Farm Bloc Acts To Balk Veto of Price Measure

The Senate farm bloc maneuvered today to circumvent a possible presidential veto of parity price legislation by seeking to prevent the use of any funds in a pending $32,762,737,900 military appropriations bill for the purchase of crop surpluses at less than parity.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma announced he planned to offer an amendment to the huge bill barring use of its funds to purchase any agricultural product held by the Commodity Credit Corp. at less than parity, a price calculated to give farmers equal purchasing power with others.

The Senate voted 50 to 23, approval over presidential opposition of separate legislation to prevent the sale of Government-held surpluses of major farm crops at less than parity.

Senator Brown, Democrat, of Michigan, leader of the group opposing the measure, said that President Roosevelt would veto the bill if it subsequently passed the House. Such a veto might be avoided, farm Senators argued, if the proposed amendment were attached to the vital military appropriations bill.

Senator Thomas said he had agreed with administration leaders to delay offering his amendment until Monday, when final action is expected on the money bill, so that attempts might be made to work out some sort of compromise.

The Oklahoma Senator said leaders had given him assurances that it would purchase cotton or foodstuffs with money contained in the bill only on the open market, thus preventing use of Government-held surpluses for this purpose.

If adopted, the Thomas amendment would operate to control the price at which cotton might be purchased from Government sources for uniforms and as well as the price at which surplus foodstuffs might be obtained for industrial purposes.

Senator Thomas said about 3,000,000 bales of cotton would be involved.

Self-Defense Claimed In Triple Slaying Trial
BALTIMORE, Feb. 26.—A Criminal Court jury today heard William Boyd Gilliam testify that he killed two sisters and their male companion in self-defense last January 23 when they tried to rob him on Jolly Johnny road after a beer-drinking party.

The 27-year-old shipyard worker's testimony was much the same as the account of the triple slayings given in two written statements attributed to Gilliam and introduced in evidence by the State at his trial yesterday.

Gilliam, a married man and father of a young daughter, is being tried on a charge of murdering Mrs. Irene Carter, 32. He also is accused of murdering her sister, Mrs. Helen Johnson, 21, and Herman Eltermann, 32, night club drummer.

Worker's Injuries Slight In Three-Story Plunge
Albert Wolfson, 30, of 1138 Morse street N.E., a bricklayer, fell three floors from a scaffold on a construction job in Hyattsville, Md., today, but escaped serious injury.

At Emergency Hospital here it was stated that he was suffering from shock, cuts and bruises, but that no bones were broken.

Another bricklayer, Allen Dengler, 44, of 6208 Lexington place N.E., fell at the same time Folford did, but managed to grab a supporting piece of lumber on the floor below him and escaped injury.

U. S. Won't Ask Aid Repayment, Says La Follette

Quotes Post-War Agreement Signed By Britain

By the Associated Press.
Senator La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin told the Senate today that England and other nations aided by the lease-lend program had been assured they would not have to make repayments on an estimated $18,000,000,000 of this aid already asked from Congress.

Reading from the Anglo-American agreement announced Tuesday on broad principles for post-war settlement of lease-lend aid, the Wisconsin Senator said this and the Atlantic Charter forced him to conclude that no "repayment will be required of Great Britain or any other nations aided in the lease-lend program."

"We have entered this agreement—or at least our Chief Executive has—that they will never be called upon to repay these large sums of money," Senator La Follette said as the Senate considered the record-breaking $32,762,737,900 wartime appropriation measure.

The Senator said he was not criticizing and was not opposing the pending "astronomical appropriation."

Senator La Follette also stated that the "great British Empire" had actually spent only about $26,000,000,000 in two years of actual war and would reach $35,000,000,000 by the end of the present fiscal year, while Congress had been voting $142,000,000,000 for the war since last July.

"This is not intended as an invidious comparison," he continued.

The Senator said that the post-war agreement between the United States and England mentioned only an agreement "not to burden commerce" as a consideration for the lease-lend aid, with no reference to actual repayments.

Youth Held in Assault Said To Admit Two Holdups Here
Rockville (Md.) police said today that James A. Anderson, 19, held in the Rockville Jail on a charge of criminally assaulting a 36-year-old Government worker in her Sycamore Hill home Saturday, had confessed to two Washington holdups and robbery of an Arlington County (Va.) hardware store.

The officers quoted him as saying in a signed statement that in one of the Washington holdups he shot the victim, a man, in the foot in the Rock Creek Park February 17.

Anderson's other holdup victim here was a woman from whom he got $20 near Pinehurst circle the same night, police said he admitted.

Washington officers reported Mrs. Dorothy Holmes, 6639 Western avenue, had complained of such a holdup.

Anderson was quoted as saying he stole the gun he used in the holdups from the Arlington hardware store.

Chungking and India May Exchange Envoys
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—Informed British sources predicted today that closer collaboration between China and India shortly will be effected by an exchange of diplomatic representatives with the rank of minister between Chungking and New Delhi.

The appointments were seen as the "first fruits" of the visit to India by Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and were hailed as a step "of the greatest importance" in ensuring closer liaison among Washington, Delhi and Chungking.

Eight District Bills Passed by Senate; Five Return to House

Final Approval Given Renaming Conduit Road MacArthur Boulevard

The Senate today passed eight district bills, five of which went back to the House for concurrent action. On four of those, Senate amendments were made to previously passed House bills. The five measures are:

The resolution instructing the District Commissioners to investigate the feasibility of subways in the District. As passed by the House that measure directed that the Public Utilities Commission cooperate with the District Commissioners in the study.

Tire Stealing Penalty Set.
Amending the traffic act to limit the fine to $300 or 90 days for speeding, except in cases rated as reckless driving.

Requiring that any one practicing the healing arts in the District must be a United States citizen.

Providing for the operation of a canteen with a blind attendant at Glendale Sanatoria.

Action Ended on Three.
The three bills on which the Senate completed congressional action are:

Allowing Rock Creek parish to extend its cemetery on land it already owns in Rock Creek Park.

Requiring the Zoning Commission to make provision regarding parking near any new construction.

Changing the name of Conduit road to MacArthur boulevard in honor of the heroic defender of the Philippines.

Late News Bulletins

'Thousands' of Allied Troops in Java

BANDOENG, Java (AP).—"Thousands of British, Australian and American troops are on our side in Java," Lt. Gen. Hein Ter Poorten, commander in chief of the Netherlands East Indies Army, declared in a broadcast tonight. Presence of the Allied troops in Java had been announced to the outside world a few days ago, but tonight's remarks by the commander contained the first official Dutch reference to figures. (President Roosevelt said in his radio broadcast Monday night that "thousands of American troops" were in the Southwest Pacific.)

Nazis Report Rangoon Railway Is Cut

LONDON (AP).—The German radio said tonight that the Rangoon-Manadala Railway, first leg of the Burma road supply line to China and immediate goal of the Japanese offensive in Burma, had been cut in several places by Japanese troops. (The Tokio radio thus far has made no such claim and the latest British communique from Burma says that the defense line is still intact along the Sittang River, east of the railway.)

American Flyers Shoot Down 34 Japs

CHUNGKING (AP).—The Flying Tigers—the American volunteer group—shot down a total of 34 planes in attacks yesterday and today on Japanese formations over Thailand, a Central News (official Chinese agency) dispatch said tonight. The Americans suffered no loss of their own, it was said.

Pension Repeal Agreement Reached

A joint Senate-House committee reached agreement this afternoon on legislation repealing the controversial retirement provisions abandoned. The agreement came after House conferees abandoned a contention that retirement benefits for some 300,000 regular Government workers were repealed along with those for members of Congress.

Officers of Torpedoed Cutter Tell How Men Ran to Stations

All Remained Calm After Terrific Blast; Injured Seaman Saves Companions

(Editor's note: The following dispatch was released today after being censored by Army and Navy authorities. The torpedoing and subsequent sinking of the Coast Guard cutter Alexander Hamilton was announced by the Navy Department February 23 with the report that loss of personnel was "moderate." The military censorship deleted the exact date the dispatch was filed.)

By LEON BRANHAM, Associated Press Staff Correspondent.
REYKJAVIK, Iceland (Delayed).—The crew of the U. S. S. Alexander Hamilton conducted themselves like steady Navy veterans during the exciting moments after the Coast Guard cutter was torpedoed somewhere off the coast of Iceland, the vessel's officers said.

Most of the crew was composed of recently enlisted men making their first trip to sea, but the officers said, no panic or confusion followed the terrific blast amidship.

The men, the officers said in warm praise of them, remained calm, and there was perfect discipline at all times. They ran immediately to battle stations after the torpedo struck. One of the first things they did was to set the mechanism of the Hamilton's supply of depth bombs on "safe" so they would not explode if the Hamilton sank and thus imperil men in lifeboats in the vicinity.

The officers, all of whom suffered only shock and exposure, told the following story:

Gen. Bennett said the "incessant bombing, lack of water and greatly superior numbers" were responsible for Singapore's fall. Two hospitals in Singapore, he declared, "had only enough water to last another 24 hours" when the defenders capitulated.

The Australian commander paid tribute to the "wonderful work" and "military achievements" of Dutch forces which aided in the battle of Malaya.

In making their escape from Singapore, he and his men apparently were stopped when they could not find any boats on reaching the shore but one of Gen. Bennett's officers swam out into the harbor to a drifting boat and brought it ashore.

29 More Enemy Aliens Arrested by F. B. I. in Southeast Florida

Much Contraband Seized; Two Codes Sent to Washington

(Earlier Story on Page A-5.)
By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—The F. B. I. continued its raids last night on enemy aliens in the Florida resort area, arrested 29 persons in the Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale districts and seized quantities of guns, cameras and two written codes.

F. G. Danner, F. B. I. agent in charge, reported that 55 residences in Palm Beach and Broward Counties were raided.

The raids brought to at least 60 the number of persons arrested in three nights in the wealthy tourist section of the Southeast Florida coast, from Palm Beach to Miami.

The 29 arrested last night, Mr. Danner said, are being held for hearings to determine whether they should be interned.

With the aid of Palm Beach and Broward sheriffs and local police, Mr. Danner said his men seized guns, short wave radios, cameras and one telescopic lens, photographic enlargers and developing units, ammunition, telescopes and binoculars, the two written codes, an Italian flag and large quantities of Axis propaganda.

The two codes were dispatched to Washington for study by Government experts.

Mr. Danner's announcement was made before final reports reached his office from the raiding parties, and he said others might have been caught in the fast extending network of Government raiders.

R. A. F. Bombers Start Many Big Fires at Kiel Dockyards

Germans' Scharnhorst Or Gneisenau Now At Base There

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—R. A. F. bombers left "many extensive fires" last night in the German dockyards at Kiel, where one of Germany's 26,000-ton battleships—either the Scharnhorst or Gneisenau—is in drydock, the Air Ministry news service reported today.

"Many high explosive bombs exploded in vital areas of the great naval base," the ministry declared. The news service said one fire observed by many of the bomber crews "burned red with volumes of black smoke, which showed that an oil depot probably was burning."

The report added that the flyers saw ice on the sea around Kiel, which lies on the Baltic end of the Kiel Canal, and noticed a "black zig-zag" where ice-breakers had been at work.

The Air Ministry said two aircraft were missing.

German broadcasts acknowledged Kiel was a British target, but said there was no military damage.

Sheriff and Rival Killed In Arkansas Gun Duel
By the Associated Press.
OZARK, Ark., Feb. 26.—Sheriff Champ Crawford, 41, was killed, and Jim Wilson, 38, his opponent for office in 1940, fatally wounded today in a duel in a barber shop here.

Mark E. Woolsey, deputy prosecuting attorney, said Sheriff Crawford was being shaved when Wilson walked in and told the barber, Mollard Jacobs, "Wait a minute, Jacobs, I'll finish this man."

Crawford, rising in the barber chair, was quoted by Woolsey as saying, "You're all wrong about this, Jimmie. Let's talk it over."

Wilson refused, Woolsey said and added, "The barbers ran out of the shop, both of them, and the shooting began. When they returned, the sheriff was slumped over the shoeshine stand dead."

In the exchange Wilson was wounded and died in a Fort Smith hospital a short time later.

Vote Assured As Foes Fail to Block Proposal

McCormack Urges Rejection of Smith Amendment

By the Associated Press.
Majority Leader McCormack today characterized a proposal to suspend the 40-hour work week for duration of the emergency as anti-labor, declaring to the House, "We're in a war now, and we don't want to lose our heads."

"We don't want to undo the work of 50 years," he pleaded as debate, waxing warmer by the minute, opened on an amendment offered by Representative Smith, Democrat of Virginia, to an omnibus bill to grant broad new war powers to the President. The amendment would suspend the maximum hour requirements and extra pay for overtime work now provided for in 17 separate laws.

Emphasizing that his amendment would suspend the maximum hour and overtime pay requirements only for the duration of the emergency, Mr. Smith said he could "not understand why members * * * persist in resisting a suspension of those things * * * which are handicapping the efforts to save this Nation in its hour of emergency."

He expressed doubt that "national unity" must be "purchased" at the price of the eight-hour day and the 40-hour week.

Mr. Smith promptly protested that Mr. McCormack's statement was unfair, drawing from the majority leader the rejoinder that "the gentleman from Virginia is thin-skinned."

Mr. McCormack said that the Smith amendment was so controversial that it would impede swift passage of the "important measure," and told the House that Mr. Smith had attempted unsuccessfully to add "anti-labor" legislation recently to the huge war appropriations bill.

Mr. Smith promptly protested that Mr. McCormack's statement was unfair, drawing from the majority leader the rejoinder that "the gentleman from Virginia is thin-skinned."

Mr. McCormack declared, "This is a matter that should be left to the President. He's charged with the prosecution of the war." He expressed belief that the amendment would only "aggravate" the labor question.

U. S. Subs Torpedo 4 Jap Ships; Warship Also Is Believed Hit; Dutch Fighting Delaying Action

Two Troop Vessels
And Navy Auxiliary
Listed as Struck

By the Associated Press.
BATAVIA, Netherlands Indies, Feb. 26.—United States submarines, carrying on an intensive Allied naval offensive touched off by the Japanese invasion of Bali, were credited officially today with torpedoing two enemy troop ships, a naval auxiliary and a freighter and probably scoring a hit on a Japanese cruiser or destroyer within the last two days.

The submarine which attacked the warship was forced to submerge before it could observe the effect of its torpedo.

The location of the action was not specified by the Netherlands Indies high command, which reported yesterday that Allied bombing planes had sunk three transports in the waters of Macassar in Southwestern Celebes.

In Washington yesterday the War Department said heavy fortress-type bombers had sunk two large transports off Macassar. There was every indication, therefore, of a concerted attack by the United Nations forces to smash any new concentration of enemy ships preparing either to reinforce the troops which have invaded Bali or to launch a direct assault on Java itself.

The invasion fleet which opened the attack on Bali last Friday night was battered and disrupted by United States and Dutch warships and bombing planes.

At the same time, Dutch defense forces in the outlying portions of the Indies Archipelago still were fighting vital delaying actions designed to hold off as long as possible the expected all-out offensive against this thickly-populated, United Nations stronghold of Java.

The Dutch communiqué said that even on Ambonia, the Indies' secondary naval base which the Japanese claimed to have occupied completely three days ago, "it is quite well possible that our troops still continue to fight."

In Southern Celebes the battle against the invaders also raged "with unabated fierceness," the communiqué reported. In Western Borneo the Dutch commander was forced to withdraw from Simpang in the face of a superior Japanese force driving down the coast from Pontianak, but he reported he would continue to fight, despite a Japanese demand to surrender or be wiped out.

Japs Advance in Sumatra.
Only in South Sumatra were the Japanese making rapid headway in pushing their advance bases closer to Java's western end. The fact that Dutch naval forces today were reported to have bombed enemy storage yards near Telokbetong, on Sumatra's southern tip, was the first official acknowledgment that in this area the enemy had reached the shore of Sunda Strait, which separates Sumatra from Java by only 15 miles at its narrowest point.

The communiqué also admitted enemy occupation of part of Benkoelen, the residency of Sumatra's southwest coast, and of the tin-producing island of Bangka, off the southeast Sumatra coast only 200 miles from Batavia.

The communiqué reported an attack on the Soerabaja naval base and on various airdromes in Western Java by strong forces of Japanese bombers with large fighter-plane escorts. It said, however, that little damage was done at the naval base. Seven civilians were listed as killed and 19 wounded seriously.

This was the seventh successive day of intensive enemy air attack, seen here as the inevitable prelude to an invasion attempt against Java's island stronghold.

Raid on Palembang.

While Java's 48,000,000 inhabitants read their defenses for the all-out fight against an enemy assault that may come from west, north or east, Dutch bombing planes also took the offensive in a raid yesterday on Palembang, Japanese-held oil center in South Sumatra.

The official communiqué, issued through Aneta, said flyers returning from the Palembang raids reported that the fires set in the vast oil stores and refineries by withdrawing Dutch troops still were

MacArthur in Surprise Thrust Takes Jap Advanced Positions

Attacks Are Particularly Successful
On Manila Bay Side of Bataan

By NELSON M. SHEPARD.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in a surprise thrust on the Bataan front today, attacked sharply all along the Japanese lines and captured a number of enemy advance positions, a War Department communiqué reported.

The 9:30 a. m. communiqué said the fighting was still in progress with continued local successes, although the American thrust has not been able as yet to penetrate main positions of the enemy.

The surprise attack was particularly successful against the Japanese units facing Gen. MacArthur's right flank on the Manila Bay side of the peninsula. Forward elements of the enemy were forced to withdraw several kilometers under the heavy pressure of the combined American and Filipino advance on this side of the front.

While this unexpected American attack was taking place along the main fighting front in Bataan, information reached Gen. MacArthur to the effect that Japanese in entry in Mindanao had been reinforced by a detachment of marines. "Desultory patrol action" was reported in that area. The reinforcements were evidently in small numbers.

Meanwhile, in Central and Northern Luzon small bodies of American and Filipino troops were continuing to harass the Japanese in guerrilla fighting with considerable success, the communiqué reported. These guerrilla bands are fighting in isolated mountain areas and making continuous raids on Japanese-occupied villages.

The reinforcements landed at (See PHILIPPINES, Page A-6.)

Scharnhorst, Gneisenau
Also May Be Out for Some Time, Alexander Says

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The 26,000-ton German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen, apparently have been knocked out of the war for some time to come, according to a naval review presented in the House of Commons today by First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander.

Moreover, he said, the British submarine which sank a torpedo off the coast of the Prinz Eugen class, probably into the Prinz Eugen herself. The Trident also may have hit an escorting destroyer, it was indicated in a simultaneous communiqué from the Admiralty.

The "going Trident," 6,000 tons at the surface, has been dogging Germany's Norwegian sea route and it was there that she nallied the heavy cruiser. On November 29 the Trident was credited with a successful attack on seven German transport and supply ships. Three were seen to sink and four were so damaged that their loss was considered probable.

Close Watch Maintained.
Alexander's statement and the Admiralty communiqué disclosed the close watch the British were keeping on the whereabouts of the three warships since their disappearance in the Mediterranean sector, the Admiralty announced that another British submarine had scored three torpedo hits on an enemy convoy of three supply vessels.

The most comprehensive defense of the Navy to be made in the House since the clamor first arose over the sinking of the battleships Prince of Wales and battle cruiser Repulse early in the battle of Malaya—a claim which was upheld by the German transport and supply ships. Stimson Hints Rented Planes Scared Coast

15 Commercial Craft
Flown by Foe's Agents
Indicated in Alarm

Secretary of War Stimson declared today, on the basis of reports from the West Coast, that probably as many as 15 unidentified airplanes—which may have been operated by enemy agents—flew over Los Angeles early yesterday morning in the air raid alarm that disturbed the southern coastal area.

Investigation disclosed, he said, that it seemed reasonable to assume that these planes were commercial planes and they have been hired to spread alarm.

The main purpose, he suggested, was to locate anti-aircraft gun emplacements and to slow up production by the interruption caused by the alarms.

Anti-aircraft guns of the 37th Coast Artillery fired some 1,430 rounds at these unidentified airplanes, the Secretary said, in explaining that it was known that no American Army or Navy planes were flying over the Los Angeles area at the time. The anti-aircraft barrage was from 3:12 a. m. to 4:15 a. m.

Observation Mission Indicated.
The report from military authorities, received here last night, said the slow speeds of the unidentified planes indicated the flight was made chiefly for observational purposes. Some of the planes were flying at an elevation from 9,000 to 18,000 feet, which made them difficult targets.

No bombs were dropped by any planes during the air raid alarm. Commenting on the West Coast alarm, Mr. Stimson said:

"Perhaps it is better to be too alert than not to be alert enough." He said he did not know why no Army or Navy planes took to the air during the alarm, as the report gave no explanation.

Knox Report in Conflict.
Secretary Stimson's disclosure of 15 unidentified planes was at variance with Secretary of the Navy Knox's explanation yesterday that it was a "false alarm" with no indication of any planes over the Los Angeles area other than our own.

Mr. Stimson said his information was contained in a report from Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, and apparently was based on reports to Gen. Marshall from Army officials in California. The Secretary said the Army's investigation was continuing.

Los Angeles Wonders
24 Hours After Incident
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (P).—False alarm or not, air-raid warning sirens and anti-aircraft fire aroused 3,000 Angelenos into a convincing demonstration that West Coast defenders can swing quickly into action.

More than 24 hours later, Angelenos today still wondered to what they owed the most spectacular fireworks display they ever seen—anti-aircraft fire, tracer bullets, giant searchlights piercing the dark.

Official statements were not of much help. "Just a false alarm," comforted Secretary Knox from Washington. "There were no planes over Los Angeles; at least, that's our understanding. None has been found, and a very wide reconnaissance has been carried on."

With every Army and Navy source here silenced, the 4th Army and (See LOS ANGELES, Page A-4.)

Six Soldiers Are Killed
As Train Strikes Bus
By the Associated Press.
OKLA., Feb. 26.—A Rock Island freight train ripped through a bus today killing six enlisted men in the Army Air Corps.

Twenty-five others were injured in the crash which occurred in a landing gear which struck a mile west of the end.

Pvt. Herbert J. Taylor, 22, Lake Kerr, Fla.; Pvt. Eugene L. Underwood, 23, Rogersville, Pa.; Sgt. Eugene J. Sanders, 26, Youkum, Tex.; Pvt. Vernon Ohnsted, 26, Georgetown, Minn.; Pvt. Robert W. Walker, 23, Bay City, Tex., and Pvt. Cyril J. Minarcik, 21, Chicago.

Critically injured were: Staff Sgt. Ernest E. Rogers, 25, Forrestburg, Tenn., and Pvt. John Ludlum, 25, Battle Creek, Mich.

Names and extent of the injuries of the other victims were not available immediately.

There were no witnesses to the accident other than the men in the bus and train crew, Capt. Hammond said.

MacArthur Frowned on Wavell
Visit to Philippines, Says Stimson

Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, supreme commander of the United Nations forces, wanted to visit Gen. Douglas MacArthur's beleaguered forces in the Philippines, but was discouraged by the American general, Secretary of War Stimson reported today.

The Secretary said Gen. MacArthur replied to Gen. Wavell's cable message by telling him that he considered the commander in chief's life too valuable to risk on such a venture.

In further discussion of Gen. Wavell, the Secretary revealed also that the commander had been under heavy artillery fire in Singapore and had fractured a rib when his plane crashed as he was taking off just before the surrender of the city. Crediting the United Allied Nations with splendid efforts in the desperate battles in defense of Java, Secretary Stimson declared that "we realize fully the importance of the situation and are giving every bit of aid possible."

He added that in sending aid all difficulties should be pointed out. Our big bombers can fly to the scene of action, he said, but pursuit ships have to be sent by ship. "You know how long it takes for a ship to go across the Pacific," he said.

He mentioned also the delays and (See STIMSON, Page A-6.)

Of System, Norfolk Center Reveals

The Norfolk air warning information center disclosed today that a routine test of the aircraft warning system in the Hampton Roads area resulted in warnings being sounded in Washington, Richmond, Newport News and Hampton, Va.

Lt. Col. John E. Barr, commander of the center, said the signal was flashed at approximately 1 a. m. with the all-clear following by a few minutes. He said reception was prompt, indicating that installations in the area were on guard.

Washington police cars were summoned to air-raid stations early this morning and remained at them for 15 minutes as a result of the warning.

A precautionary warning indicating proximity of unidentified planes was flashed over the police radio at 1:31 a. m., but no confirmation was received by the air-raid alarm center here, and civilian defense forces were not mobilized. There was no blackout.

The police dispatcher flashed an "all clear" at 1:45 a. m. Flashing of the warning was a proper measure under the circumstances, and the dispatcher deserved commendation rather than censure, Commissioner John Russell Young, civilian defense co-ordinator for the Metropolitan Area, and Col. Lemuel Bolles, his executive director, agreed after a conference at the District Building.

However, the officials announced instructions would be issued directing that no similar warnings be broadcast unless they came from an air-raid control center here.

"There was no official warning received in Washington over the Baltimore," (See WARNING, Page A-6.)

'Suicide Flyers' Sej Plane Carrier Afire, Japanese Declare

Tokio Admits Sinking Is Not Confirmed; Claims
Damage Was Severe

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Feb. 26.—Imperial headquarters declared today that an "enemy aircraft carrier" was severely damaged and set afire on February 21 when several Japanese naval planes plunged headlong onto her, detonating their still racked bombs in the crash.

"In view of the extent of the damage, the vessel is believed to be lost, although the sinking is not confirmed," the announcement said.

The plane carrier was the 58th Regiment of the German 5th Division of the attack was given as several hundred miles northwest of New Guinea.

The announcement said the "sensational" raid was carried out despite strong aerial resistance from the fleet in which the aircraft carrier was traveling.

The carrier, which had a strong escort of warships, was set afire and when last seen was blazing fiercely, a communiqué said.

Another enemy warship was reported damaged by Japanese planes, which were said to have pressed home attacks on the squadron despite fierce opposition.

The German radio, garbling the Japanese announcement, declared the ships were United States naval units and that nine Japanese planes had failed to return from the assault although "at least 10 United States planes fell victim to the Japanese attack."

Tokio's imperial headquarters, in another announcement, had said the nine planes which failed to return were part of a flight which bombed the Kailash airbase on Java, yesterday.

The German radio broadcast later said the aircraft carrier set afire and "probably sunk" was the U. S. S. Yorktown, 19,900 tons. Such reports are familiar Axis tactics in fishing for information. There has been no indication from any other quarter that the Yorktown had been in action.

Winant Leaves England To Report to Roosevelt

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—United States Ambassador John G. Winant has left England for a brief visit to the United States to report to President Roosevelt.

The Ambassador's departure was announced today by the Embassy which said it was part of his plan to return "every now and then" for the purpose of keeping the President fully informed.

Senate Unit Adds $20,000,000 for D. C. Housing

Lanham Total Voted
By House Raised
To $70,000,000

By JAMES E. CHINN.

A subcommittee of the Senate Education and Labor Committee today raised from $50,000,000 to $70,000,000 an appropriation authorized in the House-approved Lanham bill for construction of homes and related public works for Government workers in the District and its Metropolitan Area.

Of the $70,000,000, the subcommittee decided to earmark $45,000,000 for permanent housing units and $25,000,000 for community facilities such as additional school, water, hospital and sewer facilities and increased police and fire protection.

Five million of the $45,000,000 housing fund would be allocated specifically to carry out the so-called Goodwill plan for the rehabilitation of nine blocks in Southwest Washington.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Ellender, Democrat, of Louisiana, will make its recommendations tomorrow to the full Education and Labor Committee which recently completed a series of public hearings on the District's war emergency housing legislation.

Permanent Structures Favored.
As revised by the subcommittee, the bill would place administration of the $45,000,000 housing fund in the newly-created National Housing Agency, and the $25,000,000 for community facilities in the Federal Works Agency.

One of the changes made in the measure by the subcommittee raises the limitation on the cost of a housing unit from $3,750 to $4,000. Senator Ellender said this was done because the subcommittee felt the housing accommodations should be permanent in character.

In setting aside $5,000,000 to execute the Goodwill rehabilitation plan in Southwest Washington the subcommittee decreed that temporary homes be provided for about 600 residents who would have to be evacuated from this area during the period of reconstruction. Senator Ellender pointed out the rehabilitation program would increase the housing facilities in the nine-block area from 600 to 900.

Although the subcommittee plans to leave to the "discretion" of the F. W. A. how the $25,000,000 for community facilities shall be expended, Chairman Ellender said suggestions would be made in its report as to projects it believes are deserving. For instance, he explained, a suggestion will be made that funds be set aside to add 1,200 beds at Gallinger Municipal Hospital and the District Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Glenn Dale, Md. A bill now pending in the House District Committee would provide 1,000 additional beds at these two municipal institutions—600 at Gallinger and 400 at Glenn Dale.

Will Suggest Locations.
The subcommittee also will make suggestions in the report, Senator Ellender said, as to the location of some of the projects, as well as those which it believes should be financed with outright Federal money.

7 Ships Sunk From Convoy In Long Fight, Nazis Say

(This dispatch was sent from an enemy country whose motive is to report on the activities of the Axis. Axis claims should be credited when confirmed by American or Allied sources.)

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 26.—German submarines have sunk seven ships totaling 52,000 tons from a strongly escorted convoy in the Atlantic in a long running attack and seriously damaged six other vessels, the high command said today.

Military quarters said later the convoy was British and that it had been destroyed despite the strong efforts of escorting ships to ward off the attacks.

Two large tankers were declared in a special communiqué to have been among the seven definitely sent to the bottom and one tanker was listed among the damaged craft.

Provisions of Act.
The Bacon-Davis Act provides for payment on Government work the wage found to be prevailing in a community for projects "of a similar character to the contract work." Virtually all new private operations in the District, elaborate apartments as well as lower-rent ones, were carried out either on the non-union scale or the "B" union rate.

The department conducted a hearing last fall which resulted in changing the prevailing wage for Government residential building in nearby Virginia from the low non-union scale to the wages paid union contractors on Government projects.

This hearing was attended by 27 union representatives and six builders' representatives. Many persons directly concerned with housing in the area, Government as well as private, declared they knew nothing of the hearing until after it was held.

Girl Prefers Spanking To Chilly Life of Hermit

By the Associated Press.
HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Spankings are better than the chilly life of a hermit, 13-year-old Margaret Hummel decided today.

Two miserable days and nights spent in a toolshed at the Meadowbrook Country Club disillusioned Margaret, who had fled her Mitchell Gardens home Monday after a spanking by her father.

When found by police yesterday, she said she was glad because she wanted to go back to school and, besides, her supply of milk, bread, jam, pickles and candy was running low.

Americans in Britain Get New Chance to Return

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—Some of the 5,000 Americans who were cut off from the United States when they missed the last of the repatriation ships in the summer of 1940 soon may have another chance to get home.

United States citizens in the British Isles have been advised by Consul Glenn A. Abbey that a limited number of non-priority accommodations are expected to be available "in the very near future" and will be filled on a basis of first come first served.

U. S. Factory Output To Gain 75 Per Cent in Year, Says Witherow

Head of A. M. Sees War Victory Sooner Than Public Suspects

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The National Association of Manufacturers announced today a reorganization of its war production effort, under the chairmanship of a new committee headed by Malcolm Muir, publisher of News Week.

FORT KNOX, KY.—YOUNG MITCHELL SEEKS COMMISSION.—

CORP. John E. Mitchell, son of the late Brig. Gen. William "Billy" Mitchell, is a candidate for a second lieutenant's commission at the armored force officer candidate school here.

The new committee, Mr. Witherow said, will include in its membership leading industrialists qualified by long and specialized experience to deal with the problems of war production.

"This new committee," he added, "will be charged with the responsibility of analyzing problems as they arise, guiding management in some cases and co-operating with Government in others to the single end that production of war materials will be uninterrupted."

"The association is sponsoring a detailed plan to push and increase subcontracting as fast as qualified subcontractors with adaptable facilities are available."

"Industry has but one test for every move, every policy, every act of management—will it win the war? Nothing else counts."

"By July 1 the flood of war materials from our plants will confound the Axis and astound even those who have long known and respected the know-how of American industrial management; war output by December 1 will be 75 per cent ahead of the same period last year."

Army Citations Ordered For Distinction in Action

President Roosevelt late today issued an executive order authorizing the Secretary of War to issue citations as public evidence of any deserved honor and distinction of any member of the United States Army or the army of the Philippine Commonwealth for outstanding performance in action on or after, December 7, 1941.

For the first citation an appropriate emblem may be displayed by the army unit. For two or more citations the President directed that individual members of the unit should be authorized to wear the single identification device as part of their uniforms.

The President also directed by executive order this afternoon that corporation statistical transcript cards prepared by the Bureau of Internal Revenue should have long, income and declared value excess profits tax returns shall be open to inspection by the Office of Price Administration. This order was made applicable to returns for any taxable year beginning after June 30, 1935, and ending before July 1, 1941.

Strike Halts Work In Pittsburgh Plant

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26 (AP).—A C. I. O. strike involving approximately 2,000 workmen today halted operations at the labels and wire plant of the Crucible Steel Co. which has been producing defense materials exclusively.

Ship Workers Vote On Ten-Hour Shift

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP).—Five thousand C. I. O. shipworkers today voted to work three eight-hour or two ten-hour shifts.

State-Wide Bus Strike Threatened in New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26 (AP).—Otto R. Hauser, president of an A. F. of L. local of bus drivers, trolley operators and mechanics employed by Public Service Co.-advised Transport, said today a State-wide walk-out would be ordered for Monday unless the company requested for negotiations on a union demand for wage increases.

Randolph Requests Bolles to Stage More Blackouts

A plea for a series of experimental blackouts in Washington and its Metropolitan Area was made this afternoon to Col. Lemuel Bolles, civilian defense director, by Chairman Randolph of the House District Committee.

"It has been more than two months since the Washington Metropolitan Area had its first only practice blackout," he said. "People are beginning to wonder why we haven't had more and whether the air-raid warning set-up will operate efficiently."

Representative Randolph sponsored legislation providing for test blackouts in Washington and authorizing an appropriation for air-raid warning apparatus and other defense activities.

"We cannot be ready if we do not go through the operation of trial blackouts," he declared. "If we don't prepare now, we will regret it later."

"Our coastal cities are beginning to realize the value of blackouts, carried out not as play but based on actual war conditions and the possibility of enemy attacks."

Ewing's Attorneys File Motion for New Trial

Contending that a number of errors were committed during the course of his trial, Orman W. Ewing, former Democratic national committee man from Utah, this afternoon asked District Court to set aside the recent verdict finding him guilty of criminal assault on a 20-year-old Government worker and grant him a new trial.

Windsor to Arrive in Miami Tomorrow

Frick Wants Major Leaguers in Army for All-Star Game

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Ford Frick, president of the National League, said today it was his personal opinion "it would be a good thing to have a second All-Star game played between a team of active big leaguers and a service squad. This plan, however, was given up when it was pointed out the armed forces could not guarantee appearance of service performers."

Senate Votes to Allow Nearby Attorneys to Serve on Bench Here

Court Consolidation Bill Delayed, However, By Time Restriction

By a roll-call vote of 40 to 23, the Senate today approved an amendment offered by Senator Tydings to the District Police and Municipal Courts consolidation bill striking out the requirement of bona fide residence for the appointment of a judge and substituting a provision that jurists must have practiced law for five years in the District and live within a 10-mile radius. The Senate then deferred action on the bill until a later date.

That situation arose because Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, in charge of the $32,000,000 war appropriation bill, had given Chairman McCarran of the District Committee a half-hour in which to bring up the court bill. Senator Norris, independent, of Nebraska, however, protested that the measure was too important to be disposed of in that summary manner.

Consolidation of Personnel. The bill proposes to consolidate the personnel of the Police and Municipal Courts here and to provide for more efficient handling of the business of the two courts. In addition, it proposes to establish a municipal court of appeals to relieve the congestion of cases in the upper courts.

Senator Tydings declared himself thoroughly in favor of the bill as rewritten by the Senate committee after having been passed by the House, except as to the requirement for bona fide residence in the District. He claimed that the bar of the District courts live outside and that this narrows the number of eligible attorneys from whom a selection of a judge could be made.

Overton, Democrat, of Louisiana and Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico, opposed the Tydings amendment.

Chavez Voices Objection. Senator Chavez said that in no State was a judge appointed who is not a resident of that State. "The city of Washington does have fine lawyers, I object that every time they get a judge in the District the choice is made of a lawyer from outside the District who will be appointed to the bench in his own State. If a lawyer is so good in Massachusetts, why not appoint him a judge in Massachusetts? What we see are men who are not good judges and are appointed in their own State to sit on the bench in this District. I object the same as I would if a Maryland lawyer was appointed a judge in my own State."

It was also pointed out that a number of law firms have branch offices here which are manned by lawyers sent in from the States, and that they could thus qualify for appointment for judgeships here.

When the nature of the case suggests unusual labor responsibility, more than one attorney will be assigned. The voluntary service of law students of junior and senior classes may be enlisted to run down evidence and examine into the law of the case. A corps of experienced attorneys will be organized, to whom less experienced ones may at all times turn for consultation and advice."

Women's Clubs Demand Ouster of O. C. D. Worker

The District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs today passed a resolution calling for the removal from office of Mrs. Sarah V. Montgomery, volunteer worker in the local office of Civilian Defense, declaring that her "presence is detrimental to the safety and best interests of the citizens of the District of Columbia."

The resolution was introduced by Mrs. Mary Wright Johnson and supported by Mrs. Ernest Howard. The Federation adopted the resolution directing its legislative department to seek Mrs. Montgomery's removal, at its regular meeting.

Mrs. Montgomery was formerly active in the American Peace Mobilization and directed the picket line maintained in front of the White House last year. The picket line was organized the day before Russia entered the war, which Mrs. Montgomery maintained was a coincidence.

Chief Deputy Air Raid Warden Clement Murphy has defended Mrs. Montgomery against previous criticism. He says that he knows nothing about her past activities, but that she is one of the hardest workers in the organization.

Mrs. Montgomery works seven days a week and long hours, doing clerical tasks and is a sector air raid warden, a spokesman for the local civilian defense organization said. She has, like all other workers, taken the oath of loyalty to the United States.

By the Associated Press. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—Spud Chandler and Alvin Donald, two of the right-hand pitchers who fit very much into the scheme of things with the New York Yankees this season, signed their 1942 contracts today.

They donned uniforms immediately and took part in the world champions' workout.

Signing of the two 6-footers left nine members of the Yankees, headed by Joe Di Maggio, still out of the fold.

Shipping Violation Laid To Lord Londonderry

(Earlier Story on Page A-1) By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 26.—Crown Counsel at Newton, County Down, today charged Lord Londonderry with contributing to Britain's shipping problem.

He pleaded guilty through counsel to contravening building regulations and was fined £50 and costs. He was accused of making a £1,700 repair job on a house as a wedding present for one of his daughters. Regulations prohibit expenditure of more than £500 as a shipping conservation measure.

Legal Panel to Help Defend Indigent in Criminal Cases

Proctor Reveals Plan To Use Law Students in Gathering Evidence

(Earlier Story on Page B-1) A panel of experienced criminal lawyers will be available for consultations by attorneys assigned to defend persons accused of crime who are too poor to afford counsel and law students may play a part in this new program by running down evidence, under a plan announced today before the Judicial Conference by Justice James M. Proctor of District Court. The plan will be fully developed and in operation next month, he said.

Justice Proctor spoke as chairman of a committee appointed by Chief Justice D. Lawrence C. Cropper of the United States Court of Appeals, as an outgrowth of the last Judicial Conference. Presiding at this afternoon's session, at which Justice Proctor spoke, was Associate Justice Miller of the appellate tribunal.

"Although the primary object is to improve assistance rendered indigent defendants in criminal cases, the panel of attorneys kept for that purpose may well be used by the courts in other matters," he said. He added that the panel of attorneys kept for that purpose may well be used by the courts in other matters, he said.

He added: "Through co-operation with the jail authorities, already assured, attorneys will be assigned for persons unable to employ their own, immediately upon commitment to await the grand jury's action, so that in the event of a conviction the accused will be prepared, when arraigned, to plead understandingly with the advice and assistance of informed and competent counsel. In assigning counsel, whether for trial or for appeal, due consideration will be given to the gravity of the case so that, however serious it may be, the interests of the accused will at all times be fully and fairly protected."

Hamilton

(Continued From First Page.) story of the attack by an unseen submarine from their beds in an Army hospital somewhere in Iceland. They were:

1—Ensign Denny related he was asleep in his bunk. Awakened by the blast, he swung his feet from his bed into water knee deep. By the time he reached the ladder to the deck seconds later the water was waist deep.

The cutter was commanded by Comdr. A. G. Hall of Hartford, Conn., who is safe aboard one of the rescue destroyers.

Most of the injuries suffered by the crew resulted from steam and boiling water. On bed after bed in the hospital today, I saw men lying motionless with their faces, arms and feet covered with ugly burns.

Ensign Broussard, who was acting as officer of the deck at the time, said the explosion occurred on the starboard side of the ship at 1:15 p.m., shortly after the Hamilton had cast off from a Navy supply ship she had been towing. The supply vessel had been disabled by engine trouble.

Ensign Broussard, who was on the port side, said: "All of the men ran to their battle stations and manned our guns. We fired two shots from the main battery and the ship was set on fire from the aft."

The Hamilton sank badly to starboard, then listed deeper into port, she remained afloat, however, for many hours. As the wrecked cutter was being towed into port, she was turned turtle.

A few gunshots from other ships sent her to the bottom. Although no one saw a sub nearby, the officers interviewed were certain the Hamilton had been struck by a torpedo. Had it been a mine the vessel hit, they explained, the blast would have occurred outside—not inside—the ship.

Destroyer Saves 101 Men. There were 15 men in the engine room. The officers said they did not know how many, if any, of these men escaped. The blast destroyed the main battery and the Hamilton's seven lifeboats, so the uninjured men remained on the ship—some as long as an hour—while the injured were removed in the boats.

One hundred and one men were taken off by an American destroyer. The Hamilton's crew, including the ship's doctor, were taken to the hospital alongside the crippled destroyer. This destroyer was one of two only a few miles away.

"The group I was with was in a lifeboat only a half hour before we were picked up by an Icelandic fishing trawler. Lt. Welch related. "Right after we left the cutter we picked up 17 men, two of them injured badly, out of the water. And boy, was that water cold. The sea men had been dumped into the sea when their lifeboat capsized in the rough sea. The waves were pretty high."

"When we reached shore—we thought we never would—about 40 of us were taken to a native Icelandic home where we were given dry clothing, food and first-aid treatment."

"After we learned our host was the head of the village to which we were taken."

Output of Aluminum To Be Increased by 320,000 Tons Yearly

Program to Exceed Anything Axis Can Hope For, Batt Declares

By the Associated Press. The War Production Board today announced a two-way program to increase United States aluminum production 640,000 tons annually and nearly double present production goals for magnesium.

The aluminum program, estimated to cost $350,000,000, was found necessary to meet President Roosevelt's "victory" requirements of 60,000 fighting planes this year and 125,000 in 1943. William L. Batt, W. P. B. materials director, told a press conference.

Doubling of Output. The projected magnesium and aluminum programs, when completed, will be far beyond the reach of anything the Axis powers can hope to produce," Mr. Batt declared, adding that "no computation of anything the enemy nations can do in aluminum even approaches it."

A major factor in the aluminum situation is the Government's plan to approximately double its imports of primary aluminum from Canada to a total of 450,000 pounds a year. The R. F. C. Metals Reserve Co. already has increased its Canadian commitments, Mr. Batt said, to reach this figure.

The aluminum program represents an approximate doubling of the pre-war aluminum industry, to give a production rate of 2,100,000 tons annually in this country.

It calls for an expansion just double the size of the original expansion goal.

Mr. Batt said the Government hoped that the peak production now completed could be reached early in 1942.

He added that the initial expansion program was well along and was expected to reach the full production rate by the end of 1942. Surveys for power requirements and possible plant locations already have been made and contracts let for the new $400,000,000-pound expansion, he declared, emphasizing that "this is not just a paper program."

Selections for a Fast Track at Hialeah Park

BEST BET—HARDWACK. SEVENTH RACE—MISFLYING, GUEST STAR, SMART. MISFLYING is a close one to Record Flight in a photo recently and considering the fact that this was the filly's initial start, cannot go beyond this one for the winner. GUEST STAR has been working well, but form is very ordinary. SMART is well liked by the clockers and fits well.

EIGHTH RACE—HIGHOMAR, KEY MAN, AVESTHA. HIGHOMAR gets the call in the final Workup a sizzling mile in :141-2-5 recently and should be ready for action this afternoon. KEY MAN rates well in a field of this order and should be close. AVESTHA coupled with NITON and both rate stout possibilities. AVESTHA is well liked today.

THIRD RACE—DONNA LEONA, REHEARSAL, O'FLAY. DONNA LEONA for good surprise in this sprint. The mare has been matching strides with a lot of better company and has a royal chance in the field. REHEARSAL is in the pink of condition and should get the place award. O'FLAY has been disappointing recently but could come up a good thing in this spot.

FOURTH RACE—WISE NIECE, SPEED TO SPARE, BITZTO. WISE NIECE appeared a trifle short in recent starts and should be able to stick it out long enough to defeat these sprinters. Robertson is scheduled to ride and the combination should click. SPEED TO SPARE is a gun away from the barrier and the top one can't do any loafing. BITZTO is a good thing.

FIFTH RACE—DOUBT NOT, OFF SHORE, WAR BUGLE. Mrs. T. Christopher's speedy gelding DOUBT NOT figures much the best in the Miami burned by steam. Although portions of his hands and arms were burned away, the officers related, Seaman Wolfe struggled with the compartment's steel doors and finally, apparently hurt even worse, and himself.

A few men dropped into the wrecked and steam-filled engine room—where boiling water slopped about as if in some stanic cauldron—when the floor of the room overleap was blown out.

Ensign Denny related he was asleep in his bunk. Awakened by the blast, he swung his feet from his bed into water knee deep. By the time he reached the ladder to the deck seconds later the water was waist deep.

The cutter was commanded by Comdr. A. G. Hall of Hartford, Conn., who is safe aboard one of the rescue destroyers.

Most of the injuries suffered by the crew resulted from steam and boiling water. On bed after bed in the hospital today, I saw men lying motionless with their faces, arms and feet covered with ugly burns.

Ensign Broussard, who was acting as officer of the deck at the time, said the explosion occurred on the starboard side of the ship at 1:15 p.m., shortly after the Hamilton had cast off from a Navy supply ship she had been towing. The supply vessel had been disabled by engine trouble.

Ensign Broussard, who was on the port side, said: "All of the men ran to their battle stations and manned our guns. We fired two shots from the main battery and the ship was set on fire from the aft."

The Hamilton sank badly to starboard, then listed deeper into port, she remained afloat, however, for many hours. As the wrecked cutter was being towed into port, she was turned turtle.

A few gunshots from other ships sent her to the bottom. Although no one saw a sub nearby, the officers interviewed were certain the Hamilton had been struck by a torpedo. Had it been a mine the vessel hit, they explained, the blast would have occurred outside—not inside—the ship.

Destroyer Saves 101 Men. There were 15 men in the engine room. The officers said they did not know how many, if any, of these men escaped. The blast destroyed the main battery and the Hamilton's seven lifeboats, so the uninjured men remained on the ship—some as long as an hour—while the injured were removed in the boats.

One hundred and one men were taken off by an American destroyer. The Hamilton's crew, including the ship's doctor, were taken to the hospital alongside the crippled destroyer. This destroyer was one of two only a few miles away.

"The group I was with was in a lifeboat only a half hour before we were picked up by an Icelandic fishing trawler. Lt. Welch related. "Right after we left the cutter we picked up 17 men, two of them injured badly, out of the water. And boy, was that water cold. The sea men had been dumped into the sea when their lifeboat capsized in the rough sea. The waves were pretty high."

"When we reached shore—we thought we never would—about 40 of us were taken to a native Icelandic home where we were given dry clothing, food and first-aid treatment."

"After we learned our host was the head of the village to which we were taken."

Optimistic Over Future. Losses out of convoys, the particular safeguard against submarine attacks, are just under one-half of 1 per cent of the cargo ships involved, he said.

But even if the increased rate of shipping losses which began December 7 should continue, Alexander concludes that it "should be more than offset" by the "vast program" of United States shipbuilding plus the British effort along that line.

He expressed belief also that the British and American navies eventually will surpass the strength which they could muster when the Japanese attack began December 7.

'No Wisdom Outside Of God, Dr. Fendrich Says in Lenten Talk

Special Services Slated In District Churches Tonight, Tomorrow

The strife and pain in the world today were caused by man exercising his own will instead of the will of God, the Rev. J. Lowrey Fendrich, pastor of the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church, said in a lenten talk today.

Dr. Fendrich spoke at Calvary Methodist Church in the second of a series of "mental hygiene" devotional services being held there during Lent.

Prays for Nation's Leaders. Dr. Fendrich prayed that "out of the confusion and chaos of today may there come a chastening of the minds of men and a new vision of life, security and peace."

THE BURMA INVASION—British lines held on the Sittang River, but smoke rolled over Rangoon (1) as the scorched earth torch was applied by defenders. Bassein was bombed. A new thrust toward the Shan States (2) was looked for from Thai bases, and Chinese troops were pouring into the area to reinforce the defenders.

offensive from their Thailand bases at Chienmai and Chiengra aimed toward the upper reaches of the Sittang in the Shan states of Burma. On that front, however, the invaders face a collision with thousands of Chinese who have moved in to defend Northeast Burma.

A London military commentator said there already were "patrol actions" in the Shan states between advancing Chinese forces and the Japanese. He said the Japanese offensive on the Sittang front apparently had been halted to permit the invaders to reorganize their forces after suffering considerable losses in the last few days of heavy fighting.

British Broadcasting Co. reported today that in Calcutta, India, 500 large buildings have been taken over as air-raid shelters, while trenches have been dug in the streets.

Port Heavily Pounded. Beyond Rangoon, 100 miles to the west, the secondary port of Bassein was reported unusually to have been pounded heavily by Japanese bombers. Like Rangoon, it has a railroad running northward into the interior.

Official information has been scarce for war correspondents since they were ordered from Rangoon last Friday and they find that even some officers newly assigned in central areas have only scant information.

CHUNGKING, Feb. 26 (AP).—A continual flow of Japanese reinforcements is streaming from Bangkok into Northern Thailand, where

Although British lines were said to be holding on the west bank of the Sittang River above the virtually depopulated capital, all that the imperial forces could offer, apparently, was a delaying action.

At the line of the Sittang the Japanese had reached the top of the Gulf of Martaban, less than 70 miles from Rangoon, and had crossed the last of the river barriers on the path of their advance.

Second Jap Offensive. Some British and Indian battalions had lost heavily in the prolonged fighting against heavier numbers which have staggered Burma's defenses back across the Salween and Bilin rivers.

At the same time, the Japanese apparently were opening a second

System Is Set Up To Expedite Inland Defense Plants

Coast Firms Prepared To Erect Duplicates On Conveyor Belt Plan

By BEN H. PEARSE.

A "conveyor belt" plan for constructing duplicates of national defense plants on sites in the Middle West beyond easy bombing range of enemy air raids was revealed today.

The system has reached a degree of standardization that enables Army and Navy officials to order an aircraft factory or a TNT plant to be erected at Doe's Crossroads, Kans., in much the same manner they would get an article from a department store.

While the damage from enemy raids, which so far have been limited to the shelling of oil refineries near Santa Barbara, Calif., and the island of Aruba, off the Venezuelan coast, by Japanese and German submarines, anticipation of heavier attacks long ago led to the program for concentration in new defense industries between the Rocky Mountains and the Alleghenies.

New factories of at least 10 aircraft companies are starting or will start production within the next few weeks. Among these are included plants of the Douglas Aircraft Corp., the Lockheed, Vultee, Consolidated, Boeing and North American, all on the West Coast, and the Glenn L. Martin, Curtiss airplane division, Curtiss propeller division and the Wright aircraft and Wright engine plants in the Eastern area.

The plan provides for duplication of blueprints and all specifications down to the detailed purchase orders necessary for the equipment and material. In the case of one TNT plant which has been established, 10 similar plants were ordered by making 10 copies of the original blueprints and 10 copies of the 20,000 purchase orders involved in procuring equipment and material for that particular type plant.

The purchase orders were obtained both by copying and photostating the originals, but eliminating a mass of time-consuming labor which would have been necessary had new purchase orders been drawn up complete with the specifications describing the quality of material from the original plants.

The conveyor belt system, which permits War Department officials to order a "type X" TNT plant with a minimum delay and confusion has followed in many large assembly factories and aircraft which have been erected in the past year in Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, and Kansas.

He said 22,000 Japanese troops were massed at Chienmai, terminus of the rail line north from Bangkok, and 35,000 more were at Chiengra, about 35 miles from the Thai-Burma border town of Chienngsen, where mechanized units of unknown strength have been assembled.

Communique MacArthur Recaptures Jap Advance Posts. The text of War Department communique No. 125, issued this morning, follows: Philippines theater: In a surprise thrust Gen. MacArthur's troops in Bataan attacked sharply all along the line, capturing a number of the enemy's advance positions. The attack was particularly successful in the right wing where forward elements of the Japanese troops were forced to withdraw several kilometers. Fighting is still in progress with continued local success. However, the main positions of the enemy have not been penetrated.

Demands Growing In Congress to Drop 40-Hour Week

Administration Reported Studying Request for 'Work or Fight' Action

By the Associated Press. Work stoppages in war factories today brought an angry demand in Congress for cancellation of the 40-hour week and of time-and-a-half for overtime, while an informed source reported that the administration might ask soon for a drastic "work or fight" measure, and some Senators discussed the feasibility of legislation to formulate a definite policy—which, they held, was now lacking—to govern settlement of disputes before the War Labor Board.

Representative Smith, Democrat, of Virginia asked the House to suspend 17 laws on the work week and overtime pay. His proposal was contained in an amendment to the second war powers bill, slated for a vote before the day was out.

Mr. Smith said the laws were "handicapping our war effort." As examples, he cited 17,000 West Coast workers in 250 plants who ignored Government pleas to stay on the job in Washington's Birthday, and 3,000 C. I. O. shipbuilders at San Pedro, Calif., who refused to work longer than eight hours.

Lawmakers saw some hope for unimpeded production in the new C. I. O.-A. F. L. agreement for working out problems of wages and manpower mobilization. The agreement was presented to President Roosevelt yesterday, but its terms were not disclosed.

There was concern over stoppages at the Bethlehem shipbuilding yard in Hoboken over a foreman's "use of vile and abusive names" and the 75-minute interruption at the Minneapolis Moline Power Implement Co. over complaints on slow wage negotiations. Union leaders said enough welders returned at Hoboken to keep naval works going.

In the Senate, Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia yesterday demanded the removal of Secretary of Labor Perkins for "inefficiency, ineptness and incapacity to meet her duties," and called for a national labor policy now. He declared the Labor Secretary had "approved sit-down strikes" and displayed an incapacity rarely duplicated in history in such a high office.

"Yet," he added, "after nine years of this kind of incompetence, and in the face of the greatest emergency this country has ever known, when labor troubles constitute a weak link in our chain of national defense, Miss Perkins is continued in office."

Senator Van Nuys, Democrat, of Indiana told reporters he favored compelling labor to sacrifice some of its gains during the war period "in keeping with sacrifices being made now by others."

He said he had discussed the question with certain unnamed labor leaders and they had agreed labor would have to give up the 40-hour week, time-and-a-half for overtime, the closed shop and the checkoff.

Leaders of the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. who saw President Roosevelt were understood to have protested that Leon Henderson's recently expressed opposition to general wage increases had injured labor's case for higher wages before the War Labor Board.

The President today was to confer with Daniel J. Tobin, a vice president of the A. F. L., and a White House labor adviser.

The labor leaders who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday for the second time within a month, also were said to have recommended that the task of directing wartime mobilization of manpower be assigned to a single administrator in the Labor Department instead of to a board as proposed in the so-called McNutt plan.

Parley Called Satisfactory. Philip Murray and William Green, respective heads of the C. I. O. and A. F. L., pronounced the conference "satisfactory," but declined to discuss details of their recommendations with reporters.

The recommendations were worked out at joint meetings of officials of the two labor groups and were said to have conflicted sharply on the wage question with Mr. Henderson's week-end pronouncement at Des Moines, Iowa, in which the price administrator said that any "general increase in basic wage rates will compound an already difficult problem in the price field."

The union leaders were reported to have told Mr. Roosevelt that basic increases were necessary to keep pace with rising living costs and that wages could not be frozen at present levels so long as prices continued to increase.

The man power mobilization plan proposed by Paul McNutt, Social Security administrator, envisions the shifting of workers from one industry to another in a manner designed to insure a maximum of production efficiency. Mr. McNutt recently was reported to be Mr. Roosevelt's choice to head the board, presumably to be composed of cabinet members and other high ranking Government administrators.

Defense Sidelights

Mayflower Hotel's Volunteer Group, First of Kind in U. S., Gets Insignia

Organization of a volunteer first aid detachment at the Mayflower Hotel was completed yesterday when badges were presented to nine employees who have completed the first aid instructor's course, and participated to 84 employees who were certified as advanced course.

Commodore Wilbert E. Longfellow, assistant director of first aid, water safety and accident prevention of the American Red Cross, made the presentations. He said the Mayflower was the first hotel in the United States to set up such a detachment.

Uniformed attendants—waiters, waitresses and bellboys—received emblems to sew on their uniforms. Front office employees and secretaries were given arm bands. Air Raid Warden Osmond Roberts, the hotel's public relations director, explained how the detachment will operate.

A class of instruction on gases and bombs will be started at 8 p.m. Monday at the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, 6000 New Hampshire avenue N.E. It was announced today by Cyrus T. Bright, deputy warden of the Chillum Heights area.

All wardens who have not taken a similar course previously have been requested to attend. The instructor will be Miss Elizabeth Fielding.

House Employee Denies Dry Uses His Office

Marshall W. Pickering, veteran manager of the minority workroom in the House Office Building, today emphatically denied that Edward Page Gaston, director of the World Prohibition Association, is utilizing his offices to disseminate propaganda to promote a return of national prohibition.

Representative Sweeney, Democrat, of Ohio, in a speech inserted in the Congressional Record, demanded an investigation by Speaker Rayburn and the House Office Building Commission to determine whether prohibition propaganda was being sent out from the Republican workroom. He reiterated today that he will continue to press for an investigation.

Mr. Pickering said today the only prohibition material mailed from his office was a speech by Representative Guyer, Republican, of Kansas, author of a bill to prohibit sale of liquor in Washington. Mr. Pickering said his office was employed by Mr. Gaston to mail copies of this speech, about 800, to the mailing list of the World Prohibition Association. And that although the speech was frank, postage had been paid by Mr. Gaston.

3 of 4 Attacking Jap Planes Felled by Dutch Bomber

By the Associated Press. BATAVIA, Netherlands Indies, Feb. 26.—A Dutch bomber pilot told the Aneta News Agency today how he shot down three of the four Japanese planes attacking his own crippled craft during a recent raid on Japanese-held airports in Southern Sumatra.

One Japanese naval Zero-type plane first knocked out one of the two engines of the Dutch bomber, which began losing height. Then three other Japanese planes closed in for the expected kill, he said.

Altogether the Japanese had a total armament of eight cannon and 16 machine guns, but the Dutch pilot deftly maneuvered his falling craft while the gunners disposed of three of the attackers. The third enemy plane was shot down while the Dutch bomber was flying only 80 feet above the jungle treetops.

Finding a clearing, the pilot made an emergency landing with all hands uninjured. The remaining Japanese attacker then tried to machine-gun the crewman, but they set fire to their plane, worked their way through the jungle and found a boat to carry them across Sunda Strait back to Java.

Louis to Train for Simon Fight at Fort Dix, N. J.

FORT DIX, N. J., Feb. 26.—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, now Pvt. Joe Louis Barrow, will train at Fort Dix for his title defense against Abe Simon at New York March 27.

Arrangements were made today when Louis, Promotor Mike Jacobs and Trainer Manny Seamon came here to inspect the camp's facilities for training. Louis, now stationed at Camp Upton, N. Y., will be assigned to Fort Dix for the training period.

Geographic Lecture

Capt. Dwight Long will lecture on his cruise in a 32-foot ketch, from New York to California by way of the Panama Canal, before members of the National Geographic Society in Constitution Hall tomorrow night.

There has been no national policy formulated, except for the President's declaration that there should be no interruption of production," Senator Ball commented. "Congress ought to settle now the questions of union security, jurisdictional dispute and wages."

Would Extend W. P. B. Powers. Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he felt that some legislation was needed to give the War Production Board broader powers to prevent work stoppages.

"It just isn't in keeping with any all-out effort to win a war to have anybody stop work, even for an hour," he declared.

Senator Taft, Republican, of Ohio, another committee member, proposed that in addition to freezing open and closed shops, Congress act to link war production wages to the cost of living so that pay increases could be granted only when it was shown that living costs had increased.

The War Labor Board's first hearing on C. I. O. demands for $1 a day basic wage increase for employees of the four "Little Steel" companies opened today. The session, before a three-man special investigating panel of the board, is dealing only with procedure. Fact finding hearings are expected to begin next week.

Attack on Roosevelt, Jr., Draws Democrats' Fire

By the Associated Press. House Democrats angrily denounced Representative Pfeiffer, Republican, of New York today for declaring that Navy Lt. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., now recovering from an appendectomy, was receiving favored treatment.

Mr. Pfeiffer said the President's son was given a month's leave of absence "after a simple appendectomy" and declared the commission given him was an illustration of those "handed out on silver platters to sons of prominent men."

"Obama as any member of the House that would get up to make that sort of an attack on the son of the President," cried Representative Woodrum, Democrat, of Virginia. "He (young Roosevelt) is in the hospital, and he's going to be kept there for the treatment that would be given any one in the armed forces, whether or not he was the son of the President."

House Majority Leader McCormack said that Mr. Pfeiffer's remarks were an illustration of "individual sniping" at the President.

Mr. McCormack said that all the President's sons had sought "every hazardous kind of service."

Three Accused of Halting D. C. Driver, Robbing Him

Two colored women, 26 and 24, and a colored man, 22, were held at the second police precinct today, accused of robbery.

The three hailed James E. McEntee, 40, of 7135 Georgia avenue N.W. as he was driving yesterday at Ninth and N streets N.W., police said. When he halted his auto the man opened the car door and stuck a knife to Mr. McEntee's side. One of the women reached in and pulled a billfold from his hip pocket. She removed $35 and tossed the wallet to the pavement.

The three then dashed into a nearby apartment house, police said. Mr. McEntee summoned police and the arrest followed, but no formal charges were placed immediately.

Thief of more than $1,500 from a safe at Spillway Bowling Center, 2004 Nichols avenue S.E. was reported to police late yesterday by Paul Beliger, manager. Detectives believe the safe was opened by a person who knew the combination.

Mrs. Mary A. Ramsey, Veteran's Widow, Dies

Mrs. Mary Ann Ramsey, 85, widow of William H. B. Ramsey, Civil War veteran, died yesterday at her home, 638 Irving street N.W. After requiem mass at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Fort Myer Chapel, she will be buried near her husband's grave at Arlington National Cemetery.

Born in Steubenville, Ohio, Mrs. Ramsey came here as a young woman and was married here. Mr. Ramsey worked as a clerk in the Adjutant General's Office until he was 81. He died six years ago.

Mrs. Ramsey's body is at the Tabler funeral home. She is survived by four sisters, Miss Margaret A. Duffy, retired Agriculture Department employee, who lived with her here; Mrs. James F. Hassett, Bloomington, Ill.; Mrs. Joseph Fath, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Gabriel Liebtag, Cleveland, Ohio.

British Soldiers in New York Like U. S. Girls, Complain of Beer

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—At the dark hour of 5:45 a.m. today a group of soldiers at an Army post in the metropolitan area rolled out of their bunks, donned kilts and tam-o'-shanters and stuck dirks in their knee-length socks.

They were English and Scottish soldiers, first British combat force to set foot in the U. S. since the First World War. They liked "most everything they saw except the bloom'n' mild American beer."

"We like it to bite like a serpent and sting like an adder," a Scotsman explained.

Explained Not Disclosed. The soldiers' identity, their purpose here and their destination are wartime secrets. But the Scots, in equally heavy accents, made no secret of their likes and dislikes.

The American girls are "wow." The price of two drinks of whiskey (that's what it sounded like) in a Manhattan night club would buy a bottle back in Glasgow.

The food here is better than anything they've had in more than a year. As for those dirks—they are skein'drus, originally used for skinning wild beasts, now carried only for show. Their tams are called balmorals; the knob on top is a taylor.

An Old Army Game. Greetings from the American soldiers at the post have been on the warm side. Tea has been added to the daily mess. No one pokes fun

In Bulk or by the Piece...

Starting tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, one of the finest clothing and furnishings stocks in Washington will be sold in bulk or by the individual piece.

Here's an idea for dealers or consumers to buy branded merchandise at a fraction of the wholesale cost. Remember, this reliable firm is definitely going out of business after retailing fine clothing and furnishings for 50 years. All to go at whatever price it will bring.

74 Japanese Vessels Sunk by U. S. Since Beginning of War

Nazi U-Boats, However, Destroy 34 Ships Along East Coast

The United States was exacting a punishing price from Japanese sea power for Nippon's Pacific conquests today, but German U-boats kept striking hard with frequent success in the Atlantic.

In the savage two-ocean war of attrition the Capital sought to strike a balance of the gains and losses.

The toll taken of enemy shipping in the Pacific was heartening. Army and Navy reports disclosed that since December 10 a total of 74 Japanese combatant and non-combatant vessels had been sunk, seven more probably sunk and 33 damaged.

If losses on such a scale can be inflicted on Japan for the remainder of the war, naval officials indicated last night, her ultimate defeat is assured, because her shipbuilding resources are not equal to providing the necessary replacements and repairs.

Battle of the Atlantic. In the Atlantic, however, Navy statistics testified to the unremitting vigor of the U-boat campaign. From January 1 to February 23 the number of submarine attacks on shipping of the United Nations in the western half of the ocean alone was 114, and 45 of them occurred in American waters.

Losses on Both Sides. In the latest bombing attack one Japanese fighter plane which attempted to intercept the raiders was shot down, and one Dutch bomber was lost.

One Japanese bomber and one fighter also were shot down out of the force which raided Soerabaja, while another enemy bomber and a fighter were destroyed in the attacks on the West Java airdromes. Two Dutch fighters were listed as lost in defense against these attacks, with one pilot killed.

(Tokio claimed destruction of 37 planes in raids on Java yesterday, with a total of 177 United Nations planes destroyed so far.) He made no promises of victory, only of a "reasonable" fighting chance. But the word "attack" recurred throughout his speech and Van Mook hinted that defense of Java may be only the beginning of the United Nations plans.

He told the resolved islanders that the foreign troops which are here will remain and will be maintained through a regular stream of reinforcements.

Cites MacArthur's Stand. "Let there be no light-hearted optimism and let us prove our worth during the few months that separate us from a large-scale Allied effort," he said.

Van Mook commented that Singapore's loss had made a deep impression, but he said this has since been wiped out and counseled the people of Java to learn from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's stand in the Philippines "that the enemy is not invincible if we only stand and attack."

"We must derive inspiration and wisdom from what has been achieved and the mistakes which have been made," he said. "Clear your minds of the hypothesis of Japanese invincibility and we will prove that we can carry the burden."

Large Port in Sumatra Declared Held by Japs. LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Batavia said today a large port in Southern Sumatra is in Japanese hands.

The port was not identified, but the dispatch added that this means Sunda Strait, between Sumatra and Western Java, is directly threatened.

Role of Java Explained. The role of Java, core of the Netherlands Indies, was set out in plain language last night by Lt. Gov. Gen. Hubertus J. van Mook in a broadcast to its people.

"The time for destruction and withdrawal has now ended," he told them. "The time for holding out and attacking has come."

Defrauding of Orderly Laid to Hospital Patient. Harry Kaplan, 42, yesterday was arraigned in Police Court on charges of obtaining $28.50 by trickery from a colored orderly at Gallinger Hospital while already serving time on check charges.

The money allegedly was obtained from the orderly in January while Kaplan was in the hospital for treatment, after being taken there from Occoquan where he had been sent to serve 10 months on the check charges.

Judge Walter J. Casey yesterday continued the charges to March 4 for trial after Kaplan had asked for a continuance to arrange for his defense.

Australian Leader in Malaya Safe in Indies After Escape

Bennett and Party Fled Singapore for Sumatra in Junk

By the Associated Press.

BATAVIA, Netherlands Indies, Feb. 26.—Maj. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australian imperial forces in Malaya, has reached Batavia after escaping from Singapore in a large Chinese junk which required four days to reach neighboring Sumatra.

The assumption before his arrival was that he had been captured by the Japanese now in command of the fallen Allied bastion.

With him were his aide de camp, Lt. Gordon Walker, eight members of the Singapore volunteers and seven members of British regiments.

(A dispatch from Canberra officially estimated that 17,000 Australians were among the imperial troops taken prisoner at Singapore. Very few Australians got away and the number of casualties in the last of the fighting there was not known.)

Decided to Attempt Escape. A group of Australian officers decided on a Thursday (date undecided) that the great inevitability would have to be given up. They decided to attempt to escape, taking Gen. Bennett with them, his aide de camp related in an interview after their arrival here.

A Chinese guide suggested a launch without success. Finally, they decided on Sunday that the only way of escape was to the north, through the Japanese lines to the mainland of Johore, where they hoped to find a boat at Batu Pahat.

A Chinese guide disagreed with this plan, and then a police sergeant told the group that several small boats were moored some distance out to sea.

Lt. Walker said he swam out to one large sampan, rowed it back and the party set out on Sunday night.

Men Go Without Food. At midnight their sampan bumped into a large sea-going junk with six British officers aboard. Gen. Bennett and his group boarded the junk and at dawn they were only a half mile from the fortified island of Blankang Mat which already was in Japanese hands.

But the group threaded their way through all the islands of Singapore and across to Sumatra on a four-day trip in which their only navigation guide was a page from an atlas showing the Southwest Pacific on a scale of 240 miles to the inch.

The escaping men went without food and water rations were getting low when a British launch sighted them off the Sumatra coast and took them on a two-day trip down to Jambi, where Dutch authorities gave them food and clothing, and a motor car for a trip to Padang. Once there a flying boat brought them to Batavia.

Miss Rebecca P. Warner, Retired Librarian, Dies. Miss Rebecca Parker Warner, retired librarian who for 20 years headed the Takoma Park Public Library branch, died this morning at her home, 1868 Columbia road N.W., after an illness of two years.

Veteran of 30 years in the library service, Miss Warner received her library training at Drexel Library Institute, Philadelphia. A native of Washington, she was the daughter of the late Brainard H. Warner, real estate operator.

Miss Warner was an active member of the Seymour Club, Twentieth Century Club and Friday Morning Music Club, and regularly attended the Church of the Covenant. She retired from library service about six years ago.

She is survived by three sisters, Miss Anna Warner and Mrs. Levi Cooke of Washington and Mrs. Donald Smith of Princeton, N. J., and three brothers, A. Parker Warner, Santa Fe, N. Mex., and Phillips Warner and Hamilton Warner of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the home, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Seven Are Nominated To Spanish American Diplomatic Posts

President Also Names John B. Blandford, Jr., As Housing Head

President Roosevelt today nominated seven diplomatic emissaries to South and Central American posts.

At the same time he named John B. Blandford, jr., now assistant director of the budget, to be head of the new National Housing Agency.

Included in the diplomatic nominations were four ambassadorships in South America and three ministerial posts in Central America.

Designated to be Ambassador to Bolivia is Pierre de Lagard Boal of Pennsylvania, now Minister to Nicaragua.

To be Ambassador to Colombia, the President selected Arthur Bliss Lane of New York, now Minister to Costa Rica.

To Ecuador and Paraguay, the President nominated for Ambassadorships the men who already are serving there as Ministers.

These are Boaz Long of New Mexico, in Ecuador, and Wesley Frost of Kentucky, in Paraguay.

Robert M. Scotten of Michigan, at present Minister to the Dominican Republic, was nominated to the Costa Rican post to be vacated by Mr. Lane. Replacing Mr. Scotten will be Avra M. Warren of Maryland, now chief of the visa division in the Department of State.

As a replacement of Mr. Boal in Nicaragua, the President designated James B. Stewart of New Mexico, now Consul General at Zurich, Switzerland.

Mr. Lane, who goes to the Bogota post that is of unusual importance because of Colombia's vital position in hemisphere defense, is only 47 years of age. He will be one of the country's youngest Ambassadors.

A resident of Brooklyn, Mr. Lane was educated in France and at Yale University. He was in the Connecticut National Guard during 1915-6. He started his diplomatic career as secretary to the American Ambassador to Italy during 1916-7. He has held foreign service posts in Rome, Warsaw, London, Paris, Bern and Mexico City. He has served as Minister to Nicaragua, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Yugoslavia and Costa Rica.

Mrs. Florence Offutt Dies In Friendship Heights. Mrs. Florence Gootie Offutt, 72, wife of Henry W. Offutt, retired real estate agent, died yesterday at her home, 400 Western avenue, Friendship Heights, Md.

Services for Mrs. Offutt will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. John's Church, Georgetown, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

A native of Golden Hill, Dorchester County, Md., Mrs. Offutt had been living in Friendship Heights about 35 years. Her husband, a former president of the Potomac Savings Bank, was instrumental in development of the heights area.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Breining and Mrs. Lucy Mourning, and one grandson, Lee Mourning, all of Washington.

HOW TO GIVE YOUR CHILDREN MORE ORANGE JUICE AND SAVE MONEY!

"PEELING" ORANGE MORE PULP LESS JUICE!

FLORIDA ORANGE LESS SKIN AND PULP MORE JUICE!

Florida oranges now reach this market several days faster... thus they can stay on the tree 2 to 5 days longer, getting sweeter, riper, richer in flavor!...

If you want the sweetest juice, and a lot more juice for your money, you only have to know these simple facts about oranges: The thin-skinned juice orange RARELY turns a deep orange color... Dead ripe, full of juice... ready to fall from the tree... the sweet juice oranges from Florida are often mixtures of orange, green and russet tones! The thick-skinned "peeling" orange is usually brighter in color, often deep orange, and contains far more skin and pulp... and correspondingly less juice. Thus you see how important it is, if you want juice, to know your oranges. You'll save money... and avoid an exasperating time trying to squeeze enough juice out of a peeling orange... if you'll remember to buy the thin-skinned juice orange from Florida.

Forbidden Areas Will Be Designated for American-Born Japs

8,000 Enemy Aliens Evacuated From 46 Coast Defense Sectors

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Plans to designate additional prohibited areas from which not only enemy aliens but "any American-born Japanese we think necessary" will be ousted were disclosed by Tom C. Clark, alien control coordinator.

He said in Los Angeles last night that Lt. Gen. John L. De Witt, Western defense commander, was preparing detailed descriptions of the additional military areas and said they should be ready for designation Saturday.

"We do not plan any mass evacuation. The deadline will be set with a view to allow them time to move voluntarily. When the deadline is reached we will take out all aliens and any American-born Japanese we think necessary."

8,000 Moved From 46 Areas.
The announcement followed closely the evacuation of some 8,000 enemy aliens from 46 prohibited areas. F. B. I. agents were checking to make sure the evacuation order had been followed. Other thousands of enemy aliens in still other sections were living under a strict curfew regulating their movements at night.

The Navy moved ahead from March 15 to tomorrow the deadline for the evacuation of approximately 1,000 Japanese from Terminal Island, Navy base at Los Angeles.

A proposal for drafting Japanese into an agricultural division, at pay equivalent to that of soldiers and sailors, was submitted by the Pacific League Alien Problem Conference, made up of representatives of State, county and city governments and other organizations.

Germans, Italians Seized In South Carolina Raids

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 26 (P).—J. R. Ruggles of the Savannah, Ga., office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said that four Germans and two Italians were arrested last night as enemy aliens in Charleston and vicinity.

Federal agents, city, county and State police and Naval Intelligence officers conducted the raids, seized ammunition, rifles, shotguns, pistols, cameras, binoculars and short wave receiving sets.

Biddle Paroles 60 Pct. Of Enemy Aliens Seized

Attorney General Biddle has ordered parole or release for approximately 60 per cent of enemy aliens now under arrest whose cases have been heard by enemy alien boards. Through February 19, Attorney General Biddle has acted on a total of 1,084 individual such cases heard by local boards, and reviewed by the alien enemy control unit of the Justice Department. Of this number, 448 were ordered interned for the duration of the war, 421 were placed on parole and 215 were released outright. To date, 137 alien enemies have actually been delivered to the Army for internment. Others will be turned over by the department as rapidly as plans for their safekeeping are completed, officials said.

Of 448 aliens ordered interned, 257 are Germans, 156 Japanese and 37 Italians. The paroled group includes 274 Germans, 102 Japanese and 45 Italians.

The Justice Department also announced that the F. B. I. through yesterday, had arrested on a total of 3,250 Japanese, 1,582 Germans and 369 Italians.

Enemy aliens not considered dangerous enough to be interned are paroled, the Justice Department said.

"The procedure usually followed is to require them to report at regular intervals to a sponsor—a reputable United States citizen who knows the alien personally and will vouch for his good behavior—and to the nearest parole officer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service," it was said. "Any infraction of special parole requirements, or of the regulations governing alien enemies generally, may result in immediate internment for the duration of the war."

Souvenir Map Guides Flyers Out Of Philippines

By the Associated Press.
BATAVIA, Netherlands Indies, Feb. 26.—A tiny pictorial map on a souvenir cigarette case guided 17 American airmen flying several United States flying boats on their escape from the Philippines to the Netherlands Indies, it was disclosed yesterday.

None of them ever had flown the route which passes over a vast area of countless islands, and only the bare outlines of the main islands of Sumatra, Borneo, Java, Celebes and New Guinea appeared on the treasured silver case the pilot of the leading plane had picked up on a previous visit to the Indies.

A knowledge of the smaller island positions had been considered essential to navigation through the maze of the Indies.

Veteran flyers of the Indies admitted they were amazed by the feat.

Cochran Declares Measure Also Would Speed War Effort

By GOULD LINCOLN.
Declaring that taxpayers would be saved more than $1,000,000,000 and the war program expedited by the passage of his bill to exempt payments on the Government's cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts from local, municipal and State taxes, Chairman Cochran of the House Committee on Accounts today urged the Ways and Means Committee to take favorable action on the measure.

The War and Navy Departments, he said, have approved the proposed legislation. The Treasury Department, on the other hand, has withheld its approval.

"The Treasury Department takes the position that taxation of defense activities is non-discriminatory," Representative Cochran said. "It is my opinion that the department assumes this attitude because it does not want to jeopardize the position that it has taken for over 30 years in endeavoring to get Congress to pass legislation that would provide that the interest on State and local securities be included in Federal income tax returns; in fact the Treasury Department so admits in its report on the bill."

Cities Estimate.

Mr. Cochran said that based on estimates of total expenditures of $13,000,000,000 for national defense in the last two months, but that the Attorney General estimated last summer that the exemptions from local and State taxes asked in Mr. Cochran's bill would save the Government $137,000,000 for the fiscal year 1942 alone.

"I have been advised," he said, "by the Army and Navy that the savings will amount to over a billion dollars, since the expenditures will be 10 times the amount on which the Attorney General made his estimate."

Mr. Cochran pointed out that the Supreme Court, in the Alabama case, "clearly indicated that it was up to Congress to pass legislation if immunity was to be granted from sales and other taxes and in so saying it can certainly be assumed that the court felt that the Congress had the power to grant such immunity and make it retroactive. The Army and Navy especially are being harassed by States and in some instances subdivisions of States that demand compliance with their tax laws.

Gives Hawaii as Example.

"Even Hawaii is causing the Army and Navy a great deal of trouble," Mr. Cochran said. "The Government gave relief to the extent of $30,000,000 to Hawaii. In Hawaii, for example, at this time Army and Navy officers are attempting to adjust and compromise tax claims pressed with respect to Navy contracts by the Territory. Acting under their 'gross receipts' tax statutes, the Territory insists on collecting a part of every dollar spent through cost-plus contractors in making the islands impregnable against further Japanese attack.

The Navy contractor spends a million dollars in employing labor and purchasing materials to perform work under the contract the Navy must immediately reimburse him; then the Territory demands $12,500 of this amount from the contractor in addition to the $1 million that the Territory must thereupon pay to the contractor this additional sum exacted by the Territory.

"What is true of the Territory of Hawaii is true also of many States which have similar gross receipts or gross income taxes."

Confusion Seen.

Mr. Cochran insisted, however, that as great as the financial burden was because of the demand for the payments of these taxes on the Army and Navy contracts by the States and cities, the administrative burdens and confusion resulting since the court decision in the Alabama case have been just as troublesome and have hampered the defense program by delays. The tax liability, he said, was not clear and brought hesitation and indecision.

"Another matter," said Mr. Cochran, "that is causing considerable concern to the War and Navy Departments is the action of the telegraph companies who contend that under this Alabama decision the War and Navy Departments are not entitled to Government rates and are being charged rates sent to expedite war production under cost-plus-a-fee contracts. As a result of this decision the Navy Department filed a brief before the Federal Communications Commission, asking for relief.

Monopoly on Moving U. S. Agencies Is Denied Here

The Procurement Division of the Treasury Department today denied the charge of the Independent Movers' and Warehousemen's Association that membership in the Traffic Service Department of the American Trucking Association was a necessary qualification to get a share of the business of moving decentralized agencies and their personnel from Washington.

Clifton E. Mack, director of the Procurement Division, said that "none of the motor companies which, up to the present, has performed a part of the service, is a subscriber to the traffic service referred to."

The independent association charged in a petition filed with the Anti-trust Division of the Justice Department and with members of Congress that when its members tried to get some of the business they were told they would have to affiliate with the Traffic Service Department and pay dues of $60 a year. The independent group said the service department was a private organization.

Mr. Mack said the American Trucking Association has acted as "co-ordinating agency" between the Procurement Division and the movers to insure "as far as possible the type of performance necessary to effect the transfer of Government functions." The American association agreed to act in this capacity for all movers selected by the Government, whether members of the American group or not, it was said.

City Still Lacks Adequate Raid Alarm Setup As Priorities Delay Delivery of Horns

By DON S. WARREN.

An adequate air-raid warning device system for the District still is on the "hope-to-have-pretty-soon" basis today—nearly three months after the shock of Pearl Harbor, but not one year after formulation of an original recommendation on what horns were needed.

A survey made by The Star discloses that while considerable effort has been spent in recent weeks, the "real" warning system of horns, on which Washington may rely in case of an air raid, still is dependent upon priorities, deliveries and installations.

District officials have been reluctant to discuss details of the subject, but it is frankly stated that there has been considerable concern voiced backstage, and the present lack of air-raid warning horns is the real reason why the series of blackout practices was halted.

"I have hopes we will be in good shape soon," was the statement today of Commissioner John Russell Young, United States co-ordinator for civilian defense for this Metropolitan Area, upon whom the ultimate responsibility rests. Though reticent under the circumstances, he desired to go no further than that brief comment.

Met Competitive Orders.

The problem has been a difficult one, and it is frankly stated that but few worried about horns, sirens or whistles prior to December 7, and after Pearl Harbor many cities and the Navy all clamored for priority ratings for horns, compressors, air tanks, auxiliary tanks, solenoid valves and all other units of air-raid warning devices.

The current survey shows the District so far has spent or will spend to complete the present program about $122,000 for signal devices—and as of today it has received but one set of horns in final operating form 41 electric sirens, five compressed air horns and one steam-actuated horn. District officials make no claim that this collection is satisfactory.

Actual trial of the sirens was disappointing. Finding them not strong enough, the District ordered 22 air horns and 20 steam horns to supplement the 41 electric sirens, but priorities will determine when the District may get more of the two types of horns, upon which District O. C. D. officials really are relying to do the job.

According to the latest reports on the desk of Col. Beverly C. Snow, Assistant Engineer Commissioner and chairman of the Civilian Defense Policy Council, some of the sirens were ordered by the District over half of the 41 electric sirens have been installed, but these now must be operated individually and manually, and are yet to be tied into the electric system so they can be set simultaneously and pushed in button at the communications center.

District engineers are pressing for faster action and recently orders were approved for overtime work at extra pay rates to accomplish this. There still are the needs of priorities for the rest of the horns, for production and deliveries, for provision of leased wires for power to set the horns going, and for provision of solenoid valves which are needed to make the horns operate automatically and simultaneously.

About a year ago engineers working for the old District Council of Defense submitted a report recommending the nine powerful air-actuated air-raid horns. The Star was informed. Questions then were being publicly debated as to whether the United States would or should be drawn into the war, and the report, like others, was left for later action. Later there were changes in the membership of the Board of District Civilian Setup. Las fall Col. Lemuel Bolles was ordered into active duty with the Army and was detailed to the District as civilian defense director.

The old horn recommendation was brought back to light as Col. Bolles struggled to organize an army of 40,000 to 50,000 volunteer workers, but there was no formal action by city officials until after the Pearl Harbor incident. Then, the Commissioners were told, manufacture of the desired compressed-air horns could not be started for two to three months—if priorities were obtained.

Turned to Electric Sirens.

Aroused over the prospect, officials sought alternatives and some one suggested electric sirens could be obtained "almost at once." A little later orders were placed for such equipment. They did not come in as fast as first expected, but they did arrive. But trial of the first two or so to be installed convinced the public they were not adequate, and the District officials thought so, too, unless a much larger number were acquired.

Somewhat in desperation, municipal officials turned back to the question of steam or air-actuated horns. Meanwhile there was some evidence of backstage disputes among subordinates over the fact the original horn plan had been shelved in preference for the supposedly more quickly available sirens.

As civilian defense director, Col. Bolles has no direct authority whatever over the municipal establishment but it is reported that at this point he made a personal appeal to high Federal authorities for aid in getting necessary horns for protection of Federal properties and the public in the National Capital. It is reported such arrangements to some degree were made, with a stipulation that the District provide the compressed-air tanks—so as to avoid using new steel for them that was needed for munitions. Commissioner Young and Col. Bolles were delighted and District engineers were directed to find available compressed-air tanks.

Tanks Found "Too Late."

The story goes on that after a day or so the report came back that the desired tanks could not be found. Again, insistently, it is said, directions were given to "find the tanks" and after another day or so the report came back that some tanks had been located. Back to the Federal authorities went a District emissary, but he was told he was too late, that the Navy had since applied for priorities on compressed-air horns, it is related.

The details as to orders, deliveries and so forth, as dug from his files by Col. Snow, are as follows:

On December 24 the District Commissioners ordered 24 two-horsepower electric sirens. Twenty-two of these had been delivered and installed by February 12, the extra one being held in reserve for emergency use.

During the same period, the Commissioners ordered 18 sirens of five horsepower each and by February 18 had been delivered and installed. Since then two more have been installed and overtime extra pay work has been ordered to speed installation of the remainder.

Mindanao, just south of Luzon but too distant to do Gen. Masaharu Homma, Japanese commander in Bataan, any good at this time. They are the first troop landings reported, however, since early after the fall of Singapore, when the Japanese poured not only troops but airplanes and artillery into the Philippines.

No mention was made in today's communiqué of any artillery or air action either in support of the American attack or in opposition. It was presumed here, however, that Gen. MacArthur was making use of his effective field artillery to blast away at the Japanese in front of his lines.

At a number of points along Gen. MacArthur's lines the Japanese had previously succeeded in making infiltrations to a considerable depth. These infiltrations were possible because of the jungle growth in the valleys and mountain passes.

It was evident from the reported actions today that Gen. MacArthur was wiping out these salient and straightening his lines along the entire front.

No report was made in the communiqué to indicate the extent of casualties on either side. It was evident, however, that these may have been heavy in view of previous reports which characterized all such attacks on the Bataan front.

A-3 Ratings for 11.

Porter M. Lumpkins, chief clerk of the District Engineer Department, reports that A-3 priority ratings have been given by the United States for 11 of the air horns ordered and 11 solenoid valves for their automatic operation, but that the District still has need for 12 air compressors, 12 air-storage tanks and 21 auxiliary air tanks. When they will be obtained no one knows.

For the provision of the ordered 22 air horns and the 20 steam horns, the District has allocated $75,000 for payment, but it is explained the leasing of power lines will cost an extra $5,000 a year. Thus the total cost would be $122,000.

After taking $5,000,000 out of the $45,000,000 housing fund for financing the Goodwill plan, Senator Ellender estimated the remaining $40,000,000 would provide 10,000 housing units with the limit of cost fixed at $4,000 a unit.

Proposals that some of the money allocated for community facilities be used for stores and other commercial buildings in the new residential sections to be developed, Chairman Ellender said, were flatly turned down.

Allocations Not Approved.

The $70,000,000 figure approved by the subcommittee for housing and community facilities is just $2,145,268 less than a revised estimate of the cost of these needs by Federal housing officials. Senator Ellender, however, emphasized that the subcommittee did not approve the specific allocations set forth in the revised program, which would cost $72,145,268, follows:

Hospitals (2,100 beds in the District and nearby Maryland and Virginia), $8,400,000.

Sanitary facilities for 10,000 housing units, $10,145,268.

For Alley Dwelling Authority projects, $3,100,000.

Schools, $3,100,000.

Recreation, $1,224,000.

Contingent reserve, $2,276,000.

Housing units, 10,000, $40,000,000.

Goodwill project, $7,000,000.

Ring Tightening.

The ring around the 16th German Army is tightening. Red Star reported in a sequel to accounts yesterday of the smashing of three divisions and slaying of 12,000 Germans guarding a network of communications in the zone 140 miles south of Leningrad.

Numerous Soviet Thrusts Repulsed, Nazis Claim

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 26 (AP).—Numerous thrusts of Russian forces have been repulsed by German armies on the eastern front, the high command said today. Important targets in the Leningrad area were reported shelled.

The shelling was described as "effective fire" by heavy German artillery. The high command termed attacking Russian units "weak enemy forces."

grants and those which it feels should be carried out with loans to the District. Some of the subcommittee members, he explained, do not want to see the new housing units erected in sections of nearby Maryland and Virginia which do not now have sewer, water and similar other necessary community facilities.

Senator Ellender disclosed no specific allocation would be made in the bill of funds for providing urgently needed additions to Washington's private hospitals. The hospital extension program, he indicated, probably would be left to the Commissioners and financed with loans advanced to them by the Federal Government.

Veto Is Predicted For Farm Price Bill Passed by Senate

Restriction on Sale of Surpluses Below Parity Approved, 50 to 23

(Text of President's Letter, Page B-6.)

By the Associated Press.
The prediction of a presidential veto today tempered the smashing victory of the Senate farm bloc in the dispute over prices for Government-held surplus stocks of corn, wheat and cotton.

Senator Brown, Democrat, of Michigan, leader of the group which sought to sustain President Roosevelt, forecast that if the House approved the Senate restrictions on sales of Government surpluses below full parity prices "it would run into a certain veto."

"What's more," Senator Brown said, "I think the Senate would sustain it."

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, meanwhile, declared that desired increases in production of milk and dairy products were being retarded by growing labor shortages and by increases in the price of feed grains. Agriculture officials said congressional pressure for the price-blocking legislation had tended to "raise feed costs."

Brown's Proposal Rejected.

With a strongly-worded warning against impeding the war effort, "selfish interests" and "grasping for a few extra dollars," President Roosevelt appealed to the Senate against voting any restrictions on sales of the Government surpluses.

The President's words of caution, contained in a letter to Vice President Wallace, presiding officer of the Senate, led to several hours' debate yesterday before the chamber rejected a compromise offered by Senator Brown and adopted, 50 to 23, the prohibition against sales of Government-held surpluses below full parity prices.

Warnings that the measure might add an extra $1,000,000,000 to ascending living costs were denied by the farm-bloc Senate majority.

The farm bloc leaders also struck out at the suggestion of the President and administration supporters that farmers were assured a "parity income" through benefit payments from the Federal Treasury.

The agricultural spokesman contended it would be much better to eliminate those benefit payments, averaging about $700,000,000 in recent years, and let farmers get their entire income at the market place.

Evasion Charged.

One after another, Senators from farm States said they were convinced that the huge Government stocks would be used to beat down market prices paid farmers. They charged that Secretary Wickard and Price Administrator Henderson had evaded the congressional intent expressed in the recent price-control bill—that ceilings should not apply until farm prices had risen.

The Agriculture Department has asked farmers to increase milk production 8 per cent this year to meet a sharply expanding demand for dairy products at home and abroad. So far, production has been increased only 4 per cent. Grain and other livestock feed prices have been advancing in recent weeks, and Agriculture Department feed experts said that if the Senate bill became law, feed prices would rise still higher.

Unless there was a corresponding advance in prices of milk and other dairy products, the output of milk could be expected to go down, they said, because many farmers would

Police Cars Notified.

The official explained police cars had been notified by radio as a precautionary measure, pending further check of the report. The cars went to pre-assigned stations, such as street-light control boxes and locations of air-raid sirens, and awaited further instructions.

It was understood the civilian defense control point was informed at once, and police were told to "stand by" while the warning was checked.

Mal. Edward J. Kelly, superintendent of police, was not called, but Capt. Lawrence Beall and Sergt. Howard Covell were notified. Sergt. Covell is clerk in the office of Inspector Harvey G. Callahan, assistant superintendent and executive officer. Capt. Beall is chief clerk of the department.

O. C. D. Defines 'Alert' to End Confusion Concerning Term

To eliminate confusion concerning air-raid warnings and particularly the use of the word "alert," here is the correct terminology as given out by the Office of Civilian Defense.

An alert has nothing to do with the air-raid warning system. An alert is a state of readiness in a community. A district is "alerted" when civilian authorities are notified by the military that the enemy is capable of delivering an attack on their community. A district may be "alerted" for a period of days, weeks or for the duration of the war.

The first warning the public gets of an air raid comes through the air-raid alarm devices. Those devices are sounded after the community's control center, through a series of light signals, cut down on feed rations and possibly sell some of their cows for beef purposes.

50 Auxiliary Police Added to D. C. Force As Defense Guards

Will Patrol Bridges and Buildings, Wear Sidearms; 150 More to Be Detailed

Fifty of Washington's auxiliary policemen today were appointed by the Commissioners as "defense guards" in the Metropolitan Police Department, in a move to strengthen the force.

This is the first contingent of a group of about 200 auxiliaries which will be added to the department on a pay basis, under plans formulated by Commissioner John Russell Young and Maj. Edward J. Kelly, superintendent of police.

The defense guards, appointed after they had passed physical tests and character investigations, will have the duties and powers of special privates in the department, and will be paid $1,320 a year, instead of on a basis of $5 a day as was originally planned.

The defense guards will be furnished side arms and may later be provided police uniforms. They are to be detailed to guard bridges, public buildings and other Government structures, thereby relieving regular police officers for general police service.

The guards will wear identifying emblems, probably in the form of a shield.

The 50 men are Theodore T. Bulwark, Walter M. Boyd, Edward Brodley, Charles A. Brown, William L. Burrows, George W. Carkin, Wilbur G. Carpenter, Alan A. Cohen, Claude H. Creamer, Pasquale J. Copperheads' Leader Arrested on West Coast

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Ellis O. Jones, self-styled head of the National Copperheads and co-ordinator with Robert Noble of the Friends of Progress organization, was arrested last night on a complaint issued by Municipal Judge F. Gray Bennet charging violation of the State penal code.

The arrest and complaint issued as the State Legislative Committee investigating un-American activities continued its local hearing.

The development followed Jones' alleged refusal to divulge the name of a man to be a United States Senator, who Jones told the committee, recently wrote a letter praising Jones, Noble and the Friends of Progress group and condemning the Roberts Commission report on the Pearl Harbor attack as "ridiculous."

Bodies of Three Seamen Found in Lifeboat

By the Associated Press. TAMPICO, Mexico, Feb. 26.—The bodies of three unidentified seamen were found in a drifting lifeboat off Cape Hatteras, N. C., Feb. 19 by crewmen of the Mexican tanker Poza Rica and were buried at sea, Capt. Antonio Cortes Acosta reported last night on his arrival here.

The captain said he believed the lifeboat belonged to a Cities Service tanker recently reported sunk by a German submarine.

Turkish Relief Reaches Greece, Nazis Report

By the Associated Press. BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 26.—The 1,991-ton Turkish ship Dumlupinar has arrived at Piraeus, Greece, with a cargo of food for Greek hospitals and communal kitchens for the poor, DNB announced today.

Reports from Greece in recent months have told of an acute famine in that Axis-occupied country, with hundreds of persons dying daily of starvation. The Budapest publication Southeast Economist said recently that hordes of starved and shivering Greeks roam the streets of Athens, living entirely on weeds and grass.

Number of Men Saved From Two Ships in Gale Placed at 168

118 Bodies Taken From Sea Off Newfoundland; Others Are Sought

By the Associated Press. ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Feb. 26.—The count of men rescued from the shipwrecked United States destroyer Truxtun and the naval supply ship Pollux stood today at 168—125 more than were accounted for in the first reports.

Newfoundland villagers said they had taken 118 bodies from the sea and continued their search for others. The United States Navy had announced in Washington that 168 officers and men were lost in the gale-churned Canadian waters where the two vessels recently were cast on the rocky shore and smashed, but did not give the number of survivors.

What the casualties might have been had not four sailors from the Truxtun braved the sou'easter to make shore on a raft could only be guessed. As it was, the ships had been pitched on the rocks four hours before the sailors could summon the aid from shore inhabitants, for which President Roosevelt has expressed his admiration and gratitude.

Court Merger Plan

The long study which the Senate District Committee has given to the bill to consolidate Municipal and Police Courts has resulted in improving a measure to reform judicial procedure here which already had much to recommend it.

One change in the bill as it passed the House would permit the new tribunal to handle civil cases involving up to $3,000. At present, litigation in which more than $1,000 is at stake goes to District Court.

The Senate committee also proposes ten-year terms for the judges of the merged court, instead of six as recommended by the House.

Of equal importance is the committee proviso that appointees to the court be District residents, with an immediate background of five years' law practice here.

The measure has the approval of the bench and bar of the District and of officials of the Justice Department who collaborated in drafting it.

Mysterious Figure

Dispatches from Ankara tell of an attempt to assassinate German Ambassador Franz von Papen and his wife. An unidentified enemy threw a bomb at them as they walked in a public street.

Chancellor for a few hectic months in 1932 and Vice Chancellor under Hitler in 1933. His record of opposition to the more radical of Der Fuehrer's followers nearly cost him his life in the purge of 1934.

If Burma Goes

The situation in Southern Burma has deteriorated so rapidly that only a miracle seemingly can save Rangoon, the great port-city at the mouth of the Irrawaddy River, through which pass all supplies for China via the Burma road.

Reports are too conflicting to locate precisely the positions of the contending forces, though every thing indicates that the British Imperial troops are abandoning the line of the Sittang River, which at best is not a formidable natural barrier.

Under the impact of war, both of these justifications—if they may be called that—have collapsed. In many war industries the labor shortage already is acute, and this will be true of all industries within the immediate future.

In the first place, the fact that many industries are operating successfully on a work-week in excess of forty hours refutes the contention that the efficiency of workers declines with lengthened hours.

It is to be hoped that these combined British and Chinese forces can at least fight a prolonged delaying action to guard the stores for China heaped up around the railhead at Lashio, on the extreme northern frontier of Burma, where the road into China actually begins.

Japanese occupation of Southern Burma will raise the question of a possible descent upon India. As already stated, a direct land invasion would be impracticable.

Shipping Losses. The disclosure by Prime Minister Churchill that the past two months have seen a "most serious" increase in shipping losses by the United Nations again emphasizes the urgent need of speeding up the shipbuilding program.

Among enemy objects picked up by the British in the sands of Libya was a street map of Brooklyn. Once a Brooklynite always a Brooklynite, but what most of us cannot imagine is a former rooter for the Dodgers casting such a souvenir away.

Who would you rather be: Vidkun Quisling, newly appointed Prime Minister of the State of Norway, or Douglas MacArthur, with defeat and possibly death, but never disgrace, staring him in the face?

Of Stars, Men And Atoms

Notebook of Science Progress In Laboratory, Field And Study. By Thomas R. Henry.

The oldest egg on earth, fossil bones of a camel 14 feet tall and an enormous jaw of a new species of bear-dog which perhaps was ancestral to both these animals, are the most striking relics of ancient life in North America found by paleontologists in the past few months.

It dates from the latter part of the so-called Pennsylvanian geological epoch in the world's history. This was the time of the vast swamp forests which became most of the coal of today.

One of the great revolutions in the history of life came when the first creature laid a hard-shelled egg which was deposited on land. There was no longer the soft cushion of water and a shell was necessary.

The X-ray examination, he says, leaves no doubt but that this specimen, more than twice as old, is actually an egg. The shell, about one-thirtieth of an inch thick, was badly cracked.

The new giant camel is reported by Dr. Erwin H. Barbour and C. Bertram Schultz of the University of Nebraska. The bones were found in the northern part of that State in geological deposits dating from the early days of the last Ice Age.

The hemlock, or bear-dog, was also found in Nebraska and is described by Dr. Edwin H. Colbert of the American Museum of Natural History. The fossil is about 20,000,000 years old.

Asks Latin American Nations For Help in Terms of Ships. The enthusiasm manifested by the delegates from South and Central America at the recent Rio conference bolstered the hopes of their northern neighbors to the point where they felt quite sanguine that support of a substantial character promptly would be proffered by those countries for utilization by the United States in forging the indispensable link of democratic security in the Western Hemisphere.

Why, then, should not those countries, whose present requirements of ships have become contracted on account of the lack of export trade with Europe and Asia, put the idle and barnacle-gathering ships in their harbors—domestic and otherwise—at the immediate disposal of the United States?

Such an act would serve a dual purpose: First, it would greatly facilitate the economic relations between the United States and Latin America. Second, it instantly would ease the heavy stress and strain on the shipbuilding plants in the United States for bottoms in which to transport troops, war equipment and foodstuffs to England, China, Russia and the Netherlands Indies—all of which countries are devoting their available resources to the defeat of the Axis powers.

When a politician actually gives up something for his country, it is news. If it is true that the 34-year-old Mayor of Milwaukee has resigned his $12,500 job to enlist in the Navy, that is no hole-and-corner item to be buried on a back page.

THIS AND THAT

By Charles E. Tracewell.

"Dear Sir: "One outstanding difference between chickadee and tufted titmouse which I have never seen mentioned in your column is the size of their eyes.

"The titmouse, I notice, will do the same if he is sure no one is on the other side of the window, but those large eyes are wary and the slightest movement sends him with his seed to the nearest branch.

"The nuthatch formerly ate buffet style, but since he has discovered a groove between the edge and floor of the feeder he sits right up and, figuratively, puts his feet under the table.

"The purple grackle has a pale yellow iris. There is something about the eye of this particular bird which is fiendish.

"To be able to observe such details closely is one of the best reasons for establishing a feeding station on a window sill. It helps put an entirely new light on an old hobby.

"At such little distance such details are lost to the observer, unless, of course, he uses a very fine pair of binoculars. It is much easier to see such things at close range and usually the observing is better done.

"A bird's foot from a window pane is seen completely. Even his nervous twitching cannot hide much.

"Just how nervous, as we say, the songsters are is seen readily at close range.

"They seem to be veritable bundles of live wires, first looking one way and then another, usually always on the move, although the movement may be short.

At such close range every detail may be observed, if not at one time, then on successive trips.

Haskin's Answers To Questions

By Frederic J. Haskin.

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Evening Star Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please inclose stamp for reply.

Q. What is the significance of the various colors seen on soldiers' caps?—B. F. S. A. The colors on Army headgear indicate the organization to which the wearer belongs. For instance, ultramarine piped with golden orange are the official colors used for the Air Corps; green, piped with white for the armored force; yellow for the cavalry; light blue for the infantry; scarlet for the Coast Artillery Corps and the Field Artillery; scarlet, piped with white for the Corps of Engineers.

Q. How fast can the roadrunner or chaparral bird run?—E. C. A. The Biological Survey says that the roadrunner is capable of no more than 20 miles per hour and its cruising speed, so to speak, is only 10 to 12 miles per hour. The best record attained by any roadrunner was a speed of 22 miles, which was made by a bird clocked while pursued across a bridge from which it could not escape.

Q. Is it true that blue flowers are rarer than those of other colors?—M. V. O. A. Blue is the rarest of flower colors. There are only about 150 species that have blue flowers as compared with 800 species of yellow.

Q. How many people visit the Washington Zoo in a year?—L. A. D. A. The record of attendance for the year ending June 30, 1941, shows a total of 2,480,300 visitors to the National Zoological Park. This was an increase of more than 300,000 over the number for the previous year.

Q. What was the first syndicated feature to appear in American newspapers?—A. D. A. The first syndicated feature was the "Journal of Occurrences" of 1768. It was edited by Boston patriots for distribution in the Colonies and in England and appeared weekly in the New York Journal, the Pennsylvania Chronicle and other newspapers. It continued for about 10 months.

Q. How much has the cost of living risen in the United States since the beginning of the war?—T. R. S. A. Since August, 1939, the cost of living in the United States has risen over 10 1/2 per cent.

Q. What is the correct name for the drink known as South American tea?—R. W. A. Strictly speaking, the product's name, in Spanish, is "yerba mate." "Yerba" means "herb," and mate was originally the name of the gourd from which the brew was drunk, a name which came to be applied to the beverage as well.

Q. How did the famous old tune "Old Hundred" get its name?—W. M. A. It was originally used for the Hunderth Psalm. The tune was first published about 1551, but its origin is unknown.

discates its location. To change the name to MacArthur boulevard suggests war hysteria and politics. According to reports, Gen. MacArthur needs more soldiers, more guns and more planes. Let's give him what he needs!

Discusses Inadequacy Of Sugar Rationing Arrangement. To the Editor of The Star: After reading in The Star the amazing statement that registration for sugar rationing will be conducted for four hours each day for four consecutive days in "most of the public schools," followed by the more amazing statement that "the registrants will then have to apply directly to the board for coupon books according to Commissioner Mason," I am rushing into print to ask how they expect to do it?

Evidently they have no conception of what registering the descriptive list of half a million persons means. If they were familiar with arithmetic and had ever seen an inaugural army of 25,000 men march in regular order, many abreast, down Pennsylvania avenue, taking from 5 to 7 hours, they would know that the war would be over before the job were completed. One address is given for the board and the transportation facilities and public streets would take many days bringing such a crowd together. Sugar riots would shortly break out to please our enemies. The rationing should have been started long ago, but it is not a case of handling a few draftees for the Army. This time the whole population is interested and the handlers largely amateur, as is indicated by the size of their preparations. Even distribution of the sugar books by way of the schools will bring many and bitter complaints, and be infernally slow. The hour or so after overtime working hours will not suffice to accommodate the defense workers. They also use sugar.

Urges Empowering Gen. MacArthur To Cope With Japs. To the Editor of The Star: We want Gen. MacArthur! If he is sacrificed, the administration, from the President down, is going to have to do some "tall" allying to John Q. Public. Time is the essence in this war, and we should like a few less big promises for big things in 1943, debates, et cetera, and more and prompt action from the President and the Congress.

We don't want a Pearl Harbor or Singapore on our mainland. Why let the Japs run this war to suit themselves? Gen. MacArthur is the only leader in the Army who has shown himself capable of coping with them. Why is he not in the position in which he belongs? We would rather see him given a higher command and more power and fewer laurels and medals just at this time. There has been too much dawdling and indecision on Capitol Hill, and the Japs are not going to wait forever for us to decide what we want to do. Let's go!

Disapproves Renaming Of Conduit Road. To the Editor of The Star: Having a vested interest in Conduit Road by virtue of a substantial special assessment, I fail to see anything to be gained by changing the name to MacArthur boulevard as proposed and voted by the House of Representatives.

The present name, though unromantic, is to a large extent geographical and in-

With youth, he left the wholesome earth behind, Divorced himself from the sweet, yielding soil To seek environment that would free his mind And loose his body from the chains of toil.

He has known days of almost blinding light, Hours that have held a fleeting recompense; But always something was withheld from sight, The thing most longed for, just escaped the sense.

Something primeval links man to his lands, Some law that blesses all who will obey; Something that, rent asunder by rough hands, Leaves roots exposed, to wither and decay. In helping earth to meet his human need, Man's soul and body quicken with the seed.

List Grows In Unionism Demands

Firm Action by War Labor Board Seen Necessary

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Even as President Roosevelt was calling for "uninterrupted production," the news dispatches were reporting from the Pacific Coast that 250 West Coast industrial plants closed on Monday of this week because Washington birthday anniversary fell on a Sunday.

David Lawrence.

Donald Nelson, production chief, had appealed to American workers and management to continue to work on Monday, yet the unions asked the employers to comply not just the ordinary overtime, but "double time," and this, the employers said, was too expensive under the terms of their fixed fees and selling prices.

Some of the big plants on the West Coast operated on Monday as usual, and in a few of them the workers donated their overtime pay to Navy relief. But the union leaders in the smaller plants working on defense tasks refused to allow the men to work unless double time were paid.

This isn't the first time requests from the Government have been ignored by labor unions. President Roosevelt three times last October begged the C. I. O. to call off the coal strike, but to no avail until he granted the Lewis demand for an arbitrator of his liking. If an employer ventured to ignore a Government request in a labor matter, either his plant would be commandeered or he would be pilloried in unmistakable language.

Failed to Be Specific.
The President is apparently timid about treading on the toes of the union leaders. In his radio speech of Monday night he hesitated to call a spade a spade and tell the unions what he may have meant by the plea to give up demands for "special advantages." This phrase could be construed to mean the so-called union shop or closed shop and the various forms of compulsory unionism. But never in his address did Mr. Roosevelt specifically refer to union demands on these points.

While strikes are numerous, the list of disputes pouring in on the Government agencies for conciliation is at a new high record. More uses have been brought to the new War Labor Board in the last five weeks than in the first six months of the old Defense Mediation Board.

The cases reveal quite a lot of demands for union shops, closed shops and for compulsory unionism through maintenance of membership contracts. Ever since the Roosevelt administration encouraged the compulsory union idea when it commended the Federal Shipbuilding & Drydock Co.'s plant at Kearny, N. J., the unions have been quick to push ahead for these "special advantages."

More Disputes Seen.
Until the War Labor Board definitely rules out these demands for "special advantages" and puts into decisive form what the President may have urged by implication in his Monday night radio speech, the number of disputes based on these different types of compulsory unionism will tend to increase instead of diminish. Quite often such demands, of course, are used as trading points in negotiating for higher wages. While the administration is getting ready to put even higher taxes on business and individuals, it is not moving toward a repression of extra demands for higher wages. For the Government to keep a ceiling on prices while doing nothing to keep a ceiling on costs is going to lead to failure for many businesses, particularly the small ones.

As for efficiency in production, the same night that Mr. Roosevelt was broadcasting, an announcement came from John Green, national president of the Shipbuilding Workers' Union of the C. I. O., that efficiency was 30 to 50 per cent short of what it should be in the shipyards—all because, Mr. Green said, labor wasn't managing the job. Unquestionably there are slowdowns due to union-management friction, but on this phase of the battle of production the President apparently hesitates to act and Congress remains passive. It is still lawful to strike, to slow down production and even to refuse to work on holidays unless paid double time. Incidentally, no double time is paid American soldiers, sailors or airmen for fighting on Sundays or holidays.

Founding of Women's Army Auxiliary Corps Expected Shortly on Voluntary Basis

By GOULD LINCOLN.
A Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, operating under the direct supervision of the Army, is just around the corner. The bill for such an organization, first introduced by Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, has been favorably reported from the Committee on Military Affairs of both the House and Senate.

Within a day or two, the measure is expected to come before the House for action, under a special rule for its consideration, and to pass.

Mrs. Rogers, who did war work abroad in the last World War, had an opportunity to see the W. A. A. C. in operation in England. She became convinced that it was a valuable organization and that it would be well worth-while in this country. In this she has the support of both Secretary of War Stimson and Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, who have expressed interest in and enthusiasm for the creation of such a force for duty with the Army.

There is no draft provision for the W. A. A. C. in Mrs. Rogers' bill. The organization will be purely voluntary, the women enlisting for one year's service, which may be extended for the duration of the war plus six months. The age limit is from 21 to 45. The measure states specifically that the members of the corps are for non-combatant service only. They will be a disciplined corps, with proper training for the tasks assigned. Here is a list of the assignments which may be given the members of the corps, jobs at which women are the equal or superiors of men, clerks, machine operators, telephone, telegraph, teletype and switchboard operators, pharmacists, dietitians, hostesses, librarians, theater employees, welfare workers, post exchange employees, plotters, tellers, supervisors in information and filter centers, cooks, stewardesses, laundry workers and messengers. That's a sizeable list of tasks, all of which have to be performed in connection with Army posts and Army units. Not only are women better qualified for some of them than men, but with their employment there will be released for combatant service and other tasks men now in the Army.

Unlimited Number.
Mrs. Rogers has placed no limit on the size of the proposed new corps, leaving that to be decided by the President on advice from the Army itself. In the original bill she introduced, a limit of 25,000 women was provided. But this limit was abandoned, and it will be possible to enlist as many women as the authorities deem necessary. Mrs. Rogers has been deluged with letters from women all over the country, saying that they were anxious to enlist in the service of their country. She has no doubt that the ranks of the corps will be quickly filled by enlistment, once the bill has become a law. Literally thousands of women have already signified their intention of joining the force.

At the head of the corps will be a director—with rank and pay of a major in the Army. Under the director will be grades of assistant director, first, second and third officers, corresponding to captain, first and second lieutenant. There are also grades corresponding to the non-commissioned officers of the Army and to private. The pay will be that of the various grades in the Army, with the "auxiliary," or private, receiving $21 to $30 a month. Allowances, quarters and subsistence will be made. Also—the women will have an appropriate uniform, issued by the Government. The uniform, in the opinion of Mrs. Rogers, serves as a protection to the members of the corps, and also will aid in making the corps a well-disciplined organization.

Training schools for the women who enlist will be established, especially for those who are to be officers. It has been estimated that the cost of maintaining the new corps will be about $3,000,000 for the fiscal year 1942—which ends June 30 this year. The Secretary of War, however, has said that the additional cost of the corps cannot now be fully estimated, particularly as the size of the corps is to be determined later and as the expanding Army requires.

Senate Bill on Calendar.
The new Women's Army Auxiliary Corps will in no sense be in competition with the O. C. D., the Red Cross, the Army nurses, or any other civilian and voluntary organization now in existence. Its members, however, will be used extensively in the Aircraft Warning Service of the Army. In that service, women already are employed in large numbers—about 6,000 of them in the information and filter centers that are spread up and down the coasts of this country, and indeed, in 28 regions within the United States. The women so serving today are volunteers, however. They have done valuable service, but there are frequent changes in personnel and they are not always available. The Secretary of War has said that a least 9,700 women will be required to provide a full complement for information and filter centers. Presumably they will be taken from the new corps.

In the Senate the bill for the women's corps has been sponsored by Senator Hill of Alabama, a member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee. It is already on the Senate calendar. The Senate, however, is awaiting action by the House before it takes the measure up for consideration and action.

U-Boat Raids a Desperate Sign

Eliot Sees Axis Trying to Divert U. S. Forces From Pacific Until Japs Achieve Their Aims

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT.

The enemy must be getting rather more than anxious about our preparations and moves in the Pacific. Otherwise he would not be trying desperately to create a diversion by his submarine operations in the Gulf and off our Pacific Coast. These operations are risky. Submarines cannot enter an enclosed sea such as the Caribbean, and his presence at a point so far from the Pacific Ocean, from the entrances of that sea as Aruba, without taking very grave chances of never getting home again.

At a point so far from the Pacific Ocean, from the entrances of that sea as Aruba, without taking very grave chances of never getting home again.

Human beings can be inspired to the taking of such risks in cold blood only by having held before them the ideal of sacrifice for a great purpose. American tankers can be sunk elsewhere than in the Caribbean; shells can be fired into American territory elsewhere than on the California coast. It seems certain that the purpose, the inspiration must have been more than this—that there must have been in the minds of those who sent, and those who were sent, the hope that these operations would divert strength from the main American effort in the Pacific to purely defensive procedures.

Not Uncommon in War.
Divisions such as these are not uncommon in warfare. In the last great war, for example, a force of German bombers stationed in Belgium, which never exceeded 50 planes in total operating strength, carried out a series of raids on London extending over a period of months. By so doing, they tied up for the defense of London more than 500 fighter planes, 600 anti-aircraft guns and all the men, equipment, ammunition and supplies necessary to the operation of such a force—surely one of the most successful diversions in history.

The German raids in the Caribbean, following a series of attacks on our coastal shipping, are undoubtedly intended to make us convey all our shipping, both coastal and Caribbean, and to increase the scale of our defenses not only at Panama, but in every little island base and outpost from the Gulf to the Guianas.

Hope to Force Convoys.
On the West Coast, the Japanese undoubtedly hope to force us to convey all shipping over the long pull from Panama to our West Coast ports, to patrol our coasts and those of our Latin-American neighbors with ships and aircraft, to increase the defense of our ports—and to meet the demands of Mexico and Central America for more and more weapons for local defense.

All this would be just an interesting study in a minor field of grand strategy, were it not for the fact that when diversion is attempted at considerable risk, and at no small cost on the score of long-range psychological effect, there is likely to be something going on against which such desperate measures seem necessary. The more the enemy tries to divert us, the more likely it becomes that he has good and sufficient reason for doing so. It is known that we are rushing reinforcements to the southwestern Pacific, the commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet has assured us that the fleet is not idle, the President has told us that some at least of the damage done at Pearl Harbor has been repaired.

Anxiety in Tokyo.
Considering this, and glancing at a map of the Pacific, where the long open coastline of Japan, and the lengthening lines of Japanese communications become painfully apparent to a schoolboy's judgment, we need not too greatly tax our imaginations to discover what sort of danger is occasioning so much anxiety at Berlin and Tokyo. The recent dash of the German battle-ships through the Dover Strait, the subsequent report that three large German warships were going to Tromsø, and the reports of communications with Russia and all the recent agitation about the French fleet, are manifestations of the same desire to immobilize or divert American naval forces away from the critical center of the Pacific war until Japan has finally made good her conquest of Java and the gates of the Indian Ocean, until Gen. MacArthur has been overwhelmed and the Burma road cut. All this depends on Japan's sea communications remaining undisturbed, on Japan being able to throw her full weight southward without being diverted herself by direct attack on her vital interests and centers.

There has rarely been a moment in our history when it was more necessary for us all to retain our perspective, to keep calm, to take such blows as may be directed at us and to await with unflinching courage and fortitude the outcome of those far-flung operations on which the immediate future course of this war, and perhaps all its course, may well depend.

Observers Say Gen. MacArthur Must Fight To Bitter End Without Hope of Relief

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

Competent quarters in Washington declare emphatically that the American-Philippine force under Gen. Douglas MacArthur which is holding America's Thermopylae—the Bataan Peninsula—must fight to the bitter end without hope of relief.

This statement may, at first, seem cold-blooded, but the arguments adduced by Army men appear sound, even to those who advocate the abandonment of orthodox military strategy to save the one outstanding general this war has produced.

All of Luzon Island, with the exception of Bataan, is now occupied by a Japanese force estimated conservatively at between 250,000 and 300,000 men. This force has at its disposal on Luzon alone some 500 planes of all types and more are available in nearby Formosa. The seas around the Philippines are controlled by the Japanese Navy.

To send an expeditionary force to relieve the Bataan garrison, it is explained in Washington, would be sending men to certain destruction.

Surprise Is Essential.

While Jap shock troops have been fighting Gen. MacArthur's forces, others, with the aid of bayonet-prodded Filipinos, have organized defenses along the island's shore against the possibility of counterinvasion. At least 300,000 tons of shipping would be necessary to transport the necessary reinforcements from the closest points to Luzon, and the nearest place an American-British expeditionary force could be gathered is at least 1,800 miles from the beleaguered island.

A convoy as large as that needed for the Bataan defenders—transports escorted by cruisers, destroyers and possibly one or two plane carriers—could not possibly escape detection by Japan's superior navy.

Even if the United Nations high command were willing to resort to desperate and unorthodox measures to save the men on Bataan, the surprise element is essential. In that particular section of the Pacific, with Japanese planes, scouting squadrons and submarines patrolling every mile, surprise is out of the question.

Carrier Might Be Sent.

There might appear to be a possibility of sending aircraft, but here again the chances of sending a real air force to Gen.

MacArthur are practically nonexistent. When the Japs began their attack Gen. MacArthur rushed all his heavy bombers south from the Philippines. He kept only the few pursuit and fighting planes then at his disposal. He never received many of these types before the war broke out, despite his appeals.

It has been suggested in some quarters that a few planes be sent despite Japanese control of the air and sea. Only heavy bombers could travel the distance to Bataan. And this type is not suited for the work of the American-Philippine army.

An aircraft carrier might approach Luzon and send all its planes on a surprise flight to Bataan. Although some might be brought down, if the flight were detected, the majority would reach Gen. MacArthur. This is a definite possibility, but the point of objection is, where would these planes land once they reached Bataan?

No Room for Planes.

Gen. MacArthur's strong strategic position derives from the fact that he is fighting in jungles and mountains. There are no proper airfields there. The half dozen planes he is believed to have had when he withdrew to his present stronghold were operating from clearings in the jungle.

Even today a half dozen planes could be operated in this manner, from clearings, but they would serve no useful purpose. Air experts maintain there is no room in the Bataan Peninsula

For an adequate number of pursuit or fighter planes.

This judgment of the situation comes, of course, from men who examine it cold-bloodedly without consideration for the human aspects of the tragedy.

For months Gen. MacArthur's men have been fighting—partly with artillery but mostly with cold steel—against an overwhelming foe supplied with the best types of mechanized units and with an ample air force. They know their situation is hopeless. But they are human beings, and the mere presence of a dozen or so planes would give them new hope—enabling them to fight with renewed zeal to hold the Japanese at bay as long as possible in order to permit the Netherlands Indies and Australia to receive the reinforcements they need.

McLemore—

Junior Will Just Have To Use Trolley Car

By HENRY McLEMORE.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Sufficient newspaper clippings and suggestions from readers have come in to me from different parts of the country to reveal that there is a movement afoot to put the teenage boy and girl back on foot. With the tire shortage so acute, a lot of adults seem to feel that it is high time high school and college boys and girls have their cars taken away from them, by law if necessary, and be forced to get around on their own power for the duration of the war or the rubber emergency.

In California the movement has moved along to a point where Gov. Olsen has been requested to have the Legislature consider a bill which would take the youngsters from behind the wheels of their cars and make them get to school and to their dates by street car, bus or walking.

This campaign is certain to meet stubborn resistance from the youth bloc of the country. Modern-day youngsters graduated from perambulators to tricycles, from tricycles to bicycles, and from bicycles to automobiles.

The average high school parking ground looks like a used-car lot, and the average college campus resembles a gigantic auto salesroom. Walking isn't an entirely lost art with the boys and girls of 1942, but it certainly is a despised one.

It is going to be tough on Junior Teen to have to walk up to the door of his girl's house, and ring the doorbell instead of scraping his white-wall tires along the curb in front of her home and blowing his horn. It is going to be tough on Junior Miss to have to stand on the street corner and wait for the trolley to pick up her and her beau for the party across town.

It is going to be agonizing for both of them to have to walk to the corner drug store for their sodas and sundae, and hop a bus to reach the juke box saloon for an evening of dancing.

It will be punishing for them to have to do their hand-holding in the front porch swing instead of driving down by the river where there is no chance of a wandering parent popping in and out of the front door.

I can sympathize with them. There is nothing that so tries the soul of a 17-year-old, deeply in love and wearing his brother's smartly cut-down dinner jacket, than to board a crowded street car and brave what he feels to be the critical stare of every one from the motor-man to the conductor.

But there will come a time, if the cars are taken away from the youngsters, when they will be grateful for the sacrifice they had to make. This will come when they have children of their own and can bore the daylight out of their progeny by telling them how far they, mother and father, had to walk to school when they were children.

It really would be a shame for modern youngsters to grow up without ever being able to enjoy this delightful pastime. My parents never ceased to believe that we children thrill to the tales of how they got to school. Through rain and sleet, through hail and mist, they trudged valiantly down apparently never-ending roads. The beginning of this conversation is always the same.

"Why, when I was your age, I used to have to get up at 5 in the morning in order to get to school by 8:30."

I have known of parents who would look their children straight in the eyes and tell of marches to school of anywhere from 15 to 25 miles. The more I think about some of the tales that were told me, the more I wonder why people in the 80s and 90s never thought of building a schoolhouse anywhere near where anybody lived.

So, youth of today, cheer up if they take your cars away. Remember what fun you are going to have later.

Youth Admits Slaying Of Girl in Theater Was Premeditated

Declares Jealousy Was Motive; Indictment on Murder Charge Sought

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Prosecutors asked the grand jury today to return a murder indictment against 17-year-old Clarence McDonald, who, they said, confessed the fatal shooting of a girl friend in a movie theater balcony had been planned three days earlier.

"I was terribly jealous of her and afraid she'd never marry me," he told Prosecutor Wilbert Crowley and police seeking a motive for the killing of Dorothy Broz, 17, high school "all-America girl" and honor student, Tuesday afternoon.

"So I finally decided that if I couldn't have her I didn't want any one else to have her," he declared.

Was Popular at School.
"I admit I wasn't jealous of any one else in particular. She didn't have a lot of dates. But she was terribly popular at school. All the boys were after her."

"She told me about a year ago that we eventually could be married. But she said we would have to wait while she went to college. She said she planned to become a business secretary, too. After she did all these other things, she said, we could be married."

The blond, nattily dressed youth said she told him they would have to be married according to church laws, but he had drifted away from the church and her family objected to him.

Written Confession Signed.
Police Capt. Daniel Gilbert said McDonald signed a written confession that he decided on Saturday to kill his brown-eyed sweetheart. He made a date on Sunday to take her to the Palace Theater Tuesday. Capt. Gilbert said the youth related, and planned to take his pistol with him.

At an inquest yesterday, John Broz, an uncle of the slain girl, struck McDonald a heavy blow. Mr. Broz was ejected.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder and recommended grand jury action after McDonald declined to testify.

Earlier the youth had re-enacted the shooting in the half-lighted theater. The section was roped off to patrons but the screen program went on without interruption.

Some Eyelash Dyes Poisonous, Girls Warned

Girls of Chevy Chase Junior College yesterday were warned of the dangers of many eye-lash dyes and cosmetics by George P. Larrick, chief field inspector of the food, drug and cosmetic administration of the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Larrick outlined methods of detecting poisons and said his agency has brought more than 2,000 suits against various firms for illegal dangerous products.

L. B. Chamberlain Dies; Writer of Bible Lessons

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Dr. Lewis Birge Chamberlain, 77, general secretary of the John Milton Society for the Blind, died yesterday.

He also was editor and author of Volume 1 of the Progressive Bible Lessons series, editor of the monthly Bible Society Record from 1918 to 1935 and editor of the annual reports of the American Bible Society from 1920 to 1935. Among his writings was "Seshayya: Conversion of a Brahman."

Ensley Barbour Dies; Owned Clown Ball Team

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 26.—Ensley Barbour, 52, theater owner, died here yesterday.

Approximately 20 years ago, Mr. Barbour owned the Muskogee Reds, Southwestern League baseball team. As the league deteriorated, Mr. Barbour withdrew his team and operated it independently, playing throughout the country. The team, more famous for clowning than for playing, came to be known as "Barbour's Brats."

At an inquest yesterday, John Broz, an uncle of the slain girl, struck McDonald a heavy blow. Mr. Broz was ejected.

Northern Cuisine Held Cruelty To Georgia Husband by Court

By the Associated Press.
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 26.—A divorce based on the difference between Southern and Northern cooking, a mother-in-law and other conflicting views was upheld yesterday by the Florida Supreme Court.

It declined to reopen a suit in which Warren S. Hyman, Georgia-born, obtained a divorce from Minnesotia-reared Hermina Hallett Hyman on grounds of extreme cruelty, education, habits, standards, concepts and cultural backgrounds.

In addition to these "apparent insuperable barriers," the opinion said there existed a prenuptial agreement that Mr. Hyman's mother should become a member of the family in the home to be established.

"The wife was the housekeeper and supervised the preparation of all meals," Justice Chapman wrote. "The mother-in-law had for many years kept house and had fixed views on the management of the home."

"The gastronomic pleasures of Southern people were discussed and the words 'glutton,' 'bultinsky' and 'sanctified hypocrite' were applied to the mother-in-law."

ATLANTA, Feb. 26.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, flying ace of the 1st World War, yesterday told flight students at the Naval Reserve aviation base here that "this will be a long, hard war" but predicted an Allied victory "won by the men in aviation."

"Our operations are far, far away," he said. "The supply routes are difficult. It takes 100 tons of shipping to maintain the necessities for every single fighting man in the Philippines. For 100,000 men it takes 10,000,000 tons of shipping to provide the equipment with which to fight."

Emphasizing the importance of training, Capt. Rickenbacker warned, "Don't think that after the first 50, 100 or 200 hours in the air you're a helluva flood flyer. In the last war we found that some of the greatest stunts of them all flopped when they faced combat."

The flyer, president of Eastern Airlines, expressed regret that inof active military service, injuries received in an airplane crash here a year ago had kept him out of active military service.

Five hundred thousand persons became eligible to Britain's national health insurance project for the first time last year.

Two Draft Boards Reclassifying 1-B And 4-F Men

Survey Affects Hundreds Of Registrants in Arlington County

The two Draft Boards of Arlington County, Va., are reclassifying men of Classes 1-B, eligible for limited service, and 4-F, physically, mentally or morally disqualified, in order to determine those who might be made fit for regular service, as part of the rehabilitation program inaugurated by National Selective Service headquarters.

Board No. 1 has 200 white men and 23 colored men in Class 1-B and 220 whites and 18 colored in 4-F. The second board reported 172 white men and 79 colored men in Class 1-B and 140 and 75, respectively, in 4-F.

U. S.-Born Woman in Italy Writes for Birth Proof

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 26.—The files of the Sacramento Office for March 26, 1868, may save Mrs. James Gallatin Powers from starvation in Rome.

An obscure notice in that issue listing her birth is her only hope of proving that she is not a Jew and hence eligible to possess an Italian identity card which would enable her to make purchases in Italy, her present home.

Mayor Frank Monk and City Clerk Harry G. Denton prepared a certified copy of the 74-year-old birth notice and arranged to send it to her by way of neutral Portugal.

No other records—city, county or church—could be found. Mrs. Powers said in her letter: "I have to have a certificate of birth in order to get an identity card—necessary in these times for buying anything whatsoever. We are rationed for everything. Until recently our passports were sufficient. Now we have to have a document that proves on sight that I am not Jewish."

Canada to Move Japs From Coastal Area

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Removal of about 3,500 male Japanese nationals from the protected area in British Columbia is the first phase of Canada's plans for dealing with the Japanese problem on the coast. Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell said last night.

About 2,500 will be moved within the next month or five weeks on a "voluntary basis."

250 Pieces to Render National Anthem; Concert to Aid War Stamp Sale

A chance to sit in on one of the rare occasions when the Nation's three service bands play in concert will be given the thousands of persons expected to attend the songfest in behalf of the Defense stamp sale at Riverside Stadium next Wednesday night.

The high light of the program, sponsored by The Star at the request of the Treasury Department, will come when the three bands, made up of 250 pieces, join together to play "The Star Spangled Banner." Not for 15 years have they merged in a rendition of the national air.

Present to aid in singing the anthem at that time will be Miss Lucy Monroe, concert and radio artist, who has sung the song so often that she has been given the title of the "star-spangled soprano." Other stars in the musical field who will take part in the program will be Irving Berlin, the composer, and

Barry Wood, baritone on radio's "Hit Parade."

Admission to Be Free.

Under original plans for the songfest a person who bought at least $1 worth of Defense stamps would be entitled to a ticket. Because of the great demand during the opening day of sale, however, it was thought best to open the stadium to the public without any ticket—first come, first served. Accordingly, issuance of tickets was stopped last night, but the holders of those already given out will be assured seats in a specially reserved section.

The last time the Army, Navy and Marine bands were together, their leaders recall, was at the inauguration of President Roosevelt during January of last year. And then they marched separately and played in turn instead of in unison.

At the songfest next week, each band will give a 10-minute concert.

Between these concerts, a speaker from the Treasury will give a brief talk. The mass music will come at the close of the program.

New Leader to Appear.

Many of the men comprising these bands are gifted musicians. Some of them have played under direction of Sousa, one of the most famous of all leaders, and have taken part in outstanding programs. The Navy, for instance, reported that more than half of the members of its band had been graduated from well-known conservatories.

Navy men will have a special interest in next Wednesday's program. It will mark the first large public appearance of Lt. Charles Brendler, newly-appointed leader. He has had 29 years of naval service, enlisting at the age of 15. His band is made up of 76 pieces.

Leader of the Marine Band of 85 pieces will be Capt. W. F. Santelmann, while the 84-piece Army Band, due to the illness of its regular leader, Capt. Thomas F. Darcy, will be led by Warrant Officer K. Hubner.

If you bought a horse, you would not insist that it be wrapped in fancy paper. Apply this principle to whatever you buy and save paper.

Veteran 'Boy Mayor' Joins Navy as Yeoman

By the Associated Press.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Feb. 26.—Vining L. Bjork, Ishpeeming's youthful but veteran Mayor, has given up that job for one of "Yeoman, second class, U. S. N."

Mr. Bjork, 31, who made history here by election to five successive terms, sent word from Chicago yesterday that he had been accepted by the Navy. He is Michigan's first Mayor in the armed forces.

Mr. Bjork, who is single, sought to enlist three weeks ago. He has been placed in the recruiting division and assigned to immediate duty in Chicago, officials here were advised.

The young man was first elected in 1937 when Republicans sought a "new and young face" for the job. Ishpeeming, 10,000 population, had retained him since. Once he was endorsed by both Republicans and Democrats, and another time the Democrats declined to name an opponent.

Wayne Morris Weds Beverly Hills Girl

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Ensign Wayne Morris, former film actor, and Patricia Ann O'Rourke, 19-year-old brunette of Beverly Hills were married last night in a ceremony attended by a guard of honor of Ensign Morris' flying mates at the Long Beach Naval Air Base.

ADVERTISEMENT. Bad Coughs Yield Quickly To This Home Mixture

Surprisingly Quick Relief. No Cooking. Saves Money. Here's a medicine for coughs due to colds that you mix in your own kitchen. It's so easy to prepare that a child could do it, but it's so effective that, once tried, you'll never again be without it.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—no trouble at all. Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist, put it into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of very wonderful cough syrup. It's thrifty, too—about four times as much for your money. And children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that's surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable agent for soothing throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Legion Leader Warns Of Red Infiltration In Civilian Defense

Post-War Organization Aim of Communists, Chaillaux Declares

By the Associated Press.
 INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Homer L. Chaillaux, national American Legion director of the American Legion, says Communists are trying to work into key posts in civilian defense now with the idea of overthrowing the United States Government after the war.

Mr. Chaillaux, in a statement issued yesterday by Legion national headquarters, warned citizens to be on the watch against what he called "this new attempt of Communists to infiltrate into key defense and Government posts during the present war period."

Tells of Handbills.
 He said he had obtained handbills passed around by the Communist party in several states calling on members to volunteer for civilian defense work. This activity, declared Mr. Chaillaux, is particularly strong in New York, California, Oregon and Washington.

He demanded that local civilian defense directors "make certain that no place of responsibility is assigned to any Communist who reports for civilian defense duty, since," he said, "Communists that report for such duties all have ulterior motives."

"If we do not resist their encroachments now," said Mr. Chaillaux, "we will wake up some day, after we have exhausted ourselves in beating the Axis powers, to find a strong and virulent Communist organization within our midst all ready to overthrow our Government by force or violence."

One Aim of Communists.
 "This," he added, "is the only aim the Communist party of the United States has ever had, and ever will have."

Mr. Chaillaux said American Communists were "presently interested in our civilian defense program because it is a means of saving Russia, not because it is a means for saving this country."

Cooper, Miss Davis in Running For Film 'Oscar' Award Tonight

By the Associated Press.
 HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26.—It doesn't require a crystal ball to see Gary Cooper the winner of the big Academy Award tonight, but any one who'd try to guess the name of the best actress would be climbing "way out on a limb."

Each year, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences gives awards—gold-plated statuettes dubbed Oscars—for outstanding work in all movie branches, from acting to cartooning.

It is the consensus that the lanky fellow's performance in "Sergeant York" will get a majority of his fellow voters' votes, but many are dissenting voice around town, a survey reveals.

Bette Davis in Running.
 But as for the actress: You can have your pick of the five nominated. Bette Davis is in the running, for "The Little Foxes," but many had her two previous awards as a handicap.

Most frequently mentioned are Joan Fontaine, for "Suspicion," and Barbara Stanwyck for "Ball of Fire." A strong contender, however, is Miss Fontaine's sister, Olivia De Havilland, whose performance in "Hold Back the Dawn" was meritorious. On the basis of personal popularity, which will be the determining factor with many of the 10,000-odd voters, it'll be either Miss Stanwyck or Miss De Havilland. Greater Garson, named for "Blossoms in the Dust," isn't given much of a chance.

Other actors nominated are Cary Grant, "Penny Serenade"; Walter Huston, "All That Money Can Buy"; Robert Montgomery, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," and Orson Welles, "Citizen Kane."

Strong Bid for Welles.
 Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Welles appear to be Mr. Cooper's toughest competition. Mr. Welles is certain to win a couple of prizes for "Kane." He and his pictures were nominated for a high of nine possible awards—best picture, performance, direction, screenplay, art direction, sound recording, photography, musical scoring and film editing.

The best picture prize is a tossup, too. There is the widest division of opinion ever. "Green Was My Valley" and "Sergeant York" lead the field, with "Jordan," "Kane" and "Foxes" right behind. Other pictures nominated are "Blossoms in the Dust," "Hold Back the Dawn," "The Maltese Falcon," "One Foot in Heaven" and "Suspicion."

Of course—even an amateur prognosticator likes a loophole—last-minute voting may nose Mr. Cooper out of first place. And, despite her previous good record, Miss Davis could win again.

Canada Near Completion Of Transcontinental Road

By the Associated Press.
 PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 26.—Spurred by war needs, 15 construction gangs are rushing to completion the last link in the first transcontinental highway across Canada. Theodore C. Morgan, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Good Roads Association, said today.

Speaking before the highway commissioners of the North Atlantic States, Mr. Morgan said, "Our major war undertaking in road building is the completion of our first transcontinental highway which will be an accomplished fact this spring."

The unfinished link is a 153-mile stretch in rugged Northern Ontario between Hearst and Geraldton. Each labor gang is responsible for 10 miles of road building.

Mr. Morgan appeared before a group which is studying the Federal Government's plan to building "literally hundreds" of flight strips and tiny military airfields in the North Atlantic States.

140 Quit Ship Plant Profesting Foreman's 'Abusive Conduct'

Welders Go on Strike In Bethlehem Yard At Hoboken

By the Associated Press.
HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 26.—C. I. O. union officials said 140 welders were on strike at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. yard last night in protest against a foreman's "abusive conduct and use of vile and abusive names."

Charles Brecht, national organizer of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, said 20 welders were working on two naval vessels in accordance with a union pledge "to continue Navy work without interruption."

No picket line was formed and officials of the company declined comment. The strike started when the day shift workers walked out. They were joined by night shift welders.

Mr. Brecht said a union-company conference yesterday was without result. The union, he said, was demanding removal of the foreman from a supervisory capacity. The name of the foreman was not disclosed.

Michigan Acts to Avert Threatened Steel Strike

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP)—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner yesterday appointed a special commission to seek to avert a threatened strike at the plants of the Great Lakes Steel Corp., Ecorse, Mich., which are engaged in war production.

He designated Thomas J. Donahue, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, as head of the commission.

Mr. Donahue said the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee-C. I. O. filed notice of intention to strike February 3 and efforts to settle the dispute have met "serious discouragement" recently.

Japs' Puppet Units Rebel And Join With Chinese

By the Associated Press.
CHUNGKING, Feb. 26.—Chinese puppet troops in Suiyuan in North Shansi Province, northeast of the Yellow River, mutinied a week ago, killed their Japanese officers and advisors and then joined Chinese forces attacking Japanese positions, a communique said yesterday.

In Southwest Shansi, Chinese forces are attacking south of Hotsin and are inflicting many casualties, the war bulletin said.

The defection was said to have occurred 10 days after the Japanese killed Gen. Pai Feng-siang, the army's commander, by poisoning and then disarmed his bodyguard.

Army's New Adjutant General Is Brig. Gen. James A. Ulio

19 Other Generals And Colonels Named For Promotion

President Roosevelt yesterday nominated a new adjutant general of the Army, Brig. Gen. James Alexander Ulio, who is to have the rank of major general in his new post. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Emory S. Adams, retired.

Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, who recently was reported slated to be sent on a special mission to China, was named a temporary lieutenant general.

Among the six new major generals and 12 new brigadier generals are 13 Air Corps officers.

The new major generals include Brig. Gen. Ralph McT. Pennell of Belton, S. C., who is commander of the 27th Division of the New York National Guard. The others are Brig. Gen. Follett Bradley, born at Fort Omaha, Neb.; George C. Kenney of Gardiner, Me.; Oliver P. Echols of Charlottesville, Va.; Henry J. P. Miller of Miami, Fla.; all Air Corps officers, and Thomas J. Hayes of Ironton, Ohio.

The 12 colonels made temporary brigadiers are Westside T. Larson of Vallejo, Calif.; John K. Cannon of Saft Lake City, Samuel M. Connell of Warrenton, N. C.; Benjamin F. Giles of Dallas, William E. Kepner of Bunker Hill, Ind.; Asa N. Duncan of Washington, Bennett E. Meyers of Daggett, Calif.; Kenneth

BRIG. GEN. J. A. ULIO.

B. Wolfe of San Diego and Ralph H. Wooten of Senatobia, Miss., all Air Corps officers, and Dwight J. Johns, Engineer Corp. of Rockport, Ill.; J. Clawson Corp. of Buchanan, Conn., and George C. Dunham, Medical Corps. of Portland, Oreg.

Gen. Ulio, 59, has been in the Office of the Adjutant General since May, 1933, when he was made executive officer and on December 28, 1939, he was promoted to assistant adjutant general for a term of four years, with the rank of brigadier general. He served two previous tours of duty in the Adjutant General's Office.

State Department Urged to Ask British For India Self-Rule

Members of Senate Foreign Relations Group Make Demand

By the Associated Press.
The State Department is being pressed today to ask Great Britain for an immediate pledge of post-war self-government for India.

Influential members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it was learned, made the demand on Breckenridge Long, Assistant Secretary of State.

When the subject was raised by Senator La Follette, Progressive, of Wisconsin during a closed committee session yesterday the recommendation was said to have had the active support of most of the 11 members present.

Desires Whole-Hearted Effort. Senator La Follette was reported to have told Mr. Long that, in his opinion, a whole-hearted war effort could be expected from India only if Great Britain gave definite assurances immediately that India would have actual self-rule after the conflict ends. India now has a measure of local self-government but her leaders have been seeking dominion status.

Lord Cranborne, colonial secretary, told the House of Lords in London Tuesday that the British government was "in favor of India's political freedom," but indicated it was the responsibility of Indian leaders to "devise some scheme which would be satisfactory" to all elements in India.

Apprehensive over the continued advance of Japanese troops across Burma, Senator La Follette and others were said to have expressed the view that it was highly important that Indian and Chinese forces be united to form a defense line to halt the invaders and eventually to take the offensive against them.

There have been reports that some such objective was sought by Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese generalissimo, in his recent conferences with Mohandas K. Gandhi and other Indian leaders.

Declared U. S. Interest.

The significance of Gen. Chiang's subsequent appeal to Britain to give self rule to India was not lost on committee members, who were reported to have argued that the United States now had as much at stake in bringing India's man power fully into the war as Great Britain. For this reason, they were said to have contended, the State Department should move now to convince the British that they ought to act while there was still time to win the full support of India, before the Japanese could overrun Burma.

Senators who attended said Mr. Long told them he knew no move that had been made thus far by the State Department in that direction.

One Democratic Senator, who said he was "squarely behind" Senator La Follette's proposal, reported the upshot of the discussion was that Mr. Long was "invited" to lay the whole matter before State Department officials and to report the desire of proponents that action be forthcoming immediately.

U. S. Can Rely on Stalin's Word To Fight to End, Davies Says

Former Ambassador Declares Soviet Can't Afford to Let Hitler Win

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Joseph E. Davies, former Ambassador to Soviet Russia, declared yesterday that the word of Stalin and other high Russian leaders "to me is absolutely good. When they say they are going to fight Hitler to the end and will make no separate peace with him, they mean it, unless they get the idea that they are being double-crossed."

"And we shouldn't contribute to that idea by anything that we permit our people to do," Mr. Davies said at a luncheon given by the Council for Democracy.

"I would venture the opinion further that the Soviet leaders will stand firm not only for ideological reasons and reasons of honor, but because of their personal interest. They can't afford to let Hitler win."

Mr. Davies urged that Americans overcome any fears they might have about the growing power of the Soviet Union, asserting that "Mr. Stalin has gone on specific record to the effect that so far as he is concerned, what he desires in Europe, is firm security and peace, and assurance that when this situation is through there will be no recurring menace of Hitlerism and Fascism in Europe."

"There is plenty of room and opportunity in this world for the Soviet Union and the United States," Mr. Davies said.

Russia in War to Last, Mme. Litvinoff Says

BALTIMORE, Feb. 26 (AP)—Madame Maxim Litvinoff, wife of the Soviet Ambassador, told a National radio audience last night that the Russians "will not stop until they have beaten the common foe of all our allies."

"There was another time when you Americans helped Russia," said the English-born Mme. Litvinoff. "That was 20 years ago during a famine that followed rout, civil war and world war. Then, the Americans helped the starving peasants of the Volga region."

"The people of 20 years ago are different from those of today. Today's Russians are the men who have given everything with no hope of getting anything in return."

She spoke before a backdrop of 17 anti-Axis flags and a spotlighted golden "V" at a rally, attended by 3,500 persons, which netted approximately $10,000 for medical aid to Russia.

Bald-Pated Benny Bengough to Succeed Nick Altrock as Griff's Coach-Clown

Win, Lose or Draw

By ATCHY S. LEWISON, (In the Temporary Absence of Francis E. Stan.) W. K. Public Donates His Three Cents' Worth Mr. Denham Thompkins, Sports Editor, Care of Sports Dept. Dear Sir:

As a casual reader of your sports pages it occurs to me that you have missed the boat in filling the space usually occupied by the musings of Francis R. Flaherty by having members of your own staff write the column. By the way, give my regards to Grantland Lardner, I met him several years ago in Oakland, Fla., and said then he showed a lot of promise. He still does.

Amplifying my statement, I mean you should call on your readers, such as myself, to come forth and express themselves. It is a golden opportunity for such readers, and after all, it is our 3 cents that keeps you fellows in the lap of luxury, and I think we should be permitted to put in our 3 cents' worth. Or is that asking too much?

It is a well-known fact that you fellows—take Burton O'Neil, for example—are afraid to come out and write anything about the Washington ball club that Clark Griff might not like. Everybody knows Sam Rice is about washed up in rightfield. Bucky Harris should fumble one more double-play ball at second and toss in his glove, and I have finally reached the conclusion that Goose Goslin never will make the grade in left field. Too much feet and not enough footing.

There Must Be Something Wrong About Redskins

I know you won't print this, of course, because Griff wouldn't like it, but it's common gossip among all 100 per cent American, dyed-in-the-wool fans and the information will get around sooner or later, despite efforts by your sports writers to protect Griff and the rest.

The trouble with you fellows is you have lost the old school of journalism touch and have forgotten it is the public that pays the freight and deserves protection. Look at that 73-0 lacing the Redskins took from the Bears a couple of years ago. Were there any squawks about that from your sports writers? No. Did anybody suggest that Coach Ray Marshall be sacked? No. What happens? Just this: The 'Skins come back the following year with the same faces and Coach Marshall back at the helm, and get kicked around by the Giants and don't even win the Eastern championship.

I know football. I played two seasons at Elmhurst Academy when it was a man's game, not this sissy stuff they play today, before I had to quit with a bum knee. That's a funny case. The doctor says there's really nothing wrong with the knee and that I shouldn't have any trouble with it, but that's a doctor for you. Treat you for weeks, then say there's nothing wrong. I don't trust any of them. But as an old football player—and I'm not boasting when I say I was pretty good—I don't think the Redskins have any good backs outside of Sammy Espey. When he goes it'll be good-by 'Skins. I didn't see your Merrill Dismar writing anything about that situation, but all of us football fans know why: Owner Turk Flaherty wouldn't like it.

Can't Expect Big Crowds at Portner's Any More

We could have decent boxing in Washington if they would let Frankie Cornell and Pats Mann make up their own cards and stop forcing Maxie Gallagher and Honey Boy Fineran on them. Portner's Arena never will draw crowds like it did back in the old Ardmore days until they get some new faces and real fighters, and if they bring back that Ahearn-Foreman fiasco they deserve to lose money. Conditions in the boxing game are deplorable, but will they be exposed? Not by a Washington sports writer.

I could go on like this by the hour, being a close follower of all branches of sport. For your information I have played ice hockey, rowed and wrestled. Several friends urged me to turn to professional boxing when I was a youngster, but I always had been a simon-pure and always hope to remain one. I was glad to see ice hockey established in Washington and usually manage to see the boys in action when not engaged in pen work. Of course, the Eagles have had rough sledding, but since Owner "Ching" Ulline and Mike Johnson have ironed out their difficulties I think the team will go right ahead and I predict it will beat Baltimore in the play-off.

I know you won't print this, but I still think we readers should have a chance to write our piece as well as speak it and I believe The Star is as good a paper as any to publish it. I am not a subscriber to your paper, but always get a copy the following day from my neighbor. I must say it is an interesting sheet, although it can't hold a candle to the Weekly Tar Heel I get from down home every week. It is a wide-awake paper. Hoping you will see my point of view, I remain, Yours in sports, SHIRLEY (BUCK) O'CALLUM.

P. S.—If you have a couple of extra ducats for Gallagher-Lamar fight, I could use them.

Blair Will Send Six Trackmen to Meet at Chapel Hill

Neumann, to Run in 1,000, Is Given Best Chance To Score Saturday

Six members of Montgomery Blair High's 20-man track team will represent nearby Maryland in the Southern Conference track meet this week end at Chapel Hill, N. C., and off past performances they hope to earn several points even against the cream of Southern schoolboy track.

Leading the pack is Capt. Dick Neumann, who is entered in the 1,000-yard run. Already this year in two meets he has captured the mile event twice, in one of them beating Jack Samperton of Central, who also is going down and up the interhigh 800 championship.

Other members of the squad are Charles Davis and Jack Davis (no relation), Charles Mitchell, Bob Bains and Bob Weir. Weir, who also plays a lot of basketball for the Silver Spring school, will be the busiest member of the team, being entered in the 1,000, the high jump and the relay. He also has a couple of victories to his credit already this year, and in the Central meet topped the two Viking aces, Forrest Roberts and Robert Wright.

In fact Central, which sends a 10-man squad to the meet, probably will find plenty of competition from Blair without worrying about other schools.

Washington-Lee usually has a few men in the meet but is skipping it this year.

Believes He Can Cure Pitcher Masterson Of Wild Streaks

By BURTON HAWKINS, Star Staff Correspondent.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 26.—The most ridiculous figure among the Nats, but paradoxically one of the brainier players of his era, who narrowly missed becoming a Catholic priest, is Coach Benny Bengough. Benny provokes laughs merely by lifting his cap, but beneath his round bald dome is incased considerable baseball savvy.

Stooge for Comedian-Coach Nick Altrock in many of the old boy's antics before he shattered an ankle early last season, Benny is likely to succeed him. Altrock, now at Sarasota, has informed President Clark Griffith he won't return to the Nats as a player. If he's able to amuse the public he'll be back, but he isn't willing to permit Griff to pay him, as he did last season, for sitting on the side lines.

Benny has the right temperament for the job. "The big idea," he says, "is to give the customers a good ball game. All games, though, can't be good, so when the contest becomes dull and uninteresting, you should offer something else to keep them interested."

He doesn't mind appearing ridiculous for the sake of a few laughs. He welcomes the opportunity, in fact, there's more humor in Benny than in the corner grocery. He's no Jekyll and Hyde character, either, for Bengough owns one of those infectious laughs and uses it freely of the field.

Benny doesn't draw his salary strictly for being a clown, however. For he is entrusted with handling the Nats' young pitchers. He believes he has detected the reason for youthful Walter Masterson's wildness, for instance, and that subject of wildness among pitchers is Benny's pet topic.

Bengough's theories on the subject indirectly are responsible for his affiliation with the Nats. When Benny was a young catcher breaking in with the Yankees, he served many afternoons in the bullpen, and whenever Griff became irritated at the Nats' futile efforts to curb New York, he visited with Benny, who played with Manager Bucky Harris at Buffalo in 1918, would talk on his terms, that any pitcher can master control simply by throwing at a set target in the form of a catcher's mitt 20 minutes a day.

Bengough later put his theory to work on George Pipgras, extremely wild in early seasons with the Yankees. Benny handled only Pipgras as an assignment until 1925, when he became the regular catcher on the same day Lou Gehrig replaced Wally Pipp at first base. For the remainder of that season, Benny caught nearly every game, but in 1926 George Uhle hit him on the arm and it never was right thereafter despite the fact he caught every inning of the 1928 World Series and saw much service with the famed 1927 Yankees, whom he indexes as the greatest team of all time.

Sensation in First Game. Ten of Benny's teammates at Niagara University are priests and he was thinking seriously of following a religious life when signed by Buffalo. That he didn't take that route in life may have been due to his mother.

Benny's summer vacation of 1917 was spent catching pitchers in the Buffalo bullpen at $5 a day. His mother couldn't understand why Benny wasn't breaking into games and constantly called Manager Patsy Donovan on the phone. To please Mrs. Bengough, Donovan permitted Benny to catch an exhibition with the St. Louis Browns and what followed determined Bengough's career.

Three times in that game he threw out Burt Shotton, then one of the leading base stealers of the American League. Donovan signed Benny to a Buffalo contract at $150 a month.

Benny drifted from the Yankees to the Browns, then Milwaukee and Little Rock. He shifted to Washington, Pa., to manage that Yankee farm in 1934, later manager of Joplin, Mo., and coaching at Newark. When the International League banned non-active coaches, Griffith picked him up.

Now he's a coach-clown and he handles both roles nicely.

Warmerdam Craves Collapsible Pole; Grove Registers for Draft as 'Unemployed'

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr., Wide World Sports Columnist.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The fight mob expects Cleveland to get the third Joe Louis-Bob Pastor fight next summer (if Joe can get away from the Army for it). The Pastor-Franklin fight was final proof that fans will turn out in what used to be a poor fight town as long as the promoters keep giving them good fights. John Dungan Rigney, the White Sox pitcher whose wife, Dorothy Comiskey, is the club treasurer, says he got orders from the club that no wives would be allowed in training camp. Wonder what Kirby Higbe would do in that situation? Cornelius Warmerdam, the cloud-scraping pole vaulter, thinks his pessime would be a lot easier if he could invent a collapsible pole that he could cart along on trains and planes. Tennessee has abandoned the idea of sending its football movies to Army camps and Knoxville writers say it's because there's no chance to recruit freshman prospects in the Army.

Grove in the groove—When Lefty Grove and his son, Robert Gardner, went to the high school at Lonaconing, Md., to register for selective service, Old Man Moose hesitated a moment when he came to "occupation." The teacher filling out the card suggested that he make it "retired baseball player." Lefty waved aside the suggestion. "Make it unemployed," he said.

Service Dept.—Lt. Francis X. Reagan of the Quantico Marine base, who used to play quite a bit of football for Penn and the Giants, will marry Catharine Donnelly, a college classmate, March 14. Corpl. Dick Ganslen, former Columbia pole vaulter, who has been clearing the wires instead of the cross-bar at the Fort Monmouth (N. J.) Signal Corps school, has been sent to the Officers' Candidate School.

Today's guest star—Springer Gibson, Chattanooga (Tenn.) Evening Times: "British soldiers want to see Joe Louis in action. If they want to keep their morale, they'd better not watch him against one of their own men."

Sportspoint—The Giants may have a better pitcher than they know in Sal Maglie, rookie, up from Buffalo. In a recent Muny League basket ball game at Niagara Falls, N. Y., Maglie pitched in 61 points. One of the squawks N. Y. U. boys have against abolishing football is that most of the athletic council members are alumni of other colleges and can watch their own alma mummies when they feel the urge on a fall Saturday. Joe Louis couldn't get to Cleveland for Tuesday's fight, but he

Tossers Start Action in Gold Cup Event at Hyattsville

Four Games Each Today and Tonight Have Boys and Girls Contesting

A packed schedule of eight games today and tonight opens the third annual Gold Cup basketball tournament at Hyattsville High gym with both the Hyattsville boys and girls team as defending champs.

Today's program was to begin at 1 o'clock with four games listed in the afternoon session and four more in the night session beginning at 7 o'clock. Another heavy program is on tap for tomorrow night with today's winners meeting in four semi-finals beginning at 7 o'clock. The finals are slated on Saturday with the girls title to be decided at 8 o'clock and the boys crown at 9 o'clock and the boys crown at 9 o'clock.

Aside from the defending champions, teams invited to compete are: Mount Rainier, Laurel, Greenbelt, Oxon, Maryland Park, Bladensburg and Bowie, and boys: Mount Rainier, Maryland Park, Greenbelt, Surrattsville, Oxon Hill, Bladensburg and Laurel.

Mount Rainier was runner-up for the girls title last year while Greenbelt finished behind the host team for the boys title. Gold cups will be awarded the winning teams while individual players will receive medals.

Tickets Available For First Game

Although the sale of tickets for the opening baseball game of the season has been brisk since they were placed on sale early this month, Secretary Eddie Eynon reports plenty of good seats still available.

Reservations already made may be picked up at the ball park office or by mailing money order or check.

Nation's Skiing Stars Aim at 300 Feet on Michigan Slide

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Feb. 26.—Top-rated skiers of the Nation will ride Pine Mountain's towering slide Sunday in quest of the elusive 300-foot leap—a feat yet to be achieved in America.

Shooting at the mark will be the big four of American skiing—Torger Tokle, Alf Engen, Walter Bieltia and Art Devlin—and two or three youngsters from this rugged mining country, where they learn to ski shortly after learning to walk.

Tokle, who holds the official American distance record of 288 feet, set in Snoqualmie Ski Bowl near Seattle in 1941, was conceded the best chance.

Leonard Again Spurns Nat Bid; Seems to Have Griff on Spot

Club President Can't Laugh Off 18 Games Hurler Won for Poor Outfit Last Year

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 26.—There always is ample reason to be skeptical of baseball's holdouts, principally because the majority succumb to spring and sign their contracts shortly after the first calisthenics drill at training camp. The case of Washington's Dutch Leonard, though, may be getting serious.

Griffith refuses to divulge the difference in what he's offering and what Leonard is demanding, but Griff's latest offer was refused by Leonard. "Terms not satisfactory," wired Leonard yesterday, staying well within the 10-word rule.

Dutch and Griff may be far apart. Griff can argue that Leonard doesn't beat the top clubs and produce the record as evidence.

Griff can argue that Leonard is not a good pitcher on the road and get no argument in return, but the fact remains that Dutch won 18 games with a club that spent much of the summer in the cellar.

The 32-year-old Leonard has Griffith in a nice spot. Washington already has been riddled by the draft and prospects of a winning season aren't exactly bright. Dutch can make a big difference to the Washington team and apparently he knows it.

Washington's pitchers and catchers, with the exception of Pitcher Leonard and Catcher Al

Evans, who is detained on business at Kenly, N. C., entered their fourth day of training today. In less than two weeks the Nats will plunge into an arduous string of exhibition games, and unless Leonard accepts salary terms and hustles to camp, he may not be able to toll in some of those struggles.

Even that isn't serious because Manager Bucky Harris must examine his rookie crop thoroughly and pluck two pitchers from their midst. He knows Leonard's ability but still must judge such talent as Ray Scarborough, Phil McCullough, Bill Kennedy, Hardin Cathey, etc.

Leonard's signature is the least of Bucky's worries. He must fret over curing Walter Masterson's wildness, attempt to equip Sid Hudson with a better curve and iron some flaws out of Steve Sundra's style.

Leonard is one pitcher Harris is confident can master his own problems once in uniform and Bucky feels that won't be long.

Ball Player Fines To Aid War Fund

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 26.—"Peanuts, popcorn and Defense stamps" will be the cry of hawkers at Little Rock's baseball park this summer.

Sale of Defense stamps by concessionaires was announced by Little Rock Manager Willis Hudlin.

Burnham Made Purdue's Head Grid Coach

Mackey Named Sport Director as Frosh Mentor Is Raised

By the Associated Press.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 26.—Elmer Burnham, who began his coaching experience on a high school job, is to be Purdue University's head football coach, and Guy Mackey, who's worked nowhere but at Purdue, its athletic director.

The trustees chose them yesterday to succeed Allen H. (Mal) Eward Sunday. Burnham is head freshman coach and Mackey assistant varsity coach and administrative assistant to the athletic director.

Eward resigned the coaching job a week ago to re-enter the Navy, in which he worked his way up to lieutenant (senior grade) in the World War. The board relieved him of the athletic directorship January 22, but extended his coaching contract six months to December 31, 1942.

Eward became head football coach in the spring of 1937 when Noble E. Kizer resigned because of illness, and became athletic director February 1, 1941, after Kizer's death. Eward's last eleven won only two of eight games.

Burnham came to take over the freshman coaching job in 1935 from the post of head coach at Central High School of South Bend, Ind. In the World War he was overseas a year in a trench mortar battery.

Mackey, a cherry redhead, became assistant freshman football coach at Purdue in the fall of 1929 after his graduation from the agricultural school. He was appointed assistant varsity coach in 1932 and administrative assistant to the athletic director in 1941.

Great Lakes Sail Races Won't Be Cut by War

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 26.—Commander Howard Finch of the Interlake Yachting Association said today that the Great Lakes sailing season will not be curtailed because of the war.

Some changes will be made in the interest of national defense, he added.

Borican Looks to Mile Laurels at Chicago

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—John Borican, middle distance record holder who is developing mile aspirations, has entered the Chicago Relays of March 20 with the request officials consider him in the Banker's Mile.

Twice winner of the Chicago 1,000-yard race, Borican said he would be ready to run in either the mile or the 1,000-yard event.

Browns Acquire Full Ownership of Farm Club at Toledo

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26.—Toledo of the American Association became a wholly owned farm club of the St. Louis Browns today.

The Browns acquired the stock of President Waldo Shanks of Toledo and his associates to give them 100 per cent control.

C. E. Gilliland, who has been in charge of the Browns' minor league farm operations, will go to Toledo as president.

New 1942 Peak Set; Total More Than Double Year Ago

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A big rise in defense construction boosted by engineering awards this week to $266,622,000, the greatest volume for any week this year, Engineering News-Record reported today.

The total was two and one-half times as great as in the preceding week and more than double the same week a year ago.

Comparison by classes of work follows:

The Association of American Railroads reported today that 774,595 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday.

This was a decrease of 8,104 cars, or 1.0 per cent, compared with the preceding week; an increase of 98,072 cars, or 14.2 per cent, compared with a year ago, and an increase of 179,212 cars, or 30.1 per cent, compared with 1940.

The report classified the loadings, compared with last week and the corresponding week a year ago, as follows:

Blame for Shortage Of Rubber Denied By Jesse Jones

No One Foresaw Loss Of Control of Pacific, He Tells House Probers

Secretary of Commerce Jones irately disclaimed responsibility for the rubber shortage in congressional testimony and declared that neither he nor any one else "expected we would lose entire control of the Pacific."

He told the House Interstate Commerce Committee that the country had about 650,000 tons of raw rubber in storage, and that the Nation would be producing a maximum of 500,000 tons of synthetic rubber by the end of 1943—four-fifths of it in plants to be built under contract this year.

"I am convinced," he said, "that if we use what we have carefully and sparingly we will have enough to supply our necessary war demands and have some for essential civilian needs."

He estimated that Singapore would fall and that we would lose our supply from the Dutch East Indies.

There were no hands raised. Mr. Wolverton demanded to know whether the responsibility for shortage of rubber, necessitating rationing, was "chargeable to the War Council, the War Department, to you or to whom?"

"Well," retorted Secretary Jones, "Congress might take the responsibility if it wanted to. I don't think it started very early."

Earlier, pressed by Representative Wolverton, a Republican of New Jersey, ranking minority member of the committee, as to why greater production of synthetic rubber had not been undertaken prior to Pearl Harbor, Secretary Jones inquired:

"Hold up your hand and tell me if any of you gentlemen knew that Singapore would fall and that we would lose our supply from the Dutch East Indies?"

Mr. Wolverton demanded to know whether the responsibility for shortage of rubber, necessitating rationing, was "chargeable to the War Council, the War Department, to you or to whom?"

"Well," retorted Secretary Jones, "Congress might take the responsibility if it wanted to. I don't think it started very early."

Debenture Issue Offered by Home Loan Banks

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The Federal Home Loan Banks will offer publicly today $26,000,000 in consolidated debentures dated March 5 and due September 1, 1942, bearing a 1/2 per cent interest coupon.

The debentures will be offered at a slight premium, a spokesman said. The proceeds will represent new money, providing the 12 regional reserve banks with additional cash. Its need, the announcement said, reflected increased business of savings institutions.

North Western Issue Awarded to Group

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—A syndicate headed by First Boston Corp. was the successful bidder yesterday for $3,750,000 of equipment trust certificates of the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., Charles M. Thomson, trustee, announced.

The syndicate offered a coupon rate of 3 1/2 per cent and the purchase price was $1,022.84 per $1,000 bond. Money will be used by the railway to purchase freight equipment.

Further Shifts Of Agencies Mapped

Budget Chief Points Agin to Coming Influx of 45,000

By J. A. FOX. Further decentralization of the Government establishment here to make way for the arrival of thousands of new employees was proposed today.

Announcing last night that the shift of agencies to other parts of the country was proceeding according to the schedule laid down in December, when the break-up first was charted, Harold D. Smith, budget director, repeated an earlier forecast that 45,000 more workers would be imported into the Capital by June 30.

Other war functions of presumably greater importance, according to Mr. Smith, who named the Office of Emergency Management as one of the defense groups which will be shifted in part to the field.

In an effort to ease the shortage of office space and transportation facilities created by the tremendous influx of personnel, Mr. Smith said that the two and three shift plans are being studied, "but apparently they are feasible primarily for jobs which are largely routine, requiring no large degree of expert supervision or co-ordination of work between agency heads or between agencies."

Some Government employees are already reporting for work at 7:30 a.m. and it may be that an earlier starting hour than at present will be adopted in other agencies to relieve the traffic congestion, he added.

That the budget director's figures as to the prospective increase here are not out of line was shown by a check of Civil Service Commission records, which indicated that approximately 10,000 stenographer-clerk positions had been filled here in January. Normally, this type of work accounts for about two-thirds of new employment.

Mr. Smith's statement detailed the progress of the decentralization moves ordered in December, as well as of several decided upon later, the total involving 13,000 persons. These new additions include:

Agriculture Adjustment Administration: 300 employees going to Columbus, Ohio, and the balance to other regions; a staff of 1,750 and the Agricultural Department. The move will start about March 15. A. A. A. personnel as of September 30—the last figures available—totalled 1,680.

Farm Credit Administration, Agriculture Department, moving to Kansas City about April 15. About 200 employees of the solicitor's office going to Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City, September employment, 1,155.

Three more regional offices of the United States Housing Authority to set up offices in the field. One already has gone to Boston.

The statement was silent as to the probable date of departure of the Bureau of Old-Age Insurance, Social Security Board, scheduled to Philadelphia with a staff of 1,750 and the Bureau of Wild Life Service, National Park Service, and Office of Indian Affairs, Interior Department, ticketed for Chicago, with 850 employees.

Completion of the move of the Patent Office to Richmond and the Wage and Hour Division, and a portion of the office of solicitor of the Labor Department, to New York, was reported.

These transfers are pending: Employees Compensation Commission, New York, February 28; Immigration and Naturalization Service, Justice Department, Philadelphia, March 1; Securities and Exchange Commission, Philadelphia, March 5; Rural Electrification Administration, Agriculture Department, St. Louis, March 14; Railroad Retirement Board, Chicago, March 15—with about two months necessary to complete the transfer; Farm Security Administration, Cincinnati, March 27.

O. E. M. Affected. "Decentralization of war agencies as well as the office agencies is being pushed," Mr. Smith said, adding that as of December 31, 70 per cent of the employees of the Office of Emergency Management and its constituent agencies were in Washington and 30 per cent in the field but that by June 30, the division will be equal. There are more than 10,000 employees in the O. E. M. which is the over-all war agency.

Decentralization under the program already announced, plus new construction, will relieve the shortage in office space around June 30, according to Mr. Smith, but if the anticipated growth in demand occurs, another shortage looms unless relief is provided. Earlier, the budget director had estimated that 40,000 employees would be brought in here after June 30, for a total for the year of 85,000. This would mean a total executive agency force of approximately 300,000—less, of course, what is taken out by decentralization.

Mr. Smith said that another problem the Government faces is to move agencies from apartments and other leased quarters. "The Government now occupies 500,000 feet of such space," he said. "We would like to get those agencies under Federal roofs to help relieve the housing situation, which is now Washington's greatest municipal problem."

SYMBOL OF ST. ALBAN'S PATRIOTISM—Each of the 88 red stars represents one alumnus of St. Alban's School who has entered military service for America in the Second World War.

More stars will be added to the service flag—white with a blue border, the school colors—which is displayed daily under the American flag. Displaying it are John Wick (left), senior class prefect, and Charles Jacobson, senior class president.

Personnel Transfers In Consolidations Provided in Bill

Government employees whose services may be rendered unnecessary by reason of new consolidation plans would be transferred to other agencies, wherever possible, under a bill introduced late yesterday by Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee.

If such employees cannot be transferred immediately, the bill also would make them eligible for reinstatement in Government service without examination within one year. The bill comes in the wake of executive orders by the President regrouping bureaus in the Agriculture Department and consolidating housing agencies. It also ties in with the general inquiry about the bringing of more new workers into crowded Washington, if trained personnel can be drawn for the period of the emergency from non-defense bureaus.

Before the President ordered the consolidation of various housing agencies, Senator McKellar had introduced a bill for the same purpose, and another measure to abolish N. Y. A. and C. C. C. at the end of this year.

The McKellar housing bill was referred to the Education and Labor Committee, at Senator Ellender, Democrat, of Louisiana, chairman of the Housing Subcommittee, indicated yesterday he is continuing a study of the merger problem, aside from the executive order.

Reorganization of the functions of the Office of Civilian Defense and their transfer to the War Department also is the subject of separate bills by Senators Tydings and Clark, Democrat, of Missouri.

Byrd Ready for Inquiry. While these bills are awaiting committee action, Chairman Byrd of the Joint Congressional Economy Committee is ready to launch an investigation of O. C. D. morning.

The McKellar personnel transfer bill provides: "That officers and employees of any department or agency of the Government who are no longer necessary for performing the duties of such agency or department by reason of the fact that such agency or department has been abolished or any of its functions terminated, transferred or consolidated, or by reason of a diminution in the work of such department or agency or any reorganization of its affairs, shall be transferred under existing law to other positions in the Government services wherever practicable, and in other cases shall be separated from the service. Any persons so separated from the service shall be eligible to receive the duties of such agency or department without examination for a period of one year from the time of separation, and during such period shall be given a preference, when qualified, whenever an appointment is made in the executive branch of the Government. Any person transferred in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be so transferred without the loss of any rights or privilege to which he is entitled under the civil service laws or classification laws."

Chiropractors to Meet. A lecture on intestinal influenza will feature a meeting of the District Chiropractic Society tonight in the Thomas Circle Club. The address will be given by Dr. J. E. Miller.

Chart Issued On Emergency Raid Services

Plans Mapped for Feeding, Housing, Medical Care

A detailed chart on the duties and functions of the emergency feeding, emergency housing and emergency medical services established by the District Civilian Defense Office to meet air-raid eventualities has been drawn in a formal order issued by Metropolitan Defense Co-ordinator John Russell Young and tentatively approved by the Federal O. C. D.

The order states that as to the "second phase" for feeding of victims of an enemy attack, "responsibility rests primarily upon the American Red Cross, which is making provisions for meeting this requirement." In this connection it was announced the problem of mass feeding, after the first few hours after an attack, would be considered at a conference between the District O. C. D. and other organizations to be held in the "very near future."

Underlying this statement, issued last evening by Col. Lemuel B. Colles, District Civilian Defense Director, are the questions as to whether the District was trespassing upon the Red Cross field in establishing emergency "first phase" feeding housing units of the O. C. D. or whether it was necessary for the District O. C. D. to do this because it had not been done by others.

First Phase of Setup. However, District O. C. D. officials said the formal outline of the first, second and third phases of emergency procedures, contained in the co-ordinator's latest order, should be put into the plan in cooperation between the District O. C. D. and the Red Cross.

The first phase is described as extending from the moment of the "incident" to that time when the resources of the community can be mobilized in a orderly and logical manner for the feeding and housing of the population.

The Young order states that to meet the emergency feeding problem the District O. C. D. had established an emergency feeding unit consisting of a group of from 10 to 20 women, set up in churches or other places, supplied with sufficient coffee, soup, crackers, and the like, to provide for the initial feeding of 500 persons at each place.

Retraced and recapped tires available for rationing next month eligible trucks, buses, farm equipment and other heavy vehicles aggregate 110,225.

No retrained passenger car tires will be available for rationing in March, since the War Production Board has not authorized the manufacture of passenger car cambelks during that month. This means that only new passenger car tires and tubes will be rationed during March and their sale will be restricted to passenger cars, light trucks and motorcycles.

Increase Called Seasonal. In announcing the quotas, Price Administrator Henderson said the increase in March quotas over those for February is seasonal and reflects subsidence of severe winter weather that tends to make motor transportation difficult in many sections of the country.

A breakdown of the District quotas showed that 619 new tires will be available for passenger cars, 1,603 new tires for light trucks, 518 new tires for passenger cars and 1,802 new tubes for trucks and buses.

Struck by a bus at an intersection which he had crossed daily for 40 years, William P. Fuse, 76, died of injuries today in Emergency Hospital. He was hit Tuesday morning, police reported, while he was crossing Pennsylvania avenue N.W. at Twenty-fourth street to reach a streetcar stop.

SURROUNDED BY AZALEAS—Miss Adela Ryman of 1732 North Veitch street, Arlington, Va., is shown amid part of the azalea display at the Botanic Garden.

Cab 'Pickup' Rates Raised in Afternoon For One Passenger

Ban on Lingering Near U. S. Buildings Hinder Obtaining Full Loads

Washington's experimental taxicab "pickup service" was amended today by the Public Utilities Commission to provide that in the evening rush period if the cab driver has one passenger, the charge shall be the regular rate instead of 20 cents.

Chairman Gregory Hankin emphasized the amendment would not apply to trips in the morning rush hour. He said the change was made because the commission had been advised that the plan was not working so well in the evening rush hour because cab drivers could not linger at Government office buildings and sometimes could not take on a full quota of four passengers.

The Commission said the amendment stating that it would not be fair to induce a Government clerk to get into a pickup service cab expecting to pay only 20 cents and to find later that the charge was 30 or 40 cents, if there was but one passenger. On the other hand, Chairman Hankin argued the one passenger had the choice of getting out of the cab if no others boarded it at the starting point, or taking a chance that other passengers would be picked up en route, or of paying the regular fare.

Col. Charles W. Kutz, the Engineer Commissioner member of the P. U. C., dissented from the amendment, stating that it would not be fair to induce a Government clerk to get into a pickup service cab expecting to pay only 20 cents and to find later that the charge was 30 or 40 cents, if there was but one passenger.

Group Seeks to Simplify Boarding House Rules. A committee of three District officials and two civilians was at work today studying the possibility of simplifying procedures involved in the regulation and licensing of rooming and boarding houses, in response to suggestions made recently by the Washington Housing Association.

The committee, named last evening by the Board of Commissioners, is headed by Col. Beverly C. Snow, Assistant Engineer Commissioner. Other members are Health Officer George C. Ruhland, Vernon E. West, principal assistant corporation counsel; J. Bernard Wyckoff, president, and Mrs. Helen Huey Hoffman, executive director of the Washington Housing Association.

Annual Azalea Show Of Botanic Garden Opens to Public

Some Hybridizations Never Shown Before

The annual azalea show of the United States Botanic Garden is open to the public today, although many of the best specimens in the world-renowned Rutherfordiana collection will not be placed in the exhibition conservatory at First street S.W. between Maryland and Independence avenues, until Saturday.

While officials of the Botanic Garden, including William A. Frederick, who represents Congress as administrator, and Wilmer J. Paget, acting director, admit that the Garden today is considered the best in the world, Mr. Frederick has been active to make it a complete museum of the plant life of the Western Hemisphere.

Among the azalea hybridizations never shown before but which are now on exhibit in the conservatory are the most outstanding of all—and the best commercial type—a group of Mary Corcoran in the northeast corner of the east wing. These are of rose and peach flecked white blooms. Next to them is a group of L. J. Bobbink plants, named for the specimen in the Herbarium which developed the Rutherfordiana collection of 100 varieties. The blooms are of lavender and light orchid shades.

Another outstanding new acquisition shown this year for the first time is the Madam Pericot, named for the wife of the famous orchid hybridizer. This display is in the west wing. The blooms are large and of a beautiful pink shade. The best of the white azaleas are the Snow Queen and Albion, groups of which are shown in both the east and west wings. Among the best red specimens are the Hexe, which is of the hardy type; Triumph, deep red and double, opening like a rosebud, and Christmas Red.

Other Types New. A new type attracting much attention is Sweetheart, with blooms like small roses. It is not hardy. Dorothy Gish is another popular new exhibit. Giant and Sunset are a plant grouping that runs to reddish salmon with double fluorescence.

Directly in front of the main entrance are two beautiful camellia japonicas. These are the first of a large show which will be on display in about a month. The garden intends to make a specialty of camellias in coming years and already has some 60 varieties. Along the main corridor is a hardy collection of Maxwell to show what can be done around homes. Also in the corridor is a collection of Schizanthus, a tall, feathery plant with blooms like pansies in all pastel shades.

D. C. Courts in Recess For Judicial Conference. Although District Court is in recess today and tomorrow, due to the judicial conference at the United States Court of Appeals, jurists of the lower court will be on duty to handle emergency matters, officials said today.

Justice T. Alan Goldsborough will be available today, Justice Jennings Bailey will serve tomorrow, on emergency assignment, and on Saturday, when regularly no courts sit, Justice James M. Proctor will be on duty.

Trade-Mark Bill Offered. Representative Keogh, Democrat, of New York wants Congress to prohibit the registration of trademarks containing the words "White House" or showing a picture of the Executive Mansion. He introduced a bill to ban future trade-marks of that nature.

Local Tribunal Urged to Relieve District Court

Judicial Conference Told of Importance Of Cases Here

Creation of a purely local tribunal to relieve District Court of much of the work it now handles as a State court was advocated today before the Third Judicial Circuit Conference by Chief Justice D. Lawrence Groner of the United States Court of Appeals, who presided.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States Supreme Court impressed upon the conference, in a brief address, the necessity of the courts earning the full respect of the public, which should have complete confidence in them.

District Court handles both Federal and local cases and in that respect is different from other Federal courts throughout the country. Chief Justice Groner spoke of the importance of the work handled by the Federal courts in the National Capital.

More Judges Called Answer. Associate Justice Harold M. Stephens of the appellate court, during the general discussion that followed the formal addresses, told the conference that the real answer to the problem of congested dockets is more judges. He asserted that while other departments in the Government have expanded in this rapidly-growing Nation the judiciary has been increased but little.

Both the appellate and District Court here are "badly behind" in their work, declared Justice Stephens, "and are not catching up to any appreciable extent—neither is making any real progress" in cutting down the backlog of cases.

Pays Tribute to Chandler. Chief Justice Stone paid tribute to the "great justice" of the late Henry P. Chandler, director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, also one of the speakers on this morning's program, has conducted his difficult office. The Chief Justice told the assembly that dignity, firmness and realism are the qualities of the judiciary, "as they are said to be the attributes of kings," that the public may have complete confidence in the courts.

The Chief Justice declared that the Conference and Senior Circuit Judges has been materially aided by the assistance, advice and opinions given through the various circuit conferences, such as that now in session here. He asserted that he and his colleagues hoped for real aid and advice from the conference.

Biddle Outlines Problems. Attorney General Biddle outlined to the conference various problems that are now confronting the Department of Justice. He asserted that the judiciary and the bar must turn their attention to the fact that "we are in a war economy when peace comes" and should use that for the best interests of the United States. Study should be given now, he said, to "what we can use afterwards of this monster that we are creating every day."

The Nation's chief law officer said that it was a just criticism in the past that judicial appointments had not been made promptly, but he said that now the Department of Justice is "almost up to date" in its recommendation of candidates for vacancies on the bench.

Attorney General Biddle declared that he and his department are "intensely interested" in the new experiment under which judicial circuit conferences have been set up all over the country, designed to bring about the better administration of justice, and that already he has shown that "we can have unity and independence in the judiciary."

Talks on Sedition Cases. The Attorney General spoke of the problem of sedition and asserted that in the last war this was not dealt with very wisely. He asserted that he has directed the District Attorneys not to bring sedition cases without his express written consent but added that "obstruction of the war effort the Government will not permit."

He declared that it is better to deal with the problem as England has done during the course of this war and not to make "martyrs out of straw found in the great stream of the war." The treatment of aliens was another topic touched upon by Attorney General Biddle, who pointed out that "we are going to have a labor shortage and will begin to see signs of it some time in the fall," declaring that the United States has large sections of Germans and Italians, who are integrated into the national life.

Draft of Charter For Arlington Is Completed

Proposed City Plan's Provisions Revealed By Legislators

By ALEXANDER PRESTON, Staff Correspondent.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 26.—Provisions of a charter for incorporation of Arlington County as a city of about 70,000 inhabitants, subject to a referendum by county voters, were announced today by Delegates Charles R. Fenwick and Senator William D. Medley of Arlington.

The enabling act, which will soon be introduced by Mr. Fenwick, has been completed in rough draft and is the culmination of weeks of work by the two legislators, who have been assisted by Commonwealth Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas and Attorney Allen C. Adams of Arlington.

Although it was disclosed in The Star last week that the legislation was being drafted, today is the first time the provision of the charter have been made known. The highlights of the proposed city plan are:

Liability for County Debts. The boundaries of the city would conform with existing boundaries of Arlington County. The city would become liable for all outstanding bonded indebtedness and current debts of the county and could sue and be sued as a corporate municipality. It would have all of the municipal powers, functions and privileges extended to cities of the first class under general law.

After incorporation, the existing ordinances of Arlington County would remain in force until they were repealed by the governing body of the city.

The city would retain all rights it has as a county with respect to laws under which its water supply and sewerage systems have been and are being installed. All current and delinquent tax funds and school or other levies would be turned over to the city.

Contracts made by the county for materials and construction would continue in force.

The public school system would continue to function without change and without reference to the general law relating to cities of the first class, except that the County School Board would be known as the City School Board.

City Council of Five. A city council of five members, each elected at large, would be provided. The council each year would elect a chairman who would become ex-officio mayor. The mayor would have the same voting powers as other council members, but would not have the veto power. With the exception of the constitutionally elected officers provided for all Virginia cities, council members would be the only elected officials.

Members of the county board would continue in office as council members to serve out their terms. Members of the council would be elected and would serve for a term of one year. The council would have the power to make a temporary appointment until the vacancy was filled by election. Members of the council would be paid $1,200 annually.

The council would appoint a city manager with regard to merit alone who would not be required to be a resident of the city or State at the time of appointment. The council would fix his compensation and the manager would serve as administrator and executive head of the city.

He would have the powers and duties now vested in the county manager. He would appoint all city officials whose appointment is not otherwise provided for in the charter.

Budget Provisions. The city manager would submit an itemized report of all expenditures made by him at each Council meeting. Within 15 days of the close of the fiscal year the manager would file with the clerk of the Council an itemized statement of expenditures for the fiscal year. His office would expire December 31 each year, but he would be subject to removal by the Council at any time for a just cause.

On or before February 15 each year the city manager would submit a budget of proposed expenditures and revenues to the council, covering the following fiscal year beginning July 1.

"A brief synopsis of the budget" would be published, and at least 15 days' notice given of one or more public hearings.

Failure of the council to adopt a budget would result in the manager's budget becoming final.

The general law with respect to levying taxes by councils of first-class cities would prevail. The levy would be ordered by the council for the ensuing fiscal year not later than April 30.

Before tax levies could be increased, the consent of the council would be published at least 30 days before imposition and public hearings would be set.

Operation of Courts. The present Commonwealth Attorney, clerk of the court, county sheriff, county treasurer and commissioner of revenue would become city officials except that the sheriff would become a city sergeant. The city of Arlington would continue within the jurisdiction of the present Circuit Court, which would have jurisdiction given other such courts in cities under general law.

A corporation court would be created and would have the same powers provided for such tribunals under general law and if, incorporation should become effective while the General Assembly is not in session, the office of corporation court judge would be filled as if a vacancy had occurred.

The present county trial justice court would become a civil and probate court. In addition to the most

Fenwick Bill Calls For Airport Within State Confines

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.

RICHMOND, Feb. 26.—Legislation to establish the District of Columbia-Virginia boundary in accordance with the terms of a bill offered in Congress by Representative Randolph, Democrat, of West Virginia, moved toward passage today in the House of Delegates.

The measure, sponsored by Delegate Charles R. Fenwick of Arlington, was given its second reading yesterday and would establish the boundary line as it now exists at the high water mark of the Potomac River and would place the Washington National Airport entirely within this State, but with the status of a Federal reservation.

Virginia would have the right to collect its gasoline tax at the airport and also would be empowered to enforce its alcoholic beverage laws.

If Congress passes the Randolph bill the Governor and attorney general could ratify the boundary line without further action by the General Assembly.

On incorporation, to the bill was voiced yesterday when Mr. Fenwick explained that it is designed to abolish the "no man's land" which has existed for years resulting in conflicting law enforcement and sometimes no enforcement at all because of Federal, State and District jurisdiction.

On certain border areas, the Anti-Annektion Bill. A bill by Delegate Robert J. McCandlish, Jr., of Fairfax County to "freeze" annexation of any portion of Fairfax County until 1944 has been referred from the House Committee on Special, Private and Local Legislation to the House General Laws Committee and will be acted on by the latter group this afternoon.

Not only would the McCandlish bill prohibit the town of Falls Church from proceeding with an annexation suit involving land on the Fairfax County side and the City of Alexandria on the other side of its borders further, but it would also stop Arlington, if that county becomes a city, from annexing either Falls Church or Fairfax County territory.

Rosenberg Promises Fight. Delegate Maurice D. Rosenberg of Alexandria, a member of the General Laws Committee, said he vigorously will oppose Mr. McCandlish's bill because the Legislature already has demonstrated its unwillingness to hold up annexation proceedings and because the Fairfax Delegate's legislation would violate the State constitution.

In the meantime, however, Senator John S. Battle of District 10 introduced a bill identical to Mr. Fenwick's original proposal and this measure was passed by the Senate yesterday by a vote of 17 to 16.

A proposed amendment by Senator Charles R. Mosier of Appomattox, Va., provided for the 7 p.m. closing hour, so as to conform with the Fenwick bill, was defeated after a lengthy debate.

Folls are now kept open from "sunrise to sunset," and a need for a change was described yesterday by Senator Medley, who declared that the polls close as early as 5 p.m. during the November elections, making it impossible for many Federal Government employees working in Washington but living in Virginia to return to their homes to vote.

Opponents Heard. Northern Virginians, as well as sportsmen from all other sections of the State, previously supported the amendment for a single administrator and yesterday's hearing was given over almost exclusively to opponents of the plan. Those who appeared yesterday to support the single administrator plan included Reynolds Harnsberger, president, Arlington-Fairfax Chapter, Izaak Walton League; Morris S. Izman and J. L. McCallister, members of that chapter; Jack Stowell of Washington, D. C., and member of the Front Royal Chapter of the Izaak Walton League; Duncan Gibbs and Turner Slaughter, both of the Front Royal chapter of the league; and Jay Reed and Page Marshall, both of the Alexandria chapter of the league. Ben Temple, president of the Advisory Council of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, also supported the proposed change.

Explosives Agent Named in Fairfax. Special Dispatch to The Star. FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 26.—County Clerk John M. Whalen has been named explosives licensing agent for Fairfax County by the Bureau of Mines, Interior Department.

Mr. Whalen is authorized by the Federal Explosives Act to issue vendor's, purchaser's and foreman's licenses, and both buyers and sellers of explosives must be licensed under the act.

The temporary licenses granted by the director of the Bureau of Mines, February 3, will expire at the close of business, March 1, and any persons requiring a license after that date should file an application with the local licensing agent at once.

Heavy penalties are provided for violations of the act, and both reliability and experience must be shown by applicants.

Woodside Club Play. Chief Air Raid Warden Arch McDonald will give a short talk at the presentation of a three-act play, "Medicine Preferred," which is being given by the Woodside Dramatic Club at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Woodside Methodist Church hall for the benefit of Montgomery County civilian defense program.

Oakton Benefit Dance. Special Dispatch to The Star. OAKTON, Va., Feb. 26.—A benefit dance will be sponsored by Oakton Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Arlington Girl Named Honor Society Head

Miss Margaret E. Bixler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Glen Bixler of Arlington County, Va., has been elected president.

Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., where she is a student in her junior year.

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honor society to recognize and promote scholarship and leadership among the teaching profession and is limited to juniors and seniors having a high scholarship rating who have exhibited outstanding leadership and high personal qualifications.

Miss Bixler is active in the Y. W. C. A., the Glee Club and the Page Literary Society. She is a graduate of Washington-Lee High School, Arlington.

Prospect Bright For Building Fairfax Drive

Hanrahan Optimistic; $20,000 State Fund Will Be Sought

County Manager Frank C. Hanrahan today expressed optimism over prospects for construction by the State of the proposed Fairfax drive highway along the abandoned right of way of the Arlington & Fairfax Railroad.

Mr. Hanrahan has just returned from Richmond, where, with Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas and County Engineer C. L. Kinsler, he conferred with Gov. Darden. State Highway Commissioner Anderson, Arlington State Senator William D. Medley, Delegate Charles Fenwick and others.

$20,000 Fund Sought. Gen. Anderson agreed with the Governor to recommend that the Highway Commission give $20,000 toward purchase of the right of way from Falls Church to Wilson boulevard and to take it into the State system when the money becomes available next year. This is conditioned on the obtaining of an 80-foot right of way for a boulevard, Mr. Hanrahan said. The present right of way varies from 40 to 60 and 80 feet in width at certain points.

In exchange for the Fairfax drive road, the county agreed to take over maintenance of Washington Boulevard from Clarendon to Falls Church, said the county manager. This stretch is now a State road that carries an average of 8,000 cars a day.

"If the proper dedication of land can be obtained, it looks like Fairfax drive on its way toward being built by the State," Mr. Hanrahan said. "It will mean something to Fairfax County as well as Arlington."

Defense Setup Praised. While in Richmond, Mr. Hanrahan also conferred with State military defense officials and said the county is the complete and comprehensive organization for civilian defense in Arlington County.

Under the new State setup, the Northern Virginia Regional Defense Council, with headquarters at 815 King street, Alexandria, has been ordered closed on Saturday with all civilian defense duties being turned over to city and county governments in the area.

Mrs. Alma Ramsey, Arlington, has served as executive officer for the council, which Gardner Booth, Alexandria, is chairman.

Five Partial Pardons Granted by O'Connor. By the Associated Press. ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Junius A. O'Connor, former Washington County legislator, and four other former convicts received partial pardons last night from Gov. O'Connor.

One of the others, Daniel Banks, 70, colored, convicted of larceny in 1935 in Allegany County, not only is pardoned but also is released from the penitentiary before the Governor was born.

Others granted partial pardons include Samuel A. Hart, 43, paroled while serving a 3-year sentence for manslaughter in 1923 in Baltimore County; Edwin D. Sims, who served a 1-year sentence on a statutory crime charge in Prince Georges County was suspended after he served a month, and Hyman London, Baltimore, who served 10 days in the Baltimore City Jail in 1937 on a charge of perjury in a property transaction.

A commutation was granted to Phillip E. Gradwell, convicted of assault in Montgomery County in 1930 and given a suspended 2-year term. This commutation will be effective, Gov. O'Connor said, when his time for induction into the Army arrives.

Reapportioning Plan Jeopardized by Action of Legislature

Duplicate Bills Again In Committee; Sportsmen Testify on Game Measure

By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.

RICHMOND, Feb. 26.—Reapportionment of House and Senatorial districts to give the Northern Virginia area increased representation in the General Assembly, proportionate to its population, appeared in doubt today as the result of action taken by both branches of the Legislature.

Recommendations of the Fuller Reapportionment Commission to give Arlington a State Senator of its own and to provide Fairfax and Prince William Counties and the City of Alexandria with another Senator, instead of one Senator all four jurisdictions now have, were referred to a subcommittee yesterday by the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Recommendations of the Fuller Commission to give Arlington two members of the House of Delegates instead of one, already have been reported from the House Committee on Privileges and Elections, but were re-referred to that committee last week.

Hearing Monday. Senator Aubrey G. Weaver of Front Royal yesterday introduced a bill to submit the Senate bill relating to senatorial districts only to a subcommittee and a public hearing was set for Monday at 10 a.m.

Yesterday's action now leaves one of the bills dealing with House districts before the Privileges and Elections Committee of the lower branch of the Assembly, while the other duplicate bill relating to senatorial districts is before a similar committee in the Senate.

Senator Henry T. Wickham of Hanover County, chairman of the Senate committee, pointed out that Gov. Darden is very much interested in having the State reapportioned, and that the Legislature stands to lose representation in the few areas which have noted gains in population during the past 12 years, a hard battle was anticipated from the beginning in trying to put the Fuller Commission's recommendations through.

The measure, which has already passed the House, proposes to reorganize the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, the Conservation Commission and the Commission of Fisheries, so as to provide each agency with five members established instead of five members.

The sportsmen, however, appeared in behalf of an amendment to the bill relating to the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries which would establish a board of five members, a single administrator of the Fish and Game Department, and an advisory council of nine members who would not have the power to vote.

Opponents Heard. Northern Virginians, as well as sportsmen from all other sections of the State, previously supported the amendment for a single administrator and yesterday's hearing was given over almost exclusively to opponents of the plan. Those who appeared yesterday to support the single administrator plan included Reynolds Harnsberger, president, Arlington-Fairfax Chapter, Izaak Walton League; Morris S. Izman and J. L. McCallister, members of that chapter; Jack Stowell of Washington, D. C., and member of the Front Royal Chapter of the Izaak Walton League; Duncan Gibbs and Turner Slaughter, both of the Front Royal chapter of the league; and Jay Reed and Page Marshall, both of the Alexandria chapter of the league. Ben Temple, president of the Advisory Council of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, also supported the proposed change.

U. of M. Abolishes Final Tests; Stress to Be Put on Attendance. "The university believes strongly that academic grades should reflect much more than a student's performance on an examination," the board said.

"It believes that regular contacts in the classroom are, and should be, of the greatest importance in determining the profit that an individual obtains from a given course."

In tightening rules governing class attendance, the board said deans had been instructed to notify the parents of students who miss more than two classes a semester.

Under the shortened program, holidays and summer vacations are eliminated. The program went into effect this semester.

Fairfax Seeks To Lift Limit on School Levy

Board Asks Power To Boost Rates in Some Districts Also

Special Dispatch to The Star. FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 26.—An amendment to State law that would remove the limitation on Fairfax County's school tax levy and permit the Board of Supervisors to put different school levies in the several magisterial districts was recommended by the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Limit of the school tax levy now is $1.25, including $1 for operations, and 25 cents for the debt fund. The rate for operations might be boosted to 25 cents more, however, if approved by voters in a referendum. The $1.25 levy has been in effect for several years.

The resolution was requested by the County School Board. Copies will be sent to State Senator William D. Medley and Fairfax County Delegate Robert J. McCandlish, Jr., for action at the present session of the General Assembly.

In asking the amendment, school officials pointed to the unprecedented building development and increase in population in certain areas of the county, with the result that it has been virtually impossible to raise sufficient revenues to provide for school needs.

If the law is amended, it will mean that the Board of Supervisors will have the sole jurisdiction over the size of the school levy each year, and will be able to levy higher taxes in those districts showing the most need.

School groups throughout the county for some time have urged a change in the law to permit an increase in the school levy. County schools lost approximately $10,000 in anticipated revenue from the State last year because of a drop in average daily attendance caused by a severe epidemic of measles and widespread colds.

At the same time the supervisors ordered the proposed school budget for the coming fiscal year advertised. Including balances, the tentative budget sets up $739,477.30 for all purposes, an increase of $5,548.19 over the present year.

G. Wallace Carper, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, was named director of defense for the county, and R. M. Loughborough was re-appointed co-ordinator.

D. C. March Tire Quota Raised to 2,222 New And 690 Reclaimed

Passenger Autos to Get 619; All State Figures Advance Over February

Location of nine report centers in Prince Georges County was tentatively decided on last night at a conference attended by county civilian defense representatives and telephone officials in the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. building in Hyattsville.

The report centers, to be used to transmit alarms telephoned from the control center, include Bowie, Capitol Heights, Hyattsville, Laurel, Upper Marlboro, Branchville, Cottage City, Mount Rainier and Riverdale. Officials emphasized that these locations are tentative pending the final report of telephone company engineers.

Only eight report centers had been planned originally. Last night, however, it was decided that the report center at Riverdale would include too much territory. In addition to the report center at Hyattsville, which will include part of the area originally scheduled for the Riverdale center, the control center will also be located in Hyattsville, in the County Service Building.

Representing the Prince Georges County Civilian Defense Council last night were J. Robert Sherwood, chairman of the council; Fire Chief Karl A. Young, county fire co-ordinator, and E. F. Zalesak, chief air-raid warden.

Mr. Sherwood said today that the report centers may be located in firehouses, but it might be necessary to place them elsewhere, in case of telephone complications. He did not know when the system would be completed.

The switchboard to which the report centers will connect was approved Tuesday by the county commissioners. An appropriation of $7,000 of the council's $25,000 budget was provided for installation and equipment of the board and the report centers.

Two Fairfax Youths Win Rank of Life Scouts

Special Dispatch to The Star. FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 26.—Mayo Hearing of Falls Church Troop and Charles G. Gant of Vienna Troop were advanced to the rank of Life Scout at the February Fairfax County Scout Court of Honor.

The rank of Star Scout was conferred on John Goddell of Falls Church Troop, Vienna, and James Gant—Peter Murray and James Gant—both of Vienna Troop, were advanced to first class.

Boys advanced to second class were Case Erwin, Falls Church; Wayne Fowler, Hyattsville; William T. Aubrey Parrott, three badges; John Goddell, Dick Robertshaw, Wilbert Geddes and Dwight Clark, two badges.

Dr. John G. Townsend of the National Institute of Health gave an illustrated lecture on an airplane trip over Alaska.

Hyattsville Workers Denied Guard Status

Maj. Caesar L. Aiello, commander of the 9th Battalion of the Maryland State Guard, said today night workers living in Hyattsville, who met yesterday to form a military company composed of men who work at night, cannot be included in the State Guard.

"I don't want to discourage these men," Maj. Aiello declared, "but we have no authority to increase the ranks of the Guard. We can let them use the barracks to drill, although they will not be able to train with our equipment. At best, they can be a reserve unit."

Announcement of the proposed formation of the company was made Tuesday by R. D. Brown, a member of the Guard who works at night.

Prince Georges Youths Plan Plane Contest

The Prince Georges County Police Boys' Club tomorrow will hold the first of a series of model airplane building contests at the Riverdale School.

Bert Hawn announced the contest for the members of the Riverdale subunit No. 1 of the Boys' Club some time ago. About 20 entries are expected to line up before judges from the Engineer Research Institute of Riverdale at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Each of the seven club units will hold similar contests, it has been announced by Sgt. E. H. Mulligan, athletic supervisor of the club, in an effort to keep in step with the Government's plan to educate the youth of the Nation along military lines.

Dr. Brown to Speak

Dr. Francis J. Brown of the American Council on Education, will speak on "The Place of Education in the Defense Program" at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Montgomery County League of Women Voters at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Woodside Methodist Church, Silver Spring.

U. of M. Abolishes Final Tests; Stress to Be Put on Attendance

COLLEGE PARK, Feb. 26.—The University of Maryland has abolished final examinations in favor of increased emphasis on class attendance and periodical tests, the General Administrative Board announced yesterday.

That policy is part of the accelerated wartime program under which the usual four-year course will be telescoped into two and a half or three years, permitting some students to complete their education before reaching military service age.

No final examinations will be held at the end of the current semester. The new allocation is the District's largest since the rationing program was started in January. In that month, the city was allotted 1,922 new tires. The quota was substantially reduced for February.

Maryland is allotted 1,241 new tires and 1,122 new tubes for passenger cars; 3,506 tires and 3,940 tubes for trucks and 1,509 retreaded tires. Virginia's March quota is 1,887 tires and 1,579 tubes for passenger cars; 5,061 tires and 5,620 tubes for trucks, and 2,153 retreaded tires for trucks.

National Quotas Up. For the Nation as a whole, the March quotas are substantially larger than those for the current month. For passenger cars, light trucks and motorcycles, the March allotments total a total of 104,701 new tires and 87,635 new tubes, against 80,784 new tires and 67,616 new tubes for these vehicles in February.

For trucks, buses and other heavy vehicles, a total of 256,386 new tires and 281,619 new tubes will be available next month, as compared with 156,029 new tires and 267,562 tubes in February.

Retreaded and recapped tires available for rationing next month include light trucks, buses, farm equipment and other heavy vehicles aggregating 10,225.

No retreaded passenger car tires will be available for rationing in March, since the War Production Board has not authorized the manufacture of passenger car cambelks during that month. This means that only new passenger car tires and tubes will be rationed during March and their sale will be restricted to passenger cars, light trucks and motorcycles.

In announcing the quotas, Price Administrator Henderson said the increase in March quotas over those for February is seasonal and reflects subsidence of severe winter weather that tends to make motor transportation difficult in many sections of the country.

A breakdown of the District quotas showed that 619 new tires will be available for passenger cars, 1,603 new tires for light trucks, 518 new tubes for passenger cars and 1,802 new tubes for trucks and buses.

O'Connor Sees Maryland Setting War Example. By the Associated Press. PIKESVILLE, Md., Feb. 26.—Gov. O'Connor asserted yesterday that Maryland is producing necessities of war "at a rate all out of proportion to its size and population among the States."

Speaking before a group taking a special police training course for plant protection at the State police headquarters here, Gov. O'Connor said:

"Our war industry plants have been developed and expanded in a manner that has really set an example to the entire country. These plants are functioning on a 100 per cent basis. One of the most essential things developing on us is to keep these plants functioning at the same high degree of efficiency."

Oil From Tankers Kills Ducks Off Virginia

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 26.—Hundreds of wild ducks have perished in oily water off the Virginia coast, presumably victims of enemy submarines which have sunk tankers in this area.

Federal Game Supervisor Harry A. Bailey expressed the belief that the birds alighted on oil slicks on search of food and were unable to fly away. A thick oily scum covered the feathers of the ducks which have been washed up on the beaches.

Fires Sweep Woods

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 26.—District Forest Warden Urner Wigfield reported last night that three woodlands had swept eight acres in Allegany County. He plans the blazes near Corriganville, Midland and Gilmore on careless brush burning and warned that the forest fire season had begun a month later than usual because woodlands are dry from lack of rain and snow.

A University of Virginia, Don Gaddis, Robert Gaines and Albert Matlack.

Mrs. Mabel Ward Dies In Montgomery Hospital

ROCKVILLE, Md., Feb. 26 (Special)—Mrs. Mabel Josephine Ward, 27, wife of Ralph C. Ward of Rockville, died early Tuesday in the Montgomery County General Hospital, Sandy Spring, after a short illness.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Ralph C. Ward, Jr., and Joanna B. Ward; her mother, Mrs. Lettie Magers, Rockville; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Mae Jones and Miss Christine Cross, and a half-brother, William A. Magers. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow from the funeral home of W. Reuben Pumphrey with burial in the cemetery at Green Mount. The Rev. Herbert O. Cooper, pastor of Rockville Baptist Church, will conduct the services.

Augusta County Slated To Get Labor Camp

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE STAR. STAUNTON, Va., Feb. 26.—Because tire rationing is hampering the mobility of agricultural laborers, it is possible that a labor camp may be set up in Augusta County, according to County Agent J. C. Colner.

Consideration will be given the matter at a meeting of fruit growers at the courthouse here Saturday.

Women's Service Unit Organized in Fairfax

FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 26.—Preliminary organization of a Fairfax County unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services, Inc., sponsored by the County Business and Professional Women's Club, was started last night at a mass meeting held here.

An Organizing Committee headed by Mrs. Bartene Von Struve of near Alexandria, was named to meet with Miss Anita Phipps of Washington, unit president. Other members of the committee will include Mrs. Wilda Tucker, Miss Mary Bell, Miss Gladys White, Mrs. C. C. Carr, Mrs. Helene Affleck, Mrs. John C. Runkle, Mrs. M. C. Algood, Miss Virginia Carr and Mrs. Esther Staudt.

Woodside Club Play

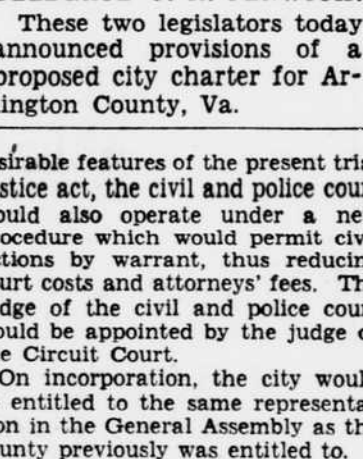

Chief Air Raid Warden Arch McDonald will give a short talk at the presentation of a three-act play, "Medicine Preferred," which is being given by the Woodside Dramatic Club at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Woodside Methodist Church hall for the benefit of Montgomery County civilian defense program.

Capt. Bennion's Death In Navy Traditions at Pearl Harbor Revealed

Dying Naval Officer Gave Orders and Refused To Leave Bridge

By CLAUDE A. MAHONEY.

The Navy Department yesterday made public an eye-witness account of the brave death of Capt. Marvin Sharp Bennion, commanding officer of a capital ship that weathered the Pearl Harbor attack. He died on the bridge of his ship.

In presenting the account, the Navy cleared up a public misunderstanding that was brought about recently when new destroyers were named for him and three other officers recently lost in action. One of them was Capt. Franklin Van Valkenburgh, who also died in the Pearl Harbor attack under almost the same circumstances.

In Secretary Knox's first report on Pearl Harbor he spoke of an unnamed captain who died on the bridge of his ship, and this for a time was thought to be Capt. Bennion. It was, however, Capt. Van Valkenburgh.

Related by Fellow Officer.

The Navy's account of the death of Capt. Bennion was gained from the lips of a fellow officer who returned to Washington only yesterday. The officer told in detail how he came out of the conning tower of the ship and found the captain "lying severely wounded and still conscious on the signal bridge with the top of his stomach laid open."

Despite the mortal wounds, Capt. Bennion asked over and over how the battle was going and what action his ship was taking.

"I kept him informed as much as possible," the officer said, "and then in the absence of morphine I attempted to give him ether. I remained with him for about half an hour as he lay there and later moved him into a shelter under a splinter shield, but he refused to be moved either from the bridge or into the conning tower for protection."

Stops Another Attempt.

Another officer attempted to direct his removal, and again Capt. Bennion refused. A pharmacist's mate administered as much first aid as possible, and after the bridge had been cut off from below by fire, the officers took him up to the navigation bridge, just above the flag bridge, where he remained until death. His body was removed from the bridge from which he would not allow himself to be carried.

Next to wanting information on progress of the fight Capt. Bennion's concern for his officers and men. Despite his own wounds, he asked that all injured men be taken off the ship, and that all available men be made ready for use aboard other ships. He was pleased to get tails of what guns his own ship had been able to fire. And from a prone position on the deck he ordered all officers and men to their battle posts.

The Officer's Story.

Here is the saga of death given by the returning officer in the close of his story of the captain who stuck to the tradition of the sea and refused to leave his bridge:

"He made all of his men go to their stations. A marine (who was manning his station in the foretop of a ship alongside) saw the captain try several times to get up. The captain, because of his wound, had lost control of his legs and tried repeatedly to get up but was unable to do so. There is reason to believe that Capt. Bennion died about 11 o'clock the morning of December 7. He was alone when he died, having resisted all efforts to take him off the bridge and having ordered all officers and men to their stations.

"The pharmacist's mate was with Capt. Bennion for a short time but was ordered away by the captain to take care of others.

"His concern was for the safety of his own ship and particularly his men."

Officer Is Awarded Congress Medal for Bravery at Bataan

Lt. Bianchi Manned Gun Atop Tank; Wounded Three Times

Award of a Congressional Medal of Honor to First Lt. Willibald C. Bianchi of New Ulm, Minn., 45th Infantry, Philippine Scouts, "for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action" on February 3, near Bagac, Bataan, was announced late yesterday in a War Department communique.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been designated to act for President Roosevelt in presenting the award to Lt. Bianchi, who was wounded three times during the engagement and rode on top of a tank to man its anti-aircraft gun. That was when a rifle platoon of his regiment attacked a nest of Japanese machine guns. Before taking to the tank, the young officer personally put one machine-gun nest out of commission with hand grenades.

Lt. Bianchi is a son of Mrs. Carrie Bianchi of New Ulm and was residing in that town when he was commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps on June 3, 1940.

The citation accompanying the award said: "Willibald C. Bianchi, first lieutenant, 45th Infantry, Philippine Scouts, United States Army. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy on February 3, 1942, near Bagac, Province of Bataan, Philippine Islands.

"When the rifle platoon of another company was ordered to wipe out two strong enemy machine-gun nests, Lt. Bianchi voluntarily and of his own initiative advanced with the platoon, leading part of the men. When wounded early in the action by two bullets through the left hand he did not stop for first aid, but discarded his rifle and began firing a pistol. He located a machine-gun nest and personally silenced it with grenades. When wounded the second time by two machine-gun bullets through the chest muscles, Lt. Bianchi climbed to the top of an American tank, manned its anti-aircraft machine gun and fired into strongly held enemy position until knocked completely off the tank by a third severe wound."

Diplomats Take Chief Roles In Week's Social Events With Brilliant Levees

Peruvian Military Attache And Senora de Sarmiento Hosts at Cocktail Party

Diplomats are taking leading roles in social affairs this week with several large and brilliant receptions being given in embassies and a number of smaller and more informal fetes taking place in the homes of lesser ranking diplomats. This afternoon the Brazilian Ambassador and Senora de Martins will give their much-heralded reception in honor of the Brazilian Minister of Finance, Senhor Dr. Artur de Souza Costa, which was postponed from last week.

Yesterday there were several parties arranged by and for members of this circle, the largest being the cocktail party of the Military Attache of the Peruvian Embassy and Senora de Sarmiento, who entertained in their apartment in Dorchester House. The hostess wore a slate blue crepe frock embroidered about the shoulders with darker blue beads. The guests were diplomats for the most part, although a number of officers from the United States Army as well as several of the military attaches of other embassies and legations were also in the group.

Egyptian Couple Guests At Small Dinner Party

The Egyptian Minister and Mme. Hassan were the guests of honor at dinner last evening of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grosner. Other guests included Mrs. Arnold, wife of Representative Laurence F. Arnold of Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burke, Gen. and Mrs. Albert L. Cox, Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim and the Commercial Counselor of the Egyptian Legation, Mr. Anis Azev.

Senorita Graciela Matthews, niece of the Guatemalan Minister and Senora de Recinos, who accompanied the latter to Washington a few weeks ago to continue her music study, was the guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday. Mr. McCall Latham of New York, who is here for a few days, was the host and entertained at the Madison. Other guests included Mrs. Goodwin Locke and Mr. Justin Locke.

Other festivities of note yesterday included the dance which Mr. and Mrs. James MacDonald Minifie gave to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage, entertaining in their attractive Georgetown home. Mr. Minifie is a native of England. Mrs. Minifie was formerly Miss Helen Gordon of Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Dorothy Ramspeck Honor Guest at Tea

Miss Dorothy Ramspeck, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Robert Ramspeck, who will be married Sunday afternoon to Ensign Jarrell Ridley Dunson, jr., U. S. N., will be honored at an unusual tea this afternoon. Hostesses will be Miss Bette Jensen, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, and Miss Mary Benson Gore, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

The party will be held at the Fairfax Hotel and Hawaiian music and leis will create the atmosphere of the island where Miss Ramspeck and her fiancé first met.

Bank Group Meets

Mrs. Josephine Pittman Prescott, director of the Bureau of Public Health Nursing of the District Health Department, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Bank Women's Club last night at the Chamberlin, 819 Fifteenth street N.W.

Miss Helen Healy, president of the club, presided at the meeting at which the 15th anniversary of the club was celebrated with a special program.

Mrs. Adams Hostess

Mrs. Emory S. Adams, wife of the adjutant general of the Army, was hostess today at the first of a series of informal luncheon parties she has planned to give this season. Mrs. Adams entertained in her home on Thirty-fourth street.

Wedding Notices

The Star sometimes receives requests to print notices of weddings that have taken place as long as a week or more previously. Under ordinary circumstances, The Star cannot grant such requests. Notices of weddings must be received by The Star in advance of or on the date of the ceremony, and must bear a signed authorization.

used and the place cards were tiny dolls in bridal dress. Other guests included Miss Jensen, Mrs. C. A. Barninger, Mrs. Malcolm Tarver, jr., Miss Jacqueline Howard and Mrs. Ernestine Barnett of Atlanta. Mrs. Alex Castro and Mrs. Ramspeck, mother of the honor guest.

Democrats to Hold Benefit Saturday

The North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington will sponsor a benefit card party Saturday evening at the Wardman Park Hotel. Mrs. Bruce J. Downey, chairman of the Refreshment Committee, will have assisting her Miss Naomi Brown, Miss Mary Hoke, Mrs. Lucille Lennox, Miss Jane Pratt and Miss Josephine Sheets. Members of the General Committee on Arrangements include Mr. and Mrs. Wesley MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sedberry, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Garland, Mr. Hubert Rand, Miss Peliz Bailey, Miss Mae Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hart and Mr. and Mrs. John K. Slear.

Assisting Miss Pratt, chairman of the Reception Committee, will be Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stroud, Mrs. L. D. Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pike, Mrs. Rihel Winters, Mrs. N. C. Hint, Mrs. Frank Johnston, Mrs. Newman A. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hackney, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lovington, Mrs. Thomas A. Wadden, Mrs. Garland S. Ferguson, Mrs. J. Livingston Vann, jr., and Mrs. Dudley Bagley.

Guests are requested to bring cards, score pads and pencils. Games ranging from bridge to checkers will be played.

Miss Miller Engaged To Cadet R. H. Beers

Mrs. William C. Miller has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sara Booth Miller, to Cadet Robert H. Beers, son of Col. William H. Beers, U. S. A. Miss Miller is the daughter of the late Mr. William Cammack Miller. She studied at the National Cathedral School and now is a student at the Masters School at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., from which she will be graduated in May. Miss Miller was presented at a dinner dance December 27 given at the Sulgrave Club by her mother.

Cadet Beers is a member of the first class at the United States Military Academy at West Point and will graduate from there in June.

Soroptimist Club Stages Contest

The weekly attendance prize of a dollar defense stamp given by the Soroptimist Club was awarded to Mrs. Zada Daniels at the weekly luncheon of the club yesterday at the Willard Hotel. The prize was donated by Miss Ethel Eyles. An attendance contest is now going on between the Gold and Blue sides of the club. It was announced yesterday. Mrs. Lorraine Good is captain of the Gold side and Miss Mary Bourke heads the Blue side, now in the lead.

A fashion show was featured on the program following the luncheon. Mrs. Marie Tedow was in charge of the program. Miss Estelle Zirklin, club president, presided.

English-Speaking Union Plans Tea

Miss Antonia Bell will be honor guest at the tea being given from 4:30 to 6 o'clock this afternoon by the English-Speaking Union, Washington branch, in its clubrooms. Miss Bell has a Walter Hines Page scholarship from the English-Speaking Union Foundation. Hostesses at the party will be Mrs. James Oliver Murdoch, Mrs. George P. Scriven, Mrs. Seth Williams, Mrs. Metcalf Walling, Mrs. Russell Singer, Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Mrs. Walter Reed and Miss Mary Paul Goodrich.

Miss Edith Pearson to Wed Mr. Darlington Saturday

The wedding of Miss Edith Fry Pearson and Mr. McCullough Darlington will take place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Edmonston Pearson. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will perform the ceremony in the presence of members of the two families and a few close friends. Additional guests are being asked to the reception which will follow.

Arrangements for the wedding have been hastened due to Mr. Darlington's impending military orders, which have necessitated changes in original plans.

Miss Pearson will be attended by her sisters, Mrs. Francis M. Durrance, jr., and Mrs. John L. Porter; Miss Elaine Darlington, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Nancy Davis. Mr. Darlington has not yet selected his best man.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. George Angus Garrett will give a supper dance at Grasslands for Mrs. Garrett's son, Mr. Darlington, and his fiancée.

Miss Matheny Bride Of W. G. Cleek

Announcement is made of the marriage February 14 of Miss Margaret Ann Matheny and Mr. W. George Cleek, the ceremony taking place in the Langley Methodist Church at McLean, Va., with the Rev. E. S. Gruver officiating.

The bride was dressed in shell pink with a veil-draped hat of the same shade and a corsage of orchids and freesia. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Matheny, and Mr. T. M. Wallace of Warm Springs, Va., was the best man.

Mrs. Cleek is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matheny of Monterey, Va., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hampton Cleek of Warm Springs.

Texas Society to Give Dance

The Texas State Society will give its annual informal Western party and dance Saturday evening in the Wardman Park Hotel. Representative Percy Priest of Tennessee and his Tennessee Mountaineers will fiddle and sing during the entertainment program and Mr. Welly Hopkins will serve as master of ceremonies.

A prize will be given for the couple wearing the most typically Western costume and also a prize will be given to the couple producing the best laugh.

Congressional Club Tea Tomorrow

Mrs. Harold Cluett will be among those presiding at the table tomorrow afternoon at the Congressional Club at 2001 New Hampshire avenue. Tea will be served after the talk by Representative W. Sterling Cole of New York on "England at War," who will speak at 3 o'clock. Others who will assist at the tea table will be Mrs. Daniel A. Reed, Mrs. James Litz Patrick and Mrs. Clarence E. Hancock, all of New York.

Mayor of Havana To Be Honored

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Conchoso have issued cards for a reception Saturday afternoon from 5 until 7 o'clock in honor of the Mayor of Havana, Senor Raoul G. Menocal, and Senora de Menocal.

Montgomery Addresses Press Club

Newspaperwomen Told of Peril in 'Spectator' War

Starring Robert Montgomery in the role of honor guest and speaker, the Women's National Press Club entertained at a luncheon yesterday which attracted a "capacity house" of members and guests.

The occasion, however, featured Lt. Montgomery, U. S. N., rather than Robert Montgomery, movie star.

Presenting what he believed to be a serious difficulty in the prosecution of the war, Lt. Montgomery deplored the fact that the conflict seems to possess a "remote quality," even to those who are near the scenes of action.

People, he urged, must be made to realize that bombs falling on Soerabaja, for instance, are falling, in effect, on our factories in Detroit, our inland and coastal towns and on every one of the United Nations.

He had noted this "spectator" attitude in England, even under blitz, when those who watched falling bombs several miles away seemed to dissociate themselves from the scene they witnessed, he continued.

The fact that things "happen so fast" in modern war might account for this attitude in part, he said, but described its effect as "very dangerous."

It is the role of the press to make the war a "human story," Lt. Montgomery suggested, and warned against the use of too many statistics as tending to "dehumanize war."

Lt. Montgomery also pointed out the importance of the imponderables to the final outcome of the conflict. In this war, he said, there has been little "band music and flag waving" in any country, but added, "things of the spirit" are going to win.

Although he answered a number of questions after his address, this period of the program was off the record.

Mabel Timberlake To Wed Lt. Bain

Of interest here is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Timberlake of Warrenton of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Alcott Timberlake, to Lt. Edwin Lyell Bain, jr., U. S. N. R., now stationed at the Naval Operating Base in Norfolk.

Miss Timberlake attended Warrenton Country School and the National School of Art in this city. Lt. Bain is the son of the Rev. Edwin Lyell Bain of Richmond, Va., and the late Mrs. Bain. He is a graduate of Randolph Macon College and received his degree in law from the University of Virginia.

The wedding will take place in the early spring.

In Capital Letters

By Mona Dugas

Today Washington loses one of the most able young diplomats located here, for Jan Drohowski, formerly Counselor of the Polish Embassy, departs for his new post in Cuba. There he will have the impressive title of Charge d'Affaires ad Interim and Minister Plenipotentiary, and will be located at the Hotel President.

Jan Drohowski was in his country's foreign office from 1918 to 1926, and his resignation from the service and departure from Poland coincided with the entrance of the Plsudski government. He has been in this country off and on since 1926, rejoining Poland's diplomatic corps as Counselor of the Embassy here in December, 1939.

The history of Jan's life in the United States from 1926 to 1939 is a saga those diplomats who would like to "know America" well might envy. He has spent some time in every State in the Union except Oregon, Washington and North Dakota. He has worked on the docks in New York, and has run a fruit stand in California. He is not one who accepts what he learns at smart cocktail parties in Washington as the ideas of the average American—he has lived with "average Americans" enough to know them from first-hand observation.

The Polish government recognized his ability soon after the war began and offered him the post of Counselor at the Embassy here. At that time Jan was New York correspondent for a Polish newspaper.

The French Ambassador, M. Gaston Henry-Haye, is entertaining at dinner this evening for another select group of guests at the beautiful mansion on Kalorama road where the French Embassy is located. Although M. Henry-Haye entertains very infrequently at cocktail gatherings or receptions, seldom does a day pass in which there are not several interesting guests at small luncheons or intimate dinner parties at the Embassy.

Comdr. and Mrs. Charles C. Windsor will entertain at a buffet supper at their new home on Massachusetts avenue tomorrow evening. This will be one of several parties preceding the Friday Evening Dancing Class at the Willard Hotel.

Col. Andrew J. Copp, jr., has been joined here by Mrs. Copp and their daughter Jayne, and the family is settled in the Highland Apartments. Mrs. Copp and her daughter drove here from their home in Los Angeles, coming the southern route, via Dallas. Col. Copp came early to take up his duties in the legal division of the office of the Undersecretary of War.

The Jack Winocours, who have recently taken an apartment at 2500 Q street, are having a few people in next Thursday evening for an informal "housewarming." Jack is associate head of the British Press Service.

Residential Social Notes

Mrs. H. J. Crosson has joined Dr. Crosson in their home here after spending several months with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiley, in Toledo. Dr. and Mrs. Crosson went to Toledo for Christmas and the latter remained there until a few days ago. Mrs. Wiley formerly was Miss Margaret Crosson, a popular debutante of a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Augustine Rankin, who reside at Wardman Park, are spending some time at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. Abram Simon left yesterday for Cincinnati to attend the convention of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhood which she founded and of which she now is honorary president.

Sunday evening Mrs. Simon will attend the banquet observing the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Dr. Isaac M. Wise Temple in Cincinnati. She plans to visit in Chicago before returning to Washington in about a fortnight.

MISS CARMEN LEE VERMILION.

Her wedding to Mr. Henry Joseph Dietle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dietle of Silver Spring, will take place March 21. Miss Vermilion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Vermilion of Silver Spring.

Marauder Wrecks 3 Offices, Smashes Safe, Takes Stamps

A marauder who broke into the adjoining offices of three companies on the second floor of 1243 Twenty-fourth street N.W. inflicted malicious damage by spattering ink over walls and papers and breaking fixtures. It was discovered today.

Nothing was missed from the three sets of offices except a quantity of stamps, however. A hole had been torn with some instrument in the side of a large safe in the Offices of the Union Iron Works Co., but there had been no apparent effort to open the door. A small radio was smashed, and ink had been spattered over walls and blueprints.

Hampshire & Decker, Inc., next door, a company that installs acoustical tile, also suffered damage from ink. A machine for measuring sound intensity had been damaged to an undetermined extent. A hole had been punched through the outer door.

In the offices of the Armstrong Cork Co., liquid asphalt had been poured over furniture, papers and floor. All the doors of this company's offices had been jimmied.

Police reported handprints showed that the highly destructive burglar wore gloves. Officials of the three companies said there had been no trouble with employees of visitors and could not account for the damage.

While these companies are doing construction work for defense industries, no secret plans were kept at the offices, it was said, and no effective sabotage could have been done there. The marauder broke into the offices some time last night.

'Go-Getter' Asks $1-a-Year Job; Ready to Spend $100 in Ads

The identity of a young man who was willing to spend $100 to get a job that pays $1 a year furnished Washington with its latest mystery today.

This citizen inserted an advertisement in yesterday's Star advertising to "Defense Agency Chiefs" which read:

"Young man, 27, with excellent record of successful operations in the publishing field (on his own), wants to help this Government in its war effort and desires to offer his services to some agency in the defense setup where he can be of valuable assistance.

"Not interested in 'How Much It Pays'—willing to go in as 'Dollar-a-Year man'—if a spot can be found for him. Excellent publicist, salesman, production man, public speaker. Not a organizer. Has traveled extensively and started on his own from scratch." Earnings during past three years averaged $5,000 to $10,000 annually.

"Former president of publishing corporation employing over 60 men. Not a genius, but capable of taking most anything in his stride and making it 'hum.'"

"Somewhere, some place in the defense setup there's a 'chief' who needs my services.

"HAVE YOU A SPOT FOR ME?" When the young man placed the advertisement in The Star he directed to give his name, referring to any replies to the advertisement be addressed to "American-Box 386-J, Washington Star."

He explained that he had been trying to get in the Army, but had been turned down because of defective hearing in one ear. Then he had sold his business, realizing enough money to live on for some time and had come to Washington looking for a spot where he could serve.

D. C. Problems Discussed Health Aides Stress Needs Before Voteless League

The increased needs of District health and welfare services, already strained before war brought problems of overcrowding, were discussed by health and welfare officials at a luncheon of the Voteless District League of Women Voters yesterday at the Y. W. C. A.

Pointing to some of the dangers of overcrowding, Dr. George C. Ruhland, District health officer, warned that diseases hitherto rare in the District might spread throughout the community. He cited as an example the possible spreading of malaria and typhoid. Malaria, he explained, would be spread by the germ-carrying mosquito from persons coming here from infected regions.

Dr. Ruhland stressed the importance of first aid and home nursing courses for women, which, he declared, would be in great demand with professional nurses and doctors called into military service.

"Each individual home will be better off also," he added, "for a knowledge of first aid." Dr. Ruhland stated that his office receives over 50 calls a day from persons desiring the service of housekeeping aides and volunteer nurses.

"I should like to see a larger army of prepared women so that when the time comes they will be ready to serve," he said.

Demands for public assistance will increase with a growing population, declared Conrad Van Hynning, director of District public welfare. In spite of defense jobs and other available employment there are still 8,000 families on District relief, he said. Four thousand of these are old age relief, 2,000 dependent mothers and 2,000 are unemployable, he explained.

"We are going to have many more people come for assistance," he warned. "There will be families of men in the service, and all sorts of dislocations in family life will create a real need for more liberal assistance," he added.

Mr. Van Hynning stressed the importance of nursing schools for working mothers. He declared that facilities for the care of children whose mothers are employed are totally inadequate. This condition will increase as more women enter defense work, he declared. He also emphasized the inadequacy of foster homes for children, explaining that the $5 a week allowed by law for the board and room of a child was insufficient. Persons with available rooms are now able to get that amount for the room alone, he added.

Changes in legislation affecting delinquents are also needed, Mr. Van Hynning declared. Adequate psychiatric services for juvenile delinquents would eliminate much waste of time and expense in obtaining desired results, he asserted.

Tells Social and Medical Services in England
What he saw of the social and medical services of England while there as a member of the Civil Defense Commission were discussed by Geoffrey May, deputy assistant director, Federal Defense Health and Welfare Services.

Bombings and other war experiences have shown the English that social services are in greater demand than medical services, he said. This, he explained, is due to the destruction of homes, property and means of livelihood among hundreds of persons in bombed areas. Great Britain has provided a compensation known as "Prevention in week of distress," which takes immediate care of such persons, he explained.

Mr. May expressed the hope that this country would profit by English experiences in social relief work.

A brief talk was given by Dr. Martha Eliot of the United States Children's Bureau, who made an extensive study in England of health and welfare services for children. Much of the prevailing success along these lines in England has been due to their advanced health services before the war, Dr. Eliot declared.

Mrs. Henry P. Chandler, chairman of the Government and Social Welfare Department, introduced the speakers. Mrs. Eugene Callaghan, president of the District group, presided.

Britain Faces Period Of Greater Sacrifice In Her War Effort

Rationing System Will Be Extended; More Frivolous Activities to Be Curbed

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN, Foreign Correspondent, The Star and Chicago Daily News.
LONDON, Feb. 26.—Great Britain now faces a period of sacrifice and sobriety of existence far more exacting than the first two and one-half years of war, when a large part of the community tried, and to a certain extent succeeded, in maintaining its customary mode of life.

The rationing system is going to be extended to cover many articles which are still on free sale and many existing rations are going to be decreased. Simultaneously, realistic and serious-minded members of the government are planning to curtail many of the population's more frivolous activities and to reduce the number of public spectacles which are thought to impede the war effort.

The move for a more Spartan way of life is dictated partly by the U-boat campaign which now threatens to approach a new peak and partly by natural reaction to the grim realities of the campaigns in the Far East, Libya and Russia. On the one hand, Britain is faced by actual shortages of certain foodstuffs and raw materials which are vital to the war effort. On the other hand, there is the feeling that the war effort required of the Nation cannot be achieved unless every section of the population is forced to make every possible sacrifice of comfort.

Less Racing Suggested.
So far it is not quite clear what forms the new policy will take. It is suggested for one thing that there shall be less horse racing, which already is strictly limited, and less dog racing, which, due to increased wages, has grown to become a national scandal. It is also suggested that expensive ringside seats be abolished at prize fights and that

Some Have Wrong Attitude.
"For two and one-half years the great majority of the people have given every help they could. But there still remains a minority who appear to regard their personal interests in a manner not commensurate with the totality of effort required if we are to succeed. The government is determined that such an attitude cannot be permitted to persist."

The members of Parliament appeared to approve Sir Stafford's words, and it was suggested by some observers that, since they felt that way, they themselves might start the good work voluntarily by giving up their big country houses and automobiles, in which many of the wealthier ones travel to and fro. It is also suggested that public service might begin to absent themselves from London's night clubs and that, if the government is really serious about the business, it might close some of those clubs and let their waiters go to work in munitions factories.

"The key to the situation definitely lies with the government. While Britain has its quota of slackers in all classes of society people, as a whole both high and low are prepared to do anything that may be asked of them as long as they know that their privations and sacrifices are being demanded to some good purpose."

Earle Offered Commission

The Navy has offered a commission of lieutenant commander to George H. Earle, former Governor of Pennsylvania, who recently returned from his post as Minister to Bulgaria. It is the rank he held in the World War, when he commanded a submarine chaser.

Changes in legislation affecting the Parish Hall of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, 1772 Church street.

Others assisting in pouring tea will be Mrs. Howard S. Wilkinson and Mrs. Anthony J. Dimond, and receiving with the rector, the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Wilkinson, will be Representative Virginia E. Jenckes and Miss Marian Rapp.

The tea, at 3:30, is for the benefit of the Stuck Hospital at Yukon, Alaska, which is one of the most important in the outposts of the possessions of the United States. Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of St. Thomas' Church School are sponsoring the tea, and among the assistants from the group will be Miss Patricia Jerman, Miss Joyce Kavanagh, Miss Janet Goss and Miss Cecil Jennings. Also Mr. Haig Panosian, Mr. Harold Kesheshian, Mr. Arthur Shaw and Mr. Earl Mosburg will assist.

The Delegate from Alaska to the United States House of Representatives, Anthony J. Dimond, will speak during the afternoon on the importance of Alaska in the defense of the United States and will deliver a personal message from the Right Rev. Peter Trimble Rowe, Bishop of Alaska since 1895. Pictures of Alaska also will be shown.

Letter on Farm Prices

Roosevelt Says Senate Bill Would Do Irreparable Harm to War Effort

The text of President Roosevelt's farm surplus parity letter to Vice President Wallace in his capacity as President of the Senate, follows:

My dear Mr. President: My attention has been called to the introduction in Congress of bills (S. 2255 and H. R. 6564) which, if enacted, would prevent the Commodity Corp. from disposing of its holdings of agricultural commodities below parity prices.

I believe that irreparable damage to the war effort and to the farmers of this country would result from the enactment of this legislation. In this hour, when the very existence of our Nation as a free people is at stake, we cannot afford to indulge in the promotion of selfish interests such as are involved in this legislation.

Food production is playing a vital part in the conduct of the war. Not only this country, but all of the United Nations are relying upon abundant production of food by the farmers of America. The two classes of products, of which we have the greatest need for increased production, are livestock products and oil-producing crops. Expansion in the production of both of these classes of products would be impeded by the enactment of legislation restricting the sale or disposition of the corn, wheat and other products held by the Commodity Credit Corp.

Large Stocks Acquired. During the last four years the Commodity Credit Corp., through its price-supporting activities, authorized by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, has acquired large stocks of corn and wheat. These stocks were withdrawn and withheld from the markets when excessive supplies would otherwise have seriously reduced prices. At the time they were withdrawn from the market it was generally understood that they would be available for use in time of emergency. That emergency is now upon us and the conservation of these reserve stocks of grain into live stock products is urgently needed. This conservation can be brought about only through the maintenance of a favorable ratio between the price of feed and the price of live stock products. Such a ratio exists at the present time with respect to most live stock products and production of these products is being expanded rapidly. This expansion, however, would be seriously impeded by an increase of 15 per cent in the cost of feed to dairy, poultry and live stock producers which probably would follow the enactment of the legislation. The curtailment of the production of live stock products would, of course, be followed by higher prices for live stock products and substantial increase in the cost of living, which in turn would lead to more inflation and demands for higher wages.

On the other hand, higher prices for corn in the near future would tend to encourage farmers to plant more corn and thus increase the difficulties of attaining the production goals that have been established of soybeans, an oil-bearing crop which is urgently needed. This legislation would also increase the price at which peaput seed, now being acquired by the Commodity Credit Corp., could be furnished to growers and thus discourage the planting of this important oil-bearing crop.

Effect of Legislation. Thus the restrictions proposed in this legislation would tend to prevent the liquidation of the reserve stocks of grain at a time when they are needed, and also prevent the increased production of the products which are most needed in the war effort. Clearly this legislation cannot be defended as a war measure and neither can it be defended on the ground that it is necessary in order to give farmers parity. In determining whether farmers are receiving parity, Government payments, as well as market prices, must be taken into consideration and none of the major commodities, corn, wheat and cotton, are being sold at prices which, when added to the conservation and parity payments, would result in a return below parity. As a matter of fact, in the case of cotton, production of which was relatively low in 1941, no sales are being made below parity price excluding payments. The only immediate effect of this legislation, with respect to cotton, therefore, would be to stop the special sales that are being made in order to stimulate the use of cotton in the manufacture of insulation and in the manufacture of cotton in the manufacture of bagging which can be sold at a low cost to cotton growers.

In addition to these and many other considerations, it should be kept in mind that substantial assistance, very properly, has been extended to farmers in the past, and further assistance probably will be necessary in the future. The good will of the consuming public should not be shattered by grasping for a few extra dollars in the name of farmers. I hope these matters will be weighed very carefully by the Congress.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Chiang Talk to Tribesmen May Be Blow to Axis

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 26.—Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's recent visit to Khyber Pass and his address to warlike northwestern frontier tribesmen may help to offset Axis intrigues aimed at stirring up revolt at India's back door, well-qualified observers said today.

Private advices reaching here indicate since the outbreak of the war Axis agents have been working among frontier tribes, supplying them with light war equipment, including field wireless stations and machine guns.

More ominous, however, have been reports of activities by Japanese agents who were said to be urging revolt among disgruntled politicians in Kabul, with promises that Afghanistan would receive portions of British Baluchistan and an outlet to the Arabian Sea.

Informed sources said the danger on India's northwest frontier had grown greatly in proportion to Japanese successes in Malaya and Burma, adding that some of the frontier tribes "always consider British preoccupation elsewhere as their opportunity."

If you knew Susan (THEN)

YOU'LL HARDLY RECOGNIZE HER NOW

The time came when even Susan realized that something had to be done about her hair! It was tragically straight... heavy with soap (that, try as she might she just couldn't rinse out) and of no particular color at all. It really had Susan d-o-w-n...

So Susan came to Elizabeth Arden's Salon where a staff of experts did really wonderful things for her hair!

Susan's scalp was tight and dry, her hair lustreless... so Elizabeth Arden's Scalp Treatment was just what she needed. Strong brushing, special creams and lotions and stimulating manipulations brought the tingle of health to her scalp... bright beauty to her hair.

Susan had a Violet-Aire Shampoo and its zephyr-fresh ingredients wafted away even the most elusive particles of dust leaving her hair soft and gloriously clean.

A permanent wave (the fastest one Susan ever had) gave her soft, strong curls with a born-naturally-wavy look. Its success was a matter of precise analysis, correct selection of lotions and creams for Susan's individual hair texture, and the sure touch of experienced hands.

Finally, Susan emerged a new and dramatic person... thrilled with the vitality and healthy lustre of her hair... delighted with the most wonderful, wearable hair style ever that graces her Service cap by day, is equally smart for evening...

... it happened to Susan—it can happen to you! Call for consultation appointment.

McKinley Students Honor Basic Rights In Radio Program

Sketches Presented Under High School-Star Sponsorship

Three precious American rights—freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the right of assembly—were saluted by students of McKinley High School yesterday in a radio program of the "Our American Freedoms" series, sponsored by the Senior High School Radio Committee and The Star.

The dramatization heard over Station WMAL used "flash-back" technique to recall the struggle for freedom of expression through the centuries. Socrates' trial, the murder of Cicero, the departure of John Priestley, English non-conformist minister, for the New World were among the incidents cited as examples of devotion to the cause of free speech which was maintained in the face of ostracism and even death. The trial of Peter Zenger, New York printer, in 1735 was given prominence in the chronicle. The young performers showed how a victory transcending the particular case was won when a jury acquitted Zenger of plotting to disturb the peace with seditious libels.

Eternal vigilance remains the price of liberty. It was emphasized by recital of threats to freedom which developed even after promulgation of constitutional guarantees. The script was prepared under direction of Miss Helen Derrick, a member of the McKinley faculty. Those taking part were: Grover Boydston, Warren Bentz, Paul Edwards, Richard Cass, Rene Julian, Robert Jacobson, Raymond Colombe, Seabury Quinn, Nelson Norford, Betty Stephenson, Ruth Cogard, Lois Neuhaus, Priscilla Amidon, Teen Clay, George Daffer and Eugene Picciano.

Red Cross to Discontinue Braille Transcriptions

Braille transcription activities of the American Red Cross will be discontinued by December under present plans. A spokesman for the organization explained it had been decided Braille work has developed to an extent making it practicable for the Red Cross to leave the field to other groups.

Dwight F. Davis and including representatives of the Library of Congress is studying the matter with a view to determining how the Braille projects now handled by Red Cross volunteers should be apportioned. It is not expected the total of Braille services will be curtailed by withdrawal of the Red Cross. A memorandum sent Red Cross chapters last month advised prompt discontinuance of the work. Subsequently, a second memorandum directed that chapters continue transcription but start no new classes and plan to wind up their projects of this type by December.

Driver Ordered Held In Woman's Death

A coroner's jury ordered Paul Young, 30, 2503 Fourteenth street N.E., held under the Negligent homicide Act yesterday, after an inquest into the traffic death of Mrs. Kate B. Cummins, 60, of 119 U street N.E. He was driver of the car which fatally injured Mrs. Cummins Monday at Rhode Island avenue and Summit place N.E., police said.

Orange Blossom (Citrus sinensis)

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY. Florida legislators showed their sentiment toward the orange blossom when they legally adopted it for their State floral emblem.

The bloom of 1940. The 1940-41 crop was a record one. The Florida orange season started later this season than last, and weekly shipments have been catching up gradually with those of last season.

There are many varieties of oranges grown today and they are used in many ways. Besides the fresh fruit, we have marmalade, and also the extracted juice, which is put up in cans ready for the consumer.

Text of Statement on Sea Battles

Secretary of the Navy Knox's figures on enemy sea losses in the war were issued yesterday afternoon as Navy communique No. 45. The text follows:

Far East: The Secretary of the Navy issued the following communique summarizing previously published losses inflicted by United States naval forces upon the Japanese Navy and merchant marine in the period from December 10, 1941, until February 24, 1942, inclusive.

The following information is compiled from Navy Department communiques beginning with No. 1 and ending with No. 44, and complements similar information summarizing enemy losses and damage published in recent communiques of the United States Army.

In accordance with its previously announced policy, the Navy does not indulge in the practice of overstating the losses that we inflict upon the enemy or of understating the losses inflicted on us. The Navy will report only such facts as their announcement will not be made public until full reports have been made to the Navy Department and absolute surety is determined.

Prior to the vicious attack made on the United Nations by the Japanese Empire on December 7, 1941, the pride of the Japanese merchant marine consisted of three 17,000-ton luxury ships of the Yawata class.

One of these ships is known to have been converted to serve as an aircraft carrier. The United States naval forces have destroyed until it is reasonably certain that the enemy has become cognizant of their loss. This explains the time lag in connection with various reports.

There is evidence, however, of further sinkings of enemy submarines in the Pacific waters, but their announcement will not be made public until full reports have been made to the Navy Department and absolute surety is determined.

Aircraft carriers—One sunk, one believed sunk. Cruisers—Two sunk.

Seaplane tenders—One believed sunk. Mine sweepers—One sunk.

Fleet tankers—Three sunk. Transports—Thirteen sunk, two believed sunk.

Supply ships and merchantmen—Sixteen sunk. Miscellaneous (type unidentified)—Six sunk, two believed sunk, three damaged.

Summary: Total announced losses inflicted upon the Japanese in the period outlined above are as follows: Combatant vessels—Fifteen sunk, three believed sunk, two damaged.

Total announced losses inflicted upon the Japanese in the period outlined above are as follows: Atlantic area: During January, 1942, 22 ships of the United Nations registry had torpedoes fired at them in waters contiguous to the United States. In addition, 38 other ships were attacked in the area west of 30 degrees west longitude.

One enemy submarine is believed to have been sunk, three are believed to have been damaged and 34 additional attacks were inconclusive in evidence of damage.

In February, up to and including the 23d instant, 23 ships of the United Nations have been attacked by enemy submarines in United States coastal waters and 31 additional ships in the area west of 30 degrees west longitude.

Two enemy submarines are believed to have been sunk and one damaged in these areas. In addition, 15 attacks have been made on enemy submarines by our forces with inconclusive results.

There is nothing to report from other areas.

Knox O. K.'s Request to Return Jap Medals Via Bombs

Secretary of the Navy Knox has complied with the request of two American sailors that medals presented to the men by the Japanese government be returned to Japan—in demolition bombs.

The two men are Henry Vormstein, a master rigger at the New York Navy Yard, and John B. Laury, a shipwright at the same yard. Both were members of the crew of the U. S. S. Connecticut when that ship visited Japan in 1908 in the course of the fleet's world cruise.

The Emperor of Japan presented medals to the sailors at that time, and last month Secretary Knox received a memorandum, through channels, which came from Mr. Vormstein:

"Subject: Return of medal to Japan. '1. The attached medal was presented to the master rigger in 1908 to commemorate the visit of the United States Battle Fleet to Japan at that time.

After Dark

News and Comment of the Night Clubs.
By the Spectator.

It has always been Milton Davis' habit to peer with penetrating eyes to each new sheet of music which finds its way to his bandstand. For Milt is the kind of musician's musician who regards a tune, new or old, with fatherly affection—that is, if it's a good tune and original. The kind of affection, moreover, that leads him to plug a new tune like the most devoted of publisher's agents, and to keep the hoariest of melodies forever within easy reach like the indulgent bandleader that he is.

As a result he has been instrumental in putting across to local dancers such numbers in national ascendancy as "Tis Autumn" and "As If You Didn't Know," and at the same time he is fully prepared to meet the whimsies of Rainbow Room habitués who may ask for "Can't We Be Friends" or "Song of Love" at the most unexpected times. Furthermore Milt is in complete accord with any song-writer who may decide to raid the lair of Tschalkowsky or Grieg or any of the classical fraternity who are by now specialists in the feat of turning over in graves.

Regarding the latter, however, Mr. Davis makes two reservations: (a) The take-off must be tasteful, and (b) it must be fully accredited to which ever party it has been taken off. If you want to see the blood of Mr. Davis boil, and to hear epithets of scorn and ridicule issue from the vicinity of the Davis novachord, just push a piece like the new "I Do" before him. Undeniably a pretty number, "I Do" has every reason to be that way. Ninety-nine per cent of which are due to an old-timer named Drigo, who happened to write the piece under the name of "Serenade" upwards of 20 years ago. You'd never know that by looking under the most head of the sheet music.

But Milton did, and as far as "I Do" and Milton Davis are concerned, passive resistance is the order of the day.

While in the general vein of novachords, novachordists and what they are doing, there's Sid Willoughby, who has more than a passing flair for that instrument which he exercises nightly in alternation with the Hammond organ at Burt's Trans-Lux. As a matter of fact, Sid enjoys close communion with the tubestudded music box in the light of day as well. He has been demonstrating novachord's dulcet tones in a professional capacity ever since they were introduced four years ago.

Mr. Willoughby, incidentally, will be working from his battery of keyboards in conjunction with Beverly Stull who leaves sick bay either tonight or tomorrow to return to her old post.

Ramon of the Madrilion's Trio Lyrico had been out of vocal touch with his family in Cuba for well over a year, so the other night he decided to telephone, a decision which still gives him cause to shudder.

After the customary discussions with local operators, information, long distance and every member of the telephone company, but the president, friend Ramon finally detected the faint voice of his sister in faraway Havana.

"Peppita was sure glad to hear from me," says Ramon. "So glad, she talked for 5 minutes—and then she put mama on the phone, and then papa and then my brothers and other sisters."

There were also some uncles and cousins who wanted to talk to Ramon. "And while my family was jumping on and off the phone the operator would come in and say, 'Five minutes is up, but I'd go on talking to them all just the same. Finally, I guess the operator just gave up, and I forgot about the time.' And that's where Ramon looks regretful."

The bill was $50.25, and it took the Lyrico senior about three days to decide it was worth it.

Peter Macias, up at the Lounge Riviera, sees eye to eye with a lot of people regarding the talent of Princetonian Mark Lawrence, son of Columnist David Lawrence. Mark it was who contributed a major portion of labor on the latest brilliant edition of the Triangle Show which came to town a couple of months ago. Among other things, young Mr. Lawrence wrote three songs for the show, including "All of a Sudden, Suddenly," "Beyond the Moon" and "Keep 'Em Rolling" over which Mr. Macias shows keenest enthusiasm.

The material shape of this enthusiasm may be heard any night in the Riviera where Pete and the boys play the tunes for all their worth, which is something, as Macias even declares that "Keep 'Em Rolling" is the best patriotic tune of the entire current avalanche.

Of Frank Victor's long and varied career, one event stands out most prominently in his chain of recollections. Frank, who played guitar many years previous to his connection with the potent Adrian Rollini Trio and who currently is doing the same with his own quartet in the El Patio, tells of his experience as a member of the band of a temperamental party whom he fondly refers to as "The Jerk."

"This party's favorite pastime was periodically to fire Frankie and for no apparent reason at all. On one occasion he decided to do so during an evening dance in a large New York hotel.

"What, again, now, in front of all these people?" asked Mr. V. taken aback at the new variation to a familiar theme.

Frankie at first refused to take him seriously, but, persuaded by a chum in the band, finally concluded that the boss meant what he said. He placed his guitar on the chair and started to walk off.

Directions for Clarifying Fat and Conserving Fuel Offered Housewives

California Vegetable Grower Discounts Importance of Jap Production There

Nation's Markets Assured of Ample Supply of Produce From West Coast Gardens

By Betsy Caswell, Women's News Editor.

As there has been little change that is noteworthy in local markets since our report of last week, this seems an ideal time to do some catching up on our "paper work."

There is an ever-increasing amount of material that reaches our desk each day dealing with problems that war has brought to the American housewife. Much of this has been dealt with before, or—so swift are the times in which we live—has become outdated before we can get it into print. A careful gleaner, however, of the subjects that remain bring us to the following suggestions and information.

First of all, we'd like to give you excerpts from a letter we have received from an official of a California vegetable growing and shipping association. This gentleman very kindly sets us straight about a remark appearing in a previous column of ours regarding the effect of interning the Japanese on the West Coast on our supplies of vegetables from that area. Our observation was made in a purely rhetorical sense, and sprang from a casual query put to us by several people. But it is nice to know the real facts of the situation, and to be able to give them to you for your own information.

Our correspondent says:

"Less than 7 per cent of the vegetables from California and Arizona were dependent on Jap production. You will notice that I say 'were dependent' for, since December 7 there is not any crop of either fruits or vegetables on the West Coast dependent on Jap production, and if the Government will ever make up their mind as to the complete evacuation of these treacherous little devils, we will guarantee you the Nation's supply of fruits and vegetables will not be affected at all.

"Please do not overlook the fact that California has been producing fruits and vegetables for many years. We grew vegetables before we had this heavy influx of Japs. We will grow all the vegetables the Nation requires while we are getting rid of them, and we assure you that we will continue producing the Nation's requirements after we have completely rid the Coast of these very dangerous aliens.

"As a matter of information, and referring to many commentators' statements that a heavy percentage of our fruits and vegetables were dependent on Jap production, these figures were unfortunately arrived at by taking the production in and around our two largest cities, Los Angeles and San Francisco, and in due justice to the people furnishing this information, had the statement been made that the production for these two markets were dependent on the Japs to that percentage, the statement would have been undoubtedly nearly correct. But realizing the danger of this situation, this condition is being very quickly adjusted and corrected."

So now you know—and you can eat your carrots and lettuce in complete patriotism. Next on our list is a release on how to clarify fat. Those of you who remember the other great war will realize that the time may easily come when every housekeeper will have to do her part in the conservation of the Nation's fats. So here are directions along these lines. Clip them out and file them away for use when and if you need them.

There are three possible methods for clarifying, but in each, the point to remember is that the fat must be kept at a controlled low temperature to prevent scorching and further discoloration.

1. Transfer two cups of mixed drippings to a heavy well-balanced kettle which won't tilt and melt fat slowly over a top gas burner. Add slices of unpeeled potato; turn flame higher so fat will bubble. When potato slices are well-browned strain hot fat into a container through several thicknesses of cheese cloth held in a wire strainer. The potato slices absorb flavors and odors, help to clarify and purify fat. When fat is cold and hard cut off bottom layer of sediment and discard. Store clear fat in refrigerator.
2. Mixed drippings light in color may be clarified by transferring to a kettle and pouring sufficient boiling water over it to melt it. Place kettle over a top burner and turn flame to a point where gentle boiling is maintained. Boil fat thoroughly, then strain. When cold, lift off top cake of fat from liquid containing sediment in bottom of container.

3. A combination of the above methods—adding potato slices to fat melted in boiling water—seems to produce softer fat, lighter in color, which may be useful to combine with other shortening.

It is economical to save excess suet and fat trimmed from steak, chops, ham, stripped from chicken and poultry. Put this fat through a grinder or chop in a wooden bowl. Then try it out in a skillet over a low flame. The bits of fat will soon melt and can be strained off for storing in the refrigerator.

Salvaged or clarified fat is used by the thrifty woman in pan-frying, to brown meats for braising in fat-rendering and in sauteing.

We have space for only one more item today—more next week. This last bit has to do with words of wisdom from our leaflet "Consumer hints on how to avoid wasting fuel when cooking. There are some fine pointers here that you will do well to commit to memory:

1. If you have a gas range, see that all the burners are properly adjusted to burn with a clear blue flame at the right height. A yellow flame means you're wasting fuel. The gas company will adjust them on request.

2. With either an electric or gas range, always start your cooking as quickly as possible by turning the heating unit or burner on high. Then when the food begins to cook, reduce the heat to the point that will maintain a cooking temperature. Remember that gently boiling water is just as hot as water that boils vigorously, and don't waste fuel by boiling water at maximum heat.

3. Turn the heat off before, not after you remove your pots and pans. On an electric range, you can do this considerably before the cooking is done, and finish the cooking on the heat stored in the unit. You'll have to experiment to learn just how to do it.

4. Use the standard size unit on your electric range as often as you can to save electricity. And don't use the giant burner on your gas range when the simmer burner will do the job.

5. Don't heat a whole teakettle of water when you need only two cups.

6. Heat water in the utensil in which it is to be used to save energy. Always cover the container in which water is heated.

7. Cook all vegetables in the smallest possible quantity of water, just enough to keep them from sticking. It saves vitamins and minerals as well as fuel.

8. Use flat-bottom pans that are the same size, or slightly larger (See CASWELL, Page B-17.)

Crisply fried fresh oysters, velvety mushrooms, sauteed in butter, the ever-popular French fried potatoes and a bowl of chilled, sharply seasoned cole slaw makes a Lenten meal that is hard to surpass at any time.

This apple cobbler is just as good as it looks—and even better, for the pastry includes tangy cheese in its ingredients. It combines the best features of apple pie with cheese, and the old-fashioned deep dish type.

Cheese Apple Cobbler Newest Version of Old Favorite

If you like your apple pie 'n' cheese, or you recall with watering mouth those luscious fruit cobblers of grandma's cooking—then you will rejoice to find the virtues of both old favorites combined in this grand new dish. And it doesn't embarrass the sugar canister, either!

CHEESE APPLE COBBLER.
2 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.
2 cups sifted flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon sugar.
4 tablespoons shortening.
2 eggs.
1/2 cup milk (about).

Mix apples, flour, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg together. Bake in a greased 8-inch casserole in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until apples are soft. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut or rub in shortening. Beat 1 whole egg and 1 egg yolk, reserving one white for tops. Add milk to beaten egg and add all to flour mixture. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead a half minute. Roll dough out into rectangular sheet one-eighth-inch thick. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Roll jelly-roll fashion, sealing edge firmly. Form into ring on top of apple casserole, sealing the ends. With scissors cut through ring almost to center, in slices about 1 inch thick. Turn each slice slightly on its side. Brush with diluted egg white and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until browned. Serve hot or cold with plain or whipped cream.

Appetizing Dishes For Lent Make Use of Fish

Don't say that there isn't any use trying to make meatless meals tempting! Of course you can—and to such an extent that the family won't feel even a pang for those forbidden steaks and chops.

Here are a few recipes for tasty dishes that make use of fish and oysters and succulent mushrooms, too, either fresh or canned. Tuck these away in your recipe file and surprise the family when the next meatless day rolls 'round!

FRIED OYSTERS.
To fry oysters drain and dry between towels. Dip in seasoned crumbs, eggs diluted with water and then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat (385 degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain on soft paper and serve with tartare sauce.

BAKED FISH FILLETS OLIVET.
4 tablespoons fat or salad oil.
4 tablespoons flour.
1/3 package dried onion flakes (or 3 onions, chopped).
2 cups canned tomato sauce.
1/2 cup chopped green olives.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Brown fillets in two tablespoons fat or salad oil. Arrange in shallow baking dish. Heat remaining fat or salad oil in saucepan; blend in flour.

Split, toast and butter English muffins. Arrange in a baking dish and cover with the contents of one 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms drained of liquid. Dip oysters in melted butter, season with salt, lemon juice and paprika. Place one or two oysters on each mushroom-covered muffin. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until the edges of oysters curl. Serve with cream sauce seasoned with a small amount of Worcestershire or A-1 sauce.

Betty Crocker suggests:

SOUP SUPPERS! Let's borrow an idea from the French provincial peasants. They always had soup at their evening meal. "La soupe," they called the meal. From that comes our word "supper." But, too often, we omit the soup! Let's have soup... crusty rolls, crisp relishes such as celery curls, carrot sticks and pickles... and dessert.

NEXT TO NO WORK making home-cooked vegetable noodle soup. We give you all the dry ingredients in a package! This new product is called "Betty Crocker Vegetable Noodle Soup Ingredients." Included are seven vegetables in flake form, rich egg noodles, and seasonings. You just empty the package into boiling water, add butter, and simmer. The ingredients are 99% ready to cook.

INVITING, TOO, your soup. A fragrant golden broth, rich with egg noodles... brimming with fresh vegetable flavors! You see, the vegetables are not pre-cooked. You cook them yourself. And the garden flavors are preserved through the process of dehydration given the vegetables. This means that most of the moisture is removed, while the vegetables are fresh and crisp. Our cooking staff tests the product carefully. We're sure you'll like it, and so will your family.

THRIFTY! More soup for your money. Each 16c package makes six large bowls of soup. I hope you'll try our new product.

IN the light of the many scientific findings which prove that Vitamin B₁ is absolutely necessary for energy and building strong bodies, there can be no doubt in your mind now as to the kind of bread you are going to put on your table for your loved ones.

Because new Wonder Bread contains well over 2 times the Vitamin B₁ that you find in ordinary unenriched breads. Furthermore, since it costs no more, then certainly it becomes a duty to serve it instead. Every mother with her family's best interests at heart will agree to that.

Now there are just no two ways about it: this new Wonder Bread is the kind you know you should have. Because it contain over twice the Vitamin B₁ for energy and strong bodies. And—in addition—it is doubly fresh. So get doubly fresh Wonder Bread today. You'll be glad you did.

Columnists' Observation Of the Younger Set's Restaurant Manners

Items Listed Here Were Found To Be More of an Exception Than the General Rule

By Kay Caldwell and Aiden Harrison

If we should ever run out of things to write about in this department—which we won't until our arteries harden completely—we could always replenish our stock of mental material simply by destroying a hamburger and a beaker of java in one of the restaurants where young people congregate after their dates.

On one such recent occasion we occupied a table completely surrounded by teen-agers in couples, foursomes and mixed assortments. And we observed the following items which are worthy of comment:

Item 1. In one booth sat six fellows of high school age, two of whom wore their hats throughout their visit. One of these boys was in a military school uniform, his hat being a cap. We're wondering what's wrong with that school's regulations, or with its instruction in manners, if any. Usually military schools are pretty strict in such matters, so it was probably the fault of the boy and not his instructors. But any fellow, in uniform or otherwise, who eats at a restaurant table with his hat on is giving a black eye to his parents, his school and any one else who is responsible for his training.

Item 2. At another table a teenage charmer with a gorgeous mop of honey-colored hair seized a moment when the boys were absent to give her coiffure a quick overhaul. She dragged out a comb, pulled it through her flowing mane and shook the waves out by tossing her head. A lot of good it does for waitresses to wear hair nets when the customers let their tresses fly all over the place! Let's save the combing-out for the ladies' room.

Item 3. Why do some young people always leave a table looking as though it had just been hit by a hurricane? Precious sugar spilled all around, napkins in messy balls, a cream jug overturned, barbecue sauce smeared on the table top. If they act that way at home their mothers ought to make them eat under the sink with Fido—if Fido would stand for it.

Item 4. Any boy who wasn't brought up in a teepee helps a girl on with her coat and then walks beside her to the cashier's desk. He doesn't just get to his feet and walk away, leaving her to trail after him like somebody's squaw. Yet we saw two fairly nice-looking boys do just that within five minutes of each other.

Item 5. Young people who haven't smoked much, but who wish to appear very practical and experienced, invariably give themselves away by the number and elaborateness of their gestures. They put excessive emphasis on the flicking off of ashes, the blowing out of smoke and the tapping down of tobacco. You'll be smarter if you never start to smoke, but if you must do it, go easy on the stage business.

Item 6. This one is for restaurant cashiers. By actual count, only one cashier in five thanks a customer when he pays his check. Most of you merely dole out the change with a dead pan and a frozen tongue. Why not smile and say "Thank you" when you take our money?

Item 7. In spite of the items above, the big majority of fellows and girls behave themselves very well when they are eating out. The mere fact that we cite the exceptions shows that they are exceptions and not the rule. Nice work—and keep it up!

Do You Know—

—That during the Civil War many rifles were equipped with a small coffee grinder built right into the stock? This is a far cry from the high-speed precision grinders now found in the factories of leading coffee manufacturers.

9. Don't scrub the bottoms of your pans until they shine. A dull surface will absorb more heat than a bright, shiny one.

10. Be sure the covers of your pans fit tightly, to save heat.

11. Pre-heating the oven for short baking jobs, like biscuits and muffins, is expensive. When you use the oven plan to do as many baking and oven-cooking operations as possible.

12. Have food ready when the oven is at the right temperature.

13. Don't waste heat by looking too often at the food in the oven. Use a time and temperature chart, then don't peek any more than you have to.

14. Don't use the oven to heat the kitchen unless it's absolutely necessary.

15. If you cook with electricity and live where war industries make big power demands plan to do as much of your cooking as you can before 5 o'clock when lights going on in homes, factories and offices cause peak loads.

Vestee Front Jumper This Ensemble Presents a Trim, Tailored Look for Daytime

By Barbara Bell

With its vestee front this jumper presents a trim, tailored air as well as a slim silhouette which, if you are average and larger-than-average size, you will find are mighty becoming! Here is a practical, young and very smart outfit for daytime—Pattern No. 1557-B presents both jumper and a classic blouse to be made with long or short sleeves.

If you have been envying the younger girls their attractive patterned outfits, order this pattern at once and make yourself a set which will match any you have ever seen for smooth lines, slimming flattery and day-in and day-out wearability. For the jumper suit, which can be worn with a series of contrasting blouses offers variety, constant freshness and a practicality which is unusual. Make this cleverly designed jumper of new lightweight wools, gabardine or heavy cottons for spring. Contrasting blouses may be of pique, linen, broadcloth, muslin or silk crepe.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1557-B is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) jumper requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch material, 2 1/2 yards 54-inch. Short sleeve blouse, 1 1/2 yards 35 or 39 inch material.

To 'Crash' Parties Tabu

But Circumstances May Alter Usage Of This Phrase

By Emily Post

To have it suggested that I am aiding and abetting young people in taking their manners too casually is amusing! But it is quite plain that one mother thinks I am too lenient and cites this specific example:

"My son and daughter crash parties with their friends and think nothing of it. What's more, when I brought them to task for such behavior, my son said that one of their friends had read it was all right in your newspaper column."

The answer to this has a number of qualifying "who's, how's and where's." A girl or even a boy who goes to a party uninvited and makes believe that she or he has been invited is a crasher, and a crasher is not approved of, whether he is an outsider crashing in, or whether he is an insider self-complacently bestowing the favor of his presence upon a not well-known hostess; his behavior is abominable.

On the other hand, nearly all well-brought-up young people are at some time taken to a big general party to which they have not been invited by their friends who have. Boys in particular go in a group to the Browns because John knows them well. So John explains when he arrives that he has brought three friends.

Some people call this crashing, but it is really not crashing and is quite all right if they are strangers. It is crashing to go to the house of one who knows him and has deliberately left him out. A girl must not go where she has not been invited, except as a stranger and with a girl who is an intimate friend of the girl giving the party. It is also expected that a girl friend who brings another girl with her shall be accompanied by at least two boys who may be expected guests, but who will be doubly welcomed if they are new boys who dance well.

Canape
Hot off the press is this canape: Cut six hard-cooked eggs in halves crossways, mash yolks and season with chopped pickles, onions, parsley and mayonnaise. Refill egg whites and top with broiled shrimps.

Delicious Dessert
If you have any leftover bits of fruit cake, heat them 10 minutes in a double boiler and serve as a pudding topped by fresh or canned fruits. Try pound cake the same way.

H'wood Makes Another Bid For Talent of Helen Hayes

Wiser and Older Now, Cinema Hopes To Win Back Stage's First Lady. Mr. Passer Stages a Show

By JAY CARMODY.

Mature and more sensible now, Hollywood looks back with regret upon its affair with Helen Hayes. Miss Hayes was its girl, in a manner of speaking, a number of years ago but she was not a type it could appreciate. It seems she had a fine mind and a great talent, and what the cinema was looking for was actresses who were strictly photogenic. It got them, as every one knows, but they are not the kind to grow old with although it sometimes takes years to learn a thing like that.

Well, Hollywood has learned, perhaps not completely, but well enough to have an occasional trace of chagrin and remorse that.

At such times, it was so stupid, it feels an impulse to write Miss Hayes a letter and say how sorry it is that there ever was a Helen Hayes in the picture. The logical step from there is to ask her to forgive and forget—and may be not be so sardonic—and take this or that part in a picture.

Miss Hayes has had no trouble saying no to any of the healing overtures. That, however, has not stopped Hollywood, which has always been noted for the persistence and brassiness of its wooing.

It has just written another letter to Miss Hayes inclosing therewith the script of a photoplay which it thinks she should be happy to play. It's something called "Miss Appleby Gets Her Answer" and has to do with a spinster who wrote a letter in the last year, through some legendary means of fate gets an answer to it in this year, lives through all sorts of romantic developments.

Hollywood hasn't heard from Miss Hayes so far as we know.

If it only knew when its acts were going to appear instead of just having them walk in the door, the drama department could charge admissions and make expenses, maybe. At any rate, it gets some pretty fine acts out of a clear sky like that.

There was Giovanni once, for example, who came in and picked all the pockets—legally, of course—and gave every one the time of his life. Another time it was Emile Boreo, the great Russian clown and the man who made the "March of the Wooden Soldiers" famous. He acted and reminisced and sang and told stories for more than an hour. There have been singers, dramatic actresses and little children with no talent whose mothers thought they ought to be in the movies.

Yesterday it was the department's day to have its first mentalist, Rolf Passer, a former writing man who has read minds in such places as the Copley-Plaza (the Boston mind), the Rainbow Room (the non-Boston mind), the Mark Hopkins and similar institutions.

"You," said Mr. Passer, reading our mind like a 96-point banner on page one, "are skeptical. That is right. You should be skeptical. But I will do something about your skepticism."

What Mr. Passer did was to leave the room while the concentrated intelligence of several people thought of three actions for him to perform when he was called back. After that he promised to find an ordinary pin hidden anywhere in the room, offering to give us $500 if he failed.

(He didn't!)

Just what he did it we don't know and probably never will, but upon re-entering the room he took hold of pretty Mrs. Passer's arm and without a word (1) reached in a man's pocket, took out a purse, extracted a specified identification card, touched it to the owner's arm, put it back; (2) removed the man's hat, placed it upon a desk, straightened out the brim, put it back on the man's head, and (3) walked around to a typewriter, removed several sheets of paper and placed them on a specified spot on the desk.

"You think my wife directs me," said the mentalist. "All right, get me some one else to work with."

He did it again—a different action, of course—with an entirely strange assistant.

Then, sort of anti-climactically in the spirit of good fun, he handed back to the copy boy his billfold, keys and suspenders which he had removed while they were standing outside waiting for the inner council to think of things for him to do. It was one of the best room shows that ever booked itself into the office.

Movie-Making Is Different Under Conditions of War

With war less than three months old, movie-makers are already mastering some of the biggest problems posed by stringent military regulations on the coast of California. For example: We went through the sound-look vestibule of stage 16 at Warner Brothers and right into a deep, thick forest of tall fir trees, shrubs, bushes, rocky gullies and damp, swampy lowlands. The hum of mosquitoes can be heard. It's the real thing, too. The pesky stingers came in with the trees and shrubbery. Here it is "replanted" on the wooden floor, six inches thick with mud and dirt.

But, now for the topper. In the middle of the stage, among trees and crushed, lies the shattered fuselage of a great R. A. F. flying fortress. One of its motors, free of the ship, is half-buried near some rocks. One great wing is in three sheared sections.

This is the "spectacle" set of "Desperate Journey," Errol Flynn's new starring movie. For artistic realism one would have to travel far and long over Hollywood stages to match it. It took three weeks to "build" that plane in broken parts, Director Raoul Walsh tells us. Ordinarily, it would have been erected out of doors.

The magic of this set goes even farther. Big gas jets, smoke pots, and wind machines have been so adjusted that the battered plane may be set afire, its gas tanks made to explode.

Flynn is now getting ready to do this. He is the captain of the downed bomber, helpless in the Black Forest of Germany, with only four members of his crew surviving. They are Ronald Regan, Alan Hale, Arthur Kennedy and Ronald Sinclair. Flynn gets them out of the plane, somehow, and then prepares to set the fire with a shot from a very pistol.

"You'll have to get off the stage now," a uniformed studio fireman says. "Only ones allowed here while they make the scene are five actors and the crew. No visitors means you this time." Six other firemen come up dragging a hose line taut with water right up to the nozzle.

It's a disappointment, that we can't watch the filming of such an exciting sequence. Before war restrictions were imposed it would have been all right. Then it would have been taken out of doors at the studio ranch. But now night fires, deliberately lighted, are not wanted by the Army anywhere on the Pacific Coast. Even Hollywood make-believe fires which can be blacked out in a hurry. Unless, of course, they get out of hand.

One of those amusing "all is not as it seems" situations turns up on the set of "Highly Irregular," at Columbia, where Franchot Tone and Joan Bennett are co-starring. The set is a military courtroom in Nazi-occupied Holland. Tone, as an R. A. F. flyer charged with espionage, is about to be sentenced by three grim-looking German generals. Hanging above the judges' bench is a menacing swastika banner, 15 feet square.

The three generals quickly sentenced Tone to be executed at once. They gave him nothing but an ugly sneer. Miss Bennett wept. Tone hung his head, staggered.

Director Dick Wallace thought it was great, yelled "print it" to the cameraman—and then the whole atmosphere of the room changed. Tone took a chair at the edge of the set and lit a cigarette. Miss Bennett wiped away the glycerin and launched a funny story. A bunch of elderly extra women pulled out their knitting and set to work for the Red Cross.

What about the three nasty Nazi generals? Let's see if we can't overhear their conversation.

"I'm not so sure about that baby food you spoke about a minute ago," said one. "Some friends of ours used it and their kid lost weight." The gruffest of the Nazi generals grunted indignantly. He stood up, reached under the folds of his be-

EMBROS

MAKING AMERICAN WINES THE WORLD'S BEST

American wines can be the world's best. America has the climate, soil, grapes, and vines. From then on, it becomes a matter of selection and handling.

Back of the EMBROS dedication to making American wines the world's best is 106 years wine tradition—five generations of expert selection and skillful cellarization of wine. This knowledge and skill enables the House of Embros to select for EMBROS WINE only the cream of the crop from a chosen few of California's best vintners. It enables them then to cellarize these wines the patient, slow, and carefully devoted way for richer bouquet, velvety smoothness, and full body. This knowledge and skill has culminated in Royal Quality EMBROS WINES—in a variety of dry and sweet wines that critics say compare favorably at the price with any wines ever produced here or abroad.

Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS. Some folks seem to have been born lucky, some seem to have been born unlucky, and some are so lucky part of the time and so unlucky the rest of the time that it is sometimes quite hard to say which they are.

When the winter has been very long and cold and hard and food has been very scarce, Striped Chipmunk doesn't mind. He comes out in the spring as saucy and pert as ever. He has had plenty to eat all winter and it always makes him smile when some of his neighbors tell him that he was lucky.

Now, though Peter fully intended to go just as straight to the Green Forest as a straight line could be, he didn't. You see, it isn't Peter's way to travel very far in a straight line. He takes advantage of every little bit of tall grass and every bush to hide. And so he runs a little way to this side and then a little way to the other side, and never very far in a straight line.

So Peter went deeper and deeper into the Green Forest and he wandered that way. Finally Peter stopped at the foot of a big tree to rest. He had given up all hope of finding the storehouse of Busy Bee and he was tired and disappointed. So he sat there for a long time thinking it all over.

By and by he became aware of a humming sound. At first he didn't think much about it, but after a while he began to wonder what it was and where it came from. Then he noticed that when his ear was close to the tree it sounded louder.

Bad Jump Bidding

One very strong suit does not warrant a jump bid—particularly a strong minor suit. South's bidding, in the hand shown below, is typical of the way many non-experts would treat such a hand.

East dealer. Neither side vulnerable. ♠ 10 5 4 ♣ K 8 5 2 ♢ J 10 8 5 ♠ A 9 8 7 3 ♣ A 3 ♢ A 6 2 ♠ 4 ♣ 7 6 ♢ K 3 ♠ K Q J 10 6 3 ♣ A K Q J 10 6 3 ♠ 1 ♣ 3 ♢ 5 ♣ 4 ♠ 3 ♢ 4 ♠ 2 ♢ 3 ♠ Pass ♣ Pass ♢ Pass ♠ Pass ♣ Pass ♢ Pass

There wasn't much to the play. South lost two spades, a heart and a diamond for a penalty of 300 points less 150 honors. But South also lost the confidence of her partner in her jump bids, and that sort of loss is usually more expensive than an occasional big set.

The jump overall, when used as a strong bid, indicates a hand that will produce a game if partner can furnish about one or two tricks. The jump overall therefore is necessary only to invite a light raise or a light bid by your partner. If your partner has a good hand, he will bid even if you don't jump.

Now look at the South hand and see if it will produce a game opposite a hand containing one or two playing tricks. South can count on making seven clubs and probably a diamond. She therefore needs three fast tricks from her partner to make game at clubs. For game at no-trump her partner must furnish a stopper in spades and probably an ace to add to the seven club tricks.

Obviously North would bid voluntarily if he had enough to produce a game at clubs. And you can not afford to let the hand play at no-trump unless North had enough to bid it voluntarily—that is, without the encouragement of a jump bid. The jump bids were therefore pointless as well as unprofitable.

Yesterday you were David Burnstone's partner and, with both sides vulnerable, you held:

♠ J 10 9 6 3 2 ♣ K Q 8 4 ♢ K Q ♠ K ♠ The bidding: Burnstone Schenken You Jacoby 1♠ Pass 1♠ Pass 2NT Pass 3♠ Pass 3NT Pass (?) Answer—Bid four spades. This is a slight underbid, but you must usually rely on your partner to initiate slam tries when your hand is aceless. Your bidding shows a strong hand with 10 cards in the major suits, and your partner will show signs of ambition if he has enough to produce a slam.

Score 100 per cent for four spades, 80 per cent for five spades, 50 per cent for pass.

Question No. 1,006. Today you hold the same hand, but the bidding is different:

Burnstone Schenken You Jacoby 1♠ Pass 1♠ Pass 2NT Pass 3♠ Pass 3♠ Pass (?) What do you bid? (Answer to-morrow.) (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Take My Word for It

By FRANK COLBY.

Born—Borne

This week's Slip o' the Tongue: "Her sorrows were born in silence." No. Best usage restricts "born" to the meaning of "having been given birth to." Better say: Her sorrows were borne in silence. Wrong: "He was born in California." This is a common error. Do not add "ed" to born to form a past tense, for born itself is the past participle of the verb "to bear" as also is borne. Better say: He was born in California. Wrong: "She was born by a mother of Spanish blood." No. When followed by the word "by," the correct form to use is "borne." Therefore, she was borne by a mother of Spanish blood. Note. Born and borne are pronounced differently. The vowel sound of born is the "aw" as heard in corn, horn, morn. Say: bawrn. The vowel sound of borne is "oe" as in hoe, roe, toe. Say: boern.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Sappho Holds Place as Pioneer Woman Poet

One account says that she traveled to the distant island of Sicily, southwest of Italy. The people of her native island of Lesbos are said to have set up a monument in her honor after she died. Yet it is not certain whether her death took place there or in Sicily. One writer declares that another woman named Sappho lived on the island of Lesbos at almost the same time. He adds that certain stories about the other Sappho have been mixed with the life of the poetess. One such story speaks of Sappho falling in love with a young man named Phaon. Since he did not return her love, she climbed a high cliff and plunged into the sea. For a long time, that story was told as the truth about the poetess, but modern scholars think it is only a myth, or else an event in the life of a different woman. (For biography section of your scrapbook.) If you want a free copy of the illustrated leaflet "Sappho and Stamp Collecting" send me a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of The Evening Star.

her poems tells of her great love for her husband. A daughter named Cleis was born to the couple, but within a year or two afterward Sappho was saddened by her husband's death. In the time which followed, she wrote many poems, and this perhaps helped her to recover from her sorrow. The later history of the famous poetess is less clear than her early life. It seems that she spent some years on the mainland of Greece.

MY SCALP IS VERY FOND OF THOMAS

says WILLIAM GAXTON

Starring in "Louisiana Purchase" at the National Theater February 23rd to 28th, Inclusive

"My scalp doesn't make friends very easily. Always has been pretty particular—maybe a little 'stand-offish.' I have bought it gallons of lovely lotions—but they merely seemed to irritate it. But when I introduced it to Thomas—ah, everything was different. A warm, glowing friendship immediately sprung up, and my scalp has been humming contentedly ever since the first meeting. Thomas treats my scalp in a friendly, soothing, yet stimulating way, and my hair seems to be responding very well to this pleasant relationship," says William Gaxton.

More than a quarter-million scalps have found Thomas treatment to their liking. For them Thomas has removed dandruff and soothed the itch which dandruff frequently causes. Why not give your scalp a break—help it to do a job for your hair. Consult a Thomas expert today—in private—without charge. Let him show you exactly how this 20-year proved method works and why it is so effective.

Record Tax Collection

Treasury Seeks to Halt
Business Dislocation Due To Currency Withdrawal

By the Associated Press.
The Treasury today looked forward to a record-breaking $2,750,000,000 cash collection of income taxes next month.

The sum, more than double the collections of any previous single month in American history, is so large that officials have mapped precautions against any upset to the Nation's business arising from the withdrawal of so much money from circulation.

Most of the money will be turned over to the Treasury on one day—March 16—the last day for filing annual income tax returns. Approximately half of the sum will come from corporations and the balance from individuals. The crest of the wave comes a day late this year, because the regular filing date—March 15—falls on Sunday.

W. P. A. Workers May Pay.
The income tax to be paid next month will be the first under the drastic revision authorized by Congress last autumn. Because of reduced personal exemptions, the tax will for the first time fall on millions of small wage earners.

Thus, the tax which at one time was popularly believed to affect only film stars, bankers and such, will even hit W. P. A. workers, in some cases. Single workers earning as little as $15 a week may have to pay tax. Family heads will start paying tax at about $30 a week.

Tax Notes Sold.
The biggest single month income tax collection before was in March of last year, when the "take" was $1,208,000,000. Another new record is possible in March of next year, since Congress and the Treasury are preparing even stiffer tax proposals.

To counteract the immediate impact of such huge collections, the Treasury plans, for one thing, to pay off about $600,000,000 of its debts around the middle of March, though a few weeks later it may have to borrow several times that amount.

Another step has been to sell tax notes to citizens to give them a means of paying their taxes in advance and minimize the amount of cash to be turned over on the one day, March 16.
