

Japanese Land in West Burma, Flanking Main British Lines Guarding Irrawaddy Oil Field

Move Brings Enemy 100 Miles From Indian Frontier

LONDON, April 2.—A Chinese spokesman in Chungking said today that Japanese troops, covered by force of cruisers and destroyers, had landed at the chief West Burma port of Akyab, bringing the war within 100 miles of the Indian frontier and posing a new flanking threat to the main British lines guarding the Central Burma oil fields.

There was no official confirmation of the statement in London. But British observers did not minimize the threat, and predicted that any Japanese flanking attack from such a base soon would make the present British positions, based on Promé 180 miles southeast of Akyab, untenable.

At the same time the Nazi-controlled Paris radio broadcast reports that powerful enemy forces sent up the Sittoung River to land Yedashé, some 18 miles north of Toungoo, were threatening anew the Chinese lines centered on Nangun, only 12 miles above Toungoo, along the Mandalay-Rangoon rail line.

Raid on North Burma. Communicated by both the British and Chinese headquarters told of a raid on north Burma yesterday as the Japanese continued to press the advantage of their air superiority. The British said the raid was directed at an airdrome. Chinese headquarters said the Japanese hurled 27 bombers and 15 fighters at a North Burma town not previously attacked (perhaps Mandalay itself) and then returned at dusk in a second assault.

Some casualties were reported but the Chinese said damage was negligible.

Akyab, on the western coastal plain, is separated from the Irrawaddy River basin by the Arakan Yoma Mountain range. But observers pointed out that a trail leads from Akyab across the mountains to Minbu, on the Irrawaddy 100 miles north of Promé, center of the Burma oil fields which are the chief goal of the Japanese drive.

Defenders Outnumbered. The British and Indian troops now holding Promé already are outnumbered by the Japanese and hostile Burmese forces.

Akyab, which at the last census had a population of 38,094, lies 350 miles across the Bay of Bengal from Calcutta. It is one of the few serviceable ports between Japanese-held Rangoon, the former Burma capital, and Chittagong, to the north.

(An air-raid alert sounded in the Colombo area of Ceylon this morning, with the all-clear given soon afterward. No incidents were reported.)

British dispatches from Chungking said that as a result of recent conversations there, the Chinese forces in Burma would remain under the command of Lt. Gen. H. R. L. G. Alexander, the British commander in chief for Burma, and that Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, the United States officer commanding the Chinese, would be under Gen. Alexander's orders.

British Report No Change Along Irrawaddy Front

NEW DELHI, India, April 2 (AP).—A British communique reported today there had been no substantial change since yesterday on the western, or Irrawaddy front, where the main British forces now are holding a line south of Promé.

It said a reconnaissance in force down the railway line (to Rangoon) destroyed an enemy patrol; otherwise there has been no contact with the enemy.

Hostile Burmese forces on the western front now number more than 4,000, it added. More than 1,000 of this force were said to have been located yesterday on the west bank of the Irrawaddy River opposite Promé, in an infiltration threat to the British right flank.

Japanese scouting planes were active over the whole front yesterday, the communique said, and an airdrome in Northern Burma was raided, but no details had been received of damage or casualties.

Federal Bar to Hear Dr. Hu at Conference

The Federal Bar Association will have Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese Ambassador, as principal speaker at its annual conference at the National Archives auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, April 13.

The Ambassador, who will be introduced by Associate Justice Justin Miller of the Court of Appeals, will speak on "Law and Lawyers in Historic China."

Brig. Gen. Albert L. Cox, commanding officer of the Washington Brigade, will speak on "The Lawyer in War." Emory J. Woodall, chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, will preside, and William E. Reese, president of the association, will welcome the guests.

A story in The Star Tuesday erroneously reported that Dr. Hu Shih would speak at a luncheon of the association today.

Norris 'Up' in Hospital

Senator Norris, Independent, of Nebraska, in the Naval Hospital for a brief physical checkup, was "up and around" today and his progress was described by hospital authorities as satisfactory.

Japs Shell and Bomb Defense Positions on Bataan Peninsula

Bombers Make Their 10th Futile Attempt to Knock Out Corregidor

Japanese artillery and dive bombers shelled and bombed American-Filipino positions on the Bataan front today, but aside from sharp infantry skirmishes, the War Department reported no "general action" on the land to indicate that the Nipponese were returning to their savage attacks of the last 24 hours.

Several enemy air raids on rear installations, beach defenses and troops in the forward areas were reported, while Japanese bombers made their 10th futile attempt to knock out the Corregidor fortress.

Accurate anti-aircraft fire from the island forced the Japs to stay at "extreme altitudes" and consequently the bombing was ineffective. Corregidor guns also returned the fire of Japanese batteries from Cavite.

Little Land Activity.

The land activity in Bataan the communique stated, was confined to aggressive patrol activity on both sides. No casualties were reported by Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, whose main lines across the peninsula have held steadfastly against incessant attacks of the last few days.

It was believed here that many of the Japanese bombers operating in the Bataan area during the last week have been withdrawn to reinforce depleted air forces in Australia and Burma. Relatively few Japanese planes have taken part in the daily raids on Corregidor since the initial attacks of March 24 and 25, only two planes coming over at a time yesterday.

Two Bases Attacked.

It was announced yesterday that American-Filipino commandos have raided two Japanese bases on the southern Philippine island of Mindanao, and military observers predicted the invaders would be attacked frequently by thousands of native fighters hidden in teak and ebony forests of the island.

One raid was on the hamlet of Digos, 23 miles south of the main Japanese base at Davao. A small force of United States troops burned 22 warehouses of food, gasoline and ammunition, destroyed military equipment and escaped to the forest of Cotabato, 10 miles to the west, without losing a man.

The supplies were believed to be part of the stores the Japanese are accumulating for the drive against New Guinea and Australia and such raids may upset the enemy's timetable. Units engaged were identified in the Army's communique yesterday as merely "our troops" with no indication of whether they were American or Filipino.

Cripps and Indians Hint Willingness For Compromise

Detailed Reply Rejecting British Proposals Is Delivered to Envoy

NEW DELHI, India, April 2.—Both Sir Stafford Cripps, special British envoy to India, and the All-India Congress party indicated today a willingness to negotiate a compromise solution of the Indian independence problem.

The Executive Committee of the party, India's most powerful political organization, this afternoon delivered its rejection of a British offer of post-war dominion status in return for full war participation now under British guidance.

But it was understood that the committee also was drafting counter-proposals to be submitted to Cripps and his British cabinet member so desirous.

Dear Ajar for Negotiations.

By postponing his departure for home in the midst of the evident stalemate over Britain's take-it-or-leave-it offer, Cripps seemed to have left the door ajar for negotiation on counterproposals.

Before he did this and before it became known that the Congress party committee was drafting a counterplan, virtually all hope for the success of the Cripps mission had vanished.

Cripps received the Congress party's reply when he was visited by Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, party president, and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, past president.

The two Indian leaders stayed for Cripps and on their departure, Cripps told reporters, "I hope there will be many more meetings between us."

Reply Is Detailed.

The party's reply, approved after five days of deliberation, was reported to be detailed in reasons for the rejection.

It was understood to criticize the British proposal that direction of Indian defense remain entirely in British hands rather than Indian military men, and to question both the option which Britain would give certain provinces to remain outside the future Indian union and the representation of the Indian principalities in the future constitution-making body.

It was possible that the text of the resolution of rejection would not be published immediately. Thus, before it is brought into the open, Cripps could devote further efforts to narrowing the difficulties he referred to in the press conference in which he announced delay of his departure, first scheduled for Monday.

The Congress party's decision not to turn down the Cripps offer without suggesting an alternative was considered a hopeful sign, especially as Cripps had indicated there might be a chance of compromise on the defense issue.

Paris Environs And Nazi Plants Raided by R.A.F.

15 Bombers Missing From Attacks, Says Air Ministry

LONDON, April 2.—The British air force bombed industrial objectives and communications in West and Northwest Germany and the environs of Paris last night in far-ranging raids from which 15 bombers are missing, the Air Ministry said today.

(A German report said 11 bombers were shot down over Germany.)

Authoritative British interpretation saw these attacks as new blows in the battle for Russia, since they were directed primarily against railway lines which carry munitions from the Ruhr to the eastern front and against a truck-making factory 8 miles outside Paris.

Matford Works Target.

"In occupied territory," the Air Ministry said, "bombing attacks were made on the Matford (truck) works at Poissy (a suburb of Paris) and on the docks and shipping at Le Havre."

"Mines were laid in enemy waters."

Enemy command aircraft attacked objectives in Belgium and Northern France and during these thrusts an enemy bomber was destroyed, the ministry reported.

The attack on the Matford works at Poissy was the second in less than a month. The previous assault took place in broad daylight on March 8, when bombs were reported to have fallen squarely on the plant, which the British said was turning out 20 trucks daily for the Nazi war machine.

(The Ford Motor Co. has an interest in the Matford works, but at Ford headquarters in Detroit it was said there had been no contact with the plant in the Paris suburbs since the conquest of France. The Matford concern was formed about 10 years ago, Ford interests combining with the Mathis Co., a French Alsatian firm, for the manufacture of light cars.)

Fighter-Bombers Active.

The raids were the first the R. A. F.'s big bombers were able to make in force since the German Baltic port of Luebeck was blasted last Saturday night.

A Czech pilot shot down one Junker 88 and damaged another as they were taking off from a German-occupied airdrome on the continent, it was said.

11 Bombers Shot Down Last Night, Nazis Say

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 2 (AP).—The German high command announced today that 11 British bombers were shot down during "nuisance raids" over Western Germany last night.

It said the raiders inflicted only "slight" material damage and reported "some losses" among civilian population.

West, Northwest Outskirts Of Paris Reported Bombed

VICHY, April 2 (AP).—The British air force dropped bombs in the west and northwest outskirts of Paris early today and "so far one death and several wounded are reported," the Vichy news agency said.

The alert lasted from 4 to 5:30 a.m. "The number of points," the news agency reported, "particularly at Rueil, Cormeilles-en-Parisis, Sannois and Poissy."

Anti-aircraft defenses of Paris, however, entered the action.

The Matford truck factory at suburban Poissy was reported to have been slightly damaged.

3,000 Nazis Annihilated In 2 Days, Russians Claim

MOSCOW, April 2.—The Soviet government today said troops on the Leningrad front had effected a number of successes, annihilating about 3,000 German officers and soldiers.

Twenty-four German planes were reported to have been destroyed Tuesday, against a loss of 13 Russian planes.

The Soviet Information Bureau's midday communique reported no essential change on the front during the night.

It reported, however, that more than 300 German officers and men had been wiped out in one day's fighting on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow while 180 officers and men were killed in fighting in another sector.

Nazis Claim Effective Results.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 2 (AP).—The military command reported today that "highly important" in the suburbs of Leningrad were subject to heavy artillery fire in German offensive operations that from front.

"Effective results could be observed," the war bulletin added.

Truck Tears Off Girl's Leg; First-Aider Saves Her Life

Treasury Worker Uses His Belt As Tourniquet

A 24-year-old Labor Department stenographer was saved from bleeding to death this morning by a Treasury section chief who has been taking first-aid lessons. He used his belt to apply a tourniquet after the girl's leg had been torn to pieces by a truck while she was standing at a bus stop in Arlington Village.

The girl, Mrs. Mildred Navin, who lives in Arlington Village, was so badly injured her right leg had to be amputated below the knee at Emergency Hospital, where she was taken by the Arlington Rescue Squad. Her condition was given as serious, but not critical.

The man who applied the tourniquet was Roy E. James, 32, also a resident of Arlington Village, chief of the audit section, Customs Bureau, Treasury Department.

Miss Margaret Covey, 26, also of Arlington Village, was knocked down in the same accident, but was not requiring hospital attention.

Mr. James said he was standing at Sixteenth and South Edgewood streets waiting for a bus, along with a group of 10 or 12 other persons, when the accident occurred.

"Mrs. Navin and Miss Covey were standing at the rear of a car that was parked at a 45-degree angle, next to the street, also waiting for

Torpedoed Ship Sinks Amid Hail of Shells Off Atlantic Coast

(Earlier Sinking Story on Page A-8.)

By the Associated Press. GLOUCESTER, N. J., April 2.—Battered and set afire by torpedoes from an enemy submarine, a medium-sized Norwegian motor tanker sank under a hail of shells off the Atlantic Coast early on the morning of March 27, the 4th Naval District announced today.

Eight of the crew of 37, including most of the ship's officers, are missing and believed dead. The 29 survivors were picked up by a Portuguese freighter after spending about seven and one-half hours in two lifeboats and one-half hour here March 31.

The 58-year-old chief engineer of the tanker said the attack came without warning about 2:30 a.m. The ship was struck by two and perhaps three torpedoes, he said, and was bombarded by about 50 shells before she finally went down.

Bridge Set Aflame.

The first torpedo struck just forward of the bridge on the port side, setting the bridge afire. It was followed almost immediately by a second, which struck just behind the amidships section, the chief engineer said.

The crew abandoned ship within a few minutes after the attack. The submarine then rose to the surface and shelled the burning hulk until it sank five hours later.

One survivor, who was in his cabin when the attack began, said a third torpedo hit the ship on the port side, aft, after two lifeboats were launched.

Sub Remains Near Scene.

He said the bridge and oil-soaked sections of the ship were ablaze when he reached the deck after the first explosion, and that apparently none of the ship's officers who were on the bridge was saved.

The submarine was sighted by the survivors about two hours after the attack. They said it remained on the scene until about 8 a.m.

The men drifted in the lifeboats until midmorning, when they were sighted and picked up by the freighter.

For a Stronger America— Ballou Asks Funds to Expand Physical Training in Schools

Appropriate Time To Renew Efforts For Aid, He Says

(14th of a Series.)

By JOHN W. THOMPSON, JR., Supt. of Schools Frank W. Ballou yesterday called for funds to put into effect an expanded health and physical education program in the schools as a contribution to the war effort.

The Star has been advocating such a program in a series of articles to which Dr. Ballou referred in his report as another illustration of the "genuine interest" in the issue of physical fitness for the youth who may soon be called to serve their country.

School officials, he told the Board of Education, have developed a comprehensive program, but are unable to put it into effect through lack of personnel. The officers, however, are ready and anxious to go ahead as soon as money can be obtained, he said.

"This seems to be an appropriate time to renew our effort to secure appropriations," he declared.

Dr. Ballou also advised the board that school officials have placed health and physical education first on the list for immediate consideration in the program of curriculum

Warplane Czar Urged to Break Bottlenecks

Senate Probers Rap Armed Forces For Poor Planning

(Earlier Sinking Story on Page A-8.)

By the Associated Press. Criticizing the Nation's armed forces for a "poor job of over-all planning," the Senate Defense Investigating Committee recommended today that the War Production Board draft a framed aircraft executive to direct a drive to break the bottlenecks which are "holding up peak production" in the warplane program.

Summarizing a subcommittee's visit to the West Coast, the committee reported that plane assembly lines in big plants were not running to capacity because of recurring shortages of some vital parts being produced by subcontractors.

"A poor job of over-all planning, from aluminum ingots to finished aircraft, by the armed services and the old O. P. M. (Office of Production Management) must be blamed for the present situation," the committee said in its report. "The usual red tape and delays in making contracts also were partly responsible."

Single Executive Urged.

The committee recommended that the W. P. B. set up a section charged with over-all planning for aircraft production, headed by a trained production executive drafted from the industry.

"The subcommittee had been told," the report commented, "that the W. P. B. still does not have a single top-notch aircraft production man in its organization."

The report recommended also that "instead of wasting its energies on a generalized plea for 'all-out production,' which has confused management, labor and the public, the W. P. B. concentrate its efforts on breaking those bottlenecks which are, in the aircraft industry, the subcommittee's certain knowledge and probably in other fields, really holding up peak production."

Reviewing the production of aluminum, the committee said that evidence gathered by its subcommittee "indicated there is still something seriously wrong in the light metals section of the War Production Board, successor to the old O. P. M. section, which failed so miserably to initiate and prepare for the greatly increased demand for these metals."

Shipbuilding "Amazing."

The committee said that its investigation of shipbuilding work had disclosed "truly amazing" progress in erecting yards. It commented also that labor relations in the plants it visited were "excellent."

The committee found that employing more West Coast workers would require 48 hours a week, adding that "comments of several executives indicated that the overtime pay for the 8 hours over 40 was figured as part of weekly earnings and that if it were eliminated, it might be necessary to increase hourly rate to provide approximately the same weekly earnings."

It found only one employer, the committee said, who complained of "slow downs" or who said that modification of the 40-hour week might lead to greater production. It noted this employer's relations with his employees were "not good or harmonious."

Rubber Farms Visited.

Visiting guayule rubber plantings at Salinas, Calif., the committee said it found that there was not now sufficient seed to make possible production in quantities sufficient to alleviate the rubber shortage within three or four years.

Inspecting defense installations on the West Coast, the committee said it felt that "effective measures have been taken to meet any attack." It said that while there was no technical unity of command, "there is complete unity of information." It added that in case of an attack "there would be a complete coordination of efforts as possible without unity of command."

D. C. Court Merger Bill Approved by President

The President today signed the bill merging the Police and Municipal Courts and establishing a Municipal Court of Appeals for the District.

The measure consolidating the two lower courts and creating a new intermediate court, in the interest of efficiency and to relieve the higher courts here of a large proportion of local civil cases they now handle went to the White House following Senate approval of the conference agreement on March 26.

The only major controversy in Congress over the bill was on the question of residence qualifications of the judges which was finally compromised to provide that eight of the 10 lower court judges and all three of the new appellate court judges must be bona fide residents of the District who have practiced in the District courts for five years.

In the merger, one more judge will be added to the nine judges now in the Police and Municipal Courts and one of the 10 will be designated chief judge to supervise administration of the court's work.

The merged court will have a criminal and a civil branch and the jurisdiction of the civil branch is being raised from the $1,000 limit now applying in Municipal Court to lawsuits involving up to $5,000.

Mrs. Small Convicted Of Embezzling $392 In Dog Tax Funds

Jury Returns Verdict Against 79-Year-Old Woman in 40 Minutes

After deliberating 40 minutes, a District Court jury today found Mrs. Hattie P. Small, 79, former employee of the dog tax collection unit of the District Government, guilty of embezzling $392 in revenue from that office.

Defense lawyers indicated they would appeal the case to the United States Court of Appeals.

At Liberty on Bond.

Justice F. Dickinson Letts permitted Mrs. Small to remain at liberty on $500 bond.

The jury found her guilty on all 30 counts of the indictment, each of which charged her with embezzling sums ranging from $6 to $24. There were three women on the jury.

Closing arguments were delivered yesterday afternoon. Assistant United States Attorney John L. Laskey contended that Mrs. Small embezzled some $4,000, although the indictment charged her with taking but $392. The prosecutor told the jury the defendant spent large amounts for beauty treatments and clothes and that she expended in 1939 and 1940 sums equaling her income.

Receipt Stubs Shown.

The stubs made in conjunction with the dog tax collections, the prosecutor asserted, were in a room adjoining the court and were made available to the defendant and her attorneys. The receipts in question were shown to be in the handwriting of the defendant, Mr. Laskey told the jury, and the amounts shown as taken in were also in her handwriting. A definite shortage was proven, the prosecutor maintained, the days named in the indictment being those on which no one but Mrs. Small issued dog tax receipts.

Mr. Laskey told the jurors that no one else at these times had an opportunity to extract the slips.

Challenges Proof of Guilt.

Attorney Tracy L. Jeffords, who with Attorney Gerald M. Johnson, defended Mrs. Small, told the jury in his closing argument that "they have not proved her guilty, because she is not guilty and because she is an honest woman."

"They say that she spent more money than she earned, but you can't draw any incriminating conclusions from that," asserted the defense lawyer, saying that doubtless the jurors themselves when paying their taxes last month expended more than they made.

Mr. Jeffords declared that "there is nothing to show she didn't have a nest egg back of that," adding that some of the money was spent by this woman, now 79 years old, in improving her appearance so that she might properly earn a living.

Communiques Skirmishes Feature Philippine Fighting

The text of War Department communique No. 172, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., follows:

1. Philippine theater: Aggressive patrol activity on both sides characterized the fighting in Bataan during the past 24 hours. There were a number of sharp skirmishes, but no general action. Enemy artillery and five bombers shelled and bombed our positions. There were several enemy air raids on our rear installations, beach defenses and troops in forward areas.

Intermittent air attacks on our beach defenses continued throughout the day and night. Enemy bombers were forced by our anti-aircraft fire to fly at extreme altitudes and consequently the bombing was inaccurate and ineffective. Hostile batteries on the south shore of Manila Bay shelled Corregidor. No damage was inflicted by either the bombing or the shelling. Our forces returned the fire of the enemy batteries.

2. There is nothing to report from other areas.

The text of the War Department's 171st communique of the war, outlining the military situation as of 4 p. m. E. W. T. yesterday, follows:

1. The Philippine theater: Heavy fighting in Bataan ceased early today. Superior enemy numbers and fire power forced some of our outposts to withdraw a short distance, but no material change in the situation resulted. The enemy suffered heavy casualties while our losses were slight.

Throughout April 1 the ground action in Bataan was limited to intensive patrol activity, with occasional sharp clashes.

Naval units shelled our positions along the west coast of Bataan, while dive bombers attacked our front lines.

There were several harassing enemy air raids on Corregidor which did little damage. During the afternoon these attacks were accompanied by the shelling of our fortifications by enemy batteries on the Cavite shore.

In Mindanao our forces carried out two raids which proved highly successful. A small number of our troops raided a Japanese supply base in the vicinity of Digos in Davao Gulf. Twenty-two enemy warehouses, containing large stocks of food, gasoline and ammunition and other military supplies, were burned to the ground. Several vehicles and other military equipment were destroyed. Our forces suffered no casualties.

In the other raid one of our native Olu units penetrated to the heart of the Japanese-occupied City of Zamboanga, taking the enemy completely by surprise. Our troops destroyed several machine gun nests and other military installations, inflicting heavy casualties. Following the raid, our troops withdrew without any losses.

2. There is nothing to report from other areas.

Don't be ashamed to carry home a box that isn't wrapped in precious paper. Be ashamed to waste.

Phone Official Says Hotels Collecting 10c For Call Violate Rate

Hearing Told Company Tried Unsuccessfully For Uniform Charge

Hotels and other business firms which charge 10 cents for local telephone calls are violating the 5-cent charge provision in published tariffs, a Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. official said today under questioning at a joint hearing by the Federal Communications Commission and the District Public Utilities Commission into complaints of overcharging.

David E. McCoy, general commercial manager of the telephone firm, said his company unsuccessfully sought a uniform phone rate in urging subscribers to install facilities directly connected with the central telephone exchanges.

He added that his company tried to obtain observance of the 5-cent charge, inasmuch as the telephone company provided direct service or even withdraw it where it knows rules and regulations are being violated. He made that statement under questioning by Harold J. Cohen, F. C. C. counsel.

Company Counsel Interrupts.

At this point R. A. Van Orsdel, telephone company counsel, interrupted the examination to say it had been determined that if the telephone company provided direct facilities at 5-cent rates in the hotels, phone users would have the option of paying 5 or 10 cents a call. That had been done, Mr. Van Orsdel said.

Mr. McCoy was questioned particularly by the F. C. C. attorney as to public facilities at the Washington and Willard Hotels. He said these hotels had a small auxiliary switchboard, presided over by an operator, who took orders for telephone calls. On completion of the call by the operator, Mr. McCoy explained, the calling party was connected with a telephone in a nearby hotel.

He said that he did not know the charge made for such local calls, but believed it was 10 cents. In such instances, he explained, the operator, if unable to complete the call immediately, continued to try while the applicant waited.

Similar Services at Station.

Mr. McCoy then was questioned about similar service at the Union Station. He admitted that the telephone company maintained this service, with operators performing substantially the same service as those in the hotels. He said the telephone company collected only 5 cents a local call at the Union Station.

However, he told the commissions that he did not know all of the requirements imposed on hotel operators, but added, generally speaking, there was no difference between the hotel and Union Station service.

Mr. McCoy said the telephone company had received only a few complaints over a period of years concerning alleged superior charges by hotels. One complaint, Important Japanese-occupied city of Zamboanga in a surprise raid. The Sulus destroyed several machine gun nests, inflicted heavy casualties and withdrew unscathed, apparently to the forests north of Zamboanga.

Mindanao has thousands of miles of rough country where native fighters can mass for sudden attacks—mountains, swamps, and forests of Ironwood, rattan, teak, ebony and juniper. The Lano Moros of the island already have 10,000 bolomen sworn on the Koran to drive out the Japanese or die.

Military men pointed out that pressure by bush-fighters may immobilize large Japanese units for garrison duties. It also would detract from the Japanese drive farther north, where Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's troops have repulsed the newest attack on Bataan.

Heavy fighting on the peninsula ended early yesterday. Although superior numbers of Japanese forced some United States outposts to withdraw a short distance, there was no material change in the situation. Gen. Wainwright's losses were slight, but the Japanese suffered heavy casualties.

There were occasional sharp clashes of patrols throughout the day yesterday, but otherwise ground activity was limited. Japanese naval vessels shelled the west coast of the peninsula and dive bombers attacked the front lines and Corregidor, but no serious damage was reported.

In Tokyo, imperial headquarters declared that anti-aircraft batteries, an airfield, barracks and other military establishments on Corregidor had been damaged beyond repair by repeated Japanese naval air attacks between March 24 and 31.

Although described as a heavy attack, the enemy assault, following a week of almost incessant bombing attacks of varying intensity on the Bataan positions and the Manila Bay forts, was regarded in military circles here as a test of the strength of Gen. Wainwright's lines rather than as the start of the long-expected decisive battle for the Philippines.

D. C. Fights Closing Of Night Recreation Facilities in Schools

Officials Seek $19,000 From Senate Unit to Continue Operation

District officials will make a last-minute move today to prevent the closing of night recreation activities in 40 schools when Acting Co-ordinator of Recreation Milo F. Christianson goes before a Senate subcommittee at 4 p. m. to seek some $19,000 to continue operation until June 30.

The money is needed to provide custodial service for 36 buildings and some leadership. The request for the deficiency appropriation has been approved by the Board of Education, the Commissioners and the Budget Bureau.

Even if Mr. Christianson is unable to obtain a promise from the Deficiency Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Commissioner Mason said he planned to appeal to the workers in the buildings to continue after Saturday with his promise to do all he can to get them the money due them.

Ordinarily night operation of the schools ceases about this time, it was explained, but this year, due to the war, the buildings are in continuous use in first aid and other defense classes and meetings as well as for recreation purposes.

Mr. Christianson said many requests have come in from civic and other groups that the operation continue.

The original appropriation of $40,000 for the custodians and part-time leadership, it was explained, was made before the war and present demands on the schools. Mr. Christianson is charged with issuing permits for after-school use of school facilities.

At this afternoon's committee meeting, it was added, other District requests totaling some $528,000 will also be considered.

House Survey Shows Sales Tax Favored, Oklahoman Reports

Disney Finds Sentiment Veering From Big Boosts In Income Levies

Representative Disney, Democrat, of Oklahoma said today a survey he had made showed that "an overwhelming majority" of the House would vote for a sales tax rather than for big increases in individual and corporation taxes proposed by the Treasury.

Asserting that Congress could not raise $7,000,000,000 from corporations and individuals, Mr. Disney said in a statement: "We will be compelled to go to a sales tax, such as we dislike to."

Mr. Disney, member of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been studying new sources of revenue for a month, said in his statement:

"I have made a general survey of the House which convinces me that an overwhelming majority will vote for a sales tax, rather than to increase income taxes sixfold in two years as would be the case under the Treasury's recommendations on average incomes."

The 1941 tax bill trebled the average tax paid by low and middle brackets, and the administration's new proposals would double existing levies.

Secretary Morgenthau presented a $7,610,000,000 tax program to the committee March 3, with $3,000,000,000 to be obtained from individuals and $3,000,000,000 from corporations.

Mr. Disney said that he favored a graduated sales tax with high rates on luxuries, low rates on necessities, and "very low rates" on cheaper food and clothing. That system would be more difficult to administer than a straight percentage on all items, but "would be fair," Mr. Disney said. He added that 22 States and Canada have a sales tax and it had been found easy to collect with no undue hardship such as a withholding tax like that the Treasury proposed would cause.

Mr. Morgenthau, has recommended that the Treasury be given discretionary authority to withhold at the source up to 10 per cent of a person's net income subject to normal taxes, with the deductions applicable as a credit for taxes paid against the annual income tax obligation.

Modest Flyer Who Sank Jap Sub Lauds His Crew for Quick Work

Lt. Edmundson Says Concussion 1,000 Feet Below Even Shook His Bomber

By WENDELL WEBB, Associated Press War Correspondent. HONOLULU, April 2.—The sinking of a Japanese submarine by a United States Army bomber, skippered by a youth who battled through the December holocaust in his bedroom slippers, came to light today as the result of a commendation by Secretary of the Navy Knox.

The skipper was First Lt. James V. Edmundson, 26, of Santa Monica, Calif., former football star at Santa Monica Junior College, an eager, rugged youth who "would do almost anything to get to Australia or anywhere, else to fight."

He was decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart today, but not for his feat in the air. It was because he was knocked down by a bomb fragment December 7 and got up again to do what he could to stem the Japanese attack. He still carries the scar on his forehead.

Lt. Edmundson has flown more than 40,000 miles on Hawaiian dawn patrol, but the highlight of his career came when he sighted a submarine periscope just breaking the water off the island of Oahu a few weeks ago.

"Yes, I saw it, but it was my crew that got it," he declared. "Those boys really went to town."

He interrupted his conversation frequently to watch fighter planes dive at plane-towed targets high over Wheeler field. The interview was "on the line" in front of a hangar. We sat in a couple of steel chairs, with the planes overhead drowning the conversation time and again.

"We were flying along in pretty heavy weather," Lt. Edmundson related. "All of a sudden I happened to see the periscope just breaking the water. And within 45 seconds my crew had flashed the word to our base, the bomb doors were opened, the bomb sights adjusted and we had dropped two bombs right at the stern of the submarine."

(He failed to mention that it must have taken pretty fast maneuvering on his part to get into position.)

"Every member of the crew was at his station," the lieutenant continued. "The bombardier and the navigator must have had everything plotted—speed, altitude, wind and drift. There wasn't a second's delay. If there had been we would have got him, because he would have sighted us first."

Metal Pieces Flew Up.

"The decks were barely awash when the first two bombs were dropped. The navigator and the gunner told me some big metal pieces flew up astern when they hit. That's probably why he did not submerge right away. He couldn't."

"Anyway, we made another turn and the bombardier dropped three more bombs that practically blanketed him, and on the third time around a bomb hit him right on top. He just blew up and disintegrated, apparently, and all we could see was a great circle of white foam of sulphuric acid from his batteries. The concussion even shook our plane a thousand feet above. A few minutes later all there was to see was a big oil slick, and after circling awhile we went home."

And that's the story of the dawn patrol flight which brought results and which was the reason Secretary Knox said yesterday in Washington that Lt. Edmundson should be cited for "keen observation, flying skill and successful attack with bombs."

Born in Hollywood.

Bombs weren't anything new to Lt. Edmundson. He was on the receiving end of them December 7. Fragments sent right through the house where he lived with his wife, the former Lee Turner, who now is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lomax Turner of Long Beach, Calif.

He was stationed at Hickam Field then, and saw his buddies struck down right and left.

Lt. Edmundson was born in Hollywood June 13, 1915. He formerly worked as a salesman, window trimmer and stock clerk, attended the University of California at Los Angeles, then became timekeeper at the Douglas aircraft plant in Los Angeles.

"I saw all those planes coming out and knew some one would have to fly them," he recalled, "so I wrote to the War Department asking where the schools were."

In 1937 he went to Randolph and Kelly Fields in Texas and later had a tour of duty at Lowry Field in Denver. He came to Hawaii in 1939. He was married here Thanksgiving Day, 1940.

Of the December 7 attack by the Japanese, he recalled:

"I heard planes and looked out the window, to see the enemy streaking toward Pearl Harbor. I got on what clothes I could and went out. I certainly wore out those bedroom slippers before I got home four nights later."

Praises His Crew.

Lt. Edmundson insisted his crew was more to be credited than he for the destruction of the Japanese submarine off Oahu.

They were: Co-Pilot Second Lt. Arnold Johnson, Bombardier Master Sgt. Joe Wilderman of Oklahoma City, Navigator Second Lt. Edwin Lanigan of Boston, Engineer Technical Sgt. Frank Bowen of San Antonio, Tex.; Radio Operator Sgt. E. P. Smith of Columbus, Neb.; Assistant Radio Operator Corp. Russell Hultgren of Laverne, Calif., and Gunner Staff Sgt. Leonard Taliaferro of Arlington, Ga.

Lt. Edmundson never approached being boastful, but he commented: "I'll bet every one in that plane would like a good crack at something in the air."

Chapter Operates on Part Of Fund, Manager Says; Cites Epidemics, Raids

Failure of Washington residents to support the Red Cross War Fund may heighten the danger from wartime epidemics and bombing injuries, Otto Lund, chapter manager, warned today.

Pointing out that the local Red Cross will operate on 15 per cent of the total it raises, he emphasized how serious is the fact that Washington has subscribed only half of its $750,000 quota.

"What does this mean to the District?" Mr. Lund asked.

"Let us consider home nursing, for example. So far this year we have graduated 70 classes—one-third more than in the entire year 1941. We must remember that the wartime shortage of nurses and hospital care inevitably means that more women must be properly instructed to care for sickness at home. We should bear in mind also that wartime crowding is apt to bring epidemics.

"Nursing Teacher Needed." "Right now the District Red Cross desperately needs to add another Home Nursing teacher to its staff," he continued.

"We need to add another instructor for nurses aide classes. The importance of nurses aides in our own hospitals has been stressed again and again by hospital, doctors and officials.

"Washington people are aware surely of our first-aid program. Perhaps they do not know we out-ranked any other chapter in our country in the number of certificates issued in March, with minimum staff and cost. First-aid training is given free with the amazing assistance of thousands of volunteer teachers. Nevertheless, it costs money to handle certificates and keep records. Do the people of Washington want this training seriously curtailed?

No Fall Campaign Planned.

"The Red Cross in the event of any Washington emergency will have a heavy responsibility of food, shelter and clothing for disaster victims," Mr. Lund pointed out.

He said $10,000 is needed to carry out a production program for surgical dressings and garments. Mobile canteens will require $7,000, and additional funds are wanted for needy families of men in military service.

Courtenay Barber, campaign manager, emphasized today that barring a major disaster—this will be the last Red Cross drive until the spring of 1943. There will be no fall membership drive this year, he said.

Some Norse Vessels, Fleeing From Nazis, May Have Escaped

At Least Two Ships Declared Sunk by Germans in Dash

By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, April 2.—German warships blocking the Skagerrak were declared today to have sunk at least two of 11 British-chartered Norwegian merchant ships which risked a daring dash to England from Goteborg, Sweden, and, although several others were reported turned back, the possibility was held out that some might yet be at large and racing toward safety.

The merchantmen which slipped out of Goteborg in a blinding snowstorm Tuesday night ran into a blockade of Nazi warships which had laid in wait for them since the Germans found themselves unable to seize control of the ships through action in the Swedish courts.

From the stories of fishermen and residents of the little coastal towns which shook with cannonading Tuesday night and yesterday, Swedish newspapers compiled this record of the fate of the ships:

Two of the merchantmen, the 12,356-ton whale oil ship Skytteren and the 6,222-ton Buccaneer, were sunk by German gunfire almost as soon as they passed the 3-mile territorial limit outside Goteborg.

One ship went aground; one was seen burning at sea and perhaps sank; two cut off from hope of escape, turned back into a Swedish port yesterday afternoon. At least two more were said to be returning, perhaps damaged.

At least two large cargo vessels were given at least a fighting chance of breaking through. Fishermen said they were last seen yesterday, undamaged and racing for the open sea.

Norwegian official circles said the Skytteren and Buccaneer had been sunk by a German destroyer and four armed trawlers.

The two ships which turned back and regained the safety of Goteborg harbor were identified as the 5,653-ton Lionel and the 5,263-ton Day. Altogether the ships' tonnage amounted to more than 55,000.

Besides the Skytteren, Buccaneer, Lionel and Dicto, they were listed by Swedish newspapers as the Charente, 1,282 tons; Lind, 461 tons; Gudvang, 1,469 tons; Storsten, 5,342 tons; Rignor, 6,305 tons; B. F. Newton, 10,324 tons, and Realf, 5,069 tons.

Residents of shore towns said one ship went down yesterday morning west northwest of Maasekjaer Lighthouse. Another was said to have sunk at noon.

Fishermen said a third ship was burning fiercely, surrounded by German warships and armed trawlers. She had a gaping hole aft of her engine room and flames were shooting from her hold.

Believed Fired by Crew. The fishermen expressed the belief she had been set afire by her crew to keep the ship out of German hands.

Lifboats stocked with provisions but without occupants were seen drifting.

The Social Demokraten said that on the ships sent to the bottom there probably had been considerable loss of life.

(A Vichy report reaching London said gunfire off the Swedish coast began about 2 or 3 a.m. yesterday and lasted to about noon. It quoted Swedish fishermen as saying they saw lifeboats filled with survivors from sunken ships.)

The nearest landfall across the North Sea would be Aberdeen, about 500 miles from Goteborg, and the fugitive ships would be in constant danger of discovery by patrolling German air and naval forces virtually until they were berthed in the Scottish port.

Area Mined and Closely Patrolled. Even before reaching the open sea for the final, 300-mile dash to join Britain's merchant marine, they would have to thread their way through the mined and closely patrolled Skagerrak. It separates the German-held coasts of Norway and Denmark, a perilous passage of about 200 miles from Goteborg, across the top of the Kattegat from northernmost Denmark.

A British source in London said there was no confirmation of any attempt by the 11 ships to run the Nazi blockade. It was pointed out, however, that the Admiralty holds merchant ship movements in strict silence which it would be unlikely to break unless such an exploit were announced later in a communiqué.

The 11 Norwegian ships were freed from an order of arrest by a Swedish supreme court decision March 17.

The ships, laid up in Goteborg, were requisitioned by the Norwegian government before its flight to England and later were chartered by British maritime interests. The court ruled that the charters were legal and the ships—valued at about $25,000,000—were entitled to clearance at any time.

The Germans had been attempting to get control of the ships.

munity facilities by the Federal Works Agency. It is estimated the $30,000,000 will provide 10,000 housing units. The average limit of cost is fixed at $3,750. Some of the units are expected to be permanent in character and others of the temporary type which can be removed after the war.

Facilities Get 20 Millions. While there is no breakdown of the $20,000,000 authorized for community facilities, the heads of the House and Senate Conference Committees—Senator Ellender, Democrat, of Louisiana and Representative Latham—pointed out the fund would provide extensive additions to water and sewer services, increased school and hospital accommodations and new recreational facilities.

Senator Ellender estimated that between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000 of the facilities fund probably would be used to provide additional accommodations at both public and private hospitals in the District and nearby Maryland and Virginia. During hearings on the legislation before both Senate and House committees, witnesses cited the urgent

Ensign Taussig and Marine Given Crosses for Heroism

Ensign Joseph K. Taussig, Jr., (in bed) and Marine Corp. Harold R. Hazelwood after they were decorated with the Navy Cross at Mare Island Navy Hospital yesterday.—A. P. Wirephoto.

By the Associated Press. MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Calif., April 2.—Two 21-year-old heroes who clung to their posts, although seriously injured by Japanese fire on December 7, received the coveted Navy Cross yesterday.

The two, both wounded in the action, were Ensign Joseph K. Taussig, Jr., of Jamestown, R. I., and Corp. Harold R. Hazelwood, Stark City, Mo., of the Marine Corps.

Ensign Taussig, the son of Vice Admiral Joseph K. Taussig, retired, former commandant of the 5th Naval District, received his award—the second highest the Navy has to offer—lying flat in bed with his left leg in a cast.

He became as Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade, commandant of the 12th Naval District, pinned the cross on his nightshirt in behalf of Secretary Knox and President Roosevelt. Corp. Hazelwood stood straight in his uniform, his left leg heavily bandaged, as Maj. Gen. William P.

Upshur, commander of the Department of the Pacific, Marine Corps, pinned the award on him in the same room.

Friends of the two men cheered the honors which the two gained on widely separated fronts in that first, surprise smash by the Japanese. Ensign Taussig was just out of Annapolis with the class of '41. He was senior officer present in the anti-aircraft battery of the U. S. S. Nevada, and, although seriously wounded, refused to leave his battle station and insisted on continuing the control of his battery until he was forcefully taken from his station.

Corp. Hazelwood was on Sand Island, one of the Midway Islands, when the Japanese struck. He was a switchboard operator at a command post when an fragment from a projectile, bursting in the post, struck him in the leg. Despite his wounded condition, he immediately set up his switchboard again and re-established communications.

need of at least 2,100 additional hospital beds. Nine hundred of these were proposed for the two District institutions—Gallinger Hospital and the Tuberculosis Sanatoria at Glenn Dale, Md.

Another large portion of the fund is expected to be used to provide additional school facilities in the areas created by war workers. It has been estimated that 150 extra rooms are needed to relieve overcrowding.

Agreement Is Surprise. The sudden agreement by the conferees came somewhat as a surprise in view of the fact that at the initial conference Tuesday an impasse was reached and the announcement made that no further attempt to reach a compromise would be made until April 13, when the House ends its informal Easter recess.

The House group was adamant that it would yield to the Senate version of the bill on the ground it had been instructed to insist on the legislation as passed by the House.

The Senate conferees, in addition to Senator Ellender, were Senators Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico, and Taft, Republican, of Ohio. Besides Mr. Latham, the House conference group included Representative Bell, Democrat, of Missouri, and Holmes, Republican, of Massachusetts.

House Group Inspects Montgomery Housing. Four members of the House Public Buildings and Grounds Committee toured Montgomery County, Md., yesterday to examine building sites and facilities in the effort to help Greater Washington solve its defense housing problems.

The group, consisting of Representatives Meyers, Maryland, and Mills, Louisiana, Democrats; Bishop, Illinois, and Holmes, Massachusetts, Republicans, left Union Station and rode to Rockville over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, viewing en route a number of way stations on the commuters' line, as well as vacant land available for housing developments.

From the Rockville station the party proceeded to the courthouse, where Circuit Judge Stedman Prescott and other officials extended greetings and conducted the lawmakers on a tour of the building.

A motor caravan was formed in front of the courthouse and conducted on a route that took it northwest to Derwood, back through Rockville and Bethesda, Chevy Chase, Kensington, Rock Creek Valley, Silver Spring, Takoma Park and other points, including several contemplated sites for housing developments or tracts where extensive home construction already is under way.

Sites Near Trains Favored. The tour ended with a dinner for the Representatives and other officials at the Olney Inn, Olney, Md.

Mr. Bishop was particularly interested in available land near the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, viewing it as best suited for new defense housing, with transportation to Washington not dependent upon automobiles or buses.

"We are trying to find the best spot to house Federal workers," he said. "In my personal opinion, the burden of transportation should be put on the railroads, thus saving the Government the cost of building tunnels and underpasses, we should handle the people by rail. There is plenty of ground in Montgomery County within not more than 10 minutes by train to Washington. This is closer than driving from the Roosevelt Hotel to the Capitol during the rush hours."

Mr. Bishop cited the fact that thousands of citizens of New York and other metropolitan areas throughout the Nation commute to their employment by train instead of automobile or bus.

O'Mahoney Calls Cartels Device to Restrain Freedom

Farish Quiz Continues On Standard Oil Deals With German Trust

By the Associated Press. Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat, of Wyoming asserted today that relations between the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and I. G. Farben of Germany before the war illustrated a "device whereby economic opportunity for the masses has been restrained."

"It is now clearly established," he told reporters, "by the acknowledgments of Mr. Farish (W. S. Farish, Standard president) that since 1929 at least the Standard Oil Co. and the German chemical trust, otherwise known as I. G. Farben, have been members of a world-wide cartel. Held Blow at Freedom.

"The meaning of this should be made crystal clear to the people of America. It is that the managers of I. G. Farben and the managers of Standard Oil have been engaged in a very successful joint effort to maintain complete control of a tremendous segment of our economy.

"It certainly ought to be clear now that the masses of the people cannot hope to maintain their economic and ultimately their political freedom while organizations of this kind dominate the trade of the world."

Senator O'Mahoney made these comments before the Senate Defense Investigating Committee recalled Mr. Farish to the witness stand for the third day to continue a reply to testimony by Thurman Arnold, anti-trust chief.

Taft Proposes Board To Fix Ceilings On War Profits

Senator Says He Agrees With Nelson That Flat Limitation Is Unworkable

By the Associated Press. Senator Taft, Republican, of Ohio proposed today creation of a board to fix ceilings on war profits, while administration leaders moved to compromise a 6 per cent profit limitation inserted by the House in a pending military appropriations bill.

Senator Taft told reporters he had little doubt that the Senate Appropriations Committee would strike the House amendment out of the $18,301,000,000 measure. However, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board and Army and Navy officials were working on a substitute which they planned to present to the committee.

Board Would Fix Profits. Mr. Nelson was reported to have told the committee yesterday that flat limitation was unworkable. Agreeing with Mr. Nelson's conclusion, Senator Taft said he was drafting an amendment which would set up a board of Army, Navy and war production experts, charged with fixing the margin of profit that could be made on military items.

For instance, he said, the board could establish a fair profit for the manufacture of a medium tank or of a certain type of airplane, making all revenue above that amount returnable to the Treasury.

"I don't think you can successfully set a flat profit limitation on everything," Senator Taft said. "In some instances 2 per cent might be a very fair profit for the amount of capital necessary to manufacture a certain military article, while in others the percentage of profit might have to be much higher because of the slow turnover."

Barkley Opposes Flat Limitation. Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky likewise declared that the imposition of an over-all limitation on profits would be ineffective.

Senator Barkley said he believed the question could be handled more intelligently in the new tax bill, but Senator Taft, Democrat, of Virginia said it was likely that profit amendments would be advanced April 20 when the Senate argues a motion to take up the Connally bill to permit the Government to seize strike-bound war production plants.

Senator Connally, Democrat, of Texas agreed yesterday to let his motion go over while the Senate takes an Easter recess of two weeks, but he told reporters he expected a full crop of labor amendments to be offered when and if the bill finally gets before the chamber.

Those probably would include, he said, amendments suspending operation of the 40-hour wage law, as well as others outlawing strikes and freezing the present status of unions in war industries. The Connally bill would freeze working conditions in seized plants, but would permit wage adjustments by a special board.

mit the Government to seize strike-bound war production plants. Senator Connally, Democrat, of Texas agreed yesterday to let his motion go over while the Senate takes an Easter recess of two weeks, but he told reporters he expected a full crop of labor amendments to be offered when and if the bill finally gets before the chamber. Those probably would include, he said, amendments suspending operation of the 40-hour wage law, as well as others outlawing strikes and freezing the present status of unions in war industries. The Connally bill would freeze working conditions in seized plants, but would permit wage adjustments by a special board.

Mrs. Sayre, En Route To Capital, Urges Quick Aid to Islands

Commissioner's Staff Surprised at Public's Attitude Toward War

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—America must send help to its heroic soldiers in the Philippines, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, first woman to return to the United States from Corregidor since the Japanese struck, declared today.

"The job of winning this war is ours," said the wife of the United States High Commissioner to the Philippines. Her husband preceded her to the United States and now is in Washington.

"The men over there in the Philippines, the men on Corregidor, on Bataan, have their eyes on the sea and the sky looking for help that is coming," she said in an interview.

"We must send that help quickly. It is an obligation each one of us must feel deeply. It is an obligation that belongs to every individual.

Route Remains Secret.
"They are far from home, those men. We cannot forget them because they know we will not let them down."

Mrs. Sayre, her 15-year-old son, William Graves, and staff members of the commission arrived by transport after an uneventful voyage, whose circuitous route remained a Navy secret.

Mrs. Sayre, tall, brown-haired and smiling, described the stout island fortress of Corregidor as a man's land, where women soon learned to shift for themselves.

She was one of less than a dozen women who fled from Manila to Corregidor. Another was Mrs. Douglas MacArthur.

Staff members reported "the absence of a consciousness of war here is shocking."
Little Conception of War.

MacArthur Defamer Amazed at New Sedition Charges

'Friends of Progress' Founder Feels Prison Should Be 'Worth While'

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Robert Noble, founder of the isolationist Friends of Progress, looked across a neck-high partition in the county jail and said, "I shouldn't mind going to prison if convicted of sedition."

"I've never cared about myself. I'd feel that I was doing something worth-while, and that's all any man should want."

Last week Noble shouted, "To hell with MacArthur. He's a phoney" at a meeting of his followers.

Held in $10,000.
Noble and Ellis O. Jones, co-leaders of the Friends of Progress, were jailed Tuesday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on charges of making seditious utterances in wartime. They were held in default of $10,000 bond each pending a hearing April 15.

Attorney General Earl Warren, who already had charged them with criminally libeling Gen. Douglas MacArthur, followed up yesterday with a complaint charging they failed to list their organization under the Subversive Organizations Registration Act.

Amazed at Charges.
Noble said he was "amazed at these new charges. I made a thorough study of the sedition laws and I am positive I have violated no law. I do not believe I am guilty of malicious conduct or sedition in saying these things."

"These things" referred to his repeated public attacks on President Roosevelt's international policy and Gen. MacArthur's military leadership and strategy; to repeated demands that Japan be permitted to rule the Orient and Hitler be left alone to rule Europe, and to his reiterated statements that he admires Hitler.

Curran Charges Loss Of Cargo Vessels by Improper Loading

Reports Admiral Land Rejects Roosevelt Plan For Supervising Board

By the Associated Press. Joseph Curran, president of the C. I. O. National Maritime Union, charged last night that ships loaded with war cargoes had "foundered or had been forced to return to port because of improper loading" and said he had "documentary evidence from survivors."

He made the statement in reporting that Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, had rejected a suggestion from President Roosevelt to set up a Government-labor-management board to supervise long-shore operations in loading war cargoes at Atlantic and Gulf ports.

A similar board recently was established for the Pacific Coast with Dean Wayne Lyman Morse of the Oregon University Law School, public member of the War Labor Board, as chairman.

The President's suggestion was understood to have been made in the light of reports that the present system of hiring longshoremen was inefficient and that it offered saboteurs access to ships. Admiral Land was reported to have told the President that the East Coast dock situation was satisfactory and that no change was needed.

Mr. Curran said that his union backs the White House proposal 100 per cent and we will fight in every way possible to see that it is adopted, despite what we feel to be very questionable opposition.

"Many of the brave seamen whom I represent have already lost their lives due to improper loading of cargoes in Eastern and Gulf ports," his statement said. "This will continue, in my opinion, unless just such a board setup as proposed by the White House is adopted."

New Navy Blimp Base To Rush Mast for Sallies Against Subs

Loss of Ships Off Atlantic Coast Laid to Negligent Operators

By CLAUDE A. MAHONEY, Star Staff Correspondent.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., April 2.—Navy officers laid plans today to install the portable mooring mast that will allow the new lighter-than-air station here soon to become a base from which blimps will go forth to join the hunt for Axis submarines in the Atlantic.

Even as commissioning ceremonies were being held yesterday for the new base, the Navy Department in Washington announced that American armed forces in both oceans had bagged 28 Axis submarines since the war began. Speakers here said the blimp patrol has been an "effective step" in combating the submarine menace.

Ship Operators "Negligent."

But guests at the simple ceremony on the yet unfinished site heard these somber statements:

1. Today's submarine scourge is four times as bad as in 1918.

2. Night searches for subs is inefficient.

3. Merchant marine operators have been "negligent by day and careless at night," and have persistently refused to go into ports at dusk, extinguish running lights when out after dark, or keep to the lanes mapped out for them by naval authorities.

4. One-half of the number of sinkings could have been prevented if the ships had obeyed orders, and failure of the operators to follow instructions is sufficient reason for the Navy to take over merchant shipping and operate it for the duration of the war.

Capt. Charles E. Rosenhald, long an advocate of the use of lighter-than-air craft in patrol and escort work, told the gathering that today's losses were four times those of 1918, and called for an all-out anti-submarine program that will use every weapon possible against the sinking undersea vessels.

Sees Blimp in Team.

Even though he has devoted his life to airships, he said yesterday he did not consider the blimp anything like a "cure-all" for the submarine menace, but rather one member of a team that would engage in the hunt. Both in his address and in informal conferences before the ceremony, he said a modern blimp could hold its own with a submarine on the surface, and was almost uncannily accurate in dropping its steamships depth bombs, due to its ability to hover almost motionless above any point and take careful aim. The machine guns carried in the blimp cabins are more than a match for a submarine's deck guns, he said.

Rear Admiral M. H. Simons, commander of the 5th Naval District, delivered the indictment of merchant captains.

Admiral Simons also said that, while the Atlantic sinkings represented a blow "in a very vital spot," he could honestly assert "that the Axis has paid a terrible price in both submarines and men."

Soldiers

sleeping quarters for men over week ends.

"Unless there is an additional concentration of troops here, we feel that a barracks for 100,000 will be necessary," Mr. Wolter said this morning. He declared he was unable to name the two agencies until surveys being conducted by recreation services had been completed.

He announced more than a week ago that the Coast Guard Auxiliary had offered the second floor of its headquarters at 900 Maine avenue S.W. With fireproofing and installation of additional toilet facilities, the building could accommodate 175 men, he said.

A major problem remains, however, Mr. Wolter said. On the basis of preliminary surveys of the three places, approximately 100,000 will be required to put them in operating condition and to maintain a staff for a year.

Questioned as to where to get the money, Mr. Wolter said the Board of Trustees of recreation services will meet next Friday to discuss the question. He suggested a portion of the funds be supplied through Federal appropriation.

In answering charges of Dr. Frank Lloyd, assistant director of recreation for the Federal Security Agency, that local agencies were "seeking the easy way out" in urging Federal aid for servicemen facilities, Mr. Wolter reminded F. S. A. that that agency was charged with just this problem.

"Of course it's a joint problem—between the Government and the District—but we at least look for an indication from the Government that we will get some Federal support," Mr. Wolter remarked in reply to the official's assertion yesterday that "for the District to assume we must take over the whole problem is doing it the easy way."

The F. S. A. official pointed out that it was the job of F. S. A. to interest the city in assuming some responsibility for providing housing for enlisted men on leave.

Mr. Wolter's disclosure of additional offers received since last week end's blizz during which three existing agencies were dangerously overcrowded, now brings the total probable accommodations for servicemen to 1,525.

Recently F. S. A. announced it had shifted its support for a 1,500-man barracks for men to one that would be used by woman war workers here. The structure would be built on Union Station Plaza under plans now being drawn up by Federal Works Agency.

Numerous phone calls have been received from citizens offering cots, blankets and bedclothes since The Star's stories called attention to the situation, Mr. Wolter said.

A survey conducted last week end revealed that between 15,000 and 20,000 men spent Saturday and Sunday in Washington, Mr. Wolter revealed. He said he could not estimate the number who were unable to find a place to sleep.

Surveys will be made again this week end and next to gather more accurate data, he said.

District Head, Star Cartoonist Trade Pictures on Birthday

A pair of local artists—one an amateur, but about as well-known as the other—exchanged pictorial opinions of each other today on their birthdays.

The two were Commissioner John Russell Young, who turned 60, and Clifford K. Berryman, the Star cartoonist, who reached 73. Commissioner Young favored Mr. Berryman with a pastel of the latter, while Mr. Berryman sent Commissioner Young a pen and ink cartoon of the city head.

Both received felicitations from a host of friends. Mr. Berryman is a nationally-known figure in the political cartoon field.

Mr. Young was greeted in his office by his fellow Commissioners,

McKellar Accepts Hillman Central Job Recruiting Proposal

Abolition of N. Y. A. Not Meant, W. P. B. Labor Director Insists

Sidney Hillman, labor director of the War Production Board, told the Senate Labor Committee today that since the National Youth Administration had furnished "an appreciable part of our trained man power" for war work and was a "going concern" that should not be abandoned.

"The man power training program cannot afford the delay which will result if we slow down or stop one of our training agencies and transfer the important load it carries to another organization," he said.

Mr. Hillman said 17,720 N. Y. A.-trained workers had gone into private industry last month alone, more of them into war plants.

Two million men have been added to the assembly lines in war industries since the attack on Pearl Harbor, and 6,000,000 more workers will be needed before the end of 1942, he added.

Counting those hired since Pearl Harbor, 7,500,000 are now at work in war industries, Mr. Hillman testified.

Weston Also Opposes.

The McKellar bill also was opposed by S. Burns Weston, director of the National Advisory Committee of the N. Y. A.

Mr. Hillman said, "Our labor supply and training records reveal that the production program has not been held up for lack of qualified man power for war industry."

"Indeed, the principal stumbling block to the fullest utilization both of our machines and of our workers—by means of around-the-clock operation of our equipment—arises from material shortages. Management and labor, as well as Government officials concerned, have recognized this situation, and are seeking to overcome it as rapidly as possible."

There were growing indications, meanwhile, that the Senate Appropriations Committee may be called on to settle the fate of N. Y. A. and C. C. C. by fixing the amount of money to be allowed each agency for the coming year.

Chairman Thomas has announced the education and labor group will suspend its hearings next week and resume with more witnesses April 13.

Aubrey Williams, N. Y. A. administrator, testified yesterday that very few of the machine tools used in his agency's vocational training shops are of types that might come within the list of critical materials for war production.

He also told the committee that his office began a checkup of its equipment in co-operation with the War Department nearly a month before the issue was raised in the newspapers, beginning March 21.

Mr. Williams testified that on February 20 N. Y. A. obtained a list of critical materials from the Machine Tool Committee of the Army Ordnance Department, and a week

Axis Radio Stations Using Dies' Letter, F. C. C. Report Says

White House Reveals Broadcasts Based on Charges to Wallace

By JOHN C. HENRY.

Widespread use and distortion by Axis radio stations of the complaint by Representative Dies that 35 pro-Communist officials are serving in the Board of Economic Warfare was disclosed today with release by the White House of a report from the Federal Communications Commission.

The report was released by White House Secretary William D. Hassett, who recalled that Vice President Wallace, chairman of the board, had answered Mr. Dies by saying that the effect of his accusations on American morale would be less damaging if the legislators were on the Nazi payroll.

Mr. Dies made his charges as chairman of the House Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities.

"Favorable References." In February, Chairman James L. Fly of the F. C. C. informed Representative Dies in response to the legislator's inquiry that a study of Axis radio broadcasts in three months of 1941 showed that Mr. Dies had received "as many favorable references" from those sources as any living American.

At no time during the period studied was Mr. Dies criticized by Axis broadcasters, Mr. Fly went on, although his public statements frequently were praised and were found to be similar to announcements from Axis propaganda sources.

The study covered the months of August, September and part of October, 1941.

Broadcasts Quoted.

The report quoted extracts from broadcasts Tuesday and yesterday by Berlin and Vichy stations and by station DEBUNK, which operates from an unlocated European point.

The latter broadcast was most completely distorted. The station pretended to be located in this country and to be operated by Americans. This claim has been found untrue, but location of the station has not been established.

According to the F. C. C. report Station DEBUNK broadcast as follows yesterday:

"Only recently Congressman Martin Dies pointed out in a letter addressed to Vice President Wallace that there are 35 avowed Communists among the higher officials of the War Production Board. Well, alone, not to mention the exceedingly strong Communist influence in Mr. Roosevelt's numerous other governmental agencies and throughout the country."

"It is interesting to note in this connection that Secretary Wallace refused to even entertain Mr. Dies' protest against this state of affairs, let alone do anything about it, leaving it up to us to decide if this attitude of his is based on ignorance, fear, or personal sympathy with the secret growth of Communistic influence."

"But aside from these questions, how is it possible that a political group or party as little known and at the same time as thoroughly disliked in the country as a whole as the Communist party can gain so great an influence over our lives and over our institutions?"

In reporting on the Vichy broadcast, which was heard on Tuesday, the F. C. C. remarked that this French station "takes its cue from Berlin." The broadcast in question was directed at the Western Hemisphere. The report continues, and contained the following:

"It has been called to our attention from New York that 35 employees of the Board of Economic Warfare who belonged to a Communist organization have been denounced by the Committee Against Bolshevism Activity."

Scrap Recovered

In one day 1,250 tons of iron and steel scrap were located in Norfolk, England, and 500 tons in Devon.

First Night Raid Made on Darwin by Japanese Planes

Sydney Paper Predicts Sea-Borne Attack On Port Moresby

By the Associated Press.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 2.—The Japanese, halted in their attempted overland drive in New Guinea by torrential rains and robbed temporarily of air superiority by the rising Allied strength, soon may launch a sea-borne attack on Port Moresby, it was predicted today.

The likelihood of such a move against the key position on New Guinea's south coast, which lies within 300 miles of the Australian continent, is "suggested by recent movements of enemy ships, which are constantly being attacked at Lae and Salamaua by the Allied war forces," said the Sydney Sun.

Japs Get Air Reinforcements.

At the same time, the newspaper reported, the Japanese are obtaining "aerial reinforcements which must be described as considerable." Because of this, the Sun declared, "the air supremacy we have gained may not be permanent and at most will dislocate the Japanese plans only temporarily."

(The Japanese made their first night air raid on Darwin, Australia's north coast port, last night, the All-India Radio reported today. No details were given.)

The British Broadcasting Co., quoting a message from Sydney, reported that United States and Australian planes have "destroyed or crippled 96 Japanese planes with a loss of 12 of their own" since March 10, and added that crews of five of the Allied aircraft were held captive.

(The Australian radio broadcast a report from Darwin that the red circle in the insignia of United States planes is being changed to white to avoid any possible confusion with the solid red emblem of Japan.)

Army Is Reorganized.

The reorganization of the Australian Army, rapidly being keyed to peak war pitch, was virtually completed today with the appointment of Lt. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett as a corps commander and the assignment of various other high officers to important posts.

The appointment of Gen. Bennett, who commanded the Australian Imperial Force in Malaya and escaped after the surrender of Singapore, was announced by Army Minister Francis Forde.

Gen. Bennett's chief of staff will be Brig. W. M. Anderson, who formerly was attached to an armored division and served in the Near East last year.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander, was expected to disclose soon how United States higher commands would be dovetailed with Anzac commands.

Millions of pounds already have been allocated to provide United States forces in Australia with air bases, living quarters and some forms of equipment, Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford disclosed, and more millions will follow.

A number of former Royal Australian Air Force stations used for training purposes, aircraft assembly factories and other facilities also have been turned over to the United States forces, he said.

Mr. Drakeford also disclosed that Americans were taking part in the conversion of Royal Australian Air Force pilots from advanced trainer types of aircraft to fast combat machines.

This aspect of the co-operation, he said, is of tremendous value to Australia and has assisted in speeding up the final stages of the empire training system.

Previously, all Australians who had completed their flying training had to undergo their conversion course abroad or in operational training units in Australia.

An added value, he said, was that members of the Australian and American forces rapidly were becoming "buddies" and producing a well-oiled fighting machine.

The halting, at least temporarily, of the Japanese is prof. Mr. Drakeford said, that Australian and American co-operation had a truly iron ring about it.

The power to call on men between the age of 18 and 60 years old for compulsory civil defense duties was delegated to the states today by Prime Minister John Curtin in a national security order.

Those affected will be required to perform a maximum of 48 hours of air raid precautions service in any period of four weeks.

the bus, while others of us were standing in between them," he related.

"The truck," he said, "careened over and struck the two girls, knocking Miss Covey to the ground and knocking Mrs. Navin into the arms of a bystander who was next to me. Immediately afterward, we realized Mrs. Navin's leg had been torn off, so I removed my belt and applied a tourniquet which stopped the bleeding immediately, although she had lost a large amount of blood."

Mr. James is taking the Red Cross first aid course the Treasury Department is giving its employees. He has had six lessons thus far.

Mr. James said he held the tourniquet for a few minutes and then asked another bystander, a naval officer, to hold it while he went to summon the Arlington Rescue Squad. Several doctors were called, he said. One arrived at the last minute. By that time the rescue squad was there.

Charged With Reckless Driving.

The accident, police said, involved an A. B. & W. bus driven by Henry W. Zackman, 28, R. F. D. No. 3, Alexandria, and a pickup truck driven by Wash Fuller, 34, of 3120 Seventeenth street south, Arlington. Fuller has been charged by police with reckless driving.

"There is a bus stop at the Sixteenth and Edgewood intersection and the bus was traveling along on Sixteenth street. The truck was proceeding on Edgewood, and they reached the intersection about the same time, witnesses said. The bus made a left turn into Sixteenth street to pull up to the curb where the passengers were waiting. The truck, coming in from the right and going straight through on Sixteenth, was crowded between the bus and the cars parked at an angle along the curb.

The two young women are employed in the office of the director of personnel, Labor Department, and have been going to work together since January, when the Navins moved to Arlington Village.

Mrs. Navin's husband, Cecil, is employed in the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Commerce Department.

The Labor Department said Mrs. Navin was a senior clerk stenographer and Miss Covey a junior personnel assistant.

Capt. Morgan's Retirement From Police Expected

Capt. Joseph C. Morgan of the fifth police precinct is expected to retire by June 1, after almost 41 years on the force, it was learned today. He would be the first captain to retire under the act of Congress passed after the police investigation of last summer, which set 64 as the retirement age. Capt. Morgan is expected to take his annual leave beginning about May 13, his birthday. Appointed to the force on July 1, 1901, he became a detective sergeant in 1919, a lieutenant in 1929 and a captain in 1931. He has been in command of the fifth precinct since achieving his captaincy, and during that period has received a number of commendations.

Robert Montgomery Accepted For Duty With Torpedo Boat

Applications Pour In From Men Seeking Canal Zone Service

By NAT A. BARROWS, War Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, March 28 (Via Airmail)—By the thousands young officers and rated men of the United States Navy are volunteering for service with America's newest naval weapon, the deadly motor torpedo boat fleet. Applications from ensigns fresh from Annapolis, from young men just out of other colleges and from old-time petty officers arrive daily in batches here at the 15th naval district, at Washington, and to commanding officers at sea.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY.

The successful battle attacks of the patrol torpedo squadrons in the Far East have captured the imagination of Navy men. They are willing to undergo the hardships of cramped quarters, of long stretches away from port, of discomfort when bouncing alone at lightning speed. They want action and excitement—and they know the PT's will give it to them.

Robert Montgomery, late of Hollywood and now a Reserve junior officer, is one of those whose application has been accepted.

Aboard a PT boat, Montgomery would live even more informally than aboard a submarine. Much of the time, in this hot climate, he would dress like the rest of the men—in shorts and sneakers. He would have a tiny cabin hardly large enough for an extra suitcase. He would eat and work and relax on the closest terms with his eight companions, all of them experienced men and most of them with destroyer service behind them. There are no frills in the PT's, but there is plenty of real seagoing duty and plenty of hard work.

If lucky, Montgomery would get ashore a couple of times a month. But, cruising off Panama as part of the barrier around the canal, he would have a chance to troll for the game fish and to swim from the superb beaches which abound all through the American tropics.

Like the other PT boat men operating here under Lt. Comdr. Earl S. Caldwell of Washington, he would have to find his own entertainment when at sea. He would know what it means to be aboard the fastest, most deadly motorboats ever used in warfare. Like his P. T. shipmate, he could be amused in remembering how these same P. T.'s were laughed at by some of the admirals a few years back, how their potentialities as torpedo platforms against large warships were discredited, how President Roosevelt fought to have them put into production.

The P. T.'s have proved their place in the Navy. What has been done in the Far East, the P. T. men of

Prince Georges Approves Four Requests to Buy Cars

Four applications to buy automobiles were approved by the Prince Georges County Rationing Board last week, it was announced yesterday. Two applications were rejected.

Applications were approved for William F. Van Wormer, Anacostia; Thomas H. Early, Brandywine; Grant Iron & Metal Co., Bladensburg, and the Mayor and Common Council of Mount Rainier. A "non-quota certificate" was issued in the last case so that the car will not come off the board's quota. Purchase of 79 "quota" cars may be authorized until May 31.

The board approved 30 applications to purchase new tires and tubes. Eighteen applications were rejected.

Four applications for retreaded truck tires were approved. There were no rejections.

Baby Born in Lifeboat After U. S. Ship Is Torpedoed

Injured Doctor Delivers Child as High Waves Toss Small Craft

By the Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., April 2.—Attended by a ship's doctor in agony because of two broken ribs, a young mother gave birth to a baby boy in a crowded lifeboat pitched about by 15-foot waves after their ship was torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic Coast Sunday by an Axis submarine.

Rescue ships picked up 89 survivors of the American passenger-cargo ship and landed them here. Three others were known dead and 29 were missing, the 5th Naval District said in announcing the sinking. Those saved included 31 passengers and 58 crewmen.

The three known dead were crew members. Missing were 18 crewmen and 11 passengers.

Dr. L. H. Conly of Brooklyn, N. Y., told newsmen he delivered Mrs. Desanka Mohorovic, 28, of an 8-pound son in total darkness, without anesthesia and with only the "simple instruments" contained in the lifeboat's medical kit.

Mother Bore Pain Bravely.

Mrs. Mohorovic, wife of an attaché of the Yugoslav consulate in New York, was in labor for "three or four hours" but stood the pain well, Dr. Conly said, adding that she was "a brave lovely woman."

The baby was born 13 hours after the survivors took to the lifeboats, in which they were tossed about by high seas 40 hours before their rescue. "The mother and her baby, together with Mrs. Mohorovic's 2-year-old daughter, Visna, were taken to a Norfolk hospital, where they appeared today to have suffered no ill effects from their harrowing experience."

Every one was good to me. The young mother said from her hospital bed. She said that after the baby was born she placed him inside her dress to shelter him from the cold. Her legs were badly bruised when she fell while making her way to the deck with Visna in her arms after the torpedo struck.

Mother Describes Experience.

Mrs. Mohorovic said she had expected her child to be born this week, "but I thought he'd be here in New York—in free America. But it wasn't so badly. We're here, we're well—grace de Dieu."

The blond, husky young woman had had other harrowing experiences on her trip to America.

"We went under bombing on the way to Cape Town from Ankara where Visna was born," she said. "That was badly, too."

"The sea she very, what you call it, rough," she said, describing the heights of the waves with sweeping motion of her descriptive hands. "I was in cabin with her," pointing to Visna. "The torpedo struck, she bled up her and blankets and start up stairs. The second torpedo, she strike us; I falled down the stairs. See—marks on me," she said pointing to black bruises on her legs.

Doctor Hurt in Fall.

From his bed in another hospital, Dr. Conly told how two of his ribs were broken in a fall into a lifeboat. He had no time to get his medical bag after the submarine pumped two torpedoes into the ship, Dr. Conly related.

After the baby was born, the doctor said, "we took a turban from another woman in the boat and wrapped the baby in it." He said the 24 persons in the boat had given their blankets to the survivors on a raft and the only cover available for Mrs. Mohorovic was a sail which was stretched across one end of the boat.

When their rescue ship came alongside the lifeboat, one of the crewmen handed the naked baby up to a seaman on the deck of the rescue vessel.

"I have never seen an expression on any one's face like that on the face of that seaman," Dr. Conly said.

The crew of the rescue ship and surviving passengers of the torpedoed vessel put together $210 and presented it to Mrs. Mohorovic. The Norfolk branch of the Navy Relief Society provided a layette. Mrs. Mohorovic named her son Jesse Roper Mohorovic.

Food Gone, 12 on Raft Chew Wood to Survive

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—The captain of a Norwegian freighter, torpedoed in the South Atlantic, March 2, said yesterday he and 11 other survivors tossed about on a raft for seven days and nights before being rescued and chewed bits of wood when their rations ran out. The ship, the 2,382-ton freighter Gunny, sank within 30 seconds after it was hit, Capt. Otto Henriksen said. The Navy Department permitted mention of the ship's name because the sinking was reported previously from Mexico. Fourteen members of the crew died in the torpedoing.

"The next thing I knew after the explosion, I was in the water being drawn down by the tremendous suction," the captain said. "While I was under water I shed my clothes and released the ship's papers which were weighing me down. I must have been down two minutes before the suction released me and I came to the surface. The ship had disappeared. I swam to a life raft." Then began seven long days and nights with 13 men trying to live on a few biscuits and an insufficient amount of water.

At first, the 53-year-old captain said, the men allowed themselves one biscuit a day but soon reduced the ration to one-half biscuit.

"When the water ran out," he continued, "we whittled off bits of wood from the raft and chewed on them."

The Gunny's survivors were rescued March 9 by a Swedish ship and were taken to Progreso, Mexico.

D. C. Woman and Child Feared Among Torpedoed Ship Victims

A Washington mother and her 2-year-old son were believed lost when their lifeboat was captured by a column of water from a second torpedo fired into their sinking ship by an enemy submarine off the Atlantic coast Sunday.

Mrs. Leonard Govett, about 34, the former Elizabeth Wrenn, daughter of Mrs. Harry Wrenn of Washington and Annapolis, Md., was returning from her home in South Africa with her 2-year-old son, Leonard, to visit her mother and sister, Mrs. Robert Jaspersen, wife of Comdr. Jaspersen, at Annapolis. Acquaintances of Mrs. Govett who were among passengers landed at Norfolk told her family they saw her in the lifeboat which capsized alongside the ship. Some passengers from the overturned boat were pulled onto rafts, but neither Mrs. Govett nor her son were seen among them.

Quartermaster Americo Rodriguez of Lowell, Mass., said five lifeboats were launched after the first torpedo struck and his boat was overturned by a great column of water thrown up by the second torpedo, the Associated Press reported.

"There were two women and one child in my boat," Rodriguez said. "After the boat capsized they had disappeared. I found a life raft and climbed aboard it. Several persons were in the water nearby, including a woman and little girl. We helped them aboard the raft."

Mrs. Govett was a native of Washington. She met her husband while traveling abroad and had lived for the last several years in South America, where Mr. Govett was in Government service.

Her mother now lives on South River, near Annapolis.

Another missing passenger listed as bound for Washington was Gen. M. Djoukanovitch, an artillery expert, who was to have joined the Yugoslav military mission here. During the German invasion of Southern Europe last spring he escaped from Greece to Egypt in the submarine Neboysa.

THE LAMB: Pardon me, Madam. But I'm merely a symbol. The symbol of a gentler way to deal with your little difficulty.

THE LADY: You mean that little matter of constipation?

THE LAMB: Precisely. If you are one of those people with normal intestines who suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, this crisp and toasty cereal, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, will not only correct the cause of the trouble, but by a way that is surprisingly pleasant, and gentle too.

THE LADY: Gentle? Hmml—that sounds interesting. Go on—tell me more!

THE LAMB: You see, many medicinal laxatives work by prodding your intestines into action, or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN works principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination.

THE LADY: Well, I never! And it does look crisp and delicious. Let's try it.

GENTLE AS A LAMB

Problem to Be Studied

A rebuke was implicit in President Roosevelt's comment Tuesday concerning the failure of residents of the District of Columbia to meet their quota in the emergency war relief drive of the American Red Cross.

Washingtonians traditionally are proud of their record in response to genuine appeals. They have contributed generously in the past, and there is no valid reason to believe that they will not subscribe as readily and as unselfishly in the future.

For a number of years, also, there has been growing evidence of carelessness in the preparation of appeals for funds. A single pattern has been employed for a variety of different purposes.

The lagging response to the Red Cross appeal suggests that the entire problem of how best to finance the useful social agencies of the Nation's Capital should be studied anew with particular attention to the prevention of too many and too trivial public appeals which confuse and even antagonize the public.

Meanwhile, the people of Washington certainly have no conscious desire to shirk the duty or avoid the privilege of contributing to the Red Cross. It was here that the American branch of the world-wide organization of mercy was set up by Clara Barton and her associates in 1861, and it is here that the national headquarters of the American Red Cross are maintained.

The White House egg rolling fete had grown into a far different thing from the simple and pastoral sentimental observance copied from Europe. Attaining almost unmanageable proportions, it had become a strain on the executive household, on the police, on the military and, indeed, on many parents.

Like the New Year presidential public reception, the egg rolling ceremony seems destined for the limbo of outmoded and discarded things. And as the character in "The Mikado" so simply puts it, it never will be missed; it never will be missed.

supplies in which there are shortages. This Government takes the position that it would not be fair to the cooperating countries, nor in our own defense interests, to give Argentina a seat at this "family table" under present circumstances.

Draft Dilemma

The uncertainties of selective service are quite perplexing to the men awaiting call to active service. After the initial lottery is over, they are held in suspense by a series of announcements, rulings, memoranda and speeches which chart the developing course of draft policies from day to day.

The latest of the uncertainties had to do with the question of whether the most recent roster of registrants—those from twenty to forty-four who signed up February 16—should be called up before or after those remaining from the previous registrations.

Meanwhile, men in 3-A classification (deferred because of dependents) are in a quandary over various statements that have been made regarding plans to reclassify them with a view to possible induction for immediate duty.

All of these things do not add to the peace of mind of the men in 3-A or in the other classifications which may be affected by changing draft policies. It is not the prospects of active service which dismays them but the uncertainty of the situation.

Egg Rolling

The annual Easter Monday egg rolling "festival" held heretofore on the south lawn of the White House has very properly been canceled, probably for the duration.

The White House egg rolling fete had grown into a far different thing from the simple and pastoral sentimental observance copied from Europe. Attaining almost unmanageable proportions, it had become a strain on the executive household, on the police, on the military and, indeed, on many parents.

Submarine Sinkings

The announcement that twenty-eight enemy submarines have been sunk by American naval and military forces since the start of hostilities provides impressive evidence of the fact that Axis raiders are not having things all their own way.

Thus analyzed, the actual toll of U-boats sunk by our naval and air forces since the beginning of Germany's intensified submarine campaign in American waters may seem to be relatively small. However, the figures do not tell the whole story.

off the Atlantic Coast," he asserted. And Captain Charles E. Rosendahl, the Navy's outstanding dirigible expert, predicted that the rate of U-boat destruction will go up this summer as more and more blimps are commissioned and new bases are opened.

That defensive as well as offensive strategy is important in the submarine battle is attested by Admiral Simons' disclosure that about half of the 400,000 tons of American shipping sunk off the East Coast in the first three months of this year might have been saved had crews of the merchantmen obeyed Navy instructions regarding lights, course, etc.

Impasse in India

The unfavorable reception accorded the British government's proposals for India has caused surprise and disappointment in America, which hailed the offer of full Dominion status after the war as a statesman-like solution of a thorny problem.

The Hindu-dominated Congress Party has not yet given its formal answer to Sir Stafford Cripps, but its leaders, including both Gandhi and Nehru, reportedly are unfavorable. And the most discouraging aspect of their opposition is that they are standing out for immediate transfer of authority over the armed forces to themselves.

Such an increase, the committee believes, is absurd. The popular diet improved between 1933 and 1938. Presumably, they believe beriberi has been killing Americans for a long time but physicians have just started to recognize it.

They detail the available evidence on various deficiencies from what they believe reliable indexes. A notable requirement in the diet is iron. The chief result of too little is hypochromic anemia. Recent surveys received by the committee show that, depending somewhat on the section of the country reporting, the incidence of this condition varies from 13 to 85 per cent among school children and from 9 to 72 per cent among pregnant women.

One-Man Town

The "one-horse" town is a familiar figure of speech, and now comes the one-man town—or, to be exact, it actually came in 1920, when Millican, Oregon, was founded. Its population consists of the Honorable William A. Rahn, mayor; W. A. Rahn, chief of police; William Rahn, chief of the fire department; Will Rahn, town treasurer; Bill Rahn, postmaster; Billy Rahn, municipal dogcatcher; Will A. Rahn, superintendent of the municipal water bureau, and Willie (Go-Getter) Rahn, president of the Millican Chamber of Commerce—all one and the same man, and Millican's sole resident.

It is doubtful if even Boss Tweed in his palmiest days ever dreamed of such complete municipal control of the somewhat larger city of New York, but Mr. Rahn, when not acting in his capacity as president of the Chamber of Commerce, is extremely modest, as he shows curious visitors documentary proof from the post office that Millican is a sure enough real town. "If I moved to New York I would be relatively obscure," he admits. "I would be eclipsed by the Little Flower. Here I am the works."

Does not the one doctrine lead inevitably to the other? HARRISON TILGHMAN.

Of Stars, Men And Atoms

Notebook of Science Progress In Laboratory, Field And Study

By Thomas R. Henry.

The nutrition of an appreciable part of the American population is below par. Actual deaths due to malnutrition probably are grossly underestimated in official statistics.

Such are the conclusions of three of the country's foremost food experts, forming a committee of the National Research Council, in a report just made to the American Medical Association. The committee is composed of Dr. Norman Joffe of New York, Dr. James S. Mclester of Birmingham, Ala., former president of the American Medical Association, and Dr. H. C. Sherman of Columbia University.

Their work dates from the National Nutrition Conference held last year in Washington. At that time it generally was agreed that the diet of a large percentage of the American people was deficient in vitamins and other essential substances, but there was little conclusive evidence. Shortly afterward protests began to be voiced by physicians who pointed to the few cases of vitamin deficiencies which actually could be diagnosed. Much of the evidence was vague, and the committee set out to get some order out of the confusion.

They detail the available evidence on various deficiencies from what they believe reliable indexes. A notable requirement in the diet is iron. The chief result of too little is hypochromic anemia. Recent surveys received by the committee show that, depending somewhat on the section of the country reporting, the incidence of this condition varies from 13 to 85 per cent among school children and from 9 to 72 per cent among pregnant women.

THIS AND THAT

By Charles E. Traceneil.

"EAST FALLS CHURCH, Va. "Dear Sir: "We are among the many who enjoy your 'daily news'—more refreshing and everlasting than the blatant headlines. "We are fortunate in having not only the 'first robin,' but dozens of them, because we have an old holly tree (taller than the house), filled with berries, which seem to be the robins' favorite dish. "This morning I looked out of the kitchen window and saw an array of birds sitting on the limb of a black walnut tree. "They were robins! "There was a heavy wind but the birds kept visiting their chosen feeding station (we have put out suet and apple but they are very shy and do not come to our man-made cafeteria). "They wake us early in the morning with shrill cries but their song at dusk sometimes equals that of the mockingbird. "We wish we could share our legions of robins with those who merely note 'his' girth and consider 'him' a paunchy politician instead of listening to his song. "Your truly, R-A. S."

Robins like all the berries trees, but particularly the holly. This grand specimen is not planted half enough. Persons with new properties and grounds by all means ought to plant the holly tree. It not only has a vivid association with things of the English spirit, but it is a fine tree in every way. Plenty of space should be given it. In time it will grow, with good fortune, into a really big tree. Many species of birds like the holly. The American holly is Ilex opaca, which ranges from 15 to 30 feet, occasionally going as high as 50 feet. Forty-five species frequent the holly. These include the flicker, robin, blue-jay, cedar waxwing and mockingbird; and, in the woods, the hermit thrush. The American holly is sometimes called the Christmas holly.

Robins frequently come to suburban sections in small flocks. These have flown together from the South, where millions of them congregated in a preliminary "roost." Sometimes as many as 50 robins will fly in together, spreading out over a chosen lawn. This is one of the finest sights in local bird watching, but unfortunately it is not often seen, because it happens "right out of a clear sky," as it were, and unless the watcher is at a window, he will not see it. The birds fan out in almost military deployment. They remain not more than 15 or 20 minutes in this formation. That is why they are often missed. Then they begin to break up, and that is how most homes in the neighborhood have a pair of robins. In the fall, robins group together again in small bands for the return South. Just why they do this is unknown, but it may be because together they are much better able to find food on the southward flight. What one bird finds, the others may enjoy. There is something particularly engaging about a large flock of robins, perhaps because most of us are so used to thinking of this bird by one and one, or at most by pairs. That is the way we mostly see them on the lawn in their most characteristic attitude, catching angle worms. The fatness of robins is one of their outstanding characteristics, but this is in appearance only, as actually they are not much more plump than many other species. A junco, for instance, has quite as much girth, and besides it wears a white "waistcoat" which accents the natural plumpness. A robin is plenty wily, but he has a great deal more to his air than that of a fat politician. His air is that of self-sufficiency, in a good way, not in the way of self-conceit. It is impossible to attribute to this bird any but good motives. Our correspondent rightly speaks of him as a great musician. Once a watcher sees this in his bird, he makes a great gain. Thereafter, the robin is no longer just a worm catcher, to be noticed now and then, but an incomparable musician, to be listened for with as much delight as one hears the wood thrush or mockingbird or catbird, other famous singers of the Washington summer. It is good to keep in mind that they still are blessed with the strains of these natural musicians, no matter how much man-made foolishness clutters the atmosphere around them. Happily, they know nothing of bombs or bombing, and let us hope they never will. In the meantime, listen for the robin's song. It is as well worth hearing as any bird melody. Certainly not enough praise has been given by the average appreciator of bird life. We "go on" about the mockingbird, and sometimes admit that even sparrows and starlings have nice notes, but few of us stop to think of the humble robin as a great musician in his own right. But he is. Listen to him, both in the morning and at eve, and hear music fresh from the heart of a nature which never intended, we feel sure, that her creatures should use their brains to blow each other to bits. Something has gone wrong, all right, and it isn't the birds.

Letters to the Editor

Pays Homage to Pioneer Producer Of Operas in Washington. To the Editor of The Star: One day last week The Star published a short announcement of the death of Gustave Hinrichs, "91-year-old German-born musician."

Very likely there are a few of us who may recall with a kindly remembrance the Gustave Hinrichs Opera Co. of a half century or so ago, and offer a garland of grateful recollections as a tribute to its director, for to some of us this company brought our first hearing of the world's great operas and one or two of the world's great singers. In Philadelphia the Hinrichs Opera Co. had flourished for several summers prior to a three-week engagement here in Washington in the spring of 1894 at the old Academy of Music, which, like the National Theater, was under the management of W. H. Rapley. Here at the academy, on May 14, 1894, "Pagliacci" was sung for the first time in Washington, with Albert Guille as Canio, Selma Koert-Kronold as Nedda and that great old baritone, Giuseppe Del Puente, as Tonio. During the same engagement, in addition to the Verdi favorites, "Rigoletto," "Trovatore" and "Aida," and the new Mascagni opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," which had its first Washington performance a year and a half earlier by the Minnie Hauk company, such rarities as "La Juive" and "Les Huguenots" were sung.

In all of these operas Guille sang, and no tenor, not even the great Caruso, had a greater, sweeter or more powerful voice than this physically deformed, dwarfish but deep-chested, gnomish-looking Guille. Had he possessed the physical characteristics and charm of his contemporary, Campanini, or of the later Caruso, he would have been the greatest of all tenors. He became a great favorite with the audiences which crowded the theater during this Washington engagement with every one from the British Minister in the lower box to the enthusiast in the top row of the upper gallery. At the last performance of this engagement, "farewell night," a double bill was given—"Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Trovatore"—and when the final curtain fell Guille was wildly cheered, and Lord Pauncefoot from his box tossed a flower to the grotesque little tenor.

Philadelphia, especially, should feel grateful to Gustave Hinrichs, for before "Cavalleria Rusticana" had a hearing in any other American city, or, indeed, before it was sung in Paris or Berlin, Gustave Hinrichs had given it in Philadelphia. And here in Washington it was he that gave us "Pagliacci" before it had its first presentation in New York. BENJAMIN M. CONNELLY.

To the Editor of The Star: Representative Martin Dies takes umbrage at the presence of an alleged advocate of nudism on the Board of Economic Warfare. He says, "There is no place in a postwar planning agency for a person who advocated such a crackpot and immoral plan." I disagree heartily with Mr. Dies, for, what with paying for the war on the one hand and facing an increasing shortage of civilian clothing on the other, all of us not in the armed forces may become nudists willy-nilly and even before the war is over. Then we shall need to make adjustments in our concepts of morality and Should a woman have her social security record changed after her marriage?—M. S. A. A. When a woman marries she should have the name on her social security card changed to her married name. This prevents any confusion in the records. Q. Which ancient city is said to have been saved by the cackling of geese?—R. O. M. A. The city was ancient Rome. When the Gauls invaded Rome a detachment in single file climbed the hill of the capitol so silently that the foremost man reached the top without being challenged. As he was getting over the rampart some sacred geese began to cackle and aroused the garrison. Their commander, Marcus Manlius, hastily collected a body of men and drove back the enemy. For this he is said to have received the name Capitoline. To commemorate the event the Romans carried a golden goose in procession to the capitol every year. According to Mommsen, the event occurred about 388 B.C. Q. Does the human heart ever rest?—L. M. D. A. The heart rests briefly between beats and beats about 104,000 times a day. House wrens have been reported by observers to make more than 70 trips to the nest with food in one hour. Young birds digest their food very rapidly and are, therefore, fed small amounts at frequent intervals. Hummingbirds may make a trip to the nest every 20 minutes and chickadees every minute.

Q. Is it possible for two rainbows to exist at the same time?—A. B. K. A. Rainbows are often double and sometimes even triple. One is formed by light once reflected inside the raindrops; the second by light three times reflected, and so on. E. A. When stewing fruits, the sugar should be added toward the end of the cooking period. It takes less to sweeten the fruit. The addition of a pinch of salt helps to bring out the sweet taste. Q. To which denomination did William Miller belong?—C. H. A. William Miller (1782-1849) was an American religious enthusiast, founder of the sect of Second Adventists, known as Millerites. Who originated the idea of establishing the International Peace Garden?—C. M. T. A. The plan to establish such a garden was conceived by Henry J. Moore of Islington, Ontario, gardener, author, lecturer. The idea was to commemorate the century of peace between the United States and Canada and to promote further good will. Various organizations and even the school children are supposed to aid in the undertaking. It was first sponsored by the National Association of Gardeners, but is now directed by the International Peace Garden, Inc., a New York membership corporation.

Spring's Harmonies This bright spring air is radiant with music Of which the mortal ear detects no sound. There is a melody from frosty petals Of bloodroot rising starlike from the ground. The whispered utterances of violets waking, White song of flames upon a blossoming tree Above the swaying bluebells softly pealing A fragrant iridescent ecstasy. Though here the heart would be most surely broken By sounds so delicately beautiful, Yet beyond the widest sea where spring is always And music such as this is audible, The heart will never be too frail to bear Spring's wondrous harmonies recorded there. Net Profits Attacked on Three Sides

Price Ceiling, Labor And Treasury Apply Pincers Movement

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

There's a pincers movement on from three sides against American industrial and business management. The movement will tend to grow in intensity as the war restrictions are imposed. But it is doubtful whether the public realizes the repressive measures now being applied to the net incomes of the businesses and industries of the Nation.

David Lawrence.

Prices are being fixed so that no longer pass on to the civilian consumer the high costs of production. Labor rates are going up and, as demand increases, the work week cannot be lengthened without paying higher and higher penalties for overtime.

Thus while a ceiling is put over selling prices, the labor charges are taking a larger and larger share of net income from management just as the Treasury also strives to take more of the net income. Inasmuch as labor costs are deductible before net income for tax purposes applies, the Government and the labor organizations are engaged in a kind of rivalry for each dollar of net income.

But while profits are being ground between the upper millstone of price-fixing by Government edict and the nether millstone of increased demands for wages by labor, the Treasury is planning to take an increasingly large proportion of net income.

May Start at 55%. Latest plans recommended by the Treasury indicate that the net income of businesses will be taxed all the way from 55 per cent to 88 per cent. The base or starting tax, irrespective of amounts earned, will be around 55 per cent if the Treasury plan is enacted into law. Then on top of this will be imposed the surtaxes which are termed "excess profits," but are really applied to all companies irrespective of whether they are engaged on war contracts.

Now with respect to those companies that sell virtually all their products to the Government, the pincers movement takes on a different kind of clawing operation. In the first place, there is no ceiling on prices. The Government pays the cost, and labor charges are not questioned. There is a tendency to question management salaries, but not that of the other employees. Some may go to fantastic heights. These rates are being heard about a ceiling for wages but there is little likelihood of legislation.

Heavier on Individuals. Not content with taking huge chunks out of net income, the Government plans to exact another big slice by raising the individual income taxes. In Britain it is said that even if a man earns up to $1,000,000 he cannot by any lawful means retain more than about $28,000. During wartime the patriotic urge is counted on to furnish the proper incentive, but it is admitted that such an incentive will not carry over into peacetime.

The problem of incentives is a difficult one from a psychological standpoint, notwithstanding the urge to patriotic effort. Labor leaders say that if pay envelopes are cut, it is human nature for workers to do less work or at least to feel depressed and dispirited. Something of the same kind of argument might be made about management men, but thus far in this war there has been little sign of it. Businessmen often refuse to take contracts that will not earn a fair profit after taxes are deducted, but they insist on this usually because of their debt or stockholder situation. Management men know that their tenure in office depends on whether they can meet debt retirements promptly or pay dividends, and that is one reason why so many companies are now sending such detailed statements to their owners.

A major surgical operation on business and industry is being performed in this war. Many millions of citizens who see no limits placed

Army Men's Stamina Is Based on the Facts Found in Pamphlets, World War Nurse Says

Dear Dorothy Thompson:

I wish you hadn't written that recent article in the pamphlets dedicated to the women of the United States and prepared by the women's interests section of the War Department Bureau of Public Relations.

You are a mother and a sound American and therefore would not thinkingly sow distrust in the minds of mothers whose sons are in service, yet you have done nothing to establish confidence in the War Department with respect to the country boys in war.

Have you ever been in war? Not as a visitor whisked about in a staff car with handsome officers, but the daily monotonous drudgery of war without glamour? In either case, whatever stamina you found among the men was based on the factual contents of little blue, green, gray, pink and beige pamphlets, not designed to convince mamas that their darlings find the Army a recreation club but to tell them that once Uncle Sam gets the bit in his teeth he does things in the grand manner.

Apparently you don't know that every soldier who does k. p. duty makes the old wisecrack that he'll make some woman a great wife, and one smiles as if it's an original utterance.

Army Habits Shape His Future. As a matter of record, Dorothy, I wrote my mother from France November 5, 1918. "They are men now, however young, with disciplined minds and the order of making his own bed plays an important part of the training of each soldier. After he returns to civil life, his Army habits will shape his actions and much of his future progress." I hold this to be true today.

About the food, Dorothy, you'd be surprised at what old Uncle Sam did for us in flowing through the submarine-infested Atlantic in World War I. He didn't send caviar but he was there with what we actually needed. Holidays with us meant turkey, dressing, gravy, potatoes, pie, nuts and ice cream and, while you were home eating funny bread, Uncle Sam was feeding us the real thing. Today the food is 50 per cent better, prepared by real cooks and not plumbers. (This was a feeble joke of mine.)

You scoff at the religion of the Army, Dorothy. Like the beans and goldfish, we had that, too. Not stuffy at all, either. The boys thought the chaplains "swell guys" because they talked and didn't preach. A friendly gambler that gave comfort to a man's mental ribs. True, the nurses and doctors measured the turning point of a wounded man when he laid aside his Testament, and reached gingerly for a magazine with a pretty girl on the cover, but the "Chap" had met his need at the time he needed him.

A Soldier's Swagger. And about the nauseating recital in the rose-colored pamphlet on clothes, Dorothy, you'd be amused at the vanity of a soldier when he throws off the good warm blankets and reaches for his outfit. He wants it snappy; he swaggers around pugnaciously inviting criticism. Doggone, he's getting well and some day he's going to walk down that gangplank and make the people stare. Uncle Sam has treated him so well he's going back for more! But if he has to slog in the mud he's powerful glad it is in good stout shoes and not synthetic leather from Germany. And when the boys today go to cold climates they won't have to murder women and children for fur coverings. I know, because Uncle Sam fitted my nephew out so gorgeously I was green with envy. A simply divine parka, my dear! Yes, the "rainbow series" makes excellent reading, Dorothy. They tell the women of America just how well these boys are treated on the labor cost charged to the Government to get defense work done see big limitations placed on net incomes and the earnings that go to pay investors who have put their savings into ownership certificates. The question is whether the administration is distributing the burden fairly or on a political basis.

This more than anything else may be said to be responsible for the recent upsurge of sentiment which labor leaders mistakenly think is merely anti-labor. It is much more a pressure against extravagance in letting the war program cost rise without limit and passing the burden on to the taxpayers, especially those in the middle class.

today as against the hardships of Valley Forge and Manassas and, shall we say, of the Germans in Russia? I only wish my mother had had such a series in the other war. I spent much time writing enthusiastic letters of the wonders of the Army to lessen her worry about two sons at the front. (I was a nurse with the A. E. F.) In glancing over those old letters I see "The most obscure complaint is given careful attention. I heard a doctor tell a boy testily: 'My God, do you think I keep you here because I love you so much? No, it's because you're not able to be around and in bed you'll stay until I think you're able to leave it.' Oh, if only I could make you and every mother realize how really little there is to worry about the boys. It is unusual for a man to be without medical treatment two hours after he is wounded." I wish, too, those pamphlets were available for the mothers of my two nephews in service today.

Giving Mother the Facts.

You ache for the grim facts of war in those pamphlets, Dorothy. You don't want mothers and sisters and wives kidded along, you say, so: "Dear Miss Thompson: Your son Jack has asked me to write you that he is all right and that his only worry is that you are worrying about him. Mothers like to get at the bottom of things and it may comfort you to know exactly what happened. You are an American woman and can stand up to facts and are not to be insulted by evasion. The incident of Jack's wound was very amusing. (This, Dorothy, strikes the cheerful note for you.) He started over the top at 5 a.m. to do his bit for his country but, unluckily, had his arm blown to splinters at 5:08 a.m., thus cutting short his patriotism, as it were. He crawled back on his belly, dragging the ugly bleeding thing. Suddenly, he says, his mind cleared and he realized the shattered arm hung only by a thread of skin. In a fine rage he wrenched the arm loose and threw it as far as he could. He was found unconscious and is doing nicely and hopes to be home with you soon. He sends his love. Respectfully yours."

No, Dorothy, instinctively we didn't tell the facts of life. There seemed no point in it. Instead, we wrote a brave letter dictated by Jack that he was hunky-dory from an amputated arm and darn lucky to get off so easily; that already he was the proud producer of a carved picture frame, decorated flower pots and all sorts of things. Indeed, he threatened to paint her picture some day because he was fooling around painting everything he could get his hand on. And he was a whizz at winding the old Vic for the bed patients while another one-armed hero hid in secure.

Soothing Sirups Soothe. What good can glycerine do for a mother an ocean away? But what satisfaction to tell her that Uncle Sam provides occupational therapists who teach rug weaving, knitting, even embroidery, for control of shattered nerves and exercise of limbs for future suppleness and, greatest of all, to re-establish Jack's self-confidence!

You scorn what you call soothing sirups for worried mothers, Dorothy, but these sirups made the very foundation upon which we stood in a horrible war. And so I'm for those pamphlets, Dorothy, colors and all. They are a friendly message to the very simple women of America who are unable to rationalize war.

Sincerely,
MARION L. BLOOM,
1624 Nineteenth St. N.W.

P. S.—To forestall suspicion, Dorothy, I'll tell you I'm in the War Department Bureau of Public Relations but in so lowly a capacity in a section far removed from the women's interests that I never heard of the pamphlets until your article. You'll have to take my word of honor that I'm writing you entirely on my own, unknown to any one in the War Department.

Germany's Spring Offensive

Nazis May Be Able to Hurl 250 Divisions Against Russia, With Greatest Force in South

By MAJ. G. FIELDING ELIOT.

The time appears drawing near for the beginning of the long-heralded German spring offensive in Russia, and most military sources agree that this offensive will strike with its greatest force on the southern sector of the Russian front.

Maj. G. Fielding Eliot.

It is necessary to keep in mind Hitler's flare for the unexpected, but setting this reflection aside and considering the possibilities as Maj. G. Fielding Eliot, they now appear, the southern front does seem the most logical place for the Germans to begin their offensive, and that they intend to do so is borne out by the fact that it is in the south that their resistance to Russian counteroffensive has been the strongest and most determined.

On the basis of available reports, the Germans appear to have originally earmarked about 300 divisions for the Russian offensive this spring. Of these, 225 were said to be German divisions and 75 were supposed to be furnished by Italy, Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia. Fresh reports from London put the whole number of divisions at 280, with 180 already used up fighting defensively, and 100 moving up to launch a series of offensives in the area from Orel to the Crimea, with special attention to the last-named theater.

From a well-informed neutral source, it is claimed that Germany has already used up 40 of the divisions originally earmarked for the spring operation, a process which the Russians have repeatedly stressed. Certainly the difficulties between Hungary and Rumania will tend to reduce the sending troops to Russia. German attempts to get troops from Bulgaria are said to have produced serious internal repercussions in that country, whose people seem willing to fight the Turks, but most unwilling to fight the Russians. Thus it is probably true that there has been some reduction already in the German effectives originally told off for the Russian offensive.

Looking at the matter from another angle, there are probably 290 German divisions available, all told, including the smashed-up units from last year's Russian campaign which have been reconstituted. Of these, Germany will have to keep at least five to support the Italians in the Balkans, and there are another five in Libya.

For Western Europe this year, the Germans will hardly dare reduce their troops of occupation below a total of 50 divisions (they were down to 23 divisions at one period late in 1941, but they will not venture to risk such a reduction again). This leaves a maximum of 230 German divisions available for all offensive purposes and for the necessary strategic reserve. Even supposing that all offensive efforts are to be concentrated in Russia, with nothing done about Turkey or North Africa, the maximum offensive striking force would not be more than 200 German divisions, leaving 30 in reserve—and this would be a dangerous distribution.

Assuming that the Nazis do not get, for the reasons above outlined, more than two-thirds of the number of "satellite" troops they expected, their total power against Russia reaches a maximum of 250 divisions, which is just a guess, after all, but is probably pretty close to the mark.

Their strategic situation for the resumption of the offensive is based on the ability to retain their series of strongly held fortified areas stretching all the way across Russia from the Baltic to the Black Sea. These points are, from north to south, Novgorod, Staraya Russa, Rzhev, Vyazma, Orel, Kursk, Kharkov, Taganrog, and their positions in the Crimean Peninsula on the Isthmus of Kerch and before Sevastopol.

Some Almost Surrounded. All of these positions are still in German hands, though some of them have been almost surrounded, and the Russians have penetrated deeply between them. The major Russian penetrations are between Staraya Russa and Vyazma, between Vyazma and Orel and between Khar'kov and Taganrog.

The Germans call these strong places "hedgehogs," but they are nothing but old-fashioned "ring" fortresses, with a central citadel or entrenched camp surrounded by a ring of outlying detached forts covering the approaches to the citadel with interlocking zones of fire. This type of fortress became familiar in Europe during the 19th century.

Lacking the support of heavy artillery and unable to use armored troops, the Russians found themselves faced with the problem of Verdun—how to drive determined and well-armed infantry from well-fortified positions connected by field works. In other words, old-fashioned trench warfare. That has always been a long, bitter, bloody business. So it has again proved in Russia.

Factor in Offensive. Just how the opening moves of the new German drive will develop seems likely to depend on whether most of the German fortresses continue to hold out until the offensive gets under way. In the north it seems possible that the Germans may have to give up more ground. Perhaps—having sold them dearly—they may be forced out of Novgorod, Staraya Russa, Rzhev and Vyazma, all now threatened by the Russian encircling drives.

In the south the Russians are trying desperately to take Khar'kov and to better their positions in the Crimea, which in German hands would be a spring-board into the Northern Caucasus. Probably the Russians still have a little time left for these purposes; on the other hand, it must be remembered that their penetrations create salients which are especially vulnerable to attack in flank by armored troops.

The Germans are reported to have taken out of line and reconstituted all their armored divisions. These are not likely to be as high in quality or as strong in individual establishment as the panzer-divisions of 1941, but they will form a powerful spearhead force. As the coming of spring begins to restore to them their lost mobility, there can be no doubt that the Germans will employ them with the greatest vigor, for Germans as well as Russians know that this year 1942 is the critical year of the war.

This Changing World

News Abounds, but U. S. Censorship Causes Most of It to Emerge as Propaganda

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

"News, news everywhere, not a line to print" is the modern variant of the famous Coleridge poem which Washington newspapermen are reciting to each other these days.

They have no fear that the tin and steel shortage will affect the present volume of "canned" news they receive every morning from dozens of public relations offices. There are organizations gathering bundles for Britain, for Yugoslavia or for Greece. But none is as liberal as the public relations offices which shower bundles of mimeographed releases on Washington correspondents. One-half of 1 per cent may be worth printing; the rest is good waste paper material.

"The information departments" of our Allies are doing an equally good job. They cannot compete with American bureaus as far as quantity is concerned, but the quality is about the same. The emphasis is mostly on "human interest stories" such as gardening in wartime, England or speeches by the foreign ministers of Czechoslovakia, Holland or Yugoslavia. It is rumored, but not confirmed, that this precious stuff is cabled or radioed to the "information bureaus." This rumor is, however, discounted by most experienced newsmen here who cannot believe that thousands of dollars could be spent each week for such trips.

Censors Impose Bans. Of course, reporters who work in Washington know news is breaking, and important news at that. But it is kept strictly secret, lest the enemy hear about it. One glaring instance of how this matter is being handled occurred last week. The United States high commissioner to the Philippines, Francis B. Sayre, returned to this country after a dramatic dash across the Pacific. After seeing the President at the White House he talked to the press. The story was published in one or two editions of Washington papers; then the censors asked that the story be suppressed because it might give important information to the enemy.

The fact is that the story had already been published in several newspapers before the "kill" order was issued, and there is no doubt that enemy agents, who are not asleep, must have seen it. But that fact did not weigh with the censors. Days later, when an attempt was made to tell the dramatic story of Mr. Sayre's escape—after he had told it again at a dinner before at least 800 persons—the same ban was imposed on its publication, under the old pretext that "it would give valuable information to the enemy."

In fairness to the Navy Public Relations Bureau it must be said that it had nothing to do with the ban on the story. The prohibition came from the United States Office of Censorship.

Accent on Propaganda. The Navy Department refused to publish the number of submarines sunk by our forces, and it was authoritatively explained that the ban was essential in order to "conceal important information from the enemy and affect the morale of Nazi submarine crews."

Elaborate explanations were given as to how lack of news from submarines at sea would throw the crews in the home ports into a panic. The boast that the sinking of submarines would give to the morale of the American people was of secondary importance. This rule eventually was reversed.

It is not that we lack information centers, there must be 30,000 persons engaged in dispensing Government news to the public. But it is all of the same standardized pattern. The accent everywhere is on propaganda. The Co-ordinator of Information, the Office of Facts and Figures and the public relations offices, headed as a rule by first-class men and including excellent newspapermen among the staff members, seem to follow the same system: Feed the press with opiate.

"Hush-Hush" Subject. Much emphasis is placed on public utterances by high persons about huge quantities of war material being sent to our forces overseas and to our Allies, at the same time that it is admitted off the record that our shipping situation is worse than bad.

Naval and military men frequently express their private opinions that nothing could be more damaging to morale than stories that we are ready to take the offensive when a full-scale

Even the exuberant stories about what Gen. Douglas MacArthur may do are frowned on by responsible officials.

The overwhelming number of American newspapers—even those representing organs definitely opposed to the administration on personal or political grounds—are eager to co-operate with the Government. They know what will happen to all of us, individually and collectively, if this war is lost.

Fighting Comes Easy To Married Soldier

By HENRY McLEMORE.

Unless my encyclopedia is lying through its teeth, nearly all of the great soldiers of history were married men.

Attila the Hun was no great shakes as a fighter until he married Mrs. Attila the Hun, who undoubtedly called him Attila Honey.

Napoleon was a man who knew all about cold cream, curlers and Thursday night icebox snacks.

It's even money that George Washington never was able to take a shower without first having to move Martha's stockings from the curtain rod where they had been hung up to dry.

It's a mortal cliche that Mrs. Grant wrote to Uncle Willie when he was coming home and why in the world he was staying so much longer than he said he would.

You could go on naming the distinguished married militarists of history, but to bring things right up to date, who do you think was with Gen. MacArthur at Luzon? Mrs. MacArthur.

All of this is by way of leading up to a discussion of the gentle furor that has been raised by the many marriages of the soldiers in the American Expeditionary Forces.

It seems that the boys have been mixing orange blossoms with gunpowder, too much to suit certain parties in lands where our men have been sent to fight.

An Australian cleric is quoted as saying, "The Americans came here to fight, not to marry, and from Ireland have come reports that some authorities in that country are a trifle upset by the number of fellows who have said 'I do' to our men in khaki.

There is no finer training than marriage for a soldier. Six months of married life is equivalent to three years of camp, and three or four years of marriage will do as much or more for a man than half a dozen campaigns.

Obedience is the first requisite of a soldier. What offers a sterner, fuller course in this than marriage? Nothing. An unmarried soldier finds it difficult suddenly to start taking orders. He chafes and rebels at being bossed around. But not the married soldier. He is accustomed to having a superior officer in charge, and he takes to commands like a dog to hamburger.

Obedience is but one of the many military essentials that marriage teaches a man. You'll never find a married soldier who underestimates an opponent. Can you imagine a married gunbearer holding the enemy lightly when he has learned that one woman, wearing nothing more formidable than dotted swiss or gingham, weighing less than 110 pounds and armed with nothing more lethal than a glance, can defeat him 10 times out of 11.

A married soldier has no fear of hard work. War winning is no tougher than bread winning. Most married men find Army life easy, the duties slight, after years of being the No. 2 boys in a household. There never was a sergeant, lieutenant or general who could find as many things for a soldier to do as a wife can. What is a forced march compared to running upstairs to get the scissors, going down in the basement to get the mop, hanging pictures, straightening curtains, mowing the lawn, running to the grocery for this, running to the drug store for that, and generally being a perpetual-motion machine in a two-pants suit?

Guerrilla warfare has become tremendously important. A married man is a natural guerrilla. He is wary. He is always on the alert. He can move about silently. He is not dismayed by sudden attacks. He knows when to retreat, when to take the offensive and he has learned to ask no quarter.

The marriage of our soldiers should be a source of comfort to us all. One can have nothing but confidence in a man, who, while waiting for the enemy, keeps in training by war; who, knowing that he can't win, goes first ahead and challenges that finest of all fighters—the wife.

What's that, dear? Will I run down to the store for a quart of milk? Certainly, sweetheart, but you'll have to let me have 20 cents. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Truckers Resume Work After Green Hits Strike

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, April 2.—A few hours after President William Green of the A. F. L. disavowed as illegal a nine-day strike of truckers involved in a jurisdictional dispute, the men returned to their jobs last night and began moving 100 tons of piled-up war materials to industrial points.

Officers of Local 249, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, telephoned their striking members to go back to work, while at a hurried conference in Indianapolis called by their international president, Daniel J. Tobin.

Mr. Tobin and Mr. Green acted after Ralph H. Frank, counsel for Acme Fast Freight, Inc., protested to the A. F. L. president that the strike violated his no-strike pledge to President Roosevelt. Representative Smith, Democrat, of Virginia in Washington had demanded that Mr. Green revoke the local union's charter. Mr. Green telegraphed Mr. Frank he "disavowed" the strike and had referred it to Mr. Tobin. The teamster organization called the strike in a dispute over recognition.

Small Business to Speed War Effort, Says Murray

By the Associated Press.
 Senator Murray, Democrat, of Montana, said today the pending small business loan program, together with the power given to the R. F. C., Army, Navy and the Maritime Commission to make advances to business, would do "a substantial job" in the war production effort.

Senator Murray's measure, providing for loans aggregating $100,000,000 and establishing the smaller Plants Corp. to line up small industrial enterprises for the war effort, passed the Senate yesterday without a dissenting vote and was sent on to the House.

Senator Murray said it may be necessary later on to get more funds, "but the $100,000,000 is enough for a trial and it will not interfere with the R. F. C. loans."

Powell Junior High Breaks Own Daily Salvage Record

Powell Junior High School, maintaining a dizzy pace in The Evening Star-P-T. A. Salvage for Victory program, yesterday broke the high score for a single day of 12,141 pounds of paper and magazines established last week by the same school, turning in 12,891 pounds and retaining its first place in the city.

On March 1 Powell was in 14th place in the city rankings, more than 13,000 pounds behind the leader. Starting with a collection of 5,293 pounds during the first week of March, Powell turned in successively 5,690 pounds, 6,418 pounds, 12,141 pounds and 12,891 pounds to the lead by 2,000 pounds over Garrison, which had just taken the lead away from Jefferson Junior. Indicative of the tremendous accomplishment of Powell is the fact that Garrison in five collections in March turned in 26,750 pounds, the greatest monthly total of any school, yet Powell, with only four collections recorded in March, turned in only 1,100 pounds less.

Yesterday's harvest, 45,727 pounds, took the grand total into the final quarter of the second million, the figure being 1,765,106 pounds.

Tomorrow, Good Friday, while the schools will be closed, will see no cessation of the collections. Trucks will visit the fifth district and any schools in the fourth which are not collected today. The same will hold true regular schedules being followed. The results next week will be a real test of the perseverance of the students for they are being asked to bring paper to school on collection day just as though school were in session. They have been told that war goes on on holidays as well as regular days and that the requirements of defense call for production every day in the week to keep pace with the growing demands.

In a discussion of the improvements made by the schools in the fifth district which appeared in The Star a few days ago, inadvertently Douglas-Simmons was overlooked. That school, which had only produced 800 pounds in January and 462 in February, came back in the program in March with new vigor and has shown steady improvement since. The first collection was 775 pounds, the next 1,093 and the final March collection 2,092. The students, enthused now, intend to keep growing.

Three Face Arraignment In $200,000 Gem Thefts

By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, April 2.—On the eve of a hearing of three men on assault and robbery charges, three diamond rings, which police said were a small part of a $200,000 loot from a series of thefts on Long Island and in Florida, were recovered yesterday.

The trio scheduled to plead today are Richard Lombard, William Keller and Harry L. Mitchell, arrested here last week after Mitchell's sudden affluence at Miami's Hialeah race track aroused the suspicions of a New York detective.

Police said the men were members of a gang that stole furs, jewelry and silverware valued at $200,000 and that the rings, each with a stone weighing more than two carats, were stolen from Mrs. Charles Medway, wife of a Philadelphia magistrate, in her Miami Beach hotel room.

Also stolen from Mrs. Medway, they added, were two diamond wrist watches and other jewelry valued at $20,000.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

NUMBER 36 ★ An Easter breakfast that's different ★ Check-list of Easter foods you'll need ★ Tender, juicy Easter hams ★ How to afford extra company for Easter dinner

How to wish your family the happiest Easter ever

If you really want to make Easter Sunday a truly grand day from beginning to end for everyone at home, start it off with a sparkling breakfast like this. It was created by the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau especially for this most important Sunday-breakfast-at-home-day of the year.

- EASTER BREAKFAST
 Chilled Sliced Oranges
 *Easter Egg Nests
 *Homemade Hot Cross Buns
 *Crisp-Fried Bacon
 *Grape Jam
 *Coffee or Hot Chocolate

For Easter Egg Nests: With a 1 1/2" cookie cutter cut hole in 1/2" thick slice of bread (with crust removed). Brown bread in hot fat, drop egg in hole and cook until egg is partially set; finish cooking in moderate oven (350° F.)

- TO MAKE HOT CROSS BUNS
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 8 to 9 1/2 cups all-purpose flour | 2 tbsps sugar |
| 1/2 tsp salt | 1/2 tsp salt |
| 1/4 tsp cinnamon | 1 egg |
| 1/4 tsp nutmeg | 2 tbsps softened butter |
| 1/4 cup milk | or other shortening |
| 1/4 cup water | 1/4 cup seedless raisins |
| 1/4 cup compressed yeast | 1/4 cup currants |

Sift flour, measure; sift again with spices. Scald milk; add water; cool to lukewarm; add crumbled yeast, sugar, and salt. Beat until yeast is dissolved, and add beaten egg. Add half the flour to yeast mixture; mix well; add remaining flour gradually, using just enough to prevent dough from sticking; add softened shortening, raisins, and currants; and work until sides of bowl are clean. Knead dough on lightly floured board until smooth. place in greased bowl; cover with damp cloth; and let rise in warm place (80° to 85° F.) until double in bulk. Punch down to original size; shape into ball; place on floured board; divide into 2 portions; shape each into ball; cover with damp cloth; and let stand 15 min. Divide each ball into 8 small ones, place on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart; cover; and let rise until almost double in bulk. Brush with egg wash (1 egg yolk beaten with 8 tbsps water); cut shallow crosses with scissors on top of each roll. Bake 8 min. in moderately hot oven (425° F.); reduce to moderate (350° F.); and bake 15 to 20 min. longer—until done. When cool, mark crosses with thin powdered sugar and cream icing. Reheat to serve.

THREE SOLDIERS FARE WELL

But Mother, having three soldiers for dinner on Easter wouldn't cost much.

Possibly not, but far too much for our budget, dear. I'd love to but I'm afraid the answer is "no".

And you mean Aunt Jane actually told you how we can have the boys and—

—and do it without spending any more than we have been spending on a regular dinner, yes! she said—

Just like Aunt Jane said—Safeway prices are low on everything.

To think I've missed savings like these for years only because I was too stubborn to change.

Certainly was fun having the boys, dear, and the dinner was wonderful. Hate to see the bills, though.

It didn't cost a cent more than a regular dinner, Art, thanks to Safeway. Their prices are so low I'm going to save enough to do a lot of special things.

Aunt Jane is right, as usual

You can serve an extra special dinner on the same money when you shop at Safeway, regularly. The savings really pile up because Safeway's prices are low on everything every day. Try it yourself and you'll be amazed at the money you'll have for extra things.

Light Patrol Vessel Sunk by Submarine, Italians Admit

Rome Reports Thrust at Gibraltar by Warplanes; Says Fires Were Started

By the Associated Press.
ROME (From Italian Broadcasts), April 2.—The Italian high command reported today that a light Italian patrol vessel had been lost in torpedo action by a submarine. "A great part of the crew was saved," the high command announced, identifying the Central Mediterranean as the scene of the attack.

Gibraltar was raided by Italian aircraft, it said. (A dispatch from Gibraltar said high-flying enemy planes had dropped bombs on the British fortress rock during bright moonlight before dawn yesterday, but were driven off by anti-aircraft guns. An official announcement said there were neither casualties nor damage.) The high command said two British planes had been destroyed in Libyan operations and "on the Cirenaica front there were clashes of patrols and normal air activity." The thrust at Gibraltar was described thus: "Fires and explosions were observed in the region of the fortress, where military objectives were repeatedly hit in spite of immediate intervention by British fighters, which lost one plane. "Our air formations were able to complete their task and to return to their bases without loss."

British Warships Bombed At Malta, Nazis Say

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 2 (P).—The German high command said today that direct hits were scored on British destroyers and submarines in continued day and night aerial attacks on Malta. In attacks on the Libyan battle zone and along the Egyptian coast, Nazi planes "effectively" bombed air fields, camps, a railway line and columns of motor transport, the communique said.

Arizona Band Killed to a Man In Attack on Pearl Harbor

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, April 2.—All 21 musicians in the U. S. S. Arizona Band were killed in the explosion of that battleship's magazine while they were passing ammunition to the guns above during the Pearl Harbor attack December 7, naval authorities revealed yesterday.

The Arizona was destroyed in the Japanese sneak attack. The Navy issued this statement: "What becomes of the boys in the band when the guns begin to roar?" "Many a civilian has asked that question. . . . "The most dramatic answer has been furnished by the incident of the ship's band of the battleship Arizona. "On December 7 they went to their battle stations, one of the most hazardous on the ship—down below passing ammunition to the guns above. To a man the Arizona's band was killed when the battleship's magazine exploded. "Part of the program of recreation at Pearl Harbor last year was 'The Battle of Music, 1941.' The bands of the ships in port contested. One of the best and near the top in the scoring when the war began was the band of the Arizona. When its total loss was discovered the other contestants unanimously agreed to award posthumously to the Arizona's band the trophy at stake. . . . Henceforth the trophy will be known as the Arizona Trophy. After the war it will be put up again to be challenged when the battle of music is resumed. "Members of the Arizona's band are: "F. W. Kinney, bandmaster; A. J. Nadel, W. L. Bandy, O. M. Brabbson, N. P. Radford, J. L. Scruggs, E. H. Whitson, C. J. Haas, P. N. Fioege, C. C. Cox, C. W. White, W. S. Morehouse, C. R. Williams, R. W. Foreign Minister Says Rumania Will Fight Russia to Finish

Antonescu Changes Tune; Declares Bolshevism Must Be Destroyed

By the Associated Press. BERN, Switzerland, April 2.—Rumanian Foreign Minister Mihail Antonescu declared yesterday that his country intends to fight Soviet Russia to the finish because "we are fighting for a new state and a new human being."

He described his statement as an answer to foreign reports that his country wanted to withdraw from the war in the east and keep her troops at home.

"The tone of his speech was entirely different from his declaration March 19, in which he attacked Hungary, and his comments yesterday also made no reference to the controversy over Transylvania.

Diplomatic circles interpreted this change as a result of recent German-Italian talks.

Misunderstanding Claimed.

Some people, Antonescu complained, had misunderstood the fact that Rumania was keeping silent about the Russian war.

"We are fighting from a European feeling of responsibility," he declared. "The European mission is not a mission of words. We must destroy Bolshevism."

"When we recognized that the Soviet flood menaced us and all Europe, we joined with Germany and Hitler in conducting an aggressive and imperialistic war in the east.

"The decision to fight is due to great traditions. We are fighting for a new state and a new human being."

Antonescu said Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany understood the situation, adding that "I have a feeling of thankfulness to both."

This might have been a reference to the controversy with Hungary, but Antonescu did not amplify that remark.

Denounces Russia.

The only other reference which might have been interpreted as a reference to the Transylvanian territorial dispute was Antonescu's assertion that "Russia is, in the main, guilty for all the changes in our frontiers." He said Rumania did not lose part of Transylvania and Dobruja to Hungary and Bulgaria, respectively, until after Russia had occupied Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina.

Meanwhile, it was reported the Bulgarian government is carrying out an extensive purge in the army in preparation for sending troops to the eastern front.

Sources with close Bulgarian connections said hundreds of officers with Russian sympathies were either being transferred to unimportant posts or arrested.

Mary Pickford held open house for service men at her famous estate yesterday. She supplied swimming suits, towels and lockers to all who wanted a dip in the pool. She served refreshments and promised to hold a party every Wednesday afternoon, in co-operation with the United Service Organizations, in which she was active.

The actress had a $375,000 offer for her palatial home five years ago.

Clifford K. Berryman Named Vice President By Oldest Inhabitants

Several Members Recall Bygone Days on Pennsylvania Avenue

Clifford K. Berryman, The Star's cartoonist, last night was elected a vice president of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants of the District of Columbia, to succeed Charles A. Langley, who died recently.

Mr. Berryman's election was unanimous, after he had been nominated by Charles H. Bates, at the association's monthly meeting held in the Old Union Engine House, Nineteenth and H streets N.W. John Clagett Proctor and Fred A. Emery, also vice presidents of the association, delivered brief eulogies of the late Mr. Langley.

The meeting was featured by an "off record" address of conditions in Europe by a diplomat, who asked that his name not be published. James F. Duhamel, corresponding secretary of the association, in a brief address told of seeing Pennsylvania avenue when it was a "quagmire" shortly after the Civil War. He related how he had seen six horses stalled along the thoroughfare while pulling a large stone pillar. Mr. Bates told of the Avenue having at one time been paved with blocks. Mr. Proctor and Mr. Emery also joined in relating their recollections of the Avenue—some of his eating and drinking places of many years ago and the names of famous persons who in generations past traveled along the thoroughfare.

Harry C. Schafer and Simon D. Tennyson were elected new members. Mr. Proctor presided.

Macek Reported Released From Internment by Nazis

BERN, April 2.—Dr. Vladimir Macek, former Croatian leader of the Yugoslav Peasant party, who joined King Peter's last anti-Nazi ministry a year ago as Minister of Agriculture, has been released from four months of police-guarded internment in Agrani (Zagreb in Croatia) and has returned to his country estate at Kupinec according to the Budapest correspondent of Der Bund of Bern.

Dr. Macek was arrested last November by the Ustachi (Yugoslavia's pro-Nazi group) for his one-time anti-Nazi attitude.

Earth-Is-Flat Theorist Leads Boston Spring Soapbox Orators

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, April 2.—Spring is here, so is the open season for orators on Boston Common—and so is a gentleman known as Prof. John G. Abizaid with his theory that the earth is flat.

Other orators exercising free speech from their soapboxes along the Common's mall usually concern themselves with the Bible, Socialism and sometimes the war, but Prof. Abizaid clings year after year to his pet topic.

A neatly-dressed man with white hair and flowing white mustache, and possessed of a strong but pleasant voice, he illustrates his theory with an instrument shaped like a pie plate, about a foot in diameter. From the center of the plate, which is covered with words, circles and numbers difficult for the layman to grasp, there extends an arm like the hand of a clock.

Each year he is asked on his first appearance whether he has changed over to the belief that the earth is round. Each year he smiles and replies:

"No. The earth is still flat. It has always been flat. The cheaters have said it was round. But this instrument proves it is flat."

"What if he should convince everybody?"

"Just this," says Prof. Abizaid. "A hundreds years from now when there is more intelligence in the world and everybody knows the earth is flat, they will not look back on us and think we were a lot of dummy-dummies."

He knows the task he faces in trying to swing people to his belief, but this and every summer Sunday afternoon, weather permitting, he will be on the Common, expounding his theory to the knots of passersby who gather and then pass on.

Bank Clearings Dip 5.1 Per Cent Below Same 1941 Week

Sharp New York Drop More Than Offsets Gains Elsewhere

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 2.—A sharp drop in bank clearings there, against continued high volume elsewhere, lowered the total for the past week in 23 leading cities to $6,711,503,000, a decrease of 5.1 per cent from the comparable 1941 period, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

It was the first time this year the turnover failed to match or better 1941 figures. The decline in New York was to $3,384,699,000, against $4,207,133,000 last year, the remaining 23 cities showing a rise of 16 per cent from 1941 at $3,326,804,000.

O. P. A. Opposes Any Rise in Scrap Prices

The Office of Price Administration declared formally today that price ceilings on scrap metal would not be increased and that "there will be no profit in hoarding."

The agency made public a letter from Price Administrator Leon Henderson to Lesing J. Rosenwald, chief of the W. P. B. Industrial Conservation Bureau, outlining O. P. A.'s position with regard to campaigns to salvage scrap and adding:

"I can not envision any American withholding this vital war material for the selfish purpose of speculating on the possibility of higher prices in the future."

W. P. B. currently is concentrating on a drive to collect supplies of scrap now lying idle in barns and farmyards throughout the rural areas.

Alabama Steel Backlogs Set New Records

By the Associated Press. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 2.—Alabama steel mills went into the second quarter of 1942 with the heaviest backlogs in the history of the industry despite record production during January, February and March.

Bookings for April were especially heavy, with shipyard requirements the most pressing for delivery.

Production for this week was at 85 per cent for steel and 100 per cent for iron. Additional facilities, increasing the output of both iron and steel, are scheduled for initial operation this month.

New finishing facilities, adding to the output of shipbuilding steel, are scheduled to begin operations before the end of the second quarter.

Talon Closes Erie Plant, Cuts Meadville Rolls

By the Associated Press. MEADVILLE, Pa., April 2.—W. C. Arthur, president of Talon, Inc., announced today the company's Erie (Pa.) plant, employing 800, had been closed and 1,500 of 4,000 employees at the Meadville plant had been furloughed as the result of a War Production Board order prohibiting the use of copper and copper alloy for slide fasteners.

In a statement, he said: "No such drastic action as that affecting this company and the slide fastener industry in the United States would, of course, have been considered except in the light of the dire national emergency."

"Every pound of copper and other critical metals which can possibly be withdrawn from every other use for the production of munitions and war supplies."

A company spokesman said the War Production Board's order may result in further layoffs. He added, however, that Talon is converting its facilities to war production as rapidly as possible.

In the nine months since last July 1 the Government has spent $20,249,967,907 and taken in $9,048,703,679, leaving a deficit of $11,201,264,228.

Borrowing through Defense bonds and other securities to pay for this deficit brought the total Federal debt, including guaranteed obligations of Government corporations, to $68,109,342,025.

Certificates Explained. Through thousands of telegrams to securities dealers, public officials and potential large investors, the Treasury attempted today to familiarize the public with the nature of its $1,500,000,000 sale of certificates of indebtedness in advance of the actual sale next Monday.

The Treasury said that the telegrams were not intended to be actual requests to buy this type of security, but were designed merely to spread information about them, since no securities of this type have been marketed since 1934.

The Treasury said that it was asking all securities dealers to assist their customers in understanding the terms of the offering.

Usual Method Adopted. The actual sale of the securities, however, will be made, as usual, only through subscriptions filed with the Federal Reserve Banks of the Treasury.

The certificates will bear interest at the annual rate of one-half of 1 per cent and will mature in "about six months."

Officials said that a number of banks, corporations and other large investors had asked the Treasury to issue such a type of security.

The notices were sent, also, to all bond-buying agencies of State and local governments which have a population of 25,000 or more. Many of these agencies have trust funds of other cash to invest.

War Bond Sales Down. The Treasury reported today that Defense bond sales dropped sharply in March, aggregating $654,506,281, compared with $710,837,192 in February.

Officials said the drop probably was due to the fact that many people had no money left for bond purchases after they paid their income taxes.

Income Tax Receipts And War Spending Set New Records

March Revenues Up 250 Per Cent From Peak of Year Ago

By the Associated Press. Income tax and war spending totals broke all records in March. Completing the month's tabulations, the Treasury said today that income and excess profits tax revenues aggregated $3,082,627,146, which was two-and-one-half times the previous record of $1,207,512,891, set in March last year.

Cash outlay for war activities set a new peak in March of $2,796,957,580. This was about $950,000,000 more than February, the largest month-to-month increase since the beginning of the defense program in the middle of 1940.

With excise, social security and other taxes, total Federal revenues last month were $3,547,169,479, also a record. Total Federal expenditures for all purposes were $3,436,300,832. Thus, the greatest revenue month in the Treasury's history produced a surplus of only $110,868,647.

According to administration budget plans, there may not be another such monthly surplus for the duration of the war.

In the nine months since last July 1 the Government has spent $20,249,967,907 and taken in $9,048,703,679, leaving a deficit of $11,201,264,228.

Borrowing through Defense bonds and other securities to pay for this deficit brought the total Federal debt, including guaranteed obligations of Government corporations, to $68,109,342,025. Certificates Explained. Through thousands of telegrams to securities dealers, public officials and potential large investors, the Treasury attempted today to familiarize the public with the nature of its $1,500,000,000 sale of certificates of indebtedness in advance of the actual sale next Monday.

The Treasury said that the telegrams were not intended to be actual requests to buy this type of security, but were designed merely to spread information about them, since no securities of this type have been marketed since 1934.

The Treasury said that it was asking all securities dealers to assist their customers in understanding the terms of the offering.

Usual Method Adopted. The actual sale of the securities, however, will be made, as usual, only through subscriptions filed with the Federal Reserve Banks of the Treasury.

The certificates will bear interest at the annual rate of one-half of 1 per cent and will mature in "about six months."

Officials said that a number of banks, corporations and other large investors had asked the Treasury to issue such a type of security.

The notices were sent, also, to all bond-buying agencies of State and local governments which have a population of 25,000 or more. Many of these agencies have trust funds of other cash to invest.

War Bond Sales Down. The Treasury reported today that Defense bond sales dropped sharply in March, aggregating $654,506,281, compared with $710,837,192 in February.

Officials said the drop probably was due to the fact that many people had no money left for bond purchases after they paid their income taxes.

Miners Mark Anniversary Of Eight-Hour Workday

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, April 2.—The Nation's 600,000 soft coal miners took a holiday from work at 2,000 coal pits yesterday to commemorate the 44th anniversary of their gaining an eight-hour workday.
For one of the few times, if not the first, since John L. Lewis became president of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers more than two decades ago, he failed to make a speech on the occasion.

That, plus the failure of most speakers even to refer to their chief, revived reports of an impending showdown between him and his erstwhile confidant, Philip Murray, vice president of the union and head of the C. I. O.
The day's work loss by the holiday will be made up in most sections by working on the usual Saturday holiday.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The first evacuation of Japanese from San Francisco and San Diego began today.
All persons of Japanese ancestry living in specified areas were ordered to report to civil control stations to receive instructions about their departure.
Lt. Gen. J. L. Dewitt, commandant of the Western Defense Command and 4th Army, said Japanese who failed to comply would be subject to immediate internment.

It is estimated 1,000 Japanese will be evacuated from San Francisco and a like number from San Diego. Meanwhile, mass evacuation of families was under way from Los Angeles to the Government's camp at Manzanar, Calif.

Fans Welcome Circus Train In Brief Pause at Alexandria

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Washington Zoo, was among the early risers who hurried to Potomac Yards this morning to greet the circus as it passed through. Here he helps Jewel, one of the elephants, get down her breakfast food.

War traffic has taxed facilities of the Nation's railroads, but the circus trains still roll. They rolled through Washington this morning after a stopover in Alexandria's Potomac yards on their way to the grand opening next week at the same old stand—Madison Square Garden in New York City.

The few perennial grinders who negotiated the terminal's maze of tracks and found the stream to which the silver strings of special cars were shunted were delighted. The "big show" was unchanged, except that it had been made "bigger and better than ever."

Most gratifying note was struck when 37 elephants stepped cautiously from their cars and were lined up for hay and water by their handlers. Walter McLean, elephant boss, succeeded in obtaining 11 of the pachyderms on the West Coast...

Meat Truck on Hand. The first train, carrying the principal performers, went through Alexandria before dawn, but by the time the second, loaded with animals, handlers and a few sideshow performers, pulled into the yards, such inveterate circus fans as Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Zoo, and Melvin D. Hildreth, attorney, were on hand to renew acquaintances.

72 Lawyers Urge Casey As Combined Court Head

A petition signed by 72 lawyers has been sent to Attorney General Biddle urging him to consider Judge Walter J. Casey of Police Court for appointment as presiding judge of the combined municipal police courts, it was announced today by Attorney Charles E. Ford.

The petition refers to recent reports that the District Bar Association had recommended Judge Nathan Cayton for the position of chief judge of the combined courts, and declares:

"The District Bar Association has never held a regular or special meeting at which such action was taken. That action was merely taken by one of the District of Columbia bar committees known as the Committee on Judicial Appointments."

The committee, the petition adds, made its recommendations to the bar association's board of directors. E. Barrett Pretyman, president of the bar association, said the Committee on Judicial Appointments had acted in accordance with procedure followed for some time.

Most Dealers Raise Price Of Coal Here

6-Cent-a-Ton Boost Held Needed to Meet Higher Rail Costs

Falling in their recent efforts to obtain permission for an increase of 25 cents a ton in the retail price of coal here, most of the dealers in Washington today raised the price six cents a ton to cover increased freight rates.

That was announced in a statement issued on behalf of "many coal dealers," but it could not be learned whether all dealers in Washington have increased their prices. Because of competition, it was believed there were some who had not yet added the six cents.

Dealers were "permitted" by the Office of Price Administration to add the increased freight rates, which had been allowed the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission. But the O. P. A. said in a statement March 26:

"However, O. P. A. strongly urges all retail and wholesale dealers to absorb these freight increases."

Price Rise Held Necessary. The new retail price here will apply to all grades and sizes of coal on the so-called "long ton" of 2,240 pounds, required by law in the District.

The dealers' statement said the price action was taken "only after careful study of the effects of the new 5 cents per net ton of 2,000 pounds freight rate increase which was approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission effective March 18."

"Realizing the great difficulty of continuing to operate retail coal businesses under the extreme conditions prevailing today, the Office of Price Administration immediately approved the 6 cents per gross ton of 2,240 pounds increase."

Price of Coke Increased. "This advance will merely absorb the actual cost of the new freight rates the dealers must pay, and will in no way cover any of the other increased costs under which local dealers are operating. The Washington dealers delayed advancing their prices until it became necessary to replace stocks which were acquired at the lower freight rate. It is estimated that this action has saved Washington coal users many dollars."

The increase also applies to coke, but it is sold on a short ton of 2,000 pounds, so the price boost will be 5 cents a ton, the amount of the freight charge added. The amount of coke sold here is negligible, of a coal dealer said.

Manufacture of Metal Office Furniture Halted

By the Associated Press. The War Production Board today froze manufacturers' stocks of metal office furniture and equipment and prohibited production of virtually all types after May 31.

Effective immediately, the board ordered that of insulated metal cabinets, safes, and metal visible record equipment must be halted, except to fill top-rated priority orders.

Also effective at once, the order requires manufacturers to cut their monthly use of steel for metal sheets 50 per cent compared with monthly consumption during the year ended last June 30.

Preliminary to a complete stoppage of production of other types of filing cabinets, lockers, desks, chairs, bank vault equipment and waste-paper receptacles, manufacturers of such items must reduce their steel consumption 60 per cent this month and next.

W. P. B. officials said the order was a preliminary to conversion of most of the industry's facilities to war work.

Viereck Again Denied Bail Pending Appeal

The United States Court of Appeals today denied for the second time a plea of George Sylvester Viereck that he be permitted freedom on bond pending disposition of his appeal from conviction of violating the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Viereck is under sentence of from two to six years for failure to give full information when registering as a Nazi agent with the State Department.

In passing today upon his attorneys' renewed petition for release on bond, the court declared it saw no reason to change its view. The petition was considered by Chief Justice D. Lawrence Groner and Associate Justices Harold M. Stephens, Justin Miller, Fred M. Vinson, Henry W. Edgerton and Wiley Rutledge.

Atlantic City Gets Miners' Convention

World's Best Easter Flowers Promised at Botanic Garden

Exhibition Will Be Open Daily As Long as Blossoms Last

By WILL F. KENNEDY. Washington is to have the best Easter flower show possible in all the war-ridden world, according to Secretary of the Joint Committee on the Library, in charge of the United States Botanic Garden.

The exhibition this year is unusual for an Easter display because the traditional Easter lilies—both Erab and Greole—will be absent. Bulbs were not available.

The show is arranged in the exhibition conservatory west of the Capitol grounds and includes a wide variety of spring blooms—azaleas, amaryllis, cinerarias, cyclamen, narcissus, scillas, rhododendrons and others. It will be open to the public daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. as long as the flowers last.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, one of the first to view the show, declares it to be amazingly good.

Azaleas on Exhibition. There was a record attendance at the azalea show, far in excess of last year, viewed by more than 62,000 persons in three days. A hundred plants of the finest Rutherfordian hybrids will be in the Easter show. During the coming week there will be more than 1,500 amaryllis plants in the show. William A. Frederick, who represents Congress in administration of the Botanic Garden, points out that in this institution the Federal Government is now preserving the best collections of plants from all over the world.

Several thousand cinerarias, of all colors and variety of petal designs are intriguing visitors. This is said to be the finest display of cinerarias ever shown in Washington.

One important section of the show is in tribute to the devoted services of Wilbur J. Paget, assistant director, who for nearly 40 years has made a special study of narcissus. There are several thousand pots of all varieties on display. Botanical authorities say that the narcissus group is the best they have ever seen on display. This is especially notable because of the extreme difficulty in getting bulbs.

The scillas, of which there are about 1,000 plants on display, are attracting much attention, because they are relatively new in Botanic Garden exhibitions. The plants are 2 to 3 feet high, of attractive foliage and well covered with pasty-like flowers, mostly in pastel shades. They are sometimes called "the poor man's orchid."

Forming a background for some of the smaller plants are 50 large rhododendrons with heavy, rich colored blooms.

The Senate Appropriations Committee may act within a day or two on supplemental estimates amounting to $528,519 recommended by the Budget Bureau for urgent needs of the District government for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

The Budget Bureau informed Congress the revenues of the District appear to be sufficient to meet these added obligations.

Two school items were included, namely: To complete six unfinished classrooms at the Lafayette School, $45,000; for Community Center work, $18,975.

Soldiers 'Build' Tank For Artillery Practice

By the Associated Press. NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—American ingenuity paid off again when Battery B of the 246th Coast Artillery at Fort Monroe found it lacked equipment to test anti-aircraft guns against ground targets.

The boys rounded up two 18-inch lengths of pipe, a cast iron collar, some metal rings and rubber bands. They converted this miniature scrap heap into sights, and covered a framework of pipe with cloth to resemble a tank silhouette.

$50,000 Red Cross Goal Of B'nai B'rith Surpassed

B'nai B'rith reported today that the 495 lodges, auxiliaries and youth chapters of the organization had gone over the top in their pledge of $50,000 to the Red Cross war fund campaign.

The various groups, said Henry Monsky, B'nai B'rith president, contributed $45,410 from their treasuries in fulfillment of a pledge made by the Rev. J. W. Rosenberger, Rock Harbor attack, when B'nai B'rith gave $5,000 to the Red Cross from its national funds and promised that units throughout the country would contribute an additional $45,000 through local Red Cross chapters.

The groups participating in the gift are located in 41 States and 287 communities.

Of the $45,410 contributed, lodges accounted for $27,204; auxiliaries for $17,406 and the youth organization, Aleph Zadik Aleph, for $800.

Mr. Monsky also reported that B'nai B'rith was going forward with its plan to collaborate with the newly organized Red Cross Camp and Hospital Service Councils to meet the welfare and recreational needs of hospitalized and able-bodied men in Army camps.

D. C. Man and Associate Fined in Oil Swindle

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, April 2.—Two men indicted in connection with an oil security sales scheme which the Government charged defrauded a number of elderly Eastern Shore Maryland residents were fined yesterday in Federal Court.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman fined W. Frank Minnick, 46, of Washington, $2,500 after a jury had convicted him in 15 minutes. Murray Lazarus, 46, of New York, pleaded guilty and was fined $750.

Both men were committed to jail when they failed to pay the fines. E. Thomas Evergam, assistant United States attorney, said the two men traded as the Continental Securities Co. of Washington, and had induced clients to surrender securities in exchange for promised royalties on oil properties in Midwestern States.

23 Arrested Here For Failing to Have 1942 Auto Tags

Police Reported

Twenty-three motorists driving with 1941 District license plates were arrested yesterday, police reported.

The first day's checkup showed that six of the drivers had 1942 tags, but hadn't got around to bolting them on. They were let off after posting $25 collateral.

But the rest had to post $25, and all indicated they would appear in court.

Old tags should be left at neighborhood filling stations, Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer reminded today.

Payroll Taxes May Be Revised Now in Virginia

Smaller Employers, Workers Aided by Assembly Changes

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., April 2.—Payroll taxes of employees subject to the Virginia Unemployment Compensation Act whose payrolls are less than $10,000 a year may be revised under an amendment to the law passed by the recent session of the General Assembly.

Under the "merit-rating" law passed in 1940, employers with less than $10,000 payrolls were grouped as one for purposes of determining the rate of the tax they were to pay, now approximately 2 per cent.

The amendment by the 1942 Legislature eliminates the grouping of the smaller employers and provides for the taxing of each employer upon the basis of his own experience. This means that the rate may vary from 1 to 2.7 per cent for each small employer, the same as for the companies with large payrolls.

Supreme Court Rule Changed.

Another important change in the old law provides for appeals to the Supreme Court of Virginia from labor disputes. Decisions and liability for taxes, regardless of the amount involved in any one benefit claim. This will avoid a recurrence of the situation that developed in 1940-1 when the Supreme Court dismissed for lack of jurisdiction appeals of Southwest Virginia miners from a Tazewell Circuit Court decree denying them benefits for the period of the 1939 miners' strike.

Justice C. Vernon Spratley, in the opinion in the case, said that amounts involved were less than $300 and that under existing law the Supreme Court could not assume jurisdiction.

The changes made by the recent Legislature became effective yesterday under an emergency clause. Other important provisions raised the minimum unemployment benefits from $3 to $4 a week and reduced the waiting period for benefits from two weeks to one week.

May Make Agreements.

The unemployment compensation commissioner now also is authorized to enter into reciprocal agreements with other jurisdictions for the purpose of concentrating the earnings of interstate employes in one State so as to simplify the reporting of payrolls and payment of contributions with respect to interstate employes.

The principal change existing law will be relieved from liability for payment of taxes on the employes of subcontractors and the liability transferred to the subcontractors.

Benefit rights of individuals inducted into military service subsequent to June 30, 1940, and who were frozen so that upon their discharge the rights they had at the time they entered the armed forces will be extended for 52 calendar weeks after their discharge.

Assessments Permissible.

Another new provision permits the commission of the U. S. C. taxes priority in case of a receiver's increase in 1940, within a year after erroneous payment of taxes the period in which an application for refund may be filed; give persons caught by the statute of limitations for the years 1938-1941, inclusive, 60 days from April 1 within which to file applications for relief, and provide that where taxes that should have been paid to the Railroad Retirement Board have been erroneously paid to the State under the Federal Unemployment Insurance Act, refund may be made at any time without regard to the date of payment.

Prince Georges Arrests 4 Garbage Truck Operators

Operators of four garbage trucks were arrested yesterday in Prince Georges County for violation of the county's garbage ordinance.

The arrests were made through the efforts of Charles L. Wood, chief county sanitarian, who is seeking enforcement of the law, passed by the State Legislature, to force hog raisers in the county to feed swine with grain or other foods instead of refuse.

The ordinance provides that garbage brought into the county must be disposed of on a recognized dump or must be taken out of the county. It also requires that the garbage be packed in waterproof containers.

The four truck operators posted $100 bond each. Two of them will appear Monday in Police Court at Upper Marlboro. The other two will appear Friday.

Prisoner Digs Out Of Spotsylvania Jail

By the Associated Press.
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., April 2.—James Baxter, 35, of Paytes, held in the Spotsylvania County Jail on a non-support charge, dug his way out in five hours. He opened a hole beneath the front wall.

Another prisoner, who watched the job, decided he would not try to escape.

The Spotsylvania Jail recently was described by James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, as one of the five worst in the United States.

$6,000 Winchester Fire

WINCHESTER, Va., April 2 (Special).—L. L. Hockman indicated today his intention of rebuilding a large warehouse burned yesterday along with its contents of $6,000, entailing a loss of about $6,000, partly insured. Several nearby dwellings ignited, but damage to them was slight. The merchandise destroyed belonged to the American Agricultural Chemical Co., of which Mr. Hockman is manager. Origin of the fire had not been determined.

SON GETS POSTHUMOUS D. S. C.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Anderson and a young son of Quantico, Va., are shown with Brig. Gen. E. H. Marks, commanding general of Fort Belvoir, Va., yesterday after the posthumous presentation at the fort of the Distinguished Service Cross to another of the Andersons' sons, Corp. William T. Anderson, killed in the Japanese attack on Hickam Field, Hawaii, December 7. The citation said that Corp. Anderson, "with utter disregard to his own personal safety, fired a machine gun at the attacking Japanese planes while exposed to their fire. He remained in the open firing the machine gun until killed." Mrs. Anderson wept during the award.

Fans Welcome Circus Train In Brief Pause at Alexandria

By C. A. MATHISEN.
War traffic has taxed facilities of the Nation's railroads, but the circus trains still roll. They rolled through Washington this morning after a stopover in Alexandria's Potomac yards on their way to the grand opening next week at the same old stand—Madison Square Garden in New York City.

The few perennial greeters who negotiated the terminal's maze of tracks and found the stretch to which the silver strings of special cars were shunted were delighted. The "big show" was unchanged, except, of course, that it had been made "bigger and better than ever."

The host of nomads making up the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, or "the" circus, appeared as always, giving assurance "the show must go on" despite war.

Most gratifying note was struck when 37 elephants stepped cautiously from their cars and were lined up for hay and water by their handlers. Walter McLean, elephant boss, succeeded in obtaining 11 of the pachyderms on the West Coast—animals which formerly traveled with another circus—to replace those killed by poison last fall. They mix well with the other big performers, and it was possible to promise this year's audiences as large an elephant act as those of previous years.

Meat Truck on Hand.

The first train, carrying the principal performers, went through Alexandria before dawn, but by the time the second, loaded with animals, handlers and a few sideshow performers, pulled into the yards, such inveterate circus fans as Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Zoo, and Melvin D. Hildreth, attorneys, were on hand to renew acquaintances.

Advance arrangements had been made for a refrigerated meat truck to supply food for some of the animals.

"Did you get that order for a filet mignon?" the driver was asked. He had no filet mignon.

There was some discussion as to whether the truck could make another trip before the train left and whether it would for one file. Finally a concerned man set forth to find a butcher shop.

"I'll see what I can do," he said. "Those monkeys must have their filet mignon."

One of the animal crew set up his portable table and began cutting up big sections of meat into sizes which could be shoved through cage bars to the impatient lions, tigers and other beasts.

Will Return May 25.

Only elephants, camels and horses were permitted to stretch their legs beside the tracks while being watered and fed. The work went on to accompaniment of shouts for such individuals as "Poppey" and "Dough-belly."

Some of the workmen, making their first trip North, found small snow mounds still unmelting, made balls and carried them excitedly to others who were to see the white stuff for the first time.

After about two hours, the circus train moved on. It will not reach this area again until May 25, when it is scheduled to open a six-day run here, featuring a patriotic "super-spectacle" but bringing along all the things that delight young and old year after year.

Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Washington Zoo, was among the early risers who hurried to Potomac Yards this morning to greet the circus as it passed through. Here he helps Jewel, one of the elephants, get down her breakfast food.

Congress Group Sees Suburban Housing Sites

Montgomery Tour Is Conducted by County Officials

Four members of the House Public Buildings and Grounds Committee toured Montgomery County, Md., yesterday to examine building sites and facilities in their efforts to help Greater Washington solve its defense housing problems.

The group, consisting of Representatives Meyers, Maryland, and Mills, Louisiana, Democrats; Bishop, Illinois, and Holmes, Massachusetts, Republicans, left Union Station and rode to Rockville over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, viewing en route a number of way stations on the commuters' line, as well as vacant land available for housing developments.

On the train with the legislators were F. Byrne Austin, supervisor of elections of Montgomery County, former secretary of the Washington County Board of Commissioners; Lacy Shaw, chairman of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission; and William Byron of Maryland; Thomas Earl Hampton, chairman of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners; and John Ricketts, secretary of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Met by Other Officials.

At the Rockville station, the congressional party was greeted by State's Attorney Ben K. Wilkinson, State Senator Robert Peter, Joseph Buscher, deputy clerk to the county commissioners, in charge of the eastern suburban district; J. Darby Bowman, secretary of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission; Harry R. Hall, chief engineer of the same commission; Irwin Kaplan, chief engineer, and Fred W. Tuemmler, director of planning, Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission; Donald Claggett, member Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission; O. W. Roby, county commissioner; R. W. Farmer of the County Board of Commissioners; William Carlin, former president, Silver Spring Board of Trade; Percy Gray, secretary of the Silver Spring Board of Trade; and Blaine Fitzgerald, Richard Shetterly and Ralph Love, members of the Park and Planning Commission.

A motor caravan was formed in front of the courthouse and conducted on a route that took it northwest to Derwood, back through Rockville and Bethesda, Chevy Chase, Kensington, Rock Creek Valley, Silver Spring, Takoma Park and other points, including several contemplated sites for housing developments or tracts where extensive home construction already is under way.

Sites Near Trains Favored.

The tour ended with a dinner for the members of the group at the Hotel at the Olney Inn, Olney, Md.

Mr. Bishop was particularly interested in available land near the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, viewing it as best suited for new defense housing, with transportation to Washington not dependent upon automobiles or buses.

"We are trying to find the best spot to house Federal workers," he said. "In my personal opinion, the burden of transportation should be put on the railroads, thus saving rubber and tires."

Mr. Bishop cited the fact countless thousands of citizens of New York and other metropolitan areas throughout the Nation commute to their employment by train instead of automobile or bus.

D. C. Man and Associate Fined in Oil Swindle

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, April 2.—Two men indicted in connection with an oil security sales scheme which the Government charged defrauded a number of elderly Eastern Shore Maryland residents were fined yesterday in Federal Court.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman fined W. Frank Minnick, 46, of Washington, $2,500 after a jury had convicted him in 15 minutes. Murray Lazarus, 46, of New York, pleaded guilty and was fined $750.

Both men were committed to jail when they failed to pay the fines.

K. Thomas Evergam, assistant United States attorney, said the two men traded as the Continental Securities Co. of Washington, and had induced clients to surrender securities in exchange for promised royalties on oil properties in Midwestern States.

Army Calls Off Test Of Newest Big Guns Without Explanation

Invitations to Newsmen And Photographers to Aberdeen Canceled

By the Associated Press.
ABERDEEN, Md., April 2.—Public tests of two of the Army's newest big guns at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds were abruptly called off last night by the War Department.

The tests were to have been held today under the supervision of Army ordnance officers.

Capt. Harvey Rivkins, post press relations officer, said that the War Department had canceled invitations to newspapermen and photographers to view the guns, first public showing of the new weapons.

The officer said no reason was given for the order and declined comment, but indicated a public test might be arranged later.

The guns are expected to be two of Uncle Sam's biggest, taking points in his argument with the Axis.

The 240-mm. howitzer, brought in convoy from the Wisconsin factory where it was built, is the largest field piece in the United States Army and, some officers believe, the largest in the world.

The Army expects this gun to throw huge shells into enemy positions far beyond the range of previous howitzers.

The 155-mm. gun, field equivalent of the 6-inch coast defense gun, is one of the most highly-regarded weapons in the United States arsenal. The chief feature of the gun is the mobility it is given by its tank mounting.

The superstructure of the tank was ripped down and the muzzle now projects from what would have been the turret.

The guns are expected to be two of Uncle Sam's biggest, taking points in his argument with the Axis.

Bulkeley Thought MacArthur Planned Entire Trip by Boat

Torpedoboat Commander Was Willing to Try And Did Not Learn of Real Scheme Until Later

Clark Lee, 35-year-old Associated Press war correspondent whose Bataan dispatches are described by Army men as "the best the war has produced on any front," arrived in Australia three days ago.

Mr. Lee left Bataan some time before Gen. Douglas MacArthur, but Army censorship has forced him to withhold details of his trip.

In the following dispatch, however, he sheds fresh light on the conditions under which Mr. MacArthur, his wife and young son got to Australia.

By CLARK LEE, Associated Press War Correspondent.

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEAD-QUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 2.—For military reasons the story of our trip from Bataan Peninsula to Australia has been delayed and even now some details cannot be published, but as a matter of fact the journey was rather uneventful and the high light was congratulating Gen. MacArthur today and hearing the story of his trip from members of his staff.

We knew when some days ago we heard by radio of his arrival in Australia that he must have left Bataan with great reluctance and only because he believed that by doing so he could better serve the Philippines and the whole Allied cause.

When it was finally decided that he would have to leave, Gen. MacArthur called in that bold buckaroo, Lt. John D. Bulkeley, motor torpedo boat commander, and asked if the lieutenant could take him through.

Lt. Bulkeley looked squarely at Gen. MacArthur with his cold green eyes and replied:

Did Not Understand Plans.

Lt. Bulkeley thought, so the general discovered later, that the assignment was to run through the Japanese lines all the way to Australia in his tiny but tough boat.

The general made clear that their destination was an island in the Philippines and asked Lt. Bulkeley if he could make it through waters in which the Japanese were attacking shipping.

"Can do, sir," Lt. Bulkeley answered—and it is history that he did, although the journey was difficult.

Gen. MacArthur is delighted with the co-operation he has received in Australia and is as confident as ever that the Japanese can be stopped and crushed.

Just before he left the Philippines he staged several attacks which pushed the Japanese back a considerable distance on Bataan.

Caught 10 Jap Ships.

His aviators rigged a bombing device onto their planes, enabling them to dive at targets with fairly heavy explosive loads. They caught 10 ships in Subic Bay and sank five of them, including an 18,000-ton transport on which it was estimated that 6,000 Japanese soldiers were killed.

The Japanese were heard at that time to complain bitterly about "MacArthur's unfairness in sending planes to bomb and machine-gun soldiers while innocently swimming in Subic Bay and not carrying weapons."

Our trip was tame compared with Gen. MacArthur's.

Melville Jacoby, correspondent for Time and Life magazines, and his wife and I left Bataan for reasons which still cannot be disclosed except to say that the journey definitely was not an escape from the war we had seen since its first day and in which we had developed the sincerest admiration for Gen. MacArthur and his Filipino and American soldiers, whose gallant cause we believe is still not lost.

We hope to return to see them reconquer the Philippines.

In making our trip to a certain point in Northern Australia we had several lucky breaks.

Once our vessel played hide-and-seek with a Japanese destroyer which had been shelling ports and shipping in inner Philippine waters. We sighted planes three times, but nothing happened.

Once we sighted a convoy of eight ships, probably Japanese, but we ducked into a rain squall and changed course. It was the only rainy day of the trip through the danger area.

Outran Pursuit Ship.

The following day another ship sighted us and began a pursuit, but we proved the faster, fortunately, since we were unprotected against surface attacks.

That day we spent eight hours making a wide circle to avoid the converging point of a number of Japanese supply routes.

We passed numerous Japanese air and naval bases at pretty close range, but our luck held.

After leaving the danger area, the trip became monotonous. We passed the time playing cards with able typewriter, one pair of shorts, two shirts and a pair of tennis shoes.

On landing, Mrs. Jacoby made a bee-line for a beauty shop and then for a department store. She now is wearing dresses instead of slacks for the first time since leaving Manila on New Year Eve, when all of us had to abandon everything except the clothes we were wearing.

Lewis Carson of San Francisco, who was a Shanghai businessman, and Richard van Landingham of Los Angeles, who was a Manila banker. My only possessions were a portable typewriter, one pair of shorts, two shirts and a pair of tennis shoes.

HEAD UP CHIN UP Under a Pretty Hat!

It's very true!

A pretty hat proclaims your spirit louder than words.

A pretty hat is as American as a soft drink.

Of course the privilege of wearing a pretty hat isn't what we're fighting for.

But it's a symbol.

Of the pleasure we still take in little things.

Of our new clothes philosophy (hard-working clothes, long-lived clothes... and the joy of a gay, feminine hat).

Of your determination to be pretty for your navy or army friend. (Suppose a woman's hat has always been the butt of a man's jokes?)

He loves you in them... he remembers you in them!

Why—a gay hat, a pretty hat can make a man's spirits soar.

It can help you look your best.

So... this Spring, think of hats as spirit-lifters.

Thousand Guests Attend Reception in Honor of Dr. Ezequiel Padilla

Mexican Embassy Scene of Fete; Yugoslav Minister and Mme. Fotitch Entertain for Military Mission

By Margaret Hart

The largest reception since the curtailment of state entertainments at the White House took place yesterday at a foreign Embassy. Representatives of all the Central and South American countries as well as distinguished cabinet officers of Mexico. The Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Castillo Najera set their party honoring the Minister of Foreign Affairs of their country, Senor Ezequiel Padilla, for the hour of 6 o'clock, but it was several hours after this time before the last guests left the spacious Embassy building on Sixteenth street.

The hosts stood in the smaller reception parlor to receive the long line of guests. Standing with them was the tall and handsome Foreign Minister and for a while their attractive daughter, Senorita Erma Castillo Najera, assisted in greeting the guests.

Senora de Castillo Najera wore a becoming afternoon gown of black lace made floor length and with short sleeves. Her daughter was in a dark blue street-length dress trimmed in braid in gay colors.

There was an informal and happy atmosphere prevailing at the party yesterday and guests enjoyed the gracious hospitality of the popular Castillo Najeras. Spanish, French and English were heard on all sides in the friendly conversation. Even though at times there was too much of a crowd for comfort, the guests took a treading on the toe good naturedly and always smiled. The elaborate buffet was beautiful to behold at the beginning of the party and was replenished. The bright pink gladioluses formed a pretty centerpiece on the long table, where lighted candles added their soft glow to the indirect lighting on the famous murals depicting life in Mexico.

Every room on the reception floor of the Embassy was popular yesterday with guests forming into little groups for conversation, and in the ballroom across the front of the building music was provided for dancing. The conservatory was perhaps the most crowded of all the rooms for the toasts were exchanged to the continued prosperity and success of the United Nations.

Wives of members of the Embassy staff alternated at the tea table and their husbands were seeing that all the guests were beautifully served of the various tea dainties or more substantial salads and cold meats.

Peruvian Ambassador Among First to Arrive.
The dean of the diplomatic corps, the Peruvian Ambassador, Senor Don Manuel Freyre y Santarrita, was among the first of the diplomats to arrive, and he was greeted on all sides by his colleagues. He held a lengthy and animated conversation with the French Ambassador, M. Gaston Heaul-Hay, and the Minister of Portugal, Dr. Joao de Bianchi, in the conservatory.

Another prominent personage to hold an impromptu reception was the director general of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, who seldom remains at a social function any length of time, but who was early on the scene yesterday and was among those last to leave.

The State Department was well represented. The Acting Secretary and Mrs. Sumner Welles arrived shortly after the appointed hour and close behind them were Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Adolf A. Berle, jr., the economic adviser to the department and Mrs. Herbert Feis, and then the Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Breckinridge Long.

More Than a Thousand Guests Pay Respects.
The Ambassador of Venezuela, Senor Dr. Don Diogenes Escalante, was accompanied by Senora de Escalante and their two very attractive daughters, Mme. Fronius and Senorita Marie Teresa Escalante, who will be a bride early next month.

There were more than a thousand guests at the brilliant party, and to mention only a few, there were Senator Pepper, accompanied by his pretty wife; Representative Bloom and his daughter, Miss Vera Bloom; the former President of Panama and Senora de Alfaro, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morris, the Chief of the International Communications Division of the State Department and Mrs. Thomas Burke and the latter's mother, Senora Mercedes del Pulgar;

Morning Musicales Given In Soviet Embassy

The hostess wore a simple black street-length morning frock and the program was given by a string quartet, the members chosen from the personnel of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which donated its services for the concert Tuesday evening, and the conductor, Dr. Serge Koussevitzki, was escorted yesterday morning to a front-row seat by the Ambassador.

Precautions In Traffic Are Urged

Safety Official Stresses Need as War Progresses

As important as safety precautions are at present, the need for them must increase as the war progresses, Mrs. George C. Thorpe, chairman of the Woman's Safety Committee of the American Automobile Association, warned last night at a meeting in the Departmental Auditorium.

"As the war lengthens and the civilian facilities shorten," Mrs. Thorpe declared, "old tires will induce accidents; new and inexperienced mechanics may fail to do the reliable repair; jobs that were formerly looked for granted, and an ever-increasing number of civilian employees will further congest our already crowded streets."

Mrs. Thorpe's address was included on a program arranged by the National Parks Service of the Interior Department.

Calling special attention to the great increase in population in the District in recent months, the speaker pointed out that both the Department of Vehicles and Traffic and the Metropolitan Police Force find themselves understaffed in the present emergency.

Under such circumstances, she said, it will take complete co-operation on the part of the pedestrian and the motorist to prevent an even more alarming increase in traffic casualties than was recorded last year.

With speed characterized as the "culprit" in a large proportion of accidents, Mrs. Thorpe suggested that the practical remedy would be to eliminate the necessity of speed.

"Let's budget our time," she said. "If we have to reach our offices, as most of us do, let's compute the length of time it takes to dress, breakfast and reach the street. Add to that the average time involved in securing transportation; the length of time actually en route. Then subtract that from the required hour of arrival. Add 15 minutes for good measure," she concluded, "and the chances are high that we will arrive at our place of employment on time, safe and sound in body and ready to work."

War Tools Flowing From Small Town Shops in South

Georgia Output Increases More than 2,000 Pct. Since Pearl Harbor

By the Associated Press. ATLANTA.—Small town shops, mills and foundries in the South that normally make replacements for farm equipment are receiving millions of dollars' worth of war contracts.

Parts for shells and bombs are being turned out by six-man machine shops within sight of corn and cotton fields in small communities, with many of the establishments operating two or three shifts.

Unpretentious little foundries casting fittings for mine sweepers in the land of peach trees. Dusty cabinet shops are turning out tool chests for cruisers, tent pegs for the Army and wooden frames for the netting that will protect American soldiers from insects in the tropics. Mrs. J. Verlyn Booth, Georgia manager of the division of contract distribution of the War Production Board, said war orders in Georgia shops had increased more than 2,000 per cent since Pearl Harbor and now run into millions of dollars each month.

He said the D. C. D. office is seeking to double and redouble the number of war tools coming off the production lines of small shops in all parts of the State.

"We are making progress," he said, "but we can and must get all of the State's production capacity to work on war orders, no matter how small the plant or how remote the village in which it is located."

"Thousands are on the battle lines throughout the world and thousands of Georgia workmen on the production lines at home are helping to put weapons in their hands."

speaking, will continue through Easter Sunday.

"It is either Jesus Christ or a pagan world," Bishop Freeman said yesterday at noon services at Epiphany.

"We live today in a world of selfishness, a United States lacking discipline," he said.

Striking hard at the complacency and selfishness of the people of the Nation, Bishop Freeman said: "What do we care of the thousands of men dying on Bataan and those who possibly may die in Australia when we can still have our automobiles here to ride around in and enjoy comfort and ease?"

"We must be willing to sacrifice everything," he continued, "even life itself, if need be, to win the war; and by so doing we'll be coming back to Christ."

"Jesus gave to us sacrifice and service, and it is for us to do," he added.

"It is because of those two things—sacrifice and service—that MacArthur is the hero of today," Bishop Freeman said.

"There will have to be a new demonstration of what it means to be a Christian for our country to survive," he said in conclusion.

"Garments of Repentance." Using "Garments of Repentance" as his subject last night, the Rev. Dr. Gerhard E. Lenski, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, said: "When Peter realized he had denied his Lord, the story relates that he went out and wept bitterly. Peter's repentance became his Easter preparation—none better could have been made."

"To the man who never makes a mistake," Dr. Lenski continued, "and is never sorry, nothing new or better can ever come. To the man who is sorry, Easter comes with new life and a glorious hope."

"Repentance today," he said, "demands deep internal changes. The sin of self-will was Peter's sin—it still needs to be rooted out. The sin of making life subservient to the profit motive was Judas' sin—it is an American sin and needs to be rooted out. The sin for living for things present and perishable rather than for things eternal and heavenly—this sin still lives and needs to be rooted out."

"To supplant these with faith, hope and love," Dr. Lenski said in conclusion, "this is to be prepared for Easter."

Construction Started On T. B. High School

Construction has started on the Southern High School at T. B. Md. It was announced yesterday by Nicholas Orem, Prince Georges

County superintendent of schools. The school, being built by the Washington firm of Allen C. Minix, will contain a minimum of critical materials "without sacrificing structural strength," according to Mr. Orem. The new high school, with grades

7 to 11, will enroll approximately 250 pupils in September, Mr. Orem estimated.

So he left you waiting at the altar? Then send that trunkful of old love letters to the junk dealer for waste-paper salvage.

To Limit the Use of Scarce and Critical Materials

The War Production Board has issued an order* prescribing measures designed to conserve the supply of vital materials used by telephone companies which are needed for the war and for essential civilian requirements.

This Company will, of course, comply with the order and do its utmost to achieve the desired results.

Some of the measures will limit our ability to enlarge the telephone plant and others will affect the telephone service of some subscribers. Some types of instruments and certain classifications of service will not be available as heretofore.

We will endeavor to administer the order with the least inconvenience to our customers.

If it should happen that we are unable to comply with your request for a change or addition to your service, we know you will understand. With us, as with you, our Country comes first.

'Panic Buying' Echoes W. P. B. News on Coming Shortages

Public Rush to Hoard Articles They Might Not Need Booms Sales in Stores

By HARRY MacARTHUR. The War Production Board is responsible for a considerable amount of "panic buying" and it can't do a thing about it.

The Government, including the W. P. B., does not want this panic buying, this rush of purchases of consumer goods spurred by the fear that there won't be any more, and the hoarding that follows.

But let the W. P. B. announce that razor blades will be rationed at the rate of one a week and even the circus bearded lady rushes out immediately to buy a gross, just in case she might want to retire from her profession.

Let the W. P. B. announce that manufacture of vacuum cleaners will cease April 30, as it did announce this week, and the rush is on.

Stores Don't Like It. Department stores and other retail outlets are not very happy over the situation. Business is booming, but store managements would like less scare-buying by consumers stocking up on items likely to be scarce. They would prefer insurance of continuing business. They agree that it is nice while it lasts, but they know all too well that it won't last long.

As an item of proof that buying of many articles has reached the "panic" stage, one department store official cited his store's experience with refrigerator sales when they were permitted on a limited basis after the "freezing" order. Yearly refrigerator sales at this store averaged 165 before the order; after it, 100 were sold in 2 1/2 months.

Much the same has happened, retail merchants report, in every other field where shortages have been rumored, rationing has been suggested, or definite curtailment of production planned.

Hastens Lawnmower Buying. Hardware stores report people buying lawnmowers now, who otherwise would have waited until June. Clothing stores report that, even before the order removing cuffs from men's trousers, a hinted wool shortage was causing their customers to buy two and three suits at a time. An electrical appliance store official says, "Any dealer in refrigerators could sell all he could get hold of." Many a Washington medicine cabinet houses now a large package of razor blades that will be unused for months, memento of that rationing announcement.

The War Production Board admits this isn't a healthy state of affairs and admits further that much of it is caused by W. P. B. announcements of production curtailments in industries to be converted to war work. But it has an answer for the suggestion that such announcements might be timed to appear coincidentally with the cessation of production rather than a month before, as in the most recent case of vacuum cleaners.

Factories which are to be switched to war work must have plenty of notice, lest unnecessary hardship be suffered by the employees. A lot of people would be out of work for too long a period if the W. P. B. were to advise a refrigerator manufacturer tonight, for instance, that as of tomorrow morning he was not to make any more refrigerators.

The W. P. B. orders to factories are news, of course. And since, as official Government orders, they are published in the Federal Register, there would be no point in attempting to hide them from the press at other sources.

The only answer to panic buying would be rationing of every item affected by the W. P. B. The board has considered this, however, only in the case of items which might be needed by the armed forces or elsewhere in the war industry—such as refrigerators, typewriters and office equipment.

Capitalism still operates, a W. P.

B. spokesman pointed out, and that means that, generally, the man who has the money to buy something has every right to buy it if it is legally on sale anywhere. It also would be difficult, complicated and unduly expensive to attempt to ration every item growing scarce—to require, for instance, that radio owners show proof of need before being allowed to replace a worn-out radio receiver.

Price Appeal Court Prepared to Review Control Objections

Organization Completed With Appointment of Clerk and Marshal

The Emergency Court of Appeals, created under the Emergency Price Control Act, is organized and ready to function on behalf of persons who feel themselves aggrieved by orders of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, it was learned today.

Serving as clerk of the new tribunal without additional compensation and by appointment of the judges, is Joseph W. Stewart, clerk of the United States Court of Appeals here. Designated as marshal is George F. De Venny, marshal of the same court.

The clerk's office is in the Court of Appeals Building at Fifth and E streets N.W., and indications are that the court will probably hold its hearings there.

The court has as yet no cases before it, but is ready to review cases made before the administrator.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone designated Associate Justice Fred M. Vinson of the Court of Appeals as chief judge of the Emergency Court of Appeals.

Serving with Chief Judge Vinson, also by appointment of Chief Justice Stone, are Judge Albert B. Maris of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia and Judge Culvert Magruder of the First Circuit Court of Appeals at Boston. The law provides for a review by the Supreme Court of decisions of the Emergency Court of Appeals.

1,233 U. S. Workers Shift To Defense Agencies

Reporting that the shift of employees to war agencies is increasing rapidly, the Civil Service Commission said today that 1,233 persons went from non-defense to defense activities in the last week in March, and that approximately 1,600 transfers had been effected in the first month of the program instituted by President Roosevelt to build up the war units from personnel now employed.

The commission added that negotiations for transfer of 1,387 employees are pending.

It was announced also that men and women from 18 to 55 years of age are wanted for training as ordnance inspectors for the Philadelphia ordnance district. Applicants must have had certain technical or scientific training and will receive three months' instruction in college or university, during which they will be paid at the rate of $1,440 annually. The pay for inspectors is $1,620.

New Information Unit Reported Delayed by Status of Donovan

Co-ordinator Insists on Being Responsible Only to President

The problem of finding a new post suitable to his abilities for Col. William Donovan, co-ordinator of information, is holding back final decision on the proposed reorganization of the wartime information policy of the Government, a reliable source outside the White House disclosed today.

The plan put before President Roosevelt is said to call for amalgamation of all major existing information agencies, both those concerned with domestic information and those concerned with information for foreign consumption, into one super agency, vaguely similar to the Committee for Public Information headed by George Creel during the World War.

Strong advocacy that the War and Navy Departments loosen up their stringent limitations on information made available to the press and public has come from some high-placed information men now in the administration during discussions about the reorganization.

The proposed plan is said to leave the Army and Navy Press Bureaus their present autonomy, but the plan at the same time calls for greater centralized supervision of Army and Navy press relations from a policy standpoint.

The British Ministry of Information has been at odds with the British War Office and Admiralty since the war began because the military agencies limit their news.

Col. Donovan, whose agency broadcasts American propaganda to all foreign countries and supplies this Government with information on political phases of the war, accepted the position of co-ordinator with an understanding he would be responsible directly to the President. This arrangement would be erased by the new informational plan.

247 Star Carriers, Record List, to Make Holiday Contest Trip

Suburban Boys Outdo City Youths; Winners To Leave on Tuesday

With the conclusion of The Star carrier holiday contest, it was revealed today there is a record-breaking number of 247 winners who will make the two-day trip to New York and West Point. This exceeds by more than 25 per cent the number of winners in any previous contest, officials declared in expressing satisfaction with the showing.

For the first time, it was pointed out, the suburban carriers outdid the city boys by providing 129 winners, as compared with 118 from the downtown area. However, the city boys provided the two top-ranking point scores, it was noted.

Though it took but 60 points in the new subscription contest to earn the free trip, the leading winner made 214 points. He was Edward Davis, 1135 Tenth street N.W., who finished well ahead of the deadline. The first to reach the 60-point minimum was Johnnie Peterson, 1912 Calvert street N.W., who made his returns before the first week had gotten well under way. He finished in a 108-point tie for eighth place with Alphonso Reed, 415 Franklin street N.W.

*Tribunador Group Planned. A new feature has been added for the winners in addition to the broad program of entertainment which has been outlined for the trip. Bill Coyle, Star radio director, will hold auditions Saturday morning at Station WMAL for talent to organize a tribunador group. Though the program has not been completed, it is expected the tribunadors will put on a special act during the New York visit.

Already, according to returns, singers, flute and clarinet players, tap dancers, magicians, whistlers and accordionists have been found among the winners.

The Star Easter trip this year will leave next Tuesday by train for New York for a sight-seeing visit in the metropolis and attendance at a specially arranged show for the carriers. Then, there will be a 65-mile bus trip to West Point by way of the historic Hudson Valley and Sleepy Hollow. A stopover will be made at the famous Bear Mountain Inn.

Top-Rankers Are Listed.

In the top-ranking group of point winners was Daniel Lewis, 1838 Second street N.W., who secured 188 points during the one-month contest to finish second.

In third place was the first suburban carrier, Richard Purcell of 1642 Fort Davis street N.E., with 186 points. He was followed by another suburban Star carrier, James Doughty, 10 Compass Green, Bellevue, Md., with 138 points, for fourth place.

Star city carriers then came back with a tie for fifth place. These boys were Carroll Reed, 415 Franklin street N.W., a brother of Alphonso, who tied for eighth position, and Ainsworth Rucker, 324 N street N.W., both with 136 points. Closely following was James Floral patterns, 36-inch slide-fastener style which holds eight garments. Were $3. Now $2.18

13,589,000 Are Expected To Register on April 27

Approximately 13,589,000 men in the United States, between the ages of 45 and 64, will be required to register with their local selective service boards on April 27, the Census Bureau estimated today. Of this number, 12,516,000 are white, and 1,073,000 are non-white.

All men born between April 28, 1877, and February 16, 1897, both dates inclusive, must register. On registration day, the Census Bureau pointed out, they will range in age from 45 years and 70 days, up to 65 years exactly. Those from exact age 45 up to 45 years and 70 days were 44 years old on February 16, 1942, it explained, and hence were included in the registration which took place on that date.

The above estimates represent the total number of men within the given age limits, the bureau said. A small proportion, including the men in the armed forces, are not required to register on April 27.

Dog Owners Are Warned To Buy Tags or Face Court

Virginia dog owners today were warned by W. Harry Johnson, State game warden, the deadline for obtaining licenses for the animals expiring February 1 and that persons failing to buy new tags will be prosecuted in County Court.

The license tags may be obtained in Arlington at the office of County Treasurer John Locke Green in the court house.

Meanwhile, Mr. Johnson said two men were found guilty of fishing without a license when brought before Judge A. C. Ritchie of the Fairfax County Trial Justice Court. The two pleaded guilty and were each fined $10 and costs. They gave their names as H. D. Hots of Vienna, Va., and G. H. McCauley of Arlington.

Communist Deputies In Chile Protest Talk By Argentine Leader

Walk Out of Chamber During Ruiz Guinazu's Co-operation Speech

By the Associated Press. SANTIAGO, CHILE, April 2.—Seven Communist deputies in the Chilean chamber walked out yesterday when Argentine Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, a guest of international policy that Chile and Argentina had shown at the Rio de Janeiro conference. It was there that the two countries opposed an immediate diplomatic break with the Axis.

The Argentine Foreign Minister, who heads a large special delegation, is here for the inauguration today of Chilean President-elect Juan Antonio Rios, who thus far has not indicated whether Chile will sever relations with the Axis.

Rios was elected on a pro-democratic ticket February 1, but he has refused to make a statement on Chile's international policy until after his inauguration.

Appointment Held Significant. Some observers, however, attached significance to the fact that Rios designated for Foreign Minister, Ernesto Barros Jarpa, a reputed advocate of Pan-American solidarity both by word and deed. Barros succeeds Juan Rosetti, the Minister who teamed up with Dr. Ruiz Guinazu at Rio de Janeiro to prevent the adoption of a more vigorous pan-American stance against the Axis.

The presence here of Dr. Ruiz Guinazu also was deemed significant because other South American countries did not send their Foreign Ministers or such large delegations for the inauguration ceremony.

Dr. Ruiz Guinazu's remarks to the Chilean chamber further bore out the belief of many that the Argentine Foreign Minister was trying to influence Chile to steer the same foreign policy adopted by Argentina—"support of pan-American solidarity, but no break with the Axis."

Calls for Co-operation. The Argentine Foreign Minister told the Chilean Deputies that both Chile and Argentina "hope to keep themselves outside all armed conflict," called for continued co-operation between the two countries as exemplified at Rio de Janeiro and said both nations "have missions in South America . . . the destiny of Argentina is in the Atlantic, that of Chile in the Pacific."

Rios appointed his cabinet last night. The new ministers and their party affiliations are:

Ernesto Barros Jarpa, Liberal, foreign relations; Raul Morales, Radical, interior; Benjamin Matte, Liberal, finance; Alfredo Duhalde, Radical, defense; Oscar Bustos, Radical, education; Benigno Medina, Radical, agriculture; Eduardo Escudero, Socialist, health; Pedro Alvarez, Radical, commerce; Leonidas Leyton, Democratic, labor; Jeronimo Ortuzar, Democratic, justice; Pedro Poblete, Socialist, land colonization; Oscar Schanke, Socialist, development.

Couples With Children Find Housing Hardest to Get

Married couples with small children are the hardest type of tenants to find in suitable housing, it was announced today by Mrs. Sarah Carl, manager of the Arlington County Defense Homes Registration Office.

An urgent appeal was made for all property owners to register available housing accommodations at the registration office in the Rucker Building in Clarendon.

Light housekeeping rooms and small apartments, at a "reasonable" rental rate ranging from $40 to $45 monthly, with lower rates in the outlying districts, are the most pressing need at this time, she said. Many wage-earners continue to receive less than $100 monthly salary, she pointed out. While furnished quarters bring higher rentals, efforts are made to hold these rates to a minimum.

The office remains open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily to accept housing listings and applications from prospective tenants.

Prince Georges Citizens To Meet Tonight

Mrs. Mary W. Browning, chairman of the Prince Georges County Liquor Board, will be tonight's speaker in the "Know Your County Government" series at a meeting of the Prince Georges County Federation of Citizens' Associations at the Bladensburg firehouse.

Luis Granados of Riverdale, Md., federation secretary, has announced that subjects to be discussed include the authority of air-raid wardens, the standardization of present regulations in incorporated towns so they will be uniform throughout the county, and the transportation situation in the Cheverly-East Riverdale area.

Byrd Asks if Congress Will Be Given Chance To Act on Fitness Funds

McNutt Questioned on Whether President Is to Allocate Money

Chairman Byrd of the Joint Congressional Economy Committee today called on Federal Security Administrator McNutt to advise him whether Congress will have a chance to vote on the future cost of the Physical Fitness Division, transferred to him from the Office of Civilian Defense, or whether it will be financed entirely by funds allocated by the President.

After recalling the inquiry the joint committee made into the activities of the Physical Fitness Division, in which it was brought out that 61 co-ordinators had been appointed to promote a wide variety of sports and recreation, Senator Byrd observed:

"It is, of course, very obvious that public indignation was responsible for the transfer of this division to your agency."

Administrator McNutt's office said late yesterday that Mr. McNutt had asked the Budget Bureau for an allotment of funds "greatly reduced" from the amount proposed by John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, original director of the O. C. D. physical fitness division. The Budget Bureau still is discussing the matter, it was said.

Kelly Denies Threat to Quit.

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, Mr. Kelly issued a statement denying the $300,000-or-resign allegation. Mr. Kelly said that in response to Senator Byrd's inquiries he had told him that if the program was carried out by some one in charge of each State, "one man and a stenographer and an office," the cost would amount to about $5,000 a State, "but if I were not allowed that kind of a budget I would do the best job I could."

Mr. Kelly added that the division has spent "less than $20,000 in salaries since August 1, 1941, on the entire program, which is less than it cost him (Senator Byrd) to run his own office."

Partial Text of Letters.

Senator Byrd's letter to Mr. McNutt continued as follows:

"Your office advised me that on February 24 you wrote the President of the United States asking that funds heretofore allocated to the Office of Civilian Defense be transferred to you to continue the activities of the Physical Fitness Division. This was approved by the President on February 26. This means that the activities of the Physical Fitness Division will be conducted in your department with the use of the funds appropriated for civilian defense. Therefore, defense funds will continue to be used for the promotion of paddle ball and ping pong."

"Your statement today, I am told, is to the effect that the amount allotted to the Physical Fitness Division will be less than the amount requested by National Co-ordinator Jack Kelly. In my office Mr. Kelly said to me that at least $1,000,000 annually should be spent for this work and that he would resign unless at least $300,000 was given annually for the expenses of this organization."

"Would you be kind enough to give me the following information, as promptly as possible:

"1. A full and complete statement of all of the paid employees, with salaries, transferred from the Office of Civilian Defense to your agency."

"2. The activities to be performed by each employee and the background and experience of each."

Wants Co-ordinators Listed.

"3. A complete list of all co-ordinators as appointed by National Co-ordinator Kelly, this list to include the actual appointments made by Mr. Kelly and then a list of the local co-ordinators as appointed by Mr. Kelly's appointees."

"4. Will the Congress have an opportunity to approve or disapprove the establishment of this organization by voting for or against appropriations for this purpose, or will your activities be financed exclusively by funds transferred by the President from existing defense funds or existing lump-sum appropriations and thereby deprive Congress of any opportunity to express itself either for or against this new agency of Government which, if carried to its conclusion as outlined by Mr. Kelly, will mean a gigantic plan of regimentation for physical exercise and recreation which, in the end, will be very costly to the public treasury?"

"It may be true that the co-ordinators of sports and recreation do not receive compensation, but the co-ordinators that you must employ to co-ordinate this vast army of such co-ordinators will be costly, both in salaries and traveling expenses."

Missionary Says Dutch Feared Indies Uprising

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 2.—The Dutch were more fearful of native uprisings after the Far Eastern war broke out than they were of the Japanese, a returned missionary said here last night.

"Dutch soldiers, instead of being kept on the sea coasts, were brought to the interior to prevent the uprisings," the Rev. Hubert Mitchell, 34, Los Angeles missionary for the Open Bible Standard Church, declared.

"In Java, the fifth column activity was undercover, but in Sumatra it was hysterical," Mr. Mitchell said on his arrival at church headquarters. "The natives felt they had been under white domination too long. There was plenty of fifth column activity."

He was accompanied by his four children and six other missionaries and their families who were evacuated from Sumatra in December.

After Dark

News and Comment of the Night Clubs.

By the Spectator.

The maitre d'hotel glances wearily at his watch and stifles a yawn. His smile has grown old and tired. Evidently of the boys in the band who have finished their last number for the evening and are now idling toward the exits...

ESTELLE Of Estelle and LeRoy, 'The World's Loveliest Dancers,' now in the Shoreham Blue Room.

As he moves from his hallowed place by the doorway to prod a lagging bus-boy with carefully aimed sarcasms, the maitre d' continues his humming electric lights and the candles being extinguished one by one.

The clatter from the kitchen swells as restraint is cast aside in favor of sheer speed. Conversation between busboys and waiters is shouted back and forth as they hurry with their last trays to abandon until tomorrow this island of paradise won and lost.

A particularly haggard night club acquaintance of ours stumbled into the office the other day. "Look at these eyes," he babbled, pointing to two strange-looking objects peeping from behind purple circles.

It appears that he and his companion had gone to the Troika where Russel Swann, up to the night, has been dispensing sorcery all over the place. The glib and personable Mr. Swann, whose show relies heavily on the aptitude of the spectator to play stooge, called on the services of this acquaintance and companion, the latter to have sponges mysteriously double themselves in her surprised hands.

"I have just introduced a new trick," was Mr. Swann's greeting. "a trick that only leaves El Patio Saturday night. Don and his boys have furnished this town with one of the best dance music it has ever had—that is, dance music by a small outfit. Compared even with larger bands, their Latin American dance numbers are hard to beat for versatility and vigor.

Once again Layton Bailey's bandmen are starting to march out of the Metropole Room and into the Army. There is Uyleau Scheidel of the drum-vibraphone department departing Saturday for Bolling.

Mexico Jails 13 Japanese Operating Radio Near U. S.

MEXICO CITY, April 2—Cracking down on Axis undercover agents, federal police have arrested 13 Japanese found operating a secret radio station near the United States border at Chihuahua City, tracked down three others who fled to the nearby mountains and rounded up 30 Germans and Italians here, including the alleged gestapo head for Mexico.

In disclosing the operations last night, authorities insisted they were stepped-up "precautionary" measures to suppress fifth-columning and increase Mexican counterespionage.

In addition to the 13 Japanese now en route here in custody from Chihuahua and the three trapped at the mining town of Namiquipa after their escape, three Japanese were arrested here and more Axis operatives are sought.

Triple Farm Slaying Suspect Captured Without Struggle

Michigan Ex-Convict Seized With Hostage Aiding Him in Flight

By the Associated Press. EAST LANSING, Mich., April 2.—Dominick Piccone, 20-year-old ex-convict, charged with the murder of one Oakland County farmer and wanted in the deaths of two others, was captured without a struggle early today by State police.

Three Slain by Rifle Bullets. On Tuesday night Cassius E. Barber, 71, and Romaine C. Potter, 75, Oxford (Mich.) farmers, were slain at their homes. Yesterday afternoon Carl McKenzie, 43, Concord farmer, was killed. All three men were shot by 22-caliber rifle bullets.

Early today a State police car containing Trooper Perkins and companion officers was cruising in the vicinity of Otisville. A car drove by with its tail-light out.

A few minutes later Trooper Perkins said, the short-wave radio from headquarters instructed them to look for such a car as one suspected to be bearing Piccone and Mr. Thorpe, who was believed being held as a hostage by the killer.

Seized Without Struggle. Trooper Perkins said the car was overtaken and stopped. Piccone was seized without a struggle and both he and Thorpe, whom Perkins described as "very nervous," were returned to Pontiac.

Piccone, police said, once worked as a parolee from the Wayne County (Detroit) Juvenile Court for eight months in 1937 and 1938 on Mr. Barber's farm.

Sheriff Spencer Howarth of Oakland County said Piccone served 3½ years in the Northern Branch Prison at Marquette for felonious assault in connection with an attack on a suburban Highland Park school teacher, and was released March 17, on completion of his maximum term.

Girl Denies Fellow Workers Objected to Increased Output

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, April 2.—A formal denial that she ever accused her fellow workers in the National Stamping Co. plant of objecting to increased production was reinstatement for Genevieve Samp yesterday in her job and in her union, Local 207 of the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.).

Miss Samp, 25, was suspended from her position and from the union March 12 after other workers charged her with conduct unbecoming a union member.

Her case received wide attention after Representative Rich, Republican, of Pennsylvania told Congress he was informed she was discharged at the union's demand because she "worked too hard" on the plant's war production.

That, Miss Samp said in a statement, "is not true." The statement was issued shortly before a special union trial board was to have considered her case.

William Clayton, president of the local, immediately announced that the charges against her were being dropped.

Miss Samp said, "I want to make it clear that I have never at any time stated that the workers in the plant of the National Stamping Co. have objected to increasing production in the plant. Such a statement would not have been true. The workers in the plant, like myself, are wholeheartedly in support of the effort to increase the output of war materials, and are doing everything in their power to do it."

"The fact is that there were some disturbances in the plant which had nothing whatever to do with increasing production and I must frankly admit that I contributed my share toward these disturbances. I recognize my responsibility for the disturbances and sincerely regret that they occurred."

That, Miss Samp said in a statement, "is not true." The statement was issued shortly before a special union trial board was to have considered her case.

William Clayton, president of the local, immediately announced that the charges against her were being dropped.

Burton Calls Winning War First Issue for G. O. P.

By the Associated Press. PORTLAND, Me., April 2.—The first issue before the Republican party, Senator Burton, Republican, of Ohio said last night as he discussed its "immediate course," is victory for the Nation in its war against the Axis.

"If the Republican party is worthy to be a party at all," said Senator Burton in an address before the Maine Republican Convention, "it must dedicate itself without reservation to winning the war."

"This means," he said, "rising, every day, above every personal or partisan consideration to the highest possible point of public service. It means supporting the military, naval and air forces with a standard of governmental performance worthy of the high standard set by the men who are fighting for America on land, at sea and in the air. It means supporting the President and helping him to win the war. It means action by the Congress in its co-ordinate capacity, not hesitating to criticize where criticism is needed, but doing it always with constructive purpose and effort."

Indianan, Twice Jailed, Files for House Seat

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—Olin R. Holt, elected mayor of Kokomo after serving his first Federal prison term, is running for Congress after serving his second.

Mr. Holt filed yesterday with the Indiana Secretary of State his declaration of candidacy for the Democratic nomination for 1st district Representative in the May 5 primary.

A lawyer, he served 18 months in Leavenworth Penitentiary in 1931 and 1932 for conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act through the "Hoosier Protective Association."

Less than two and a half years after his release, he was elected mayor and obtained a full presidential pardon.

Mr. Holt subsequently was convicted of diverting W. P. A. labor to private gain while mayor, paid a $5,000 fine and served a year and a day in Leavenworth and Terre Haute Prisons, getting out in June, 1940.

He entered the hospital for treatment of a kidney ailment.

The time has come, the Walrus said, to buy some Defense bonds.

New D. C. Regulations Tighten Sanitation In Restaurants

Commissioners Give Authority to Check on Food Handlers' Health

Tighter regulations governing the sanitation of employees and facilities of all of Washington's restaurants, delicatessens and catering establishments were published today by the Commissioners and will go into effect after 30 days.

They were drafted in response to protests by members of the House District Committee against lack of proper health protection in many eating establishments, but some suggestions from Capitol Hill were modified on technical advice.

The original draft of the new regulations, considered at a public hearing February 10, proposed in keeping with a Capitol Hill suggestion, that all employees of restaurants must obtain annual health certificates, but argument was made at the hearing that such a plan would impose an unnecessary cost and difficulty.

Health Officer George C. Ruhland said then he did not intend to make any necessary examinations. The new rule reads:

"The health officer shall have full power and authority at any time to make any such examinations and tests as may be necessary to determine whether any food handler has a disease in a communicable form or is a carrier of a communicable disease. It shall be the duty of all food handlers to submit to such examinations at the request of the health officer and any food handler who shall refuse to submit to such examinations shall not be employed or continued as a food handler in any of the establishments covered by this regulation.

"No person knowing himself to be affected with disease in a communicable form shall engage in the handling or preparation of food."

The regulation also prescribes that no manager shall hire any employee to handle or prepare food if he has reason to suspect the person is afflicted with a disease in communicable form as listed in District regulations.

Clean Garments Required. Another regulation declares that all food handlers shall wear clean garments and shall keep their hands clean at all times when engaged in the handling of food, drink utensils or equipment.

Bans Chipped Dishes. Despite some objections from the industry, the Commissioners ruled that cracked or chipped dishes or drinking utensils must be discarded. Sugar served to the public must be dispensed from containers which provide protection against dirt, dust or other contamination and human handling, except in the case of sugar lumps which are individually wrapped.

One of the new rules is that the manager of each eating establishment must obtain a special license within 90 days from the effective day of the new rules. Other rules deal with lighting, ventilation, cleanliness of floors and walls, dish-washing facilities, size of sinks and refrigeration.

For violations, the regulations carry a penalty up to a fine of $300 for each offense.

Tariff Commission Editor Retires After 42 Years

Miss Martha W. Williams, editor with the Tariff Commission, who first was appointed to Government service in 1900, retired today after 42 years of Federal service. She had been with the Tariff Commission for the past 25 years.

Previously, Miss Williams had been employed in the Interior Department and before that in the Commerce Department. Her first Government post was with the Census Bureau.

Her work with the Tariff Commission led to the request in 1931 by the Bureau of Customs that she be detailed to that agency to aid in editing and indexing a new edition of customs regulations.

On her retirement, Miss Williams was presented a sterling silver bowl by the tariff commissioners and the staff with whom she had worked. Miss Williams was a native of Georgia.

British Reveal Fourth Of Near East Planes Come From U. S.

Hitler to Try Advance There This Spring, Air Leader Predicts

By the Associated Press. LONDON, April 2.—Disclosing that more than a fourth of Britain's airplanes in the Near East came from the United States, one of Britain's highest air chiefs said last night that Hitler "must try an advance" there this spring and that more American bombers and fighters are urgently needed to stop it.

The British have had to "re-shuffle" their air forces somewhat as a result of war in Malaya and Burma, he said.

The Axis air assault against Malta is the prelude to Hitler's Near East attack, the authority asserted.

"This assault he described as 'terrific,' with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, German director of the 1940 air battle of Britain, supervising operations of a large force in Sicily, Sardinia and Crete from his headquarters outside Rome.

Malta has been able to stand up to it only because of a 'truly heroic and successful defense' by one of the heaviest concentrations of anti-aircraft guns in the British Empire, a fine fighter force steadily reinforced, an excellent warning system, extensive dugouts and well-organized repair facilities, he went on.

United States aircraft plants have built 10 per cent of the planes now defending the British Isles, it was disclosed, in addition to the 25 per cent in the Near East.

In the west, the R. A. F. has shifted its policy as a result of difficulty in bombing single factories at night unless they are very large, and now devotes its 'very heavy' efforts to utilities in industrial centers and 'the dormitory areas where workers sleep,' the authority said.

The British thereby hope to force the German workmen to spend their nights in shelters.

Axis Propaganda Jury Resumes Investigation

In recess for several days, the additional District grand jury which is inquiring into Axis propaganda in the United States, reassembled today to hear further testimony.

Summoned as witnesses, and waiting outside the grand jury room this morning, were Guenter Hansen-Sturm of New York, Miss Helen Boyer, secretary to Representative Hoffman, Republican, of Michigan, and Thomas J. Ford, editor of the Irish World, New York City. William Maloney, special assistant to the Attorney General, was on hand to question the witnesses.

Motorists Again Requested To Turn in 1941 Plates

Washington motorists were reminded once again today that their 1941 license plates are of vital importance to the country's war effort. Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer said many thousands of pounds of urgently needed steel can be reclaimed if car owners will turn in their old tags to the gas station nearest their homes or places of business.

Several hundred barrels of last year's plates already have been donated for reclamation purposes and the traffic chief urged that none be thrown away nor retained as "keepsakes."

He explained that the District Salvage Committee has agreed to collect discarded tags from the various service stations and turn them over to the Federal Government.

"Now that 1941 tags are of no use to any one except Uncle Sam," said Mr. Van Duzer, "it is the duty of all District motorists registered last year to see that their old plates find a way to the Nation's assembly lines."

Federal Security Unit To Get Personnel Group

The Bureau of Employment Security of the Federal Security Agency has agreed to establishment of a management-employee committee to deal with personnel matters, the C. I. O. United Federal Workers said today.

Three representatives of the U. F. W., a like number from the American Federation of Government Employees, the A. F. L. affiliate, and one from the bureau will make up the committee, it was said.

The U. F. W. is attempting to have similar units created throughout the Government. The Civil Service Commission earlier agreed to the plan, it was said.

Marriage License Applications

Under D. C. law, couples must apply for a marriage license on one day, wait three full days and receive their license on the fifth day. Sundays and holidays are counted the same as other days.

Mud puppy (Necturus maculosus)

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY. "Mud puppy! What is a mud puppy? If you have never seen one of these little aquatic salamanders, I am sure you will be on the lookout for them this summer. They are numerous in some sections, especially throughout the Eastern States north and west of the Alleghenies and in the region of the Great Lakes and larger lakes. Fishermen call them water lizards or water dogs. Like other amphibians, the mud puppy possesses poison glands in its skin. These secretions probably are for the purpose of keeping the puppy's body free from mold and other diseases. The poison is harmless on the human skin. Even the puppy's bite has no after effect. Ecologically, the puppy is more like a fish than an edible amphibian. It never leaves the water, for the simple reason that it could not live anywhere else. Its legs are short and weak, though quite strong enough to propel their owner about. In swimming, these legs are folded against the body, and the streamlined puppy goes swiftly through the water, assisted mainly by the powerful compressed tail. The delicate coral-colored gill filaments are quite decorative and contrast beautifully with the somber color of the puppy's skin. Mud puppies are mostly night workers. During the day, they rest under a flat stone or in the soft mud bottom with only their heads and gills exposed. These little creatures have economic importance because of the numerous eggs of the whitefish and perch which they consume and also because they eat other things that valuable food fishes need. They occupy habitats which could be used by fish, too. It is rather strange that, in the past, we little realized the food value of the mud-puppy. The flesh is white, tender when well cooked, and has a delicious flavor. It is highly appreciated by all who have sampled it. According to many authorities, the eggs are laid in the spring. The nests are usually found in water from 3 to 5 feet deep and from 50 to 100 feet from the shore, where the bottom is strewn with loose flat stones from 1/4 to 2 feet in diameter. The eggs are attached singly to the underside by a slender found fastened to boards, canvas, tin and other objects resting on the bottom. Young mud puppies are known as larvae. When a year old, they resemble their parents, but have a conspicuous pale yellow, dorso-lateral stripe on each side of the body. Mud puppies have persistence to the high degree. You should watch one of them foraging for food. It has a never-die attitude and is finally rewarded by capturing the white minnow, the wee frog hidden in the mud, or the swift, feeling baby fish that knows only too well the determined expression in the mud puppy's eyes.

Ayers Case Again Shows Actors' Risky Investment

Life Writes Stranger Ending to Career Than Scriptist Would Have Dared; Olivia Turns to Plumpness

By JAY CARMODY.

Among its other aspects, which are matters of personal opinion, the Lew Ayers case emphasizes again what a risky business it is to invest in an actor. They frequently turn out to be even more eccentric than their employers anticipate.

In the case of Ayers, heretofore a sober, studious, unspectacular member of the Hollywood colony if there ever was one, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is left with two of his pictures and the highly vexing problem of what to do with them. "Fingers in the Pie" is one, the other, a still untitled feature in the "Dr. Kildare" series.

Jay Carmody.

The general assumption is that Ayers is through with his profession, a correct one that the same goes for his unreleased pictures. He has allied himself against the mammoth machinery of Hollywood and women who constitute the moviegoers. It is in the cards that they will find no forgiveness for him for that act.

Even if by some miracle they did, Hollywood would not. It is enormously irate that the first prominent conscientious objector should come from the cinema fold, which is peculiarly subject to general condemnation for the action of a single member.

In Ayers' strange conduct—although it is one anticipated and provided for as a matter of national policy—life has written a more dramatic and tragic ending to the Dr. Kildare series than a mere fictionist would have dared. It would have been fantastic on the screen, a complete denial of everything the character represented—idealism, earnestness, energy, unselfishness, etc.

But it is not fantastic, for there it is!

Hollywood will speculate for a long time on how much Ayers' forestry work, as a substitute for defending his country and his freedom, was influenced by his first and most successful motion picture role. It fits with arresting perfection into his remarkably odd action.

The role was that of Paul Baumer, the sensitive, dreaming German school boy in Erich Maria Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front." Paul Baumer was appalled by the thought of war but he was forced from his schoolroom into the thick of it. He experienced all its horrors—in the best make-believe fashion of Hollywood—and at the end of the picture he was to know the ultimately ironic one. The Armistice had been signed, but word had not reached that section of the front. Things, however, were quiet and the young soldier reached above his trench protection to grasp at a butterfly—only to be killed by a sniper's final shot.

Ayers, as actors do, got up and walked away, but apparently he remembered.

Sadly, very sadly.

Whatever they have been busy with in stalking the private lives of those enormously public figures, the movie celebrities, Hollywood columnists seem to have overlooked Olivia De Havilland's weight. Usually they are positively hawklike with respect to poundage, as, for instance, in the regularly recurring story about excess weight constantly menacing the career of Maureen O'Hara. It always is something to fall back upon on a dull day, even though Miss O'Hara seems steadily to be able to make an acceptable weight whenever there is a role she desires.

To return to Miss De Havilland, however, one of the odd little things about "The Male Animal" is her plumpness. You try not to notice it, as a gentleman invariably does, but her roundness of face and figure are too conspicuous to escape. It is nothing to brood about, of course, for whenever the pounds pile up seriously, Miss De Havilland will take the necessary steps.

She might even give her name to the Olivia De Havilland diet and have thousands of women eating it.

Bulletin board: "Ride 'Em Cowboy" in the established tradition of Abbott and Costello pictures, will remain another week at Keith's. . . . Biggest visitor in town today, speaking literally, is Alfred Hitchcock, the movie director. . . . He's here on details of the world premiere of "Saboteur," which has been moved back to April 22. . . . The new date, Keith's says, is absolutely final.

Hollywood Gasp As Film Director Turns Down Raise

Wide World News. HOLLYWOOD.

Curtis Bernhardt is about the only director in Hollywood who ever turned down a raise. . . . Assigned at first to do the small, back-lot productions, Bernhardt fooled studio executives by turning out a cinema sleeper that was a hit. After that came two more good box-office attractions.

He was called into the front office, told the studio was fully cognizant and appreciative of his past accomplishments and that big plans were in mind for his future—lavish production schedules, big budgets, high-caliber stars and just about everything a director longs for.

"But I like things the way they are," was his surprising reply. "Besides, I'm not ready just yet for the plans you have in mind."

"Let me handle your less important features and see if I can build them into big pictures. Besides, that would mean you'd have to pay me more money, and I'm very satisfied right now."

P. S.—Bernhardt is still making back-lot pictures!

Being Funny Is Brutal

Wide World News. HOLLYWOOD.
It's getting to be less and less funny, this business of being funny for the movies. Take the word of Hugh McCollum, it's getting brutal. McCollum is a veteran Columbia Studio shorts producer. Slapstick, says he, isn't humorous at all any more. In fact, roughhouse comics now have to slap each other almost insensibly to get a polite chuckle. "They must compete," explains McCollum, "with a rising volume of the same kind of fun in feature pictures."

"Even a few months ago we could get by with all the old standbys, like falling down a flight of stairs or having a player slide on a bar of soap. But what chance has that sort of thing now, when the audience has seen a high-salaried leading man, in the feature picture, just before, kick an equally high-salaried leading lady where it hurts?"

He mentioned the case of Moe Howard, one of the seemingly indestructible Three Stooges, and his brother Curly. For their new comedy they were told to give all. So when Curly swung an iron bar over his head, "accidentally" conking Moe, he really swung. Moe came back to work the next day still a little glassy-eyed.

'The Constant Nymph' Gives Boyer Quite a Morning

Picture Calls for Kissing Scenes With Four Sangers in a Row; Binnie Is Hung on Hang

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN, HOLLYWOOD.

Charles Boyer is transacting that routine Boyer specialty—love—when we enter stage 14 at Warner Bros. In fact, Mr. Boyer is enjoying one of his romantic field days. Everywhere, it seems, the arms of beautiful women are reaching out for him.

The movie is "The Constant Nymph," with this particular setting the grounds of an attractive Swiss chalet. As Director Edmund Goulding thaws the switch we find Mr. Boyer receiving a welcome that would delight any male visitor's heart.

Joan Fontaine, the academy award winner, and Joyce Reynolds, pretty 17-year-old who only a few weeks ago was a freshman at U. C. L. A., are the first to greet him. They throw themselves into his arms and scramble good naturedly for his affectionate kisses. Miss Reynolds gets the first kiss. It is okay. But Miss Fontaine, a trifle shyer, does better.

Director Goulding okayes the third take of the scene and proceeds to move the cameras from the chalet grounds into a living room setting where the next phase of Boyer's amorous welcome is shot. The fellow is still playing in romantic luck.

Now comes Jean Muir, lovely in a Swiss peasant costume, her blond hair braided down her back. She hurries down the stairs and practically flies into Boyer's arms. The "perfect lover" turns his dark, brooding eyes upon her for a few preliminary seconds and then goes into action. Their lips meet and the camera rolls on and on. It seems as though Director Goulding will never call "cut." But he finally does, and Boyer hangs up one that will probably cause the Hays office to spout a bit.

Standing by the camera is Brenda Marshall, who plays the fourth of the Sanger sisters in the film version of Margaret Kennedy's novel. Her turn to greet the visitor is yet to come. After lunch there will be more kisses, further embraces. In fact Miss Marshall is due to get the No. 1 Boyer play.

Boyer seems happy in his work. He whistles a gay tune and walks off alone toward the commissary.

Over at Republic they were trying to hang John Wayne to a sturdy oak tree—and Binnie Barnes' English accent was all that saved him! The picture is a super-Western, "In Old California." Wayne is standing on a wagon, a rope around his neck. A crowd of 500 Sacramento townspersons, era of 1848, cry for his life. Poison, it seems, has been found in Wayne's drugstore, in a bottle of his special tonic, usually administered to children. Factually, the tonic has been poisoned by Albert Dekker, who represents Binnie Barnes' liking Wayne. At this critical juncture, Binnie is supposed to shove through the crowd and shout, "Don't hang him." But Binnie's accent interferes. She screams, "Don't hang 'im." For five takes she screams, "Don't hang 'im." Finally the director shakes his head and consults the script writer. When you see "In Old California" you'll hear Binnie say "lynch" instead of "hang." Binnie just couldn't get the hang of hang.

Tests Change, Too

Group screen testing is the latest Hollywood innovation, initiated by R-K-O Radio, and results from the resolution of studio executives to conserve time and expense.

Before the war, when the need to economize on material was not pressing, a leisurely technique of testing screen aspirants prevailed. Solo tests were the rule, but today the tests are being made in batches of 10 or 15 talent. The saving is considerable and the new method is considered an improvement over the old.

One of the first to figure a technique for permitting screen aspirants taking tests to show to advantage is Ben Piazza, casting director and head of the new talent department at R-K-O Radio studio. In a recent test of Arthur Cordova, the Latin American star, Piazza used six of the studio's young

Several thousand dollars, it is estimated, are saved on each test with the new group-testing method. And it has the added advantage of reducing the self-consciousness, or even camera fright, to which many a young person is subject.

They Forget So Easily

Those Beauty Contest Winners Fade Quickly in Hollywood

By Ted Gill, Wide World News.

A pretty girl is like a memory that's easy to forget in movieland! That's why it's so tough for the sweet young things to get by on beauty alone in a business where beauty is no premium.

Studio statistics show that all but an extremely small percentage of the apple blossom queens, the Miss Pumpkinville Centers and the little theater darlings who get a hopeful try at the movies eventually wind up trotting off their trim little ankles—dishing up chillburgers and cuppa-coffee at some of those California drive-in eating emporiums that look like country clubs.

Others tire of waiting for a break and go home. But there always is a constant new supply, fresh and abundant.

As a typical example of how the fickle fates of film fortunes spin along their dizzy whirl, take the case of six young and beautiful models who were brought here from New York 18 months ago as an experiment to determine just how far attractive girls could go in the movies with a pretty face and a lot of curves but possessing only a modicum of acting ability.

Only One Remains.

Today 24-year-old Roseanne Murray of Chester, S. C., is the only one of that once-hopeful sextet still remaining in pictures. Two of them got discouraged and returned to their New York modeling jobs while the others got married and settled down.

Tragedy marked the short-lived stay of the other in Hollywood. She attempted suicide, then disappeared. Miss Murray, whose real name is Roseanna Morley, is a red-head. That may account for her determination to stick. Her five erstwhile companions were blonds and brunettes.

Miss Murray is making her third picture, "The Magnificent Jerk," with a cast that includes Lynn Bari, Don Ameche and Henry Fonda. She plays an efficient secretary, which was her role in her two previous films.

Aided by experience she gained in Eastern stock schools, Miss Murray hopes soon to graduate to more important roles. But as long as she keeps being cast as a secretary she's determined to do the part well.

Consequently, she has enrolled in a night school and is taking a full secretarial course, just to know exactly what a secretary must do. So far none of her roles has called for her to sit on the boss' lap!

Tanglewood Four Makes Local Debut

Shostakovich's Quintet Given In Program

By ALICE EVERSMAN.

The Tanglewood String Quartet made its local debut last night at the Library of Congress, where it was presented by the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation. The members of this group, Roland Tapley and Malcolm Holmes, violins; George Humphrey, viola; and Karl Zeise, cello, are also members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which they have Tuesday night and have taken part in the important summer programs in the Berkshires. They were assisted last night by Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianist, in the two numbers presented, Shostakovich's "Quintet for String Quartet and Piano, Op. 57," and Dvorak's quintet for the same instruments in "A Major, Opus 81."

Until the last few years chamber music occupied the attention of the foremost Soviet composer very little. It was therefore of special interest to hear his quintet, which was written last year and which bears the new stamp imprinted on his inspiration by his continually developing talent. The change to be discerned in his most recent works is a growth in depth, in sentiment and in poetry, with less of the superficial brilliancy.

It is a beautiful work, admirably constructed, highly atmospheric in its tone painting and infused with the originality of thought that has distinguished all his writings. In it he expresses a great deal with the simplest means. If his conception of the ensemble is reminiscent of orchestral effects at times, he again views the strings in their chief function of song. Throughout the quintet the conversations between the instruments are a continuous delight and form the basis of the composition.

The richness of the fugue writing that is introduced in the first movement, the humorous brightness of the scherzo, the idyllic beauty of the intermezzo, with its somewhat chorale-like ending, and the fanciful and rhythmic finale provide a kaleidoscope of variety that is not of experiment, but of emotional expression. Shostakovich is a master creator of moods which come into being through a slow process by the gradations of the tonal palette the instruments afford. This careful designing of mood and its descriptive quality is the latest essay of the composer and he shows himself a powerful artisan in this particular style.

The Tanglewood artists played it with an understanding that sprang from thorough familiarity. As an ensemble group, they are excellent, having full, vibrant tones, fine musical feeling and a knowledge of the intricacies of tonal blending. Opportunities to judge the individual artistry of the players were frequent, such as the measures in the intermezzo where Mr. Tapley's fine violin tone was heard so effectively.

Mr. Sanroma is by far the finest ensemble pianist heard here. A soloist of distinction, he submerged himself for as complete a union with the strings as can be attained by the piano and succeeded in bringing out a quality from the piano that contributed to that of the other instruments. His splendid technique and keen musicianship gave a brilliant touch to the whole performance.

The same thoughtful consideration by the artists went into the playing of the Dvorak quintet. This earlier work of the composer, who has immortalized his visit to this country in music, is a broader and fuller example of his special gift for melodic invention. Its genuine feeling predominates and even when, in the second movement, it becomes rather Schumannesque, it still has the inspirational note that pervades the entire work. The richness and smoothness of the united tone of the Tanglewood Quartet is ideally suited to music of this character.

The large audience welcomed the newcomers with enthusiasm and continued its appreciation after each number. The same artists played the Shostakovich quintet at a private musicale at the Soviet Embassy yesterday morning.

Baked ham for Easter is a "must" in many households. A delicious cinnamon orange glaze will do much toward enhancing its flavor and appearance, and as the recipe calls for honey instead of sugar, you won't have to worry about exceeding your brown sugar quota. You'll find all directions for preparing the ham further down the page.

Before-Easter Roundup of Local Markets Indicates Good Supplies on Hand

Lamb, Duckling and Chicken Are Offered Those Who Do Not Select Popular Ham

By Betsy Caswell, Women's News Editor.

With a day and a half still to go before the official termination of Lent, the fish markets are preparing for a busy week end. Dealers report that there will be plenty of fish of nearly all sorts available, but particularly recommend butterfish, rockfish, porgies, trout, bass, herring, white perch and shad. Crab meat is a little cheaper this week than it has been, and, of course, oysters and clams are plentiful if you just can't face "plain fesh," and wish to vary its monotony by substituting shellfish of some kind.

The Palm Sunday snow storm kept the markets from appearing in their usual pre-Easter festive garb in early part of the week, but unless some other freak of the weather interferes the proper riot of blooms and plants should be in evidence by tomorrow morning. There were plenty of gayly decorated Easter eggs to be seen everywhere, however, and many of the poultry and egg dealers make a feature of specially priced eggs to be used for dyeing and subsequent rolling or egg hunts. Eggs in general should be lower in price toward the end of the week, we are told.

Hams, of course, are all over the place, but if you haven't succumbed to this generally popular Easter meat, you will find many delightful alternatives. Legs of lamb and lamb shoulder roasts are being featured in many markets, at really tempting prices. The deliciously tender hind-quarters of milk-fed "hothouse" lamb are available in some specialty shops—but we wouldn't even whisper the cost! This spring delicacy, so beloved by the gourmets of our grandfather's day, is becoming harder and harder to obtain here in Washington. Undoubtedly, this is because the price prohibits any great demand for it.

Poulterers are offering tender spring duckling, fresh and delicate in flavor, as well as frying chickens, some capons and Western turkeys. We predict that the choice for the Easter dinner will run about as follows—first, ham; second, legs of lamb; third, duckling; fourth, chicken.

At the produce stalls you will find fresh mint, to make mint sauce for that lamb, or to cook with baby new potatoes. Asparagus is a little cheaper than it has been; excellent peas, expensive and not too good string beans, fine squash, broccoli, cauliflower and eggplant are also available. Greens continue good and plentiful, cucumbers are hothouse and a little high.

The fruit situation is going through a sinking spell, with little to offer in the way of variety. Good Winesap apples for cooking are not expensive, and there are plenty of those big Rome Beauties about for baking. Rhubarb and pineapple have been of good quality, but berries are "between shipments" and are only fair. Citrus fruits have had a good season, but are "old stuff" to most of us now. Our old standby, the banana, has entered the luxury class. This is a good time to use up those canned fruits you have had on the pantry shelves during the winter. In desserts and salads—they'll save your sugar, too.

Bakeries will be rushing out loads of hot-cross buns for your breakfast tomorrow, and ice cream companies and catering concerns are all ready to supply you with delicious and lovely-to-look-at desserts for your Easter dinner. Charming molds—both large and individual—range from beautiful lilies to rabbits, chickens—and a big fussy hen on a setting of ice cream eggs in a spun sugar nest. If you haven't placed your order already, do so as soon as possible to insure prompt delivery. Easter without candies is, of course—just not Easter at all. Who can forget the joy of his or her first chocolate egg, elaborately decorated with sugar scrolls and flowers and filled with delectable wafers or jelly beans? A glance at the shop windows indicates no dearth of Easter sweets this year, with chocolate rabbits and chickens, prettily boxed or packaged assortments of bonbons and marzipan confections competing with the traditional chocolate egg for popularity.

And for your Easter table—what season of the year lends itself more delightfully to decoration? You may choose a great center bouquet of mixed spring posies; an arrangement of white lilac and fronds of

Baked Ham Better With Cinnamon-Orange Glaze

Easter dinner may be a draw between baked ham or leg of lamb, but you can't go wrong on either. Both are delicious and rank at the top in the Easter parade of foods.

The glazed ham shown above is planned especially for Easter with a cinnamon honey glaze and spiced orange slices for a garnish.

BAKED WHOLE HAM.

Place whole or half ham fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Make an incision and insert meat thermometer so that the center of the bulb reaches the center of the largest muscle. Be sure that the bulb does not rest on either fat or bone. Do not cover and do not add water. Place in a slow oven (300 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake until done. Smoked ham is done when the meat thermometer registers 170 degrees Fahrenheit. Allow about 25 minutes per pound for baking a whole ham and about 30 minutes per pound for a half ham. Many of the hams now on the market are done at an internal temperature lower than 170 degrees Fahrenheit, and require about one-fourth less cooking time than given above. Cooking directions are enclosed with these hams and should be followed.

CINNAMON ORANGE GLAZE.

A half ham may be used if a whole ham seems too large; however, because ham can be made into left-over dishes that truly tempt the taste, it's often both good economy and time and money to bake a whole ham even if it's meat that you want for one meal.

If you prefer lamb for your Easter dinner, we suggest a nicely boned and rolled shoulder roast, prettily garnished with spring-like flowers of—turnip! Creamed new potatoes and peas are perfect accompaniments. Recipe and directions for making the flowers will be found elsewhere on this page.

Serve Tempting Spring Lamb In Any of These 'Disguises' Ideal for Small Family

Anywhere in the U. S. A. it's wartime, but also it's springtime. There are robins in the North, flowers bloom in the South, new things in the markets everywhere. And now is the time for all good housewives to come to the defense of their housewifery with that most delectable meat—spring lamb.

We had some roast lamb the other night, prepared by a resourceful young woman who writes bright books for bright people, pounds the pavement on an air-raid warden's beat, is as pretty as a Powers' model—and cooks better than any one we know. She says it's hard planning for a small family like hers—especially about roasts. You can't afford to waste meat even if you didn't feel like a home-defense dodger when you do. So she gave us recipes she's worked out for four main meat dishes from one fine leg of lamb. Also for her way of cooking the original roast, which is what we partook of—and generously. The trace of the garlic combined with the indefinable flavor of red wine used as a basting sauce in this recipe is something all right!

We also became the proud possessors of a recipe for an avocado ice that Eisle Houston, the vivacious South American singer, told us about. And while we were digging in our celebrities' file for the other recipes, we came across directions for a wonderful way of doing a slice of veal. Robert Stoltz's wife brought them in from the old country, when she and her great composer-husband turned down the inducements the Nazis offered them and became refugees. So we add the veal recipe along with the others—just because it's so very good.

ROAST LAMB SUPREME.

1 leg of lamb
1 garlic clove
1 cup domestic red wine (Burgundy-type is best)
Cut eight short slits along length of lamb. Peel garlic clove; cut in eighths, lengthwise. Insert 1/4 garlic clove in each slit. Place lamb in uncovered roaster; do not add water. Roast in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit), calculating 30 minutes per pound for roasting time. At end

Unusual Garnish For Lamb Roast

Attractive and novel ways of garnishing always attract homemakers, especially when they are preparing food for a very gala occasion. Here is a novel suggestion for "dressing up" a rolled shoulder of lamb roast—an inexpensive cut that should stand high in your favor.

Have the shoulder boned and rolled at the market. Place it on a rack in an open roasting pan, season with salt and pepper. Insert meat thermometer to center of the roast. Place in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) and roast to interior temperature of 180 F., allowing 40 to 45 minutes per pound for cooking.

To make the flowers follow this procedure:
For each flower cut two slices of turnip, one fairly thick, and the other as thin as possible. Cut sections from the thick slice to form petals. Cut a circle from the center. Roll each thin slice and insert the edge into the center of the thick slice to complete the "flower." Arrange in a wreath around the lamb, wipe "leaves" of parsley or water-cress.

Chilling the dough in the refrigerator for about a half hour may make the rolling simpler. Roll very thin and cut with a fancy cutter. Bake on a greased sheet at 425 degrees F. about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned on the edges. Yields about 5 dozen cookies.

Wafer-Thin Cookies Flavored With Fruit Juices

The Easter bunny never left more pleasant surprises than these dainty crisp cookies. They're just the kind of cookies to satisfy your hunger at tea time, for they're made with taste-tempting orange and lemon juice and peel. These Easter dainties are the kind you can roll out and bake at a moment's notice. It's no trouble at all to prepare them, for they bake in such a hurry you hardly have time to move from the stove and they're done.

The kiddies will adore finding them on Easter morning along with the traditional Easter eggs. Of course, they can be in any shape—just use your cookie cutter and take your choice of design. Those selected for the illustration include bunnies, eggs and spring tulips. And, as you will note, they may be decorated in any way you wish.

Here's the recipe for the cookies:

EASTER EGG COOKIES.

1 cup sugar
1/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
Mix sugar and fruit juices well. Add grated peel, dry ingredients and melted butter. Stir well. Dough should be firm enough to roll.

LAMB PIE.

Place layers of sliced roast lamb and left-over gravy (thinned if necessary) in shallow casserole. Top with strips of pastry, arranged lattice fashion. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) until pastry is golden brown, about 20 minutes.

EAST INDIAN CURRY.

Measure left-over gravy. Add enough medium white sauce to make three cups. Blend 1 1/2-2 teaspoons curry powder with a little of the gravy mixture; add to remaining gravy mixture. Add two cups cubed roast lamb. Heat thoroughly. Serve with rice. Approximate yield, six portions.

LAMB CROQUETTES.

3 cups ground roast lamb
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons grated onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup fine, dry bread or cracker crumbs
Combine lamb, seasonings, white sauce and onion; mix well. Shape in 12 rolls or cylinders of equal size. Dip rolls in crumbs, then in egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in shallow fat (1 1/2-2 inches deep), heated to 300 degrees Fahrenheit for two minutes or until golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce. Yield, 12 croquettes.

AVOCADO ICE.

1/4 cup liquid honey
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup lime juice
Peel avocados, remove seeds, force pulp through sieve; add remaining ingredients and blend well. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator with temperature set at cold-as-point. Freeze two to four hours or until firm, stirring once during freezing. Approximate yield, six portions.

ROVELLINA.

1 slice veal cutlet, 3/4 inch thick (1 pound)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cracker meal
1/4 cup fat
1 No. 2 can tomatoes, strained
Sprinkle veal with salt and pepper. Combine egg and milk. Dip veal in egg mixture; roll in cracker meal. Cook slowly in fat 30 minutes, turning several times. Add strained tomatoes, simmer 30 minutes or until veal is tender. Approximate yield, six portions.

The Easter bunny himself might have left these dainty crisp cookies cut in appropriate shapes as a surprise for the family. They will be welcomed by the youngsters of the household as refreshment after the strenuous work of neighborhood egg rolling—and are wonderful for tea when guests drop in. Yes—they do use sugar, but maybe you can shimp somewhere else to make such a treat!

Wafer-Thin Cookies Flavored With Fruit Juices

Chilling the dough in the refrigerator for about a half hour may make the rolling simpler. Roll very thin and cut with a fancy cutter. Bake on a greased sheet at 425 degrees F. about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned on the edges. Yields about 5 dozen cookies.

Note: The yield and the baking time depend upon the size of the cookies cut. It is very important to look at these cookies often while they are baking, for they bake and brown quickly.

If you're serving them with tea, you'll find many people now use

lemon instead of sweetening. The lemon gives a tart flavor to the beverage and is especially good for a between-meal pickup.

DATE FRUIT BREADS

Most date fruit breads rise better if they have been allowed to stand in the baking pan 20 minutes before they are placed in the oven for baking.

Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour in saucepan over direct heat. (That creamy, appetizing appearance of Pillsbury's Best is one result of the care with which this flour is milled. Every single hour during milling, samples are tested to insure this inviting color.) Add 2 1/2 c. milk gradually; stir constantly; cook until thick and smooth. Add 1 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, and vegetables. 3. Turn into 2-qt. casserole. Top with the following CHEESE STRIPS: 4. Sift and measure 1 1/2 c. Shad Season Is in Full Swing

Has Special Flavor When Prepared On Fish Plank

This is the season when we pay tribute to one of the finest fish found in American waters—shad. The New Netherlanders, when they settled New Amsterdam, found a plentiful fish supply in the nearby waters.

Then every one was desirous to see the fishes which were caught, for the purpose of discovering whether the same were known to them, and if they did not know the fish, then they gave it a name. First, in the fishing season, they caught many shad which they named "elf" (eleventh). Later they caught striped bass which they named "twalst" (twelfth). Shad was so plentiful at this time that those which were not needed for food were used as fertilizer, just as they were in New England.

Our shad season, under modern conditions of transportation and shipment, begins early, when the fish go up the Florida rivers. We have been enjoying Carolina fish and now we have the best of them all—from Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac River.

If you have a fish plank and it has not been used for some time, you had better get it down and oil it well so that it will be ready. Fish baked on a plank really does seem to have a flavor which cannot be obtained by using any other sort of baking dish. The dealer will bone your fish if you ask him. Of course, there will be a few small bones left.

Shad roe is even more highly considered than the fish itself. It is naturally more expensive and this is the case with a roe shad. Buck shad is just as good a choice if you are not interested in the roe.

PLANKED SHAD.
2 teaspoons salt.
1 teaspoon paprika.
1/4 cup melted butter or salad oil.
6 tomatoes.
Salt, pepper, chopped onion.
12 mushroom caps.
Melted butter.

Have fish split and cleaned. Wash well and wipe with cloth. Place, skin side down, on oiled plank. Mix salt and paprika with melted butter or salad oil and brush on fish. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes. In meantime wash tomatoes, cut in halves and sprinkle with salt, pepper and chopped onion; scrub mushroom caps and dip in melted butter. Arrange tomatoes and mushroom caps around fish. Return to oven and continue cooking 20 to 25 minutes, until fish flakes when tried with a fork. A border of mashed potatoes, brushed with melted butter, may be used instead of the other vegetables.

BROILED SHAD ROE.
Parboil large roe 8 minutes, allowing one tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice to each quart of water. Drain, chill in cold water and dry. Brush with melted butter or salad oil which has been seasoned with salt and paprika. Place roe on well-greased broiler and broil two inches from heat 10 to 15 minutes, until roe is thoroughly done.

To Launder Woolens

It's best to use lukewarm washing and rinsing waters when you launder woolens. Make up mild soap or soap powder into a soft, fluffy mass and place it in the washing water just before you put in the woolens. Never rub soap directly on them—you might break the threads or stretch the garment out of shape.

Smart Matron's Frock Make This Attractive Design For House or Street Wear

By Barbara Bell

This simple style can be made for home wear or may be adapted in better fabrics for street wear. For slimming lines we have used a center panel, a deep V neck, darts at the slenderly shaped waist. Soft fullness is managed through the bodice in a gathered effect drawing attention to the flattering deep neckline.

There are many features to recommend this frock to women who no longer are slim. Designed with flowing fluid lines this model is easy to adapt to your own individual figure requirements. Select this now as a simple pattern for your home and social life to be made in cottons or rayon prints.

Table Talk

To glamorize old-fashioned beef stew-transfer it to individual baking casseroles and top with rounds of fluffy biscuit dough. Place the casseroles in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

Pie Crust

Wrap pie crust that is to be kept in mechanical refrigerator carefully in waxed paper. It will not dry out and will keep for several days.

Betty Crocker suggests:

• BRIDES SHOULD KNOW about the correct silver service for soup.

A tablespoon is used for soup in regular soup plates... A dessert spoon for soup in a bowl, or in a cream soup cup with handles... A teaspoon or a round bottled soup spoon adjusts to a bouillon cup.

• EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW about the new easy way to make appetizing home-cooked soup. It's with our new product. We call it "Betty Crocker Vegetable Noodle Soup Ingredients". It's the dry ingredients (99% ready to cook) for a savory, home-cooked soup. You just empty the package into boiling water, add butter, and let it simmer! Almost no work for you.

Each package contains all the dry ingredients for six large bowls of tempting soup. There are seven different vegetables in flake form, lots of rich egg noodles, and zesty herbs and spices.

• GARDEN GOODNESS in the vegetables! There's a difference between this soup and a "warmed over" soup. This is because you cook the vegetables yourself for the first time. They're not pre-cooked.

For our product, choice vegetables are "dehydrated" (brought to low moisture content) while fresh. This process retains the delectable garden flavors.

• PAINLESS ECONOMY! Each package makes six large bowls of delicious soup—twice as much as you get from the average size can. My staff and I think you'll find our new product a delightful way to save time and money.

Curfew for Teen-Age Boy Should Vary According To the Circumstances

Set Hours Seldom Are Fair; Usually Cause as Much Grief as They Avert

By Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison

A 17-year-old boy writes us that he and his parents are in violent disagreement over the hour at which he gets in after a date. They vow that if he doesn't come home earlier, they won't let him out at all; he replies that he just doesn't see how he can come home any sooner.

Having reached this impasse, they decided to turn the problem over to us, and both the boy and his parents have promised to abide by our decision. So we herewith don our judicial robes and give out with a verdict.

We've said before that we don't believe much in iron-clad curfews for girls, and that goes for boys as well. The hour should vary with the occasion and the circumstances. Set curfews which are never supposed to be violated are popular with parents because they are a quick and easy answer to a tough problem. But they are seldom fair and they usually cause as much trouble as they prevent.

In deciding when a young man about town should get home, the most important consideration is that he must get sufficient sleep. That means a minimum of eight or nine hours on the innerspring. It naturally follows that later hours are permissible on week ends than on school nights—if dating is permitted at all during the week.

The second consideration is that the boy be permitted a reasonable length of time to get his girl and himself home after any social affair which they may be attending. Suppose that they go to a dance which ends at midnight. If they go at all, they should be allowed to stay until the end; having to leave earlier lacerates any teen-ager's pride.

Probably they'll want to go somewhere for something to eat afterward, and they won't want to gulp it. Then the girl must be taken home, and the boy must cover the distance from her house to his. The time required for these little chores varies from date to date, depending on distance and available transportation: Thus a 1 o'clock curfew might be reach the family portals, the fault is with the time set for the dance, and not with the boy. Certainly that's too late for a 17-year-old to be out regularly, but for big special dances, we don't see how it can be avoided.

We'd say that midnight would be late enough for a boy to get home from an ordinary parlor or movie date on a week end. This would mean leaving the girl's house at 11:30 or 11:45, depending on the distance he had to go. And that's plenty late enough. Some girls' papas may start getting grumpy if he stays that late, in which case it's up to him to be smart and leave earlier.

Note that we're not allowing any time for parking and smooching after dances or parties. It's not that we're trying to boycott Kid Cupid, but simply that we think parking is poor stuff on several different counts. It invites heartaches, headaches and holdups.

Observer Sees Americans Experiencing Frustration

Predicting the great Allied offensive would be launched from England on the western front through aid from the United States, Eric Severid, Columbia Broadcasting System commentator, yesterday declared the middle classes in America are passing through a period of frustration rather than complacency.

ington with its multitude of white collar workers far removed from scenes where factory workers are engaged in munitions production. The city, he said, doesn't know what to do with itself in this war and hence the feeling of frustration. The commentator declared the American people must conquer themselves or go the way of France. Mr. Severid declared the Axis wants to end the war this year before the United States achieves production which the enemy knows it cannot equal. By ending the war, he explained, the Axis wants to reach a point where it can cut off American production from the battle scenes.

Unwilling to Trade Nat Hurlers, Griffith Can't Get Third Sacker Club Needs

Win, Lose or Draw

By FRANCIS E. STAN.

But They Don't Figure to Win the Pennant

It is all quite fitting and proper for Washington baseball fans to get steamed up now over the Nationals. Bobo Newsum can lend a lot of color and win 20 games for the Griffith A. C.—or he can just lend a lot of color. But having Newsum on a pitching staff that also embraces hurlers with the promise and ability of Dutch Leonard, Sid Hudson, Jack Wilson and one or two others gives the Griffmen a chance to go someplace.

The Nats, of course, hardly figure to win the pennant. Pitching alone isn't enough and, to be very blunt about it, Manager Bucky Harris simply doesn't have enough good ball players. The Yankees, for instance, may not have pitching as good as Washington's, but the champions, who appear capable of breezing to another flag, do have plenty of first-class players—Di Maggio, Joe Gordon, Bill Dickey, Phil Rizzuto and Charley Keller, for instance.

How far the Nats will go, however, depends on the pitching. If Newsum gets in shape—and until last year he had three successive seasons as a 20-game winner—he ought to help the club more than he will hurt it. Old Bobo, you know, could hurt the Nats. He doesn't pitch for nothing, and that contract he signed the other day called for considerably more money than anybody else on the roster is making, including Leonard, an 18-game winner last year and a 20-game winner in 1939. Of such things is discussion born.

Vernon Probably Is the Most Adept Nat

The Nats conceivably could be the surprise team of the American League. Not even the heavily-favored Yankees are without weaknesses. On our recent tour of the Florida training camps all of the managers were crying as clubhouse boys stood nearby with fresh towels ready.

Lou Boudreau, the Infant Indian, lacks pitching, now that Bob Feller belongs to the Navy. He lacks a balanced outfield, his catching is only so-so and his first baseman hasn't proved that he is a big league, first baseman. Del Baker of the Tigers has a first-class catcher in Birdie Tebbets, but little else. The Red Sox must start almost from scratch with Jimmy Fox and Joe Cronin on the way out and Bob Grove already out.

Bucky Harris will bring no dream team to Washington 10 days hence. Because of his holdout difficulties, Newsum hasn't begun to get into shape. Bobo is at least 34 years old now and the conditioning process may take a little time. Leonard, Hudson, Wilson, Alejandro Carrasquel, Walter Masterson and the rest of the pitching brigade have been pretty terrific this spring, winning 15 Grapefruit League games, but after the Washington pitching is discussed the rest isn't so pleasant.

Harris has no dream team because his outfit has no balance. Probably his best player is a lazy, but otherwise able first baseman named Mickey Vernon, who hasn't yet hit .300 in the majors. This sort of gives you an idea.

Griff Thinks Sabotage Holds Back Wilson

The Nats' outfield lacks punch. Moreover, it lacks all-around class. Centerfielder Stan Spence, no youngster, still is untested and his work this spring has been both good and bad, indicating uncertainty. Right Fielder Bruce Campbell is a 33-year-old veteran whose batting average has been growing smaller for the last five years and who never reminded anybody of This Speaker. Left Fielder George Case still may be the fastest man in the major leagues, but he hasn't been stealing as many bases as formerly and, possibly significant, his batting average also has been shrinking. He hasn't hit .300 since 1939.

In the infield there is Vernon at first base and a Class AA shortstop, Bob Repass, at shortstop. The second and third basemen might be you and the neighbor next door. The catching, headed by Jake Early and Al Evans, undoubtedly will be attempted with enthusiasm but with no guarantee of any consummate skill.

With second and third basemen and a .330 hitter in the outfield, the Nats could be very dangerous, indeed. Newsum and Leonard—and even the phlegmatic Hudson, for that matter—are almost certain to tangle in a bitter, teeth-grinding struggle for slab supremacy. And you can't count on Wilson. John Francis Wilson only won four games for the Red Sox last year and Clark Griffith, an old pitcher himself, can't figure it out. The last time we saw the old geezer he was standing behind Wilson as the pitcher was warming up by throwing, alternately, fast balls and knuckle balls that all but made Catcher Evans throw away his mitt.

Mr. Griffith deduced that it must have been sabotage which limited Wilson to only four victories. "By sin," he hissed into Mr. W's ears as John Francis wound up, "if you can't win 20 games every year you ought to be hung, shot or boiled in oil. Why, if I had your last ball when I was 45 years younger I'd-a-won . . ."

We never did catch the rest of the sentence, nor did Wilson, because it was his turn to pitch batting practice and he walked away while Griff pulled his overcoat collar tighter around his neck and headed for the hotel.

Holdout Over, Siebert Joins A's in Great Trim for Start

Benefits From Workouts At Minnesota; Chisox Bench Hitless Kuhl

TUCSON, Ariz., April 2.—First Baseman Dick Siebert, the erstwhile holdout, has caught up with the Philadelphia Athletics. Siebert reported here in good shape after working out with the University of Minnesota team.

"Also," he said, "I played badminton, squash and basketball all winter."

YUMA, Ariz.—Joe Kuhl's bat wasn't helping the Chicago White Sox against the rampaging Pittsburgh Pirates, so the first baseman was benched temporarily in favor of Merrill Jones.

The Shreveport rookie set three hits yesterday, but the White Sox still lost—their sixth in a row to the Bucs.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Charley Keller of the New York Yankees feels better, now that he has clouted his first home run of the year. He poked one over the centerfield wall, more than 400 feet from home plate, against Jacksonville yesterday.

DE LAND, Fla.—The St. Louis Browns, owning a grapefruit league record of 10 victories in 14 games, will attempt to fatten their winning average today against Montreal of the International League.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Several Detroit Tiger rookies have found out—to their chagrin as well as wear and tear on their bankrolls—that it doesn't pay to violate the be-in-by-midnight rule. They were fined $100 for not getting in on time and so far there have been no second offenders.

Good 'Home' Nine Seeks Franchise

BELLEFOUNTE, Pa., April 2.—The Rockview Penitentiary team has applied for a franchise in the Tri-Valley Baseball League. The application stipulated that all the team's games be played on its home diamond.

Tigers, St. Louis Refuse to Deal For Cash Only

Veteran Bluege Apt To Start; Air Base Beaten Easily

By BURTON HAWKINS, Star Staff Correspondent.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 2.—Searching for a spot to place considerable coin is President Clark Griffith of the Nats, but teams with which the awning-eyebrowed gentleman would relish depositing his coin prefer to barter. He is willing to hook his last stogie to obtain a reputable third baseman, but not at the expense of parting with his pitching. "Everybody wants my pitchers," fuses Griff, "but they ain't a 'gonna get 'em. I want to buy but everybody wants to trade and I ain't having much luck trying to do business. Maybe we'll have to go along with Bobby Estalella, third and Frank Croucher at second."

"I think Estalella and Croucher might go all right, but I'd like to see them work some. We haven't had our regular infield together this spring. I'd like to see how they'd go because I believe they might be pretty good, but Estalella has been sick and Croucher's arm still isn't right."

Griffith dispatched Scout Joe Cambria to the St. Louis Browns training base at Deland yesterday in an attempt to pry Third Baseman Harland Clift from that club, but Joe's journey didn't culminate in immediate success. Griffith also has been dickering for Eric McNair of the Tigers and Lew Riggs of the Dodgers, among others, but thus far has been butting his shivery head against a wall of refusal.

Frequently labeled the miser of the majors and the employer of "coolie" labor, Griffith is ready to go high for an infielder and a right-handed hitting outfielder to supplant the veteran Bruce Campbell against southpaw pitching when the weather becomes wilying.

Could Create Trouble. In his team, with proper fortifications, Griffith envisions a club that could wedge its way into the first division. He is equipped with what may develop as the league's best pitching staff, a tolerable outfield and passable catching, but that infield problem stymies him.

This is a year in which a creditable club could pack patrons in Griffith Stadium. The crowded Capital is teeming with folk who would relish following a good team and Griffith is realizing it, but he is having difficulty plugging the gaps.

Griffith is making an honest effort to bolster his outfit. He is prepared to go high for suitable material and is compiling a mountainous telephone bill in an effort to exchange money for material, but the ancient law of supply and demand is blocking him.

The Nats may constitute no pennant contender with the Yankees still functioning but the remainder of the league isn't awe-inspiring. Cleveland is minus the Feller that was more than a friend, Boston's pitching and catching remain dubious and Chicago's batting department strikes out.

Bluege Still Effective. The man who may open the season at third base for the Nats likely could be mellowing Ossie Bluege, who has demonstrated he (See HAWKINS, Page C-4.)

Ticket Deadline Falls Saturday

Seat reservations for the opening game on Tuesday, April 14, must be picked up at Griffith Stadium by 5 p.m. Saturday.

Club Secretary Eddie Eynon says that reservations uncalled for by that time will be used to fill requests now on hand.

Could Regain Batting Form, Greenberg Feels

Fine Physically, but Finds Army Training Tightens Him

By a Star Correspondent of The Star. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 2.—Serg. Hank Greenberg, the big, slope-shouldered Jewish gentleman who formerly poked numerous home runs as an esteemed employee of the Detroit Tigers, feels it wouldn't take him two weeks to regain his batting form despite nearly a year in the Army.

"Give me two weeks and I'd be all right again," says Hank, who performed against the Nats yesterday at Orlando. "Right now my back muscles are tied up and I'm not in baseball-playing condition but I'm tougher and stronger than I was as a player."

"A baseball player should be like a thoroughbred horse—keyed up and ready for action but nevertheless delicate. I'm not in that kind of condition but I wouldn't be surprised if I could outpitch, out-wrestle and outthike every baseball player in the country."

"I used to catch a lot of colds as a baseball player and trivial things used to upset all of us. Gosh, when I think of kids marching all day with huge packs on their backs, then look back

Leafs Banking on Pair Of Little Fellows in Hockey Series

Taylor, McCreedy in Past Have Been Effective Against Red Wings

By the Associated Press. TORONTO, April 2.—The Toronto Maple Leafs will place their hopes in a pair of potent light-weight skaters, Billy Taylor and Johnny McCreedy, when they open against the Detroit Red Wings here Saturday night in the final of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

In eight games between Toronto and Detroit this season, Taylor and McCreedy scored five goals each. Taylor also got five assists and McCreedy one.

If the Wings are to capture the championship series they must figure out a stouter defense against that pair than they were able to muster during the regular season. Detroit won only two of the eight 1941-2 games with the Leafs and tied one, scoring 21 goals against 26 for Toronto.

The outstanding Detroit player in the series with Toronto was Mud Bruneteau with five goals and one assist.

The second game of the series will be played here next Tuesday, with the third at Detroit April 9 and the fourth at Detroit April 12.

If fifth, sixth and seventh games are necessary, they will be played in Toronto, April 14; Detroit, April 16, and Toronto, April 18.

In the consolation division final Eau Claire, Wis., won over the Chicago Lincoln-Belmont quarteret, 48 to 40.

The tournament attracted leading Y. M. C. A. teams from the Middle West and as far East as Pittsburgh.

Football Will Go Ahead in Georgia

By the Associated Press. ATLANTA, April 2.—There'll be no wartime suspension of football at Georgia or Georgia Tech unless "further emergency should develop"—or unless diminishing gate receipts indicate public disapproval.

The State Board of Regents adopted an administration-sponsored resolution continuing athletics, thus ending controversy created when L. W. Robert, Jr., member of the board, urged suspension of football to avoid interference with the war effort.

Clark Griffith will shave the Nats' tiqued on Saturday and those tiqued to be farmed to Chattanooga, Charlotte and Dr. Jekyll are Pitchers Bill Kennedy, Ray Scarborough and Bill Zinser, Catcher Ted Madjeski, Outfielder Alex Kvasnak, First Baseman Curtis Baletine and Second Baseman Eddie Lyons.

Coach Nick Altrock resumed his comic operations yesterday for the first time since he shattered his ankle at Sarasota last year. He couldn't move around much but Nick nevertheless put on a good show and he'll be ready to amuse customers on opening day.

Those 12 hits Orlando Air Base obtained off the Nats doesn't belittle the pitching of Early Wynn and Bill Zuber. The official scorer was in a liberal mood, presenting the soldiers numerous tainted safeties. Washington made 15 hits, Roberto Ortiz pacing the attack with two singles and a double.

Capacity Crowd Sure To See Bears, Caps In Third Battle

7,200 Tickets Are Sold, 3,000 More Expected To Sit in Aisles

By the Associated Press. HERSHY, Pa., April 2.—The American Hockey League championship battle moves into the local sports arena tonight with a capacity crowd assured for the third game in the best-in-five series between the Hershey Bears and the Indianapolis Caps.

Prospects of a wide open offensive contest resulted in a sell-out of the 7,200 seats several days ago, and officials said another 3,000 probably would crowd into the aisles.

The series is a standoff now with each team owning one victory.

Two and a half months ago followers of the Bears hoped they had seen the last of the Caps for this season. The Hoosiers at that time handed Hershey a 4-2 defeat, breaking a 12-game undefeated streak of the Bears on home ice. The win seemed the necessary spark for the Caps as they ran out the remaining 21 games on their schedule with but two defeats.

The bears have lost only five games out of 31 at home this year but Indianapolis has accounted for two of those setbacks out of three appearances. Hershey retained the lead two out of three on the Caps' home ice during the regular season.

Browns Better, Picked to Gain Fourth Place

Power Missing, Nats Are Apt to Finish Next to Cellar

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer.

TAMPA, Fla., April 2.—This is getaway week in the baseball training camps, and as the sun-tanned athletes hit the exhibition trail leading to opening day on April 14 there is talk of only one team that might possibly inject a little pepper into an otherwise unpromising Yankee-dominated American League race. That club is the St. Louis Browns.

Every manager who has met the Browns this spring says they are a good, fast outfit that "might cause a lot of trouble." A couple of pilots, whose opinion the writer respects highly, say that Luke Sewell's outfit is a cinch to climb into the first division. It was one of the three teams in the American League to play better than 500 ball after Memorial Day last season, the others being the Yankees and Washington.

Here is the order, then, in which the coming wartime campaign might wind up:

(1) New York, (2) Chicago, (3) Boston, (4) St. Louis, (5) Cleveland, (6) Detroit, (7) Washington, (8) Philadelphia.

No Rival Near Yankees. The Yankees, winners last year by a lop-sided 17 games, are fundamentally so much better than any other team in the junior circuit that there is no real comparison. Sure, they haven't resembled world champions this spring, so what? By midsummer they will have some rival club owners pinning secretly for a split season.

The Chicago White Sox, who were third last year with exactly a .500 average, appear to have the pitching to boost them up to second place this time, say about 25 games off the pace. If they make it, then the loud and persistent group which insists that Jimmy Dykes is the greatest manager in the world—not baring even Joe McCarthy—will have to be listened to with new respect.

Boston, despite the loss of Joe Cronin's power at the plate and the fact that it is unusually allergic to the draft, should have enough left to grab third. Ted Williams, one of the really great hitters of our time, probably could finish that high by himself.

Browns in Upper Bracket. Fourth does not appear too high a goal for the Browns, considering the quality of this opposition. Sewell has a pair of good-looking southpaw rookie pitchers, Stan Ferns and Frank Biscan, and another youngster named Vernon Stephens at short who might turn out to be the freshman of the year. The club, however, is very susceptible to the draft.

Cleveland has a popular new manager in 24-year-old Lou Boudreau and the club is saturated with harmony, but that almost sums up the assets since the great Bob Feller climbed into Navy blue. Barring a possible find or two among his rookies, Lou is painfully short on pitching and catching.

Detroit has lost weight steadily since it won a pennant only two seasons ago, and with the departure of 222-pound Buck Newsum the other day the "Tigers' ribs began to show sure enough. Del Baker scarcely has enough pitchers left to get up an interclub game. Bill Richardson, the team's new shortstop from Kansas City, appears to be a jewel.

Nats' Hopes Held Blasted. Washington's hope, if any, were blasted when Cecil Travis and Buddy Lewis went into the service. That was all the hitting the club had, and even if Newsum is retained he can't help the situation much unless they convert him into an outfielder for his batting punch.

The selection of Philadelphia to finish eighth is purely by instinct. It is the position the A's have won in five of the last seven years.

Hockey Bruins Disband, Maybe for Duration

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, April 2.—The Boston Bruins, eliminated from the National Hockey League playoffs by the Detroit Red Wings, returned to Boston today prior to demobilizing for the season—and perhaps for the duration of the war.

New Nine Holes at Bradley Hills Country Club to Be Ready for Play May 15

Semi-Public Course To Present Tricky, Enticing Links

East Potomac Keeper Seeks Way to Fill Out "F" Layout

By WALTER McCALLUM.

Washington linksmen will have an added nine holes of public golf within two months. The new nine-hole course at Bradley Hills Country Club, designed to fit eventually into a complete 18-hole layout under a rearrangement scheduled to be worked out within a year, will be ready for play by about May 15. So promise Eddie Adams, boss of the club, and Tommy Doerer, golf pro and course manager.

"But winter rules will be necessary on those new fairways for several months," said Doerer. "They are completely new and although the new grass is coming up well it won't be thick enough to play summer rules throughout much of the coming season."

The new nine eventually will work into an 18-hole layout in which several holes will be changed around at Bradley Hills, while incorporating all of those good holes which now make that course a fine test of the game.

For more than a year now the new part of the course has been under construction, but last fall it was rearranged and parts of it were rebuilt. Now it looms as one of the best nine-hole layouts anywhere around town, with ample length and sufficient trickiness to make it a fine test of duffer and expert alike. When the new holes are blended with the old nine in use at Bradley Hills for more than a dozen years the entire layout will measure more than 6,500 yards in length. But the entire 18-hole course, as ultimately it will be arranged, may not be in play this year. The plan is to play the two nines as separate units until the changeover can be made with the minimum of inconvenience.

Semi-public Course. Bradley Hills, of course, is a semi-public golf course, one of those layouts where you lay your cash on the line, get a ticket and go out to play without bothering about getting past an Admissions Committee or worrying about the upkeep of a fancy clubhouse. It has the fancy clubhouse all right, but still it is a public course. It also has membership numbers around 200. Many of these members are in the so-called "special" class, who get privileged starting times on busy days and a small reduction in green fees.

Doerer, who spent nearly five years at the crowded public courses at East Potomac and Rock Creek Parks, predicts a bright future for the Montgomery County layout. He isn't exactly tickled pink by the lack of action through the week, but he is sure this will change when the weather opens up and golfers begin to flock to the courses. Tommy has been at Bradley Hills only four months and hasn't been through a summer season yet. His eyes may pop when golf gets going around this overcrowded town.

Change at East Potomac. Down at East Potomac Park, where Uncle Sam has taken over part of the course now of the fieldhouse, Greenkeeper Reuben Hines is mulling over a way to build four new holes along the east roadway around Hains Point to fill out course F.

For several months now the linksmen have been playing five holes over and over again, and Hines wants to build four new holes to round out a nine-hole course without going north of the fieldhouse. The present B and D courses and the driving range all will be open this year, as usual, although for a time it was feared the Government would take over part of the area between the river and the fieldhouse.

Hines believes he can build the four holes necessary to bring course F up to nine holes. "It can be done by a little figuring," he says.

Schoolboy linksmen will swing into action next Tuesday with six matches scheduled in the opening series of contests for the Dawes Cup and the "met" title. Six of the seven District high school entrants in the Dawes Cup series will see action.

Doping the high school series is a tough job, for the material shifts from year to year and even an outfit such as Roosevelt, which has won the Dawes Cup for the last two years can lose its top men and finish far down the ladder. But Georgetown Prep is coming up with another strong team and will be among the top favorites to grab the "met" title, which the Little Hoyas won last year.

Helen Dettweiler Would Regain Amateur Golf Status by 1944

Helen Dettweiler, former top amateur women's golf star around Washington, hopes to be reinstated as an amateur by January 1, 1944. Now working in the War Department, Helen has applied to the United States Golf Association for reinstatement to amateur status after more than two years as a professional with a major golf equipment manufacturing company.

U. S. G. A. rules require a probationary period of two years before applications for amateur reinstatement are acted upon by the national golf body. During that time the applicant must have acted so as to come within the code of amateur golf. The two-year probationary period will keep Helen out of feminine tournaments in 1942 and 1943, which doesn't bother her at all because she won't have time for them, she says.

As an amateur she won all the major tournaments in this area and was rated at the top of all women golfers around Washington and Baltimore five or six years ago.

The former Mrs. Roland MacKenzie, around 1937 one of the top-ranking linkswomen of Washington, now is Mrs. Frederic Horace Sheldon, wife of an Army major. They were married in Reno, Nev., early in March.

"Betty" MacKenzie won several tournaments around Washington and was a semi-finalist in the District women's championship, when she was married to the former Congressional Country Club professional.

Maryland Field Day Card Offers Luring Varsity Contests

Maryland has arranged an especially attractive program for its 25th anniversary Field Day at College Park on Saturday, May 2.

As usual the feature of the affair will be the interscholastic meet, with 13 open events and 7 closed to the county high schools of the State, but these competitions will be supported by four luring varsity events, as follows:

Noon—Track: Maryland vs. Duke, with the interscholastics being run concurrently.

2:30—Baseball: Maryland vs. Washington College.

3:00—Tennis: Maryland vs. North Carolina.

4:00—Lacrosse: Maryland vs. Princeton.

Pressure Is on Hogan And Nelson in Land Of Sky Open Golf

Ben as Defending Champ, Byron Out to Collect 34th Time in Row

By the Associated Press.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 2.—Ben Hogan, who is just as serious as he looks out there on the golf course, was under pressure again today as he began defense of his title in the 72-hole Land of the Sky Open.

Hogan, for all his icy nerve, feels under pressure as much as any man playing golf; and he's been under it so much that he feels the difference when it is off. Leading the North-South last week by a wide margin, Hogan took sixes on No. 10 both rounds of the final day. He was so far ahead that he couldn't concentrate. "I had to shake myself on the 11th tee to get rid of the let-down," he said. The result in the afternoon was a birdie 3 on the next hole.

Pressure on Nelson, Too.

Today the pressure was on again, because Belling Breun was the favorite and defending champion.

But it was not all concentrated upon him. Byron Nelson got a share, not only because he was favored back of Hogan but also because he was seeking to finish in the money for the 34th straight tournament.

Chandler Harper, newly named along with Chick Harbert to play in the Masters at Augusta, Ga., was set to keep intact his mark of 80, finishing in the dough in every meet this year. Last Sunday the Portsmouth (Va.) pro barely squeezed into the money circle at Greensboro, N. C., tying with two others for last place.

Wins Two Years in Row.

Some of the pressure was on the whole field, seeking to halt the little Texan who has swept the $5,000 event two years in a row, after finishing second to Dick Metz in the first tournament in 1939.

Last year Hogan needed 284 and beat Lawson Little by a stroke. The year before he scored 273, three shots ahead of Ralph Guldahl in second place.

Dorothy Kirby Takes 5-Stroke Lead Into Champions' Final

Louise Suggs Is Second, Helen Harb Third in Tourney at Augusta

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—Defending Champion Dorothy Kirby went into the third and final 18-hole round of the women's titleholders golf tournament today with a five-stroke lead.

Her closest rivals were Louise Suggs in second place and Helen Hicks Harb of Washington, D. C., in third.

Miss Kirby's 36-hole total was 156, after she finished yesterday with a 77 to put with her previous 79 round. Her par is 72.

Mrs. Harb pushed Miss Suggs for second place when she equalled Miss Kirby's 77 round, but her first round was 85, compared with the Lithia Springs girl's 80-81-161.

Augusta's only entrant, Eileen Stubb, had a 78 yesterday despite a 3-putt 18th hole, and she got into four strokes back in fifth place was George Tainter with a pair of 84s.

Jeanne Cline, junior Western titlist, found the going tough, her opening day 86 being followed with an 88 for 174.

Virginia Net Talent Held Much Scarcer Than Tennis Balls

By the Associated Press.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 2.—The rubber shortage isn't worrying Coach Frank Wagener, Virginia tennis coach, nearly so much as the shortage of players.

Not a single first-line player of last year's crack combine is back, and a 1941 reserve, Jerry Poenic, is likely to be occupying the No. 1 spot.

Gone with the draft and graduation are Landon Buchanan, ace of 1941, and Rickey Fulle, his doubles partner. Also absent will be Stan Lerner and Ed Fabian, and Andy Christian, who will play baseball instead of tennis.

Slated for Nos. 2 and 3 are Bart Goldberg and Charlie Levering, who starred on last year's yearling outfit.

Other players are West Woodbridge, Van Ware and George Stewart.

Bosox to Full-Test Hurlers; McGee's Weight Worries Ott

McGee is 25 pounds lighter than last season and is so serious about keeping in shape that Ott has to order him to eat more.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Pitcher Charley Wagner of the Boston Red Sox will try to go the distance against Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer of the Cincinnati Reds today in the first of an eight-game series between the two.

Manager Cronin also hopes to have Dick Newsome, Joe Dobson and Yank Terry go the route before the team reaches Boston.

ALEXANDRIA, La.—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants is worried about the lost poundage of Pitcher Bill McGee, who had yielded only two runs in 16 innings before he was blasted for eight hits and six runs in three frames yesterday by Cleveland.

McGee is 25 pounds lighter than last season and is so serious about keeping in shape that Ott has to order him to eat more.

HOUSTON, Tex.—With a record of five out of six against the New York Giants, the Cleveland Indians squared off to add another notch to their victory chain today by picking Veteran Al Smith and Rookie Ray Poat for the first day of a double-billing in the Lone Star State. In yesterday's 10-8 victory, the Indians collected 15 hits.

Lundmark of Tech Promises to be Sensation of Scholastic Track Campaign

Versatile Youngster Will Concentrate On Pole Vault

Manual Trainers' Ball Team, Under Clarey, Appears Strong

By GEORGE HUBER.

Bob Lundmark, wily 17-year-old Tech High senior, easily might be the sensation of Washington's scholastic track season, just as Tech's Eddie Barham, the high-jump record smasher, was last year.

Bob specializes in the pole vault, but, like Barham, does a lot of things well, including the high jump, broad jump, shotput and hurdles. He likely will concentrate his winning and record-breaking efforts on vaulting this season—although he will be good for points in most of the other events he enters—and if he continues in the same style as last year a lot of new records will be set.

A transfer from Erie, Pa., Bob holds the Pennsylvania State interscholastic meet record of 12 feet 3 inches, first set by him in 1940 and tied last year. He probably would have done better in the 1941 meet except for a cut wrist received several days previously.

Lundmark figures to do more than 12-3 this season, but even at that it is better than most of the records around here. The interhigh mark is 11 feet 6 inches, set in 1928 by Jim Proctor of Central. The "C" Club record, made in 1935 by Alvin Webster of Harrisonburg, is 12 feet 1/2 inch. The only mark here better than Lund's is the University of Maryland interscholastic record of 12 feet 4 inches made three years ago by John Bartles of Newport News.

Handicapped by Short Pole.

The only thing keeping Lundmark from doing better in practice is lack of a long pole. The best at Tech is 13 feet long, and Coach Dutch Uslaner is hunting all over town for a 16-foot stick. Then watch the records tumble. Bob is doing 20 feet in the broad jump, high-jumping 5 feet 8 inches and throwing the shot better than 40 feet. These figures aren't exactly sensational and probably wouldn't win in the interhigh meet, but they are becoming better all the time and at least will earn places.

Aside from Lundmark, Tech's track team figures to be pretty good, although Uslaner has only one freshman returning from last year. He is Al Nencioni, who will run the 100 and 200. He finished fourth in both those interhigh events last season. Dutch has a number of football players on the track team, among them Joe Flicker, Jim Brooksbank and Bill Spicer, all dash men returning from last year. The high jumper, Leonard Brooks, miler last season, is shifting to the high hurdles, where his long legs come in handy.

John Clarey is succeeding Uslaner as Tech's baseball coach, and his squad in practice, the infield particularly, indicates it will be a standard on defense, comparing favorably with any schoolboy team in Washington, with the hitting fair and pitching good.

Slab Holdovers Capable.

Clarey has a paid of good pitching holdovers. Sam Webb and Dan O'Connell. Sam is a brother of Buddy Webb, Tech's pitching ace last year and an all-high choice, although he is not nearly so broad across the beam. He played a lot of sandlot ball last summer and is due for at least half the starting jobs. O'Connell is another valuable tosser. A quiet chap, he is cool under fire and is good especially with men on bases, usually one of the big weaknesses of high school moundsmen.

Lettermen with the team are John Harvill, catcher; Howard Keithley, first base, and Gil Schmelz, second base. Hank Piza is giving Harvill a run for the backstopping job and has a lot of experience to help him. Hank for several years has hung around Griffith Stadium during the summer and helped warm up visiting pitchers. Jack Ray, son of the Central High baseball coach, and Jackie Walsh (no relation to the Jackie Walsh who was Tech's outstanding athlete two years ago) are the leading third base candidates, while shortstops are Charles Varney and Bob Brewster. Short will be a particularly tough spot to fill at Tech as the Maroons last season had an all-high player, Martin (Reds) Green, in that position.

The leading outfield candidates are Chris Papas, Clive Bradley, Knobby Mater and Richie Brown, with Bud Curtis, substitute first baseman, a possibility. The field also because of his hitting. He is one of the best stickmen on the team, as are young Walsh and Schmelz. Papas also is handy with a bat.

Cotton Corbin, New Star, Named No. 1 Amateur Boxer

Paired with the Eastern Branch Boys' Club of Washington craftsman as the outstanding novice was Carl Voyles, determined National Training School featherweight, who carried off the championship in his class.

Corbin's rise in local fistic circles has been nothing short of sensational, culminating a drive that lifted him from obscurity to the highest honor a youngster can win within a year. Ironically enough, it was an A. A. U. ruling that forced him into senior ranks after he had gained the novice finals in the Golden Gloves tournament. The new regulation automatically made all novice finalists seniors instead of restricting that designation to novice champions.

Voyles' selection was not unanimous among the sports writers and tournament officials who voted on the matter. Some of those little Jimmy Giant Killers Caraway of Prince Georges Police Boys' Club and others cast their ballots for Edsel Martz of the Eastern Branch Boys' Club of Washington. But Voyles had a commanding margin over his rivals.

Both youngsters will receive their awards, trophies from the A. A. U., tomorrow night between games on the final card of the A. A. U. basketball tournament at the Eastern Branch Boys' Club gym.

Meanwhile, Billy Blake, Boxing Committee chairman, is drawing up final plans for the trip to Boston where Washington will have a full squad in the national tournament. The team will leave here Sunday, April 12, and the tournament opens the following day. Bouts are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, after which the survivors will rest until Friday when the finals will be fought.

N. W. A. Title Is Goal As Fraley Tackles Veteran Szabo

Sandor Szabo, the National Wrestling Association's world champion, will help Pat Fraley ring down the curtain on the winter season at Turner's Arena tonight when they go to the mat in the feature bout—one fall to a finish.

Starting time of the show has been moved back to 9 o'clock to accommodate late shoppers.

Szabo, still a dashing, colorful character despite his years on the circuit, is favored over the irate Irishman, although Fraley has come through with more than one upset. Szabo struggled to a draw with Erne Dusek last week and is gunning for a return match to prove his superiority.

Other bouts tonight include Joe Cox vs. Gus Sonnenberg, Cowboy Luttrell vs. Art LaGrand, Tommy O'Toole vs. Fred Grombler and Sheriff Tom Hanley vs. Milo Steinborn.

Terps' Squad Primed For Lacrosse Debut Against Harvard

Victory by Big Margin Expected in Contest At College Park

Maryland's 1942 lacrosse squad was to have its first outing of the season at College Park this afternoon in a match with Harvard starting at 4 o'clock and if the Terps didn't win by about 10 goals their supporters were ready to give the game back to the Indians.

Reports that Harvard, which never has lacked heart, has a better balanced squad than it brought South in previous years had Coach Jack Faber on guard against any surprises, but it was evident that no Marylander expected even a close match. This team is supposed to be one of Faber's better combinations, although it remains to be seen just how good it is.

The Old Liners' lacrosse record is outstanding in sports achievements, for no less than three championships have been chalked up in competition for the Wilson Wingate Trophy since it was put on the line six years ago and another occasion Maryland tied with Princeton for the honors. They reached second the other two years.

Today's starting line-up, subject to change without notice, was to be as follows: Goal, Jim Forbes; point, Bob Fetters; cover-point, Jack Dittmar; first defense, Ralph Burlin; second defense, John Hoyert; center, Bill Tarbert; second attack, Bill McGregory; first attack, Milton Vandenberg; out home, Ray Grelecki, and in home, Bob Stockbridge.

Faber, however, expected to use his reserves plentifully to obtain a line on their ability under fire. He had a long list from which to choose, on it being Barney Broughton, goal; Howard Keller and Bernie Uman, defense; Bill Taylor, Landis Hill and Tom Mont, midfielders, and Jim Pavesech and Joe Mariner, close attack.

Warren Eierman, 200-pound defense man and biggest on the squad, is on the sidelines with injuries.

Generals Have Wealth Of Tackle Talent

By the Associated Press.

Washington and Lee has so much tackle talent on tap that John Rulievich, 220-pounder who was impressive as a soph last season, wound up spring practice as a third-stringer.

Coach Riley Smith started Bill Furman and Frank Diloreto at tackle on one of the intrasquad teams which met in a final practice game and placed Lud Michaux and Ed Waddington in starting roles on the other.

Terp Hurlers Facing Big Test on Team's 6-Game Jaunt

Maryland's diamond squad headed for Richmond today and the first stop of a six-game road trip that will keep Coach Burt Shipley's charges active until next Tuesday.

High light of the trip will be a double-header with Duke at Durham next Monday. Jack Coombs' Blue Devils already have a winning streak of six games, so Shipley and his men know they'll have a tough sledding against them. But the Terps were hopeful of getting at least an even break on the trip. Two games with North Carolina Friday and Saturday and another with Virginia next Tuesday complete the slate.

Maryland's good corps will be given a thorough test on the trip with everybody taking a hand. Shipley expects to have a smart defensive team but one not overladen with batting power. He is hopeful the pitching will be of sufficient high caliber to permit the team to win a few games by low scores.

'Spec' Moore in Service; To Stay at West Point

By the Associated Press.

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 2.—It is Lt. Frank (Spec) Moore now. The former Louisiana State end who coached the Army tankers has been commissioned and assigned to duty at West Point, where he will remain on Earl Blaik's coaching staff.

Terp Nine Likely To Go on Parade

Maryland's diamond squad hardly knows whether to play ball or go on dress parade this season.

It has three of the five lieutenant colonels of the R. O. T. C. on the roster in Bob Smith, pitcher; Louis Tierney, catcher, and Jim Wharton, second sacker.

Mearle Du Vall, first baseman and clean-up hitter, is a mere military captain.

Swimmers, Eyeing P.-A. Games, Crowd A. A. U. Championships

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 2.—With an eye on the first Pan-American games, which Argentina's Olympic Committee insists will take place next November, more than 100 of the greatest swimmers and divers in this country anxiously awaited today the start of the three-day national A. The lure of a probable trip to South America has provided an added incentive to the aquatic aces who have flocked here to compete for 11 titles, one more than usual.

Meet With Virginia Saturday To Bare V. M. I. Track Power

Balanced Cadets Threaten to Jolt Cavaliers As Two Best Outfits in Old Dominion Clash

By BARTON PATTIE, Associated Press Sports Writer.

RICHMOND, Va., April 2.—Virginia's traditional reign over the State's collegiate trackmen, broken only once in the history of the sport, faces a serious challenge from a well-balanced squad molded at V. M. I. by Col. Hernando M. Read.

It is not that the Cavaliers, under the tutelage of Archie Hahn, are weaker than usual, but that the Cadets have come up with a team which, although lacking prospective record-smashers, packs plenty of all-around power and a point-getting avalanche in the distance runs.

The teams clash at Charlottesville Saturday in a dual affair which should just about reveal how the annual State meet will come out on the same field May 9. Only once in 20 years has Virginia yielded to another Old Dominion rival and it was the flying feet of Merrill Pasco and his V. M. I. squad which staged this upset in 1938.

Flashy Under Bad Conditions.

William and Mary's Indians were the first to feel the potency of V. M. I.'s aggression and they left Lexington on the short end of a 108½-17½ score.

The field was muddy, a strong wind handicapped the competitors and the pressure wasn't on the V. M. I. thinclads, but their times on the cinders and distances and heights in the field events were impressive.

The V. M. I. squad won first honors in every event, swept four and yielded second place to William and Mary in only three.

V. M. I.'s captain, Charles Chewing, trotted the mile in 4:34. Sophomore Walter Galliford breezed to victory in the 100 in 10 seconds flat and also captured the 220 in 23.6.

Another soph, Mike Ducko, rugged football end, made a notable track debut by winning the shot with a heave of 43 feet 7 inches and left the discus with a throw of 120 feet 2½ inches. Right behind Ducko was Joe Muha, another footballer.

Rathbuns Are Not Ready.

Virginia's chances of winning are dimmed by the fact that Ken and

Norman Rathbun, dependable point-winners, won't be in top shape for track due to their participation in the national collegiate boxing tournament.

The Cavaliers' strength is concentrated in the sprints and hurdles. The dash men are Ned Campbell, Sonny Hall, Horace McGowan and Ned Dart. Tommy Todd and Fred Murbury are among the best college hurdlers in the country.

Virginia Tech has in Paul McMullen, junior, holder of two all-time Gobler dash records, one of the State's most versatile trackmen, but the Blacksburgers, who didn't get much help from last year's freshman squad, do not appear to be in the running for the "Big Six" title.

Harlie Masters, dash veteran, and Phil Thomas, miler, who took seconds in the V. M. I. meet, are William and Mary's only lettermen.

Generals Shy of Runners.

Washington and Lee has several outstanding performers in Capt. Bud Yeomans, hurdles, broad jump and 440; Jay Silverstein, quarter-miler, and Lillard Altor, big grider, discus and shotput. Sophs will have to fill in nine gaps left by drafted and graduating lettermen.

The Generals appear strong in the field but just fair in the running events.

Richmond has three men who can hold their own with the State's best, but there are few other dependable point-getters on the Spider squad. Standouts are John Griffin, who has done better than 47 feet with the shot and huris the discus in the neighborhood of 140 feet; Capt. Owen Gwahlther, 2-miler, and Houston Sizer, who has bettered the 6-foot mark in the high jump.

covered school and junior college games for the Coffeyville Journal. On his nights off he went to basket ball games just for fun.

Shorts and shells—Freddie Fitzsimmons is planning a unique cooling system for his Flat-bush bowling emporium—and it won't be anything served in schooners. During the final game of the Iowa High School basketball tournament, a bald-headed customer rushed up to Lyle Quinn, tourney manager, and said, "This sure is a hair-raiser, isn't it?" New Jersey, which heard about a million-dollar racing take before betting on horses was legalized a couple of years ago, has cut the estimate to $250,000 for 1942-43. With only the freehold trotting track operating, the State collected $25,000 last year.

Cleaning the cuff—The Yanks and Giants games will be aired again this season after being off last year. Press releases from Duke's Add Penfield says Gov. J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina will "lend official dignity" to the opening of the national badminton tournament today by batting out the first shuttlecock. He'd better not miss if he wants to do that.

Three Teams Tie for First Place as District Bowling League Enters Stretch

Roslyn Holds Small Edge Over Luckies, Arcadia in Pins

Clarendon, Led by Darr, Rolls 709 and 1,948 For High Scores

Three teams gripped first place in the District Duckpin League today with Roslyn having a slim edge on total pins over Lucky Strike and Arcadia as the flag scrap moved down the home stretch in the all-star 18-club circuit.

The plucky Lucky Strikes, out to win their second straight pennant, deadlocked the issue last night with a 3-0 victory over the invading Chevy Chase Ice Palace while Roslyn and Arcadia marked time with respective 2-1 decisions over Georgetown and Hiser's Bethesda quint.

Bub Guethler's 157-410, Harry Alken's 151-385 and Hokie Smith's 140-378 were high Lucky Strikes scores of 650, 624 and 582 which swamped Ice Palace by more than 100 pins.

Murphy Paces Arcadia. Arcadia won the final two games from Henry Hiser's crew with scores of 630 and 664 as Capt. Fred Murphy banded out 158-400, Al Cissel, 148-387, and Norman Almony, 165-384. Chet Lindstrom's 387 was best for Bethesda.

Roslyn had no easy time winning its two games from the visiting Georgetowners with scores of 645, 611 and 610 as the opposition counted 606, 607 and 636. Galt Davis' 135-400 and Bill Krauss' 155-377 gave the Rosies their edge.

Clarendon High Scorer. Clarendon won the rubber game from Hi-Skor with top scores of the evening, 709 and 1,948. Chick Darr's high count of 428 with 152 his best single. Nick Rinaldi's 163-406 and Joe Freschi's 151-394 were the big wallopers for the winners, while Lou Pantos' 388 and Irvin Simon's 383 paced the losers.

El Geib's top single of 170 and 420 set were the big pokes as Del Ray swept Peacock's Bethesda quint with scores of 672 and 1,931. Anacostia Spillway moved to sixth place, only five games out of first, with a 3-0 victory over Penn Recreation. Ed Nash's 149-420 and Cletus Pannell's 151-406 led in the sweep.

Rudy Jarman starred with 159-390 as the invading Lafayette trimmed Hyattsville, 2-1. Harry Hilliard's 154-405 was high for the losers. The pennant-contending Convention Hall team holding down seventh place, postponed with King Pin.

Thiel Gives Up Football. GREENVILLE, Pa., April 2 (P).—Little Thiel College, after proudly completing its first undefeated and untied grid season last year, has announced regretfully it is obliged to discontinue intercollegiate football during the war.

Castleman Tutors Vandy. NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 2 (P).—Clyde Castleman, former New York Giant hurler, has been named temporary coach of the Vanderbilt baseball team. He will fill in for Coach Jim Scoggins, who underwent an appendectomy.

Berwyn Juniors Victors. Berwyn's Junior A. C. nosed out Hyattsville Police Boys' Club, 33-31, last night in the Hyattsville gym. Jack Shaffer of the losers took individual scoring honors from Al Oliver, 11 points to 9.

Nine Is on Right Track. DENVER, April 2 (P).—Denver University is going into the Big Seven Conference baseball race the right way. There is not a single lefthanded batter or thrower on the squad.

Hawkins. (Continued From Page C-1.) has lost little of his defensive cunning. In the past two days, Bluege has been inserted in the line-up and the 41-year-old "cat" still is pouncing on batted balls as though they had handles.

Bluege isn't fancying himself as a fellow who could aid the Nats playing every day but unless Estrella whips himself into condition shortly, Ossie may prove to be a valuable fellow to have around in early skirmishing. He remains the Nats' best infielder over a short span and he's eager to help. Meanwhile, Manager Bucky Harris was to send Steve Sundra and Walter Masterson against the St. Louis Cardinals here today following the Nats' 9-2 triumph over Orlando Air Base yesterday at Orlando.

20 Years Ago In The Star

The Nats won their fourth straight exhibition game by topping the Braves, 3-4, at Tampa. It was "Bob La Motte Day," and the honored athlete, playing at shortstop instead of Roger Peckinpaugh, came through with three hits and figured in four double plays.

Vincent Richards took the Middle Atlantic indoor tennis championship by defeating Bill Tilden in the final at Philadelphia, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. It was the first setback for Tilden in his own town since he won the national championship.

Pat O'Hara, former Irish open golf champion, won the North-South open at Pinehurst, N. C., with a 54-hole total of 220. Fred McLeod, Columbia Country Club, was in a four-way tie for sixth place with 229.

Five Tilts Scheduled Tonight in A. A. U. Court Tourney

Eastern, Central Boys' Clubs Hosts in City Title Competition

Six of last night's seven winners in the A. A. U. basket ball tournament will go to the post again this evening in quest of their second victories in a 24-hour period. Three of the five games are scheduled at the eastern branch of the Washington Boys' Club and the other two at central branch.

The triple-ender at Eastern opens at 6:15 with a 105-pound clash between Eastern Branch Cards and Georgetown. Alexandria Boys' Club, 120-pound quint, and Central Branch Senators will play at 7:15 and the 135-pound Central Branch Fleetwings and Alexandria Boys' Club an hour later. At central, the 120-392 and Pat James' 156-379 featured. With 51 games won out of 84 rolled the Virginia quint is only two games behind the three deadlocked leaders.

Clarendon High Scorer. Clarendon won the rubber game from Hi-Skor with top scores of the evening, 709 and 1,948. Chick Darr's high count of 428 with 152 his best single. Clarke will select his starting lineup from such illustrious rollers as Perce Wolfe, Tony Santini, Hokie Smith, Ollie Paolini and Ed Blakeney. Singer's team will include Lou Jenkins, the Capital's No. 1 pin spiller; Billy Stalcup, Karl Gochenour, Fred Murphy and Cletus Pannell.

The attractive 28-alley plant at Minnesota avenue and East Capitol street opened for business last night and was packed, but will be christened formally Sunday with one of the most intriguing contests of the season.

Week end handicap special events, all the rage these days, will get an early start tonight when Galt Davis stages his midnight attraction at Roslyn, starting at 10:30 o'clock. Contestants can enter until 12:30. The action will swing to King Pin Saturday, starting in the morning at 10:30 and running until closing time. Cowboys and Cowgirls Gamest Of Contestants, Says Eskew

A tribute to cowboys and cowgirls as the gamest contestants in all sport was paid today by Col. Jim Eskew, whose world championship rodeo opens a nine-day stand at Riverside Stadium Saturday afternoon.

"They foot their own living expenses and receive no guarantee," the soft-spoken colonel said, "and in addition, they pay a $15 entry fee for every event they compete in. First, though, they must sign away any claim to damages against any one for accidents suffered in the show. Although both the boys and girls get banged around pretty badly at times and may spend weeks in hospitals, they always come back. They're the finest competitors I've seen and I've been around a long time."

Four carloads of horses and a fifth of wild brahma bulls were to arrive here today to be herded into pens back of Riverside. Carloads of wild brahma calves for roping and Texas longhorn steers for bulldogging already are on the premises. Most of the 100 contestants and 250 head of cattle were expected to be assembled by nightfall.

OUTDOORS With BILL ACKERMAN Leaders Are Backing All Outdoor Activities Which Do Not Interfere With War Effort

State executives and national heads of departments, charged with control of fishing and recreational areas, almost without exception have gone on record as advocating the desirability of continuing outdoor pursuits wherever there is no interference with the war effort.

Some weeks ago we noted our bay fishing would be slightly curtailed in areas where naval and Coast Guard activities would find fishboat movement a hindrance. There is no doubt now that fishing will be restricted in such places as Annapolis entrance and the area below Cedar Point, and possibly in some other sections.

Most important is the ban on night fishing, which in the Chesapeake has been more than 60 per cent of all sport angling. Fishermen, though, will be happy they will be allowed to continue their pastime during daylight.

Bay resorts, knowing well the transportation problem will keep many close by, are doing all within their power to make their facilities available to a greater number and in a more attractive manner.

All fishing ports on the western shore of Maryland are preparing for a flow of visitors greater than any previous year. Eastern Shore fishing towns will become known to Capitalites who in the past have been satisfied to fish from this side for the reason most of them may be reached by bus.

Fishing in the Potomac has been popular for years, but the fact that Maryland has jurisdiction to the Virginia shore, thus making the possession of a non-resident license a necessity for anglers from the Old Dominion, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, has made many fishermen forego these waters. The Regional Council of the Isaak Walton League of America has advocated a special license to fish the Potomac, which would require Marylanders to pay the same fee as non-residents. If they are able to obtain such legislation it would correct a condition that has been unfair to anglers from those other States bordering the Potomac and make for better fishing, too, as the idea is to use all money received for the betterment of angling in these waters.

Such accomplishments are achieved through organization only. The individual cannot ally himself with the Regional Council, but he can put his shoulder to the wheel through one of the chapters.

Winning Contract

By THE FOUR ACES.

Economy Economy, in its bridge sense, consists in getting the most out of the least. Anybody can play a hand in which such things as tricks and entries are very plentiful, but only a fine player can display such a true sense of economy as to make one trick or one entry do the work of several. For example:

- East dealer. East-West vulnerable. ♠ Q 6 3 ♥ K 10 9 2 ♦ 8 7 3 ♣ 7 6 3

The bidding: East South West North 1♠ 3♦ Pass 4♠ Pass 3♥ 4♠ Dbl. 4♦ Pass 4♠ Dbl. 4♠ Pass

West opened the deuce of spades. East played the ten and South ruffed. South looked at the dummy reflectively and wondered how to use the one entry—the heart king—most effectively. Should he try a diamond finesse, a lead toward the club honors, or should it be reserved for the third round of hearts as a means of trying for a fourth heart trick?

West's doubles of clubs and diamonds indicated that he had length in both suits—so far as it was possible to have length in diamonds. Hence West had both the king and queen of diamonds. What other high cards were there on which East could have opened the bidding and rebid at the level of three? Obviously, East held a long spade suit headed by both ace and king, with the club ace as side strength. Since West had club length, the club ace was either singleton or only once guarded.

Having arrived at that conclusion, South led a heart at dummy. East ducked, and South won with the king. But then a low club from the South hand knocked out East's club ace. It was then easy for South to lay down the trump ace and ruff out the ten of clubs, making the contract.

Yesterday you were Howard Schenken's partner and, with neither side vulnerable, you held:

- ♠ A J 9 ♥ 3 ♦ A Q J 7 5 ♣ K Q 9 4

The bidding: Schenken Jacoby You Burnstone 1NT Pass 3♦ Pass 3NT Pass 4♠ Pass 5♣ Pass (?)

Answer—Bid six clubs. The only question, of course, is whether or not to try for a grand slam. You must not penalize your partner for showing a club fit by assuming that he thereby shows extra strength. Remember that your bidding has practically demanded a choice between the minor suits and that he could have jumped to six clubs to show extra strength.

Score 100 per cent for six clubs, 70 per cent for five no-trump, 50 per cent for six no-trump, 30 per cent for seven clubs.

Question No. 1,036.

Today you hold the same hand, but the bidding is different: Schenken Jacoby You Burnstone 1♥ Pass 2♦ Pass 2NT Pass (?)

What do you bid? (Answer tomorrow.) (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Shall—Will Should—Would

This week's Slip of the Tongue: "We will be glad to see you." No. With I and we, use shall to express willingness or probability. Better say: "We shall be glad to see you."

Wrong: "I will expect you sometime Friday." Right: "I shall expect you sometime Friday."

Wrong: "We would thank you for a prompt answer." Right: "We should thank you for a prompt answer."

Wrong: "I would be glad to hear from you." Right: "I should be glad to hear from you."

Shall-will, should-would are formidable from a grammatical standpoint, as a glance at any textbook will attest. But my free pamphlet gives you such a simple, non-technical key to the trouble with auxiliaries that they should bother you no longer. UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

By Ramon Coffman

Birds have bones of light weight. There are many small holes, or "air pockets," in the bones, and these do much to explain the lightness of the bones.

Some of the bones in mammals, or furry animals, are hollow, but mammal bones are heavier than those of birds—cubic inch for cubic inch.

There are mammals with small bones which weigh very little, and the mouse is such a mammal. A mouse's bones weigh even less than those of a robin, but a robin is several times as large as a mouse. Size for size, we can say that the bones of birds are much lighter than those of mammals.

There is a good reason for a bird's bones to be light. Almost all kinds of these feathered animals can fly. It is important that they should not carry too much weight through the air.

Several kinds of mammals have little or no hair on their hides. An elephant has so few hairs that it is hard to see them. A whale is a mammal, but how many hairs can you find on its back? Full-grown birds, on the other hand, always have feathers. Even Atlanta: What is meant by a "mixed metaphor"—H. T. H.

Answer: A metaphor is a figure of speech that suggests a likeness between two things or conditions. It is said to be the boldest and most frequent figure in rhetoric.

A metaphor that is "mixed" makes a ridiculous or illogical comparison, as does this amusing example taken from the writings of a New York columnist: "Sooner or later he puts salt on the wound, if only to keep the ball rolling!" (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Birds have some "bare patches" on the skin. The bare places are covered with feathers which spread over them, but they can be found when a bird is studied closely. Feathers play a big part in giving a bird the power to fly. They are of light weight and can be spread to "catch" the air. Just imagine what would happen if a bird without its wing feathers tried to fly!

Birds, on the average, have more and brighter colors than furry animals. The forests and jungles of the torrid zone are noted for their many-colored birds. Almost always, the males in a bird family have brighter colors than the females.

One kind of bird, the plantain eater of Africa, has red feathers which become black after being washed in a rain. After the feathers dry, the red color comes back. (For Nature section of your scrapbook.)

Greater Opportunity In War Service Assured Negroes

Roosevelt Letter to Church Group Head Notes Progress

Greater training and work opportunities for Negroes both in war industries and in the armed services will be available, President Roosevelt has notified an influential Negro group protesting racial discrimination.

In a letter to Dr. W. H. Jernagin, 1341 Third street N.W., president of the Executive Committee, Fraternal Council of Negro Churches in America, President Roosevelt said he welcomed suggestions for "the fullest mobilization of the human and material resources of all the people of our country for bringing the war to an early and successful conclusion."

tee on Fair Employment Practice established by executive order and headed by Dr. Malcolm S. McLean, has had numerous meetings and discussions with important policy determining officers of the Federal Government with a view to eliminating discrimination in the service. The committee at three public hearings in key cities also notified war contractors to eliminate evidence of employment discrimination, the President stated.

"There has been considerable progress in opening training and work opportunities for Negroes in war industries," President Roosevelt wrote. "I look for an acceleration of this improvement as the demand for labor in our war industries increases and as the Committee on Fair Employment Practice develops its means for meeting specific situations."

"At my direction, the armed services have taken numerous steps to open opportunities for Negroes in the armed forces of our country and they are giving active consideration to other plans which will increase that participation."

The President's letter was in reply to resolutions adopted by the church council on February 18.

The time has come, the Walrus said, to buy some Defense bonds.

Family Sells Out to Go To Mennonite Mecca

By the Associated Press. LANCASTER, Pa., April 2.—Elmer Martin's household goods were sold at auction today as the Mennonite farmer and his family prepared to leave for Paraguay in search of more personal freedom. Nearly everything the Martin's owned—including overcoats which won't be needed in Paraguay's warm climate—were put on the block. Mr. Martin, 52, his wife and eight children plan to sail for the South American religious colony as soon as arrangements can be made with the State Department.

Other "plain people" of this area expect to follow the Martins to the Mennonite mecca where they feel government regulations—among them conscription and compulsory school attendance—are not as binding as in this country.

6 Nazi Planes Downed In Attacks on Malta

By the Associated Press. VALLETTA, Malta, April 2.—Six German planes were shot down, at least three damaged and a number of others probably damaged during heavy sustained attacks on this British Mediterranean island base yesterday. The R. A. F., without loss, shot down three planes and anti-aircraft batteries bagged the others. A communique last night said: "There have been eight alerts during the last 24 hours, some of several hours' duration. With improvement in the weather the Luftwaffe has returned to mass attacks with bomber formations strongly protected by fighters, notwithstanding which our Hurricanes and Spitfires continuously attacked the enemy bombers. There were some civilian casualties and property damage."
