago. Travelers Aid Society workers to watch them en route and transfer them today at Chicago to another train bound for Peoria, near where the children sometimes live with an uncle.

In the summer of 1940 the entire Albee family toured the Yukon territory. Billy carried his own 10-pound pack over his shoulders. The Albees explored the Yukon for the National Geographic Society, and that trip is now one of the subjects of their lectures. For the first time, the children went on the stage with their parents at Constitution Hall last Friday night when Mr. and Mrs. Albee spoke under sponsorship of the society.

Billy Bagged Game. In the Yukon, Billy, then 8 years old, accounted for a lot of the food supply. With his 22 rifle he bagged game for the family herd.

Last summer the family exploring expedition called for the Sierra Mountains of California and Mount Whitney.

"Billy took Jo off of Mount Whitney, his father related. Mrs. Albee had to go down the west side to get our burros, so it was easier to send the children the other way. Billy led the way over rock slides and snow fields. He has a good sense of direction, even when trails are obliterated. He can take a Geological Survey contour map and compass and find his way anywhere."

The children were born far from home. Billy in Fairbanks, Alaska; Jo Evelyn on the banks of Cape Prince of Wales on Bering Strait.

Hoisted Aboard Freighter. "We were the only white people there," Mr. Albee said. "Jo made her first trip at the age of 2 months, wrapped in reindeer fawn skins and traveling in an Eskimo nuniak from the Cape of Nome, a distance of 40 miles, in 19 hours. The boat was powered by an outboard motor. Ruth had to get into a sleeping bag, to nurse Jo."

At the age of five months, Jo was hoisted aboard a freighter in a heavy fog and brought around the coast of Alaska to Seattle.

Despite exploring, the Albee children are a year ahead in their school work, usually undertaken at a country school near Peoria or at Cambria, Calif. Mr. Albee's present home.

man told them he was a student photographer. He formerly was a radio operator and a member of the Marine Corps, Capt. Groves added. His wife is said to be employed at the War Department.

Further Probe Planned Of Worker Accused Of Theft From Navy

Bellevue Officer Present As Employee Is Arraigned In Police Court

The case of a 27-year-old ordnance worker charged with theft of two aluminum fuse caps and some tracer orders from the Bellevue Naval Magazine was continued until March 11 today.

The defendant, booked as Paul G. Yula of 1400 block of R street N.W., was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of larceny of Government property.

Assistant United States Attorney A. J. McLaughlin, who requested the continuance, explained later the move was decided in order that further investigation could be made.

Lt. Comdr. J. J. O'Donnell of the Magazine was present, but had no comment.

Case Declared Minor. A public relations officer at the Washington Navy Yard said the case was not considered particularly important, but that the Navy would pursue its investigation. He said there was "nothing secret" about the fuse caps, since they were of common design.

The items were said to have been taken from the prisoner yesterday after his arrest by Precinct Detective Robert R. Klotz of No. 11 precinct station on a minor traffic charge. A writ was served on police on his behalf, and he obtained his freedom on $400 bond.

Mr. Klotz took the worker to the precinct station when, according to the detective, he failed to yield right of way while driving a taxicab. The Government property assertedly was found on his person.

Questioned by F. B. I. Capt. Hugh Groves of No. 11 said the man was questioned by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, who left without requesting any special handling of the case by police. A photographic enlarger, an air pistol and a typewriter were found in the taxicab, according to Capt. Groves.

An F. B. I. spokesman said today the office of Naval Intelligence had jurisdiction in the case and, therefore, his office would not be concerned further.

The precinct commander said the Soldier Admits Slaying; Says He Was Drunk

John Rathbun Held For Grand Jury in Taxi Driver's Death

John Rathbun, 20-year-old Bolling Field soldier, took the witness stand at a coroner's inquest today to testify that he was "drunk at the time and didn't know what I was doing" when he shot and killed a cab driver Monday at Eleventh and East Capitol streets.

Speaking in a voice that was so low that it was almost inaudible, Rathbun told the coroner's jury holding an inquest into the death of Conrad Steele, 36, of 411 1/2 Fifth street N.E.:

"As much as I can tell you, I never saw the man before in my life. I was drunk at the time and didn't know what I was doing. I never saw the man before. I never before killed a man in my life. That's all I have to say."

Wanted to Testify. Before he testified, Rathbun heard Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald inform him that he did not have to take the witness stand and that he could wait until he was brought to trial in court to make any statement. The soldier, however, said that he wanted to make a statement now.

After hearing him testify, the six-man jury retired for a short time and returned later with a verdict ordering that he be held for action of the grand jury.

The circumstances of the shooting had been described to the jury by police and other witnesses. Detective Sgt. Edgar E. Scott told the jury that Rathbun had admitted shooting the cab driver with a .45-caliber service automatic which he had "borrowed" from another soldier at Bolling Field.

Sgt. Scott said that Rathbun told him he took the gun when he saw it hanging in a holster in his tent.

He said the more he looked at the man the more he thought of a deputy warden who had hit him when he was a boy and he decided to get out and shoot that man," Sgt. Scott testified.

Included in a total quota of 120,000 for all the States, with a national reserve of 25,500, are 1,817 cars for Maryland, with 462 in reserve, and 2,360 for Virginia, with 402 in reserve.

Quotas for nearby Virginia counties included 109 for Arlington and 43 for Fairfax. In Maryland Prince Georges County was allowed 95 cars and Montgomery 119, with Baltimore City receiving 709, or more than a third of the State quota. State reserves were not included in these quotas.

To qualify for automobile certificates, persons must prove the need and show that their present cars are not adequate for necessary duties.

Local rationing boards will handle the sale of automobiles, such as tires are now doled out. The cars to be released are 30 per cent of the 480,000 new vehicles in possession of manufacturers, distributors and dealers when motor production was halted for conversion of manufacturing plants to war essentials. Rationing begins March 2.

To Sell 246,000 in Year. About 340,000 of the new cars will be held in the next 12 months, including small quotas for Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone.

County quotas throughout the country were arrived at largely on the basis of 1941 new-car registrations, although war defense activities and local transportation facilities were considered in some localities.

Cars not rationed this year will be held in a stock pile for future release. The decision to place such a large percentage of the total available cars on the market this year was a deliberate one, Mr. Henderson said.

Storage Space a Factor. "Storage of cars is expensive and even where all proper precautions are taken, some depreciation is unavoidable," he explained. "Storage facilities badly needed for other purposes now are being used to store automobiles and it is desirable that this space be made available as rapidly as possible."

"Quick release of cars also will help to cushion the terrible impact of the sudden stoppage of automobile production upon automobile dealers and others who derive their incomes from retail sales of automobiles."

Advertising Pioneer Dies

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 (AP).—Karl Bloomingdale, 74, former advertising man and pioneer president of the Poor Richard Club, was found dead yesterday in the bathtub of his hotel apartment. Doctors said he was stricken by a heart attack after he had turned off a faucet.

TOWARD INTER-AMERICAN UNDERSTANDING—Students of the sixth grade of the Powell School, Fourteenth and Upshur streets N.W., shown inspecting an exhibit prepared by the Office of Education for distribution throughout the country in an effort to improve inter-American understanding. The exhibit and student reaction have been tested in several other District schools. Left to right, front row, are Virginia Timberlake, 11; Richard Woodfield, 11, and Robert Belt, 12; back row, Dorothy McElree, 11, and Annette Goldberg, 11.

977 Passenger Autos Allotted to Capital For April-June Period

O. P. A. Quotas 1,817 For Maryland, 2,360 For Virginia

Authorities have allotted 977 new passenger automobiles to Washington for purchase by eligible buyers during April, May and June, it was announced yesterday by Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

In addition, 61 cars will be held in reserve here for rationing should quotas be revised.

Tenants' Rights Block Air Raid Shelter in Home

Plans of one Washington home owner to convert a basement room into an air-raid refuge for her family were interrupted today when she found she must comply first with the District Rent Control Act.

The room desired has been rented to a couple using it as living quarters. When the owner called at the rent control office today to inquire what she could do she was advised that she must give the tenants 30 days' written notice and that if they did not vacate she could file an eviction case with Municipal Court.

The name of the inquirer was not placed on the rent control administration records, since officials there said the court and not the rent administrator would decide the case if the tenants refuse to move. The owner was said to be a resident of Northeast Washington.

Planners Press U. S. to Buy 25 Acres for Cemetery

The National Capital Park and Planning Commission today appealed to the House Military Affairs Committee to renew consideration of a Senate-approved bill authorizing the Federal Government to acquire 25 acres of land in nearby Virginia for eventual extension of Arlington Cemetery.

The committee yesterday shelved the legislation, with an understanding it would not again be considered unless the Federal Government to acquire 25 acres of land in nearby Virginia for eventual extension of Arlington Cemetery.

Thomas S. Settle, executive secretary of the commission, told Chairman May the Government is anxious to acquire the land and urged that the committee reopen hearings on the bill "at its earliest convenience."

The property is located at the intersection of Lee boulevard and Arlington Ridge road adjoining the cemetery and overlooks the Potomac River and the Lincoln Memorial.

Several weeks ago the committee was informed the owners were asking $750,000 for the 25 acres, or about $30,000 an acre. Later it was disclosed a corporation had leased the property and had planned to improve it with a $6,000,000 apartment hotel. Priorities on building materials, however, have delayed the start of this project.

Two First-Aid Classes Form in Silver Spring

Formation of two new first-aid classes in the Silver Spring area was announced yesterday by Mrs. Donald Sabin, Silver Spring chairman of the Montgomery County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A class will be started at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Linden colored school, with Dr. C. W. Mitchell instructing. On Tuesday a class will begin at the home of Mrs. E. C. Persson, on Sutherland road, and will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Mrs. Walter Arnold will be instructor.

Protestant Churches Act to End Friction With U. S. O. Units

Maryland, Delaware and District Ministers Meet With Army Men

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—A policy to alleviate alleged friction between the United Service Organizations and the churches soon will be presented to the Council of Churches and Christian Education of Maryland and Delaware and the Washington Federation of Churches for formal adoption.

The Rev. Ben F. Wyland, liaison chaplain of the council's department of christian ministry to servicemen, told a meeting of 1,000 ministers yesterday that "there has been friction between the U. S. O. and church agencies, but the churches were right ahead and did the work which was needed and which the U. S. O. could not do by itself."

A joint statement read at opening of the conference made the following specific proposals with respect to the U. S. O.:

1. That the National Protestant Christian Commission on Service Men be strengthened by field workers and financed by the national U. S. O. fund.

2. That in the more than 100 localities having councils of churches these groups be given responsibility for organizing churches with local U. S. O. funds.

3. That provisional local councils be set up by field workers of the commission where none exist at present to be financed by local U. S. O. funds.

The meeting of Protestant church ministers and U. S. O. representatives was directed by the Christian Commission for Defense Activities under the auspices of the council and the Washington Federation of Churches.

"We feel that today's meeting has been very helpful in creating and strengthening good will between the U. S. O. and the churches," Mr. Wyland said.

Others on Program. Other speakers included Dr. Harlan M. Frost, commission chairman; the Rev. Fred C. Reynolds, post chaplain at Fort Meade, and the Rev. Dr. E. L. Harrison of Shiloh Baptist Church, Washington.

Leaders of seminar discussions included: Maj. Richard C. O'Connell, 3d Corps Area morale officer; Dr. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches; Hugo Wolter, Washington defense recreation director; Furman Templeton, O. C. D. regional race relations adviser, and Ray Everett, chairman of the Social Hygiene Society of the District of Columbia.

Fairfax Rationing Board Gives Auto, Tire Permits

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE STAR. FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 25.—The Fairfax County Rationing Board this week granted permits for the purchase of two truck tires and tubes, nine passenger car tires and four passenger car tubes.

An application of Anne Lee Hooker of Vienna for a permit to purchase a new car was approved. Those for whom tire or recapping permits were allowed were:

Herbert Meyers Powell, Roy Sanford Kincheol, State Department of Highways, Forrest Platt Reynolds, Marvin Wilkins Mann, Fairfax County Police Department, Charles Edward Gardner, Jr.; Robert Hershey Miller, David Louin Tucker, Hervey Guernsey Rice, Amos Leo Lewis, Vienna; John Martin Sonner, John Herman Gunther, James Byrnes, Norman Simpson Maley, James Walter Steele, Samuel Cliff Thompson and Edwin Twyman Call, Jr.

Dr. Symons Discusses Nurserymen's War Role

By the Associated Press. Nurserymen's role in the war is an important one, believes Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland extension service. Camouflage materials for airfields, munitions plants and tanks depend upon the product of their industry, he says.

Speaking before the university's annual nurserymen's short course yesterday, Dr. Symons advised the formation of a special committee by the Maryland Nurserymen's Association to work with war leaders on the camouflage problem.

Pastor Joins Army

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Feb. 25 (Special).—The Rev. Joseph McClellan, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Bushwood, left today for New York, where he will enter the Army as chaplain.

Bill to Lower Patent Office Curbs Studied

Virginia Measure Would Waive Wait Period Prescribed

By ALEXANDER R. PRESTON, Star Staff Correspondent. RICHMOND, Feb. 25.—An estimated 900 attorneys and agents of Washington and adjacent Maryland communities who practice before the United States Patent Office would benefit under provisions of proposed legislation to be studied this afternoon by the Courts of Justice Committee of the House of Delegates.

A bill by Delegates Charles R. Fenwick of Arlington and O. E. McCue of Charlottesville would waive certain provisions of existing law requiring members of the bar of other jurisdictions to wait six months under reciprocity agreements before being admitted to the Virginia bar to become eligible for practice of patent law. The bill also would permit those who are not attorneys but who have been permitted to practice before the Patent Office to continue to do so, while there is now no provision in Virginia for others than members of the bar to practice law.

The bill is an emergency measure designed to meet a problem created by the transfer of the Patent Office from Washington to Richmond about a month ago.

Patent Law Only. The only exemptions to State bar requirements extended under the bill, are to those persons practicing patent law.

The Senate passed and sent to the Governor two bills sponsored by Mr. Fenwick. One authorizes the Arlington County Board to establish a retirement system for county employees, and is the result of action taken by the board on motion of Leo Lloyd Seaver.

The second measure which passed the Senate yesterday authorizes the County Board of Arlington to issue bonds for parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities. This bill was a part of the legislative program of the organized Women Voters of Arlington.

For the second consecutive day Senator William D. Medley of Arlington held up final passage by the Senate of a bill to reclassify the game and inland fish laws of Virginia, and to report to the Senate a score of changes in existing law.

To Hear Waitonians' Views. A delegation from the Arlington-Fairfax Chapter, Izaak Walton League, and other Northern Virginia areas was to arrive here today to appear at a public hearing by the Senate General Laws Committee on a bill by Delegate E. B. Moore of Berryville to revise the membership of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

Senator Medley said he would attempt to obtain the views of this delegation on the reclassification bill before the upper branch passes the measure. He is also a member of the General Laws Committee, which will act on the Game Commission reorganization bill.

The House Finance Committee yesterday killed a bill by Mr. Fenwick to return to localities the assessment against rolling stock of motor vehicle carriers. The existing law, which will continue in force, requires such assessments to be prorated to the localities through which the motor carriers operate.

Bill Affects Joint In Spousing. Mr. Fenwick joined in sponsoring a bill introduced in the House yesterday which would change the procedure of appointing boards of visitors of the University of Virginia, Virginia Military Institute, and the College of William and Mary. In making recommendations for such boards to the Governor of Virginia the alumni of the institutions will be required to stipulate whether any recommendations are desired by the House of Delegates.

The House Courts of Justice Committee will hold a public meeting Friday at 10 a.m. on a bill by Mr. Fenwick and others to appoint a commission to revise, codify and index the general laws of the State and report to the General Assembly in 1944.

Keystone Auto Club Opens Wartime Service Bureau

A new public service department to assist motorists and automobile owners with problems arising out of automobile operation during time of war has been established by the Keystone Automobile Club, George E. Kenelpp, manager of the association, announced today.

The new department, to be known as the Wartime Motoring Information Bureau, will assist with such matters as tire and automobile rationing, repair and service, methods of prolonging the life of automobiles and tires, special regulations and laws for wartime motoring, and sources for replacement parts. A survey of all reliable garages and service establishments in the club's territory now is under way.

"The events of the past several weeks have necessitated the creation of such a department," explained Mr. Kenelpp. "The motorist has been caught up in a whirl of rationing, official orders, rumors and counter-rumors. He has to have some place to turn for authentic information and counsel."

Red Cross Course to Open

A beginner's course in Red Cross first aid is scheduled to open at the Chevy Chase Elementary School at 9:30 a.m. Friday. Classes, under the direction of Mrs. Gustav Emery will be held each Monday and Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

THEATERS' CONTRIBUTIONS TO PARALYSIS DRIVE—Checks totaling $42,000, representing net receipts from various theater activities in connection with the diamond jubilee celebration of the President's birthday, were turned over to Commissioner Young at the District Building, yesterday to be added to the fund to fight infantile paralysis. In the picture (left to right) are A. E. Lichtman, owner of Lichtman Theaters; Andrew R. Kelley, executive director of the District Celebration Entertainment Committee; Carter Barron, Loew's Eastern division manager; Commissioner Young; Frank La Falce, representing Warner Bros.; and Maj. J. R. Lusby, controller of the District Theater.

Falls Church Moves to Annex Fairfax Area

Formal Notice Filed in Court To Extend Limits

Special Dispatch to The Star.
FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 25.—The town of Falls Church today filed in Circuit Court formal notice of a motion for an order authorizing the annexation of 2,100 acres adjoining the town limits.

In the face of a bill introduced in the State Legislature Saturday to block such a move, John A. K. Donovan, town counsel, had notice served on Commonwealth Attorney Paul E. Brown and G. Wallace Carper, chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, as required by law. The notice is returnable April 20, when a date for a hearing probably will be set by the three-judge circuit court.

Prior to the filing of the court proceedings a group known as the Citizens' Committee Opposed to Annexation announced it would contest the move. The committee will meet tonight to map plans.

Bill Would Block Proposal

The bill introduced last week by Delegate Robert J. McCandlish, Jr., would block any annexation moves by Falls Church or Alexandria. The petition for annexation was filed for 11 reasons for the annexation: 1. shortage of housing facilities; 2. present and proposed system of public improvements; 3. the fact that a large part of the area is already built up and is without efficient sewers or other improvements and that much of the area already is served by Falls Church municipal services; 4. that within the territory involved portions are thickly populated and dwellings in numerous places need better fire and police protection; 5. for many years suburban development and subdivision of lots in many sections just outside the town limits are in line with inevitable growth and that sewage and drainage should be one comprehensive system, saving cost and waste of replacement; 6. Streets are narrow and paved out more cheaply; 7. area has no adequate sanitary provisions or garbage disposal; 8. citizens are dependent on town for social activities, churches and places of amusement; 9. the area is part of the town except as to the town boundary; 10. decept area housing requires services of town, will increase the town to population of 5,000 or more, making the town second-class city, greatly to the advantage of citizens in the town and territory sought to be annexed.

Will Provide Services

The town of Falls Church will immediately provide police and fire protection and with all reasonable speed all other utilities, the petition sets forth.

The town will assume and provide for reimbursement to the County of a just proportion of the existing debt of the county, if there is any, the petition states, and for cost of improvements within the territory proposed to be annexed.

The tax rate on the land in the 2,100-acre area shall not be increased beyond the rate assessed by Fairfax County for its purposes at the time of the proposed annexation, except upon petition of a majority of freeholders of such territory presented to the Council of the town of Falls Church. All revenues derived from taxation for five years shall be spent on streets, sewers, water, street lighting and other public improvements within the area, the motion proposes.

Boundaries of Area.
Starting at the Arlington County line at West street, up Great Falls street to Shreve (or Haycock) road, to National Memorial Park Cemetery, to Lee highway, short distance on Lee highway across to Lee boulevard. From there through Westcott Nursery to a point at intersection of center line of Annapolis road and Tripps (or Holmes) Run, follows the run (Holmes) to Sleepy Hollow road, follows run to a point marking southeast corner of subdivision of Ravenwood, to Alexandria-Leesburg pike, to point marking southeasterly corner of Lee Boulevard Heights, and then to point on Arlington County line.

The territory sought is on all sides of Falls Church in Fairfax County.

Two Child Explorers of Yukon Leave Here for Illinois Home

Billy Albee, 9, and his sister, Jo Evelyn, 6, shown at Union Station with Miss Sara Brown, Travelers' Aid Society station worker, before they were put aboard a train for Chicago.

Two child explorers who have hiked across the Yukon Territory of Canada and walked through the Sierra Mountains of California were headed for their Illinois home today after making their first public appearance in Washington.

They are Billy Albee, 9, and his sister, Jo Evelyn, 6. Their parents are William Albee, 35-year-old explorer and author, and Ruth Albee, who became an explorer after their marriage in 1928.

The trip back to Illinois was a contrast for Billy and Jo Evelyn, who learned long ago to take care of themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Albee escorted them to Union Station late yesterday and placed them aboard a train for Chicago. Travelers Aid workers watched them on route and transfer them today at Chicago to another train bound for Peoria, near where the children sometimes live with an uncle.

In the summer of 1940 the entire Albee family toured the Yukon territory. Billy carried his own 10-pound pack over his shoulders. The Albees explored the Yukon for the National Geographic Society, and that trip is now one of the subjects of their lectures. For the first time, the children went on the stage with their parents at Constitution Hall last Friday night when Mr. and Mrs. Albee spoke under sponsorship of the society.

Billy Bagged Game.
In the Yukon, Billy, then 8 years old, accounted for a lot of the food supply. With his 22 rifle he bagged game for the familyarder.

Last summer the family exploring assignment called for the Sierra Mountains of California and Mount Whitney.

"Billy took Jo off of Mount Whitney," their father related. "Mrs. Albee had to go down the west side to get our burros, so it was easier to send the children the other way. Billy led the way over rock slides and snow fields. He has a good sense of direction, even when trails are obliterated. He can take a Geological Survey contour map and compass and find his way anywhere."

The children were born far from home, Billy in Fairbanks, Alaska; Jo Evelyn on the banks of Cape Prince of Wales on Bering Strait.

Hoisted Aboard Freighter.
"We were the only white people there," Mr. Albee said. "Jo made her first trip at the age of 2 months, wrapped in reindeer fawn skins and traveling in an Eskimo mukluk from the Cape of Nome, a distance of 40 miles, in 19 hours. The boat was powered by an outboard motor. Ruth had to get into a sleeping bag to nurse Jo."

At the age of five months, Jo was hoisted aboard a freighter in a heavy fog and brought around the coast of Alaska to Seattle.

Despite exploring, the Albee children are a year ahead in their school work, usually undertaken at a country school near Peoria or at Cambria, Calif. Mr. Albee's present home.

Falls Church Council Reindorses Merger of School Districts

Draft of Bill Sent To Fairfax Delegate In State Legislature

Special Dispatch to The Star.
FALLS CHURCH, Va., Feb. 25.—The Falls Church Town Council last night reaffirmed its advocacy of merging the town and Fairfax County school districts.

At a special session following two public meetings on the issue the Council adopted a recommendation by its Schools Committee that the merger be reindorsed.

Town Attorney John Donovan then presented the draft of a bill authorizing the merger, which the Council approved and ordered forwarded to Robert McCandlish, Fairfax County Delegate in the State Legislature.

The Schools Committee report, in effect, found no new evidence to justify a change in the Council's attitude toward uniting the two school districts.

Prince Georges Allots $25,000 For Defense

Sum to Be Raised By 2 1/2-Cent Levy On Real Estate

A $25,000 budget for the Prince Georges County Civilian Defense Council was approved yesterday by the County Commissioners at their meeting in Upper Marlboro. The money, which will come from a real estate assessment of 2 1/2 cents per $100, will be made available after April 1.

Largest item, $7,000, is for the installation and operation of a central switchboard and eight report centers. The board, it was pointed out, would be used as an fire alarm board except in case of an air raid alarm. The eight report centers dotting the county would have connections with first aid, air-raid wardens, housing and feeding units, etc.

Personnel to man the switchboard 24 hours a day is provided for in the budget by an item of $6,000. This will be the only paid personnel in the Civilian Defense organization in the county.

Would Equip Casualty Stations.

Other items include $5,000 for equipping 11 casualty stations which have already been designated in principal schools in the county, $3,000 for office expenses, insignia, arm bands, etc., and $4,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

J. Robert Sherwood, chairman of the council; Fire Chief Karl A. Young, county fire co-ordinator, and E. F. Zaleska, chief air raid warden, presided at the budget at yesterday's meeting.

The Commissioners also indorsed a plan for a six-man committee to meet with Representative Sasser to make plans for obtaining a 200-bed hospital costing $700,000 for the county out of Lanham Act funds. William A. Carson, president of the Board of Commissioners, and Dr. Harry M. Bowen will represent the Commissioners on the committee. Paul H. Kea and Walter F. Mulligan will represent the Prince Georges County Hospital Association. Two more members from the county Medical Society will be named later.

Central Location Recommended.

Location of the proposed hospital has not yet been decided, but Mr. Carson emphasized yesterday that it should be placed near the center of population in the county so that all residents would be able to reach it by road.

A planning code for Prince Georges County was adopted at yesterday's meeting. Drawn by Chief Sanitary Inspector C. L. Wood, the regulations provided in the code are in addition to those of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

A petition to rezone residential C lot 2 in block 4, Mount Rainier, was continued since Attorney John S. White, who was to appear in favor of the petition, was acting as counsel in a case in Circuit Court.

Col. Markey Receives 'Important Assignment'

By The Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, 3d Corps Area commander, announced yesterday that Col. D. John Markey, commanding officer of the 115th Infantry, 29th Division, had been promoted to "a more important assignment" in the 3d Corps Area.

Col. Markey, who is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, the Mexican border incident in 1916, and a World War hero.

Gen. Reckord said the War Department could not announce at this time what Col. Markey's new duties would be, other than they would be "important." The 115th Infantry troops comprised the 1st Infantry troops of the Maryland National Guard before the Guard went into the Regular Army a year ago.

In making the announcement, Gen. Reckord disclosed that he had approved promotion of Col. Markey to rank of brigadier general, but that present War Department regulations concerning age prevented the promotion.

Col. Markey was 59 last October. Lt. Col. George Henderson of Cumberland, who was intelligence officer of the 29th Division before becoming executive officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, will automatically succeed Col. Markey in the regimental command.

Two First-Aid Classes Form in Silver Spring

Formation of two new first-aid classes in the Silver Spring area was announced yesterday by Mrs. Donald Sabin, Silver Spring chairman of the Montgomery County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A class will be started at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Linden colored school, with Dr. W. Mitchell instructing. On Tuesday a class will begin at the home of Mrs. E. C. Persson, on Sutherland road, and will be held from 9:30 to 11 a. m. Mrs. Walter Arnold will be instructor.

Highway Blackout Plan For Maryland Studied

By The Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—Already approved by five counties, a blackout traffic plan for State highways is now being studied by defense officials in the other counties.

Col. Beverly Ober, State liaison officer, said the plan was designed to stop traffic during an emergency, resume it orderly at the "all clear" and divert traffic to permit free passage of troop trucks and other defense vehicles.

Wherever the plan is adopted a triangular white flag with the letters "C. D." in red will be displayed by State and local police and State Guardsmen when the alarm is sounded. The flag will be used to halt traffic and warn motorists to put out lights.

McCormick-Goodhart Zoning Action Due by Montgomery Heads

Defense Homes Project Waits Upon Decision At Session Tomorrow

Speeding the proposed construction of a 1,500-unit apartment project on the Leander McCormick-Goodhart estate at New Hampshire avenue and University lane, the Montgomery County Commissioners will hold a special session in Rockville tomorrow morning to act on an application for rezoning 60 acres of the estate.

Decision to meet was announced following a hearing on the petition for rezoning yesterday before the county commissioners in Silver Spring. The Prince Georges Commissioner's already have rezoned the other 86 acres of the estate to permit erection of the project, which has the approval of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

No Objection Voiced.
No objection was voiced yesterday at the hearing on the project, which will be built by the Defense Homes Corp., merged today in the National Housing Agency, to house defense workers. Plans displayed at the meeting showed a group of garden-type apartment buildings.

It also was expected that the commissioners will take action tomorrow on the application of Charles Schefres, owner, for reclassification from residential A to residential C of lots located adjacent to and including DUnity lane in Woodside, which has been abandoned. A favorable hearing was also held on this application yesterday.

A third hearing yesterday, however, drew objection from neighbors and two organizations. This was on the application of Col. and Mrs. Harvey H. Holland, owners, for reclassification from residential A to residential C of a lot at the intersection of Piney Branch road and Sligo Park parkway.

Would Convert Home.
Col. Holland explained that the proposed change would only be used for the conversion of his new private home into a three-family apartment. He said that when he built the residence, apartments were being built in nearby areas and it was constructed with the idea of later changing it into a small apartment.

Stuart M. Armstrong, president of the Sligo Park Mills Citizens' Association, appeared with a joint letter from his association and the Sligo Park Mills Garden Club, opposing the rezoning. No action was taken on this petition.

Church Persecution Feared as War Result

By The Associated Press.
ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 25.—Sessions of the 119th annual meeting of the Baptist General Association of Virginia continued today with officers predicting the peak registration of delegates for the two and a half day convention.

Describing the hour as "the darkest I've ever known since I have been connected with the Baptist Church," the Rev. Charles A. Madry of Richmond, executive secretary for the Southern Baptist Foreign Missions Board, declared last night that "We may be coming to a time of fearful persecution."

He protested that "the blackout of Protestantism in Europe" may spread to this country if Christianity in the American people is not awakened.

Virginia Measure Would Waive Wait Period Prescribed

By ALEXANDER R. PRESTON, Star Staff Correspondent.

RICHMOND, Feb. 25.—An estimate 900 attorneys and agents of Washington and adjacent Maryland communities who practice before the United States Patent Office would benefit under provisions of proposed legislation to be studied this afternoon by the Courts of Justice Committee of the House of Delegates.

A bill by Delegates Charles R. Fenwick of Arlington and O. E. McCue of Charlottesville would waive certain provisions of existing law requiring members of the bar of other jurisdictions to wait six months under reciprocity agreements before being admitted to the Virginia bar to become eligible for practice of patent law. The bill also would permit those who are not attorneys but who have been permitted to practice before the Patent Office to continue to do so, while there is no provision in Virginia for others than members of the bar to practice law.

The bill is an emergency measure designed to meet a problem created by the transfer of the Patent Office from Washington to Richmond about a month ago.

Patent Law Only.
The only exemption to State bar requirements extended under the bill are to those persons practicing patent law.

The Senate passed and sent to the Governor two more bills sponsored by Mr. Fenwick. One measure authorizes the Arlington County Board to establish a retirement system for county employes, and is the result of action taken by the board on motion of Leo Lloyd several months ago.

The second measure which passed the Senate yesterday authorizes the County Board of Arlington to issue bonds for parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities. This bill was a part of the legislative program of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington.

For a second consecutive day Senator William D. Medley of Arlington held up final passage of the Senate of a bill to recodify the game and inland fish laws of Virginia, and which proposes more than a score of changes in existing law.

A delegation from the Arlington-Fairfax Chapter, Isaak Walton League, and other Northern Virginia areas was to arrive here today to appear at a public hearing by the Senate General Laws Committee on a bill by Delegate E. Senator Medley said he would attempt to obtain the views of this delegation on the recodification bill before the upper branch passes the measure. He is also a member of the General Laws Committee, which will act on the Game Commission reorganization bill.

The House Finance Committee yesterday killed a bill by Mr. Fenwick to return to localities the assessment against rolling stock of motor vehicle carriers. In the existing law, which will continue in force, requires such assessments to be prorated to the localities through which the motor carriers operate.

In making recommendations for such boards to the Governor of Virginia the alumni of the institutions will be required to stipulate whether any recommendations are desired.

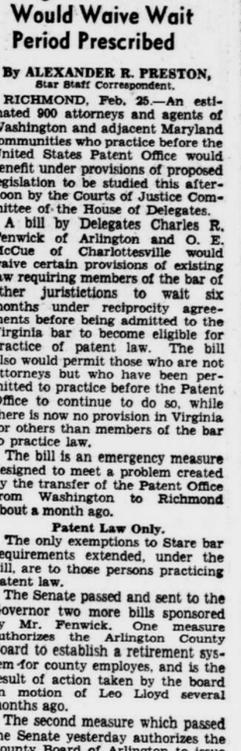

The House Committee on Justice Committee will hold a public meeting Friday at 10 a. m. on a bill by Mr. Fenwick and others to appoint a commission to revise, codify and index the general laws of the State and report to the General Assembly in 1944.

Capital's Social Events Are Featured by Large Afternoon Parties

Reception Celebrates Graduation Of Lt. Francisco Castillo Najera From G. W. Medical School

Society was somewhat divided against itself yesterday with several large afternoon parties to attract its attention and time. The Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Castillo Najera and their family celebrated the graduation of their son, Lt. Francisco Castillo Najera, from the Medical School at George Washington University. At the same time Mrs. Walter Wyatt, wife of the General Counsel of the Federal Reserve Board, was entertaining in honor of Mrs. George Brainard of Youngstown, Ohio.

Although the cards were issued in the name of Senora de Castillo Najera, the Ambassador received with her, the honor guest preferring to greet guests in a more casual manner. Also this freedom gave him ample opportunity to dance to the excellent music of a rumba orchestra in the ballroom. The hostess wore a becoming gown of black crepe, ornamented with silver and rhinestone clips.

Senora Erma Castillo Najera Dressed in Black Costume.

Lt. Castillo Najera, by taking up medicine, followed in his father's footsteps, for the Ambassador was a practicing physician before entering the diplomatic service. While he was a student at George Washington University, Lt. Castillo Najera served as Assistant Military Attache of the Embassy.

His sister, Senora Erma Castillo Najera, and their cousin, Senora Ofelia Davila, niece of the Ambassador, assisted. The former, like her mother, was dressed in black, but Senora Davila chose a Navy blue costume. Both gowns were long with becoming and youthful necklines and both girls wore shoulder bouquets of bright hued camellias.

Vice President and Wife Among Early Arrivals.

The Vice President and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace arrived early and remained long enough to inspect the new murals on the walls of the stairway and hall. The vivid art of Senor Cuevo del Rio depicting Mexican scenes into which are placed portraits of American patriots, as well as those of Mexico, is a welcome addition to the famous murals of Mexican life which decorate the walls of the dining room.

The newer murals were begun some time ago and completed within the past few months. Other guests from official circles included Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, wife of the Chief Justice; Mrs. Sumner Welles, wife of the acting Secretary of State; the Peruvian Ambassador, Senor Manuel de Freyre y Santander, dean of the diplomatic corps, and a generous number from the legislative branch of the Government. Other guests included Mrs. Derrick, Mr. Fred B. Agee, Jr., Mr. Emil Ganschow and Mr. Caspar Selina.

Mrs. Wyatt Entertains In Home on Kalmia Road.

Mrs. Wyatt entertained in her attractive home on Kalmia road, where masses of early spring flowers were used about the rooms and a cluster of Joanna Hill roses made an effective centerpiece for the tea table. Taking turns at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, wife of the Chief Justice; Mrs. James F. Byrnes, whose husband is an associate justice; Mrs. James H. Hughes, Mrs. John McKee, Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, Mrs. Harlike Branch and Mrs. Ernest G. Draper. Still others presiding over the tea cups were Mrs. Stanley Hornbeck and Mrs. Bulkley S. Griffin.

The Misses Laura Belle and Jane Wyatt, daughters of the hostess, assisted their mother. Others who saw to the comfort of the guests were Mrs. D. Worth Clark, Mrs. Marcellus Woodard, Mrs. William Leavis, Mrs. Bruce Smith, Mrs. Thomas Montgomery, daughter of the honor guest, and Miss Minnie Mae Fleming.

Mrs. Brainard, whose husband is with the War Production Board, will return shortly to her home in Ohio. She has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Lt. Thomas Montgomery, U. S. N., and Mrs. Montgomery. At present she is the house guest of Mrs. Wyatt.

Mr. Maggart Is Host At Party for Mr. Tregor.

Another gay gathering was found yesterday in the home of Mrs. James F. Holman in Georgetown, when Mr. Roy Maggart entertained in honor of Mr. Nison Tregor, well-known sculptor, who has recently completed a bust of Mr. Maggart.

Mrs. Holman loaned her home for the occasion. Included among the guests were a number of her friends as well as those of the host.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watson, Dr. and Mrs. Henry B. Gwynn and the latter's sister, Miss Ruth Hurley, who has just been awarded her nurse's aid certificate by the Red Cross; Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, Mr. Robert Rodenberg, without Mrs. Rodenberg, who is in Florida; Mrs. Martin Vogel, Jr.; Miss Elaine Darlington, Mrs. Effingham Townsend, Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mr. Angus Malcolm, Mrs. William T. Mann, Miss Muriel Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles MISS CHARLOTTE RIGGS HUNDLEY. Her engagement to Mr. Christopher R. P. Rodgers, son of Mrs. Philip O. Coffin, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Winslow Hundley of Baltimore.—Bachrach Photo.

By the Way—

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Louis Little are back in their own charming little Georgetown house, which was leased to the Harold Tittmanns and more recently to Mrs. Northam Griggs, while Gen. Little was in command at the Marine Barracks in Quantico. Mrs. Little, you know, was the former Elsie Cobb Wilson, the well-known decorator. She has lost none of the knack of "doing a house," which made her known all over this country and Europe, for her own is a dream. Speaking of houses, we saw Art Land's new one yesterday, and decided that if Mr. Land weren't such a very fine lawyer he could make quite a successful career for himself as an architect or decorator. Most of the ideas in his house are his own. It's compact and original and modern—and very attractive. Art's doing a little building down Florida way, too.

Mrs. Cameron Clark was guest of honor at the small and interesting luncheon given by Mrs. William Burden today. Recently returned from London, where she was director of the American Hospital in Britain, Mrs. Clark has lectured both for the British War Relief Society and for the O. C. D. She is now in Washington, working for the Office of Co-ordinator of Information—and like so many others, trying to find a small house in which to live. Along with Mrs. Dwight Davis, Mrs. Hendricks Eustis and the lovely young daughter of W. Averell Harriman, Mrs. Kathleen Harriman, Mrs. Clark is one of the four American women to be given special permits to go to England "on their own" since the war. She's as pretty and trim as she is intelligent. As one attractive young lady commented yesterday: "Doesn't she make you feel bloomy and fat and inefficient? She's much too pretty to be so clever."

Mrs. John Wilkins has sold the big corner stone house on Massachusetts avenue which for so many years the Wilkins family have called "home." She's going to buy a smaller one for herself. The Deering Howes (he's here to work with Trubee Davison) are staying with Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker until they find a place of their own. Mrs. Earl Potter is here for a visit with her father and stepmother, the Leroy Whiteyses. Mrs. Alexander Forbes will come down from New York for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, this week end. Mrs. Robbins will entertain at dinner Saturday night for the popular "Sunny."

Guests Entertained
Mr. and Mrs. George J. Seal and their daughter, Miss Mitzel Seal, are guests of Mrs. Seal's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Zane, at their apartment at the Shoreham.

The Alabama Society will have its February dance at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the newly decorated ballroom of the National Press Club.

Navy Relief Show to Be Held Friday

Boxes and Tables For Event Are Selling Fast

The Navy Yard Male Chorus of 10 voices will launch the Navy Relief fashion show in the grand ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, from 5 to 7 o'clock Friday afternoon, with the famous Navy song, "Anchors Aweigh." During the intermissions they will sing other Navy favorites, and the Navy Orchestra, not to be confused with the Navy Band, will furnish the music.

So keen is the interest in the show, "Fashions With a Future," that many out-of-town reservations have been made. "Remember Pearl Harbor" is a phrase which has a direct bearing on the Navy Relief Society, for since December 7 Mrs. George Pettengill, president of the District group, has had over 200 requests for relief, more than came to her office during the whole first year that she took over in 1937. Funds to care for the families of officers and enlisted personnel in the Navy and Marine Corps are urgently needed, so it is good news that every one of the 40 boxes has been sold by Mrs. Charles Carroll Glover, Jr., and the members of her committee.

Mrs. C. Thomas Clagett, Jr., who is in charge of selling the tables which are to be set up along the runway in the ballroom, reports that a few more are still available. But the committee has every reason to expect a sell-out by Friday afternoon.

Through the kind offices of Mrs. James V. Forrestal, wife of the Undersecretary of the Navy, Paul Flato of New York has donated a $1,000 diamond watch with topaz crystal as the grand prize to be awarded the person holding the lucky numbered program. Other valuable prizes have been donated by Miss Hattie Carnegie, who is putting on the fashion show at her own expense, the entire proceeds to go to the District Navy Relief Society.

Proceeds of Tea To Buy Ambulance

A silver tea will be held at the residence of the Macnell of Barra and Mrs. Macnell from 4 until 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The proceeds will be applied toward the purchase of an ambulance for the city of Washington. Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, chairman of the British-American Ambulance Corps, will receive with Mrs. Macnell, and among those presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling and Mrs. McConce Werlich. All members of the corps will assist at the tea.

Mrs. McCain Here

Mrs. McCain, wife of Gen. William Alexander McCain, commanding officer of the quartermaster department in Philadelphia, again is a patient at Walter Reed Hospital. Gen. and Mrs. McCain have lived at Turk Farm, their home near Doylestown, Pa., since they sold their Georgetown house several years ago.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Overton Bride of Lt. E. C. Brazelton

Senator and Mrs. John H. Overton, of Louisiana, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Overton, to Lt. Elbert Colyar Brazelton, U. S. A., son of Mr. George Troop Brazelton, and the late Mr. Brazelton of Birmingham and Washington. The wedding took place at noon today in the apartment of Senator and Mrs. Overton in Wardman Park Hotel, the assistant Chief of Chaplains, U. S. A., Lt. Col. Harry Lee Virden officiating in the presence of only the members of the two families. An informal wedding breakfast followed.

The improvised altar was arranged in the drawing room with a background of fern and Southern smilax and clusters of white gladioluses, snapdragons and carnations. In the dining room silver vases filled with white flowers decorated the table, lighted by tall white candles in silver candelabra. The tiered wedding cake, which the bride cut with the bridegroom's saber, was placed in the center of the table.

The bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming gown of powder blue made with a deep yoke of chintilly lace. With this she wore an off-the-face hat of brown trimmed with roses and her shoes and gloves were brown. Her corsage bouquet was of brown orchids and lilies of the valley and her only ornament was a 300-year-old diamond-studded miniature of one of her paternal grandmothers.

Lt. Brazelton had his brother, Mr. Irving Brazelton, as his best man, while his bride was unattended. The bridegroom was educated at Western High School and George Washington University and now is a Reserve officer, on duty at Drew Field. Mrs. Brazelton also attended George Washington University and received her B. A. degree from Louisiana State University, where she was a member of the Kappa Delta Sorority, Theta Sigma Phi, honorary Journalism, Fraternity and Phi Alpha Iota, honorary romance languages fraternity.

Guests from out of town were Mr. D. G. Brazelton of Auburn, Ga., and Mr. Belford Brazelton of Atlanta, brothers of the bridegroom, and his sister, Mrs. Robert French of New York, making the Brazelton family reunion complete for the first time in some years.

Lt. Brazelton and his bride will start later today to motor to Florida, the latter wearing a tailored frock of aqua blue with a fitted coat to match and an off-the-face felt hat in the same color.

Miss Godfrey To Be Married

Lt. Comdr. Vincent Hubbard Godfrey, U. S. N., raised, and Mrs. Godfrey of Annapolis announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Godfrey, to Lt. Dudley Hale Adams, U. S. N., son of Col. Donald Bennett Adams, U. S. A.

Miss Godfrey is a granddaughter of Mrs. Arthur Burnston Owens of The Hill at Greenock, Md. She is a graduate of the Annapolis High School in the class of 1936 and from Sweet Briar College in 1940. She is a member of the Beta Chapter of Tau Omicron Phi, the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Junior Sorority and is a lieutenant and second vice chairman of the Annapolis Chapter of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Lt. Adams, who is the nephew of Mrs. Boyd J. Payne of Burlington, Vt., was graduated from the Burlington High School in 1934, attended Columbia University in New York City and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy with the class of 1939. In 1941 he was graduated from the Naval Aviation School in Pensacola, Fla.

The wedding will take place in the Naval Academy chapel in the near future.

Davies Entertain At Dinner Party

The Secretary of Labor, Miss Frances Perkins, was ranking guest at the dinner given last night by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis in their Wardman Park apartment. Mr. Davis is chairman of the War Labor Board.

Among the others at the dinner were the Undersecretary of War and Mrs. Robert Patterson, the Undersecretary of the Navy, Mr. James V. Forrestal; Rear Admiral and Mrs. Emory E. Land, Mr. Matthew Woll, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Roger D. Lapham, Mr. A. W. Hawkes, Mr. E. J. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Watt, Dr. Fowler D. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Purves, Mr. Cyrus Ching, Mr. H. L. Derby, Mr. Thomas R. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy, Mr. and Mrs. George Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tobin and Mr. Emil Riede.

Cashells Honored On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Cashell were the guests of honor last evening at an informal reception given by their daughters, the Misses Mae and Mary Cashell to celebrate the Cashells' 50th wedding anniversary.

The party was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cashell at Silver Spring.

The house was bright with early spring blossoms, white flowers and fern. On the buffet supper table a tiered wedding cake occupied the place of honor flanked by silver candelsticks holding white candles. Assisting were Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, Mrs. Charles Leizer and the Misses Pearl and Marguerite Graves of Silver Spring; and Mrs. Milton Fidler and Miss Gertrude Marlow of Washington.

Mrs. Borah Back

Mrs. William E. Borah, widow of Senator Borah, who has been away since last October, has returned to the capital. She is at the Shoreham Hotel, where she plans to remain until her apartment, at 2101 Connecticut avenue, is available.

Mrs. Borah spent some time at her home in Boise, Idaho, and with relatives and friends in other parts of the West and Northwest.

Cherrydale Unit Schedules Fete For Saturday

Members of the Cherrydale (Va.) Daughters of the American Revolution will serve as hostesses and provide refreshments Saturday evening to servicemen at the Arlington Recreation Center, Tenth and Irving streets, Clarendon, Va. Members of the Red Cross Motor Corps of Clarendon will sponsor the supper Sunday evening.

A recent gift of 30 volumes from the research library of the late H. W. Poole has been made to the center library by Mrs. Poole, a member of the Arlington Woman's Club.

The center is proving more popular each week with servicemen stationed in and about Arlington County. Open each Saturday from 1 p.m. to midnight and on Sunday from 1 to 10:30 p.m., it offers a library, game rooms, dance auditorium and dining hall without charge for entertainment of the servicemen. Supported entirely by free offerings from Arlington County, the center is housed in the old Clarendon Methodist Church which donated the building rent free. When the church moved to its new building, the old church was placed at the disposal of the Arlington Recreational Committee. All repairs were contributed by local painters, decorators and other workmen.

Each week, refreshments are served by clubwomen of Arlington County.

Mrs. Worthy P. Sterns, octogenarian member of Chapter B, P. E. O. Sisterhood, accepts a farewell gift from Mrs. E. O. Woodruff, also in her eighties, before her departure for Illinois. The gift was presented by the chapter, at a tea yesterday. The two women have been members of the sisterhood for over 50 years.

P. E. O. Group Fetes Three Members

Octogenarians Are Honored by Sisterhood

Three "young" octogenarians were the center of attention at a tea held yesterday by Chapter B, P. E. O. Sisterhood, at the studio of the Washington branch, League of American Pen Women, 1851 Columbia road N.W. The guests, Mrs. Worthy P. Sterns, Mrs. A. H. Williams and Mrs. E. O. Woodruff, each boast a membership in the sisterhood of over 50 years and laughingly call themselves the "Three Antiques."

The tea served as a farewell to Mrs. Sterns, a past president of Chapter B, who is leaving this week for her new home in Peoria, Ill., and who declares that she is the "antique" of the three. Mrs. Sterns was the recipient of a farewell gift from the chapter as well as many individual gifts from members.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Woodruff, both members of Chapter B, were originally members of the sisterhood's first chapter, A, in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, and knew four of the seven founders intimately.

Hostesses at the tea included Mrs. Simon C. Skeele, Mrs. Otis William Swainson, Mrs. Augustus O. Thomas and Mrs. Willa B. Hammond.

Alternating at the tea table, attractively decorated with white sweet peas and yellow acacia, the P. E. O. colors, were Mrs. Inez Sheldon Tyler, Mrs. J. W. Crabtree, Miss Ethel Blake and Mrs. Edgar B. Meritt, the chapter president.

The tea was preceded by a business meeting at which Mrs. Meritt presided. The program included a talk on "Peru and Colombia," by Mrs. Carl Alasko, who has spent much time in those two countries. The chapter voted to purchase a Defense bond.

D. C. Federation To Hear Talk on Americanization

"Americanization Work in the United States Today" Will Be Subject of a Talk by Miss Maud Alton of Webster School at a Meeting of the District Federation of Women's Clubs at 11 a.m. tomorrow at 2600 Sixteenth street N.W.

Henry I. Quinn, local lawyer, will speak on "Defense Stamps and Bonds." A forum, led by Mrs. Carlton Duffus, chairman of the Committee on Stamps and Bonds, will follow the speakers, who will be introduced by Mrs. Tilman Bacon Parks, chairman of the department of American citizenship.

The federation and its members are actively participating in many defense activities. Many have contributed to the blood bank; others are serving 10 to 14 hours daily as deputy air wardens, and one member is building an air-raid shelter in her back yard for the use of her community.

Individual clubs, as well as the federation as an organized group, are buying Defense bonds, while individuals are purchasing stamps and bonds. In addition to Red Cross work and assisting in the salvage campaign, members are working on draft boards and are registered for civilian defense.

McGehee Sees Nation Run by 'Inexperienced'

Representative McGehee, Democrat, of Mississippi told the House yesterday "too many socialistic, theoretical and inexperienced" persons controlled the destiny of the Nation in this critical war period and that it was time to "wake up."

He said Price Administrator Henderson had been pictured on the front pages as "a bicycle rider, blond toter, cheroot smoker and 1917 Ford fender straightener."

He said the occupant of this post should have "more dignity" and charged public confidence would not be obtained until "a man of practical experience and with a background of universal approval" was placed in that office.

Mr. McGehee charged the public had no confidence in the National Labor Relations Board or "the racketeering leadership of certain labor leaders as Sidney Hillman, John L. Lewis, Phillip Murray and others."

"There is being advocated," Mr. McGehee continued, as well as "talked and taught and forced in some instances," social equality between the Negro and white race, which, he said, was "just as impossible as the mixing of milk and ink."

Marilyn Goldstein Is Married to Mr. Cooperman

Miss Marilyn Brenda Goldstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldstein, was married to Mr. Abraham Cooperman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cooperman of New York City, Saturday at the home of her parents, 1444 Spring road. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Z. Green in the presence of relatives.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue crepe dress, made with a close-fitting bodice and a matching hat trimmed with white flowers, and navy veil. She wore a spray of orchids on her shoulder.

Mrs. Joseph A. Loeb, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mr. Nathan Cooperman of New York City was best man for his brother.

A buffet supper, following immediately after the ceremony, was attended by guests from Baltimore and New York City.

D. A. R. Unit Plans Program Friday

Songs and speeches will be featured on a program of the Capt. Joseph Magruder Chapter, D. A. R., at 2 p.m. Friday at the D. A. R. Chapter House. The affair will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the chapter on February 28, 1917, and a number of the talks will be on important personalities and events in the history of the chapter.

The theme of the program will be "Files on Parade" and will be presented by Miss Lida B. Earhart, Mrs. David D. Caldwell will be mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Joseph H. Brisebois, chapter regent, will preside.

The program will open with a recital of the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. Sarah R. Harmon and will conclude with group singing, accompanied by Mrs. Earl B. Fuller.

Guests of honor will include State and national officers, who will be introduced by the regent.

Mrs. Swofford Is Honor Guest At Farewell Fete

Miss Florence A. Armstrong and Miss Sue S. White were joint hostesses at luncheon yesterday entertaining at the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women in honor of Mrs. Jewell Swofford, chairman of the United States Employees Compensation Commission. The party was in the nature of a farewell fete for Mrs. Swofford will leave for New York shortly as her agency is among those being moved from the National Capital.

Other guests at luncheon were Mrs. Albert Gore, Miss Mary W. Newson, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Mrs. Henry Gratton Doyle, Mrs. Jack B. Tate, Mrs. Ida C. Merriam, Miss Katherine C. Blackburn, Mrs. Letitia Jewell Miller, Mrs. Joseph Howarth, Miss Maurice Mulliner, Mrs. Albert Kerr, Mrs. Ellen Commons, Mrs. Carroll Stewart, Miss Anna Mabel Matthews, Mrs. Samuel Herrick, Mrs. Gertrude Gates, Mrs. May Thompson Evans, Mrs. Mary E. Waters and Mrs. Thornton Brown.

Rowena Middleton Wed to Sergt. Hulse

Cards have been received in Washington announcing the marriage of Miss Rowena Middleton to Sergt. Herbert Bruce Hulse on February 10 in Monticello, Fla. The wedding took place in the ancestral home of the bride, the date having been advanced from the early summer because of the bridegroom's military orders.

The bride, who is a gifted musician, was graduated from the Chicago Conservatory of Music. She has been serving as hostess and musical director of entertainment at Dale Mabry Field.

Sergt. Hulse is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hulse of Charlotte, N. C., and is an honor graduate of Columbus University Law School. He became office manager in a local firm and later established himself as a practicing lawyer in Charlotte. He was prominently identified with the Junior Chamber of Commerce of North Carolina and the Young Democratic Club. He also served as judge of the County Recorder's Court. Sergt. Hulse was inducted into the Army in May, 1941, and at the time of his marriage was staff sergeant in the office of military courts and boards at Dale Mabry Field.

SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY HELPS SKINS to look younger.

A bold statement! But nation-wide testimony of users confirm what scientists already have pointed out: Endocrine—the new, revolutionary endocrine cream for face, neck and hands—can effect definite results in making many skins look younger again. This is because Endocrine contains ACTIVOL*, a counterpart of a natural bodily substance, the decrease of which frequently causes women's skins to dry and age. No other cream contains this precious ingredient. Yet a month's supply of Endocrine costs only 11 1/2¢ a day. Ask at our Cosmetic Counter for your copy of "What Users Think of Endocrine". Just remember that women must look their youthful best in these days of wartime stress and strain.

Stull Tells Georgetown Group That 'Awakening'
Will Follow War

Harry N. Stull, president of the Federation of Citizens' Associations, predicted last night before the Georgetown Citizens' Association that "after this war people will see the part that our organizations have had in civilian defense and become aroused to their own civic responsibility and participation in civic affairs."

The history of the Federation was outlined by Mr. Stull, who emphasized that the body was the most representative of local citizenry. He added that while usual activities were being curtailed now, it was with the view of attending to the immediate situation.

The Federation president has recently undertaken the post of assistant chief air-raid warden of the District, and he explained that this would cause him to reduce his own activity in the Federation.

The Georgetown group voted a resolution, introduced by Ernest I. Lewis, calling for action in reconditioning Western High School. A report given jointly by Mr. Lewis and Dr. B. H. Meyer described the school as "outdated and totally inadequate for modern education." The resolution called for an investigation of the needed improvements in the building immediately.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing spoke before the group, representing the District Salvage Committee, and explained the program of "Saw-logs for Victory." The group voted that a committee be appointed with complete authority on the subject.

Naval Academy Board Membership Is Listed

Membership of the Board of Visitors to the United States Naval Academy was announced yesterday by the Navy Department.

Chairman Walsh of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee and Chairman Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee are ex officio members. In addition, President Roosevelt has named the following: Joseph W. Powell, president of the Webb Institute of Naval Architecture and now on duty in the office of the Secretary of the Navy; President J. Hugh O'Donnell of the University of Notre Dame, President Rufus B. Von Kleinsmid of the University of Southern California, President Robert L. Johnson of Temple University, President John L. Newcomb of the University of Virginia, President James P. Baxter, 3d, of Williams College and President Harold Willis Dodds of Princeton University.

Others selected are Senators Herring of Iowa, Hughes of Delaware, Smathers of New Jersey and Brewster of Maine. Others from the House are Representatives Rees of Kansas, Hess of Ohio, Isaac of California, Vincent of Kentucky and Jacobson of Iowa.

Must Your Daughter Risk Happy Marriage on Half-Truths?

Many a mother, reared in days of false modesty, dreads to "tell her daughter." Little wonder so many young wives unknowingly risk happiness by using over-strong solutions of acids for the douche which can actually burn, scar and even desensitize delicate tissue.

Today such doubts and unhappiness, such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

Scintillating Recital Given By Vladimir Horowitz
Audience Cheers Pianist in Choice Program That Shows Perfection of Technique

By ALICE EVERSMAN.

The extraordinary virtuosity of Vladimir Horowitz held the capacity audience enthralled far past the closing time of his piano recital last night in Constitution Hall. It was a recital that scintillated with a perfection of technique and a musical thoughtfulness that never wavered in complete concentration in every number. Unanimous acclamation punctured with cheers rang through the hall as the audience refused to leave and seemed insatiable in its desire to hear more.

The program provided sufficient variety, yet held chiefly to the type of work in which Mr. Horowitz can astound and electrify. A change was made in the first number, the Bach-Busoni "Tocatta in C Major" being substituted for the four Scarlatti Sonatas on the printed list. The Bach was evidently just what the pianist felt would start the evening out in the right way, for he played it superbly, following it with the Schubert "Sonata in A Major, Op. 120," two Mazurkas from Chopin's Opus 68 and the "Scherzo No. 1 in B Minor, Op. 20." Prokofiev's "Sonata No. 2," Liszt's "Sonnetto del Petrarca, No. 104" and his piano arrangements of Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre."

Two elements were outstanding in Mr. Horowitz' performance—his amazing power and fleetness in the mechanics of playing and his minute analysis of every measure. The first has always been a Horowitz asset and the latter a development with the years. With all this perfection that can only excite unbounded admiration, the fact could not be overlooked at the end of the program that Mr. Horowitz in reality manufactures the music. Each note is taken and furnished with its proper color and made to say just the correct thing to the correct degree. If it is to speak softly, or if it is to blazon forth in might or majesty, it does so at the proper moment and without exaggeration one way or another.

But what the music is never permitted to do is to take hold of the player, carry him high on its wings and make him exult or languish in its sheer beauty. By the intellectual artistry which Mr. Horowitz exercises and aided by his magnificent equipment, he keeps the music close to him, between his mind, his fingers and the instrument. This is all exquisitely done but it is well-behaved interpretation never startling by its exuberance or touching with its infinite tenderness, in spite of its speed or its softness.

Thus it was that none of the gentle gaiety of Schubert entered into the sonata and none of the passionate poetry into the Liszt sonnetto. True, they were played with a whispering loveliness expertly phrased but lacking the eloquence of a poet. In fact, there was little difference in the quality of the pianissimo used in the second section of the Bach, the Schubert sonata, the Chopin mazurka or the sonnetto. The particular style and the relation of the lyric sentiment to it was not emphasized and the color dynamics followed the same pattern in each work.

The novelty of the program was the sonata by Prokofiev, who seems to be riding on a wave of popularity this season with artists and orchestras. The work is a technical tour de force for the player and Mr. Horowitz passed over its difficulties without a quiver. From what is known of other compositions of Prokofiev it might be felt that more is to be found in the sonata than Mr. Horowitz brought out, for his outline of it was harsh and heavy without the insinuating lightness that is the composer's great charm. The tumultuous beginning is hardly as sinister as Mr. Horowitz conceived it or the second and third movements as pointed or languorous as he played them. This first performance here of the sonata revealed the composite quality of Prokofiev's genius and also its elusiveness to one whose range of sympathy is not widespread.

The recital closed with a brilliant performance of the "Danse Macabre" which in Mr. Horowitz' revision gives still greater opportunity for technical prowess. In all Mr. Horowitz' playing, however, he manages to make his instrument ring with a rich, vibrant tone heard in all its glory in the Bach toccata. Even when his expression of sentiment is so carefully minute as to reach sentimentality, the tonal timbre is fine and well rounded.

An innovation of this recital that might be copied by other artists was the program notes of the same character as those of symphonic programs.

HOW TO Write YOUR ADVERTISING

The writing of good advertising is a process as simple, as sane, as understandable, as logical... as the writing of a letter home to Mother.

There isn't any magic in it. It is just applied common sense.

Until you've found your way to write your advertising, to make your advertising interesting to buyers... we'd gladly help you.

If you are just starting to advertise, we suggest that you base all of your writing on this phrase: people buy from the story or the man that they know and believe in and like.

Knowing that, KNOWING it, you can smile at the brilliant, the smart, the professional look of other advertising, for yours will be good, too; maybe even better.

So, make certain that your advertising is planned and checked and written (and rewritten) to make your customers believe in your integrity, to make them like you, to make them PREFER to buy the things that you sell.

The kind of writing builds a business. That is processing sales. That is selling. That will BUY your dividends.

Society of Natives To Put $1,350 Surplus Into Defense Bonds

Decides Also to Forego Anniversary Dinner Because of the War

The Society of Natives of the District of Columbia last night resolved unanimously to devote its capital surplus to the purchase of United States Defense savings bonds and to discontinue for this year, because of the war, the customary dinner celebrating the founding of the society 22 years ago.

The resolution calling for use of the society's surplus funds, amounting to $1,350, to purchase Defense bonds was submitted by William E. Richardson, acting secretary for the evening, and seconded by Jesse C. Suter. Both Mr. Richardson and Mr. Suter are former presidents of the society.

In moving that the annual "birthday dinner" be discontinued this year, Mr. Suter suggested to the society that it celebrate its anniversary with an informal meeting devoted to "entertainment and reminiscence."

Following the business session, members took part in a brief entertainment program. Last night's meeting was held at the Washington Club, 1701 K street N.W. John A. Saul is president of the society.

Nature's Children

Australian Ring-Tailed Opossum

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY.

Opossums are considered low in the mammalian series. They rate very far down in the class when the intelligence test is given. In America, the only mammal that carries its young in a pouch is our Virginia Opossum. All other marsupials live in Australia, New Guinea and nearby islands. Two-thirds of Australia's mammals are marsupials.

The ring-tailed is the only Australian opossum to build a nest. Why it has so departed from the usual opossum habit of finding a sheltered place in a hollow tree, where privacy may be reasonably expected, we shall never know.

Give Your Feet An Ice-Mint Treat

Get Happy, Cooling Relief For Burning Calluses—Put Spring In Your Step. Don't groan about tired, burning feet. Don't moan about calluses. Get busy and give them an Ice-Mint treat. Feel the comforting, soothing coolness of Ice-Mint driving out fiery burning... aching tiredness. Rub Ice-Mint over those ugly hard old calluses, as directed. See how white, cream-like Ice-Mint helps soften them up—chase them away. Get foot happy today the Ice-Mint way. Your druggist has Ice-Mint.

As far as can be ascertained this ring-tailed opossum follows family traditions faithfully in all other respects. During the day the hours are spent in sleep, either in the hollow tree home or among the leafy branches.

When the twilight hours arrive, the opossum opens its drowsy eyes, sticks out a long, pink tongue and apparently is telling its world that it is time to eat again.

Almost anything is acceptable. Of course, eggs and fruit are the favorite breakfast of most Americans today, so there is really nothing strange in an animal enjoying them, too. But the opossum is really a heavy eater and is quite fond of adding meat in goodly amounts to his breakfast—so he markets also for small birds and mammals. Insects, though small, are juicy morsels; these are picked up along the way.

Hunting at night gives the opossum an advantage over his victims.

He can see well in the dark and they cannot. Further, they are usually sound asleep when he makes his rounds. Whether there are those in the "Down Under" country (Australia) as fond of the tender and tasty meat of the opossum as people in the Southern parts of the United States, we have not been informed as yet.

Of course, you know that the opossum mother gives birth to her young while they are in the most immature stage. They creep to their pouch nursery, which is really the first known incubator, and there they continue to develop, fully nourished by all the rich, warm milk they need. The pouch remains closed after the tiny babies enter it until they have a soft fur coat, a fine prehensile tail and a full set of teeth. For them to reach this stage takes several months from the time they crept into the cozy pouch.

Until the youngsters are fully able to take care of themselves, they are glad enough to scurry back to their mother and the pouch. Dull-witted though they are said to be, they learn their lessons quickly and well. One is the famous "playing possum" or feigning death trick. This is said to save many an opossum from a violent end, although there are some foes who are just as satisfied with a dead opossum as a live one, and perhaps even more so. The nocturnal habits, the large number of young and their gift for climbing and swinging from a limb well out of the reach of foes, all have enabled the opossum to hold its own.

Placement Agencies Established by Army

Information and personnel placement agencies for the 3d Corps Area have been set up in Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Richmond, Md. Gen. Milton A. Reckord announced yesterday. The local office is the Washington Military District, Riverside Apartments, 2145 C street N.W.

The agencies have been established, according to the Associated Press, to furnish information as to possible employment and, in appropriate cases, to receive questionnaires and forward them to 3d Corps Area headquarters in Baltimore. Applications are available for persons wishing to volunteer in any capacity, either as civilian employees or as commissioned officers.

Rent Aide Cites Rising Costs as Problem in Adjusting Charges

Henry Points to Aid Available to Landlord As Well as Tenant

Ernest F. Henry, general counsel of the Rent Commission, last night outlined before the Mid-City Citizens' Association the problem of adjusting rents in the District to a rising level of living costs.

Conceding that expenses involved in the maintenance of housing accommodations had become an increasing burden to many landlords here, he pointed out that application could be made for an upward revision in the rental provided the landlord was able to prove a substantial rise in operating costs.

He expressed the hope, however, that the efforts of the Office of Price Administration would curb any large-scale inflation in general living costs comparable to the "run-away" prices we had in the last war.

Mr. Henry cautioned inexperienced landlords they would do well to draw up a written agreement with any prospective tenants now being taken in during the current housing shortage, as otherwise it would be difficult for them to get rid of those who were found undesirable.

In a brief business meeting, the group supported Secretary of the Interior Ickes for his opposition to the use of the Mall for parking purposes, after voting down a motion by Nathan M. Lubar approving such parking provisions.

The association passed resolutions offered by the Executive Committee approving the 20-cent taxi pickup plan, denouncing a proposed 2-cent increase per quart in milk prices and supporting the Commissioners in their request for 1,000 additional hospital beds in the District.

W. C. T. U. Unit Sends $1,500 for Blood Bank

The Missouri branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has contributed $1,500 to the American Red Cross for the purchase of a mobile blood bank unit, national headquarters of the W. C. T. U. at Evanston, Ill., notified officers of the local unit here today.

This is the first major contribution of the W. C. T. U. under its national defense program, it was explained. On February 17 the St. Louis W. C. T. U. pledged $500 for this purpose. This was followed by a pledge of $1,000 from the State branch of the organization. Mrs. Nelle G. Burger, president of the Missouri branch, notified Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national president, that $1,500 has been sent to the Red Cross in Washington for the purchase of a completely equipped mobile unit. Several other State unions are expected to make similar contributions in the near future, Mrs. Smith said.

Autoists Urged To Save '41 Tags For Salvage

Officials of the District Salvage Committee today appealed to motorists to save their 1941 license plates and to turn them over to a gasoline station on or after April 1 as an aid to national defense.

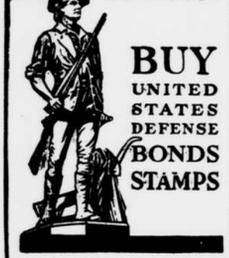

The salvaged metal will have two uses, under plans already approved by the Commissioners. Narrow strips will be cut from them to be used in the making of a date strip to be affixed to 1942 District auto plates a year hence. New 1943 tags, as such, will not be manufactured.

The remainder of the salvaged material will be sent to steel mills for use in national defense, it was explained by Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer.

Application blanks for 1942 D. C. tags recently were mailed out to resident motorists, and over-counter tag sales were started yesterday.

In commending the Department of Vehicles and Traffic for co-operation in the plan, the District Salvage Committee said public co-operation was important since about 100,000 pounds of metal could be reclaimed from 1941 tags, soon to be discarded.

Schools in First District Beat January Paper Total by 5 Tons

41,894-Pound Report In 3 Weeks Exceeds Entire Previous Month

Schools in the first district in The Evening Star-P-T. A. Salvage for Victory program, although visited only three times during February because of the Washington birthday anniversary holiday, exceeded their January total, which represented a four-week collection, by 10,468 pounds.

During the three weeks of February, this district turned in 39,135 pounds of paper and cardboard and 2,759 pounds of magazines, for a grand total of 41,894 pounds as compared with January's 31,426.

With only five exceptions, each of the schools bettered the four-week total of January.

Jefferson Junior, the city leader, was first with 11,031 pounds. Buchanan was second with 8,202. Van Buren, with 2,428, was third. Next in rank was Bryan with 2,112. Following, and closely bunched were Ketcham with 1,762, Randall Junior with 1,730, Ambush with 1,729 and Congress Heights with 1,680.

Returns are not completely in for yesterday's collections, but early reports indicate a very heavy take. Three trucks were out until late in the afternoon gathering the contributions of Washington's amazing school children, who are setting a standard for school children all over the nation in salvaging waste paper and stimulating the recovery of all kinds of salvage material which is needed now as shortages in raw materials grow more pressing. The accomplishment here is being closely watched by government officials who have found great encouragement in the co-operation.

The total collected to date is 756,531 pounds.

Controllers' Institute Hears Chilean Counselor

Higinio Gonzalez, commercial counselor of the Chilean Embassy, told the District chapter of the Controllers' Institute of America last night that all the nations in the Americas are seeking a "consolidation of the principles of continental solidarity, based on justice, liberty and peace."

Speaking at a meeting at the Carlton Hotel, Senor Gonzalez pointed out that the war has "enormously sharpened" the economic problems of Latin American countries because of the loss of European markets, which took over half their exports in 1938.

The United States is aiding greatly in granting credits to stabilize currencies and in making extraordinary purchases of strategic materials for defense industries, he said. Long-term plans for future inter-American economic life are being considered by the Inter-American Financial and Economic Committee, he added.

O. H. Ritenour is president of the District chapter of the institute.

Defendant to Challenge Dies Group's Legality

An attack upon the legality of the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities is in prospect by the defense, when legal assaults upon the validity of the indictment charging Dr. Albert Blumberg of Baltimore, reputed Communist leader, with failing to answer the committee's questions, are heard on March 19.

This became known today when Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray announced that the trial is scheduled for March 23. It had been expected that the preliminary legal motions and the trial would take place earlier before Justice James W. Morris in District Court, but one of the defense counsel, Charles E. Ford, was called to Florida on business.

While Justice F. Dickinson Letts already has sustained the legality of the indictment, Mr. Murray recalled today that the jurist had done so "without prejudice," permitting the attacks to be renewed.

45 Women Complete Training for Gray Ladies

In ceremonies tomorrow and Friday 45 women will be inducted into units of the local Red Cross Gray Ladies. Having completed their Red Cross training course, they will handle recreational facilities for patients in Army and Navy hospitals.

Miss Mattie Gibson, superintendent of Children's Hospital, will present certificates to 19 women at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Dr. Joseph S. Wall, chairman of the hospital staff, will speak, and Mrs. Albert N. Eggs, chairman of the District Red Cross Hospital and Recreation Service, will give the graduates the Gray Ladies' pledge.

At Gallinger Hospital 26 more women will be inducted into the service at 11 a.m. Friday, while seven others will join at Blue Plains.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Give Manuscripts to Library

The Library of Congress is to receive from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at 3 p.m. today the transcriptions and manuscripts of her Sunday afternoon broadcasts for the Pan-American Coffee Producers.

Luther H. Evans, chief assistant librarian, is to accept the material. They will be the first radio manuscripts to go in the library's files.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be accompanied by Enrico Penteado, Financial Attache of the Brazilian Embassy.

Mrs. Roosevelt's broadcasts were presented over Station WMAL.

Why Thousands of Doctors Ordered This For CHILDREN'S BAD COUGHS

(CAUSED BY COLDS)

Mothers are simply overjoyed about Pertussin because often the first spoonfuls help bring PROMPT relief from bronchitis and croupy coughs due to colds. And Pertussin is so pleasant and safe for kiddies to take! Nothing to sicken delicate little stomachs—it's entirely free from dope, chloroform and coal tar products.

Pertussin is scientifically prepared to act at once to relieve your child's coughing spasms. It increases natural secretions in the respiratory tract to soothe dry irritated membranes. It improves ciliary action, loosens sticky phlegm and makes it easier to raise. Also mighty effective for adults. Inexpensive! Any drugstore.

Red Cross Sets Up 17 Central Kitchens For Emergencies

375 Volunteer Women In Charge; 900 More Are Being Trained

Seventeen central kitchens to feed District residents made homeless by air raids or other disasters have been set up by the District Red Cross Emergency Canteen Corps, Mrs. Sherman Trowbridge, canteen corps chairman, announced today.

So far 375 women, most of them trained in canteen work, have registered to operate these kitchens on a volunteer basis. In 18 nutrition classes and 12 emergency canteen classes some 900 others are being trained.

These central kitchens will be entirely separate from the O. C. D. feeding stations. According to the plan developed by O. C. D. the civilian defense stations will furnish soup and coffee to those made homeless by bombings for the first 24 hours, after which the Red Cross kitchens will take over for three meals a day.

The chairman and their central feeding stations are as follows:

Mrs. Howard Wilkinson, St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Eighteenth and Church streets; Mrs. Charles Y. Wheeler, Church of the Epiphany, 1317 G street N.W.; Mrs. James Mathews, Holy Trinity Church, Thirty-sixth and O streets N.W.; Mrs. Frank M. Elliot, All Souls' Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets N.W.; Mrs. N. R. Ellis, Sherwood Presbyterian Church, 3202 Twenty-second street N.E.; Mrs. Belle H. Wilhelm, Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and Allison streets N.W.; Mrs. Margaret L. Clark, Emory Methodist Church, 6100 Georgia avenue N.W.; Mrs. J. Veaux and Mrs. Bruno Waldman, Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q streets N.W.; Mrs. Charles Dewey, St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Third and B streets S.E.; Mrs. Martin McGroary, Lutheran Church of the Atonement, U and Rhode Island avenue N.E.; Mrs. Herbert Sommers, Washington Hebrew Congregation, Eighth and H streets N.W.; Mrs. Myrtle Motherhead, Third Christian Church, Sixth and H streets S.W.; Mrs. Samuel Herick, Cleveland Park Club, Thirty-fourth and Highland place N.W.; Mrs. Charlotte Gordon, Metropolitan Baptist Church, 1225 R street N.W.; Mrs. May Flanagan, St. Francis Xavier, Twenty-eighth and Pennsylvania avenue S.E.; Mrs. Marian Woods, Mount Carmel Baptist Church, Third and Eye streets N.E.; and Mrs. Lawrence Gordon, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, 527 Kentucky avenue S.E.

Singapore Caught Lying Down, Refugees in Britain Charge

By The Associated Press.

A BRITISH PORT, Feb. 25.—Woebegone refugees from Singapore, standing in the midst of their few salvaged belongings, said last night the island fortress which surrendered in six days "was caught lying down."

"It was the case of the 'Singapore mind' to the end," dryly remarked N. Hamilton of Dunfermline, Scotland, an engineer.

"We had two or three air raids before we left. They were revelations. Most of the lights in the city were ablaze when the Japanese planes came.

"Dances and parties were in full swing. Why, even the Japanese raiders themselves came over with navigation lights on.

"I was in the civil defense service but we did not start building machine-gun posts until after the first raid."

A naval officer who survived the sinking of the battleship Repulse off Malaya and went to Singapore afterward corroborated Hamilton's story.

"When I got there," the officer everything for the expected assault," Mary George Hamilton, 19-year-old daughter of the engineer, said: "Until the bombs came down we did not know there was a war. Everything was gay."

Many of the women, some with their babies in their arms, were crying. They did not know what happened to the husbands they left behind.

Often a bridesmaid, but never a bride. (She wouldn't buy any Defense bonds.)

STORE UP IRON for YOUR BLOOD

Get Vitamin B for your Nerves

When the body craves these vital elements, a rich supply will put color in your cheeks, enrich your blood, benefit your glands and other organs. WITHOUT ALCOHOL OR HABIT-FORMING DRUGS.

When your system is low in iron and vitamin B, all your organs slow down—you look bad, get tired easily, and feel played out. Iron makes red blood and red blood is vital for healthy muscles, healthy skin, healthy glands and healthy organs. Iron-poor blood may cause low vitality, heart palpitations, shortness of breath, swollen ankles and frequent periods of ill health.

Your nerves need vitamin B and so do your stomach and bowels; if you don't have enough vitamin B you may get painful, nagging stomach upsets, constipation, weak appetite, mental depression, restless sleep and you can suffer in other ways.

In these conditions, you need ENRICH, the thrilling new tonic that tastes like juice of wild cherries and gives you more iron every day than a bushel of spinach or boxes of raisins. More vitamin B daily than 8 ordinary cakes of yeast. Your pep comes back with a bounce when you restore missing iron and vitamin B, and you eat more, stop worrying and sleep better. Thousands of men and women feel keener and lead happier lives through the help of ENRICH. Don't wait.

One bottle, $1.79; full course treatment, 3 bottles, $5.00. Large size, $3.19. Money refunded unless ENRICH improves your state of well-being.

While They Last

You and An Air Raid
What You Should Know

From a Series of Articles in The Evening Star and
The Sunday Star
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Public demand for accurate information about air raid precautions made an overnight "best-seller" of "You and An Air Raid," the pamphlet based on the series of articles published recently in The Star and revised to include suggestions and official instructions since publication of the articles.

Thousands of copies of these attractive pamphlets have been distributed in Washington and in many other cities of the United States. A few thousand remain and another printing at this time is not contemplated. If you wish to have one, you should order it now—while the pamphlets are still available.

Indorsed by national and local officials of civilian defense, the pamphlet brings together and simplifies the vast amount of civilian defense material that has been put out.

Copies may be obtained for 2 cents each at the counter of The Star Building, Eleventh and Pennsylvania avenue N.W., or by mail for 5 cents each (to cover partial cost of printing and handling). If you order by mail, address "You and An Air Raid Editor," and inclose, with your address, 5 cents in coin or stamps.

American Scientists Prepare for Invasion Of Disease Germs

Training in Tropical Medicine Rushed As Defense Move

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Wide World Science Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25.—Potential invasion of the United States by the disease germs of the whole world is causing concern in the medical profession.

Japanese guns at Pearl Harbor were the signal that literally opened America's long-guarded doors, and already the first microbe enemies have begun infiltration.

The danger is subtle. Many of the diseases our soldiers will encounter and bring back are well known here, and not much feared.

But in the tropical areas these same diseases include more virulent types. The microbes themselves are a little different, and these virulent types are rarely found in the United States.

Natives Little Affected.

The virulent strains hide behind the fact that native peoples are little affected. But our soldiers and our people have little resistance to these strains.

Lurking behind these germs are the great plagues, which long ago were banished from the American way of life. Most of them are endemic in the areas where American troops are now on guard or in battle. The germ foes are lumped under the name tropical diseases. This is a misleading name, since some are tropical only in the sense that they have long been under control in the snowy northlands, where they once flourished.

Military medical men are doing a rush job of defense by training hundreds of doctors in tropical medicine. At Tulane University School of Medicine, which for years has been the foremost tropical medicine center in the United States, Dr. C. E. Faust, acting head of the department of tropical medicine and president of the American Society of Tropical Medicine, gives this outline:

The four most common of these diseases are bacillary dysentery, amebiasis, malaria and hookworm.

Humans Are Carriers.

The first two are not uncommon in the North, for the carriers are humans and contaminated food and drink. Surveys in the North have shown 3 to 4 per cent of the people are carriers of amebiasis.

Amebiasis is the disease which took a sensational surge in Chicago during the Century of Progress, and numbered Texas Guinan among its victims.

Difficulties with both diseases in the North are anticipated if the more virulent types are imported. Hookworm would probably be confined to the South, where the same threat of virulent types holds.

Malaria might be largely confined to the South. But there are considerable risks in the North. One of the tropical types, falciparum, is often fatal. The Northern United States has been free of this type.

Cases Appear in Trinidad.

But falciparum already has appeared among American soldiers in Trinidad, and cases have been sent back to United States hospitals for treatment. Troops from the North, in the maneuvers in Western Louisiana and East Texas last fall, acquired a considerable amount of malaria of those regions. Residents of the same regions are partially immune.

The most feared plagues are bubonic, or black death, and epidemic typhus, the European fever which killed 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 in and after World War I.

Bubonic plague is carried by rats and other animals. But it spreads to man mainly from rat fleas. This plague now exists among ground squirrels in the Western United States. It has not spread to the domestic rats, and American deaths have been only a few a year from contact with wild rodents.

However, the so-called tropical rat fleas that are the main carriers have been found on American rats as far north as Central New York and Wisconsin.

Epidemic typhus is louse-born. American sanitation may offer adequate protection.

Other diseases which can spread easily in the United States are yellow fever, cholera, and typhoid. Cholera probably would not get far because of sanitary precautions. There are also some blood fluke diseases.

The flukes are parasites that have to live in snails for part of their life cycles. Soldiers pick them up bathing or wading. They may come home still carrying the flukes. If they live in regions lacking the right kind of snails, the disease will not spread, since the flukes require certain species of snails.

The best that can be said of the United States is that no one knows whether we possess any of the serious tropical fluke type of snails. In World War I Australian soldiers carried home a serious fluke disease from Africa. African slaves long ago carried another one to South America, but this fluke disease never got a foothold in North America.

War is not all destructive in a medical sense. In guarding against the potential tropical disease invasions, medical advances are expected, such as better treatments, better controls and possibly recognition of carriers not now considered.

Advice to the Lovelorn
BY GRACIE (WELL I SWAN) ALLEN

Dear Gracie:

I think my "steady" would pop the question tomorrow except he's afraid he'll have to wash the dishes after we're married — which he will. How can I get around this?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

Get around to the store, get a dozen cakes of Swan — and the question's as good as popped!

Swan lathers twice as fast as old-time floaties so your "steady" will be crazy about doing dishes!

Gracie

Dear Gracie:

My husband's mad at me because I spent $1287.53 on soap last month. But with 8 children — and living in Soft Coal Dells — gee, what's a girl to do?

Little Mother

Dear Little Mother:

Get some Swan Soap quick — before your husband goes home to father!

Swan is firmer than old-style floaties — more real soap for your money. It lasts and lasts!

Gracie

Dear Gracie:

A large, pure white bird appeared to me in a dream and said "Goo! Goo!" What does this mean?

Anxious Dreamer

Dear Anxious Dreamer:

The bird stands for a cake of Swan, which is also large, white and pure.

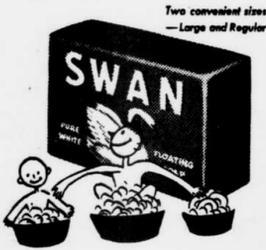

"Goo! Goo!" means you should use Swan for babies, 'cause Swan is mild as the finest imported castiles!

Gracie

Dear Gracie:

This year, we—uns have decided to wash. What's the best soap?

Hillbilly Joe and family

Dear Joe:

You'll never regret your decision — if you use SWAN Soap.

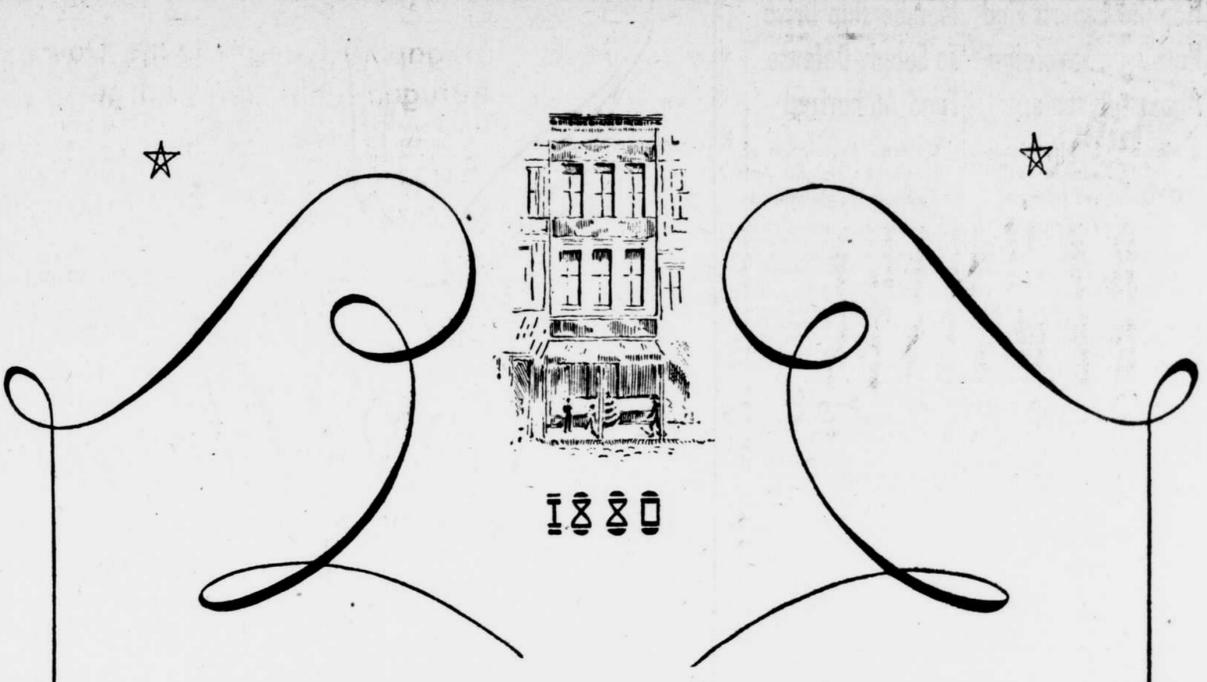

Swan's whiter — gives richer lather even in hard water — breaks smoother, easily — smells fresher, cleaner — feels smoother —

All in all, Swan's 8 WAYS BETTER THAN OLD-STYLE FLOATIES!

Today We Look at Yesterday to Inspire Us for Tomorrow...

Today, the 25th of February, is sixty-two years since this business was founded at 705 Market Space. Mr. Woodward and Mr. Lothrop were from New England and had learned merchandising in Boston, so they named their store "The Boston Dry Goods House," and so it is still referred to by many of the older generation.

Sixty-two years ago it was a small and unknown store consigned to failure by some of its competitors because it dared to be original. Many of those original ideas have now become standard practice in good storekeeping—are well-rooted and honored traditions in this and much of all business. Today, Woodward & Lothrop has an international reputation as one of the country's leading retail stores—acclaimed as "A Store Worthy of the Nation's Capital."

We are using the practices, the policies, the experiences of the past sixty-two years as inspiration and guidance for the days ahead. In these rapidly changing times our fundamental principles are unchanging—dependable quality, fair prices, one price to all, pleasant and sincerely helpful relationships with our customers at all times. We know that the honesty, industry, integrity and perseverance which the founders invariably emphasized are as sound now as at the beginning of this business.

We are deeply indebted to our patrons for their many suggestions and helpful criticisms; we are sincerely grateful for their good will and for the opportunity of serving them.

It is our purpose to continually improve and grow with Washington—to be a better store tomorrow than we are today,

Hopkins Experts Find New Drug Sovereign Against Dysentery

Member of 'Sulfa' Group Greatly Reduced Peril Of Operative Infection

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Staff Writer.
BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—A new "sulfa" drug that very nearly sterilizes the intestinal tract and gives startling cures in dysentery—severe disease of soldiers and children alike—was reported today.
It not only reduces the danger of infection and death in certain types of surgery, but greatly relieves post-operative gas pains.
This powerful cousin in the famous "sulfa family" is succinyl sulfathiazole, developed by Dr. Edgar J. Poth and his associates, Drs. F. Louis Knotts, James T. Lee and Frank Inul of the department of surgery, Johns Hopkins Medical School. It is reported in the February issue of Archives of Surgery.

Cuts Bacteria to Millionth.
In humans the drug reduces the number of bacteria in the large intestine to one-millionth of its normal population, or even less. Relatively so few organisms remain that the danger by peritonitis or deep abscesses after operations on the large intestine is tremendously reduced.
In 100 human cases there were "no deep abscesses and no peritonitis following operations due to failure of the drug to be effective," Dr. Poth said.

Unlike many sulfa drugs, succinyl sulfathiazole does not produce severe toxic effects. On the average, only 5 per cent of the drug is absorbed from the gastro-intestinal tract.
In dysentery, the drug sometimes brings the disease under control in as little as 24 hours. The English are experimenting with it in Africa, and testing whether it can be given in preventive doses to soldiers going into areas where dysentery is common.
The drug, still in experimental stages, is not yet being made in quantity.

Search Covered 18 Months.
Dr. Poth and his co-workers began searching for it a year and a half ago, when sulfanilamide proved unsatisfactory.
They began studying the hundreds of sulfa compounds discarded by drug houses because they were ineffective against such bugs as pneumococcus and streptococcus. Presumably some were no good because they were not absorbed in great degree from the digestive tract.
The task might have taken 10 years—but they struck it on the 15th compound tested. Then, literally building new molecules, they tested 32 combinations of organic acids and sulfa drugs before finding that the molecule built from succinic acid and sulfathiazole was best suited to do the job.

Paper Saving Makes Neat Profit for City

By the Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill.—This city is making a profit out of the national campaign to save waste paper. The city collects waste paper to burn in its incinerator, two tons of paper being the equivalent in heat units of a ton of coal.
Works Commissioner Joseph Rose discovered that by selling waste paper for $13 a baled ton and buying coal at $5 a ton, the city could profit nearly $20 on each ton of coal and have better fuel for its incineration. Paper collections, it is expected, will total nearly 60 tons a week.

Virginia Finds Revenue In Salvaging Paper

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 25.—Virginia has found another source of revenue—waste paper.
Salvage of waste paper in State buildings and around Capitol square since last September has brought in $410.61 that reverts to the general fund, E. A. Abbit, superintendent of grounds and buildings, reported yesterday.

Conservation of Paper

Every citizen is called upon to see that not a pound of paper is wasted. Demand from every clerk that any unnecessary wrapping of packages or unnecessary use of paper bags be dispensed with.
Waste paper for paperboard is vital to the packaging of a great quantity of war equipment.
Do not burn newspapers, but, when you have saved enough for a bundle, give them to the school children who are co-operating in the defense program with the parent-teacher organization in The Star's campaign for reclaiming old newspapers.

Membership Drive To Supply Defense Fund Authorized

Citizens' Association of Hampshire Heights Acts To Equip Neighborhood

The Hampshire Heights Citizens' Association last night authorized a membership drive designed to unify and defray all civilian defense expenses in the area.
Under the plan, families in the estimated 3,000 homes of the area will be solicited for membership at the usual $1 entrance fee and will be asked to contribute an additional 50 cents monthly, all the funds to be used for defense expenditures.
Sherrard C. Tupman, deputy warden, said that if the plan is carried out, the area could be complete with all necessary defense facilities within a year and a half. He proposes to have a warden post, complete with air-raid combating equipment, in each city block, thereby minimizing the need for equipment in individual homes. The $6 a year per home would practically offset the $27,000 estimated by the Defense Committee as necessary.
Deploring the condition of playgrounds in the area, especially that of the Rudolph School, P. J. Abelman asked that the distribution of funds for playground improvement be investigated by the School and Education Committee.
The meeting, presided over by Walter S. Griest, was held at the Bernard School auditorium.

Defense Head Named For Berkeley Springs

Special Dispatch to The Star.
BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Henry H. Gorrell, member of the House of Delegates from this county, has been named commander of the local Civilian Defense Corps.
The following captains were named: Vernon Weber, air-raid wardens; A. B. Dyche, auxiliary police; A. P. Rider, rescue squads; Jack M. Hunter, bomb squads; Joe L. Young, decontamination, and James R. S. Unger, demolition and clearance.
The Methodist Church has been designated a temporary hospital in case of an emergency. Dr. E. H. Willard and Dr. E. D. Deems will head the medical facilities unit. In case of need the United Brethren Church will serve as a refuge center. The Rev. F. G. Senger will have charge of emergency food and housing, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Kerns.

Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.
Lipstick-lipstick-lipstick-lipstick!
Now Busy Bee don't I pray, give me the
I'll follow and follow you you fast
Till I find where your storehouse is hidden at last.

Peter hadn't said that so that Busy Bee could hear him. No indeed! He just said it to himself. You see, he didn't want Busy Bee to know that he was trying to find her storehouse. He was afraid if she did know it that she would go somewhere else where she couldn't find her. So he sat in the sweet clover bed and watched Busy Bee work. Every little while she would rise straight up in the air and then off she would go in a straight line toward the Green Forest. Pretty soon she would be back again as busy as ever, too busy to talk, although she hummed to herself as if it made her very happy to work so.

At first Peter didn't understand what it meant, but after a while it came to him. When she flew away in such a hurry she was taking the honey she had gathered to her storehouse! Of course. How stupid he had been not to think of it in the first place. And, of course, she took the very shortest way to get there. With that load of sweets to carry she wouldn't waste any time, but would get there as quickly as she could. And because up in the air there was nothing in the way she would go in a straight line.

It took Peter a long time to think all this out, for you know Peter isn't much of a thinker. When he had thought it out he was so tickled with himself that he turned a somersault right in the middle of the sweet clover bed. Alas! When Peter got to his feet again and looked for Busy Bee she was not to be seen. She had started for her storehouse while Peter had been turning that somersault.

"Never mind," thought Peter, "she'll be back pretty soon."

But she didn't come back. Peter waited and waited, but not another glimpse of Busy Bee did he get. You see, she had gathered all she could find in the sweet clover blossoms of that particular bed and had gone to another sweet clover bed in another part of the Green Meadows. So Peter was finally obliged to go back to the dear Old Briar Patch no wiser than before as to where Busy Bee's storehouse was. But he was wiser in other ways. He had learned that it doesn't pay to stop to play when you start out to do something. The time to shout and play and be happy is after you have done the thing. He had meant to follow Busy Bee to her storehouse, but he had stopped to turn a somersault for job because he had thought of such a simple plan and while he was doing that Busy Bee had flown away and hadn't come back.

"Next time," said Peter, "next time I won't take my eyes off you, Mistress Busy Bee."

Bright and early the next morning Peter visited the sweet clover patch, but early as he was Busy Bee was already at work getting honey from the newly opened flowers. Just as usual, she was too busy to talk. This time Peter didn't care. You see, he had made up his mind that he would follow her, and so he didn't care whether she talked or not. Pretty soon Busy Bee flew straight up until Peter could hardly see her, and then she headed straight for the Green Forest. Peter started after her as fast as he could go and that is pretty fast. It was then that Peter said that little verse.

But Busy Bee did give Peter the hardest and watch a one speak up in the sky at the same time. Peter found this out before he had taken three jumps. He just had to see where he was going or there was no knowing what trouble he would run into head first. So he looked to see where he was going, and when he looked up in the sky again Busy Bee was nowhere to be seen.

"Never mind," said Peter. "She went this way and I'll keep on going until I reach the Green Forest. Perhaps I'll find her there."

POINTS FOR PARENTS

Winning Contract

By THE FOUR ACES.

Crime Doesn't Pay! No. 90

The crime in today's hand will evade you unless you look carefully, but the point is an important one: South dealer.

The bidding: South 1♣ West 1♠ North 1♥ East 1♦

West opened the five of hearts and South overtook dummy's six to return the suit from his own hand.

North is the criminal for bidding one heart! It's true that West's defense left much to be desired, but he couldn't defeat one no-trump and therefore lost only a few points by letting South make one or two extra tricks.

Yesterday you were David Burnstone's partner and, with both sides vulnerable, you bid:

The bidding: Burnstone Schenken You Jacoby 1♣ Pass 1♠ Pass 2NT Pass (?)

What do you bid? (Answer tomorrow.)

Remove one letter from each word and rearrange to spell the word called for in the last column. Print the letter in center column opposite the word from which you have removed it.

Take My Word for It

By FRANK COLBY.

Surprise Word of the Week

It is natural that the word WORSTED should remind us of "worse," and that we should mispronounce it "WER-sted," but the words have no connection whatever.

It's Hard to Believe Camp Wallace: Some of us here have been wondering about the origin of the word AMBULANCE.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER—Socrates Refused

When Socrates was told, at his trial, that he had caused young men to obey him instead of their parents, he replied:

DIFFICULT DECISIONS —By Gluyas Williams

THE FAMILY IS AWAKENED IN THE NIGHT BY THE HOUSE GETTING UNBEARABLY HOT, OWING TO THE FACT, PRESUMABLY, THAT THE UNEXPECTED GUEST, WHO HAS HAD TO SLEEP ON THE LIVING ROOM COUCH, HAS OPENED A WINDOW WIDE RIGHT BESIDE THE THERMOSTAT.
