

Coasts of Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey Ordered Blacked Out

In Effort to Cut Sinkings, Army Moves to Prevent Silhouetting of Vessels

Lights of shops and windows facing the ocean at beaches and resorts along several Eastern seaboard States were blacked out last night in an effort to reduce shipsinkings.

A blackout order, issued at the request of the Army, applied to New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia, the Associated Press reported.

The blackout will continue until lights can be adjusted to prevent silhouettes of ships at sea.

Lights must not glow out over the water, specified Army officials.

At Atlantic City, the order meant darkening of 20 theater marquees and thousands of colorful neon signs.

Shades Must Be Drawn. Boardwalk stores were required to reduce their display window lighting by half and to shelter the windows with awnings to prevent glare.

In rooms facing the ocean, in hotels, apartments, residences and beach-front office buildings, read the order issued by the Atlantic City Civilian Defense Council, "lights must not glow out over the water."

Gov. Darden of Virginia, in issuing an executive order directing elimination of ocean-front illumination, acted under the provisions of a bill adopted at the recent General Assembly.

Maryland, Col. Enry S. Barrett, director of State law-enforcement, who relayed the order as it originated with Lt. Gen. Hugh Drum of the First Army, said a lighting expert would be sent to Ocean City next week to aid local authorities in devising the means to comply with the Army request.

Mariage License Applications. Under D. C. law, couples must apply for a marriage license on one day, wait three full days, receive their license on the fifth day.

Lily Pons Meets Kostelanetz Here for Program Tonight

Lily Pons and her conductor husband, Andre Kostelanetz will make their first joint appearance before Washington music lovers tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the concert of the National Symphony Orchestra at Constitution Hall.

Miss Pons, well famed after a brief vacation at Miami Beach, met the maestro, who flew down from New York, at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday afternoon, where they gave the press an interview.

Mr. Kostelanetz, perhaps most widely known for his radio and recorded music, has never been able to find an adjective that would adequately describe the style of music which typifies the distinctive arrangements of his own orchestra.

"We try to play popular music great, and great music in a popular manner," he says.

His 45-piece orchestra is made up of musicians who "double" on as many as five instruments. The violin, he says, is the most important instrument of the orchestra.

The National Symphony Orchestra press agent would have reporters believe that 13 is Miss Pons' lucky number.

Tonight's program of the National Symphony Orchestra, under Mr. Kostelanetz' baton, will include: Overture to "Rosamunde," Schubert; "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto," Verdi; "Lo, Here the Gentle Lark," Bishop with Miss Pons vocalizing; "The Swan of Tuonela," Sibelius; "Divertissement," Ibert; "Les Roses d'Isphahan," "Variations," Mozart; La Forge (Miss Pons); "Romeo and Juliet," Tchaikovsky; excerpts from "The Daughter of the Regiment," Donizetti (Miss Pons).

Dr. Walsh Sees Public Rebellious Against War Labor's Demands

Vice President of G. U. Cites Fall of France Through Similar Course

Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, last night rebuked labor for continued wartime strikes and "excessive demands," warning that the American public "will not idly look on and meekly submit to become another France."

Both Congress and labor, by their failure to recognize the need for sacrifices at the cost of social gains, are following much the same course that caused France to fall into Hitler's lap like an "over-ripe apple," he told an audience in Memorial Continental Hall. In presenting the third lecture in a course on "America Faces Total War," under auspices of the School of Foreign Service.

Sees Axis Promptings

Dr. Walsh declared that "the enemy must chuckle to behold Congress tediously debating whether or not to abolish the 40-hour week in industry and hesitating over the problem of strikes in essential plants." As in the case of France, he warned, the dictators have even directed their radio broadcasts to labor in the United States, "warning American workmen not to tolerate any emergency measures designed to increase production or decrease walkouts."

The taxpayer is "scraping the bottom of the barrel for Mr. Morgenthau and getting ready to sell the barrel itself next year," the Georgetown educator declared, while American boys are fighting for $21 a month. In the face of these sacrifices, he reminded, "it is with amazement and growing indignation that the American public hears of new threats, new strikes and excessive demands."

Calls for Steady Hands

It was particularly to the latest demands of the C. I. O. upon General Motors of Detroit that Dr. Walsh directed the attention of his audience. He said, "If such a spirit persists in labor relations, I know not how long the American people can be restrained. They simply will not look idly on and meekly submit to become another France."

The need has come, he said, for cool heads and steady hands on the wheel of the ship of state.

Dr. Walsh will give his next lecture the evening of March 27 at 8:30 o'clock.

Barber Is Held for Jury In Attack on Policeman

Robert A. Sibley, Jr., 29, a barber who lives in Takoma Park, Md., was held under $5,000 bond for grand jury action yesterday when taken before Police Court Judge George D. Nelson on a charge of assault with intent to kill Policeman C. R. Blick of No. 10 precinct Wednesday night with a vest pocket type revolver.

Judge Nelson sentenced Sibley to pay a $500 fine or serve 360 days in jail on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon.

Policeman Blick testified the gun was fired twice after he questioned Sibley about having a gun when the defendant left a barber shop in the 2700 block of Fourteenth street N.W.

Sibley testified he had the gun for protection against a man who had threatened him and claimed the weapon was accidentally fired when he was grabbed by Officer Blick and another man. He denied he fired the weapon at anyone and said he had taken it from his pocket to give it to the policeman. He said he previously had sought a warrant for the arrest of the man who he claimed had threatened him.

La Follette Proposes Civilian Production For Small Business

Urges U. S. Corporation To Protect Firms Not In War Manufacture

By the Associated Press. Senator La Follette, Progressive, of Wisconsin proposed today that the Government arbitrarily assign to small business concerns the major share of necessary wartime civilian production to offset, in part, their lack of military supply contracts. Charging that big business was "intrenched" in the W. P. B., Senator La Follette told reporters that he was satisfied that some representatives of large firms there were taking advantage of conditions to "liquidate" competition. "Thousands of small businesses in America are being strangled to death by Government red tape and maladministration," he declared. "Despite all of the eloquent lip service and the rapid succession of defunct programs on the part of the Government, the average small business confronts a desperate situation."

This was emphasized, Senator La Follette said, by the fact that up to last month only 8,238 manufacturing concerns out of 184,000 in the country held prime war contracts of $10,000 or more. He added that while some progress was being made in subcontracting, only 37 contracts had been made up to that time with industrial pools into which small firms had entered.

The result, he contended, was that big business was acquiring with Government aid vast new plant facilities which it would be able to convert to civilian production after the war.

Senator La Follette said he hoped headway also could be made toward bringing these firms into the military production program through a smaller war plants corporation which would finance the conversion of small plants and their participation in subcontracting.

Senator Taft, Republican, of Ohio predicted the Senate Banking Committee would approve a measure next week creating such a corporation in a form giving the War Production Board general supervision over its operations. Secretary of Commerce Jones has asked the committee to amend the measure, however, to link the corporation to the R. F. C.

Undersecretary of War Patterson told the committee yesterday that the War and Navy Departments expected soon to be in a position to guarantee R. F. C. loans that might be made to subcontractors to provide them with necessary working capital.

Because of this, Mr. Patterson said, he saw little need of creating a new corporation.

Kiepura, Tenor, Declares Nazi Soldiers Have Lost Morale

Jan Kiepura, Polish tenor, scheduled to sing tomorrow afternoon at Constitution Hall, stepped out of his role of singer yesterday to venture a few predictions on the international situation.

Mr. Kiepura points to his 12 years of singing in Europe, including four years in Germany, as proof of his familiarity with every-day life and the morale of people there. In addition, he said, his work as a benefit singer qualifies him to invade the field of politics. Fifty per cent of his concerts are given for relief organizations. In 37 concerts given for English, Polish and Jewish relief in the last year and a half, Mr. Kiepura grossed $103,000.

So, he declares, his prediction that no combination of nations can stand against Americans at war should carry some weight. Living with people from day to day, he said, provides the only adequate background for judging their morale and stamina. He thinks Americans have the stamina, but Germany does not.

"It is not the winter that is defeating Germany in Russia," said

Walling Says Ending 40-Hour Work Week Would Cut Output

Shortage of Materials To Hike Unemployment, Luncheon Group Told

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 21.—I. Metcalfe Walling, Federal wage and hour administrator, said today that no downward revision of the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act could possibly be made "without doing irreparable damage both to our production machine and to the health and efficiency of our workers operating that machine."

Speaking at a luncheon of the National Consumers' League, Mr. Walling said a careful consideration of all the facts of the case for and against the 40-hour week and overtime pay convinced him that— "It isn't the wage and hour law which must be adjusted to the war emergency—it is the reasoning about the law of editorial writers, certain legislators and non-defense employers that is in crying need of overhauling and adjustment." Saying a possible shortage of labor has been cited by many as a reason for the elimination of the existing wage and hour limitations, Mr. Walling declared that, on the contrary, there was a present and impending shortage of raw materials which threatened to increase unemployment.

5 Million Unemployed. As of January 1, 1942, he said, statistics reported by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt showed there were 5,000,000 workers unemployed.

Because of the scarcity of raw materials, Mr. Walling said, some industries, notably the costume jewelry industry of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, were "threatened by an almost complete shutdown." Before the end of 1942, he said, estimates of the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that nearly 8,000,000 workers would be unemployed. Mr. Walling conceded that most of those thrown out of work because of the conversion of industries to wartime production would eventually be re-employed, but added that "there is a substantial lag between layoffs." "We will still have to face the problem of considerable unemployment all through 1942." Commenting on an assertion that overtime provisions of the law, providing time and one half for work beyond 40 hours a week have been called by critics "a 50 per cent penalty on patriotism" of employers, Mr. Walling said that such critics include all industries—those producing war goods and those producing civilian goods—in their expressed objections.

English Boost Production. "Nothing is said," he added, "about limiting the changes to industries engaged only in war production. The changes would apply to all production covered by the wage and hour law."

Other critics, said Mr. Walling, have drawn a parallel between the American 40-hour week and that decreed in France during the administration of Leon Blum. He declared that such a parallel was "utter fallacy" because the French 40-hour week limited men to exactly that number of hours of work and limited the operation of production machinery to that number of hours. Under the American wage and hour law, he said, men may work any number of hours up to "those limits imposed by his physical strength and endurance." England is turning out tanks at five times the rate of August, 1940, Sir Gerald Campbell, British minister in Washington, told the luncheon meeting.

"The peoples of Britain have increased their productive capacity to a point never hitherto attained by them," he said. "Compared with 1918, there was an increase of a million more men at work in British munitions plants at the end of 1941."

Would-Be Attacker Flees When Woman Screams

Mrs. Anne Watts, 40, of 3808 W street N.W., reported to police that she screamed and frightened away a man who grabbed her by the arm and made indecent remarks to her while she was waiting for a cab at Connecticut avenue and 8 street N.W. at 10 o'clock last night. She described the man as colored, 35 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, round, dark-skinned face and neatly dressed in a dark gray suit and gray felt hat.

Assets Gain Shown By Building, Loan Associations Here

$173,139,929 February Total Is $13,191,706 Above Year Ago

By EDWARD C. STONE Combined assets of the building and loan associations doing business in the District of Columbia totaled $173,139,929 as of February 28 according to the monthly financial report released yesterday by F. Willson Camp, secretary. This reflects an increase of $13,191,706 over the comparable period of last year, although a slight decline in the preceding month is noted when resources reached the high water mark of $173,544,212.

Loans made on real estate at the end of February 1941 were given at $149,623,898 while this year the figure had climbed to $164,089,029 or an increase of $14,465,131. Amount due share holders also revealed a substantial gain, rising from $141,939,366 last year to $149,616,368 or a net increase of $7,677,002. Surplus and reserves continue to show marked improvement, growing $2,854,852 during the year. The present reserves, $13,890,601, are the highest ever recorded.

While construction loans reflected the expected slump the total amount of mortgage loans made during February showed an increase over 1941 of $323,358. Over $3,500,000 in advances were recorded during the month, the report disclosed.

Small share accounts closed during recent weeks indicate the investing members are taking advantage of the patriotic urging of the member groups and are transferring these funds to United States defense bonds. These withdrawals are paced, however, by share accounts opened by new members.

Stock Prices Follow In Slow Trading

Few Carriers, Motors and Coppers Make Fairly Good Showing

By VICTOR EUBANK Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, March 21.—Scattered stocks were successful in attracting timid buyers today, but many market leaders remained in the wall-follower division.

A few rails, motors and coppers acted fairly well after a hesitant start, but such gains appeared generally were negligible fractions.

Deals were sluggish, transfers for the two hours approximating 150,000 shares. Stimulating war news was lacking although boardrooms continued hopeful over MacArthur's chances of smashing the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific. Nothing particularly inspiring was discerned in business or industrial developments and the usual lightening of commitments for the week end again proved a restraining factor.

Among stocks Homestake Mining pulled another new year's low, along with American Telephone, Fargo Sugar and Union Carbide.

Session to Emphasize Material Conservation

War-time construction, stressing conservation of critical materials, will be the theme of meetings to be held in 21 cities by the Producers' Council, national association of building material units affiliated with the American Institute of Architects.

The first meeting will be held here next Friday at the Mayflower Hotel. Richmond H. Shreve of New York, president of the A. I. A., will preside. Speakers will include Lessing J. Rosenwald, chief of the Bureau of Industrial Conservation, W. P. B. Stephen F. Voorhees, special adviser, construction branch, W. P. B.; Maj. Gen. Eugene Reynolds, chief of engineers, U. S. A.; Capt. L. B. Combs, assistant chief, Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, and D. W. Kimball, president of Associated General Contractors of America.

Sentiment for Post-War Housing Move Urged

Formation of a Nation-wide organization to mobilize public opinion for a vast post-war housing construction drive is urged by Dean Walter R. MacCormack of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, vice president of the American Institute of Architects. The work of the organization would be the "backbone" of a program for the rehabilitation of American cities now under consideration by the institute, according to Dean MacCormack.

Refreshing Color Scheme

A bedroom with walls painted a fresh light green to match the rug presents an atmosphere of cool and refreshing charm. The furniture, painted gray-green with an applied design of garlands, blends pleasingly with pale green chintz made into quilted spreads and the pleated dressing table flounce with quilted yoke. Flowered hooked rugs, flowered chair covers and ecur curtains complete the harmony.

Percentage Leases Solve Problem for Stores

Store leasing during the period of the war presents special problems, since these are days when merchants face uncertainties as to their supply of goods, may presently be unable to make automobile deliveries, may need to experiment with branch shops. The percentage lease (with a minimum fixed rental) and the option appear to present the most equitable solution of the problem for both tenant and landlord.

So says the Journal of Property Management in an article by A. E. MacDougall, New York, vice president of the Queensboro Corp., developers of Jackson Heights. His table of percentage lease rates applicable today, summarizing the experience of the Queensboro Corp. as to 71 types of retail businesses, is a feature of the April issue of the journal now on the press, an issue given over to war-period management methods.

Maryland Estate Sold

Stencils Glamorize Floors

An old floor can be glamorized with stencils. In a young girl's room the floor was enameled white and a two-color flower stencil applied at widely spaced intervals gave real swank to an old and badly worn floor. In another—a study-bedroom—one large square design repeated to make an all-over pattern worked magic in camouflaging the uneven floor.

Spy Film, Hawaiian Band Give Earle Bill Variety

And Its Musical Portion With Ray Kinney Is More Impressive Than Screen Drama Starring John Garfield, Nancy Coleman

By JAY CARMODY.

Hawaii, which contributed Ray Kinney, his band and his specialty artists, has been kinder to Earle than this week than has Hollywood...

Kinney's Hawaiian band and his aggregation of native entertainers put together a neat and varied show based upon the island's well known music and its equally well known dancing.

Apart from these whims of casting, "Dangerously They Live" does not do with some nasty people who kidnap a pretty girl working for British Intelligence...

The comedy part of the stage show is left to the agile bodies of the Carr brothers, a pair of acrobats who have discovered the art of pantomime as a decided asset to straight muscle stuff.

The effort to give "Dangerously They Live" a properly sinister tone never is realized, Massey, who is the chief evildoer, always looks so amiable and talks so softly that it is difficult to believe he really could harm the girl.

The girl in the case is Nancy Coleman who seems capable of starting her starring career in a part a little more substantial than that of a pretty amnesia victim.

Robert Florey who directed "Dangerously They Live" works hard to create the impression that terrible things always are about to happen. It is effort that accomplishes little.

Kinney's musical contribution to "The Shanghai Gesture" is more impressive than the screen drama...

IN THE SPRING A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY—Being Victor Moore in a very tender moment, on bended knee before the coy Miss Irene Bordoni. It's a scene, you might have guessed, from "Louisiana Purchase," now at the Metropolitan.

Mr. Hinds' Second Career Is Busy and Profitable

He Turned to Acting After Crash Of 1929, and Now He Makes 30 Films Every Year

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN

For any director's money—and the average fan's, too—Samuel Hinds is one of the best-wearing actors in all Hollywood. If not, then a lot of studios are wasting good money...

You don't know Hinds by name? Identified as the tall, dignified, soft-voiced gentleman who specializes in lawyer and doctor roles. His best known enactment, of course, is that of Dr. Kildare's doctor-father in the Barrymore-Ayres hospital series.

Undeterred, he sought his own movie jobs. He walked from one studio to another because he had no car, and not enough small change for both bus transportation and eating.

"Fantasia" Stays: "Fantasia," Mr. Walt Disney's excursion into the realm of music interpretation, remains for a second week at Keith's in its return to town for a popular-pricing engagement.
