U. S. Submarine Hits Undersea Craft of Enemy

By the Associated Press.

Corregidor was bombarded heavily today by Japanese guns of 240-millimeter caliber—about 9-inch—the War Department said in a communique late today, adding that "some casualties and some damage resulted."

The big guns picked up where Japanese dive bombers left off, it having been reported earlier that the island fortress was being subjected to steady thrusts from the air. The late communique said the hostile air attacks had decreased.

At the same time, the Navy Department told of a clash between an American and a Japanese submarine, in which the enemy craft was surprised in the Western Pacific and damaged by torpedo fire. The American undersea boat was commanded by Lt. Comdr. Elton W. Grenfell, Radburn, N. J., who was one of four submarine commanders awarded the Navy Cross today. Before attacking the Japanese submarine, Comdr. Grenfell's craft sank a 5,000-ton enemy vessel.

The War Department communique added that on the island of Panay, in the Central Philippines, enemy troops made further landings on the southwest coast near San Jose, but in the northern part of the island near Lambanao the enemy was halted temporarily in sharp counterattacks by the American Filipino defenders.

The War Department confirmed the shelling of the coastline of Curacao, in the Netherlands West Indies, by an enemy submarine yesterday. The communique said that a quickly extinguished brush fire was started but no damage was inflicted and the submarine disappeared after shore batteries opened fire.

House Group Increases Defense Highway Fund

By the Associated Press.

Representative Mott, Republican, of Oregon, announced today that the House Roads Committee had approved a bill to increase funds for access roads needed by war industries from $150,000,000 to $250,000,000.

The measure amends the highway defense bill and Mr. Mott said provided funds for those roads certified as immediately necessary by the War and Navy Departments.

Two Germans Recaptured

By GOULD LINCOLN, Star Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Strenuous efforts were under way late today in the Resolutions Committee of the Republican National Committee to work out a compromise resolution on the war and the course to be followed by the United States after it ends.

The forces supporting Wendell L. Willkie and his resolution declaring for international co-operation after the close of the war to maintain peace—which has been interpreted by Mr. Willkie, himself, as a "repudiation" of the policy of isolationism—were demanding that the language prepared by Mr. Willkie dealing with this phase be carried in the resolution ultimately reported to the national committee.

Supporters of the position taken by Senators Taft of Ohio and Brooks of Illinois, who favor strong declaration for the all-out prosecution of the war, but who are against committing the country and the Republican party to international co-operation, in so many words, at this time, were opposing that section of the resolution.

Nats Trim Red Sox, 10-4, in First Game Of Double-Header

Case, Repass Homer In 15-Hit Attack; Wilson Yields Five

By BURTON HAWKINS, Star Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, April 20.—Burly Jack Wilson, former Red Sox right-hander, checked his former mates with five hits here today as the Nats blasted Joe Dobson and Mike Ryba for 15 hits to defeat Boston, 10 to 4, in the first game of a double-header.

George Case and Bob Repass each delivered their first home runs of the season, Case connecting off Dobson leading off in the fifth inning and Repass hammered his in the ninth with Bobby Estalella on base.

Boston scored three runs in the third inning when Estalella threw wild past First Baseman Mickey Vernon into right field at a time when the bases were loaded. The Red Sox got their other run in the fourth to take a 4-1 lead when Bill Conroy homered with none on.

Washington whittled that margin to 4-3 in the fifth and grasped a 6-4 lead in the sixth on doubles by Estalella and Repass, a walk to Jose Gomez and Stan Spence's single. Wilson singled with the bases loaded in the seventh to score two more Washington runs.

The first game was delayed more than an hour because of rain and the nightcap did not get under way until 5:30 o'clock.

Vichy-Nazi Tie Is Key to Peace, Laval Asserts

Declaration of War Against Germany Was 'Crime,' Nation Told

By the Associated Press.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, April 20.—Pierre Laval, new pro-Axis chief of the French government, told the French people emphatically today that the 1939 declaration of war against Germany was a "crime" and that they had their choice now between rapprochement with Germany or "seeing our civilization disappear."

(Listeners in London reported Laval also said in his radio address that Britain "after letting us down in the fight now is treating us as an enemy." Vichy dispatches did not include this passage.)

Referring to the Montoire meeting which he arranged between Adolf Hitler and the French chief of state, Marshal Petain, Laval declared:

"Since Montoire, since October, 1940, the war has been extended to all continents and has taken on new significance. To the reasons which determined us to seek a policy of accord and reconciliation with Germany there have been added other reasons which are even more compelling."

Assails Bolshevism.

Addressing the French nation by radio, he said:

The gigantic battles which Germany is waging against Bolshevism have not only extended the war, but have revealed its meaning.

"Do you believe the Soviets, if they were winners, would halt at our frontier?

"Would you agree that, with consent given by England, they would impose upon us a regime which will involve mechanization of the workers and annihilation of the elite?

"Thus we have put before us this alternative: Either integrate ourselves—with our honor and our vital interests respected—in the new Europe which will rise tomorrow from the great epic which unfolds before our eyes, or resign ourselves to seeing our civilization disappear."

(As recorded in London, Laval said, "My thoughts go especially to those among you who have suffered from attacks of a former ally, all the more fierce against

Senate Delays Labor Action to Hear Roosevelt

By the Associated Press.

Informed that President Roosevelt intends to outline general national policies for controlling the cost of living in a message to Congress and a subsequent radio talk Monday night, the Senate today postponed until April 28 consideration of restrictive labor legislation.

Senator Connally, Democrat, of Texas obtained unanimous consent for the delay after telling his colleagues that President Roosevelt personally had requested him not to press a motion to take up a bill authorizing the Government to take over strikebound war plants.

"The President has authorized me to say that he made this request and that he expects to send a message to the Congress relating to the establishment of a general national policy regarding the cost of living and all factors relating thereto, including labor," Senator Connally said.

Message Will Generalize.

The President's message is expected to deal in general terms with methods of controlling the rising cost of living. Some Congress members said they doubted that specific legislative proposals would be advanced at this time, however.

Under the agreement reached by the Senate, Senator Connally would be privileged to call up on April 28 a motion to take up his bill, to which advocates of restrictive legislation have said they intended to offer amendments suspending the 40-hour week, freezing open and closed shops and limiting union initiation fees.

Before the agreement was reached Senator Austin, Republican, of Vermont asked Senator Connally if he had considered the possible effect on the conduct of the war, declaring that "Congress is entitled to know why, after weeks of delay which seemed to some of us to be unnecessary, we are now asked to slow down in this important effort."

Senator Connally replied that he had not changed his attitude toward the need for legislation, but that the President felt he might make a contribution to the war effort rather than delay it by giving a report on the whole subject before Congress acted.

Connally Cites Veto Possibility.

If Congress were to rush a measure through despite the President's request, Senator Connally said, it might be vetoed.

Hospital Treatment For Civilian Defense Workers Is Asked

Randolph Bill Seeks $100,000 for Injured Volunteers Here

Free hospitalization and medical services for District volunteer civilian defense workers injured in line of duty would be provided under a bill introduced today by Chairman Randolph of the House District Committee. He asked that $100,000 be earmarked for such purpose.

In requesting congressional sanction for the District Commissioners' assumption of legal responsibility for injured O. C. D. workers, Mr. Randolph's bill does not include compensation for those injured, nor does it make provision for deaths to volunteer workers growing out of bombing raids or other war exigencies. Death claims would have to be a matter of special legislation, it was indicated by Corporation Counsel Richmond B. Keech, who drew the bill at Mr. Randolph's request.

Right to Requisition.

The Randolph bill also gives the Commissioners authority to requisition any private property for defense purposes and make reasonable compensation for use of same. The bill also empowers the District to accept funds and gifts from the United States Government, such as gas masks, helmets and other defense equipment.

The bill is a new blackout measure, permitting the Commissioners to borrow an additional $600,000 from the United States, making a total of 1,600,000. Of the additional $600,000, the sum of $100,000 would be set aside to pay for injuries growing out of defense activities. It would permit the Commissioners to utilize the personnel and facilities of the local government in ren-

Two Firms Accused Of Pacts Restricting Plane Glass Output

Philadelphia Company Named With Du Pont By Justice Official

By the Associated Press.

A Justice Department official today accused two American firms of participating with German and English firms in an international cartel which, he said, had resulted in rigid restrictions on production of a plastic glass widely used in military aircraft.

Walter R. Hutchinson, special assistant to the Attorney General, named the companies at a Senate Patent Committee hearing as Rohm & Haas Co., Inc., of Philadelphia; Rohm & Haas, A. G., of Darstadt, Germany; I. G. Farbenindustrie of Germany, Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of London, and E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc.

These firms, he testified, made inter-related agreements prior to the war covering methyl-methacrylate, a glass substitute used for cockpit inclosures; transparent bomber noses, gun turrets, landing light covers and windshields on military aircraft.

Series of Agreements.

"Through a series of bipartite agreements executed at different times," Mr. Hutchinson said, "there was constructed an international cartel covering products of the acrylic field, the principal thread running through these agreements being the conspiracy pertaining to cast sheets of methyl methacrylate.

"The investigation (by the Justice Department) developed the fact that though some of the conspirators never had direct dealings with one another, an over-all division of territories was worked out, whereby Philadelphia (Rohm and Haas) kept out of the world markets and Du Pont remained out of the British empire except when given permis-

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—An Axis peace offensive is due to be launched this summer, Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, told more than 600 publishers and editors at the annual luncheon of Associated Press members today.

Mr. MacLeish, who is also librarian of Congress, emphasized that one of the principal weapons vital to the defeat of this forthcoming offensive of the Axis was the one that journalists were trained to use—ideas and words.

"You have realized for a long time and for a longer time than most of us—that an Axis 'peace' offensive is in the cards for next summer," he told the editors.

"A 'peace offensive' is an offensive in political warfare, and political warfare is warfare fought with the weapons journalists and publishers are trained to use—the weapons of ideas and words. It can be met and turned only by employment—by the most skillful and effective employment—of these same weapons. And it is the press, in a country which puts its reliance on a free and independent press, which has that skill and can employ it."

Mr. MacLeish asked the editors to warn the public against this new offensive of "devices of psychological attack" as compared to attacks by dive-bomber and other such mechanical onslaughts.

"Bombers flying at impossible speeds and unattainable heights are accepted without question and observed without astonishment," he said. "But the devices of psycholog-

Action Follows Charge Against Management

President's Order Kept Secret Until Factories Are Taken

By BLAIR BOLLES.

The Navy, at President Roosevelt's direction, this afternoon took possession of the three plants of the Brewster Aeronautical Corp. at Long Island City, N. Y.; Newark, N. J., and Johnsville, Pa., because of "dissatisfaction with the management," and prepared to operate them until the President "determines the plants * * * will be privately operated in a manner consistent with the war effort."

The Navy took possession of the plants at 2:22 p.m., the White House announced. The company has large contracts for training planes. The Navy Department said they also turned out combat types.

Navy Issues Statement.

The Navy later issued an announcement asserting that the "existing private control" of the corporation "has not proved adequate, under the circumstances confronting it," to effectively operate the plants and assure essential deliveries. Brewster planes are used by the British as well as the American Air Force.

The action followed by a few days a complaint presented to the President by R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, that there was a slowdown situation at these plants and that the management was made up for the most part of aliens.

Mr. Thomas told reporters at the White House Thursday that he was asking the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Navy Department to investigate the situation at the Brewster factories.

Order Secret Two Days.

Mr. Roosevelt directed the step pursuant to his powers as President and as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, in an executive order dated April 18, two days ago. The order was kept a secret until the moment when the Navy took possession of the plants.

The President previously has ordered the same steps taken with regard to four industrial organizations—the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad; the Federal Shipbuilding & Drydock Corp., the North American Aircraft Co. and the Air Associates. These organizations were taken over because of labor troubles.

"It is deemed essential," the order said of the Brewster factories, "that such plants be taken over for use or operation by the United States of America in order that they be effectively operated."

The first paragraph of the order said:

"Brewster Aeronautical Corp. has entered into contracts for the construction and manufacture of essential war materials and such war materials have been in the course of manufacture at the plants of said company."

Officials here said that the Brewster Corp. has been falling far behind in deliveries of planes to the Government.

No Labor Problem Involved.

Capt. George C. Westervelt, U. S. N., retired, assumed control of the plants when the Navy took over.

Government officials here emphasized that there was no labor problem involved in the Government's assumption of control.

The executive order directed the Secretary of the Navy to employ "a competent civilian adviser on industrial relations" for Brewster and it was said that Capt. Westervelt would pick this man.

The executive order added:

"The Secretary of the Navy shall employ such employes, including a competent civilian advisor on industrial relations, as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this order, and, in furtherance of the purposes of this order, the Secretary of the Navy may exercise any existing

Forty-Foot Fall From Tank To Sidewalk Kills Worker

A 20-year-old workman was killed instantly today in a headlong plunge to the sidewalk from the top of a 40-foot tank at the McMillan Reservoir, First and Douglas streets N.W.

The youth, William Kendrick of 4421 Ord street N.E., was engaged in filling the tank with lime—used to filter drinking water. Witnesses told police the worker was standing on top of the tower when a guy rope, with which the lime was being lifted from the ground on a jib lift, snapped, knocking him from his perch. Police were told the youth's fall was momentarily checked when he clutched desperately at a ladder, but another lurch of the rope hurled him to his death.

3 U. S. Carriers Launched Attack, Bombers Flew to China, Japs Say; Allies Smash 40 Planes at Rabaul

One Ship Downed, Crew of 5 Taken, Tokio Claims

By the Associated Press.

Japan broadcast today a new version of Saturday's bombing raids on Tokio and three other great cities, implying that the assault was launched from three United States aircraft carriers in the Pacific and that some of the planes raced on to safety in China after loosing their bombs.

The Japanese radio said one American bomber was forced down and its crew of five captured.

Tokio imperial headquarters issued this announcement:

"A hostile navy unit centering around three aircraft carriers appeared April 18 at a distant point off the eastern coast of Japan proper, but fearing Japanese counterattack, fled without approaching Japanese shores.

"On the same day approximately 10 enemy aircraft of the North American B-25 type appeared over Tokio and other areas, flying singly or in pairs.

"Hostile planes which managed to escape being downed appear to have escaped to China.

Dependent on Axis Accounts.

The world still was dependent on Japanese accounts or other Axis versions originating in Japan for news of what occurred Saturday, when the Japanese declared that planes bearing the insignia of the United States air force bombed Tokio, the capital; Yokohama and Kobe, the two chief ports, and Nagoya, Japan's third city and center of aircraft production.

There was no word of such a raid from Washington and if the raids were launched from a task force such as the Tokio announcement describes, it may be 10 days or longer before the American version is published. Washington's policy is to permit all units to return to their bases before publishing results.

The Tokio War Office announced a personnel shift which, however, appeared to have no connection with the reported American raids.

Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, chief of the Military Affairs Bureau of the War Office for the last four years, was ordered to a new post somewhere in the Southwest Pacific war zone and was replaced by Maj. Gen. Kenryo Sato, one of his subordinates.

The Military Affairs Bureau has control of army administration and its head has no direct responsibility for operations or defensive dispositions.

Planes Reported Safe.

As if to support the Tokio thesis of a carrier-based attack with the raiders continuing on to China, a Reuteurs dispatch from Chungking said the United States planes which struck home at Japan had arrived safely at their destination. Quoting "well-informed quarters" in the Chinese provisional capital, the dispatch gave no details as to this destination. Chungking had reported earlier that the attack was not launched from Chinese soil.

The North American Aviation Incorporated's B-25 is a twin-engine medium bomber with a top speed of more than 300 miles an hour and a cruising range of 2,650 miles.

However, either the Japanese identification of the raiding planes or the implication that they were carrier-launched seemed in error.

The B-25, an Army plane, is too heavy for carrier use. Navy carrier-borne bombers are single-engine planes which are lighter and can take off from a shorter runway than the B-25 would require.

Chekiang Airfields Bombed.

Either the B-25 or new longer range Navy single-engine bombers would have sufficient range, however, to strike from several hundred miles east of Japan and still be able to speed on 1,400 miles southwest of Tokio to the Lishui section of Southeast Chekiang Province. The Japanese, in announcing recent air raids on that part of Chekiang, said their targets were air fields they believed were being prepared for use against Japan by American-made planes.

In London, the possbiility that the American bombers raided Japan from advance bases in the Aleutian Islands and then flew on to China continued to be discussed widely. This would require a range of about 4,000 miles.

British experts said that if carriers were used and the planes continued on to China Japanese pursuit planes would be unable to trail them back to their carrier and the ship would have a better chance of escape.

The Italian press offered its own version of the raid: The newspaper La Gazzetta del Popolo of Turin expressed belief that the raiders started from bases in Soviet Russia secretly ceded to the United States.

Italians Report Loss Of New Submarine

By the Associated Press.

ROME (from Italian broadcasts), April 20.—The Italian high command announced today that the submarine Michele Bianchi "has failed to return to its base."

The Michele Bianchi, one of Italy's new Marconi class of medium sized submersibles, displaced 1,036 tons. She mounted eight 21-inch torpedo tubes and was capable of 18 knots. She was launched December 3, 1939.

Jap Dive Bombers Open Attacks On Corregidor, Staging 5 Raids

Intense Artillery Assault Also Started; Defenders Silence at Least Three Batteries

By the Associated Press.

Opening of an intense Japanese effort to batter the Philippine island fortress of Corregidor into helplessness by bombs and siege guns was reported today by the War Department.

From new positions on the Bataan peninsula and from the south shore of Manila Bay the Japs began an intense artillery bombardment yesterday, and for the first time since the fall of Bataan dive bombing raids were made on Corregidor.

Defending gunners replied effectively to the new attack, silencing at least three batteries, a communique reported, and breaking up three motor truck and troop concentrations on Bataan.

Five Raids Are Made.

Five dive-bombing raids were made on Corregidor and in addition Japanese light bombers attacked Corregidor and Fort Hughes several times from high altitudes.

One bomber was hit by anti-aircraft fire, the War Department reported.

Meanwhile, near Zamboanga, on the Island of Mindanao, more than 500 miles to the south, an American-Filipino patrol ambushed two bus loads of Japanese troops and inflicted numerous casualties.

The three enemy batteries silenced by the fort's guns were in addition, officials said, to at least four and possibly five which it was announced yesterday had been put out of action in the last few days.

Kept at High Level.

Bombing attacks on the besieged island forts have been confined thus far to high-altitude level bombing, officials noted, earlier communiques having said that anti-aircraft fire has kept Jap bombers at "extemely high altitudes."

The dive-bombers operated on the Bataan Peninsula before defenses there were overcome and were par-

M'Arthur Confers With Curtin on Offensive Plans

By the Associated Press.

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Australia, April 20.—Allied airmen, racing through tropical rainstorms in one of their attacks, were reported today to have destroyed 40 Japanese bombing and fighting planes on the ground in two raids on Rabaul.

While these continuing attacks indicated American and Australian determination to press the Japanese in their outer rim bases and perhaps force them to relax their grip, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's new high command in the Southwest Pacific began a swift mapping of plans to carry out instructions to prepare an offensive.

As an initial step, Prime Minister John Curtin met with Gen. MacArthur and other Allied service chiefs in a conference on a "highly confidential" subject.

Airdrome Runways Wrecked.

The attacks on Rabaul in New Britain were made Saturday and yesterday. Thousands of pounds of high explosive were said to have been dropped on Lakunai airdrome Saturday, wrecking runways, blasting to pieces at least four navy Zero fighters with direct hits and wrecking many others with flying steel.

(The London radio last night quoted the Australian broadcasting commission's correspondent with the Allied forces as saying "it is believed in Australia that the Allied air offensive may soon force the enemy to abandon his air bases at Lae and Salamaua in New Guinea.")

Moored flying boats were set on fire by another wave of raiders, while in a heavy attack yesterday at least one Japanese ship in Rabaul harbor was reported damaged by bomb blasts.

The pilots at Lakunai swooped out of low clouds, fought their way through heavy anti-aircraft barrage and turned loose their bombs and machine guns. The operation was described as highly successful.

Blamey at Conference.

Attending the conference between Gen. MacArthur and Mr. Curtin were Gen. Sir Thomas H. Blamey, Australian, commander of Allied land forces, and Maj. Gen. Richard Sutherland, American, who is expected to be Gen. MacArthur's chief of staff.

Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford said it was "cheering news that numbers of the latest American aircraft will be added to the powers of attack" of the R. A. A. F.

"Australia's hitting power in the air is growing steadily heavier," he added.

Mr. Curtin, who said his government had joined with the United States, Great Britain, New Zealand and the Netherlands in granting Gen. MacArthur a charter as supreme commander in this vital war theater, attended the conference in his new role as defense minister.

Informed quarters said the defense portfolio had been created by the Australian war cabinet to eliminate red tape and provide a channel through which the Allied command could swiftly advise the government of its needs.

During the conference, they said Mr. Curtin reaffirmed in more personal terms assurances of his government's good will and support which he formally conveyed to Gen. MacArthur from Canberra yesterday.

The prime minister himself hailed the agreement formalizing Gen. MacArthur's appointment as "a momentous occasion."

Reports from Rabaul said Australian prisoners were being employed as dock workers but that their morale was high.

The Japanese were said to be suffering from an acute shortage of food, owing to the sinking of supply ships.

There are signs, however, that the Japanese are increasing their fighter strength and endeavoring to evolve new tactics to minimize in-

R. A. F. Makes Sweep of 200 Miles Along Western Coast

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—British tanks and Chinese infantry have joined in a combined counteroffensive and recaptured Yenangyaung in the Burma oil fields from the Japanese, Chinese and British informants said today.

An R. A. F. communique from New Delhi announced an R. A. F. sweep of 200 miles along the Arakan (West Burma) coast in which the airfield at Bassein on the Irrawaddy Delta was smashed up, motor launches attacked, barges damaged at Gwa Bay, on the coast 50 miles north of Bassein, a schooner attacked at Sandoway, 75 miles north of Gwa, and another schooner machine-gunned at Andrew Bay.

Paced by tanks, the Chinese infantry was said to have made a headlong attack on the Japanese along the Irrawaddy, signaling the start of a limited counter-offensive to end the most serious threat of the Japanese drive.

Fierce Two-Day Battle.

A Chungking communique said the Chinese had recaptured Yenangyaung after a fierce two-day battle and relieved an encircled British force of several thousand men.

British sources, telling of the attack, said they doubted that any considerable British force had been trapped in the area as the oil fields in the area to the south have been destroyed and it was considered doubtful if a large force was any longer there.

The Chinese headquarters at Chungking said the troops who won back Yenangyaung attacked from Kyaukpadaung, 30 miles to the northeast.

Japanese casualties in the ensuing fight were more than 500, the communique reported. Chinese losses were placed at more than 100.

Five Jap Flying Boats Attacked by British

NEW DELHI, India, April 20 (AP).—Chinese troops have joined forces with British imperials fighting a strong rear-guard action against heavy Japanese attacks in Burma 200 miles north of Rangoon, while British airmen have bombed five big Japanese flying boats at Port Blair in the Andaman Islands, communiques announced yesterday.

British land and air bulletins emphasized co-operation between the two services on the Irrawaddy front where R. A. F. bombers blasted Japanese concentrations in the forward areas.

Two four-engined Japanese flying boats were declared destroyed Saturday in the Port Blair raid and three others were severely damaged.

Russians' Heavy Guns Are Reported Within Range of Smolensk

New Attacks Launched South of Leningrad And on Svir River

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—Soviet long-range artillery was reported today to be drawn up within range of Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow.

Furious new Russian attacks were reported launched along the Volkhov River front south of Leningrad and against the Finns on the Svir River, between Lakes Ladoga and Onega.

The Germans were reported throwing all the available might of their air force into support of counterattacks to prevent the Red Army from gaining a solid foothold west of the Volkhov before the ice melts and the stream becomes a great barrier protecting the flank and rear of the German siege forces before the old czarist capital.

The Russians claimed to have advanced two miles against the Finns at one point after battering down new defense works.

The Russians and Germans both were silent about the precise situation in the Smolensk region, but Reuters dispatches said Gen. Gregory Zhukov's troops were advancing from the northeast and were within 18 miles of the city.

The reports possibly referred to that section in which the Berlin radio said a reinforced Russian division had managed to penetrate between two German advanced points. The Germans claimed the line was "straightened out later" despite difficulties of fighting in mud.

"The Red Army appeared to have little time remaining to take full advantage of ice crossings on the northern front. Kuibyshev dis-

Fire Destroys Bomber In Warmup at Field

By the Associated Press.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 20.—Fire today destroyed a medium bomber as it was being warmed up for a "routine operation," but none of its crew was injured.

Lt. Harry Kelliher, Mitchel Field public relations officer, said the plane's right motor burst into flames at 5:20 a.m. and spread over the entire ship, causing two "moderate" explosions.

The officer said the bomber was fully loaded with gasoline, which exploded as the fire reached the tanks.

"There was no evidence of sabotage," Lt. Kelliher said, "nor anything to indicate it was other than a natural accident."

The ship, he added, was well out on the take-off line and not near any other aircraft.

Quisling Tells Teachers To Yield or Lose Jobs

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—Maj. Vidkun Quisling, premier of the Nazi puppet government of Norway, has issued an ultimatum to school teachers in the German-occupied country to join his National Party Teachers' Association by May 1 or lose their jobs, Reuters reported today, quoting the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet.

The Swedish press assumed that the effect of the order may be a virtual suspension of education in Norway.

Nazis Hold War Games In Mountains of Norway

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—The Germans held extensive army maneuvers in the mountains of Norway last Thursday and Friday for the first time, according to a report which Reuters quoted from the Stockholm newspaper, Social Demokraten.

Heavy batteries, it said, were set up and fired in the mountains and some areas were barred to the public.

1,000 to Be Moved to New York By Veterans' Administration

The Veterans' Administration plans to transfer to New York City, beginning June 1, about 1,000 employes of its Premium Accounts and Collections Division, it was announced today from both the Budget Bureau and the Veterans' Administration.

Most of the employes in this division are recent appointees, officials explained, but the supervisory heads of the work are those who have been with the Government for many years.

Notices were presented to employes at their offices this morning. The transfer will present officials with a "difficult personnel problem," it was admitted. All details have not yet been worked out.

"We will be as sympathetic as possible, in regard to readjustments and reassignments," one official said, "but when the job is transferred, the person holding the job is supposed to be transferred, too. The fact that many of these workers are recent appointees, and may not be so firmly established in Washington as old-timers with families and property should make the transfer problem easier."

Most of the workers to be shifted are doing accounting work on the new National Service Life Insurance, established for men now in military service. This work is expanding and will require more employes, officials explained. Because of this it is expected that later on many additional employes, perhaps 1,500 to 2,000, may have to be sent to New York.

Party Collaborationist Is Target of Bomb Thrown in Theater

By the Associated Press.

VICHY, April 20.—The French Popular party announced today that an attempt had been made last night to assassinate Jacques Doriot, its collaborationist leader, during a speaking engagement at the Municipal Theater of Rennes, in Brittany.

A bomb hurled from the balcony of the theater landed in front of the stage while Doriot was finishing his lecture. A woman picked it up and tossed it into the orchestra pit, where it exploded without injuring anyone.

The party statement said the bomb-thrower had not been identified.

Cabinet Meeting Called.

Meanwhile, Pierre Laval, new chief of the Vichy government, called the first formal meeting of his ministers today to take up the mandate handed them by Marshal Petain amid a crisis which Marshal Petain compared with that of France's defeat in June, 1940.

In a few sentences broadcast to the French people yesterday, the aged marshal stated the duties which he, as chief of state, had delegated to the new chief of the government and exhorted them to stand behind Laval's regime "with a single heart."

Now that his organization has been completed, Laval, too, is expected to broadcast a message to the nation today. (The broadcast is scheduled for 2 p.m. Eastern war time).

Delegates Authority.

Marshal Petain placed French civil authority in Laval's hands and French military authority in those of Admiral Jean Darlan with these words:

"Admiral Darlan, who remains my designated successor, will assume the defense of our territory and our empire.

"Pierre Laval will exercise under my authority direction of internal

Roosevelt Will Send Congress Anti-Inflation Views in Week

Fireside Chat on Topic Also Planned; Conference Held on Connally Labor Bill

By the Associated Press.

Congressional leaders announced today that President Roosevelt would send a message to Congress in a week or 10 days setting forth his views on necessary anti-inflation measures.

House Majority Leader McCormack said this message probably would be followed shortly by a fireside radio address on the same subject.

Although he avoided use of the word "inflation," to which the President has expressed objection, Mr. McCormack said the message to Congress would deal with "the cost of living during the war" and with "the factors that enter into it."

Wages would be included as one of those factors, he said, along with such other things, probably, as taxes, profits, and savings.

While the Chief Executive's message is expected to be more in the nature of an outline of administration policy than a definite request for specific legislation, Mr. McCormack would not go into details on it.

The program, it was understood, has not been drafted in its final form.

The message and radio address which is expected shortly afterward probably will present results of weeks of study by administration officials who are confronted with the grave problem of spiraling prices and expanding purchasing power.

Martin Refers Three Resolutions to Special Committee at Chicago

By GOULD LINCOLN,
Star Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 20.—The Republican National Committee met here today to formulate its plans for the coming congressional and State elections.

Overshadowing these plans for the moment, however, is an attempt by Wendell L. Willkie, the party's presidential candidate in 1940, and those who follow him, to commit the committee and the party to a final and definite rejection of the principle of isolationism after the war.

Mr. Willkie, who is in New York, was seriously considering the question of coming to Chicago to press this fight. In the meantime, Sinclair Weeks, Republican national committeeman from Massachusetts and committee treasurer, has been acting as manager for the Willkie fight to remove the Republican party from its old isolationist position.

A resolution drafted by Mr. Willkie has been circulated among the members of the committee and given to the press to accomplish this end.

Makes Post-War Pledge.

It not only places the National Committee squarely back of the country's war effort, but it also pledges the committee and the party "to undertake now and in the future whatever just and reasonable international responsibilities may be demanded in a modern world reduced in size and bound together by airplane, by radio, by mass production, by all the close interrelations of invention and industry which we Americans have done so much to create, to the end that our own liberty may be preserved, that free institutions and a free way of life may be supported and encouraged in the rest of the world and that the blighting and destructive process of war may not again be forced upon us and free and peace-loving peoples

New Casings Marked Used to Permit Sale, Grand Jury Alleges

Hiram Ben Hundley, doing business as Ben Hundley, Washington tire dealer, today was indicted by a special District Court grand jury, which charged that he made false and fraudulent reports to the Government concerning the sale of automobile tires and tubes under rationing regulations promulgated by the Office of Price Administration.

The indictment, the first of the kind returned here, alleges that the dealer filed false reports with the District rationing authorities as to the number of new tires and tubes which he had in stock; that he marked new tires with a "false and fraudulent tire inspection mark" to indicate they they were used stock and therefore salable under rationing regulations, and represented that the marks had been placed on the tires by a Government inspector, and that he sold new tires and tubes to The Evening Star Publishing Co., and two taxi concerns, Diamond Service Co. and Premier Purchasing Co., Inc., representing on invoices and other records that the tires were used.

The marking, according to the Government, was to establish that the tires had traveled more than 1,000 miles. Under rationing regulations a tire that has traveled less than 1,000 miles is considered new.

The indictment, which is in 12 counts, was brought under a section of the criminal code covering the making of false statements to the Government. Maximum penalty is a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for 10 years or both.

The Justice Department said this was the fifth indictment in the country as a whole, based on alleged violation of tire rationing regulations which went into effect December 12. The case was handled for the department by Robert L. Wright, a member of the staff of the Antitrust Division, in co-operation with United States Attorney Edward M. Curran and Assistant United States Attorney John L. Laskey.

Unidentified 'Target' Gives West Coast Longest Alert

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—California's central coast region was held in a state of alert for 3 hours and 15 minutes early yesterday by an unidentified target off the coast.

It was the 14th and longest alert of the war for the San Francisco region. There was no blackout.

Previous alerts and blackouts in the bay area have been attributed to unidentified planes, later proved friendly. Army officials, when asked what they meant by an unidentified target, answered: "Use your own idea."

No explanation was given as to whether it was finally identified.

McNutt Favors Group Deferring Of War Labor

Also Seeks to Thwart 'Piracy' of Workers Among Companies

By MIRIAM OTTENBERG.

Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the newly created War Man Power Commission said today he favored a program of "occupational group" deferments from selective service induction to provide necessary war labor, although acknowledging that such a program would conflict with present selective service procedure and would require legislation to effect.

The chairman also declared that a system of labor priorities was "unavoidable" and might be enforced through writing into war-production contracts a clause to forbid "labor piracy."

His broad program for allocating manpower among factories, farms and the armed forces was outlined in a four-page statement released at his first press conference on the job to which President Roosevelt appointed him Saturday.

Estimating that 13,000,000 new recruits would be needed in war plants this year, Mr. McNutt said the program was on a voluntary basis and added, "I hope it can be left that way, but circumstances will have to determine that."

Hopes Law Won't Be Needed.

He said he hoped legislation would not be necessary, but "I don't think anyone can predict about that." As yet he has no legislation in mind.

The vagueness with which he answered most of the questions put to him by reporters—except in the case of selective service—was explained, he said, by the fact that he had just taken over the job and had not yet met with his commission members—scheduled to be appointed by the President early this week.

He made it clear that he would tell selective service whom to defer by groups and in definite regions where labor was needed.

When a reporter pointed out that Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey was opposed to group deferments, he replied with a smile, "After all, it's a question of where the determination of policy will be made."

Local Draft Boards, he said, will still be autonomous, "but if changes are necessary they will be asked."

Law Bans Group Deferments.

Legislation would be required to permit deferment of men by occupational groups because the present Selective Service Act states:

"No deferment from such training and service shall be made in the case of any individual except upon the basis of the status of such individual and no such deferment shall be made of individuals by occupational groups or of groups of individuals in any plant or institution."

Evading the question on job freezing, he responded that an effort will be made to use skills where they will be most productive.

He said he had some "definite thoughts but no plans" on Navy's using selective service for recruiting purposes. The Navy has been charged on various occasions with dipping into the ranks of selectees before their induction.

Non-War Industries Tapped.

In his formal statement he said that most of the 13,000,000 war production workers who will be placed in jobs during the next year will come from those now employed in non-war industries.

At another point he said the Nation will need 10,500,000 additional skilled and lesser skilled workers in war production. At the same time, he said, "at least 2,000,000 additional young men will be drawn

Marshall and Hopkins Report to Roosevelt

President Roosevelt today got a first-hand report from Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Harry L. Hopkins, his principal war supplies adviser, on their trip to England where they held intimate discussions with Allied leaders on future plans for the United Nations' drive against the Axis.

The two men returned yesterday.

With Secretary of State Hull and John G. Winant, Ambassador to Great Britain, the President had Gen. Marshall and Mr. Hopkins as his guests for lunch at the White House. It marked the first time that Mr. Roosevelt had seen the Secretary of State since his return from a long recuperative vacation in Florida. Mr. Hull returned to his desk today.

Mr. Winant, who has been resting at his New Hampshire home, is expected to return to England soon.

The exact purpose of the Marshall-Hopkins trip was a military secret, but just before leaving for the United States, Gen. Marshall told a press conference that "the time for action is near."

Simon's Ailing Back Forces Decision to Retire From Ring

Cancels Five Fights; Wanted to Continue, But 'My Wife Objects'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—An ailing back, which has bothered him off and on for three years, today forced Abe Simon, who twice fought Joe Louis, to retire from the ring.

He announced his decision after Dr. S. Philip Goodheart had given him a thorough examination and advised him to hang up his gloves.

Abe's retirement cancels fights he had scheduled with Harry Bobo in Pittsburgh April 27, Lou Nova in Washington May 21 and Turkey Thompson in Los Angeles in June. He also was to have fought in San Francisco and Oakland, Calif., this summer, his manager, Jimmy Johnston, said.

Simon appeared at Johnston's office this morning, after being absent from his gymnasium training for the last few days, and told his pilot he still wants to fight, "but my wife objects and since the doctor advised me to quit, it's probably best."

The physician explained he would take several X-rays in the next few days to find out just what is wrong with Abe's back.

Simon, whose ring career originally was sponsored by John Hay Whitney, first met Louis March 21, 1941, and, although absorbing considerable punishment, he lasted 13 rounds before the referee stopped the fight. On March 27 this year he met the Bomber again, this time for Army emergency relief, and was stopped in six rounds, although still wanting to continue when it was over. He weighed 254½ for the first fight and 255¼ for the second.

(Picture on Page X-1.)

By the Associated Press.

Secretary of State Hull returned to his desk today after an absence of more than two months and expressed satisfaction over the progress of this country's war effort, "particularly in the production of war supplies for the fighting fronts."

The slogan of the United Nations, Mr. Hull told his first press conference since February 4, must be "to move forward today—not tomorrow."

The text of Mr. Hull's statement follows:

"I have observed wtih keen satisfaction the splendid showing made in the whole war effort of the country during recent months and particularly in the production of war supplies for the fighting fronts.

"The greatly expanded volume of output is far larger than was even hoped for the first of the year. This increased production, placed in the hands of our fighting forces, will both hasten and make certain the utter defeat of our enemies.

"The United Nations, of which we are one, will win this war. Victory will win this war. Victory will come sooner and with a vast saving in suffering, in life, and in property, in proportion as every man and woman in this country and in each of the United Nations realizes the extreme danger from the purposes of the worst barbarian leaders in all history, who plan to conquer and brutally subjugate the world by methods of unparalleled savagery.

"Victory will be hastened by every additional ounce of effort which each one of us puts forth in a situation that is as threatening as if his own house were on fire.

"It will be delayed and will involve an incalculable and unnecessary increase in suffering and in losses with any weakening of such realization and with any lagging in effort and exertion.

"I am confident that our Nation and all those who are with us have only one watch word: To move forward today—not tomorrow.

"With this will to victory, free men the world over will triumph over the forces of barbarism."

Mr. Hull spent two months in the South on orders of his physician.

House Unit Decides On More Hearings On Medical Bill

Move to Forbid Alien Doctors From Practice Is Hit and Upheld

The House District Committee today decided to hold further hearings after witnesses had testified for and against a measure which would bar alien doctors from practice in the District until they had taken out citizenship papers.

The committee decided to invite Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, to appear at the next hearing, after several witnesses referred to a newspaper editorial which quoted Dr. Parran as being opposed to passage of the measure.

Support for the bill today came from medical men in the District. Dr. George C. Ruhland, District health officer, said this city should be entitled to singular protection in the matter of those seeking to practice the healing arts here.

A. M. A. Backs Plan.

Dr. Frederick C. Fishback of the Committee on Public Policy of the District Medical Society testified that the measure had the endorsement of the American Medical Society. The Rev. David V. McCauley, S. J., dean of the Georgetown University School of Medicine, declared there is no need for additional physicians here.

Dr. Charles F. White, surgery professor at George Washington University Medical School, said there is great need for doctors in England and elsewhere in the world and said he hoped these other countries would get them.

On the other hand, Dr. Foster Kennedy, professor of neurological surgery at Cornell University, pointed out that if Congress passed the bill it would be regarded as something of a precedent elsewhere. Many American doctors are being called into the armed services now, he said, and the foreigners could well be used to fill the gaps on the home front.

C. I. O. Leader Hits Plan.

Sidney R. Katz, representing the local C. I. O., called the measure "a disgraceful piece of legislation" which would bar competent doctors because of the "self interest" of men already practicing medicine here.

Harry Peal, secretary of the Committee for Resettlement of Foreigners, said that similar legislation had already been passed in some States and was barring alien doctors in places where there was a crying need for their services.

Likewise opposed to the bill were J. Austin Stone of the Refuge Committee of the Friend's Meeting of Washington, Rev. Francis W. McPeek, representing the Washington Federation of Church and the Committee for Christian Refugees, and Albert Hamilton of the Socialist party.

A. F. L. Counsel Assails Three House Bills as Anti-Labor Measures

(Earlier Story on Page A-4.)

By the Associated Press.

The American Federation of Labor assailed today as "a conglomeration of * * * vicious anti-labor legislation" bills pending before the House Judiciary Committee to subject labor unions to prosecution under the anti-trust laws and the 1934 Anti-Racketeering Act.

Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the A. F. L., voiced his group's opposition to all three bills the committee is considering. Introduced by Representatives Hobbs, Democrat, of Alabama; Monroney, Democrat, of Oklahoma, and Walter, Democrat, of Pennsylvania the three measures generally seek to accomplish the same end.

In prepared statements which he read to the committee, Mr. Padway made no reference to charges made last week by organized farmers that labor was seeking to obtain control over the Nation's food supplies through unionization of farmers and farm workers.

He told the committee some of the legislation sought to "destroy all of the rights that labor has achieved over the years."

"Seldom has a more destructive piece of anti-labor legislation been proposed" than the Walter bill, he added.

The Monroney bill he described as "an obvious attempt" to counteract rulings of the Supreme Court. It coincided, he said, "with views expressed by Thurman Arnold," Assistant Attorney General, "in letters, speeches and arguments."

If enacted, Mr. Padway asserted, the Monroney bill would prevent "outside" labor unions from obtaining recognition even when they represented an overwhelming majority of workers employed in a plant.

Some of its proposed restrictions on labor activities, he claimed, "strike at the very heart of labor."

Labor, he warned, "must resist all attempts to prevent it from seeking to protect the jobs and livelihood of its constituent members."

The Hobbs bill, he asserted, "offers a pervasive and, indeed, actual threat to each and every one of the ordinary peaceful activities of organized labor and would operate to impair, if not actually prevent, all attempts by labor to use the ordinary, peaceful, economic means, such as a strike, in furtherance of trade disputes."

Two Die in Plane Crash In Canal Zone Games

(Another Story on Page A-3.)

By the Associated Press.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, April 20.—Army headquarters announced today that two lieutenants were killed and an enlisted man was injured when their plane crashed in the jungle during maneuvers last week.

The dead were Lts. Willard N. Henderson of Millboro, S. Dak., pilot, and Charles H. Bryant of Des Moines, observer. Pvt. Glenn A. Peterson of Naperville, Ill., is recovering from injuries.

contractural or other rights of said company, or take such steps as may be necessary or desirable.

"Possession and operation hereunder shall be terminated by the President as soon as he determines that the plants of Brewster Aeronautical Corp. will be privately operated in a manner consistent with the war effort."

No Force Used.

The transfer of the plants to Capt. Westervelt, it was learned here, was accomplished without any need for display of force.

Mr. Thomas disclosed he had taken up with the President charges by Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia of slow downs on naval war contracts. He said the Brewster plant at Long Island City was mentioned and that the U. A. W. had asked the F. B. I. for an investigation. He added that he did not know what the results of the investigation were, but that he did know that a "large cross section of the management are aliens."

Senator Byrd announced last week that the Navy had supplied him with a list of eight plants where he quoted department officials as saying slowdowns had occurred.

He said the Brewster plant at Long Island City was included in the list and had been described to him by the Navy as follows:

"This plant is operating at 40 per cent of capacity due to labor leaders' demands for slowdown, and also because of inefficient management. It is reported that in several sections of the plant all of the employes including the foremen, are enemy aliens."

Republicans

porters that unless Mr. Willkie's proposal was reported by the Resolutions Committee they would file a minority report and fight it out on the floor. If that happens, there is likely to be a brisk battle—which many of the Republicans are anxious to avoid, including Chairman Martin.

The claim was made by Taft supporters that if the Willkieites bring in a minority report it would be defeated by approximately 57 to 35. The supporters of the Willkie resolution, on the other hand, insisted they would win in the end.

It was suggested that the Resolutions Committee would write finally a composite resolution for submission to the full committee.

The Resolutions Committee was reported to stand 5 to 2 against Mr. Willkie.

The resolutions Committee of seven memgers was given four resolutions dealing with the war and international relations after the war.

Two of the resolutions were offered by Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia on behalf of Mr. Willkie. One by Alexander Smith of New Jersey, proposed that the Republican Committee pledge the parity to international co-operation after the war ends—putting an end to the isolationist policy of the G. O. P. which existed from the close of the last war until Pearl Harbor. These resolutions also pledge the Republicans to all-out support of the war effort.

Two resolutions were offered by David S. Ingalls of Ohio on behalf of Senator Taft, and one by Werner M. Schroeder of Illinois on behalf of Senator Brooks.

The Resolutions Committee, appointed by National Chairman Martin, is composed of Wallace Townsend, Arkansas; Mr. Hallanan, Mrs. Gladys Knowles, Montana; Mr. Ingalls, Mrs. Pearl Sayre, Oklahoma; Mr. Schroeder and Robert Burrough, New Hampshire.

Martin Praised.

A second resolution, offered by Mr. Schroeder, gave indorsement of the national committee to the administration of the party's affairs by Chairman Martin and praised Mr. Martin.

It was adopted by a rising vote of the whole committee after Mr. Hallanan had proposed that it be not referred to the Resolutions Committee, a course which Mr. Martin declared necessary.

This effectually puts an end to the effort to get Mr. Martin out of the chairmanship, started by the Young Republican Club of New York last year.

Mr. Hallanan said that while Mr. Willkie had chartered a plane to fly to Chicago yesterday, he did not believe that Mr. Willkie would make the trip, believing that he is in better position to get favorable action on his resolution if he remains in New York.

New Members Elected.

Five new members, nominated by their respective State committees, were elected to the national committee. They were:

J. Kenneth Bradley of Bridgeport, Conn.; Henry Leonard of Colorado Springs, Colo.; C. H. McNulty of Melbourne, Fla.; Mrs. Dudley C. Hay of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and George T. Hansen of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Ezra R. Whitla of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, was elected vice chairman of the committee to succeed Samuel Pryor of Connecticut, who resigned. Mrs. Pearl Wates of Birmingham, Ala., was elected to the Executive Committee over Col. R. B. Creager of Texas, to replace Mr. Whitla.

dering relief to injured persons, without cost to O. C. D. workers.

The new blackout bill gives the Commissioners broad and somewhat dictatorial powers. It permits them to make regulations necessary for protection of persons and property without regard to provisions of any other law. It permits them to make such rules as they deem necessary to carry out the authority thus granted. It empowers them to use for these broad purposes any employes of the District government as they may deem necessary.

Pay 50 Per Cent of Value.

The Commissioners are allowed to requisition, enter upon, take possession of, and use any private property and any rights therein for the location, installation, maintenance and operation of defense facilities. When such requisition is made, the Commissioners are authorized to ascertain the value of the property and to pay for such governmental use. They would be permitted to take immediate possession and use of the private property and pay 50 per cent of the estimated value.

A second bill introduced by Chairman Randolph would permit the District to compromise inheritance and estate taxes in cases of conflicting claims of domicile. Mr. Keech explained that "legislation of this character has been enacted in several States and is, in my judgment, a forward step. Non-existence of such statutory authority frequently results in lengthy and costly litigation, and it is not unusual that a descendent is held to be domiciled in two jurisdictions, in which event double taxation necessarily follows."

Labor

tion was anxious for action as quickly as possible, said he saw "obvious justification for waiting for executive recommendations," but proposed that the chamber pass Senator Connally's motion at once and then lay the legislation aside until after the President's recommendations were received.

Senator Connally said he feared this would complicate the parliamentary situation with regard to intervening business.

The Senate Labor Committee, meanwhile, delayed final action on a possible substitute labor bill by Senator Ball, Republican, of Minnesota, which administration leaders had indicated they might accept if Senator Connally's measure were forced to a vote in the Senate.

BEST BET—PETES BET.

FIRST RACE—FOUR LEAF, PAILLE, LADY CASE.

Trainer Burch has a pretty fair filly, FOUR LEAF, for the curtain raiser and, judging from the work-tab, the miss may be hard to trim. PAILLE is much better than the charts would indicate and may be close. LADY CASE, from the Bryson barn, is fit and ready and should be up in time for the show award.

SECOND RACE — CASTINE, MYRTLE M, SWEET ZACA.

Trainer Burch has another good prospect all ready for the second in CASTINE and this might be the "daily double." The Only One gelding was given a very careful prep at Hialeah and appears ready to step to town. MYRTLE M gets a good figure in the field and should be close. SWEET ZACA has early speed.

THIRD RACE—HALF CROWN, SALLYMAR. LIBERTY PATSY.

HALF CROWN, nominated for the Derby, probably will be in his stall when that race is run, but may enter the winner's circle in this sprint for maidens. SALLYMAR, from the Bomar barn, raced well on Saturday and improvement can be expected. LIBERTY PATSY appeared short in recent attempts and may be close.

FOURTH RACE—POMPA NEGRI, FREE DOUBLE, ARTHUR C.

POMPA NEGRI and Gonzales might prove the right combination in this affair. The boys with the watches at Pimlico report this one stepping very fast in the early morning. FREE DOUBLE defeated a good field last out and is very fit. ARTHUR C needed that last and may come up a good thing in the field.

FIFTH RACE—CHALLOMINE, CIS MARION, GONDALINA.

The Brann colorbearer, CHALLOMINE, appears about ready to take a field of this order into camp and we may get a good price. CIS MARION came very fast in the stretch at Bowie to finish second to Cape Cod. The race speaks for itself. The Challenger II filly, GONDALINA'S, last should be thrown out—she was in trouble.

SIXTH RACE—RANGER II, STURDY DUKE, BASILEUS.

The Bedwell entry of RANGER II and Ginoca appear to stand out in this distance event and should have little or no trouble in annexing the purse. They may run one-two. STURDY DUKE won his last in convincing fashion and should be the runner-up. BASILEUS is getting good and could spring a surprise here.

SEVENTH RACE—MICHIGAN SUN, CALATAN, FREE TRADER.

The Michigan Boy colt, MICHIGAN SUN, has been spoofing in some of those recent races and they may hoist the anchor today. The colt has been burning up the track at Laurel and should be a good price. CALATAN defeated a good field the last time out and the top one cannot make any mistake. FREE TRADER is very fit.

EIGHTH RACE—PETES BET, ANONYMOUS, WHEAT.

PETES BET appears to be one of the best bets on the card. The gelding has a good turn of speed and the result should never be in doubt. ANONYMOUS fits in well in the field and qualifies as the main contender. WHEAT was in trouble in that last outing and the race should not be taken too seriously.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

HAVRE DE GRACE, April 20.—Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab, who finished second in the Chesapeake Stakes last Saturday, left today for Churchill Downs, where he will run in the Kentucky Derby May 2.

R. Sterling Clark's Colchis, winner of the Chesapeake, leaves tomorrow for Jamaica, Long Island, where he will compete in the Wood Memorial Saturday afternoon. Because Jockey George Woolfe is remaining here to ride Challedon in the Philadelphia Handicap, Saturday's closing feature, Maurice Peters has been engaged to pilot Colchis in the Wood Memorial. Following this event Colchis will be returned to Pimlico for the Preakness May 9.

Mioland will be top weight at 124 pounds. Challedon has been assigned 122 pounds.

Two Valdina Derby Horses Turn In Good Workouts

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, April 20.—Two of E. F. Woodward's Valdina Farms Kentucky Derby entries, Valdina Orphan and Hollywood, not only pleased Trainer Frank Catrone, but set railbirds talking at their workouts here today.

Valdina Orphan, although flagged down at the mile and pulled into a gallop during the final eighth, did the best 1⅛ miles reported in Kentucky this spring.

The 3-year-old colt did the quarter in 0:25⅕, the half in 0:50⅘, the three-quarters in 1:15⅗, the mile in 1:41⅗, and the 1⅛ miles in 1:55.

The imported Hollywood did the quarter in 0:26, the half in 0:52, the three-quarters in 1:16⅕, the mile in 1:42⅕ and the 1⅛ miles in 1:56.

Patents

sion in special instances, and I. C. I., Darmstadt (Rohm and Haas), and I. G. Farben remained out of the American market."

Mr. Hutchinson said the British government actually paid royalties to German firms after the two countries were at war. This happened, he explained, because of British purchases in the United States, which necessitated use of materials on which German plants held exclusive patents.

Questioned by Senator Lucas, Democrat, of Illinois, Mr. Hutchinson said there was no "documentary evidence" that the British government realized its funds were going to Germany.

Pact Registration Proposed.

While the committee was holding hearings on a bill which would authorize Government seizure of patents needed for the war program, Senator Mead, Democrat, of New York proposed enactment of legislation requiring public registration of cartel agreements between American and German firms with the Justice Department.

Senator Mead said in a statement that testimony before the Senate Defense Investigating Committee had disclosed that cartel agreements artificially restricted the volume of American production in vital war materials.

German companies, on the other hand, he contended, were permitted a free hand outside the American domestic market and consequently had stepped up their production of such materials.

"This not only impaired our ability to carry out the war program," Senator Mead said, "but it also tended to restrict the growth and progress of American industry by maintaining an artificially high price level and low volume of production in fields where progress must be made if the United States is to continue to lead the world as an industrial nation."

Injunctions Asked Against Carnegie-Illinois and Jones & Laughlin

By the Associated Press.

Attorney General Biddle announced today that the Justice Department had filed suit in Federal District Court at Wilmington, Del., and Pittsburgh seeking to enjoin the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. and the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. from violating priorities fixed by the War Production Board.

The suits, involving more than one-third of the total steel production of the Nation, were the first to be instituted under the War Production Board's priorities program.

Injunctions were sought to enjoin the two companies from "accepting, holding, using, producing, manufacturing, distributing, delivering or dealing with or in" iron, steel, or iron and steel alloy products, or filling, accepting or delivering orders for these products "otherwise than in accordance with" W. P. B. orders.

Would Command Compliance.

The suits further would command the two companies to comply with all W. P. B. regulations and orders.

The suits charged that unless the steel companies were "enjoined, their continued failure to comply with such regulations and orders will make impossible effective and orderly administration of the W. P. B. program to the detriment of maximum efficiency in the prosecution of the war."

In asking the Justice Department to seek injunctions against Carnegie-Illinois and Jones & Loughlin, the W. P. B. accused them of "repeated, deliberate violations" of priorities regulations from May, 1941, until the present.

At a press conference March 6, it was recalled, William H. Harrison, W. P. B. production director, disclosed that President Roosevelt's "blueprint-for-victory" shipbuilding program was about 10 vessels behind in February because of "the steel that wasn't available in September, October and November."

Bills of Complaint.

Officials said the most serious violations charged to the two companies occurred during the latter part of 1941. W. P. B. accused them of unauthorized deliveries of steel plate, which is subject to stringent priority control and earmarked exclusively for military use.

"The violations * * * resulted in diversion by the two firms to their private customers of large quantities of critically needed iron and steel at the expense of the needs of the armed forces and the Maritime Commission," W. P. B. charged.

The complaint against Jones & Laughlin, fourth largest steel producer in the country, said the company continually refused to comply with O. P. M. and W. P. B. orders, "in its own and its favored customers' interests, without regard for military necessity or essential civilian requirements."

As late as the first half of March, the W. P. B. charged, 24 per cent of Jones & Laughlin's deliveries were made on orders bearing a priority rating of A-9—next to the lowest military priority rating—or lower, while higher rated orders were deferred.

Company Head "Surprised."

The company's president, H. E. Lewis, said at Pittsburgh he was surprised at the board's statement. Most of the firm's shipments in March and April, he said, represented "the requirements of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission and lease-lend customers."

"Nothing is being left undone by our employes and management," he added, "to do our utmost in the present crisis and we are and have been breaking records repeatedly in our all-out war effort."

Carnegie - Illinois, largest steel producer in the United States, was accused of postponing production on deliveries ordered by O. P. M. and W. P. B. in favor of civilian customers not entitled to preferential treatment. In addition, W. P. B. said the company established production and delivery schedules which gave first preference to certain chosen customers, "without regard for the Government priority ratings assigned to orders for military and essential civilian needs."

Defeat for Policy Feared.

Unless Carnegie-Illinois violations are stopped, W. P. B. declared, "its competitors will feel themselves compelled by economic necessity also to refuse to comply with W. P. B. regulations, and * * * as a result, the declared policy of Congress would be defeated."

J. L. Perry, president of Carnegie-Illinois, categorically denied the charge, saying his company is "complying fully with priority regulations," and had received favorable comments from the board itself.

In a statement made public here, Mr. Perry said the firm has issued a manual to employes "which has attempted to interpret the various and frequently conflicting orders of those charged with issuing priorities.

"To name this company as giving preference to customers of its choice without regard to war needs or preference ratings," he said, "is a statement absolutely without foundation."

Father Couglin Says He Alone Controls Social Justice Policy

Assumes Responsibility For Magazine Contents In Public Statement

By the Associated Press.

ROYAL OAK, Mich., April 20.—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Royal Oak priest, in a public statement today assumed personal responsibility for control of the magazine Social Justice, its policies and its contents. "If Social Justice, as Attorney General Biddle is reported to have declared in his press conference, is 'clearly seditious.'"

Mr. Biddle announced Friday at Washington that a special District of Columbia grand jury would investigate all phases of the publication of Social Justice, a magazine which Father Coughlin founded in 1934, but with which the priest has disavowed any connection since 1940.

The Attorney General's action followed an order from the Postmaster General barring the periodical from the mails for alleged seditious statements.

Parents Named as Owners.

Father Coughlin has stated that Social Justice is owned by his parents, Thomas J. and Amelia Coughlin of Royal Oak. E. Perrin Schwartz is its editor.

The priest's statement assuming responsibility for the magazine's pronouncements was issued in a press conference this morning at the rectory of the Shrine of the Little Flower here.

The statement follows:

"According to press reports, Attorney General Biddle, in an investigation expected to take several months, will place before the Federal grand jury in the District of Columbia evidence the object of which will be 'indictments under what is known as the sedition law of "all those responsible" for the magazine Social Justice.'

"It is not necessary for the Federal grand jury in the District of Columbia to take several months, or even several days, for determining 'all those responsible' for Social Justice.

Controls Policies.

"Time and again I have said, and here repeat, that I am neither the editor, publisher, nor owner of Social Justice magazine. However, I do here and now publicly state, that I, Father Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, alone am responsible for and do control the magazine, its policies and contents. This sole responsibility and control over the policymaking and content of the magazine I have exercised personally and officially by my effective moral and spiritual influence and direction over the editors, publishers and owners of Social Justice.

"If Social Justice, as Attorney General Biddle is reported to have declared in his press conference, is 'clearly seditious,' the responsibility is mine alone.

"This is the information the Attorney General states he desires to obtain through an investigation expected to take several months. I submit it voluntarily."

Plans to Continue.

Along with Father Coughlin's personal statement a page proof of the April 27 issue of Social Justice was distributed to newsmen by one of the priest's office staff. It stated the magazine's intent to continue publication and added:

"If Social Justice Publishing Co. by lawful authority is required to suspend publication or is forbidden to distribute its publication it goes without saying that it will comply. It will observe literally and faithfully the decrees of any lawfully constituted authority.

"Until and unless the publication and distribution of Social Justice are forbidden by lawful authority Social Justice Publishing Co. will, in accordance with its constitutional rights, continue to issue and, within the limited spheres available to it, distribute the publication."

Attorney General Biddle said at Washington Friday that the Government would take all necessary steps to prevent distribution of the magazine outside of the mails, such as by express shipments. Express company officials at Detroit have said they would refuse to accept material which has been barred from the mails.

Communiques

Corregidor Shelled From New Positions

By the Associated Press.

The text of War Department communique No. 200, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a.m. today, follows:

1. The Philippine theater:

On April 19 the enemy opened an intense bombardment of our island forts from new positions in Cavite and Bataan. Corregidor was severely shelled while Forts Hughes and Drum also drew considerable fire.

Our guns returned the fire, silencing at least three enemy batteries and breaking up three truck and troop concentrations in Bataan.

Five dive-bombing raids were made on Corregidor. In addition, enemy light bombers, operating at high altitude, made several attacks on Corregidor and Fort Hughes. One Japanese bomber was hit by our anti-aircraft artillery.

Near Zamboanga, in Mindanao, one of our patrols ambushed two bus loads of Japanese troops, inflicting casualties.

2. There is nothing to report from other areas.

War Department communique No. 199, based on reports received until 1 p.m. yesterday, said:

1. Philippine theater:

A small mobile force of Americans and Filipinos, operating in the mountains of Northern Luzon, successfully raided enemy outposts in San Nicolas, Natividad and Tayug in Pangasinan Province during the past few days. Large amounts of military stores were destroyed and heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

Our forces on the islands of Cebu and Panay continue to offer stubborn resistance to the enemy advance.

Air raids and artillery bombardment of Corregidor continue. Alert counterbattery fire of our guns has silenced at least four, and possibly five, enemy batteries during the past few days. Our effective anti-aircraft fire has kept Japanese bombers at extremely high altitudes.

Our flag on Corregidor was a casualty for a few minutes yesterday. Normally the United States flag flys from a 100-foot pole at the highest point on the besieged island fortress. During an intense bombardment from an enemy battery in Bataan, a shell fragment struck the pole and cut the halyard.

Slowly the flag began its descent. However, before it reached the ground Capt. Brewster G. Gallup of Cornell, Calif.; Technical Sergt. Ezra R. Smith of Summer, Ill., and Honorio Punongbayen, Philippine Islands, rushed up and gathered the colors in their arms.

Not content with saving their country's flag from touching the ground, the group of soldiers immediately set about repairing the pole and the severed halyard. Amid the bursting shells the repairs were completed and the flag was soon waving proudly and defiantly at the top of the island, proclaiming to friend and foe that Corregidor still stands.

As soon as Gen. Wainwright learned of the incident he officially commended the trio for their gallant service to the colors.

ticularly deadly after anti-aircraft defenses had been reduced.

Yesterday the department reported that comparatively small defense forces continued to harass the Japanese on the islands of Panay and Cebu.

Yesterday's communique said also that small American and Filipino mobile forces in Northern Luzon raided enemy outposts, destroyed supplies and inflicted heavy casualties.

Flag Is Replaced.

The American flag over Corregidor was shot down yesterday during an intense bombardment, but was replaced under fire within a few minutes by three soldiers who were officially commended by Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

The three were Capt. Brewster G. Gallup of Cornell, Calif.; Technical Sergt. Ezra R. Smith of Summer, Ill., and Honorio Punongbayen of the Philippines.

They caught the colors as they floated down from a 100-foot pole at the highest point of the besieged fortress, the communique related, adding that "the flag was soon waving proudly and defiantly at the top of the island, proclaiming to friend and foe that Corregidor still stands."

Towns Attacked.

The raid on Northern Luzon was on the towns of San Nicolas, Natividad and Tayug in Pangasinan Province. The points are about 100 miles north of Manila and within a few miles of each other.

Officials here expressed belief the operations were carried out by the same force of raiders which late in February forced the Japanese to evacuate the valley of the nearby Abra River between the towns of Cervantes and Bangued.

Japanese Approach Panay Island Junction

TOKIO (Japanese Broadcast), April 20 (AP)—Domei correspondents reported Japanese forces approaching a junction as they marched from North and South into the center of Panay Island in the Philippines today. Naval units also were reported landed without opposition at Santa Rosario on Guimaras Island just south of Panay.

One formation, advancing from Iloilo on the south coast had reached Potopan, 45 miles inland, the news agency said yesterday, while other forces coming in from the north coast at Capiz were reported 20 miles inland.

At the same time the occupation of several islands southwest of Sumatra and east of Java in the Netherlands Indies was claimed by war correspondents.

Other Islands Occupied.

On Thursday Japanese troops landed on the small island of Siberoet, southwest of Sumatra in the Indian Ocean, and on Friday other contingents occupied Gunongsitoli on the larger island of Nias as well as Sioban on the tiny dot of Sipora Island, both in the same area.

East of Java, Domei said Japanese troops were beginning a methodical occupation of all islands of major importance. An emissary of the Sultan of Soembawa, largest of the Sunda Archipelago east of Bali, was said to have called on Japanese authorities in Java and asked for the dispatch of troops "for restoration of law and order."

Sultan and Dutch Clash.

This dispatch said the Sultan, native chieftain of 1,000,000 people, hoisted the Japanese flag on his palace on the first report of Japanese landings in Java, but Netherlands officials took it down and shots were exchanged between Dutch troops and the guards of the Sultan. The Dutch were overpowered and all imprisoned, Domei said.

The "mopping up" of the rich tin-producing island of Billiton south of Sumatra also was reported by Domei which said Japanese had now occupied Manggar and Tandjoeng Pandan, assumed complete control of the tin mines and interned 40 Dutch subjects.

Air Activity in Russia Speeded Up by Germans

KUIBYSHEV, April 20 (AP).—Increasing German air activity was reported today from many sectors of the front amid indications of an improvement in the weather conditions, on which the launching of large-scale land operations are dependent.

Russian dispatches said the Nazis were blasting away at railway stations, airdromes and front-line positions with their bombers—sometimes hurling 50 planes against a single objective in the biggest air attacks of the year.

(The German high command declared yesterday that four Russian divisions had been destroyed on the central front after six days of bitter fighting in a veritable quagmire.)

Nazis Launch Tank Attack.

On the southern front, the Germans were reported to have launched several tank attacks with air support in an unsuccessful attempt to restore positions pierced by the Russians.

Most indicative of milder weather were advices from the northern front which told of severe fighting above Leningrad, where Soviet troops were said to have driven a wide breach in the Finnish lines on the Karelian Isthmus after traversing a vast minefield.

The Finns were said to have thrown tanks, motorized units and heavy artillery into the fray in a futile attempt to halt the Russian attack, apparently launched in a determined effort to deliver a crushing blow to Germany's little ally and to relieve Leningrad.

1,600 Declared Killed.

Actions in which more than 1,600 Germans were killed on the northwest and central fronts were reported in the mid-day communique of the Soviet Information Bureau broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Despite the intensified German aerial activity the Russians said there were no big scale Nazi land attacks indicating the invaders were about to launch their long-heralded spring offensive.

Soviet communiques said Russian warplanes were countering the German aerial blows with heavy attacks on Nazi lines of communication. Fifty German motor trucks loaded with troops and supplies, 15 carts loaded with ammunition and many pieces of artillery were reported destroyed in one such raid alone.

22 Red Army Planes Shot Down, Nazis Say

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 20 (AP).—The German high command today said Russian attacks had collapsed after hard fighting on the central and northern sectors. The communique indicated the Nazi air force was taking an increasing part in the campaign.

German bombers were said to have blasted harbors and public utility plants in the Caucasus. A big Russian tanker was reported damaged in the Black Sea.

The German high command, reporting its first large scale victory in weeks on the Russian front said, in a special communique last night, that four Red Army divisions—about 60,000 men—had been encircled and destroyed in a six-day battle in a sea of mud and slush.

The scene of the bitter battle, which started April 10, was given only as somewhere on the central front, the troop and shell-churned battlefield west of Moscow.

The special war bulletin said the action against the four encircled Russian divisions was carried out under difficult conditions by reinforcements brought up through sodden fields for the onslaught against heavily fortified positions.

The Russians were "first cut off and then encircled," the high command said, "and while the Germans were bringing up reinforcements through heavy mud the enemy was preparing the fortification of the positions he was holding."

Republicans

of this earth by tyrannous aggressors, operating not only by rule of law but by rule of force."

This is the nub of the Willkie resolution, which will be introduced by Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia, a vice chairman of the committee. Mr. Willkie months ago committed himself to fight to have the G. O. P. abandon its isolationist position of the past.

Senator Taft of Ohio, holding a proxy, is attending the meeting and has prepared a resolution which also commits the party to all-out support of the war effort, but does not undertake to commit the party to any particular course of action after the war.

Brooks Also Plans Resolution.

A third resolution, to be offered by Senator Brooks of Illinois, says:

"We pledge unreservedly our lives and our resources to the efficient, complete and final winning of the war for America.

"We further pledge to preserve the two-party system to guarantee the continuance of our constitutional form of government and the sacred safeguards provided in our Bill of Rights for ourselves and for future free Americans."

The contest developing is whether Mr. Willkie, titular leader of the party because of his 1940 leadership, shall control the National Committee.

Some of Mr. Willkie's supporters have gone so far as to demand the resignation of Chairman Martin, House minority leader, on the ground that his record in Congress has been too strongly isolationist in the past.

Any effort to dislodge Mr. Martin, however, would be doomed to defeat, according to the sentiments expressed by many members of the committee, and it probably will not be pressed.

Chairman Martin referred all resolutions to committee to report what it considers proper after going over them. Willkie supporters opposed the plan, hoping to have the issue fought out in the full committee itself and either approved or rejected.

Appoints Committee.

Members of the committee are:

Mr. Hallanan; David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, Ohio, representing Senator Taft; Werner Schroeder, Chicago, who read the Brooks resolution; Wallace Townsend, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. Gladys Knowles, Missoula, Mont.; Mrs. Pearl Sayre, Ardmore, Okla., and Robert Burroughs, Manchester, N. H.

There were rumblings that a resolution might be presented to denounce the voting record of Representative Fish of New York, strong isolationist in the past, in an effort to read him out of the party.

Chairman Martin was seeking to preserve harmony in the national organization so that the G. O. P. might present a united front in the fall campaign.

Addressing the opening session, Mr. Martin said:

"In behalf of our party I pledged the President our full support and co-operation in the war effort. That pledge has been kept and we will continue to keep it regardless of the provocations that may arise. The safety and security of our country must come first. We are Americans above Republicans. We will sacrifice political opportunities for unity and the furtherance of the war. But we are determined this great party shall continue to live as a stalwart defender of genuine Americanism. There never was a greater need for the Republican party than in this critical hour.

Victory Single Objective.

"Previous to the entrance of our Nation into war there was a lively debate and discussion as to the best way to preserve the peace. This was an American issue and naturally divided both of the major parties. The dastardly attack of the Japanese on Pearl Harbor made it necessary for our country to enter the war. In our hour of national peril we as a Nation have the one real objective to win the war and to make secure the liberties and freedom of our people.

"We do not intend to let the two-party system of Government be liquidated while we are fighting the foreign dictators. We do not intend to let constitutional Government perish here in the United States.

"We do not intend to let private enterprise become a memory.

"We do not intend to let ours become a socialistic state.

"The American system of Government must be upheld and it can only be sustained by a strong, vigorous, fighting Republican party.

"Our party is stronger today than in many years. This is encouraging. It is going to require complete unity and the full efforts of all who are opposed to the New Deal to win this fight for America. Republicans must not fight each other.

"Your chairman has been in 27 States since the last meeting. This has brought me to all parts of the Union. Before the year is out I expect to be in every State where we have a reasonable chance to win. This was necessary because of the need to stimulate the party organization in these critical days. My reports indicate these frequent pilgrimages were of great value. They have also provided an opportunity for publicity where it is most needed.

"The campaign this year, in my judgment, will be different from other campaigns. I do not expect to see as much 'ballyhoo' as usual and the value of a good organization will be clearly shown.

"No one can tell what November will bring forth. Right now we are in excellent position. Municipal elections in Connecticut, Michigan and New Mexico tell the same story as did nearly all of the elections in the past year. There is a distinct Republican trend."

Congress to Receive Roosevelt's Views on Inflation Soon

President Also Plans Fireside Chat On Subject

lem which has been causing particular concern is the issue of wage controls — uncompromisingly opposed by organized labor. This fight by labor to prevent injection of wage freezing or stabilization into the overall anti-inflation campaign was making itself felt in delaying a congressional showdown on restrictive labor legislation.

Shortly after the conference at the White House, Senator Connally, Democrat, of Texas, who attended, agreed in the Senate to withhold for a week action on his motion to take up labor legislation on the assurance that a presidential message recommending legislation would be forthcoming.

Mr. Connally told his colleagues the President had personally asked him to postpone the move until the message could be sent.

Before going to the White House, Senator Connally had said he would insist on assurances the President planned early action on the labor question before he would agree to defer his measure.

Broad Scope Program Studied.

Presidential advisers were known to have been working on a plan for the general freezing of prices and payments for services, the latter including not only workers' wages but salaries and bonuses of executives as well. Also to be included, it was said, would be a formula for the limitation of war profits.

These controls would be linked with a tightening of credit restrictions and a subsequent campaign for non-compulsory purchases of war bonds in an effort to reduce excessive buying power and check any inflationary spiral of the cost of living.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, have strenuously opposed plans for general control of wages, contending that each dispute should be dealt with separately on its merits.

Further conferences with the President on this question were understood to have been scheduled.

Ball's Measure Taken Up.

Although argument on the Connally motion was delayed, Chairman Thomas of Utah called the Senate Labor Committee to act on a revised measure by Senator Ball, Republican, of Minnesota.

The bill generally was considered as the line to which the administration would retreat if drastic amendments were offered to the Connally bill suspending the 40-hour week, freezing open and closed shops and curbing union initiation fees.

Senator Ball said before the meeting he expected committee approval of the bill, possibly conditioned on the understanding the measure would not be offered unless the Senate ordered actual consideration of the Connally bill.

Senator Ball's measure would set up mediation and arbitration machinery, requiring approval by a war labor disputes board of increases in wages and salaries or changes in union and non-union status.

The A. F. L. also expressed concern that war workers faced possible "economic disaster" because the Office of Price Administration had not taken measures to "enforce effectively and vigorously price ceilings on consumer goods."

Green States Views.

Mr. Green, in a memorandum, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics estimated living costs had risen 12 per cent in the last year and he asserted the rise had been greater in most war production centers.

"There is incontrovertible evidence," he said, "that the inflationary rise in prices and increases in the cost of living have not been caused by wage increases.

"In the absence of an integrated and decisive tax program corporate profits, even after taxes, have shown a tremendous rise during 1941," he added.

"Freezing of wages will mean that large and strategic groups of workers will be put into a straitjacket of substandard and deficient living which spells failure to the battle of production. * * *

"British experience has shown that drastic application of rationing accompanied by vigorous fiscal policies makes wage freezing or wage control unnecessary, and that price inflation can be fully kept in check without resort to wage control. * * *"

N. A. M. Asks Congress To 'Freeze' Labor Status

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The National Association of Manufacturers said in full-page advertisements today it would welcome the closed shop if that would mean victory but "if it won't, then in victory's name, let's forget it for the duration."

"Let Congress freeze the status quo until we've won the war!" the association urged in a statement which it called a reply to "Philip Murray's (C. I. O. president) statement to the Senate Labor Committee that restriction of wartime extensions of the closed shop would imperil war production."

"An American worker has a right to join a union if he wants to," the N. A. M. statement continued, "and an equal right either not to join or to quit if he decides the union isn't worth while.

"Employers have no right to destroy American freedom by compelling workers to join or stay in a union if they choose not to do so. The War Labor Board says its policy follows democratic principles. Is it democratic to compel a worker to stay in a union or lose his job?"

That, of course, would be no solace to Japan.

The new announcement from imperial headquarters made no reference to claims previously broadcast by the Tokio radio that nine attacking planes were shot down.

The Tokio radio was heard today in San Francisco to say that the five prisoners of the bomber forced down are being examined by Japanese authorities. The broadcast added that their names "and other matter" will be broadcast as soon as the examination is completed.

By their latest official account, the Japanese appeared fairly convinced that the raiders were United States medium bombers launched by three warship-shielded aircraft carriers from considerable distance east of Japan with instructions to bomb Tokio, Yokohama, Nagoya and Kobe and then continue on to landings in Free China.

It also appeared, from earlier reports, that the venture was a great success.

A similar enfilading of Germany was suggested in the first days of the European war by air experts who held that Allied bombers might shuttle back and forth, between France and Poland, refueling and reloading their racks at each terminus.

Twice yesterday air-raid alarms put Central Japan, including imperial Tokio itself, on the elert, each time for about two hours—once in darkness starting at 2 a.m. and again in daylight at 1 p.m.

These may have been precautions against hostile planes, real or imagined, or merely rehearsals.

The radio listener of the London Daily Mail quoted a Tokio broadcast announcing that air observers who failed to give timely warning of Saturday's unwelcome visitors would be court-martialled.

Berlin, whence has come reports of destruction in Japan on wider scale than was acknowledged at first, gave conflicting versions of yesterday's alarms. One broadcast said no enemy planes were sighted but another said reconnaissance planes and fighters crossed over Tokio without dropping bombs.

Despite the official assertion that raid damage was "extremely light" other Axis broadcasts suggested that industry and transport vital to the war effort had suffered and that there had been numerous casualties.

"The Japanese government," said the Berlin radio yesterday, "has provided funds for the rebuilding of the factories and dwelling houses and one cinema which were burned down in the Tokio area."

This from one of Japan's own Axis partners, was the first acknowledgement of any industrial damage in the heart of the enemy's war effort—Tokio, the capital; Yokohama and Kobe, two chief ports, and Nagoya, big center of aircraft production.

Nevertheless, despite official Japanese assertions that the attack failed and left Japan's war plant district intact, Tokio's own broadcasts hinted at extensive damage.

Domei, official Japanese news agency, broadcast a report from Tokio that a meeting of vice ministers discussed the raid damage today along with measures to control "baseless rumors" concerning the air attack.

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo was disclosed to have seen Emperor Hirohito Saturday night after an inspection tour north of Tokio and to have conferred with Home Minister Michio Yusawa and Railways Minister Yoshiaki Natta, departments which would deal with any housing or communications problems.

A broadcast by the Japanese-controlled Saigon radio, heard in the United States by Columbia Broadcasting System, said most of the missiles were 12-pound incendiary bombs

Baby of 9 Months Completes Round Trip Of 18,000 Miles

Was Visiting Father in Honolulu When Japs Struck December 7

A nine-month-old baby who already has traveled 18,000 miles arrived here this morning.

She is Dolores K. Huey, daughter of Capt. Donald E. Huey, Marine Corps officer stationed somewhere in the Pacific, and Mrs. Margaret Huey.

Born in Quantico, Va., while her father was stationed in Honolulu, Dolores started on the long voyage to see him when she was 11 weeks old. She and her mother had been in Honolulu only two months when the Japanese struck December 7. Capt. Huey left almost immediately for another island base and after Mrs. Huey had recovered from pneumonia, she and Dolores began another long trip back here.

Married 23 months, Mrs. Huey said this morning after her arrival at 1719 Otis street N.E., she has been with her husband only for the first eight months of their married life in Quantico and for the two months in Honolulu.

Although Mrs. Huey could not recall the length or the route of her journey here, the baby signified with thumps of feet on the floor and gurgles of joy over an ash tray that the trip had not been wearing.

Mrs. Huey is staying with her sister-in-law, Mrs. John J. Heil, whose husband is a Marine Corps major on Corregidor.

Capt. Huey was born in Punxsutawney, Pa., and was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1937. Mrs. Huey is a native of Indianapolis. Her brother, Maj. Heil, was born in Washington, when their father, a naval officer, was stationed here. He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1928. Mrs. Heil, the daughter of the Rev. Henry C. Parkman of Hillandale, is a native of Indianhead, Md.

A. P. Will Consider Three Applications For Membership

Changes in By-Laws to Be Studied; Six Directors Will Be Named

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The 42d annual meeting of Associated Press members today will consider, among other things, important suggested changes in the by-laws of the co-operative newsgathering agency.

The A. P. meeting precedes the 56th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, opening tomorrow.

In addition to acting on the suggested changes in the by-laws, A. P. members also will elect six directors and consider three membership applications.

Membership Applicants.

The three applicants for membership are Marshal Field, Chicago Sun, for the night report; Eleanor Medill Patterson, Washington Times-Herald, for the day and night report, and the Tribune Co., Chicago Evening Tribune (new paper projected by the Morning Chicago Tribune), for the day report.

Six directors whose terms are expiring have been nominated for re-election as follows: W. H. Cowles, Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review; George B. Longan, Kansas City (Mo.) Star; Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago Tribune; L. K. Nicholson, New Orleans Times-Picayune; E. Lansing Ray, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and Stuart H. Perry, Adrian (Mich.) Telegram.

Six additional nominees for the directorate are Raymond B. Bottom, Newport News (Va.) Daily Press; Eugene A. Howe, Amarillo (Tex.) Globe; Grove Patterson, Toledo (Ohio) Blade; Hugh J. Powell, Coffeyville (Kans.) Journal; W. A. Rupp, Aberdeen (Wash.) World, and William R. Mathews, Tucson (Ariz.) Star.

Mr. Mathews and Mr. Perry are nominees for the directorship representing membership in cities of less than 50,000 population.

MacLeish to Speak.

Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, will address the annual membership luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria grand ballroom at which Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, president of the A. P., will preside.

The annual report of Kent Cooper, A. P. general manager, will be read to the membership sessions before and after the luncheon.

In general the major suggested revisions of the by-laws, drafted by the Special Committee for Revision of the By-laws, headed by John S. Knight of the Detroit Free Press, contemplate broadened opportunity for acquisition of membership in the A. P., redefinition of the historic "right of protest," and election of members by a majority rather than by four-fifths of the membership.

The latter suggested revision would carry the stipulation that the prospective member reimburse any member or members for "loss or damage" as a result of his admission to membership.

Swedish Liner Bringing 154 Americans Home

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 20.—The Swedish liner Drottingholm, chartered to carry out an exchange of United States and Axis diplomats, left Goteborg yesterday with 154 American nationals being repatriated from Scandinavia.

The ship will go to New York, pick up Axis diplomats in the United States and then carry them to Lisbon for exchange with American diplomats from Germany and Italy.

About 70 Americans who tried for accommodations on the first crossing failed to gain passage. Those who did were required to promise secrecy on anything they see on the journey through the North Sea and across the Atlantic.

'Invaders' Using Japs' Tactics Repulsed in Panama Games

By CHANDLER DIEHL,
Associated Press War Correspondent.

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Panama Canal Zone, April 20.—The largest field maneuvers conducted in Panama since the start of the war have just ended with the theoretical repulse of an invading "yellow" army employing tactics used by the Japanese in their Pacific conquests.

Thousands of men of the United States Army's Panama mobile force, together with Air Corps and marine detachments, participated in operations staged in dense jungles and along rugged shores as a further move in strengthening the defenses of this strategically vital zone.

Despite numerical superiority and the advantage of operating from several beachheads within 30 to 80 miles of the Canal itself, the invading "yellows" failed to penetrate to the Canal Zone in four days of action featuring night attacks, infiltration tactics, forced marches and assault boat landings in the rear of the "blue" defenders.

One "yellow" infantry battalion traveled 50 miles in two consecutive night-long marches, using machettes frequently to clear a winding trail over mountains and through jungles—all to no avail. The force was spotted by "blue" jungle platoons and cut to pieces in theory, company by company, as it struggled forward.

All types of equipment were thrown into the maneuvers which Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews' command planned for the express purpose of developing "a method of meeting and defeating an invading force employing the tactics used by the Japanese in the Far East."

Correspondents permitted to take the field with the troops saw infantrymen loaded with full packs, machine guns, light mortars and "iron rations" filing through dense tropical growth and across rocky badlands in scorching heat and drizzling rain.

They saw procession after procession of mechanized cavalry and artillery as well as motorized infantry making use of what roads and trails exist. There were heavy guns, light guns and anti-tank guns, all camouflaged with blending jungle foliage.

The troops now are back to normal routine, but the officers still are studying the results of lessons learned from the maneuvers—many of which are regarded as so valuable that they may not be publicized.

Many of the results, however, are clearly self-evident—especially the fact that the Panama mobile force has proved itself rugged in another stern jungle test and now is more familiar than ever with a wide sector of terrain which some day it may be called on to defend in real combat.

B-25 One of World's Deadliest And Fastest Medium Bombers

Planes Credited With Jap Raids Described As Superior in Range, Speed and Capacity

By the Associated Press.

The American planes credited by the Japanese today with raiding Tokio and other industrial centers of Japan were described by American airmen as a new medium bomber, one of the world's fastest and most deadly.

The Army's B-25, which Japanese imperial headquarters said was employed, has been declared officially to "be superior to any foreign medium bomber" in range, speed and load-carrying capacity.

The comparable B-26 is rated even higher in top speed and air officials have referred to it repeatedly as "the fastest bomber of its class in the world."

Both are in mass production for both the Army and forces of other United Nations.

13-Ton Monoplanes.

Both are metal-monoplanes of about 13 tons, each is powered by two air-cooled radial engines, and each carries a crew of five men and full radio and navigation equipment.

Assistant Secretary of War John J. McCloy said on the eve of the Pacific conflict that the two planes "have performances almost equal to the famed British Spitfire pursuit ships" and added that "they can carry a ton of bombs a good many hundred miles."

Their actual range is a military secret along with the answer to the question whether either can operate from an aircraft carrier as implied by the Japanese.

A Tokio radio broadcast quoted an Imperial Headquarters announcement as saying about 10 of the B-25 bombers took part in the attack and that "those which managed to escape being downed" fled to the Chinese mainland. The same announcement spoke of the presence off Japan of hostile naval forces built around three carriers.

Second Baptism of Fire.

Should the Japanese report be borne out, the raid would be the second recent major baptism of fire for the B-25 bombers, which are built by North American Aviation, Inc.

Ten of the same planes, along with three larger four-motored B-17 bombers, took part in the raids made on the invaders in the Philippines last week from Australia, in which eight enemy surface vessels were sunk or damaged.

Nazis Report Sinking 18 Ships Totaling 131,000 Tons

Attack on Enemy Convoy in Arctic, With Successful Hits, Also Claimed

(The following dispatch was sent from an enemy country, whose motives are likely to be propaganda. Axis claims should be credited only when confirmed by American or Allied sources.)

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 20.—A special announcement from Adolf Hitler's headquarters declared today that 18 enemy ships totaling 131,000 tons had been sunk in the Caribbean Sea and in the Atlantic off the American coast.

The bulletin, broadcast over the Berlin radio with the fanfare usually accompanying the announcement of a great victory, said a German submarine also had shelled and set afire oil refineries at Curacao.

In addition, German undersea raiders, co-operating with the Nazi air force, was reported to have attacked an enemy convoy in the Arctic Sea, sinking two ships totaling 12,000 tons, damaging three others and scoring hits on escorting warships.

In the Mediterranean, the announcement said, another German submarine penetrated Beirut Harbor and torpedoed a merchant vessel at her berth.

Curacao Oil Installations Fired On by Enemy Sub

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, April 20 (AP).—An enemy submarine prowling within 70 miles of the Panama Canal fired a number of shells at important oil installations at Bullen Bay on this island before dawn yesterday, but an official announcement said all the projectiles missed.

A coastal defense battery went into action immediately and, the announcement said, "the enemy stopped firing, dived and did not make any further appearance."

The attack, coming at 3 a.m. and directed at installations of the Royal Dutch Shell Co., was the third against the United States garrisoned Netherlands West Indies in little more than a month.

In the first attack February 16 seven tankers were torpedoed and sunk or damaged off Curacao and the island of Aruba, 50 miles to the west, and an attempt was made to shell oil installations on Aruba.

Three days later a submarine sent shells hurtling again at oil installations on Aruba, but failed to harm them. A tanker, however, was torpedoed off the island.

36 Norwegians Rescued By U. S. Patrol Ship

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, April 20.—Thirty-six crewmen of a Norwegian freighter sunk in the North Atlantic April 11 were picked up from two lifeboats by a United States patrol ship and landed here today.

Capt. John Harshberger of Chicago, a Marine Corps pilot, spotted the Norwegians and hailed a minesweeper which towed the lifeboats to port.

Spring Music Festival Will Open Tonight

Singers and organists will unite at 8 o'clock tonight to present a program opening a spring festival of music at the Washington Chapel of the Church of Latter Day Saints, Sixteenth street and Columbia road N.W.

At the invitation of the American Guild of Organists, the solo quartet of the Washington Hebrew Congregation will sing excerpts from modern temple music, with Lewis Atwater at the organ.

The first section of tonight's musical program will be played by Robert Ruckman, organist of the Epworth Methodist Church.

The organists' guild will sponsor other programs on Wednesday, when Jean Slater Appel will play, and on Saturday, when C. Griffith Bratt, of Baltimore, will be guest recitalist.

Statement to Press.

In a statement to the press, Laval asserted that his government functioned "by virtue of the delegation of power which the marshal has confided in me" and that Petain's authority was "indispensable for me to fulfill my mission."

With Laval's announcement that Gen. Jean Francois Jannekyn, 49-year-old air commander in Algeria, had been named Secretary of State for Air, the only post left unfilled was that of Minister of Industrial Production.

In Paris, Fernand de Brinon said Laval would make frequent visits there. De Brinon said he, as a state secretary attached to Laval, was charged specifically with diplomatic questions. He had been Vichy's envoy to German occupation authorities in Paris.

New Regime Must Prove Itself, Germans Say

BERN, April 20 (AP).—Pierre Laval's new French government must now prove itself, the German press said tonight, but Dienst aus Deutschland, the Foreign Service publication, warned that "the release of French war prisoners has no relation whatever with the change of government" in France.

The German newspapers expressed the belief there would be a "complete change in the interior policy" of France, the Berlin correspondent of the Basel National Zeitung said. But the German editorials added that while France could "count on the absolute good will and understanding of Germany, all would rest on the achievements of the new government."

O'Hare, Who Got Six Jap Planes In 5 Minutes, Won't Tell How

By CARTER BROOKE JONES.

Lt. Edward H. O'Hare, who became America's outstanding naval ace when he shot down six Japanese planes in one afternoon during the recent United States raid on the Gilbert Islands, went under fire again today—a rapid fire of questions by some 40 newspapermen and women, gathered in the Navy Department press room. The youthful hero again acquitted himself valiantly.

The good-looking 28-year-old flyer withstood the verbal bombardment to the satisfaction of reporters and sound reel men and gave the still photographers all the "shots" they wanted. He spoke of his daring exploit modestly but with understanding and not without humor.

Lt. O'Hare professed to know nothing of reported plans for President Roosevelt or some other high official to decorate him, nor was there immediately any announcement from the Navy. He said deprecatingly that he had been ordered back to the Navy Department from the perilous Pacific "in connection with aviation training." He emphasized that this was temporary duty and he expected to be back with his plane carrier soon.

"Are you also here in connection with morale?" some one asked.

"Frankly, I don't know," he said.

Describes Battle in Air.

Lt. O'Hare, who flew here from the West Coast yesterday with his wife, after meeting her in San Francisco, showed willingness to describe so far as he could, without revealing military secrets, how he and his comrades, through an amazing feat of fighter plane efficiency, saved their carrier ship from 18 Japanese bombers.

"There were 18 of them," said Lt. O'Hare, referring to the enemy bombers, "and we managed to get about 17. There were about 13 of us."

He added: "One of our planes chased the 18th Jap bomber 100 miles and finally had to return to the carrier. We think maybe that one got away."

Lt. O'Hare explained that only 10 American fighter planes actually were in the air when the Japanese bombing squadron appeared over the carrier. The other three fighters were landing on the ship at the time.

Asked how he was able to shoot down six of the big bombers, the lieutenant said: "You see, I was leading a section of two planes. The other plane had gun trouble. It took about five minutes to get its guns working again and by that time it was all over."

Air Tactics a Secret.

When the newspapermen wanted to know what plan of attack the Americans followed and how he maneuvered his own plane so effectively, Lt. O'Hare turned with a smile to higher naval officers. He expressed doubt whether this technical information should be made public, and the other officers agreed with him.

Asked what he thought about when he was fighting the bombers, Lt. O'Hare replied: "You don't have much time to think or to look. You see only what you are shooting for at the moment, and when you get it you look for more bombers. Your training comes in there. It all depends on what you've been taught to do when you get up there.

"Of course, your first concern is to protect your carrier. It's your happy home. If it goes down you've got nowhere to fly back to."

Lt. O'Hare said the flight took place far out at sea and the carrier was expecting the attack because her patrols had spotted two bombers winging eastward from the Gilbert base earlier in the day. The battle, he added, took place at about 10,000 feet.

"How fast were the Japs going?" he was asked.

"At about 200 knots," he guessed. "How fast were you going?"

"Fast enough," the officer answered.

Feelings on Entering Action.

Lt. O'Hare said the Japanese bombers were land-based and were not accompanied by any fighter planes.

One correspondent asked whether the officer felt fear on going into his first battle.

"I suppose you'd call it that," Lt. O'Hare said. "But there's always a fellow behind you. He's waiting for you to go ahead and so you have to go on."

"Are you going to be decorated this afternoon?" demanded a questioner.

"If so, it is news to me," the lieutenant replied.

Told of plans to honor him at his home town of St. Louis, Lt. O'Hare said he did not know whether he would be able to return there, adding, "It's up to the Navy."

Asked which was the worst ordeal, the fight at sea or this press conference, Lt. O'Hare thus spoke of the fuss which was made over his exploit:

"We've decided that next time we'll go out of sight for our fight and come back and tell them we were shooting at sea gulls."

Lt. O'Hare arrived in Washington yesterday on a commercial plane.

'Had a Hunch He Was Going to Do Something Like That,' She Says

The daring, long-distance smashes delivered by a bomber squadron against the Japanese in the Philippines last week came as no great surprise to the wife of the man who led the raiders.

Mrs. Ralph Royce, whose husband, Brig. Gen. Royce, commanded the bombers in their successful forays launched from bases in Australia, said today she "just had a hunch he was going to do something like that.

"I had an idea he'd do it if he got the chance," Mrs. Royce said. "I know he wanted to."

Saw General in January.

Mrs. Royce is living at the Wardman Park Hotel. She has been in Washington since last December, when she came here from Fort Douglas where Gen. Royce had been stationed until he was sent to London last May for duty as assistant military attache for air.

She said she saw her husband in January. He returned from London, was here for 10 days and then was off for Australia.

"I was in the hospital all the time he was here," Mrs. Royce said.

Received Letters Monday.

She said she received four letters from Gen. Royce last Monday—one of the days on which the Philippine raids were said to have taken place.

Her son, Ralph Scott Royce, who was with Gen. Royce in London as a representative of Consolidated Aircraft, now is a first lieutenant in the Air Corps.

Mrs. Royce said she planned to take a trip to Florida soon, but probably would make her home here.

creasing Allied attacks and destroy Allied bombers where possible.

Mr. Curtin disclosed Gen. MacArthur had been instructed specifically to prepare to assume the offensive, and declared the hero of the Philippines had come to Australia "to lead a crusade, the result of which means everything to the future of the world and mankind."

Announcement of the agreement formalizing Gen. MacArthur's appointment as commander in chief in the Southwest Pacific, effective as of Saturday midnight, was issued from his headquarters yesterday. It did not specifically mention New Zealand as a party to the agreement, but Mr. Curtin subsequently included New Zealand with the participants in a letter to Gen. MacArthur voicing confidence in his leadership.

Gen. MacArthur's statement said that, subject to his supreme authority, Gen. Blamey of the Australian Army had been named commander of all Allied land forces, while Lt. Gen. George H. Brett and Vice Admiral Herbert F. Leary—both Americans—had been designated to command the Allied air and naval forces respectively.

Maj. Gen. Julian F. Barnes, U. S. A., will command all United States Army forces in Australia. Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, commander of United States forces in the Philippines, also will receive his orders from Gen. MacArthur.

Staff Selection Today.

Gen. MacArthur was expected to complete his organization today by naming his headquarters staff, which informed quarters said probably would be headed by Gen. Sutherland and would include Australian and Dutch liaison officers.

These quarters also declared that for the time being, at least, combat units of the United States Army now in Australia would be attached to two Australian armies under Lt. Gen. Sir John Laverack and Lt. Gen. Sir Iven Mackay.

Brigading of American troops with Australian divisions, it was explained, would give the Americans an opportunity to complete battle training under commanders with recent combat experience in the Near East.

Australian Army Chief Sees Jap Attack Near

BRISBANE, Australia, April 20 (AP).—Army Minister Francis Forde predicted yesterday that Japan soon will attack Australia, but that the commonwealth intends "to hit as fast and as hard as we can."

"The day when Japan will attack Australia cannot be long postponed," Mr. Forde declared after inspecting military camps in Queensland.

"No success elsewhere will enable Japan for a long time to resist the offensive power which the Allies are developing here. The stronger we become the more imperative will be the strategic decision which Japan will be required to take.

"We mean to make war. We are building an army to make war. The constant R. A. A. F. blows on the Japanese in Timor, New Guinea and around the outshores are evidence of the commonwealth's intention to hit as fast and as hard as we can."

W. P. A. to Feed 3,500,000 In Emergency

By the Associated Press.

Simultaneous mass-feeding of 3,500,000 persons during a war emergency will be possible when the present reorganization of the W. P. A.-operated school lunch program is completed, Acting Commissioner F. H. Dryden announced yesterday.

The agency has been authorized to feed adults as well as children during an emergency and when requested by the Army, Navy or the proper local civil defense agency, Mr. Dryden explained.

Labor Given Chance To Answer Farmers' Charges Today

Judiciary Subcommittee Will Hear Members of A. F. L. and C. I. O.

By the Associated Press.

Organized labor was afforded a chance by the House Judiciary Committee today to answer charges by organized agriculture that union leaders were seeking to obtain control of the Nation's food supply.

Chairman Hobbs of a Judiciary Subcommittee said representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations would be called when the committee resumes hearings on legislation to subject unions and other worker groups to prosecution under the anti-racketeering and anti-trust laws.

Unions generally and the C. I. O. United Mine Workers of America specifically were assailed by farm groups when the hearings started last week. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Council of Farm Co-operatives accused them of promoting secondary boycotts, issuing "hot cargo" edicts, and engaging in other activities which President Edward A. O'Neal of the Farm Bureau Federation said levied "a toll of unnecessary costs of at least a billion dollars a year upon the American people."

Committee mebers said they were anxious to hear the U. M. W. A. reply to a charge by W. P. Davis, manager of the New England Milk Producers Association, that the union's move to organize dairy farmers "implies the possibilities of social revolution under a private one-man dictatorship of America."

Mr. Davis accused John L. Lewis, U. M. W. A. head, of seeking, through unionization of dairy farmers, "to throttle the freedom of the farmers."

Malta's Casualties In Raids Reported Extremely Small

Whole Axis Dive Bomber Formations Shot Down, Returned Officer Says

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—Although Malta has been bombed almost daily from the air for weeks, casualties have been "extremely small," an anti-aircraft officer recently returned from the Mediterranean island base declared today.

The officer said anti-aircraft fire in Malta was "more effective than anywhere else in the world" and that entire formations of dive bombers frequently were shot down.

The latest raids have been carried out by German Junkers 88's, which come in over the coast at 8,000 to 19,000 feet and then dive, releasing their bombs at between five and six thousand feet, he declared.

Italian planes participating in the assaults have been bombing exclusively from high altitudes, the officer said.

He reported there was no shortage of anything in Malta except sleep, anti-aircraft gunners frequently getting only four hours rest a night.

A motor torpedoboat attack which the Italians made some time ago on Valletta Harbor was described as "very feeble." Only one boat reached the barrier at the harbor entrance and it exploded against a bridge column, pulling down the bridge and preventing others from entering, the officer said.

3 Nazi Planes Felled Yesterday, Malta Says

VALLETTA, Malta, April 20 (AP).—Three German planes were shot down and four more probably destroyed yesterday in Axis raids, which inflicted considerable civilian property damage and some casualties among Malta residents.

There were two heavy raids, the first by dive-bombers on harbor and gun positions and the second by Junkers bombers on airdromes.

Ride on—But look BEFORE you

NEVER before in history has this old Dutch maxim been wiser, more sound than it is today.

For a century Americans have been "riding on but looking before them"—living their daily lives to the full, but preparing for the future through the medium of life insurance taken out with the help and advice of skilled agents.

And today, as we ride forward to war, our life insurance, through purchase of government bonds, provides funds to keep the wheels of production rolling. At the same time, it gives us family security for the period of personal readjustment that many of us may face when victory is won.

Plea Made to Extend Inter-American Cultural Relations

Msgr. McCormick Says Catholic Alumnae Group Is Equipped for Wark

Msgr. Patrick J. McCormick, vice president of Catholic University and director of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, yesterday urged members of the District chapter to expand their work on behalf of inter-American cultural relations.

Speaking at the annual communion breakfast at the Mayflower Hotel, Msgr. McCormick said that "whatever may be undertaken in the future, "I would express the hope again this year that the admirable work which you have undertaken in behalf of Latin American interests be continued and increased, because I am convinced that this is a phase of service which the International Federation of Alumnae is especially well-equipped to promote in the interest of Pan-American solidarity."

Dr. Hector David Castro, Minister of El Salvador, another speaker, told the members that the Latin American countries are more closely united by the Catholic religion than by any other bond.

Miss Lois Meininger of Immaculate Conception Academy was announced as the winner of a short story contest of the local chapter. Honorable mention went to Miss Mary Colfer of St. Cecelia's Academy, and Miss Betty Joan Crosby of Holy Cross Academy. Sister scholarships for the summer term at Catholic University were awarded to Sister Gabrielle Marie of St. Paul's Academy, Sister Mary Aloysius of Holy Trinity High School and Sister Mary Celeste of St. Anthony's High School.

The members of the District chapter and the graduates of the affiliated high schools, academies and colleges of the District attended mass at the Cathedral of St. Matthew the Apostle. Msgr. Edward L. Buckey, pastor of the cathedral, celebrated the mass and preached the sermon.

Hitler Marks His 53d Birthday, Fetes High Officers at Lunch

One of His Gifts Reported To Be a 1350 Globe of World, Without America

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), April 20.—Adolf Hitler spent his 53d birthday at his headquarters "in immediate charge of operations," D.N.B. dispatches said today.

The only difference in the routine was a slightly more elaborate luncheon with Field Marshal Goering, Admiral Raeder, Air Field Marshal Erhard Milch and Col. Gen. Franz Halder, chief of the general staff, as his guests.

(The Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Tidningen reported that Hitler received, as a birthday gift, a globe of the world on which America and the Western Hemisphere do not appear. The globe is believed to be the oldest in existence dating from about 1350. The donor was not disclosed.)

The nation itself celebrated Hitler's birthday with ceremonies marking the calling of 1,000,000 boys and girls into the Hitler youth movement. Military observances were curtailed.

Last night, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels told Nazi party members that Hitler was like Frederick the Great, who had to pass through hard trials during critical stages of the Seven Years' War.

He asked Germans to pray for "our Hitler" so he "may increase and multiply his works."

"Ghost Voice" Breaks In.

LONDON, April 20 (AP).—Radio listeners in London who heard Propaganda Minister Goebbels' address in praise of Hitler said the Berlin broadcast was punctuated with interruptions from the "ghost voice," previously heard from Berlin.

At one point, the Londoners said, the voice said: "Germany has already lost the war. Millions of German soldiers have already been sacrificed on the eastern front while Germany is hungry at home. Down with Hitler."

Army Lauds Civilian Flyers For Helping Sink Subs

Air Patrol Volunteers in Own Planes Perform Many Military Tasks

Shrouded for months in military secrecy, the story of the volunteer airmen who have been patrolling the Nation's coastlines was disclosed today by the Army.

The little planes of the Civil Air Patrol, now numbering more than 42,000 were officially credited with helping Army and Navy bombers sink several enemy submarines.

"On several occasions," said a statement from Mitchel Field, N. Y., "enemy submarines about to attack tankers carrying oil to America's overseas forces have dived in fright without releasing their torpedoes on approach of Civil Air Patrol planes. Several sinkings scored by Army and Navy bombers are credited directly to a tip-off by civilian volunteers assigned to patrol work in certain Atlantic areas off the United States."

Especially at dusk and dawn when visibility is low and a submarine periscope has a good chance of spotting ships without detection, the planes have been useful, it was disclosed.

Fly Close to Water.

In their small planes, they fly close to the water at low speed and are considered better at finding the enemy than any other craft except blimps.

The pilots, garage mechanics, sportsmen and many veterans of the First World War, report to their bases before dawn and fly in pairs—one of them at 750 feet, the other at 250 feet.

Keeping in touch with shore by two-way radio, they can quickly summon Army and Navy bombers. Incidentally, they are not defenseless. In many cases, their activity has been carried on in bad weather.

Organized in wing commands all over the country and subjected to 230 hours of rigid training and drill, the men are all volunteers. For the coast patrol job, they are frequently called from as far away as Ohio and give as many weeks out of each month or as many days out of each week as they can spare.

Provide Own Planes.

The "flying minute men" supply their own planes, tools and spare parts and arrange to secure enough radio equipment to set up transmitting and receiving stations at their bases.

C. P. A. units, functioning throughout the country, perform tasks directly and indirectly connected with the Army. At Fort Sheridan, Ill., aerial gunnery targets have been towed by private airplanes with volunteer pilots, and in a series of surprise flights over field emplacements the men practiced sighting and tracing targets without firing.

C. A. P. units on the Great Lakes speeded up the passage of ore boats and other ships carrying vital cargoes through the lake region. Carrying sea captains with them, they scouted miles of ice formations to report the first signs of a breakup so the channels could be opened.

Carry Military Cargoes.

On an experimental basis, they started carrying Army supplies and have transported much cargo for military use to release Army transports for other duties.

In Nevada, C. A. P. units help find lost planes in the mountains. Range units, made up of ranch owners and trappers who are familiar with the area, go on foot to aid in rescues.

When a cyclone ravaged Illinois recently, C. A. P. units flew in a supply of sulfanilamide and sutures. When a fisherman was lost off the Louisiana coast, volunteer airmen found him clinging to his overturned boat after 13 hours in the water and rescued him.

In Florida, the C. A. P. helped to train volunteer airplane spotters. In one city they flew overhead during a blackout, dropping leaflets with this message, "This could have been a bomb."

800-Million Naval Expansion Bill Passes House

Aviation Gets Big Share Of Funds Authorized For Shore Facilities

By the Associated Press.

Legislation to authorize an $800,000,000 expansion in naval shore facilities was passed today by the House and returned to the Senate for action on minor amendments.

Chairman Vinson of the Naval Affairs Committee told the House that the following items made up about half of the measure:

Liquid fuel storage, $22,043,250—installations for fuel and diesel oil in the northern New England area, the San Francisco Bay area and in Southern California. In addition, the Navy Department contemplated aviation gasoline storage in the Northeast Atlantic, the Middle Atlantic, the Central California and Hawaiian areas.

Aviation facilities, $130,000,000—new aviation mechanic trade schools are contemplated in Tennessee and Oklahoma. New aircraft gunnery schools are planned in the Pacific Northwest and the Southeast. In Southern California, two new Marine Corps air stations are planned, while three Marine Corps glider training stations are contemplated for the Central Eastern States. Plans are being made for 10 operational training bases in the Southeast area and five lighter-than-air bases for patrol duty outside continental United States.

Storage facilities, $85,000,000—In the Northeast there will be a new inland supply debot, and three others will be placed on the West Coast, about 500 miles inland in the Pacific Northwest, the Central Western States and in the Southwest.

Personnel training and housing, $60,000,000—Two new major training stations are contemplated for the Central-California-Nevada area and the other on the East Coast.

Hospital facilities, $3,710,000—A "new hospital activity" is contemplated in the Gulf Coast area.

Shore radio facilities, $7,381,000—New radio transmitting stations are contemplated in the Boston, Hawaiian and San Francisco Bay areas.

("After having led us to war, after having abandoned us in battle, she tried to destroy our fleet, she killed our sailors and starved our people.

Disclaims Responsibility.

In appealing for support, Laval insisted he had "no responsibility whatever in the misfortune which has befallen us."

He urged the farmers to "till their soil with the same passion as you would use to defend it," and told workers "you have nothing to fear, but everything to hope, from the regime which is being born . . . this war carires in itself the veritable germs of revolution."

He promised to "do everything to try to bring about the salvation of the country."

The first broadcast by the new chief of government came after the first formal cabinet meeting at which Marshal Petain presided.

The speech was made against a background of unrest, emphasized by the German announcement that 30 hostages had been condemned to death at Rouen in connection with a railway wreck in which many German soldiers were killed.

"When I spoke in the name of victorious France (as premier before the war) I never thought to humiliate Germany," Laval said, "and I must pay this tribute to our conquerors: That they have never tried to humiliate France.

"I do not speak to Germany in the language of the vanquished."

Laval asked:

"Do you accept that with British help you will be submitted to a system which will bring you into misery, or do you want to be integrated into new Europe, where our honor and vital interests would be respected?"

Calls Situation Grave.

"I warn you," he said, "against all rumors that this policy is only possible at untold sacrifices and untold humiliations.

"I can only tell you that the situation is grave."

Laval promised the peasants he would do everything to reduce to a minimum the restrictive measures operating against them.

"Every time we can do it without risk to the country we shall try to give you back the freedom to which you are so justly and so profoundly attached," he said.

"My return to power means the rapprochement of France and Germany, for which I have always stood."

Addressing Frenchmen overseas, in Africa, Asia, the Pacific islands and the United States, he told them "emigrants who did not refrain from giving themselves to foreign powers" still would not be abandoned.

"It depends on our labor, our faith, to shorten the arrival of the hour of salvation," Laval concluded.

Swedish Liner to Take Axis Diplomats Home

By the Associated Press.

The Swedish liner Drottningholm will sail from New York on or about May 5 with the first group of Axis diplomats and consular officials to be exchanged for American officials held in Europe, the State Department announced today.

Inasmuch as the number of Axis officials and other Axis nationals expelled from this hemisphere is far greater than the capacity of the Drottningholm, the ship will make a second trip to Europe after returning from Lisbon with American citizens and nationals of American republics being evacuated from Europe.

Numerous Axis nationals, some of them diplomatic and consular officers, now are on the way to the United States from South American countries which have broken relations with the Axis. The American vessels on which they are traveling, the State Department said, are proceeding under the safe conduct of all the belligerent nations.

The Drottningholm, under charter to the United States Government, sailed from Goteberg, Sweden, early yesterday. It carried 144 American citizens who have been stranded in Sweden since 1940. It is traveling under the safe conduct of all belligerents, who are pledged not to stop it nor to detain or search any of its passengers.

ical attack are another matter. Fraud as an instrument of conquest is something we have read about, but have not seen, and the power of words to overthrow nations and enslave their people is a power in which we do not altogether or literally believe.

"In a certain sense and to a certain degree that skepticism of our people is a source of strength, for it reflects a confidence in our ability to see through tricks and frauds which can be helpful."

"Police" Powers Cited.

Speaking of discordant elements in vital war industries and the Government efforts to correct such troubles, Mr. MacLeish told the editors that American journalism had equal ability to "police" their own members who "practice openly and without rebuke a journalistic policy calculated to induce the surrender of American opinion without a blow—a journalistic policy calculated to destroy the American determination to fight this war through to a final and victorious conclusion."

He said that what Nazi bombers were unable to do to Britain in a winter of terror from the air, "the Nazi propagandists and the Fascists and Fifth Columnists within the country did to France between one autumn and the spring that followed."

"The question, then, of the strategy of national defense upon this front," he said, "presents itself with terrible insistence—and presents itself primarily to those who, under the American tradition in this matter, accept for themselves certain responsibilities in the field of American opinion—those who serve, and who control, the press.

"In a totalitarian country this responsibility would be a responsibility of government alone. But we are waging this war in order that American may remain a democratic country—in order that America may achieve a greater, not a narrower, democracy—and if the defense of American opinion against the new and formidable dangers of Nazi political warfare, can be maintained by those who have maintained it against different dangers in the past, the responsibilities will continue to rest where they have rested.

"What action the press should take through its various associations or otherwise, to determine this strategy of defense, it is not, of course, for outsiders to suggest. But even to the outsider it is evident that the question has two aspects—one internal to the press itself: A reorientation of the press to perform a wartime duty; and the other external: An organization of a method and a practice by which the press can meet successfully the attacks we now foresee."

Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, read to the convention this message from Riley Allen, the Star-Bulletin's editor:

"Our greetings to fellow-members. Tell them we expect to continue publishing an American newspaper in American territory in spite of hell and Hirohito and, meanwhile, we immediately are proud of Clark Lee, Russell Brines, Yates McDaniel and other A. P. men out there on the fighting lines."

Directors Being Chosen.

The first order of business was the election of the Board of Directors, ballots on which were to be counted during the day and the results announced tonight.

John S. Knight of the Detroit Free Press, chairman of a special committee to consider revisions of the A. P. by-laws, submitted his report. Consideration was deferred until after the annual luncheon at which Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Knight's committee suggested revisions which were to be considered and acted upon by the more than 600 members present, with hundreds of others voting on the proposal by proxy.

Changes Proposed.

The principal revisions offered seek broader opportunities for acquisition of A. P. memberships and the election of members by a majority instead of a four-fifths vote of the membership.

Other proposed changes to meet the requirements of members in changing times and to increase service to member newspapers dealt largely with technical and professional details of the gathering and distribution of news to A. P. member newspapers.

Motorist Leaps To Safety as Train Hits Car

Lloyd A. Jones, 37, of Laurel, Md., narrowly escaped death last night when he jumped from his car just before it was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio train at Hyattsville, Prince Georges County police reported.

Police said Mr. Jones swerved his car to avoid striking a trailer-truck on the Baltimore boulevard, driving up over a bank and on the railroad tracks. He jumped out of the automobile just before the oncoming train hit and demolished the car, police said.

Three persons today were in serious condition at Casualty Hospital as the result of injuries suffered yesterday when the car in which they were riding ran off the road and struck a tree near Westwood, Md., according to county police.

The three are Walter Harper, 25, listed by police as the driver; Agnes Harper, 26, and Milton Dotson, 65, all colored, of Westwood. They were taken to the hospital by the Marlboro Rescue Squad.

Most seriously hurt is Mr. Dotson, who received a concussion, multiple lacerations of the face and scalp and a broken jaw. The others received multiple lacerations and bruises.

Dixon Wins Approval As Casey's Successor

By the Associated Press.

CANBERRA, April 20.—The appointment of Sir Owen Dixon, justice of the High Court in Australia, as Minister to the United States has been approved by King George, Prime Minister John Curtin announced last night.

The 55-year-old jurist succeeds Richard G. Casey, who resigned to enter the British war cabinet as Minister of State for the Near East.

D. C. Recreational Bill Is Passed by Congress

Legislative action was completed today on the new District recreational bill when the House, by unanimous consent, accepted a Senate amendment. The bill now goes to the President for his approval.

The bill provides for a new board of seven members to take charge of all recreational facilities which are now operated or directed by the Commissioners, the National Capital Park Service, schools and playgrounds.

Representative Rich, Republican, of Pennsylvania, said he would hold Chairman Randolph of the House District Committee responsible for seeing that the old board and duplicated activity would be ablished and that the new bill would not mean just setting up another agency.

Civilian Defense Meeting

A meeting of civilian defense workers and citizens of the Howard Park area will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Banneker Junior High School. One hundred additional wardens and 80 messengers are needed for volunteer service in the area. War moving pictures will be shown.

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT
FOR LASTING WHITENESS

PAINT FOR PROTECTION

DU PONT House Paint gives you the utmost in protection, because it forms a tough, durable film which guards the surface against rot and decay. And it gives you lasting whiteness, too.

That's because Du Pont House Paint is "self-cleaning"! Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface, which is washed away by heavy rains. This powder carries the dirt with it, and exposes a fresh white surface.

This "self-cleaning" process starts after a few months of exposure under normal weather conditions. It may be delayed under unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions in extremely sooty industrial communities. Because this "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the film are not abnormally affected.

Du Pont "self-cleaning" House Paint, in white and Tru-Tint colors, costs you no more than other good paints.

● DON'T WASTE PAINT!

Because it protects America's war equipment, paint is a vital defense material. Use paint carefully. Consult a reliable painter. He knows how to do the job right, how much or how little paint to use. His skill means savings for you—and paint conservation for America.

Du Pont Paints are sold by good dealers everywhere. Most of them are listed in the Classified Telephone Directory.

Sunday Motorists, Out of Gas, 'Swamp' Club Tow Services

Many Stranded by Filling Stations' Week-End Closing

About 175 calls for help from motorists out of gas were received by the American Automobile Association here yesterday and the Keystone Automobile Club was likewise "swamped," the organizations reported.

A spokesman for the A. A. A. said he knew of only 12 stations which were open even briefly in the District yesterday and a half-dozen more in nearby Maryland and Virginia. After 8 p.m. only six Washington stations were doing business, and after 9 p.m. only three. One station near Highway Bridge, with a large quota of gasoline, was scheduel to stay open until midnight, but exhausted its supply and closed at 7 p.m., he said.

Only One Open All Day.

The automobile club was able to locate only one station in nearby Maryland or Virginia which was open for a full day's sales. This was at Langley, Va.

Most filling stations, during their limited hours, are still filling up gas tanks whenever a driver asks it, a survey indicated today. But operators emphasized that this is on a day-to-day basis and the policy may be changed in a hurry.

The manager of one chain of 45 stations predicted that before the end of this month stations will be limiting each purchaser to 3 to 5 gallons at a time.

Spring induced thousands to ignore the gas and tire shortage. A double line of autos moved at snail's pace around Hains Point, requiring one and a half hours for the round trip.

Road Demands Increase.

The A. A. A.'s road service department reported that the number of pleas from fuelless motorists has doubled on each successive night for the last four days, and motor club staff members said they expect the situation to get tighter toward the end of this month, as station quotas are exhausted.

To supply the industrial East with oil and gasoline, a revival of an old and storied form of commerce —river steamboating—appeared likely today.

Will Use Every Carrier.

Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes declared that every available carrier would be pressed into service to haul petroleum northward on the Mississippi and eastward along the Ohio River.

The petroleum co-ordination office and the transportation and petroleum industries are rounding out a program for complete co-ordination of rail, pipeline and barge facilities, to funnel oil eastward.

A survey was ordered to determine how much equipment may be moved from other waterways to the Mississippi and Ohio. The co-ordination office also was studying the feasibility of running a pipeline from the Southwest oil fields to Grand Lake, Ark., where the oil would be pumped into barges bound for Pittsburgh. This would cut approximately 300 miles from the present barge loading stations in Louisiana.

From Pittsburgh the oil fans out by rail tank car and transport trucks to Eastern consuming areas.

New Barges Being Built.

In 1940 some 9,459,000 barrels of petroleum products were moved by barge to the 14 States on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. This movement was increased to 16,462,000 barrels in 1941, and a haul of at least 25,000,000 barrels is expected this year. It may be considerably more.

Approximately 100 additional steel barges are being built and Mr. Ickes' aides are studying the feasibility of constructing inexpensive wooden barges. Some oil men, however, are skeptical about wood bottoms, because of the fire hazard.

While the rivers could carry only a small portion of the East's demand of 1,500,000 barrels of petroleum daily, oil and transportation men said the barge movements would be of great value in cutting many long hauls by rail tank cars.

The greatest adjustment to combat the East's oil emergency has been the pressing of rail tank cars into service. In the week ended April 11, the railroads used 43,500 tank cars to deliver 586,350 barrels daily in the seaboard area. In January, 1941, before any American tankers were loaned to Britain or were sunk or diverted to America's war purposes, the railroads delivered fewer than 1,000 barrels of oil to the East during the entire month.

J. C. Rawlings, 38, Dead; Virginia Sportsman

John C. Rawlings, 38, Virginia sportsman, who was operated on recently for a head injury suffered in a polo game several years ago, died early yesterday at Emergency Hospital. He will be buried today in the Hill Cemetery at Upperville, Va., after funeral services at 2 p.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church, The Plains, Va.

Mr. Rawlings was a frequent visitor to Washington and played polo against Army teams at Fort Myer, Va. He farmed extensively and raised cattle at his home near The Plains. Mr. Rawlings, who also was a steeplechase rider, was a member of the Orange County, the Piedmont and the Cobbler Hunts.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Skinker Rawlings; his mother, Mrs. Laura Rawlings, Rectortown, Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Thurston Willis, Warrenton, and Miss Delia Rawlings, Rectortown, and his grandfather, John W. Rawlings, Rectortown.

Richmond Debaters To Meet National U.

National University debaters will meet the University of Richmond team at 9 p.m. tomorrow at National on the question of whether the Federal Government should regulate by law all labor unions in the country.

According to terms of agreement, "regulate" means at least compulsory incorporation and the publishing of union accounts.

Every Person in U. S. Urged to Put 10% of Income in War Bonds

Treasury Will Launch Campaign on May 1; States to Get Quotas

By the Associated Press.

A war bond quota system under which every person in each of the Nation's 3,070 counties will be urged to put at least 10 per cent of his income into the bonds or stamps was announced yesterday by the Treasury Department.

The campaign, to begin on May 1, is in line with Secretary Morgenthau's recent testimony before a Congressional committee in which he recommended that a voluntary system was preferable to a compulsory method of savings through the assignment of war bonds to individuals.

The Treasury announcement said the May quotas for State and counties would be released soon and would be "revised and stepped-up in succeeding months." By July, the Treasury said, it was expected the campaign would bring war bond purchases to more than twice the monthly totals previously sold.

Bonds were sold at the rate of $1,000,000,000 a month in January, but the rate recently dropped to about $500,000,000. The total of purchases is now in excess of $5,000,000,000, the Treasury said.

Secretary Morgenthau said in his announcement that "it is our plan through the war bond quota system to reach every person in the United States who receives an income of any sort, and to reach him as quickly as possible." Management and labor will be asked to cooperate in this, he said, adding that "10 per cent of every company payroll is the minimum war bond goal."

The department explained that while setting an over-all figure of 10 per cent it recognized that "some people, because of family circumstances, cannot afford to save 10 per cent of their income, while other persons can afford an even higher percentage."

Relatives Learn Bataan Nuptial Pair Is Separated

CAPT. GARNET P. FRANCIS.

Newspaper accounts were the only information his family had today that Capt. Garnet P. Francis of Alexandria and his bride of three months were separated when Mrs. Francis was evacuated to Corregidor on April 8, leaving him on Bataan.

Mrs. John Bayliss, 14 West Maple street, Alexandria, aunt of Capt. Francis, said there was no secret about the couple's marriage, which occurred on the "front line" in Bataan, January 5, with an Army chaplain officiating.

The family was advised of the marriage, Mrs. Bayliss said, but had had no direct word from Capt. Francis since January 16, when he wrote that he was safe. There was no postmark on the letter, she said.

Capt. Francis, 33, a native of Alexandria, attended George Mason High School, where he played football, and graduated from the University of Maryland dental school in 1939. He immediately entered the Army. His parents live in St. Petersburg, Fla., and his grandparents with Mrs. Bayliss.

Mrs. Francis, the former Earleen Allen, an Army nurse, is from Jackson, Ill.

New Boy Scout Troop

A new Boy Scout troop has been formed at the Boys' Club, Seventeenth street and Massachusetts avenue S.E., Albert Greenberg, scoutmaster, announced today. A public drive is under way to obtain flags, camping equipment and uniforms for the new troop.

Civilian Protection School Is Opened At Maryland U.

Students Enrolled From District and Seven States

Fifty civilians from seven States and the District of Columbia today began an intensive training course at the Civilian Protection School recently transferred to the University of Maryland campus from Edgewood Arsenal.

The group, chosen by their State defense councils, includes two women, both from Washington. They are Miss Mary Mason, assistant chief air-raid warden in charge of women's activities, and Mrs. Nelle Holmes, private secretary to Col. Lemuel Bolles, civilian defense director for the Washington Metropolitan Area.

Courses Offered.

Instruction will be given in the proper technique of combating incendiary bombs, gases and high explosives, and in the method of setting up a control center. Ten officers from the Army Chemical Warfare Service will conduct the courses under the direction of Col. Thomas H. McHatton.

S. S. Steinberg, dean of the College of Engineering, said today that the course would cover the same subjects as given to civilians at Edgewood Arsenal. Facilities for demonstrations are being constructed on the university campus east of the Baltimore boulevard.

Additional courses will be started on alternate Sundays and will last 10 days. The hours of study will be scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The College Park school is one of seven to be established throughout the country, and is the fourth to begin actual training work.

Students From Many States.

The school at Maryland is for defense workers as far north as New York, west to Illinois and south to the Carolinas. Students in the first class here came from New York, Illinois, Ohio, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District.

The school was opened this morning with an address by Col. McHatton. Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the university, welcomed the students and Dean Steinberg also spoke.

The morning ceremonies concluded with an inspection of the school by Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the War Department's Chemical Warfare Service.

Navy Plans Early Test of Redesigned Model of Sea Otter

Tank Trials May Decide Fate of Easily Built Boat of Radical Type

By the Associated Press.

A new miniature of the Sea Otter soon will undergo tank tests which may determine whether the small, easily built cargo boat of radical design goes into mass production as the answer to Axis submarine sinkings or is discarded as impractical.

Comdr. Hamilton V. Bryan of the Navy, who nursed two previous Sea Otters into existence from his original idea of a "sardine can with an outboard motor," said today that a new model was being prepared for early tests.

Sea Otter II, the first full-size boat employing vertical propeller shafts sealed in with automobile tires and powered by gasoline marine engines, got a cold shoulder from the Navy and Maritime Commission after trials off Charleston.

President Roosevelt, who had been instrumental in bringing about its construction, said the tests had been disappointing, but ordered further work on redesigning.

Operating under a lease-lend contract, Comdr. Bryan said that Feaver Associates, Inc., Washington marine architects, had drawn the plans for the new model. Chief change made under his direction, he said, was removal of the power plant and propellers aft from amidships, where they had been placed on the Sea Otter II.

The effect, Comdr. Bryan said, would be to give the new model an 11-foot draft, removing previous objections that it could not be used in shallow waters.

Testimony obtained by a Senate Naval Affairs Subcommittee, which concluded that the Sea Otter had not been given a "sympathetic" trial, showed that the 250-foot-long boat could be constructed out of strip steel plates in an average of about six weeks if mass production methods were used. It could be built in small shipyards not now crowded with naval and larger cargo shipping projects.

Board Awards Pay Increase To 1,700 Bus Employes

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, April 20.—A 12 per cent wage increase for approximately 1,700 bus drivers, maintenance and terminal employes of Central, New England and Illinois Greyhound Lines has been granted by an arbitration board, it was announced last night by Thomas C. Ott, president of a local A. F. L. union.

The board, set up at the conclusion of a strike on the three lines, reached a settlement in Washington yesterday, Mr. Ott said.

Under present rates, mechanics and maintenance men receive from 60 cents to $1.10 an hour, drivers are paid up to 4.3 cents a mile and ticket agents are on hourly rates reaching a maximum of about $180 monthly, Mr. Budd said.

Japanese Planned Nov. 3 Attack, O. F. F. Reports

By the Associated Press.

The Office of Facts and Figures said yesterday that a Japanese-controlled radio broadcast had disclosed that November 3, 1941, was the original date set for an attack on the United States.

The broadcast over the Hsinking radio quoted an unnamed Japanese divisional chief of the military staff as follows, O. F. F. said:

"'In consideration of the various factors we were compelled to set November 3 of last year as the opening day of operations. But the opening was affected by an unexpected event, so the greater East Asia war started on December 8.'"

The Pearl Harbor attack, December 7, was December 8 Japanese time.

Parmelee Requests Warfare Board to Reinstate Him

Ouster Gives Nation Idea B. E. W. Is Accomplice of Dies, Economist Says

Dr. Maurice Parmelee, the Board of Economics Warfare economist who was accused by Chairman Dies of the House Committee on Un-American Activities of being an advocate of nudism, has been dropped from his $5,600 job on the board on "the flimsy pretext of 'reorganization'," he disclosed last night.

At the same time Dr. Parmelee made public a letter he had sent to Milo Perkins, executive director of the board, declaring that "nothing could be better calculated to give the Nation the impression that the board has become the accomplice of Dies" than his ouster.

He asked for reinstatement to bolster the morale of the B. E. F. staff.

A spokesman for the B. E. W. said "some others" had been dropped at the same time as Dr. Parmelee or would be dropped on April 30. The spokesman would not say how many nor would he identify the others.

One of Nine Named.

Dr. Parmelee was one of nine men specifically named by Mr. Dies in a letter to Vice President Wallace, board chairman, three weeks ago, when he charged that 35 board aides had been identified with Communistic organizations. Mr. Dies' letter called for their dismissal. The Texan further linked Dr. Parmelee with the authorship of a book on nudism.

Vice President Wallace immediately defended Dr. Parmelee as a responsible expert on blockade control and assailed Mr. Dies for making the charges. He promised an F. B. I. inquiry, saying that if those named by the Texan were unfit they would be discharged, but that if they were cleared he would expect Mr. Dies to apologize publicly to them.

Over the week end, Representative Eliot, Democrat, of Massachusetts made public correspondence with the B. E. W. on the results of F. B. I. investigations of the nine named men in the Dies report. Mr. Eliot said that the F. B. I. investigation had cleared the employes of the Dies charges.

In his statement, Dr. Parmelee said he had been dropped without notice April 15, and made public a telegram to Vice President Wallace, asking that his case be reconsidered and that he be given a personal interview. Two days later, he continued, he was informed that "Mr. Wallace would not reply" to the telegram.

Says F. B. I. Cleared Him.

He recalled that Mr. Wallace had spoken approvingly of his work when defending him against the Dies charges, and added that he had been cleared by the F. B. I. and now is "entitled" to the apology from Mr. Dies that Mr. Wallace said should be forthcoming under such circumstances.

In the letter to Mr. Perkins, Dr. Parmelee said the effect of his dismissal "upon the morale of the staff (of the board) is too obvious to require mention. To that extent the war effort will suffer. The only remedy for this situation as well as the only way to do me justice, is my prompt reinstatement."

50 Routed by Blaze At Apartment House

Forty pieces of fire-fighting equipment were called out early yesterday to extinguish a five-alarm blaze which drove 50 occupants of a three-story brick apartment house, at 1033 Twenty-first street N.W., out of their beds and threatened to spread to nearby buildings.

Firemen had the blaze under control in little more than an hour. It was believed to have started in the basement and to have climbed an air shaft to the roof.

The fire was confined to the single building. Police said damage was caused chiefly by water.

Capt. Joseph Donohue Leaves for Army Post

Following a reception attended by about 300 friends at the Shoreham Hotel, Joseph Donohue, Washington attorney, left last night for duty as a captain in the intelligence division of the Army Air Corps. His first post is in Pennsylvania.

Representatives Holmes of Massachusetts and Shafer of Michigan spoke briefly. In the receiving line were Capt. Donohue and his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Donohue; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kronheim and the two members of Congress.

Grass, Wood, Leaves Edible for Humans, Scientist Finds

New Digestive Theory Would Enable Troops To 'Live Off Land'

By THOMAS R. HENRY,
Star Staff Correspondent.

MEMPHIS, April 20.—Human beings can use wood, leaves and grass as food by swallowing a certain type of bacteria, according to a discovery announced at the opening of the American Chemical Society convention here today by Dr. Gustav J. Martin of the Warner Institute for Therapeutic Research in New York City.

Dr. Martin said his findings are based on experiments with animals. Tests with human beings now are under way. He said the bacteria, taken in liquid form, taste like chocolate. Enough to last a lifetime can be purchased for less than $2.

There are persistent reports, Dr. Martin said, that the Germans have developed a somewhat similar procedure to establish these bacteria in a soldier's intestines so that he can live on wood.

The careful experimentation, he stressed, may make it possible to devise a treatment which will assure American troops of an adequate diet if they should land behind enemy lines and find normal food lacking.

Month's Dosage Needed.

The bacterial colony in the intestines, Dr. Martin said, can be established by taking a syrup with about the consistency of honey for a month. A disease of the gastro-intestinal tract, such as typhoid fever, will keep out the bacteria, but otherwise they will remain in the intestines throughout life.

Normally in the intestines, Dr. Martin explained, there are good and bad bacteria. The good bacteria synthesize various factors of the vitamin B complex. The cow, for example, is able to synthesize in its stomach virtually all the B complex factors.

By feeding the good bacteria to a person, Dr. Martin said, they soon would become predominant in the intestines, driving out the bad ones. They would thus synthesize necessary food substances, eliminate the bacteria which destroy these food substances and change cellulose, ordinarily undigestible, to sugar which is utilizable as food.

Nazis Use Idea.

"The importance of intestinal bacterial synthesis of various members of the B complex cannot be overemphasized," Dr. Martin said. "It is reported that the Germans have appreciated this and thus have made it possible for their soldiers to eat leaves, grass and wood and survive."

New sources of idustrial alcohol, essential for manufacture of smokeless powder and other munitions, are opened up by other experiments reported before the society today.

Data presented by Iowa State College chemists indicate that bread molds may be drafted as important new agents in producing about 25,000,000 more gallons of industrial alcohol from 10,000,000 bushels of corn or wheat than is possible with present methods.

Chemists of the Seagram Distilling Co. reported a new rapid fermentation process developed in their laboratories. Dr. Friedrich P. Nord, professor of chemistry at Fordham University, reported he had found a new attacking agent which will break down non-fermentable sugars to the first stage of alcohol production. In the past it has been impossible to use these sugars, which exist side by side with fermentable sugars in corn and in paper mill wastes, to produce alcohol.

Two Awards to Be Given.

Approximately 3,000 chemists are expected to attend the society's 103d meeting during the week.

Two of the principal prizes in science for 1942 were scheduled to be awarded today.

Dr. Earl Allison Evans, jr., associate professor of biochemistry at the University of Chicago, was named winner of the $1,000 Eli Lilly prize for his work in biological chemistry and Dr. George E. Holm of the Agriculture Department was chosen as the recipient of the $1,000 prize of the Borden Co. for research on the chemistry of milk.

Smoke From Jail Fire Overcomes Two Women

Two Bethesda women yesterday were overcome by smoke from a fire which Montgomery County police said they set in their cell in the Rockville jail, where they were confined on disorderly conduct charges.

The blaze, which was extinguished by members of the Rockville Volunteer Fire Department, did not affect other inmates of the jail. The fire was discovered by Hugh Walker, assistant warden, police said.

Police said members of the Rockville Rescue Squad worked for almost half an hour before reviving the women, who used paper towels as fuel for the blaze.

The women were listed by police as Viola Sullivan, 29, and Leona Sullivan, 24. They were arrested Saturday night by Bethesda police.

YOUR LIFE-LINE

Our National Parks are open—as usual—for summer vacationists. Our government realizes the need for occasional recreation so that the Nation may retain its vitality. You can keep fit for duty while lengthening your span of years by enjoying a week or two in the health-building, scenic West.

The GRAND CANYON of Arizona

See this magnificent spectacle, together with Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park in Utah, on a 3 to 6-day motor tour. Each region is unlike the other two in natural formations and brilliant coloring. There's nothing on earth that compares with them.

North Western-Union Pacific trains, completely air-conditioned, take you direct to Lund, Utah, where you board comfortable motor buses. Mail coupon for complete information about individual trips or escorted, all-expense tours.

Mobilizing Man Power

President Roosevelt's order creating the War Man Power Commission, with Federal Security Administrator McNutt as chairman, is a logical step in America's necessary transition from a peacetime to a total war economy. Our Axis enemies have demonstrated clearly that modern warfare calls for the all-out mobilization of civilian armies of production. They realize fully that the army which fails to receive adequate supplies continuously from the production lines at home is at a grave disadvantage. Hence, the Axis long ago drafted non-combatants for work in war factories and in the fields.

Issuance of the executive order on man power does not mean, of course, that the United States is ready to launch a program of compulsory civilian service, including the actual drafting of men and women for the army of production. No evidence has been presented as yet to show that so drastic a move is necessary. Moreover, special legislation undoubtedly would be enacted before compulsion were used.

However, there are numerous indications that over-all co-ordination and administration of labor recruiting, training and distribution activities are urgently needed. Here is where the new Man Power Commission will have abundant opportunities for national service. For example, in the rush to build up the fighting branches, the Selective Service System in too many instances has drawn skilled workers and professional men away from industrial tasks that are just as vital to prosecution of the war as driving a tank or manning a gun. Hence, Chairman McNutt will have full authority to formulate definite policies with respect to the "use and classification of the man power needed for critical industrial, agricultural and governmental requirements." The order empowered him "to see to it" that adequate supplies of workers for factory, farm and governmental civilian branches are made available from Selective Service registration lists.

The commission will have the benefit of the inventories of skills and other qualifications now being taken by Selective Service authorities. It will have the right to arrange the deferment of men who can better serve the Nation by remaining at their jobs in industry or agriculture than by joining the Army or Navy. In addition, the commission will be able to obtain a broad picture of the labor potentialities from the questionnaires to be filled out by the 13,000,000 men between the ages of forty-five and sixty-four, inclusive, who must register on April 27. The registration law does not provide for the induction of these older men into combat or industrial service, but it affords a means of surveying man power possibilities for any future use. And, significantly, the commission has been given specific authority to recommend any legislation which it may deem necessary to achieve "the most effective mobilization and utilization" of the country's man and woman power.

Shipping Taken Over

The War Shipping Administration has made a logical move in requisitioning the ocean-going tankers and dry cargo vessels still remaining in the hands of private American shipping interests. Approximately 75 per cent of the country's freight tonnage already had passed under Government control by purchase, charter or requisitioning. The acquisition of the remainder assures that unified operation of the merchant marine which is indispensable to the success of the war effort. Every foot of cargo space has become so vital that it is absolutely necessary to use it to maximum advantage and that was not possible under divided authority.

Another factor that no doubt weighed heavily in the determination of the Government to assume full charge of merchant shipping was the Axis submarine campaign that has worked such havoc along the Atlantic coast. Rightly or wrongly, some of the sinkings have been blamed on the refusal of private owners to take the precautions that shipping authorities believed were necessary. If that condition has prevailed, it has exacted a high price, and it is time that the Government stepped in. The toll of recent weeks has demonstrated conclusively that nothing can be left to chance in dealing with the submarine menace.

Several hundred vessels are affected by the decision of the Shipping Administration, but officials expect the transfer to go through without a hitch. The status of the crews will be unchanged, with the exception that hereafter they will be in Government instead of private employment. It is to be expected, however, that private shippers whose operations already have been curtailed severely, will face even further restrictions with the Government in charge of all tonnage.

The Laval-Petain Enigma

In the strange drama of Vichy, France, experience has shown that it is wise never to jump to conclusions. For instance, in the autumn of 1940, when Pierre Laval was Marshal Petain's right-hand man and legal successor, it was generally assumed that the Vichy regime was completely under Axis domination. Then, suddenly, Laval was expelled from the government, and for over a year Vichy followed a tortuous policy of semi-neutrality. Now, with equal suddenness, Laval returns as head of a new political setup and nominates a cabinet over which he is to preside with the title of "Chief of Government."

Once more, outside observers assert that Petain has become a mere figurehead and that Vichy is a pliant tool of Germany. This may be so. Yet neither the structure of the new regime nor the statements of its leaders make this self-evident. Two interpretations are possible: Either the new arrangement has been made purposely equivocal in order to camouflage a complete surrender to the Axis, or Marshal Petain has succeeded in reserving some measure of authority which he can use as a sort of veto power to check Laval and his policies.

Here are the facts: Marshal Petain remains "Chief of State"—the supreme authority under the Constitutional Act of July, 1940, which is the legal basis of the Vichy regime. Laval has submitted his cabinet appointees to Petain's approval, and both he and they will function under Petain, to whom they will all account for their undertakings and their acts. This status was stressed by the marshal himself in his radio address yesterday, when he coupled a statement that he stood behind Laval with the assertion that Laval was "under my authority." Legally, there is nothing to prevent Petain from vetoing Laval's acts or dismissing him once more.

Equally noteworthy is the fact that Laval has not regained the full political stature which he enjoyed before his abrupt downfall in December, 1940. He is not restored to his position of "successor designate" or heir apparent to the aged marshal. That vital post is left in the hands of Admiral Darlan. Furthermore, Darlan was named "commander of all the armed forces of France" by Petain in advance of Laval's appointment as Chief of Government, and is responsible, not to Laval and his cabinet, but directly to the marshal. Thus, while Laval formulates foreign and domestic policy, he has no direct control over the army, navy and air forces. It is well known that Laval and Darlan distrust and dislike each other, both for personal reasons and because their ambitions mutually conflict. The practical importance of this is obvious when we realize that Laval could not actually turn over the French fleet to Germany on his own initiative. Darlan would have to give the order, and would be responsible to Petain rather than to Laval if he should refuse.

Another point to note is that Petain has two of his confidential men in key cabinet posts. These are Lucien Romier, the Minister of State, and Joseph Barthelemy, Minister of Justice. Laval combines within himself the posts of foreign affairs, interior and information, thus uniting foreign and domestic policy and propaganda. The other members of the cabinet are Lavalists or nonentities.

Such is the curious structure which has just been set up at Vichy. On its face, it looks like a compromise, with several internal checks and balances. Of course, as already stated, all this may be a smokescreen to veil Laval's hidden power. The wily Auvergnat is capable of just such a maneuver. But Petain's record proves him to be tenacious of his authority and capable of stubborn rear-guard actions. The course of events alone will prove which surmise is correct.

Mexican Oil Settlement

The most disturbing point of friction in United States-Mexican relations in recent years appears finally removed by official agreement on the amount of compensation due American oil companies whose properties in Mexico were expropriated by the Mexican government in 1938. While the agreement is not binding on the oil companies and so technically is not a final settlement until accepted by them, it seemingly closes the matter as an issue between the two governments.

Some such compromise was made imperative by the practical necessity of clearing away all obstacles to the closest kind of co-operation between this country and Mexico in war and defense efforts. The two Good Neighbor nations, their full energies needed in what President Manuel Avila Camacho of Mexico termed "the common struggle for the triumph of democracy and the defense of continental solidarity," no longer could afford to haggle over an issue that has been reduced progressively in relative importance as the war came nearer and nearer to the Western Hemisphere.

In a spirit of determination to wipe out any source of ill feeling that might impair development of the program of effective collaboration on which they have embarked, the governments last November appointed experts from each country to decide the fair value of the expropriated oil properties which remained in dispute. The American concerns involved have claimed upwards of $150,000,000; Mexico had contended the lands were worth no more than $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. Morris L. Cook, representing the United States, and Manuel J. Zebada, Mexico's representative on the joint commission, fixed the value at $23,995,991 in their report made public Saturday night, recommending that Mexico pay this amount to the United States Government on behalf of the oil companies over a five-year period. This does not include the $8,500,000 Mexico agreed two years ago to pay Sinclair oil interests directly.

Presumably, it is now up to the oil companies involved to accept the recommended settlement or nothing, so far as this Government is concerned. President Roosevelt expressed the Government's attitude by hailing the evaluation agreement as a demonstration "that the most difficult international problems can be satisfactorily solved when approached with good will and in a spirit of fair play."

Aid to Russia

The announcement that lease-lend aid to Russia in March was two and one-half times as great as that sent in February would have attracted wider attention had it not come at a time when the daring American air raid on Japan was holding the center of the news stage. It would be a serious mistake, however, to overlook the significance of this sharp rise in lease-lend activity.

Without in any way minimizing the importance of the attack on Japan, especially from the standpoint of its effect on morale, it is no exaggeration to say that it was a minor action when compared with the great battle which is getting into stride on the Russian front. Until we are able to operate from bases close enough to Japan to permit of heavy and sustained bombing attacks, the damage that we can do probably will not be decisive. But in Russia, where the Nazi war machine has been stopped and even hurled back in some sectors, there is an ever-present opportunity to break the power of the Axis, and to do it now. If the United States and Great Britain can supply the Russian Army with enough equipment during the weeks immediately ahead, Hitler may well reach the end of this summer's campaign with defeat inevitably staring him in the face.

Hence, the importance of the announcement that Russian lease-lend aid reached an all-time high in March and that every effort will be made to accelerate deliveries in the future. Also fitting into this picture are the tremendous air assaults which the R. A. F. has been making on Germany and occupied Europe and General George C. Marshall's statement that specially trained American troops will collaborate with the British in Commando raids.

The war, as Harry Hopkins has said, will not be won by production alone, but must finally be decided by actual fighting. That is a wholly truthful statement. And it is in Europe—this year—that the United Nations will be called upon to meet the supreme test of their capacity to produce and their capacity to fight. The result may be expected to determine the outcome of the war.

The Last Laugh

Thirty-six years ago Henri Lanos, French artist, let his imagination run riot and made a number of fantastic predictions, with drawings to illustrate what was in his mind. So absurd were his guesses that there was some informal talk of locking him up in the interest of public safety, but as France was a democracy then, not a demockery, he was allowed to remain at large.

Henri showed armored vehicles mowing down the enemy with shot and shell. As if this were not sufficiently weird, he depicted large aircraft flying between London and Paris and even to New York. As further evidence of Henri's insanity (so said his contemporaries) there was his absurd notion that pictures of politicians would be thrown on screens, and that they would actually talk right from the screen, although he did fail to guess that some of the lower forms of political life would use this means openly to advocate surrender and treason. He actually had nerve enough to predict that the horseless carriage would become perfected and so numerous that traffic directors and colored lights would be necessary and that even then traffic jams would often occur.

His ridiculous forecasts were seized upon by newspapers as good copy for a laugh. Now editors would like him back again; it has been a long, long time since France has had a laugh.

The Book of Deuteronomy says: "When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business; but he shall be free at home one year and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken." Was not King Solomon a self-sacrificing fellow to keep as busy as he did in the face of all his possible exemptions?

District Schools Share In National Defense

Writer Tells How War Has Enlisted Officials, Teachers and Pupils

By John W. Thompson, Jr.

History will some day record and give due credit to the District public school system for its contribution to the defense and war effort of the Nation.

Even in uneventful peacetime, the education of 90,000 children is a full-time job for the 3,000 or more teachers, the hundreds of custodians who heat and clean buildings, and the school officials who administer a $13,000,000 budget.

Yet from the very moment that the national emergency was proclaimed, when "Bundles for Britain" was the slogan instead of "Remember Pearl Harbor," this great organization placed both its $60,000,000 plant and its highly trained personnel at the service of its country and community.

When the call went out for trained industrial workers for vital defense industries, the District's vocational schools began to hum night and day teaching the vital crafts to new students and refreshing others with some previous experience. Increased offerings in Spanish and Portuguese were made available to the Army and others as events overseas forced closer welding of inter-American ties.

It was Asst. Supt. of Schools Chester W. Holmes who organized the District's historic first registration of man power since the First World War on October 16, 1940. Hundreds of teachers formed the bulk of the volunteer registrars and high school cadets served as messengers in the school buildings turned over to the project.

For the next two registrations selective service called for Dr. Holmes and his teacher registrars and he is once again readying for the signing up of the 45-65-year-old age group April 27.

When the 25 District draft boards were first set up it was in school buildings that many had their offices. School custodians, many already working 12 to 14 hours a day during the normal school day, supplied overtime service to these boards for which they have not as yet been paid.

School teachers in school buildings will register the thousands of city sugar consumers for rationing cards the end of this month and the early part of May. Many night school classes were forced into the Easter week holiday to make up for the lost time.

As for the District civilian defense program, it can almost be said that it revolves about the school system. School buildings were used for the mass meetings which set up the area civilian defense committees. They provided classroom space for instruction of air-raid wardens. In some cases they are warden headquarters. They have their function in the emergency medical scheme as first-aid stations and temporary hospitals. School yards form the base of operations of the demolition squads which have been organized.

Not a night goes by but brilliantly lighted school buildings in all sections of the city bear witness to the place of the schools in the national and local war program over and above the regular night school classes and recreational programs usually carried on. Plans are now under way to keep in operation until June 30 some 36 school buildings in which night activities normally terminate about that date. The need is too heavy to be ignored.

Hundreds of school teachers stood watch in cold, gloomy school buildings during last Christmas season in that famous and to this day fully unexplained "boner" by civilian defense officials who ordered a secret 24-hour vigil for school switchboards, without ever explaining why. Many protested, but they and others who did not protest served until the project finally was liquidated weeks later.

When the need for first-aid instructors became acute, a few trained teachers volunteered their time to train other volunteer teachers. Even meetings of the Board of Education at the Franklin School gave way at 4:30 p.m. to instruction of employes in first aid.

A special committee has been set up under Principal May Bradshaw of Roosevelt High School to promote the sale of Defense bonds among teachers and pupils.

To contribute to the need for trained airplane pilots a ground school course was instituted last year at Wilson and Miner Teachers Colleges. Last February aviation courses were introduced to the senior high schools and plans are under consideration to make it a full-year program. Only last week a special six-week summer refresher course for would-be pilots was approved by the board.

In the wood shops of the junior and senior high schools pupils are doing their bit for Uncle Sam producing precision-made airplane models to be used by the Navy for pilot training and civilian spotters. The District quota is 2,500 to be made before schools close in June and only perfect models will be accepted. Previously they had manufactured splints for Red Cross classes and civilian defense.

Impressed with the need of greater physical fitness among the students, from what the draft rejection figures have shown, school officials now are moving to step up the physical education program and have given it first place in their plans for curriculum revision.

In these and countless other ways the schools are doing their bit.

Criticizes Politicians For Alleged Selfishness.
To the Editor of The Star:

Now more than ever before the constitutional rights of individual citizens need protection from the attempted depredations of power-mad politicians.

You can render a tremendous service by giving as much space to the defense of constitutional rights and personal liberties as is being given to the attempts to subvert them to the personal profit of selfish politicians under the guise of patriotism.

It is ridiculous for a group of individuals, who obviously and openly are working for their own personal benefit, to ask the great body of American people to give up liberty in the name of liberty.

Freedom is our birthright and we shall defend it against all enemies.

THIS AND THAT

By Charles E. Tracewell.

"SPRING VALLEY.

"Dear Sir:

"I think you and your readers will be interested in the latest adventure of Boops, our cat.

"He took a slap at Japan in the best feline manner, without any of us knowing what he was doing.

"He is fed in the kitchen, from two earthenware dishes. One is green and one is orange.

"I had always noticed that the orange bowl was the better of the two, much thicker, and better made in every way.

"It should have been, because it cost about 10 times as much.

"These bowls had been purchased six or seven years ago.

"Boops, who is a tiger cat, had eaten out of them ever since.

* * * *

"The other morning I put both these dishes in the sink to wash.

"Having proceeded with this chore, I put both of them on the window sill to dry in the sun.

"Leaving the room for a moment, I heard a tremendous clatter.

"I reproved the cat at once, in no uncertain terms.

"'You bad animal,' I said, 'to break your bowl!'

"He kept looking down at the floor.

"I pointed to the broken dish.

"'See what you have done,' I said. 'Such a nice dish, all broken to pieces. And now you will have nothing to drink your water out of.'

"Boops kept looking down at the broken crockery. He looked so long and so persistently that I stooped down to see what he was looking at.

"There was a piece of the bottom, upside down, staring right up at me.

"And printed on it, in firm characters, was something that I had never noticed before.

"'Made in Japan,' it said.

"I turned over the other, the thick, intact bowl, and there on the bottom was the imprint of a famous house in England!

"Boops looked real proud of himself.

"Sincerely yours, E. T. O."

Cats are strange creatures.

Many persons have believed them psychic, to some extent at least.

In the early days of mankind, wise men of certain nations freely accorded them occult powers, even regarding them as religious.

The persons who so thought were the thinkers of the nations, the men who knew how to read and write, after their fashion, in those days.

They were not the unthinking populace, by any means, the unlettered and the untrained.

Cats held a high place, especially in the system of Egypt, mystery land of the long ago, before it was opened up to conquest.

It was naturally protected by the barriers of deserts and seas, but these had begun to shrink, even in those days, with the advent of larger ships and wheels.

The mighty invention of the wheel—what other in all history will ever excel it!

The house cat has seen many inventions, but it holds firm to the faith of its fathers. Not for it the newfangled things, but the old, solid delights of the world in the beginning. When will mankind come to have some of the common sense of the cats and dogs, the birds and the fishes? Probably never, alas! It goes right along, delighted with every new invention, although that invention holds within itself the seeds of woe and disaster.

The cats know better. They realize, in their way, that a good meal is still something to be reckoned with, that water is good to drink, and that it is not so good to bathe in. Birds, the cats know, like to bathe, but then, birds were always rather silly things! This disregard for birds is also a part of the cat tradition. You will see it often in two blazing eyes, especially female cats behind window panes. How they hate the birds which come to the feeding station just outside the window! Male cats, as a rule, come to realize that they cannot get at the birds through the pane, but not the females; these switch their tails and chatter like monkeys. It was from this habit, perhaps, that the saying arose that the female of the species is more deadly than the male.

* * * *

These enemies are rats and mice.

Most of these rodents have infiltrated into this country from foreign lands.

They are not wanted here—especially by cats. Cats do not like rats, and at times are afraid of them. Mice are more their meat. In the best totalitarian fashion, house cats like to attack something smaller, something which they realize they can kill.

Most cats, however, will attack rats, and this is rather to their credit, for a full-grown rat is almost as large, possessing a strength which looks clumsy, but which is all strength.

Experts tell us that there would be no agriculture in this country if it were not for cats. Without them, rats and mice would run riot, eat all the farmers' grain, and in other ways spoil and ruin the crops. Cats heroically defend their country on a million fronts, and ask nothing in return except a bowl of milk and a kindly pat on the head.

Appeals for Animals Who Are "Friends and Helpers."
To the Editor of The Star:

In reference to National Humane Sunday and Kindness week, April 19-25, let us use the word that means so much to us all now—"defense"—and in this connection defense of our animal friends and helpers.

In all wars countless dumb creatures are involved, either left homeless in war-torn lands when owners flee the enemy, trained for duty along battle lines, or made victims of numerous current cruelties. It is therefore fitting that we realize their speechless suffering during this week dedicated to kindness to all creatures and, in return for their part in our defense, resolve to spare them needless pain.

Always report homeless, abandoned animals still at large to the Animal Protective Association, 3960 Wheeler road S.E., especially when seen in areas being wrecked for new defense projects. We have two night agents working on wrecked projects, but we want the public to become interested in noting these cases of abandonment.

Proposes Attack Upon Japan From Bases in Siberia.
To the Editor of The Star:

Why not supplement our growing cooperation with Russia by having the Soviet government permit us to base hundreds of our bombers and fighters at Vladivostok and, when sufficiently powerful, attack Japan simultaneously with a like air force from Australia or other strategic base, a two-pronged thrust, blithering and unexpected?

Let us use the enemies' tactics, as they certainly seem to be efficacious, and from now on let those tactics serve as a precedent for our warfare, so that he who strives to live by the sword shall perish by the sword. HELEN CANE.

Differs With Unionist Who Criticized High Wages.
To the Editor of The Star:

The letter signed "G" in your issue of April 16 is amazing. That a member of a labor organization should join the newspaper columnists and other writers to defame fellow workers is beyond understanding.

I am not in a building trades union. In fact, I am in a "white collar" union, but I will not stab in the back a brother in overalls.

I do not condone the actions of racketeers in labor unions, nor the pusillanimity of those members who permit racketeers to get control of their unions, but there are millions of honest, upright union men in this country who represent the highest type of citizenship. In fact, the most dependable and substantial craftsmen are union men. Also: Unions and union men have bought and are buying millions of dollars of Defense bonds and stamps; upon the skill, patriotism and brawn of union men depend the production that will win this war; and, more than all else, it is our sons and brothers that make up a large portion of the Army

"G" deplores the fact that some union man may get $1.75 an hour. I doubt that he does, but I do not doubt in the least that the ratio of defamers of labor who get 10 times as much as they earn is 10 times as great as of union men in the same category. Furthermore, our boys will fight on battlefields in the four corners of the earth and when they have won they will come back to sweatshops and drudgery, if the labor unions do not preserve the American way of life for them. Asks Motorists to Give "Lift" To Soldiers Waiting for Transportation.
To the Editor of The Star:

What has happened to hospitable, old-time Washington? I was here for a short time in the First World War and it was almost impossible for any one in uniform to walk to work in Washington. Every motorist stopped, every driver wanted to give the soldier a lift.

Now, apparently, nobody thinks of doing it. Cars containing one civilian and, I am sorry to say, frequently one officer or soldier, whiz by the serviceman who is stranded on a corner waiting for his overcrowded bus or trolley car, or hoping for a taxi that is hard to find.

It seems to me—on two counts—that it would be well to emulate Washington in the First World War. In the first place, it is patriotic to fill up the car; the car that goes to work fully loaded is saving gas, rubber and oil, and is a better bet on home defense than four or five cars with one person each. Secondly, it is hospitable for Washington to give the other fellow a lift.

This is my third week here at Army headquarters and only once has any stranger invited me to ride when I was hunting a taxi, and he turned out to be a fellow veteran of 1917-18.

What Washingtonians did in the other war, I prefer to believe, is the real Washington. MAJOR D.

To the Editor of The Star:

I think that we should have a blackout once a week or at least once every other week. This is necessary so that we can train our people as to how to act if the "real thing" occurs. I hope it doesn't, but I believe we should be ready for anything nowadays.

Every one would co-operate better if we had more frequent blackouts because they would know just exactly what to do. As things are now, I doubt whether any one would know what to do if we had a sudden blackout. I hope there are others who feel the same way about this.

Expresses Regret Over Passing of National Hotel.
To the Editor of The Star:

It is with sadness and a certain alarm that I read in the columns of The Star that the District proposes to tear down the old National Hotel Building, a landmark of the Capital City during more than a century.

Perhaps "progress" must be served, but to simply tear down, destroy a building so intimately associated with our history—a building in which Henry Clay, the great compromiser, died, where Lincoln dined, where numbers of our most famous American lived, seems hardly progressive to the writer.

Will one of those so-called temporary structures which dot the city take the place of the famous old building?

Haskin's Answers To Questions

By Frederic J. Haskin.

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Star Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please inclose stamp for reply.

Q. What is the minimum age at which a man may receive a commission in the Army?—L. N. C.

A. The War Department says that a soldier in the United States Army may be commissioned when he is 18 years of age.

Q. How did the term "cat's-paw" originate?—S. D. G.

A. The reference is to the fable of the monkey, who, having roasted some chestnuts and finding them too hot to touch, caught a cat and, holding her fast, used one of her paws to rake the nuts from the fire.

Q. What is meant by an "essential oil"?—F. J. K.

A. An essential oil is one which contains the essence of scent or flavor of the plant which produces it. The amount of oil present in aromatic plants varies greatly; sometimes it is almost infinitesimal. For instance, it takes about 15 tons of violet flowers to produce a single pound of oil of violets.

Q. What was the real name of the singer known as Black Patti?—D. T.

A. She was born Matilda S. Joyner, in 1868. Following her marriage, she was known as Sissieretta Jones. The New York Clipper gave her the nickname of "Black Patti."

Q. Who were the River Gods?—T. H.

A. This name was given to the heads of leading families in the Connecticut Valley. They were uncompromising Federalists.

Q. Is the water in the Panama Canal salt or fresh?—M. B.

A. Most of the water in the canal is fresh.

Care of the Feet—A 32-page authoritative publication on the subject is just what foot sufferers need. Many people suffer annoyance and pain from various causes that may be avoided by reasonable care. By properly exercising the feet, and knowing how to treat simple foot ills, you can soon forget foot troubles. The booklet tells what you can do and what you should not attempt to do in foot treatment. Q. What was the distribution of family income in the year 1941?—A. B. H.

A. It is estimated that in 1941 34 per cent of the families in the United States received incomes of less than $1,000; 35 per cent received incomes between $1,000 and $2,000; 18 per cent between $2,000 and $3,000; 9 per cent between $3,000 and $5,000 and 4 per cent over $5,000.

Q. Do lungfishes actually possess lungs?—F. T. H.

A. In addition to the regular gills they have an air bladder modified so as to serve as a lung. Some scientists believe the lungfish to be an intermediate form between the amphibians and the fishes of today.

Q. What is the famous picture that is painted entirely in black and red?—M. C.

A. It is a painting entitled "Wanderings of the Aztecs," on maguey paper, all in black, except that the line of travel is in red.

Q. Is there a way to dustproof coal?—A. G. D.

A. The Bureau of Mines gives the following information on a mixture that will dustproof coal: Spray with 6 pounds of calcium chloride dissolved in 3 gallons of water per ton of coal. It must be sprayed at fairly high pressure to thoroughly atomize the solution.

Q. Why is the letter "d" used to signify the English penny?—L. S.

A. The letter "d" used to signify pence in English money is taken from the Latin word "denarius," meaning penny.

Q. What is a basic patent?—E. S.

A. The term "basic patent" is used ordinarily with the same significance as "pioneer patent"—that is, as having reference to a patent covering an invention which represents a marked advance in art, as when an inventor for the first time accomplishes a certain result.

Q. Where was the first water system in the United States?—R. D.

A. The first water system built in the United States was constructed by the Water Works Co. of Boston, Mass., in 1652.

Q. Where is the King of Greece at the present time?—R. U. L.

A. Greece was occupied by Axis forces in May, 1940, and the King, together with government officials, fled first to Egypt and later to England, where a government in exile has been established.

And So It Goes

Parents with good memories are blest.
They will not languish long in dark despair,
Nor weep vain tears, nor beat upon the breast
For wayward offspring, more than they can bear.
They will but pause and drink a soothing draft
Of memory, will be themselves again
When they were young and equally as daft;
They will relax comparing now with then—
The same fierce urge, as wanton and as wild,
The pawing of the hoofs at all restraints,
And will, remembering, be reconciled
To sons and daughters springing from no saints—
Sons and daughters who will shortly be
Clucking their tongues at their posterity!

Fall Elections Called Peril To War Effort

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Must America have a bitter political campaign in the midst of the most difficult and dangerous war in our history?

That question is worrying loyal citizens in both Republican and Democratic parties. Britain has not had a general election since the war, neither has Canada, and if the United States had the same parliamentary system as our sister democracies, there would be no election at a time such as this.

David Lawrence.

But while the Constitution calls for congressional elections every two years, a voluntary agreement between the two major parties can be made merely to confine the election to the routine re-election of existing members of both houses, irrespective of party.

There is much talk about "freezing" prices, open and closed shops and other controversial issues that may interfere with the all-out war effort, so it is logical to consider freezing the relative position of the two major parties in the Senate and House.

The process of accomplishing that result would be simple. The two major parties would agree not to campaign against the candidates who hold seats in Congress. While a few would-be candidates might arise here and there to disregard such a plan, and could legally do so, the number would be negligible and the country would still be spared a bitter campaign on a Nation-wide scale.

If the election were held tomorrow, this correspondent firmly believes the Republicans would capture the House and make heavy gains in the Senate. A substantial anti-war and isolationist vote exists and that, together with the vast number who feel that the New Deal has arbitrarily deprived the minority of its rights on many domestic issues, could constitute the balance of power which would be ample to swing 55 to 60 districts or even more. A change in 53 districts would give the Republicans control of the House.

G. O. P. Would Be Assailed.

But the administration knows this situation, and whether it cares to admit it or not, the strategy of the party in power would be to take no chances and open up on the isolationists with all kinds of political guns. The Republicans would be assailed as responsible for lack of military preparation before Pearl Harbor and as being anxious to approve a "negotiated" peace. That is not true, but the Democrats would say so, and the cry would be raised that the election of a Republican House would be "aid and comfort" to Hitler. Loyal members of Congress would be smeared by innuendo, and altogether one cannot imagine more real and substantial comfort to Hitler and Goebbels than to see America's energies diverted from all-out war to all-out politics. In the end it would not be surprising to see many Republicans voting the Democratic ticket just to prevent the result from being misconstrued abroad and thus the Republicans would lose the election.

Given five months of the New Deal propaganda tactics of the past, with the aid of public funds and a bitter campaign waged on war issues, this correspondent believes the Republicans would be defeated. The latter have everything to gain in public prestige by joining a movement to forego the 1942 contest, because if the war is over by 1944, they will still derive any political advantages then that would accrue now from the anti-war elements. Back in 1920 the Republicans had the anti-war vote and won easily, even though their presidential candidate was the weakest of those in the race at the convention.

G. O. P. Appointments Urged.

In order to get unity on the 1942 campaign problem, it would be helpful if the President were to make certain changes in the management of the governmental machine so that the minority would have some representation in the cabinet, especially in those key positions where economic policies are decided. While Republicans are at the head of the War and Navy Departments, they have no real influence in the Government's handling of the economic and labor problems which are disturbing national unity. But even if the administration is so shortsighted as to continue to ride roughshod over minority rights by its arbitrary use of the regulatory and prosecuting power, the Republicans would be in a better position before the country if they took the initiative now in proposing that there be no 1942 political campaign. Where vacancies occur or withdrawals of incumbent members take place, the political complexion of the congressional district could be maintained under the same agreement to refrain from supporting rival candidates who do not abide by the voluntary understanding entered into by the congressional leaders of both parties.

There are doubtless many objections to the plan. So are there objections to any wartime sacrifices. But to win the war is paramount, and America will not be as effective in the next six months with a bitter political campaign going on as we would be without such a contest as will ensue if restraints are not self-imposed.

Laval Ascendancy Seen Nazi Attempt to Win France Through a Frenchman, Confuse U. S. Policy

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

It is extremely important that we see with complete clarity the game that is being played by the Nazis in the appointment of Laval.

Dorothy Thompson.

The move immediately concerns the United States, for behind it are very astute political calculations aimed at dividing the United States and embarrassing the President and the conduct of the war.

It is seldom that I write an article, which I would like to head with a cry, "Listen, please." But this time I hope my readers will really heed these words. Because we have to be smart, we must know exactly what is in our enemy's hand in order to play our own cards well.

And at first glance this move is not transparent. It is extremely subtle. But it is possible to understand it, and the creation of an understanding of it is the purpose of this column.

Let us ask a few questions. Why was Laval appointed just now? Obviously, the Nazis could have forced him on Petain at any time. The mere fact that Marshal Petain accepts him at all proves this. For Marshal Petain despises Laval. He despises him as one who has made a fortune out of dubious politics; as a traitor, who is an acknowledged Nazi agent—acknowledged, I mean, by Petain himself.

Hitler Fears Invasion.

The reason why Laval enters the picture now is, first of all, strategical. Hitler thinks an invasion of Western Europe is possible. Hitler knows that he cannot concentrate all he has against Russia until the French situation is clarified.

What else is Hitler afraid of? He is afraid the French people may rise to welcome the invading troops of the Allies.

How can he offset this?

By offering concessions to the French people and by bringing about confusion of counsel in the United States.

Up to now, France has been divided into two zones: the larger occupied, and without a government.

Officially, it is under Vichy. Actually it is under the military rule of Gen. von Stuelpnagel. This military rule is most obnoxious to the French, and the violent measures to suppress their discontent—such as the shooting of hostages—have failed.

German military authorities know they have no power to call the French people to resist their "invaders" if the "invaders" are the Allies, bent on freeing France. Therefore, Hitler has to have a Frenchman to organize resistance, under a nationalist slogan of "defending French soil."

In the unoccupied zone, he has had Petain and Darlan, who are Fascist in a Francoish way. But they are neither strong enough nor unscrupulous enough to put French nationalism on the German side. Petain's game was to try to keep France as neutral as the armistice terms allowed, at least until it became clear who was going to win the war. Now, as the weight in the scale is turning towards our side, this attitude is unbearable to the Germans.

Laval Is No Martyr.

But Laval is committed outright to either a Nazi victory or a Nazi peace. In any other case, he is shot, and Laval does not yearn for martyrdom. Laval is not even a Fascist. Laval has one political philosophy: He is a Lavalist. He is ambitious and, unfortunately, is extremely clever.

Laval is the man on whom "nobody ever got anything." He entered politics in 1914 as a penniless lawyer and 10 years later had a fortune of 25,000,000 francs, with no visible means of earning it. His name was mentioned in every major scandal, but his participation never proved. He was Minister of Public Works, and his fortune grew as he let out contracts. He was Minister of Justice, and cases involving wealthy Frenchmen were mysteriously quashed. He was Prime Minister and pursued his law practice, receiving clients—and opponents—in the premier's office.

Traveling with a French journalist from Paris to Bordeaux while France was falling, he seemed in excellent spirits.

Now, at first sight, one would think appointment of Laval would only increase French resentment—and, at first sight, that is what has happened.

But keeping the Nazi game in mind, let us think and predict what can happen.

Remember that the Nazis need Laval to handle the French people.

What will they give Laval to offer the French people?

False Impression Given.

The division of France is distressing to all Frenchmen. Having divided France, the Nazis will now in all probability allow Laval to bring about its reunion. They will stage spurious "conflicts of policy" in which Laval will appear to be the winner. Laval will slyly wink, giving the impression that it takes a smart Frenchman to outwit the Germans.

And the game is, that for those things, and perhaps some others, the French will pay for an outright Nazi and completely anti-Allied organization of France.

Now it would be foolhardy to say that this policy won't work. If we allow Laval to have a series of successes, it is quite possible that we will be played out of the game.

If we keep our eyes on the French fleet, instead of on the whole political constellation, we stand a good chance of being deceived ourselves. The appointment of Darlan as commander of all French forces is not a preparation for delivery of the fleet to the Germans.

For Laval will not deliver the fleet to the Germans. That would be too transparent and unsubtle. Laval's game is to do nothing, on the surface, for the Germans, but everything for nationalist France.

He will therefore make a step-by-step policy, engaging the fleet, first, in convoys—for instance to get food to France. It will certainly not be unpopular in France to insist on convoying food transports. Through representatives in America, he will make a great bid for our sympathy and support.

Has International Role, Too.

For internationally also, Laval's job for the Nazis is to prove that he is acting exclusively in the interests of France. His international role also is to launch a peace offensive, especially in the United States, and on behalf of the suffering people of France, with the object of dividing public opinion in the United States and thus weakening our effort.

Hitler knows that French propaganda over here is a thousand times more effective than German. Not only has experience proved that Hitler can only win France through a Frenchman; it also indicates that Hitler can only confuse America by a Frenchman.

Laval is picked for both jobs.

Now, what cards does Laval have to play over here?

First, he has at least one American journalist who is almost a personal press agent. This correspondent, a close personal friend, was granted the Legion of Honor by Laval when the latter was premier. Time and again the journalist has launched trial balloons for his friend, several in the last few days.

He has his son-in-law, Rene de Chambrun, a descendant of Lafayette, an extremely charming fellow, very popular in conservative American circles, and in constant contact with anti-Roosevelt and America First circles.

He will try to work for a "negotiated"—that is to say for a Hitler—peace, and an American policy that is anti-Russian, and, of course, anti-Japanese.

It is not Hitler's game now to strike in the west. He cannot do so—for the Russian campaign has not come off according to plan. His game is to defend the west, and free his forces for an all-out drive against Russia.

Aggressive U. S. Policy Urged.

He cannot even defend the west adequately while making an all-out offensive in the East.

Therefore, he must play the most brilliant possible political game—conduct the most energetic political and psychological warfare.

That's why Laval is where he is.

What we need is not more conventional diplomacy, but revolutionary tactics, like those of Col. Britton in England. It is impossible to outwit Laval. There are certain contests, such as the one with the skunk, that it is better not to engage in. We can only make an absolutely clean and absolutely consistent policy: Recognize the French government in exile; with their aid reconquer as much French territory as possible; make it clear beyond question that we intend to win this war and remove every German from French soil; we must see the connection between this game and anything emerging from our own appeasers, and above all, we must give Laval no time. For his game takes time.

The Great Game of Politics

Administration Reported Pressing Measures to Relieve Shipping Shortage as Armaments Begin to Pile Up

By FRANK R. KENT.

The shipping shortage, concededly the most serious present handicap of our war effort, is no reflection on the Maritime Commission. It does not mean that either the administration or the shipyards have fallen down on the job. The shortage is simply the inevitable outcome of the tremendous scope of the struggle in which we are engaged.

Frank R. Kent.

In the last war we had but the one sea lane to keep open, and only the one country—France—to which to send men, munitions and supplies. And, in addition to our own and the British fleets to insure delivery, the French and Italian fleets were on our side. Yet, our feat in sending to France an army of 2,000,000 men across 3,000 miles of ocean and maintaining them, was regarded—and rightly so—as a great achievement. But, consider now the situation as it is in this war.

Instead of one sea lane to keep open we have half a dozen main lanes and a dozen minor ones. Instead of sending our soldiers to one country, American soldiers, the experts tell us, are now in as many as 30 different places outside the United States, some of which are actual fighting fronts and the others potential fighting fronts. Instead of being concerned solely with the safety of the North Atlantic Ocean, we now have to be concerned with the safety of practically all the waters of the earth. Instead of concentrating on supplying our own forces with food and the tools of war, literally we have become the "arsenal of democracy." We are, for example, supplying all the United Nations with rubber. And besides to England, we are sending vast quantities of supplies to Russia and China and Africa. Some of our lines of communication are 13,000 miles long.

Nelson Aware of Problem.

Link these things to the fact that the strength of our forces abroad, and, in consequence, the strain on our shipping resources, increases every week, and it is easy to realize the immensity of our shipping needs. In the light of the facts, the President's program of 8,000,000 tons for 1942 is now seen to be inadequate. Actually, we will exceed that estimate this year, but to meet fully the requirements, we will have to exceed it by a much greater margin. The truth is we are turning out bombers, guns, planes, ammunition and other supplies faster than we can find cargo ships in which to load them.

The result is that things are beginning to pile up inside on us. And this, of course, is a very serious problem. The encouraging factor is that it is not only completely realized in Washington, but administration authorities are moving toward its solution. Certainly, that is true of Mr. Donald Nelson, on whom rests responsibility second only to that of the President. And it is true of Admiral Land, head of the Maritime Commission. And it is also true that in their efforts to meet the shipping crisis they have the strong support of Mr. Roosevelt. By none of them is the danger minimized. Nor is there any desire to ignore the inexorable reality that if production cannot be transported, there is no use increasing production.

In the past three things have hampered shipbuilding: 1, shortage of materials; 2, labor troubles; 3, sinkings by enemy submarines. As to the first Mr. Nelson is now giving shipbuilding contractors priorities over everything else. Concerning labor the trouble is not so much with strikes, though there were plenty of those before Pearl Harbor, and the shipbuilding plants have not been wholly free from them since. The real trouble is with the "slowdowns" of the kind recently revealed by Senator Byrd from data provided by the Navy.

End of Slowdown Expected.

For one reason or another—jurisdictional controversies, closed-shop demands, etc.—men have been loafing instead of working in these plants. The result is that few of them have been able to operate at anything like full capacity. Admiral Land made this very clear the other day before a Senate committee, where, while he withheld his views on the 40-hour week extension, he strongly urged the freezing of all labor relations from now to the end of the war. The facts of this labor laxity have been laid before the President and the pressure on him to act to end it is great. Some move in this direction is expected very shortly. It should not be delayed.

There is no use disguising the heavy toll taken by enemy submarines of tankers and cargo ships since our active entrance into the war. If these sinkings continued unchecked or were permitted to increase, a very grave state of affairs would exist. But this menace is one which the Navy can be trusted to remove. Already the sinkings are decreasing and the means of safeguarding our cargoes, both incoming and outgoing, are becoming more and more effective. Before long these waters will be made so unhealthy for submarines that losses through their activities will be reduced to a minimum.

Of that, we are assured. But even if all three of these handicaps are removed—the enormity of the shipbuilding job cannot be exaggerated. Bombers, fighting planes, tanks, guns, food and men are all essential to winning of the war. But, without ships, none of them counts for much. Without ships, they cannot be sent to the distant places where our fighting has to be done. Without ships, they all pile up here in futile and costly confusion. Ships are basic. Ships, Mr. Nelson feels, come first, and he is right.

Saturday's Raids on Japan Viewed as Prelude; Destruction of Vital Plants Held Irreparable Loss

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

American flyers have now learned the way to Japan, and there is every reason to believe that the Saturday bombardment of the principal Japanese bases will henceforth be repeated.

Reports from Tokio and Berlin that American planes have raided vital points in Japan contain one of the few pieces of really good news this country has received since December 7 and overshadow by far all the other operations which our Navy and planes hitherto have conducted.

Although both the Navy and War Departments for obvious reasons were silent Saturday about the operations, there were strong indications that the area attacked contained some of the most important Japanese navy yards, such as Yokosuka, where battleships and cruisers are being built.

The air attack is of great importance as definite proof to the Japanese people that they are more vulnerable to the devastation by bombs than the United States. This attack comes on the heels of bombastic announcements from Tokio that the Japanese Navy would dictate peace in Washington.

The very weapons which the Nipponese used so successfully against the United Nations in the South Pacific and Indian Ocean are now being used by the United States against Japan. In many responsible naval quarters it has repeatedly been maintained that Japan is by far the most vulnerable portion of the Axis.

Japs' Confidence Shaken.

The Nipponese are compelled to live, for the time being, on the relatively large stocks they have gathered for several years. It will be some time, at least another six months, before they will be able to obtain either oil or other raw materials essential to continuation of the war from the conquered territories in the South Pacific. As long as the Japanese felt immune to any air attack—and they were worried principally over the possibility of an attack from Vladivostok—they were confident that materials from Java, Sumatra, Borneo, the Philippines and Malaya would begin to pour into the country in such quantities as to enable them to carry on the war indefinitely.

The fact that American planes were able to attack Japan for hours, in spite of strong Japanese defense forces on the ground and in the air, will shake the confidence of the Japanese people.

Unlike Germany, Japan's basic war industries are concentrated in a small area. While the Reich has at its disposal the continent of Europe in which to build its war engines, the 1,079 islands which form Japan proper have an area no greater than 147,000 square miles. The islands are bunched and offer an easy target for any air force determined to attack without regard for opposition.

The destruction of important factories is an irreparable loss. While Britain was able to send her warships to the United States for repair when her navy yards were heavily damaged by the Nazi blitz, the Japanese have no such opportunity.

Indo-China Bases Not Ready.

The naval bases in Indo-China are not yet ready for shipbuilding or major repairs, and neither Singapore nor the Dutch bases could do more than repair work on warships before they fell into the hands of the Japanese. Now they are reported to be destroyed, and it will take a long time before they are in shape again to take ships into drydock.

The Saturday raid was important mostly because it demonstrated that with determination and well-planned operations

Japanese power can be overcome more easily than that of the Nazis. Moreover, there is no question that the Japanese high command will now be compelled to withdraw some of its scouting forces—cruisers, carriers and destroyers—from other sectors to hunt whatever American units may have participated in the Saturday raid.

In some Washington quarters the raid was considered merely as reconnaissance to test Japanese defenses. If that is what it was, it has proved fully successful and, according to the official communiques from Tokio and Berlin, less costly than could have been anticipated.

A return visit from the American Air Force can now be expected by the Japanese high command.

McLemore—

Shoe Shopping Worse Than Hat Hunting

By HENRY McLEMORE.

A few months ago I risked my sanity by spending an afternoon shopping with a woman who was trying to buy a hat. During my convalescence from the experience I wrote a story about it. I received many beautiful letters of sympathy and also numerous suggestions that I shop with a woman for shoes if I really wanted to run the complete gantlet of horrors.

Henry McLemore.

Last Tuesday, the head buyer in our house felt that she must have a new pair of shoes and I decided I had better grab the opportunity to go along, because, while she may not know it, it may be the last pair she'll get for a long time—March 15, June 15, September 15, December 15. Whew! But, why do I need to remind you of these dates, Brother?

We started shopping just after lunch and at 5 o'clock she finally bought a pair of shoes which, she assured me all the way home on the bus, she didn't like at all and was going to return the first thing in the morning.

How It All Started?

The gruesome afternoon started this way:

We stood for a full 20 minutes in front of a shoe store studying the shoes in the window.

"Look at that—isn't that a cute shoe? Oh, look at that one, it's even cuter. Hey, there is a darling pair, and I've paid twice as much for ones not half as good-looking. Let's go in."

This is going to be a cinch, I thought to myself. She likes everything in the window. We'll be in and out of here in five minutes.

The store was crowded, but a clerk detached himself from a customer and ran over and took off one of my shopping companion's shoes, thrust it in his pocket and ran like a rabbit.

"Where the devil's he gone to?" I asked.

"Oh, he's gone to wait on a lot of other people first," she answered. "You see, he has my shoe and he knows I can't get out."

She wasn't at all upset by the absconding clerk, but began limping around the store with one shoe on and one shoe off, looking in cases, and peering intently at the shoes other women were buying.

Argument Over Size 7.

Finally, the three of us got together—the clerk, she and I. It struck me that my companion, having had the same feet for more years than she'll admit, would have some idea of what size they were, but no, she and the clerk got into a big argument, and he only won it by yanking out the measuring board. He won by a size and a half.

She informed him that she wanted some brown walking shoes. When he came back she looked at what he had brought and in great surprise said:

"Why, I wouldn't wear those for anything. They're horrible. They look just like walking shoes."

I doubled up my fist, ready to pop the clerk if he whacked her with one of the shoes, but, instead, he was very pleasant, and before I left that store I became convinced that shoe salesmen are among the greatest diplomats in the world, and should be used more by the Government in touchy posts.

"I gather, Madam, that what you want is a high-heeled, dressy, short-vamped walking shoe."

"Just What I Want."

"Of course. That's just what I want. Like those cute ones in the window."

"Where in the window, Madam?"

"Why, kinda near the middle edge. You know, those cute ones."

"I'm afraid you'll have to show me, Madam."

She went shoe-stocking-foot, shoe-stocking-foot out to the street to point at the window. She came back crestfallen.

"That's the only pair they have and they're not my size, but I'll look at the rest of their brown shoes."

When she said the "rest of their brown shoes" she meant it. She looked at ones with no toes, ones with reinforced toes. She tried on backless ones, strapless ones—in fact everything but congress gaiters.

More Stores Visited.

She wound up by not buying anything in this store, confiding to me that they had no selection and that we would now go to the store she should have gone to in the first place.

"They'll know just what I want there."

They did, but she didn't.

So we went to two more stores, leaving all the brown shoes and a few blacks and blues and whites scattered all over the place.

At the fourth store, after sending the clerk on more errands than a telegraph messenger boy makes in a year, she found the pair that you already know about—the pair she isn't going to return until tomorrow morning.

Fasting Rule Is Eased For Catholic Workers

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—A fasting rule was modified today by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, for the benefit of Catholics who work in defense industries after midnight Saturdays.

Cardinal Dougherty, with the authority of Pope Pius XII, ruled that "workers must abstain from solid food" only four hours and liquids only one hour before receiving holy communion on Sunday.

Memorial Services Held for Dr. Stone And Dr. Dudley

Late Pastors of Lincoln Road and St. Stephen's Churches Honored

The Lincoln Road Methodist Church and the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation each held services yesterday to honor the memory of clergymen associated with their history.

The Lincoln road church was crowded with friends of the late Rev. Dr. Reginald Heber Stone, who was pastor from 1936 until his death in February, 1941. Dedication of a stained glass memorial window and a bronze plaque was led by the present pastor, the Rev. George Bennett, and the Rev. Dr. Harry W. Burgan, pastor of the Hamline Methodist Church.

The Very Rev. Dr. Ze Barney T. Phillips, dean of Washington Cathedral, spoke at services at the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation for the Rev. Dr. George Fiske Dudley, for 43 years rector there. Dr. Dudley was the first rector at the church, which increased its membership from 50 when he came in 1893, to 500 when he retired in 1936. He died last year.

Dean Phillips read a message from the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, praising Dr. Dudley's "notable service" as a priest and as a laborer in concerns of the diocese. Dr. Dudley had been president of the Diocesan Standing Committee, secretary of its clericus, a member of its official board and delegate to the general convention.

The Eldbrooke Methodist Church held triple anniversary services yesterday to celebrate the 102d birthday of the congregation, the 15th anniversary of the dedication of the present edifice and the 25th anniversary of the ordination of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Walter M. Michael.

In Memoriam

ARNOLD, CATHERINE. Not today only, but every day, sweet and fresh is the memory of our dear mother and grandmother, CATHERINE ARNOLD, who entered into eternal rest twenty-two years ago today, April 20, 1920.
HER LOVING DAUGHTERS, IDA T. HORAN AND ELIZABETH A. BURDICK, AND GRANDCHILDREN, EDWIN HORAN AND LOUISE H. STEELE.

BOSWELL, STEPHEN C. In fond memory of my dear husband, STEPHEN C. (CHARLIE) BOSWELL, who passed away three years ago today, April 20, 1939.
I loved you. Oh, how I miss you.
In my memory you are always near;
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many silent tears.
LONELY WIFE.

BOSWELL, STEPHEN C. In memory of my dear brother, STEPHEN C. BOSWELL, who died three years ago today, April 20, 1939.
Sweet memories will linger forever.
Time cannot change them, 'tis true;
Years that may come cannot sever
My loving remembrance of you.
SISTER IRENE.

DI GIULIAN, ANTHONY. In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and our father, ANTHONY DI GIULIAN, who departed this life seven years ago today, April 20, 1935.
Gone, but not forgotten.
YOUR DEVOTED WIFE AND SONS.

HORTON, HESTER AND WILLIAM. Sacred tribute of love to the memory of the most loving, devoted and loyal father and mother, God ever gave. Our loyal and loving father, WILLIAM HORTON, departed from this life five years ago, January 4, 1937, our devoted and sacrificing mother, HESTER HORTON, entered into rest four years ago, April 20, 1938.
If ever love existed,
If ever sweet flowers grew;
If ever souls filled their mission on earth,
Dear father and mother, they surely were you.
Four years have passed, dear sister,
But our hearts are just the same;
For many a silent tear has fallen
At just mentioning your name.

LEWIS, MILDRED. In loving memory of our devoted mother and grandmother, MILDRED LEWIS, who entered eternal rest April 20, 1941.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
Life's weary trials and suffering past;
In silence you suffered, in patience you bore,
Till God called you home to suffer no more.
HER DEVOTED DAUGHTERS AND GRANDDAUGHTERS.

THOMAS, CLARENCE. A tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, CLARENCE THOMAS, who passed to the great beyond eighteen years ago today, April 20, 1924.
Today, eighteen years have passed,
Another sun has set,
And still I think of you, dear Clarence,
How can I ever forget.
PEARL L. THOMAS.

WHYTE, ELIZA (BLESS). In loving remembrance of our dear mother, ELIZA (BLESS) WHYTE, who died two years ago today, April 20, 1940.
MINNIE AND NOBLE.

WRIGHT, JESSE E. In loving memory of our beloved father and grandfather, JESSE E. WRIGHT, who departed this life one year ago today, April 20, 1941.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We little thought that death was so near;
But only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without a farewell.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
HIS LOVING CHILDREN, CATHERINE, ALFONSO, CONSTANCE, AND GRANDDAUGHTER, MARION WRIGHT.

Mrs. Clara R. Wilson, County Club Leader, Dies at Rockville

Funeral Services Planned Tomorrow At Presbyterian Church

Special Dispatch to The Star.

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 20.—Mrs. Clara Ray Wilson, 79, long prominently connected with religious, patriotic and civic organizations in Montgomery County, died yesterday at her home here.

She was a daughter of the late Alfred and Eleanor Merryman Ray of Forest Glen, Md., and her husband was the late J. Frank Wilson. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Wilson L. Townsend of Kensington, Md., and Mrs. Dexter M. Bullard of Rockville; three sisters, Mrs. Elmer R. Saul and Mrs. Annie R. Thomson of Washington, and Mrs. Eleanor Maughlin of Boyds, Md., and three brothers, Alfred Ray of Washington, Benton G. Ray of Front Royal, Va., and Gordon G. Ray of Mount Rainier, Md. She also leaves nine grandchildren.

She was a sister of the late Preston B. Ray, clerk of the Circuit Court for Montgomery County.

Mrs. Wilson was active in the Col. Tench Tilghman Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Montgomery County League of Women Voters, the Woman's Club of Kensington, the Rockville Woman's Club, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Rockville Garden Club and the Rockville Presbyterian Church.

She was honorary national vice president of the United States Daughters of 1812, and honorary member of the Political Study Club and the Montgomery County Soroptimists Club. Except for two years spent in Washington, she was a lifelong resident of Montgomery County.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Rockville Presbyterian Church, with burial in Rock Creek Cemetery.

British Officer Stresses Air Needs in Pacific

By the Associated Press.

Maj. Gerald Wilkinson, who was British liaison officer with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Corregidor and also saw action at Java, emphasized yesterday "the absolutely vital importance of air superiority on the actual fighting front."

"It seemed to me that if one side was equal to its opponent in sea and land strength, but had the edge in the air, that little margin of superiority seemed not only able to reduce the other fellow's air, but also to deprive him of his land and sea equality," he said in an interview on the weekly War Department-sponsored Army radio hour.

"Our troops in Malaya were fighting in tropical jungles against an enemy that had air and sea superiority from the start. Many of our men had been from two to three months on ships * * *.

"The Japanese are sturdy offensive fighters and their operations were well conducted. After their initial successes, their morale must have been fine * * * but that doesn't mean that on equal terms the positions could not be reversed.

"And I think that all of us who were out there feel that when the time comes for us to take the offensive, given adequate air support, we shall indeed see great things"

Frank J. Bosse Dies; Rites Set Tomorrow

Frank J. Bosse, 59, lifelong resident of Washington, died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence L. Dwyer, 9307 Flower avenue, Silver Spring, after a short illness.

Mr. Bosse was an automobile salesman. He was a member of the Windthorst Club of St. Mary's Parish.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Arnold C. Engel, 6203 Maple avenue, Chevy Chase, Md., followed by requiem mass at 10 a.m. at the Church of the Most Blessed Sacrament. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Gov. Darden to Inspect Quantico Tomorrow

Gov. Darden and Lt. Gov. Tuck of Virginia and other State officials will make a tour of inspection of the Marine Barracks at Quantico beginning at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The program will include an inspection of the recreation building, barracks and ordnance schools. There also will be a firing demonstration at the rifle range and a rubber boat demonstration at the post dock.

Riverdale Will Hold Town Election May 4

A town treasurer and councilmen from the first, second and fourth wards are to be elected in the Riverdale town election May 4. New voters will be registered Thursday and April 30 in the Municipal Building between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Election officials are Mrs. Mabelle Munch, Mrs. Henry H. Peck and Mrs. Laura Ford, judges, and Mrs. I. N. Goodwin and Mrs. A. B. Nicholson, clerks.

Nazis Order Execution Of 30 Hostages in French Bombing

Eighty More to Face Death If Perpetrators Are Not Surrendered

By the Associated Press.

VICHY, April 20.—German occupation authorities at Rouen have ordered the execution of 30 French hostages for bombing of a German troop train in which a "large number" of Nazi soldiers were killed, it was officially announced today.

Eighty more hostages will be shot if those guilty of attacking the train are not turned over for punishment by April 23, a German notice said.

In addition, 1,000 "Communists, Jews and sympathizers" were ordered deported to Eastern Europe.

From now on, the Germans instructed, a number of French civilians will be forced to accompany German soldiers on all troop trains to assure the latters' safety.

The German order was published in the newspaper Journal de Rouen and said the bombing of the train occurred April 16. Further details were not given.

Meanwhile, heavily censored dispatches referred to an announcement by Lt. Gen. Ernst von Schaumberg, German military commander in Paris, concerning an attack in Paris which apparently took place against an army garage. Details were lacking due to censorship.

Only last week, the Germans announced the execution of 35 hostages in the Calais region for railroad sabotage and attacks on German soldiers which they said had occurred March 25.

Dr. Shirley Wynne Dies

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).—Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, 59, New York City commissioner of health from 1928 to 1933, died yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital of cardiac complications. He underwent an operation for acute appendicitis a week ago.

Taft Proposes Price Ceiling on Raw Materials

By the Associated Press.

Asserting that food and other prices have been "rising too rapidly," Senator Taft, Republican, of Ohio, said today the "time has come to fix price ceilings on all raw materials, including basic agricultural prices."

Senator Taft, who co-operated with Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Democratic congressional leaders in drafting the present wartime Price Control Act, said in an interview that "instead of fixing reail prices, controls should be applied on raw materials, because most farm products now are at levels that would permit this."

When Congress drafted the Price Control Act it wrote in provisions that would allow most basic farm products to rise before price controls could apply.

"Prices are bound to increase but now they are going too fast," Senator Taft said. "I believe we must let things rise about 10 per cent a year under our war production plans but they have been moving faster than that."

Carl A. Joerissen Dead; Retired Business Executive

Carl A. Joerissen, 70, former vice president and European manager of the Underwood Typewriter Co. and resident of Washington for more than 30 years, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital.

Mr. Joerissen, who arrived in Washington only a week ago for a visit, was taken ill Friday. For a number of years Washington manager of the Underwood Typewriter Co., he retired 15 years ago. Three years ago he moved with his family from Chevy Chase, Md., to Miami, Fla. He was a native of Ilion, N. Y.

He was a member of the University Club, the National Press Club, the B. B. French Lodge of Masons here, the Committee of One Hundred and Bath Club in Miami and the Union Interallie in Paris.

Mr. Joerissen is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elmina V. Joerissen; a daughter, Miss Kay Joerissen, and two stepsons, Lt. Paul L. Joachim, U. S. N., and Philip N. Joachim.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the chapel in Rock Creek Cemetery, where he will be buried. Dr. Albert Evans of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church will officiate.

Other Clergy to Aid At Pastor's Installation

Prominent local clergymen will participate in the installation of the Rev. George M. Anderson as minister of the Park View Christian Church at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday. Dr. Anderson was called here recently from the First Church of Christ in Fostoria, Ohio.

Simon McKimmie, chairman of the church board, will preside at the installation service. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. William La Roche, Scripture reading by the Rev. C. N. Williams, sermon by the Rev. Carroll C. Roberts, covenant of dedication by the Rev. J. L. Black, installation prayer by the Rev. I. P. Harbaugh, charge to the minister by the Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, charge to the congregation by the Rev. Ernest R. Bryan, greetings from other churches by Orie Beardsley and benediction by Mr. Anderson.

The service will be followed by a reception given by the pastor and his family.

More Canadian Troops Arrive at British Port

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—New reinforcements for the Canadian Army have recently arrived safely at a British port, Canadian military headquarters in London announced last night.

A small contingent disembarked quickly at a British port and boarded trains for Canadian Army camps in Southern England, it was said. No further details were available immediately.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, April 20 (AP).—Fighting men from many corners of the earth sailed from this port with a contingent of Canadian troops whse arrival in Britain was annunced yesterday.

Numbering in the thousands, the Canadians were largely reinforcements for units already overseas, but also included a large number of men returning to Britain after several months leave on instruction duty in Canada.

Nearly every continent and about all the United Nations were represented.

United States citizens who sailed with the contingent included P. A. Murphy of Washington, D. C., and H. A. Lynch of Long Island, N. Y.

Poland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Denmark, Holland and other overrun nations contributed fighters. Some were members of the Canadian armed forces, while others crossed the Atlantic to join armies maintained by governments in exile.

ONE-YEAR TIRES CAN BE THREE-YEAR TIRES!

Your Esso Dealer will help you get that extra mileage

If the tires you are now driving would last about 12 months
Then follow these simple rules to add an extra 24 months of tire life, so that the rubber may serve both you and your country.

1 DRIVE UNDER 40 MILES PER HOUR
By setting 40 miles per hour as your maximum and not more than 30 miles per hour as your usual speed, you can get up to 12 months' extra wear. Remember — tires wear out TWICE as fast at 50 as they do at 30! — 12 months

2 LET US CHECK INFLATION EVERY WEEK
A tire that is 30% below proper pressure will last only three-fourths as long as it should. Your Esso Dealer's air pumps have been checked for accuracy. Proper inflation can increase tire life by as much as . . . . . — 3 months

3 AVOID COWBOY STARTS AND STOPS
These waste rubber and cut tire life. By taking it easy, you can prolong tire use up to . . . . . — 3 months

4 Let an ESSO DEALER CROSS-SWITCH TIRES, using spare
At least every six months, have tires scientifically cross-switched by your Esso Dealer. Use all five of your tires! This, with regular attention to wheel alignment, wheel and tire balance, quick repair of small cuts and bruises, removal of oil and grease from tires, and avoidance of scuffing, can add extra service up to . . . . . — 6 months

Man Power

from the labor market for services with the armed forces."

He visualized using women in industries where they are best fitted to serve, utilizing partially employed workers on a full-time basis, expanding the program of industrial training and tapping "all available labor supplies, such as the millions of Negroes and loyal foreign-born workers not now in war production."

New Recruits Needed.

He said he hoped that the 13,000,000 new men could be shifted into war production largely by the conversion of plants and their regular labor force from civilian to war production.

"Other workers," he said, "will be drawn from the unemployed. We shall also need at least several million new recruits—women, young people, self-employed persons and retired workers."

He criticized sharply the policy of "pirating" labor from one job to another, as well as "discriminatory hiring practices" which, he charged, had unnecessarily intensified local labor shortages.

"At the present time," he said, "many of our war production plants are obtaining many workers by 'pirating' them from other employers in the same or related industries. Labor scouts are now traveling about the country enticing skilled workers to leave their jobs for higher wages without regard for the essential nature of the work at which these workers are now employed. As a matter of fact, one aircraft producer has hired away a number of workers employed by the very firm which was making wings for his own planes.

Labor Hoarding Results.

"This pirating forces the employer who may be temporarily unable to use all his skilled workers to retain them at all costs lest some other employer hire them away permanently. The result is labor hoarding—skilled workers being held for future work while nearby plants attempt to secure such workers through advertising and labor scouting."

He charged that many employers have assigned skilled workers to jobs which workers of less skill could perform, that they have sought highly skilled workers when semi-skilled ones were fully qualified, that substantial numbers of skilled workers are engaged in non-war activities and many are reluctant to transfer because they would lose seniority rights or because wages and working conditions may be less favorable.

How Mr. McNutt plans to change this situation was not made clear today.

On the question of social and natal discrimination, he charged that in one overcrowded war industry center native white workers were brought from hundreds of miles away, although fully qualified Negro and loyal foreign-born workers were available at the plant's doorstep. In other cases, he said, employers still turn down qualified applicants because they are women, too old or physically handicapped.

Labor Shortage Foreseen.

"If this is to be a long war—and I think we must make that assumption—we must now face the fact that we may be confronted with an over-all Nation-wide labor shortage," he declared.

"The task of manpower mobilization will not only involve the problems which I have already described, but also that of planning our labor supply budget to make sure that we will be prepared to meet any general labor shortage which may occur. Positive action taken in time will prevent the necessity for more drastic measures later on."

Avoiding any suggestion of compulsion, he said he did not contemplate a work or fight method of forcing men into war production.

He said there is already a serious deficiency in the number of skilled workers available for industry. For every skilled tool designer, 51 are needed, he said, giving as other examples these ratios of supply and demand:

Tool makers, 25 to 1; ship carpenters, 7 to 1; marine machinists, 22 to 1; aircraft riveters, 4 to 1.

Orderly Processes Sought.

Without explaining what steps would be taken to "obtain the most effective use of our limited supply of skilled workers," he said the commission must make sure that:

Employers use their skilled workers only at jobs where such skills are required.

Skilled workers are hired through an orderly process guaranteeing that factories engaged in the most urgent war production receive first call on the available supply.

Man power is allocated between the armed forces and industry to provide most effective utilization of men whose skills are essential to war production.

He indicated, however, that to make full use of presently unemployed workers the commission will see to it that war contracts are placed in areas in which there are now large numbers of unemployed, and that further concentration of war production is avoided in areas of labor shortage.

Two Known Dead in Blast At Fireworks Factory

By the Associated Press.

HANOVER, Mass., April 20.—An explosion at the National Fireworks Co. plant in Hanover, now engaged in production of explosives for the Government, was reported to have cost the lives of two men today.

One man, critically hurt, was rushed to the Brockton Hospital after the blast.

At the plant, inquirers were informed that at least two men were known to be dead, and that the toll might be higher.

Pan-American Games To Be Held Despite U. S. Withdrawal

Committee Spokesman Still Hopes Officials Will Change Minds

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, April 20.—Although the United States has withdrawn, the Argentine Olympic Committee plans to go ahead with the Pan-American games with athletes from Central and North America and virtually all the South American republics furnishing the competition.

The winter games are scheduled for July and the summer games in late November and early December at Buenos Aires.

Avery Brundage, president of the United States of America Sports Federation, announced Saturday in Chicago the United States' withdrawal due to the pressure of the war. The decision to withdraw, according to Mr. Brundage, was made after consultation with Federal authorities.

"Our air and sea-borne transportation is now subject to tremendous pressure and obviously it is necessary to devote our undivided attention to the paramount national objective of winning the war," Mr. Brundage said.

Canada previously had announced its withdrawal and, with the United States dropping out, Mexico, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Panama and possibly Cuba were the only other representatives outside of South America.

Juan Carlos Palacios, chairman of the Argentine committee, was not available for comment, but a spokesman for the Organizing Committee said it still hoped that United States officials would change their minds at least to the extent of sending a small delegation to the games. In any event, he said, the committee will continue its plans to hold the competition as scheduled.

Colored Pastor's Wife Dies as He Is Honored

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, April 20.—A feeble, hoary-headed colored preacher asked God to help his desperately ill wife before 5,000 white persons assembled yesterday to honor his long pulpit service and even as he spoke—she died.

Led away from the rostrum, Dr. Carter was told of the death. Grief overcame the aged man, already deeply moved by the tribute paid him by his white friends on occasion of the 60th anniversary of his pastorate of Friendship Baptist Church.

Taking Laxatives?
TRY LEMON IN WATER ... with or without soda

California Sunkist Lemons

Make it your "regular" rule

If you take laxatives, or if you should—see if this moderate method does not prove effective for you.

First or last thing daily, do this: Into a tall glass half full of water, put ¼ to ½ teaspoon of baking soda (bicarbonate). Slowly add juice of one Sunkist Lemon. Drink as foaming quiets.

Or you may find you prefer only the lemon juice in a full glass of water.

Try it ten days. See if you don't benefit when you make it your "regular" rule.

A truly marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, under-weight, sluggishness, loss of appetite.

If you are one of those unfortunates who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, have been vexed by overtaxing worries, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness ... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection ... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number ... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient ... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat ... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality ... pep ... become animated ... more attractive!

Build sturdy health

For when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food ... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color ... to its so-called fighting strength ... this makes for better body tone ... muscular and mental freshness!

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it usually gets results—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health." © S.S.S. Co.

Biggest Derby Starting List Since 20 Ran in 1937 Looms for May 2 Renewal

Win, Lose or Draw

By GRANTLAND RICE.

Derby Fans Loyal to Their Early Choices

Hope springs eternal in the Derby picker's breast (for about two weeks) this time each April. This year isn't much different except for a deeper loyalty to earlier choices.

Those supporting Alsab and Sun Again six weeks ago are even keener about their selections at this date. Those giving Apache, Devil Diver, Requested, Bless Me, and others a chance to win have refused to weaken.

Others out on a shopping spree for better odds still refuse to be stampeded toward any of the favorites. There are more than a few smart players in this group who still call this next Derby a wide-open tango where anything can happen.

A short while back we became entangled with one of the keener Derby selectors who didn't like Alsab, Sun Again or Requested.

"Pick some entry to beat these three," I said.

"They'll be beaten," he answered, "but I can't name the horse now. Wait a while longer."

I called him again.

"I still don't like the three favorites," he told me, "but I'm still guessing."

They'll Be Guessing Until Start of Race

This 1942 Derby in the bluegrass country will have them guessing up to the start of the race.

I still figure Ben Jones and his Calumet starters will be something to crowd back. Jones will have at least two starters ready for this test, and both will be good.

Ben's favorite has been Sun Again for over a year. And Ben hasn't weakened.

Some weeks back we offered a major league prediction that still stands. This prediction was that Mel Ott and Lou Boudreau, two new managers, would turn in high-class jobs, no matter where their teams happen to finish.

Those who look only to results soon may disagree. But any jolting the Giants or Indians may have to take later on shouldn't be charged to either Ott or Boudreau, both of whom are smart. They have worked harder for winning success than any two managers in the game. Well, anyway, just as hard.

The main job now is up to their ball players.

War Fails to Blast Turf Enthusiasm

At the last Kentucky Derby, back in early May, 1941, a group of turf writers decided that that would be the last big show—a show large enough to attract as many as 60,000 spectators.

There seems to be a good chance now that this prediction will take a flop.

In spite of all the travel handicaps, brought on by the greater needs of war, the 1942 Derby just about will match the best from past years. One way or another a race horse follower finds the road to the track.

There was more than a little doubt about any racing success at Maryland and New York tracks when April arrived. Both States have gotten under way with crowds and betting well beyond any normal expectations.

How much longer will it all last? The future has a way of taking care of itself and supplying correct answers in place of hazy guesses.

I shot a golf ball into the air; it fell to earth, I know not where.
But I can say by vale and hill I'm looking for that nugget still.

"The Giants have everything except pitching." Which is like saying a bank has everything except money.

It might surprise a lot of people, except ball players, to know how many illegal spitters pitchers are throwing in what you might call crucial spots. There are times when the spring and summer air is laden with moisture.

Looking over the club standings today one suddenly recalls the fact that last May the New York Yankees were seven games back of the Cleveland Indians. It's a longer way to October than it is to Tipperary.

Repass' Dismal Showing Afield Adds Heavily to Nats' Woes

Once-Promising Rook Is Inept at Short; Case Steals Home for Split With A's

By BURTON HAWKINS,
Star Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, April 20.—For a fellow who was tabbed as no less than a spiffy shortstop off his performances in exhibition engagements Rookie Bob Repass of the Nats thus far must be indexed as Washington's most distinct disappointment.

Those who viewed Repass in Florida are finding it difficult to fathom his collapse, being content to dismiss his dismal current showing with the thought that he'll strike his stride shortly and present the Nats an adequate brand of fielding.

In seven games Washington has committed eight errors and four of them have been produced by Repass. He isn't throwing accurately or crisply, has displayed little double-play finesse and he hasn't astonished anybody with his thinking. To complete the picture, he's hitting .120.

Bob has contributed one hit in his last 16 times at bat and yesterday as the Nats split a doubleheader with the Athletics at Philadelphia, losing the first game, 5-1, and taking the nightcap, 5-4. Bob was guilty of woefully inept fielding.

Repass Not on Job.

In the eighth inning of the first game, with two out, Bob Johnson on third and Frankie Hayes on first, Hayes broke for second base to draw a throw from Catcher Jake Early and thus present Johnson an opportunity to scoot for the plate. Early whipped a perfect peg to Repass but Bob's eyes were focused on the plateward-bound Johnson and the ball went on to center field. Eddie Collins, jr., then doubled Hayes across.

Repass may need a rest. He and Mickey Vernon were the only Nats who played in all of Washington's numerous exhibitions and it may be significant that the slim Vernon is batting a modest .172.

The blame for Washington's early failure can't be placed solely on Repass and Vernon, however, for the pitching generally has been pathetic. Then, too, Jake Early is swatting a meager .167 and Jose Gomez, as expected, is hitting a little over his weight with a .190 average.

One of the mysteries of the Nats' first week in the 1942 American League campaign is how they came up with two triumphs. They won for blubbery Buck Newsom yesterday, but there was some doubt if they deserved it.

Nats Are Careless.

In that nightcap the Nats were conducting themselves strangely. On one occasion they attempted a double steal with a novel touch. Bruce Campbell sprinted and was thrown out at third, but Bobby Estalella never budged off first base. Newsom inserted a slice of slumbering, too, for while he was daydreaming on the mound Pete Suder streaked from first to second without drawing a throw. Suder didn't score, but it was another instance in which the Nats were demonstrating stupidity.

Lack of talent is forgivable, but there are no priorities on thinking. The Nats aren't backing up plays or relaying balls from the outfield properly. They have shown little desire to help themselves with a bit of extra exercise.

Washington was faced with another twin bill here today, with Manager Bucky Harris planning to send Jack Wilson and Phil McCullough against the sizzling Red Sox.

Sid Hudson and Walter Masterson were blasted for 12 hits as the Nats absorbed their fifth loss in six starts. Washington manufactured its only run in the first inning on singles by George Case and Stan Spence and Right Fielder Collins' error, while the A's clipped Hudson for two runs in the third and another in the fourth. Repass' error on Early's throw led to Philadelphia's final two runs in the eighth.

Case's Steal Saves Game.

Case stole home with what developed as Washington's winning run in the second tiff. With two out and Case on third in the seventh, George sprinted home ahead of Fred Caligiuri's pitch to present the Nats a 5-3 advantage, offsetting Dick Siebert's single and Hal Wagner's double for a Philadelphia run in the eighth.

Newsom continually was in trouble, but the Nats were walloping Luman Harris and Caligiuri for 11 hits, including a double and triple by Spence, who batted in three runs. Newsom permitted nine hits, fanning four.

Hardin Cathey, rookie pitcher, has returned to the Capital for treatment of a sore throat. He is expected to be available for service during the two-game Red Sox series at Washington starting Wednesday.

Milwaukee Goes to Top To Prove Grimm Right

By the Associated Press.

Manager Charley Grimm predicted his Milwaukee Brewers would spring a few surprises in the American Association this season and apparently he wasn't talking about July or August. The Brewers are pulling a sneak punch right now, good enough for undisputed possession of first place.

The Milwaukee club, which finished last in 1941, has ridden to four straight triumphs without a defeat on a run of pitching rivaled only by second-place Louisville.

Dozen Turf Aces Already in Line For Rich Race

By SID FEDER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Alsab and Requested packed their toothbrushes and extra shirts and caught a train for Louisville today, figuring it would be a good idea to get settled at Churchill Downs before the Kentucky Derby rush starts.

And from all indications, there's going to be quite a crowd sitting in that starting gate when Col. Matt Winn's music-makers give out with "My Old Kentucky Home" May 2.

In fact, all signs point to the biggest entry list since War Admiral showed some snappy hoofing to 19 others back in 1937.

At least a dozen starters—three of them out of last Saturday's Chesapeake Stakes—already were just about a cinch to answer the starter. And between 20 and 25 others were to get together in the Blue Grass State at Keeneland Thursday and the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday to see who else is going to the mint julep country. From among these, there might be six or eight more.

Favorites Are Dime a Dozen.

Favorites still were a dime a dozen and much to the delight of the bookmakers future betters were going somewhat whacky trying to tab their good things. Off the most recent doings, Alsab, who came from far back to run second in the Chesapeake, remained in the select set, at about 4 to 1, along with William Woodward's Apache, Warren Wright's Sun Again, Col. Ed Bradley's Bless Me and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver. Dropped out of this group, by a couple of points anyway, was Ben Whitaker's Requested, who faded in the stretch of the Chesapeake and barely finished third.

Sweep Swinger, the one-time plater T. D. Buhl claimed for $2,500 a year ago, moved well up as a result of his flying fourth Saturday, and was tabbed for the Churchill Downs trip. Alsab and Requested shipped off today sharing the same car.

Sun Again, Bless Me, Devil Diver and Devil Diver's stablemate, Shut Out, figure to have the Blue Grass among themselves Thursday.

Others With Chance.

If any of the others qualify for the Derby out of that heat or the rest of the activities at Keeneland this week they will come from among such as Buckskin, First Prize and Anticlimax, all winners during the Keeneland meeting; More Than Few, Dogpatch, the well-regarded Jean Ferrante, Sir War, Some Chance and Boot And Spur, conqueror of Some Chance at Agua Caliente, but something less than a ball of fire in his Kentucky bow.

Reports drifting in today said that R. Sterling Clark may start his Colchis—who whipped Alsab twice last week—in the Wood Memorial Saturday. If he does, the boys and girls wil get more than a smattering of information on Apache, who has had things all his own way in two New York outings to date. Colchis isn't eligible for the Derby.

Apache and Ramillies, who get a mile-and-a-sixteenth tune-up on today's card, look to be the other good things in the Wood.

More to Be Considered.

If any others get a crack at the Derby's $75,000 payroll, they probably will come from among Air Current, Bardia, First Fiddle, Fair Call, American Wolf, the imported Fairaris, Domingo, This England and King's Abbey, Wait a Bit and Bleu D'Or.

Meanwhile, taking things easy and already receiving mail at Churchill Downs are Pinkie Grimes' With Regards, winner of the Arkansas Derby, and the big hand held by Emerson Woodward, the Western cattleman, consisting of unbeaten Hollywood and Valdina Orphan. They've been on the grounds several days.

All of which makes the line-up appear as folows:

Virtualy Definite Starters.

Alsab, Al Sabath; Bless Me, Col. Ed Bradley; Requested, Ben Whitaker; Sweep Swinger, T. D. Buhl; Sun Again, Warren Wright.

Valdina Orphan, Emerson Woodward; Hollywood, Emerson Woodward.

Others Still Candidates.

Jean Ferrante, F. P. Letellier; More Than Few, Mrs. C. F. Sheldon; Air Current, L. L. Haggin II; Domingo, Louis B. Mayer; Soldier Song, Samuel Riddle.

Son 'o War, Mrs. L. J. Lepper; First Fiddle, Mrs. Ed Mulrenan; Fair Call, Mill River Stable; American Wolf, Mrs. Alice Sherman Fairaris, R. S. McLaughlin.

New York Muny Golfers Not Checked by War

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—War demands may threaten the golfer's equipment, but it can't dampen his enthusiasm.

New York City's nine municipal courses reported 22,152 rounds in two weeks in spite of blustery spring weather.

SMASHES RECORD—Here's Joe Smith, North Medford (Mass.) milkman, crossing the finish line to set a new mark in the 45th annual running of the Boston A. A. marathon with a time of 2:26:51⅕ for the 26 miles 385 yards, or 1½ minutes faster than the best time recorded hitherto. More than 200,000 persons saw the event yesterday. —A. P. Wirephoto.

Record-Breaker Thought Self Too Weak to Run Marathon

By BILL KING,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

BOSTON, April 20.—Students of long-distance running today were asking themselves just what Joe Smith, the National A. A. U. marathon champion, would have done to the Boston A. A.'s blue ribbon field if he really had felt fit.

That 27-year-old Medford milkman, so weakened by a recent influenza attack that he did not believe he could go more than 15 miles, yesterday clipped 1 minute 37⅖ seconds off the famed Hopkinton-Boston course record, while outdistancing the closest of his 113 rivals by more than a quarter-mile. His time for the 26-mile 385-yard classic was 2 hours, 26 minutes, 51⅕ seconds.

Inspired by His Wife.

"My wife talked me into starting and I had to win for her," Smith explained. "I really did not expect to last more than 15 miles, but once I got started, I improved rapidly. I felt great after 20 miles and when I realized that no one had passed me and saw the leaders coming back to me, I just stepped out and ran away from them."

Lou Gregory, the experienced Syracuse schoolmaster, who pulled out at the start and battled with Johnny Kelley of Arlington, the 1935 winner, and Fred McGlone of Boston, the pre-race favorite, for the lead for 21 miles, placed second in 2:28:03⅘, just 15 seconds faster than the record set by Gerard Cote of Montreal in 1940.

Smith finished about 2 miles ahead of the third-place winner, Carl Maroney, a fellow townsman. Don Heinicke of Baltimore was fourth, Kelley fifth and Cote sixth. McGlone, who wilted fast during the last 5 miles, collapsed almost in sight of the finish line.

Although he tried to prevent two policemen from helping him arise, he was disqualified for receiving such assistance. The other actual first 10 finishers were Bill Steiner and Michael O'Hara of New York and Lloyd Bairstow.

De Mar, 53, Finishes 25th.

Two other former winners also started. The 53-year-old Clarence De Mar, who has won the B. A. A. "grind" seven times, finished 25th in 2:58:14, but Ellison (Tarzan) Brown of Westerly, R. I., who led the pack three years ago, dropped out at the half-way point.

It was Smith's second straight triumph in five marathon attempts. He won the National A. A. U. race last fall, on his second try, and he placed fifth and sixteenth in his previous Boston starts.

Bosox in Front After Beating Yanks, Braves Share Lead in N. L.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Patriots' Day in Boston took on added significance today, with the Red Sox and the Braves setting a pace in the major league baseball races that would have made Paul Revere's dash through Middlesex County look simply a trot.

As the Red Sox returned home from a successful invasion of Yankee Stadium to play Washington in a Patriots' Day double-header, they were in supreme command of the American League and the Braves owned a third interest in the National League lead.

The Red Sox took over sole possession of first place yesterday by stopping the New York Yankees, 5-2, their second victory over the world champions in two days. The St. Louis Browns, who had been deadlocked with the Red Sox and Yanks, slipped into second place ahead of the New Yorkers as they divided a double-header with Detroit.

The Braves and Pirates formed a cozy little twosome at the top of the National loop until both lost yesterday, allowing the Brooklyn Dodgers to muscle in on their party by brushing aside the Philadelphia Phils.

American League Draws 80,798.

From the spectators' standpoint, the first Sunday of the 1942 season was a shining success, although the action was confined to seven fronts when the weather forced postponement of the Cleveland game between the Indians and the Chicago White Sox.

In spite of the postponement, the American League with its two double-headers drew 80,798 of the day's total of 134,247 customers, and 51,522 of them were present at Yankee Stadium to see Heber (Dick) Newsome of the Red Sox chalk up his second pitching victory of the season.

Marv Breuer of the Yanks gave up only five hits, but he had a shaky fourth inning when the Sox turned three safeties and a pair of walks into four runs.

At St. Louis, the fans were treated to a brace of pitching duels, but both games were won on home runs. Chet Laabs smashed a two-run homer in the opener to give the Browns a 2-1 decision over the Tigers, although the winners managed only four hits off Al Benton, one less than Elden Auker yielded in gaining the verdict.

Rookie Charley Fuchs also tossed a four-hitter at the Brownies in the nightcap, and Ned Harris came through with a ninth-inning homer that produced a 1-0 victory for Detroit and spoiled a six-hit pitching job by long John Niggeling.

Although it had nothing to do with the standing lead, the prize game of the National League was a 14-inning affair between the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs at Chicago. Claude Passeau went all the way for the Cubs and gave up seven hits, but the Reds won, 2-1, after committing eight errors and going hitless for the first seven frames.

Cincinnati came from behind to tie the score in the ninth on a run, which was helped along by Len Merullo's error and pushed over the winning marker in the 14th on three hits and a fly.

At Brooklyn, the Dodgers captured the rubber game of their series with the Phils, 6-2, as Dixie Walker drove in four runs and Curt Davis racked up his second pitching victory with a five-hit job.

Cards Grab Close One.

John Beazley's four-hitter gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 decision over the Pirates at Pittsburgh, although he had to have help from Harry Gumbert in the ninth when the Bucs scored both their runs.

At Boston, the Braves suffered their second straight setback at the hands of the New York Giants, who cashed in on a five-hitter by Cliff Melton, for a 5-2 triumph.

MacMitchell, Dodds Expected to Run Rubber Race on Hoya Commencement Card

Feller's Nine Signed, Crowley's Eleven May Be Booked

Ace Milers Would Clash When G. U. Track Squad Takes on Fordham

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

Les MacMitchell, New York University star and the Nation's No. 1 miler, and Gilbert Dodds, only rival to whip him during the indoor season, may meet in the third and "rubber" run of their series on Georgetown's outdoor track as a feature of the big commencement week sports program being cooked up by the Hoyas, it was learned today.

Scheduling of the Norfolk Naval Training Base team for a game with the Hilltop nine, which will feature Bob Feller on the mound for the sailors, has been confirmed by Graduate Manager Rome Schwagel of Georgetown. The game will be played on the Medical School field Sunday, May 24, as the closing feature of the graduation exercises.

Would Play Crowley's Team.

Meanwhile, Georgetown was reported angling for a football game with Jimmy Crowley's Naval Air Training unit at North Carolina to round out its 1942 schedule. Coach Jack Hagerty's men have eight games booked, with only two, those with North Carolina State and George Washington, slated for November. Crowley's crew would be played on either November 7 or 28, according to reliable information.

Dodds, getting back to track, has been hankering for another race with MacMitchell since the lanky Violet hoofer's triumph over him in their second clash and has shaped his training schedule to meet that objective. No satisfactory medium for bringing them together has been provided heretofore, however, and until Georgetown made overtures it appeared they would have to let the series stand at one victory until next winter at earliest.

MacMitchell a Hoya Guest.

MacMitchell was Georgetown's guest during a recent visit to Washington pertaining to future military service. He is slated to enter the Navy after graduation next month and in all probability will receive a commission. Schwagel, who is endeavoring to make Georgetown's forthcoming commencement the biggest, from a sports angle, in the school's lengthy history, sounded out Les on the race at that time and got his acceptance. Getting Dodds is something else.

The bespectacled Boston runner, who has been in training since the close of the winter season, is expected to accept his invitation early this week, after which definite arrangements for the race, such as seating of fans, time, etc., will be started. Dodds is under the wing of Archie Hahn, a topnotch miler of two decades ago, who is confident his pupil can take another fall out of MacMitchell.

Georgetown is slated to meet Fordham in a dual meet Saturday, May 23, which would be the date of the featured mile and it is probable that the MacMitchell-Dodds contest will be run as the closing event of the program.

ADDED STARTER—A little black and white dog couldn't resist the temptation to join in the mile run at the California U.-Olympic Club track meet at Berkeley, Calif., and managed to stay with the field for more than a full lap. De Chard and O'Gatty Reported Set for Riverside Bout

No news from the rival camps was good news to Promoter Joe Turner today as he awaited a run on the box office for tomorrow night's boxing show at Riverside Stadium.

Turner has feared a recurrence of an old hand injury to Jimmy DeChard, local heavyweight, who will tangle with one Joe O'Gatty in one of the 8-round cofeatures, but Jimmy today was pronounced fit and ready. Against Italo Colonello last summer DeChard worked with a damaged right hand and the night he won the nod over Jay D. Turner he suffered from a bruised rib.

O'Gatty, likewise, is reported in excellent condition.

Irish Billy Murray and Carl Guggino, who will manufacture the other 8-round go, have been overshadowed by the bigger brawlers, but more than a few customers expect them to wage the most exciting fight of the card.

Hoyas and Cardinals Do Well on Draw in Quaker Carnival

G. U. in Fifth, C. U. Fourth Lane in Relay Line-ups; Horn Lonely Terp

Fifth place from the pole for Georgetown's quartet in the American championship, and fourth position for Catholic University's squad in the Mason-Dixon Conference title run today assured both District schools of a fair chance of victory in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia this week end.

They will be the lone representatives from the metropolitan area as Maryland is sending no running teams to the games for the first time in years, leaving Heckert Horn, in the shotput, as its lone representative. In this event, incidentally, Horn will be up against Georgetown's Al Blozis, the defending champion.

Catholic U. will run against Washington College, Johns Hopkins, Delaware—which drew the inside lanes in that order—Loyola, Gallaudet, Bridgewater and Western Maryland. It will be the first race on Saturday's program. The Cards are conceded a good chance of winning.

Georgetown, not scheduled to run until Saturday in the penultimate relay of the entire program, has New York University, Syracuse, Villanova and Princeton—reading from the pole out—Setan Hall, Indiana, Yale, Colgate, Manhattan, Pitt, North Texas Teachers, Bucknell, Fordham, Cornell and Dartmouth in its field.

Blozis and Horn also are entered in the discus throw. The Hoya giant is a pronounced favorite in this as well as the shot but Horn, off past performances, appears to have a good chance of being up with the leaders.

Navy Relief to Share In Autry Stampede Profits Here

The Washington Citizen's Committee for Navy Relief today indorsed the sale of tickets for Gene Autry's stampede, a rodeo featuring the singing movie star, which comes to Uline Arena for a nine-day stand beginning Saturday, May 2.

The local Navy Relief Society will receive 10 per cent of the receipts, minus operating expenses, for the 12 performances, and a return of more than $5,000 is expected. Autry has donated a percentage to the society in all cities on his route and so far more than $25,000 has been turned over from the present tour.

General Manager Lee J. Perrin of Uline Arena announced today that high naval officials will be invited guests at the opening performance and that special ceremonies will be in order for the occasion.

Appie of Blarney, Equine Oddity, Wins G. W. Horse Show Title

Three-Quarter-Bred Horse, Spotted Like Hyena, Ridden to Victory by McKinney

By LARRY LAWRENCE.

Rigan McKinney's Appie of Blarney merits an extra ration today for winning the championship of the George Washington University's spring horse show, held at Rays Meadows, Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday. Appie of Blarney is an oddity in horseflesh, a three-quarter-bred with an admix of Appaloosan blood, and while the gelding is a good-proportioned, smooth-performing hunter, he has the spotted black, white and gray coloring of a hyena.

Owner Rides Champion.

He was ridden to the tri-color by his owner, who was the greatest gentleman rider steeplechasing America ever produced. Rigan piloted his champion to a win of the hunter hacks, placed second in the road hack class and picked up minor points in the working hunter and the pair class. Joe Pohzehl's open jumper, Randle's Way, was awarded the reserve.

The most spectacular event of the eight-class program was an added triple-bar sweepstake. After three jumpoffs with the height at 4½ feet and the spread at 12 feet, Randle's Way, ridden by Owner Joe Pohzehl; David Martin's Cateer, with the owner up, and Good Friday, owned and ridden by Edward Talbert, all failed, and, as the hour was late, the trio of owners flipped a coin for the ribbons and stake, which resulted in Cateer taking the blue and Randle's Way gaining second place over Good Friday.

Smoker's Dream Twice Victor.

Mrs. Richard Hume rode her mare, Smoker's Dream, to blue ribbons in the working hunter and ladies' hunter classes, and to a third blue when paired with Mrs. Forrest Sherman's My Lass in the hack pairs. Joe Pohzehl's Randle's Way bested Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bogley's Ringmaster in the open jumper. David Martin's Cateer won the go-as-you-please and the student's jumping class was taken by Randle's Way, ridden by Bob Leutbecker.

Students jumping—Won by Randle's Way, ridden by Bob Leutbecker; second, Gratchino, owned and ridden by Mickey Magill; third, Tahra, ridden by June Curran; fourth, Shiner, ridden by Phyllis Bixbaum.

Working hunter—Won by Mrs. Richard Hume's Smoker's Dream; second, Marrian Curran's Tahra; third, Rigan McKinney's Appie of Blarney; fourth, David Martin's Cateer.

Hack pairs—Won by Mrs. Richard Hume's Smoker's Dream and Mrs. Forrest Sherman's My Lass; second, W. T. Gary's Tahra and Rigan McKinney's Appie of Blarney; third, Mrs. Ernest Smith's Chico and Eric Atterbury's Tasket; fourth, National Park College's Rosa Bubs and Little Sis.

Open jumper—Won by Joe Pohzehl's Randle's Way; second, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bogley's Ringmaster; third, Eddie Talbert's Good Friday; fourth, William Seltzer's Kempmore.

Hunter hack—Won by Rigan McKinney's Appie of Blarney; second, Edward Hall's Recruit; third, W. T. Gary's Tahra; fourth, Mrs. Richard Hume's Smoker's Dream.

Go as you please—Won by David Martin's Cateer; second, Joe Pohzehl's Randle's Way; third, William Seltzer's Kempmore; fourth, Lt. Alvin Kay's Smacko.

Strict Training Code For Terps Planned By Shaughnessy

Non-Smoking Rule, Diet Control Are on New Coach's Program

Establishment of a strict training code, with the banning of smoking, sweets and other wind-shattering, weight-adding diversions emphasized, will be a major plank in Clark Shaughnessy's new athletic platform for the University of Maryland, it has been disclosed.

Shaughnessy is noted for his iron discipline and rigid training and, while there have been no complaints about the condition of Maryland athletes in the past, the revamped physical training program will call for more intensive work and the new mentor believes it will be best for all concerned to observe stricter training rules.

Speaking at the university publications banquet last Saturday night Dr. H. C. (Curley) Byrd, lingered on the topic momentarily, pointing out that during his coaching regime he found it harder to condition gridmen who had smoked than those who abstained. His experience, he said, was that a non-smoker could be whipped into shape in a week, while smokers required much longer training periods, some as much as five weeks to reach their peak.

Shaughnessy's plans also are expected to include supervision of the athlete's diet at a regular training table. While the boys have been under dietary direction in the past, it was not as exacting as the new setup is expected to be.

Maryland's new director of athletics and football coach was to begin his new duties this afternoon at a general meeting of gridmen, students and faculty members. Plans for spring drills were to be outlined and volunteer coaches drafted to help out with Shaughnessy's all-embracing football blueprint for 1942.

Emmett to Pilot School Aces In Golf Match With Hoyas

Francis X. Emmett, the gent who put schoolboy golf on the athletic map, has agreed to take over management of an all-star high and prep school golf team in a to-be-scheduled match against the powerful Georgetown University links outfit.

Emmett already has chosen a group of high and prep school youngsters from whom the six-man team will be chosen, and will turn the job of choosing the players over to a team captain, to be designated. The match probably will be played at Bannockburn, home club of the Hoyas, and will be set on a date prior to April 30.

Tentatively chosen for the all-star high and prep school outfit are the following youngsters, all of whom have been playing well in matches so far this year: Bill Brownrigg, Roosevelt captain, and Billy Griffin and Art Myers of Roosevelt; Jack Coyle of Georgetown Prep, Buddy Brylawski of St. Albans, Raymond Willett, interscholastic champion, and Buster Mrstik of Bethesda-Chevy Chase.

Many of the schoolboys themselves urge that the team be made up of the best possible material, without consideration being given to the schools from which they come. The lads realize, however, that Georgetown is a big league outfit, and possibly is the best college outfit in the East now that the Hoyas have started to click.

Wally Berger, Former Big Leaguer, Weds

By the Associated Press.

YUMA, Ariz., April 20.—Wally Berger, 36, former National League outfielder, and Martha A. Richardson, 28, of Hermosa Beach, Calif., were honeymooning today after their wedding here yesterday by a justice of the peace.

Berger, who played with the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds in 1939 and prior to that with the New York Giants and Boston Braves, gave his occupation as a coxswain, United States Naval Reserve, San Diego, Calif.

Elizabethtown Visits Eagle Nine, Virginia Plays Colonials

American University's baseball game with Elizabethtown Teachers' College, scheduled for 3:30 on the Eagles' field, and George Washington's tilt with Virginia an hour earlier at Griffith Stadium featured today's collegiate sports card.

Defeated by Johns Hopkins and Swarthmore in its last two starts A. U. hoped to get back in winning stride at the Jersey team's expense, but Coach Staff Cassell was at a loss for a starting pitcher. He hoped to save "Rube" McNab, his No. 1 twirler, for tomorrow's Mason-Dixon Conference game with Loyola at Baltimore, and both Norman Byer and Charley Kligman pitched in the last duel with Swarthmore.

Coach Vinnie De Angelis of George Washington hoped for a sudden change in temperature for the benefit of "Red" Kloak, his big righthander, who needs plenty of heat to do his best. Virginia pounded Maryland for 16 hits and as many runs in tripping the Terps a couple of weeks ago and a similar display of power today would go hard on G. W.'s meager supply of tossers.

Stars Yesterday

By the Associated Press.

Phil Marchildon, Athletics—Pitched six-hit ball to win first game of double-header with Washington.

Ned Harris and Charley Fuchs, Tigers, and Chet Laabs, Browns—Laabs hit two-run homer to beat Tigers in first game and Harris hit ninth-inning homer to give Fuchs victory in second game on four-hit, 1-0 shutout.

Dixie Walker and Curt Davis, Dodgers — Walker drove in four runs on three hits, one a two-run homer, and Davis pitched five-hit ball in triumph over Phils.

John Beazley, Cardinals—Pitched four-hitter to beat Pirates, although he had to be rescued in ninth.

Central's Promising Nine Makes Debut In Title Series

Eastern Foe Tomorrow; Coolidge at Western; B.-C. C. Plays Tech

Another of the teams regarded as among the stronger outfits in this spring's high school diamond race makes its bow in championship competition tomorrow when Central's Vikings under Coach Jack Ray meet Eastern, upset winner last week over Anacostia in its start, at Central.

Also tomorrow Coolidge will play Western at Western. Both games will begin at 4 o'clock. This will leave Tech as the only untested nine. The Maroons are slated to open championship competition Friday against Anacostia. Tomorrow the Maroons finish preparation for their series start by entertaining Bethesda-Chevy Chase.

Vikings Well Balanced.

The Vikings will present a team with balance all down the line with fair hitting and exceptionally good pitching and fielding. Heading the mound staff is Aaron Weisenburg and Harry Wolfe, two holdovers from last season. Only Western, with Charley Hines and Clarence Kuldell, can present a pair of flingers rated as better this early in the season, and both Weisenburg and Wolfe have demonstrated the stuff in practice that may put them at the top before the schedule is over.

Last week against Quantico Marines, Weisenburg permitted only six hits.

Hill Central's Big Star.

Big star of the Viking nine, is Bob Hill, husky first baseman who Coach Ray believes is the most talented high school baseball player Washington has produced in several years. Standing 6 feet, 2 inches and weighing 195 pounds, Hill is a power with his bat and his fielding is polished. Ray already has interested several big league scouts in the boy.

Another capable player with the Vikings is Catcher Billy Carrier, a blond lad with a good throwing arm on whom few runners will steal this season. Almost half the time in high school baseball a batter who reaches first base goes down to second as a matter of course, but Billy figures some unpleasant surprises this season for those who challenge his arm.

Cards' Nine Is in Line For Loop Laurels, Two Wins Hint

With two straight victories to its credit, Catholic University's diamond squad today loomed as a definite candidate for Mason-Dixon Conference honors.

Although new in the field—having revived the sport this season after a seven-year lull—the Cardinals yesterday added the Quantico Marines to their list of victims by a 2-1 count, with "Sneeze" Ksycewskis three-hit pitching featuring the triumph. Washington College, previously undefeated, was the Cards' first prey.

Ksycewski, making his first start of the season, not only set down 13 batters on strikeouts, but also drove in the winning run in the eighth with a sharp single to center. Garrity previously had scored the tying run on a walk, stolen base, and an error on O'Brien's bunt.

The husky chucker, who did some pitching last winter in his role of heavyweight on the C. U. ring team, narrowly bested the Marines' Bradshaw in their tight mound duel. The latter allowed only four hits and fanned 12.

Kyscewski also figured in Quantico's lone run, permitting Francis Reagan, who had walked and swiped second, to come home on a wild throw to first.

Northwestern's Lead In Loop Challenged By Iowa Nine

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Northwestern, unbeaten leader of the Big Ten baseball race, will be challenged by Iowa's second-place Hawkeyes in a pair of games Friday and Saturday at Evanston. At the same time Ohio State and Michigan, two of the three teams which have not made their league bows yet, will try to play their inaugurals.

The week end schedule calls for Indiana to play twice at Ohio State, Purdue to go to Michigan for a pair and Chicago to oppose Illinois twice. The Illini, with three victories and one defeat, are tied for second with Iowa.

Northwestern won its first two games last Friday and Saturday by stopping Chicago, 21-9 and 10-6.

Eagles, Army-Navy Juniors Fill City Loop Section A Roster

Franchise in Section B Still Is Available; Cox and Colliere Retire From Sandlots

Addition of the Eagles, who operated under Pepsi-Cola's banner last season, and Army-Navy Junior Corps, a newcomer to sandlot ranks, has filled the lists for Section A, National City League, and President Vic Gauzza is busily arranging schedules and opening game programs.

Johnny Weaver will manage the Eagles, who replace the Heurich Brewers, who, in turn, dropped out of the league to book military teams on Sundays. The Army-Navy nine, which replaces Center Market, will be handled by the veteran Eddie Ahearn and is sponsored by the of the same name.

Gauzza had a request from the Colesville Cards for a franchise, but was unable to accommodate the team as it would have made a 10-club wheel necessary. This, he pointed out, would have kept them busy with regularly scheduled games until the last week in September. Postponements because of weather would have extended the season well into autumn and that would preclude all possibility of a playoff.

Section B. Franchise Open.

A franchise is open in Section B, which already includes teams who have been paired for opening games as follows: Boyles vs. Kronheim, Petworth vs. C. & P., Capital Transit vs. Anacostia and Southern Oxygen vs. whichever team takes the franchise.

All player contracts must be filed before the opening games, two weeks from tomorrow, and all clubs will be limited to 18. The league has adopted a rule that draftees may be replaced within seven days, but not after that period.

Heurich is reported angling for the services of Lt. Louis (Bozie) Berger, formerly of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, now stationed at nearby Arlington Cantonment on duty in the provost marshal's office. Berger would be a welcome addition to the club and would add immeasurably to its defensive strength.

The absence of "Bottle" Cox's name from the D. C. Umpires' Association list is no error. Defense work will keep the popular arbiter inactive this season, forcing him to pass up several lucrative assignments.

"Fee" Colliere apparently is sincere in his intention to retire from an active role after a long and colorful career. His mates have been drilling two weeks, but the roly-poly catcher hasn't yet donned a suit.

Hurler Porter Reducing.

Lefty Joe Porter is trying to boil off 20 pounds to scale down to his best pitching weight of 195. He's signed with Mellanes Restaurant for week-day ball in the Industrial League and also has been offered a chance by the Purcellville (Va.) club for Sunday games.

Rumors of a revival of the Snug Harbor nine are being heard, despite earlier reports it would not be in the field this summer. Oxon Hill beat the Harbor sluggers for the Prince Georges County flag last season. Artie Nock, Joe Mills and other members of the '41 cast will be available if the club is re-organized.

Junior teams interested in organizing for league play should communicate with Vic Gauzza at Atlas Sport Shop this week. Teams are restricted to players who will not have reached their 19th birthday by June 1.

Cameo Furniture, with eight twirlers itching for action, will meet the Fort Myer post team at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the reservation field. "Connie" Wyche has Otis Printz, Frank DiNenna, Kenny Deavers, Tommy Hahn, Doug Morgan, Harry Siegel, Buddy Erhardt and "Giggles" Adair ready for the mound and will try to use at least three.

Leafs Credit Victory Largely To Inspiration of Ex-Pilot

Dressing Room Talk Fired Them, They Say; Orlando of Wings Elects Self Goat

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, April 20.—A little man who once did a great job managing the Maple Leafs and now does a greater job in Canada's Army wasn't taking any bows today, but the hockey players he once led will tell you he had a lot to do in bringing Toronto its first Stanley Cup in 10 years.

The Leafs were trailing Detroit's Red Wings here Saturday night when Maj. Conn Smythe stalked into their dressing room after the second period. What he said still is a secret, but the Leafs came on to score three goals and win hockey's world title.

After the 3-1 victory, Capt. Syl Apps refused to accept the cup at center ice until the major joined him.

Orlando Takes Blame.

Jimmy Orlando, husky Detroit defenseman who was the badman of the playoffs with 43 minutes in penalties, elected himself as "goat" of the deciding game of the best-of-seven series. Jimmy felt pretty blue about it all but cracked a big smile as he told his mates he planned to join the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"I don't think I should have got that penalty for riding off Apps," said Orlando. "I was reaching for the puck and he fell. While I was off the Leafs really turned it on."

The largest crowd ever to witness a hockey game in Canada—16,218 fans—saw the Wings take the lead early in the second period and hang on desperately until the eighth minute of the closing period.

Dave Schriner, who spent five seasons with the struggling New York Amercians before he joined the Leafs in 1939, sparked the Leafs all night and fired two of their three goals.

Payoff Goal Bit Freakish.

Syd Howe scored on a backhander, a perfect passing play with Syd Abel and Orlando to put the Wings in front. The Wings seemed to have the Leafs stopped when Schriner drifted a slow shot across the Detroit goal line just as Orlando completed his penalty.

The payoff goal by Pete Langelle two minutes later was somewhat of a freak. Goalie Johnny Mowers moved out of his net to check Johnny McCreedy and the puck sailed high into the air. The puck came down to rest on Langelle's stick and all he had to do was push it home.

Wartime Khaki Lends Color To Sally League Inaugural

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 20.—Wartime khaki will add a splash of color to opening game festivities tonight as six South Atlantic League squads pop the lid off the '41 season in the 33d annual renewal of baseball battles along the South Atlantic seaboard.

Columbus and Augusta jumped the regularly scheduled openers yesterday with a Sunday tussle before 4,000 fans at Augusta. The customers were treated to mid-season pitching form as right-hander Bob Doyle of Columbus bested Ed Mizereck and his Tiger teammates, 3-2.

Tonight's card sends Macon's 1941 champs to Jacksonville, Columbia to Greenville and Charleston to Savannah.

The Sally loop has pulled in its belt and launched the second war season in its lengthy history with hopes of better luck this time. The league embarked in 1917, but failed to weather the storm, closing down by midsummer. The league reorganized and resumed operation in 1919.

Mount St. Mary's Nine To Play C. U. Twice

Special Dispatch to The Star.

EMMITTSBURG, Md., April 20.—Two games with Catholic University are among four that have been added to Mount St. Mary's baseball schedule.

The Mounts will meet the Cards next Saturday at Washington and in a return game here April 30. Shippensburg State Normal, May 30, and Loyola, June 3, both away, are the other games.

Gridder Shields Riggs From Irate Net Fan; Louis' Ma Holds Decisions Over Him

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Wide World Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 20.—When Red Barber was broadcasting the Dodgers' first home game of the season, he put in an appeal from the Red Cross for blood donors. Before the game was over there were 157 telephoned offers from Brooklyn fans. Suppose they figured they might as well shed blood for the Red Cross since they've done it so often for them bums. It isn't official yet, but the chances are that next fall's Army-Navy football game will be played for the two service relief societies. That isn't a Navy blimp hovering around Quonset Point at Providence, R. I.; just your old friend Shanty Hogan working on a defense job. Barney Nagler of the Bronx home news and Irwin Rosee of Mike Jacobs' publicity staff are writing a movie script on "Sports and the War" and expect one of the big film companies to produce it.

Today's guest star — Tommy Tucker, Cleveland News: "Some of the fight experts are wondering why Bob Pastor risked a possible shot with Joe Louis by fighting a dangerous man like Jimmy Bivins. I myself think it's plain carelessness. Pastor doesn't seem to care how many big purses he can collect."

Monday matinee—Priority note: When a group of radio commentators visited West Point for a lecture on what they could do to help win the war, Red Blaik refused to talk football to them. Said they were there for another purpose entirely. Report says Walt Disney's prelude for the Lou Gehrig picture will feature "Goofy" with Murphy relieving in the sixth, we presume. Dr. Arnold Fenton, the "Kicking Pastor" of Ansonia, Conn., opens his spring coaching season at the University of Delaware soon. Ehsan, manager of Bey's training camp for Beak Buster, has just bought 60 white Leghorn chickens to provide fresh eggs for the mob. When Lew Jenkins ran out of change the other day, he wired Manager Willie Ketchum one word—"short." Willie replied no less economically, "You're an ex-champion."

Tennis bomb—During the late unlamented pro tennis tour, Bobby Riggs became annoyed at a spectator who was "riding" him and slammed a ball up into the gallery, removing the heckler's hat. The customer, about twice Bobby's size, stood up and apparently was undecided whether to make a 10-foot leap down to the court. Riggs strolled over to the sidelines and shook hands with Olin Parks, Notra Dame player who stands 6-feet-2 and weighs 230 pounds. "I just want to show that guy up there that we're good friends," Bobby explained. "Stand up a minute, will you?" Parks stood up and the spectator promptly sat down.

Service Dept.—Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce, who led that air expedition from Australia to the Philippines, became a Tiger fan while he was stationed at Selfridge Field, near Detroit. Friends who were with him just before he left for down under say the only problems he would discuss seriously were "how's Detroit going to make out?" and "Will they be able to get Greenberg out of the Army." Seton Hall's Bob Davies, rated one of the best second basemen in college circles as well as one of the top basket ball players, was shipped right out to Great Lakes, Ill., when he joined the Navy last week. George Franck, who did all right in football at Minnesota and with the pro Giants, tells folks at the Glenview (Ill.) Naval Air Station, "boy, if I can only do something like Eddie O'Hare and get myself six Japs, life will be worth while."

Not in the book—When an interviewer was questioning Mrs. Lily Barrow, Joe Louis' mother, about Joe's boyhood days, he asked: "Did you ever have occasion to whip Joe when he was a boy?" Mrs. Barrow thought it over for a moment and then smiled: "Yes, I'm afraid I hold a couple of decisions over Joe."

Washington Bowlers Out Front in Three Divisions of National Championships

Krauss Tops Singles, Gulli and Hiser Lead Women's Doubles

Special Dispatch to The Star.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 20.—Whatever chances Metropolitan Washington bowlers have of winning a title or two in the National Duckpin Bowling Congress championships today depended on whether the 456 in men's singles of Bill Krauss of Rosslyn and the women's doubles count of 739 posted by Lorraine Gulli and Caroline Hiser can withstand the heavy firing of Baltimore pinspillers the next five days and the big week-end invasion of New England men and women who promise to bring the 15th annual tournament to a spectacular windup next Sunday.

Despite the fact that these three were the only Capital rollers to gain first places, many District pinspillers promise to cash in on their lusty efforts over the week end.

Jarman in Ninth Notch.

While Krauss replaced Jimmy Libertini of Baltimore as the leader in men's singles Paul Jarman shot to ninth place with 425 and Jack Talbert trailed him with 421. Close behind came Billy Stalcup with 417, Ed Blakeney, 411; Harry Dawson, 409; Wally Burton, 406; Fred Murphy, 405, and Milton Walker, 403.

Jarman and Joe Pricci were Washington's top men's doubles combination with a fifth-place count of 815. Chick Darr of Clarendon and Lou Crosetti of Baltimore share 13th place with 808. Stalcup and Krauss are 15th with 806, Astor Clark and Tony Santini are 17th with 798 and Al Cissel and Johnny Burger are close behind with 784.

In the men's championship team firing Arlington Bowling Center gained second place with 1,895 as the John Marshall Statesmen grabbed the lead with 1,917. Silver Spring counted 1,893 for third place and Clarendon Bowling Center shot to fifth place with 1,873. Hi-Skor is eighth with 1,847 while Convention Hall is ninth with 1,845. Washington Gas and G. P. O. are tied for tenth with 1,844's. King Pin and Methodist Church hold 18th place with 1,816.

Stalcup's 1,212 third-place all-events count led the Capital pinmen. The Rosslyn star besides his 417 in singles posted 428 in the doubles and 367 in the team event. Cletus Pannell pulled up into fifth place with 1,208 after a 419 team set, 423 in doubles and 366 in singles. Jarman is sixth with 1,207. Jimmy Libertini of Baltimore tops the all-events with 1,282.

Mabelle Hering Again Stars.

Mabelle Hering of Anacostia Spillway, champion in 1938 and 1939, made another gallant bid for the women's singles title, but her 385 holds third place back of Edna Hughes of Norfolk with 428 and Ida Simmons of Norfolk with 386. Lucy Rose of Rosslyn is fourth with 384, while Dot Gude of Clarendon moved to seventh place with 378. Helen De Binder of Clarendon is thirteenth with 369. Caroline Hiser's 366, Lucile Young's 357, Mamie Payne's 356 and Inez Bryan's 355 gave them spots among the first 25 singles.

Margaret Smith of Convention Hall and Catherine Quigley of Hi-Skor gave Gulli and Hiser a battle for the lead in the women's doubles with a second-place score of 736. Mrs. Quigley's 393 was tops among the Capital rollers in this event. Annetta Behan and Irene Scott of Rendezvous hold seventh place with 704. Ellen Brown and Lil Copeland are 12th with 690, while Jessie Sacrey and Georgia Hays are 19th with 682. Nell Powell and Ida Simmons are 15th with 687.

Edna Brockwell of Richmond, Va., is the women's all-events leader with 1,113, trailed by Doris Leigh of Norfolk with 1,107, while Miss Simmons is third with 1,100.

Rosslyn Women Land Sixth.

Rosslyn's No. 1 team led the District's scoring in the women's championship division with a sixth-place score of 1,681. Arcadia is 12th with 1,627, while King Pin is 18th with 1,596. Del Rav and Clarendon are tied for 19th place with 1,576 each.

Modern Way Movers of Brookland gained 10th place in the women's booster team class with 1,539. New Highland of Baltimore is the leader with 1,610, trailed by Plaza of Baltimore with 1,590.

Joe Di Misa of Georgetown Recreation fired 193 in the team event to post the highest single of the tournament. His big count was eight pins under the all-time tournament record held by Julian Easterday of Baltimore.

Frank Mischou and his sister, Mrs. Catherine Quigley, led the Washington delegation in the mixed doubles with a score of 765 to gain third place. They were the leaders until Ethel Woodward and Bob Liberto of Baltimore fired 780 to take the lead away from Art Felter and Ruby Mackenzie of Baltimore, who had chalked up 770.

Lou Jenkins fired 428 in the mixed event and with Evelyn Brose of Baltimore took over fifth place with 755. Bing Moen of Washington's Hi-Skor team flashed 172 and a 385 set and with Johnny Burger is among the leaders with 742. Miss Moen climaxed her big game with a triple-header strike. Al Duke of Richmond shot to the front in the John Dennis tournament with 711 to replace Wilmer Robey of Baltimore with 700, while Pauline Molt of Baltimore marked up a top 500 in the women's John Dennis four-game event.

Capital Setter Adds O'Hara Cup to Field Trials Trophies

Symhart, Baldwin Victor Here, Wins in Northern Virginia Club Meet

Symhart, white and black ticked setter owned jointly by Frank Symanoskie and Ringgold Hart of Washington, has another big trophy to add to the collection he is building.

Only 4 years old, this beautiful setter recently began to show real winning form in field trials and added to its list yesterday the Walter O'Hara Cup, offered in competition for the first time in the shooting dog stake of the Northern Virginia Field Trials Club. It must be taken three times for permanent possession.

This win followed another big triumph of little more than a week before when Symhart took the Thomas P. Baldwin Memorial Trophy at the National Capital Field Trials Club spring meet.

The other two places yesterday also were won by Washington-owned dogs. Second went to Happy-Raps-King, owned by Pete Jackson, while Preston King, jr.'s King's Porter's Pat was third. Pat also was third last week in the National Capital trials.

Mrs. Davy Has Jump on Field in Practice; Hoya Donohue Scores Gritty Victory

By WALTER McCALLUM.

First feminine golf tourney of the season will be played at the Chevy Chase Club starting a week from tomorrow, opening a women's links season which will run through mid-October. The opening event is the affair for the Keefer Trophy, scheduled April 28 and 29 over the 36-hole route. Entries will close next Friday for this initial affair of the feminine season, and the women around Washington hardly are ready for the event, with little good weather so far this spring.

Entered in the coming tourney will be Mrs. Myron Davy of Columbia, Middle Atlantic women's champion and top feminine golfer of Washington in 1941. Mrs. Davy spent the winter in California and played in several tournaments there. She will have had the advantage of weeks of first-class competition over the local field in the opening event of the 1942 season.

Donohue Plays Nine in 30.

Dick Meyer, Manor club youngster, and a star on the current edition of the Georgetown University links team, thought he had a sure thing when he turned the first nine at Bannockburn 4 up on Jack Donohue, who plays No. 2 on the Hoya team. But Donohue, out in 41, had other ideas. He came home in 30 strokes for a 71, licking Meyer 1 up, when Dick missed a 12-footer for an eagle 3 on the final hole. Both lads scored 71 for the round, which gives you an idea of how hot that Georgetown golf outfit can be.

Even a dog which gave a golfer all the help he could ask didn't relieve the cold and wind at Congressional for Col. E. L. Patterson. On the fifteenth hole, played into a strong wind, Patterson hit his second shot 50 yards short of the green. Along came a sympathetic dog, which picked up the ball while it was still rolling and dropped it 20 feet from the pin. "Even the dog knows I've been having trouble," said Patterson.

Rittenhouse Bannockburn Winner.

G. C. Rittenhouse shot a good score of 79 in the high wind at Bannockburn to win the gross award in a blind bogey event. Golf Chairman E. R. Ferguson, jr., scored 87—7—80 to tie with W. C. Whittle, 90—10—80 for the net prize.

Mrs. Doug Mattison and C. B. Hartman won the net award in a mixed foursome event for the Spencer trophy at Prince Georges with a card of 100—24—76. The gross prize went to Mrs. M. S. Shahan and J. A. Woodside, with 92.

O. T. Smith won the sweepstakes event at Congressional with 90—20—70. Second was Robert Battle with 84—12—72, and A. W. Tilley was third with 100—27—73. Battle won the gross award with 84.

Sam Snead and Gene Sarazen are back in town today experimenting further with reprocessed golf balls following an exhibition match they put on at the Naval Academy at Annapolis yesterday. Snead scored 34—36—70 with Capt. J. B. Pollard and Dave Paul, while Sarazen paired with Admiral Russell Wilson and Jack Peat, the latter scoring an eagle 2 on the par 4 fourth hole.

R. E. Meisener with 89—17—72 and A. O. Dooley, 82—10—72, deadlocked for the top award in a blind bogey event at Argyle. Tied for second were Cliff Scoggins, 89—16—73, and D. Hess, 88—15—73, and tied at net 71 were A. B. Clark, B. W. Johnston and D. L. Myers.

Bogart in Form.

Ralph Bogart, reigning District amateur champ, came back home for a week end of golf and showed he is back in old-time form by playing the Indian Spring course in 73. Ralph and Claude Rippy licked Jim Huntt and Charlie Malone, and played another nine with Rippy to beat the best ball of Malone, Volney Burnett and Eddie Ault, with Rippy scoring 35.

Pro Al Jamison of East Potomac Park has been ordered to his draft board for reclassification Thursday. Jamison originally was classified far down in the Army draft.

At Kenwood V. G. Myers scored 74—9—65 to win the Victory tourney, opening event of the season. Don Pollock and G. R. Hopkins also had rounds of 74, but had handicaps of 8 strokes to tie for second net. All three tied for the top gross award at 74.

Manor will enter feminine teams in three divisions in the interclub matches this year. The women's Golf Committee met yesterday and voted to give War stamps as prizes in the club events. Opening day has been set for May 5.

Two holes in one came from the clubs of two local linksmen as Wilson N. Rogers aced the fifth hole at Manor and Lt. Albert Hartman holed an ace on the second hole of Course D at East Potomac Park. Hartman hit a 2-iron shot at the 218-yard hole, playing with W. H. Burrows, W. Hagarman and Robert Bowman, while Rogers scored his ace at Manor with a perfect 6-iron shot on the 181-yard hole, playing with W. Gray.

Georgetown Prep School, victors in the Metropolitan section among the high and prep golfers, opened their season with a 6-3 victory over Devitt at Garrett Park. Devitt forfeited the first three points. Coyle of the Little Hoyas was out with an appendectomy.

Rockville Waltonians Stock Rock Creek Old Dominion Trout Season Opens

While several members of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Ikes, flushed with success in having been able to stock several Montgomery County streams with trout supplied by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, were cogitating over what they could accomplish on Rock Creek the Rockville Ikes were busy stocking it with 800 brook, brown and rainbow received from the Maryland Conservation Commission hatchery at Lewistown.

W. Carroll Waters, chief deputy game warden for Montgomery, directed the planting and promised an additional 800 within a short time for the north fork of Rock Creek, several miles above Rockville, and Mill Creek, near Redlands. Both these streams have been proved adaptable for trout and there is little doubt that anglers will appreciate this nearby fishing.

Trout Season Here.

Old Dominion trout fishermen have been busy for days steaming old flies and varnishing rods, against the opening of the season. The taking of speckled stream denizens became legal at 5:30 a.m. this morning and the season will not close until an hour after sunset July 31.

More Capitalites have expressed the intention of fishing Virginia waters this season than we can remember, and, if preseason plantings and activities are a criterion they later on will count their choice as a good one.

For the last six weeks trucks have been carrying larger fish than ever before have been planted to streams in every section of the State, nearly half a million, which, with the carryover, is a lot of fish. There is a reserve to be planted in those heavily fished streams as the season progresses.

Bobwhite Population Large.

Dropping the rod for a spell, so long as we are down in the Old Dominion, and picking up the scatter-gun long enough to see if it is in shape for the bird season, which this year should be better than for many seasons past, the bobwhite population, which last year increased 53 per cent over 1940, appears to have increased substantially again, due to the winter's small amount of snowfall and the quick melt-offs.

And, to a large extent, due to the dry hunting season last fall, which made the birds hard to find and hard to bring down. With no shortage of shells we should have some shooting to remember.

Army Life Doesn't Mar Ward's Golf, 64 Shows

By the Associated Press.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 20.—Corpl. Marvin Ward shaved eight strokes off par at the Manito Golf Club, the course where he will defend his Western amateur crown if he gets off from Army duties.

He fashioned a 31 on the outgoing nine, the best score ever carded on that route, and blazed over the other nine in 33. His 64 compares with a 36—36—72 regulation.

Leary Bros. softball team opened its season by topping Social Security, 8-6, yesterday as Ben Booker hurled a 4-hit game.

Holbrook, Logan Join New Navy Class of Physical Tutors

Group of 200 Leaders In Sports Report for Course Tomorrow

Special Dispatch to The Star.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 20.—Lt. Roland Logan, former trainer and assistant football coach at George Washington University and later trainer at West Point, and Irving (Horse) Holbrook, one-time Catholic University gridman and Gonzaga High School coach, were among the second group of 200 sports figures who reported here today for 30 days' indoctrination training before going on active duty as directors of the Navy's physical fitness program for aviation cadets.

The class will take up where its predecessor left off yesterday. All men provisionally have been commissioned Naval Reserve officers with ranks ranging from ensign to lieutenant commander. Logan, however, commissioned a lieutenant more than a month ago, has been in Annapolis several weeks aiding in the organization of the physical training program.

Holbrook, a star lineman at Catholic U., was coach at Gonzaga until the time of his enlistment. Before that he coached the St. John's High School football and basket ball teams of the same city and boasted an enviable record in scholastic competition. After leaving C. U. he obtained a degree in law at Columbus University and another degree in accountancy at Benjamin Franklin Institute.

During the month's training period they will be subject to the regular Naval Academy discipline and also will sample first-hand the program they're going to direct in the future at four regional preflight schools.

Among other men expected to report are G. A. (Tex) Oliver, former Oregon football coach, recently named head gridiron mentor of the Far West pre-flight school at St. Mary's (Calif.) College; Isaac Deeter, University of Washington boxing coach; George Sauer, New Hampshire football coach, and Al (Mudge) McCoy, Harvard assistant football coach.

Track Prophets See Thrills Galore in Penn Carnival

Feud Between Carter And Ewell in Sprints Among High Lights

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—The experts looked over the roster today for the University of Pennsylvania relays this week end and forecast some of the most drama-packed photo-finish races and specialty events in the carnival's 48-year history.

A star-studded field will enter the 100-yard dash, but some see it primarily as a "revenge race" for Penn State's Barney Ewell, titlist in the I. C.-4A 100 and 220 and National A. A. U. 60 and 100-meter events, out to defeat Pittsburgh's Bill Carter, who beat him in the I. C.-4A 60-yard dash.

Ensign Robert Peoples, U. S. N., who established the American record of 234 feet, 1⅞ inches in the javelin throw while at Southern California, will attempt to take the carnival title from James Elliott, Pittsburgh, 1941 winner.

Blozis Cinch to Win.

The only other 1941 winner due back is James Delaney, Notre Dame's burly shot putter, but Al Blozis, the Georgetown giant, is considered a sure winner in the event. Blozis set the carnival mark of 55 feet, 5⅝ inches, in 1940.

Luck mocked the favorites in drawing for starting positions in the relays. New York University, defending champion in the sprint-medley, distance medley and 4-mile relay, drew only one pole position in the mile.

N. Y. U. Receives No Breaks.

N. Y. U.'s Leslie MacMitchell will start from 11th position in the 2-mile relay, fourth in the 4-mile, 12th in the sprint and sixth in the distance medley.

Indiana's brilliant Campbell Kane will start from seventh in the mile, third in the 2-mile, 12th in the 4-mile, 10th in the spring medley and 11th in the distance medley.

Villanova drew the pole position in the 2-mile, Cornell in the 4-mile, Yale in the sprint medley and Seton Hall in the distance medley.

Bowls at Convention Hall on Wednesday In First Squad; Women Start April 27

Roy Whitford, the only bowler to roll in every Washington City Duckpin Association tournament, again will be on the firing line when the 32d annual city championships start Wednesday night at Convention Hall.

Sharing the honor spot with the veteran Evening Star pin-spiller when the first squad of rollers takes the drives in the singles event at 7 o'clock will be Bill Cruzan of Silver Spring, Charles Wray of the Interdepartmental League, Ben Simmons of the U. S. Naval Torpedo League, Bob Mackey and Robert Freedman, two Penn Recreation rollers, and a host of others including Milton Gordon, Earl Roberts, Everett Roberts, Lon Black, Walter Arminger, Charles Quimby, D. Sedlacek and H. Tavernier.

Georgetown Bowlers on Card.

Seven quints representing the long-organized Georgetown Commercial League will be on the runways when a squad of 16 teams starts action at 8 o'clock. Kenny Beck, pilot of the Georgetown Recreation, and his chief assistant, the veteran Sam Benson, and Larry Smith, who recently marked up an all-time record game of 181 in the Georgetown Independent League, will be among the leading West End rollers composing the various line-ups of the Carlin Creamery, Hillow's Cafe, Hardy's Texaco, Washington Printers, C. B. Long, Georgetown Recreation and General Oil Burner teams.

The newly crowned champion National Federation of Federal Employes bowlers of the Income Tax led by Capt A. D. Sartwell also are listed on the opening night's program. Others are Riggs National Bank, which promises to carry off a prize in the booster team class of the national tournament at Baltimore; Farm Operations of the Beltsville Research League, Wheeler, Inc., of the Automotive League, and Palais Royal of the Department Store League.

Squads of doubles including most of the bowlers who fired in the singles will roll at 8 o'clock while a final shift is scheduled at 10 for the late comers.

Women Start April 27.

With two days of grace given late entries in the Washington Women's Duckpin Association tournament, the city's feminine rollers still have until midnight tonight to turn in their application blanks at Arcadia where the 21st annual championships will open April 27. Entrance fees must accompany all entries.

Olive Frederick, director of the Defense Mixed League, and Ernie Walz of its leading bowlers are among the first to sign up for the annual Washington City mixed doubles tournament which will be staged at Hi-Skor May 9.

Cupid Sets New Mark In Upset 'Chase Win At Agua Caliente

By the Associated Press.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, April 20.—A new track record of 4:51 3-5 for the 2½-mile $2,000 added Chenango Steeplechase was set by John Hay Whitney's Cupid yesterday at Agua Caliente racetrack.

Cupid's upset victory over his stable mate, Massa, was by five lengths. Fatty ran third while the American 3-mile holder, Farragut, placed fourth.

The Whitney horses, entered as a team, paid $3.60. There was no show betting.

It was only two weeks ago that Massa established the record of 4:53 for the 16-jump course, at the time beating Cupid by a nose.

Giuliani Gives Mates On Millers the Bird, But Wrong One

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, April 20.—Angelo Giuliani, catcher and carrier-pigeon fancier of the Minneapolis Millers, gave his mates the bird—and it turned out to be the wrong one.

He brought a cage of his pigeons to a game with the Kansas City Blues. Before turning them loose for home, he asked his mates to place their bets on the winner.

Middle Atlantic P. G. A. Turns Other Cheek in Harper Case

That was a friendly gesture the Middle Atlantic P. G. A. made in the case of Chandler Harper, with whom the boys had a peck of trouble at this time in 1940.

Harper, of course, is recognized as a big-time pro now, but he hadn't paid his P. G. A. dues up to April 13, according to P. G. A. Secretary Gene Larkin, with an April 15 deadline if he expected to play in the National P. G. A. championship.

The Middle Atlantic section was advised of the delinquency and wired him at once reminding him of the situation, although the officers were not required to take any action and might have let it pass, with the result that Harper might not have been eligible for the national tourney.

Harper is the lad who tossed a monkey-wrench into the Middle Atlantic P. G. A. championship at Old Point Comfort two years ago, resulting in loss of the pot of a thousand bucks. But the sectional association protected him. He should give them a vote of thanks.

Ben Hogan soon will be featured in a full-length flicker, and now Byron Nelson, his conqueror at Augusta, will be in the movies, the star of an R-K-O short made at Pinehurst.

Big Parker Nolan, runnerup in the District amateur championship last year, has served notice that he's going to be tough again this year. Parker started at Congressional and finished with a 74, playing the last 16 holes in 1 under par, and giving Wiffy Cox a headache.

In addition to five amateur-pro tourneys already scheduled by the Middle Atlantic P. G. A. and the Maryland State Golf Association, the Belle Haven Club of Alexandria will get one of these affairs, to be held in July.

Columbia will hold its opening-day affair, with the usual colorful ceremony, on May 2. "Red" Banagan will preside in his usual agreeable fasnion.

Missouri's Obstacle Course Toughens Men for Army

Hurdles, 10-Foot Water Jump, Wall Climb and Sprint Mark Test

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 20.—You are considered tough and fit for the Army if you can spent a season running around the University of Missouri's new obstacle course without falling flat on your face in a mud puddle at least twice.

The Missouri toughener, as the track aptly is termed, was set up by Jack Matthews of the physical education department. It is a replica of obstacle courses used by the Army to train rookies and is one of the first to be introduced in a college.

Toughens 1,600 Students.

Matthews thought up the nightmare of water holes, log hurdles and sheer walls to take the softness from 1,600 lads in the university's gym classes.

"The Army wants men who can take care of themselves under any conditions," says Matthews.

He's seeing that these conditions are the most adverse to be had.

The first obstacle is a steel hurdle 4½ feet high, followed immediately by a 10-foot water jump. Now, 10 feet isn't much, but there's only 6 feet for a takeoff after getting over the hurdle—if you get over.

If you haven't drowned in the water hole—they are thinking of stationing a lifeguard on the edge of it—then you must wriggle on your stomach under a log platform. You get a bump if you raise up to see where you are going. The platform is only a couple of feet high.

Coach Finishes in 27 Seconds.

Three hurdles—made out of logs that stay in place if you clip them with your shins—follow in quick succession. Then comes an 8-foot wall to scale. On the other side is a log, 20 feet long and 3 feet off the ground. You must run along it—a kind of test to see if you possess any balance after what you've been over.

Well, that's really all there is to it, except for a 60-yard sprint to top it off.

Football Coach Don Faurot has been clocked over the route in 27 seconds. That was the time he cleared the mud hole.

National Title Sought In Pocket Billiards By Ex-World Aces

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—Four former world champions began a nine-day pocket billiard tournament today, seeking what they called the national championship.

The last officially recognized national champion was George Kelly, who won the title in 1934.

Willie Mosconi of New York and Jimmy Caras of Philadelphia were listed for the first match of the tourney this afternoon. Ralph Greenleaf, Chicago, will play Andi Ponzi, New York, tonight.

Ad Koch, who officiated during the world championship tournament won by Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland here last fall, was named to referee.

Grays, Weak on Mound, Drop Two to Newark

Washington Homestead Grays, champions of the Negro National League, hope for tighter pitching when they inaugurate title competition against the New York Black Yankees on May 10.

Need of tighter hurling was demonstrated yesterday in a double-header exhibition at Griffith Stadium against the Newark Eagles. The Eagles won both clashes, 13-8 and 9-4. In the first game they drove Wright from the mound and, to start the second game, scored six runs off Bill Brown.

385-Pound Marlin Leads in Miami Tourney

Two Coastal Records Claimed; Event Over, Reports Incomplete

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., April 20.—The Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament ended today for its more than 200,000 participants, but J. Lakin Baldridge of New York was one of the few anglers who could feel reasonably certain he had won a prize.

Die-hard contestants fished right up to the midnight deadline and some catches may not be reported for several days.

Two United States coastal record catches were claimed by tournament participants. They were the 34-pound, 12-ounce African pompano caught by Gordon B. Dougherty of Nashville, Tenn., and the 12-pound, 9-ounce bonefish entered by A. H. D. Klie of North Bergen, N. J.

In addition, the 19½-pound albacore, entered by George C. Morrow of New York City, was the largest in that division in the tournament's seven-year history.

The youngest angler was 5-year-old Sam S. Sylvester, 3d, of Hanover, Mass., who earned a special citation for boating a 10-pound grouper. The oldest was Mrs. T. O. Maloney, 80, of St. Louis, who also won a citation for two 15-pound grouper.

The tournament became a success on its final day for Director Dinty Dennis. After angling luckless for the first 89 days, he finally won a citation a few hours before midnight for a 47-pound sailfish caught off one of the city's piers.

Telephone Stations And Calls Record New March Peaks

High Marks Also Set In First Quarter, Report Discloses

By EDWARD C. STONE.

Two more new all-time records were scored by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in March, when the number of telephones in service moved up another notch and average daily calls exceeded all previous March totals, company officials announced today.

At the end of March telephone stations numbered 337,713, in comparison with 285,249 in March, 1941, and a gain of 4,111 over February of the present year, when there were 330,371 phones in operation. Every month over a long period has been this total enter new ground.

The average number of calls per day stood at 1,606,330 in March, against 1,358,782 in the same month a year ago. This was the largest number of average daily calls for any month since the company started in business. In January daily calls averaged 1,582,139 and in February 1,582,768, a difference of only 629.

The report shows that business in the first quarter was far ahead of any previous year. Ever since the present intense war activity really got under way the C. & P. Co. has experienced demands for service that had never been dreamed of in the past and forcing expansion far beyond all previous expectations.

Chase Still Largest Bank.

Chase National Bank of New York, with deposits of $3,354,966,617, is the largest bank in the English-speaking world, according to the 16th edition of "The Deposit Liabilities of 150 of the Largest American, British, Colonial and Dominion Banks," a brochure annually compiled and just released by California Bank, Los Angeles.

National City Bank, New York, with deposits of $2,878,821,222, is second, followed by Midland Bank, Ltd., London, with deposits of $2,771,331,183, and Barclays Bank, Ltd., London, with deposits of $2,600,936,741. Of the first 10 banks, five are American and five are British. The combined deposits for all banks in the brochure total $63,792,966,738, or 90 per cent in excess of the depression low point of $33,523,082,172 in the 1933 issue.

Individual Savings Climb.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has just made a report on individual savings in the fourth quarter of 1941, in the light of the war program.

This analysis shows that individuals' saving in all forms in the fourth quarter amounted to $6,800,000,000. Their saving, exclusive of durable goods, totaled $3,800,000,000. The commission says this was the highest quarterly volume of savings on record and is explained in large part by the high level of their income.

Individuals' savings thus far have not increased markedly out of proportion to their total income. In other words, S. E. C. says, there is little evidence of any unusual diversion from consumption into saving.

Nearby Home Loans Compared.

Maryland's insured building and loan associations made home loans totaling $1,460,200 during February, Oscar R. Kreutz, general manager of the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp., announced today. The same associations made loans amounting to $1,411,600 in January and $1,485,264 in February, 1941.

Virginia's insured loan associations made home loans totaling $820,600 during February. The same group made loans amounting to $752,200 in January and $746,278 in February, 1941.

Bankers at Spring Council.

Several Washington bankers are attending the three-day session in Chicago of the Executive Council of the American Bankers Association.

Bankers from the Capital include Francis G. Addison, jr.; Charles H. Doing, Robert V. Fleming, George O. Vass and Wilmer J. Waller. Also attending from here are D. J. Needham, general counsel of the A. B. A.; J. O. Brott, assistant general counsel, and Ernest M. Fisher, A. B. A. economist.

Mr. Doing is representing the District Bankers Association on the council. Mr. Fleming is a past president of the A. B. A.; Mr. Waller, Mr. Vass and Mr. Addison are members of national committees.

About 400 bankers are at the meeting, 112 being members of the council. Many wartime banking reports and policies will be reported.

District Leads in Trade.

From January 1 through April 11, department store sales in the fifth Federal Reserve district were 33 per cent ahead of the like 1941 period, the highest upswing in any of the 12 districts, the Federal Reserve Board announces. The average gain for the whole country was 23 per cent.

The Boston district was up 23 per cent; New York, 19; Philadelphia, 27; Atlanta, 14, and Chicago, 22. Sales in the St. Louis area were 26 per cent better than last year; were up 20 per cent in Kansas City; gained 25 per cent in San Francisco. The smallest gain was in Dallas, 13 per cent.

Heard in Financial District.

The Treasury's quota plan for war bond purchases, in which every person will be asked to invest at least 10 per cent of income in these obligations, was discussed in all the banks today. Bank officials are very anxious that voluntary sales prove large enough so that no plan of enforced savings will ever be adopted.

Audley A. P. Savage, auditor of the National Savings & Trust Co., will attend the Eastern Regional Conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Controllers, which opens in Philadelphia next Thursday for a three-day session.

In the first two months of this year the Pennsylvania Railroad earned 19 cents per share on the common, against 35 cents on common in the like period a year ago.

Week's Steel Output Of 1,657,000 Tons Is Indicated

Institute Estimates Mills to Operate At 97.6 Per Cent

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today that the steel industry would turn out 1,657,900 tons of steel this week operating at 97.6 per cent of capacity.

In the previous week tonnage was 1,651,100 tons with operations at 97.2 per cent of capacity. A month ago, at 99 per cent, the industry produced 1,681,600 tons and a year ago, at 96 per cent, output was 1,549,300 tons.

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP).—Difficulty in obtaining structural steel without long delay is causing numerous projects to be redesigned for reinforced concrete and timber construction, the magazine Steel reported today, adding:

"The latter offers best results as reinforcing bars also are difficult to obtain without considerable delay and require a high priority rating. Some projects for which timber construction is not feasible are being abandoned or deferred until conditions are better."

Under present circumstances it is virtually impossible to obtain promise of delivery on steel below A-1 priority, the trade publication continued in its weekly review, "and early delivery requires priority well up in this classification."

"With this congestion in the upper brackets a large lease-lend tonnage has been distributed widely among producers of a large variety of products, with instructions to place it ahead of all previous priority ratings. This has resulted in disruption of rolling schedules and delay in rolling orders already scheduled. Some of the new tonnage is in highly finished products, thus carrying through many processes."

Canadian Victory Loan Raises $997,503,300

OTTAWA, April 20 (By Canadian Press).—Final reports on the second victory loan indicate total subscriptions of $997,503,300 from 1,681,525 individual subscribers—one in every 6.8 of Canada's population—the National War Finance Committee, under chairmanship of G. W. Spinney, announced today.

In the first victory loan in June, 1941, one in every 12.02 subscribed.

Original objective of the second victory loan, books of which were open three weeks starting February 16, was $600,000,000, a figure subsequently increased to $900,000,000. It was the largest of all Canadian war loans.

Transit Lines Face Staggering Problem Of Expansion

Industry Hard Pressed To Provide Billions Of Additional Rides

By JAMES HARLOW and WILLIAM PINKERTON, Wide World Business Writers.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The war has dumped a prodigious human problem in the lap of the American transit industry.

At the same time it has turned the clock back. Listen:

"Whereas 10 years ago streetcars were run almost exclusively for the accommodation of the poor and middle classes, now the wealthier classes are our * * * patrons.

"Cars can be seen going to and from places of entertainment filled with ladies robed in silks, velvets and ermine, adorned with costly jewels."

That statement was made not today—although it could have been, due to tire rationing—but by a delighted speaker 60 years ago at the organization meeting of the American Transit Association.

Now, 60 years later, with billions of extra rides forced upon the industry because of new jobs opening up and diminishing use of the automobile, Charles Gordon, managing director of the A. T. A., says:

"The whole trend of our problem has gone into reverse. Instead of (discussing) ways and means of developing new traffic, we (have) to consider how to handle the loads which are already taxing the capacity of our facilities in many communities.

1942 Estimates Exceeded.

"Current figures indicate that previous estimates of 1942 passenger rides will be far exceeded and that the industry will be hard pressed for materials and equipment needed to provide the service demanded."

The industry has traveled a long way from that meeting in 1882, when no mention was made of successful experiments the year before in harnessing electricity to streetcars and the main problems were "the best way of feeding horses and how to keep conductors honest."

There were profound changes in America's way of living in those 60 years, too.

Until the first World War the transit systems had a virtual monopoly on travel in cities and towns. After that war came the automobile.

Millions of Americans began moving to the outskirts of towns and cities, away from streetcar lines, and depended for travel on their automobiles.

A quick look at the transit industry, in 1882 and now, will show how the travel problem has multiplied:

Sixty years ago the then $150,000,000 industry had 18,000 vehicles, 35,000 employes, 100,000 horses and mules, handled more than 1,000,000,000 rides yearly and had an annual fuel problem in obtaining 11,000,000 bushels of grain and 150,000 tons of hay needed by the animals that supplied the power.

Last year the now $5,000,000,000 industry handled more than 14,000,000,000 passenger rides—16,000,000,000 rides in 1926 was the peak—with 225,000 employes and 83,000 streetcars, subway and elevated cars, regular and charter motor buses.

All that growth and those new billions of passenger rides were in addition to the approximately 500 billion passenger miles which the Automobile Manufacturers Association estimated were accounted for by private automobiles.

Load Increased Sharply.

Now, in the intense activity brought on by war, as

Americans Want Victory

...NOT THE CLOSED SHOP

Uncle Sam has given American industry a job—to provide enough guns, tanks, planes and ships fast enough to win this War of Survival.

To do its job for national security—as well as it should—industry must be able to hire, promote, keep—the best American workers it can find.

Industry has a duty to tell the public and Congress that it can't be blamed for delays due to the imposition of the closed shop, or by long drawn-out delays while the government tries to build a national labor relations policy company by company, day by day, and month by month instead of having an immediate and clear-cut Congressional labor policy that will speed production.

On April 8th, the National War Labor Board imposed what is called "maintenance of union membership"—a variant of the closed shop—on the Walker-Turner Company of Plainfield, New Jersey, manufacturers of vital machine tools.

This War Labor Board ruling compels:

(1) members of the union to remain members; and

(2) the employer to discharge any employee who ceases to be a union member.

On April 15th, the public and labor members of the War Labor Board re-asserted this policy in a kindred decision affecting workers in International Harvester Company plants.

These decisions must not be allowed to become a precedent if we are to win the war.

THE CLOSED SHOP vs. PRODUCTION

The principle of the closed shop is the same whether it is called "union security," "maintenance of membership" or some other sweet-sounding name.

When industry or a company has a closed shop forced on it, it can't hire and keep the best workers it can find.

When an industry or a company has a so-called "union maintenance" or "union security" clause forced on it—it can't keep its best workers if they voluntarily decide they don't want to stay in the union.

American industry wants to do its war job—IS doing it—doing it without "ifs," "ands" or "buts." It wants to do it better!

Who else in the United States, except some union spokesmen, is demanding 100% security before he will help win the war? Industrial management takes off its hat to the loyal rank and file of millions of workers for the superb job done to date in production for victory. These devoted men and women are libeled by the demands of their leaders and the threat of a labor uprising in war time.

WHY "UNION SECURITY"

An American worker has a right to join a union if he wants to—and an equal right either not to join or to quit if he decides the union isn't worth while.

Employers have no right to destroy American freedom by compelling workers to join or stay in a union if they choose not to do so.

The War Labor Board says its policy follows democratic principles. Is it democratic to compel a worker to stay in a union or lose his job?

The freedom to work is so inherent a right in our democratic state that it has never, up to now, been seriously challenged.

Unions, like other organizations in a democratic nation, should exist on their merits—not by making membership and financial support compulsory.

The Board thinks that union security will not delay production. That's highly debatable. Experienced industrial managers think it will. In any event, with the country at war there is no time to argue or to experiment.

WHAT'S THE ALTERNATIVE?

AMERICANS WANT VICTORY. WILL THE CLOSED SHOP BRING VICTORY? If it will, let's have it. If it won't, then in Victory's name, let's forget it for the duration ... let's stop wasting precious hours and days in quibbling. Let Congress freeze the status quo until we've won the war!

WILL THIS WIN THE WAR?

In the Walker-Turner decision the War Labor Board said: "the reason for the low wages lies in the fact that a higher rate by its own admission would bankrupt the company and this is in turn due to a large extent to the company's reinvestment of its funds in plant and equipment during the past year, in preference to increasing wages to the standard levels."

Of this part of the decision the NEW YORK TIMES says: "In the opinion of the board, apparently, the company should not have expanded its facilities for providing employment and for war production. It should have used the money instead to hire a smaller number of men at higher wages, refusing to expand its productive facilities or even allowing them to shrink. An economic policy more calculated to delay or prevent victory than the one here implicitly favored by the board would be difficult to imagine."

President Roosevelt, early in the war effort, said:

"We shall not demand special gains, or special privileges, or special advantages for any group or occupation."

Management agrees. It does not seek to nullify any existing organizational gains for labor. Nor should labor heads use this crisis for selfish advantage—to gain the closed shop or some other end they could not reach in a country at peace.

KEEP FREEDOM HERE

The War Labor Board closed shop policy wholly disregards the sound concept of the citizen's rights as expressed by President Roosevelt when he said:

"The Government of the United States will not order, nor will Congress pass legislation ordering a so-called closed shop." As the President said, "That would be too much like the Hitler method toward labor."

Forcing any of the nation's workers, either among the 10,000,000 union members or 33,000,000 independent workers, into joining a union or staying in—by means of the closed shop or any of its variants (maintenance of membership, union security, limited contract shop or union shop) as a condition of employment—is dictatorship.

The American people, including a majority of workers, do not like the closed shop—a recent Gallup poll shows 86% against it.

Congress should exercise its proper function and translate into law the public's demand for a national labor policy that will help to win the war.

Which is more important to a nation at war
—national security or union security?

Service Provided to Bladensburg Road Via Franklin Street

The Public Utilities Commission today ordered extension of the crosstown bus route from its present Northeast terminus in the vicinity of Catholic University to Bladensburg road via Franklin street N.E. A date for the beginning of the extension service will be set later.

The commission action establishes a crosstown route from Westmoreland Circle in Northwest to Bladensburg road in the Northeast, and is in line with the complaint of residents of the Northeast area that the route instituted last February from Westmoreland Circle to the university was not fully a crosstown bus.

New Extended Route.

The extension calls for the buses to proceed out Monroe street N.E., to Fourteenth, south on Fourteenth to Franklin and east again on Franklin to Bladensburg road.

Originally the commission had suggested extension of the route along Monroe street to South Dakota avenue and southeast thence to Bladensburg road, with a few changes in the service on the Rhode Island avenue route and the Hyattsville-College Park schedule. While opposed to any extension at this time, Capital Transit Co. officials presented the Franklin street proposal as an alternative without disturbing the other two routes.

The problem of establishing feeder lines to the crosstown route will be considered by the commission and company officials later, it was indicated.

Announcement of the commission action was made by Chairman Gregory Hankin at the conclusion of a public hearing in which D. J. Locke of the Transit Co. outlined the company's position.

Cites Defense Policy.

Mr. Locke cited a policy statement of the Office of Defense Transportation, issued April 17, opposing the extension of any existing bus routes except to places important to defense or military or naval establishments. He indciated that this was the basis of the company objection to crosstown extension.

The crosstown line, he told the commission, is regarded by the company "a comparative luxury" because, he said, the immediate transportation needs are radial to points of employment concentration. He felt that if shortages of equipment imposed sacrifices, such sacrifices should be made at the expense of the crosstown or feeder service.

Mr. Locke was questioned extensively by Nathan Lubar, representing a steering committee of civic organizations favoring a crosstown service.

Mr. Locke said relatively few people ride all the way through on the crosstown bus, most of them using it to transfer to downtown streetcar and bus lines.

Chairman Hankin praised the presentation of the Transit Co. spokesman as one of the best he has heard.

Anacostia Course Granted To Private Tournament

The United Golf Association, composed of colored golfers, has been granted exclusive use of the Anacostia Park golf course for its annual national tournament this year, the Office of National Capital Parks said today.

Tentative dates are August 18 through 21. To persons who have inquired about the public's exclusion from the course on those dates, Irving C. Root, superintnedent of the parks, has been sending a letter explaining that the Langston course, used by colored golfers, has only nine holes. Tournament play requires 18, and the Anacostia layout is considered most available.

The reservation was made through Mrs. Paris B. Brown, president of the Wake Robin Golf Club, it was said.

Pan-Americanism Blow At Axis Forum Is Told

Solidarity among the American nations "must give the Axis powers serious cause for concern," Dr. James A. Magner, procurator of Catholic University, told the Charles Carroll Forum yesterday at the Willard Hotel.

Dr. Magner, founder of the forum, pointed out that a number of former opponents of the United States are now supporting inter-American solidarity and hemisphere defense. He said that without doubt the international crisis has given rise to an appreciation of what the countries of the Americas can and will do for one another.

"Pan Americanism is certain to be a decisive factor in the world crisis," he declared.

National Symphony Becomes Representative U. S. Orchestra

Funds Are Now Sought for It to Continue To Serve Country During Present War

(This is the first of a series of articles on the activities of the National Symphony Orchestra, now conducting a campaign to raise $114,000 for its 1942-3 season.)

The National Symphony Orchestra, now canvassing for a fund to carry it through another season, crystallizes a dream expressed from the stage of Constitution Hall nearly 11 years ago—that it would become the representative American orchestra.

Since November 2, 1931, the date of its debut the orchestra has given 731 different performances in various sections of the country. Audiences at these programs have been estimated to total 2,000,000 persons.

The National Symphony's headquarters were located here, in line with a practice followed by leading orchestras in other nations, but its field has been unlimited. It has spread musical good will from Canada to Palm Beach, and constantly at its head, like the keynote by which instruments are tuned, has served its founder and conductor, Dr. Hans Kindler.

Financial Storms Weathered.

Year after year during its existence the orchestra has weathered financial storms, some that threatened to put the orchestra on the rocks, but in each instance the goal was reached, and the symphony proceeded to complete successive seasons with growing acclaim.

The move for such an orchestra was started here many years ago. Music lovers, with growing vigor, clamored for America to become independent of Europe in music, to have its own large orchestras and conservatories to train musicians. The symphonies are one outgrowth of that movement. Other large United States cities had symphony orchestras before the goal was reached in Washington.

But the desire in the Capital was strong enough to survive. In 1930, a group of musicians organized under the name of the National Symphony Orchestra and gave three concerts on a co-operative basis before disbanding. But one lasting thing was done. The musicians asked a cellist who was born in Holland and who had led orchestras in half a dozen countries to conduct the last two concerts. That cellist, Dr. Kindler, accepted and has remained here since then.

Longworth Headed Group.

In the spring of 1931, he gathered a group of 97 contributors, headed by the late Nicholas Longworth, and formed the National Symphony Orchestra Association. With that group to support him, he inaugurated the following year a full season of symphony concerts.

The first program of the orchestra, the 12th major symphony in the United States, was attended by 2,000 persons, among them Mrs. Herbert Hoover. The most confident individual in Constitution Hall that afternoon, so critics said, was Dr. Kindler.

He was conducting at that time an orchestra only a few members short of the present symphony's personnel. It was made up of 16 first violins, 12 second violins, 3 violas, 6 violoncellos, 6 contrabasses, 1 harp, 3 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 English horns, 1 saxophone, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 French horns, 3 trumpets, 3 trombones, 1 tuba, 1 tympani and 3 members of the battery.

Greater Service Forecast.

The dream of a future described for it that day was not exaggerated, developments since have shown. It was announced that the orchestra planned to give practical programs at regular intervals. Some it was said would be for adult audiences, some for students of music, and it was added that the orchestra might even expand to the extent of giving concerts on a national tour as a representative music organization from the Capital.

Even a greater service was predicted for the National Symphony at the close of its winter season this year. After reviewing its accomplishments during its 11 years, E. R. Finkenstaedt, general chairman of the financial campaign, said:

"We now look forward to another great season for 1942-3. With pride in our orchestra and in our distinguished conductor, we anticipate and hope to be of service to the Nation's Capital during these important times."

Civilians to Be Given Awards For Valor if D. C. Is Raided

Commissioner Young, civilian defense co-ordinator, today announced creation of awards and citations to be presented to citizens who show great valor in the event the Capital is attacked.

It was indicated the honors would not be limited to members of the civilian defense set-up but could be given to any resident for valor in defense of the city.

A special committee of citations and awards, appointed last January, will make recommendations for the honors and presentation will be by Mr. Young.

Awards are to be known as the Civilian Defense Medal and the Certificate of Merit. Citations will include notice in official publications and a commendatory letter.

Medals to Be Limited.

Except for the commendatory letter, not more than one of the several methods of recognition will be awarded for the same act of heroism or extraordinary achievement, it was stated.

The Defense Medal will be awarded only to the members of the civilian defense corps. The Certificate of Merit is open to all residents.

Not more than one medal will be issued to any one person and subsequent meritorious action will be recognized by issuance of a bar to be worn with the medal. This award will be for extraordinary heroism beyond call of duty during actual hostile attack.

The certificate will be awarded for valor either under actual attack or for heroism at risk of life even though the city is not under fire.

Committee Named.

The Committee of Citations and Awards, headed by Maj. Gen. P. C. Harris, U. S. A. retired, includes: R. L. Jarnagin of the Veterans' Administration, Frederick E. Altemus, 3919 Military road N.W.; Joshua Evans, jr., Hamilton National Bank; W. W. Everett of Woodward & Lothrop, Col. Julius I. Peyser, Wardman Park Hotel, and Dean Grace Hayes Riley of the Washington College of Law.

Mrs. Samuel T. Fisher Dies Here at Age of 87

Mrs. Samuel T. Fisher, widow of the former assistant commissioner of patents, died yesterday at the home of her son, Martin T. Fisher, 4943 Quebec street N.W. She was 87 years old.

Funeral services will be held at Gawler's funeral home, 1750 Pennsylvania avenue N.W., at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow, with the Rev. Armand T. Eyler, rector of St. Margaret's Church, officiating. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. Fisher was a native of South Carolina. Besides her son, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson of Washington; a daughter, Marie E. Fisher, also of this city, and two other sons, S. Curtis Fisher of New York City and Alan M. Johnson of Plainfield, N. J., a son by a former marriage.

23 Officers of Navy To Get Higher Rank On Their Retirement

Yarnell and Elliot To Receive Rating Of Vice Admiral

By the Associated Press.

Selection of 23 naval officers for advancement to the next higher grade on retirement was announced yesterday by the Navy.

The officers all were chosen for outstanding performance of duty in actual combat. Citations on which the advancement orders were based all mentioned duty during or before the World War.

Two rear admirals were included and on retirement will hold the rank of vice admiral. They were Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, Washington, and Rear Admiral Middleton S. Elliot, Medical Corps, San Jacinto, Calif.

Admiral Yarnell was cited for "courage and disregard for danger" in aiding wounded men under fire while a member of a landing force at Vera Cruz in April, 1914. Admiral Elliot was cited for his work with wounded on the firing line at Vera Cruz.

Among other officers, some already retired, with home addresses as included in the Navy's list, were:

Capts. Isaac C. Johnson, Los Angeles; James P. Lannon, Coronado, Calif.; Richard P. McCullough, North Plainfield, N. J.; Neil E. Nichols, Coronado, Calif.

Lt. Comdr. David R. Lee, North Seattle.

Boatswain John D. Wilson, San Diego.

Mail, Phone Use Urged In Symphony Fund Drive

Fearing that many potential contributors to the current retaining fund drive of the National Symphony Orchestra have withheld their donations because they did not know how to reach the proper authorities, E. R. Finkenstaedt, general chairman, urged today that they get in touch by letter or telephone with campaign headquarters in the Woodward Building.

"We have 800 volunteer workers canvassing Washington," he said. "They cannot, of course, reach everyone here, or even all of those who desire to give to the orchestra. Those who are not generally solicited should either mail their contributions to headquarters, leave them at the National Symphony stand in the lobby of the Woodward Building, or phone the National Symphony offices."

The chairman added that contributors may pay their pledges in four installments if they desire.

Meanwhile, encouragement in the drive, now entering the last half of its 10-day period, was given by Dr. William Lyon Phelps, author, lecturer and professor emeritus of Yale University. In a letter to J. P. Hayes, National Symphony manager, he said that music is the voice of civilization and that to cultivate it more earnestly in the months to come "will be to fulfill one of the highest aims of patriotism."

Dr. McDaniel Dies; Maryland Educator

By the Associated Press.

WESTMINSTER, April 20.—Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning for Dr. William R. McDaniel, vice president and treasurer of Western Maryland College for many years.

Dr. McDaniel, 80, died at his home last night after an illness of two years.

Funeral services will be in charge of the school's president, Dr. Fred G. Holloway, with burial in Westminster Cemetery.

Dr. McDaniel is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Ober Herr of Westminster.

Attorney's Illness Delays Case of Five In Theft of Records

Lawyer Is Expected To Be Prepared for Trial Tomorrow

Another day's delay in the trial of five persons charged with removing illegally thousands of personnel information sheets from the files of the Civil Service Commission was ordered today by Justice James W. Morris in criminal division No. 2 of District Court.

Illness of an attorney for one of the defendants was given as the reason for the continuance. Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray who will prosecute the case, said he understood the lawyer, William H. Collins, would be prepared to proceed with the trial tomorrow.

The trial was interrupted at its outset last Monday when Justice Morris ordered a mental examination of one of the defendants, Lawrence L. Haynes, office manager for a mail solicitation business service. The other defendants are Miss Katherine Kay, a former War Department employe; Harlin W. Crandall, a former employe of the Civil Service Commission; Walter A. C. Camp and Werner J. Orbach, described as the president and vice president, respectively, of the Vita Health Food Co.

According to the Government, approximately 20,000 confidential personnel records of the Civil Service Commission were found in the office of Haynes, who was an associate in the Standard Business Service, a firm that supplied business establishments with lists of names to solicit.

The five accused persons are charged in the indictment with stealing the records. The bill contains 14 counts.

$457 in Thefts Reported Here Over Week End

Money, clothing and other items, with a total value of $457, were reported stolen from homes and automobiles of Washington during the week end.

Mildred E. Robey, 1441 Harvard street N.W., notified police that a billfold containing $170 had been taken from her home. She named a suspect.

Other thefts included 200 bed sheets, a radio and clothing, valued at $132, reported by Loua Mickens as stolen from her tourist home at 725 First street N.W.; $80, which Francis Rexin told police was taken from his room at 71 New York avenue N.W. while he was asleep last night, and $75 worth of clothing, missing from the automobile of Lyle Curtis, Lakeland, Fla., parked at Tenth and E streets N.W.

Housing Association To Discuss Needs

The Washington Housing Association will hold a round-table discussion on adequate housing needs during a luncheon meeting April 29 in Barker Hall, Seventeenth and K streets N.W.

Speakers will be John B. Blandford, jr., administrator of the National Housing Agency; Herbert Emmerich, commissioner of the United States Housing Authority, and John Ihlder, executive officer of the District Alley Dwelling Authority.

Seven Tires Are Stolen From 'Frozen' New Cars

Seven new tires and the same number of tubes and hub caps today were reported stolen from a lot at 1611 New York avenue N.E.

They were taken from the wheels of "frozen" new automobiles stored at the address, said police, who listed their value as $175. The theft was reported by Joseph A. Wheeler, sales clerk of the Mandell Chevrolet Co., 1234 Good Hope road S.E.

Democracy Gets Down to Work At New Blood Donor Center

Rich and Poor Alike Take Opportunity To Help Win War by Offerings, Services

By ROBERT C. HARPER.

A laboratory in democracy, where Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's Lady donate blood to save lives on the fighting fronts, is causing freedom-loving people to put ideals into practice at the Red Cross blood bank here.

In their attractive new donor center at the corner of Twenty-third and C streets N.W., District Red Cross personnel have a story to tell, not only of the reaction of some 11,000 persons here to Pearl Harbor and Bataan Peninsula, but of democracy exemplified in the collective rolling up of sleeves to help win the war.

Here one finds the wife of a British admiral, the wife of a chief petty officer of the Navy, a Belgian countess and the daughter of a Netherlands naval attache giving their services along with volunteers of the Red Cross Gray Ladies, Women's Motor Corps and staff assistants.

The millionaire and the poor man alike have given donations to hasten American victory, with women as usual making the most sacrifices. Whether it is because Washington is thronged with young women Government workers who have relatives or friends in the armed services or their loved ones have been killed or wounded, the fact is that women constitute the majority of those giving donations here.

Donors Derive Thrill.

"They derive a positive thrill out of giving blood to save lives," remarked Mrs. Dorothy Mason Walton, 1601 Argonne place N.W., in charge of the Red Cross blood bank. "It is hard to hit on a slogan that really tells the story. My own idea is that, by the individual doing so little, the Red Cross can do so much."

These people are a cross-section of American life. Members of Congress, high Government officials and those unable to buy Defense bonds are finding common work under the Red Cross banner.

For example, a young girl of slender build not satisfied to make one donation made three trips, each time giving a half pint of blood. She has three brothers in uniform.

There is Darrell Lightbourne, born a British subject, now a naturalized American. Over the last 20 months, he has achieved a record not equalled here. He has given more than a gallon of his blood in nine donations. Mr. Lightbourne, who lives at 4000 Brandywine street N.W., celebrated the receipt of his citizenship papers two months ago with another donation.

Mr. Lightbourne is being crowded by Ensign Robert D. McMillen of the Naval Reserve. Since September, 1940, Ensign McMillen, a splendid physical specimen, has given eight donations and shares membership with Mr. Lightbourne in the ultra-exclusive "gallon class."

The day after it was announced that his father, a major in the Marine Corps, had been taken prisoner by the Japanese at Wake Island, a prep school student here went to the Red Cross bank.

"People in poor economic circumstances who feel they can't pay $18.75 for a defense bond come in here and say they may help a little bit by giving their blood," remarked a staff physician.

"That is the spirit of America, the spirit which will win this war for us in the long run."

Just as 11,000 persons here have shared their blood with wounded men at the front—which is civilian participation in absentia—a larger District group is still being asked to give dollars to the Red Cross war fund. Through Saturday, the war fund drive here had netted $496,422 in cash and pledges, but tremendous effort is still needed to achieve the District's $750,000 goal. Since the Red Cross follows the flag, whole-hearted public co-operation is needed to sustain those on the fighting fronts, officials said today.

Donations Rise Sharply.

Washington began donating liberally of blood the day after Pearl Harbor was attacked. Where only 40 persons gave donations during the week ending December 6, the week ending December 13 saw 350 men and women doing their bit in this respect. The following week the total jumped to 604. From a total of 1,993 during January to 2,055 in February and 2,663 in March, tells a story of mounting approval of the Red Cross donor campaign.

That the use of dried plasma in the battle zones has saved lives is a matter of official reports.

By telephoning the Red Cross blood band and making an appointment, any one in good health between the ages of 21 and 60 may make a donation. Those under 21 require consent of parent or guardian.

The process, from the initial registration stage through the actual donation to 10 minutes' bed relaxation and later serving of refreshments in the outgoing reception room, consumes from 45 minutes to one hour. There is beehive activity, but also a quiet efficiency; women who tell admirals and generals where to get off, and charming young things dominate the scene.

Men on Job, Too.

There are men there, too, doing an important job. Because the blood collected here is processed by Army and Navy medical centers, the armed services have full-time representatives at the center. Comdr. L. R. Newhouser and Maj. D. B. Kendrick are assisted by Lt. E. L. Lozner and two other physicians, as well as hospital corpsmen headed by Chief Pharmacist Mate H. R. Evans, and half a dozen or more Army and Navy medical officers on part-time duty.

Officials of the national and District Red Cross, Army and Navy officers and Government officials were present at the first open house yesterday in the new donor quarters. Gold braid was much in evidence as visitors inspected the facilities. Refreshments were served, and music was provided by the four Red Cross Starlets, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Katherine Butler, Bernard McGurl and Charles Bright.

County Clergy to Be Assigned To Defense Casualty Stations

Plans to assign Montgomery County ministers and priests to casualty stations and first aid units to give spiritual comfort to injured persons were announced today by Albert E. Brault, executive director of the Montgomery County Civilian Defense Council.

Assignment of Protestant ministers to the various posts will be discussed at a meeting of the Montgomery County Ministerial Union at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Rockville Christian Church.

The oath of civilian defense will be administered during the session by Phillip J. Austensen, chief of the public relations and information service of the Montgomery County Civilian Defense Council. Members of the county clergy are affiliated with Mr. Austensen's committee.

The Rev. J. Virgil Lilly, pastor of the Rockville Christian Church, who is Protestant ministers' chairman of the committee, also is president of the union.

Assignment of Catholic priests in the county will be discussed at a later meeting with the Rev. Joseph T. Kennedy, pastor of St. John's Church, Forest Glen, who is chairman for Catholic clergy.

Seventh-Day Adventist ministers will be assigned by the Rev. W. H. Branson, chairman for that denomination.

Corporation Tax Bill Given O. K. By Committee

Hunter Proposal For District Wins Favorable Action

The House District Committee today ordered a favorable report on the bill of Chairman Hunter of the Subcommittee on Fiscal Relations designed to change the provisions of the bill providing a 5 per cent tax on foreign corporations having offices here.

Chairman Hunter said he believed the new measure would silence 95 per cent of the complaints now directed against the law.

The Hunter substitute was accepted instead of an amendment offered by Representative D'Alesandro of Maryland after extensive hearings. Representative D'Alesandro supported the Hunter substitute.

The D'Alesandro amendment, it is explained, would have meant an extensive loss in revenue to the District, which Mr. D'Alesandro did not intend, because it would have relieved from the tax all fuel oil, gasoline, coal, building supplies and such goods sold in large quantities here which are delivered in the District by the manufacturers.

Representative Hunter estimated that the corporation tax now in the law would bring in approximately $2,200,000 in revenue, but that would be from local corporations as well as foreign corporations. The substitute will cut off approximately $185,000 of that revenue. Mr. Hunter admitted that even with his substitute there is unfair competition under the law between corporations and individuals making sales in the District, but that no income tax law has yet been worded to correct such unfair competition.

Mr. Hunter said that all sales to the Federal Government are exempt unless they are made by a corporation doing business in the District and the goods are delivered for use in the District.

F.O.B. shipments would be relieved of the tax. C. O. D. shipments would still be compelled to pay the tax, but it was explained that the shippers would be able to find a way to relieve themselves of this tax.

Forty Attend New Session Of F. B. I. Police School

With approximately 40 law enforcement officers from all parts of the country in attendance, the first 1942 session of the F. B. I. National Police Academy opened today at the Justice Department.

The instruction course will emphasize wartime duties of police officers. At least three weeks of the 14-week session will be devoted to traffic problems.

Since its establishment in 1935, more than 600 State and local law enforcement officers have been graduated from the academy. They have come from every State, Puerto Rico, the Panama Canal Zone, England, and China. Approximately 75 per cent of the graduates have conducted training programs in their home departments and more than half have received promotions since completing the F. B. I. course.

Among those enrolled in the new session are Lt. Beverly Cecil Beach of the Metropolitan Police Department; Lt. William H. Gould, Capitol Police, and Patrolman Leslie Harmon Brooks, Radford, Va.

Another session will be held, probably in August.

U. S. Workers' Lodge To Entertain Military

About 250 men from the armed services and hostesses from the Government departments, will be guests of honor at a spring frolic of Civil Service Lodge, 32, American Federation of Government Employes, in the Shoreham Hotel at 9 p.m. May 2.

The affair will benefit Navy Relief. Naval officers will lead the grand march preceding the ball. A style show will begin at 10:30 p.m.

Park Service to Show Final Film Wednesday

"Wildlife at Denali" will be the subject of the last National Park Service motion picture program to be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Departmental Auditorium.

"Denali" was the name applied by local Indians to Mount McKinley, and was variously interpreted as "The High One," "Home of the Sun" and "The Chief."

League Head to Retire

RICHMOND, Va., April 20 (AP).—The Rev. Ed J. Richardson will retire June 1 as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia after 11 years of service.

Municipal Center Doors Jammed By Identity Order

Confusion reigned today at the main entrance of the Municipal Center Building, Fourth street and Indiana avenue N.W., when a new Army ruling that identification badges must be worn by all persons who enter the building went into effect.

A force of 10 Government employes was established in the lobby of the building—occupied principally by the War Department and the Metropolitan Police Department—to question all visitors. Visitor's badges are issued on request.

Detectives and plainclothesmen of the Police Department were compelled to dig deep for their badges, while persons wishing to make complaints or conduct other police business were required to sign up for entrance permits.

The ruling was ordered by the War Department recently because the department occupies two-thirds of the building.

Drivers 'Swamp' Auto Clubs for Tow Services

Many Stranded When Gas Runs Out Sunday

About 175 calls for help from motorists out of gas were received by the American Automobile Association here yesterday and the Keystone Automobile Club was likewise "swamped," the organizations reported.

A spokesman for the A. A. A. said he knew of only 12 stations which were open even briefly in the District yesterday and a half-dozen more in nearby Maryland and Virginia. After 8 p.m. only six Washington stations were doing business, and after 9 p.m. only three. One station near Highway Bridge, with a large quota of gasoline, was scheduel to stay open until midnight, but exhausted its supply and closed at 7 p.m., he said.

Only One Open All Day.

The automobile club was able to locate only one station in nearby Maryland or Virginia which was open for a full day's sales. This was at Langley, Va.

Most filling stations, during their limited hours, are still filling up gas tanks whenever a driver asks it, a survey indicated today. But operators emphasized that this is on a day-to-day basis and the policy may be changed in a hurry.

The manager of one chain of 45 stations predicted that before the end of this month stations will be limiting each purchaser to 3 to 5 gallons at a time.

Spring induced thousands to ignore the gas and tire shortage. A double line of autos moved at snail's pace around Hains Point, requiring one and a half hours for the round trip.

Road Demands Increase.

The A. A. A.'s road service department reported that the number of pleas from fuelless motorists has doubled on each successive night for the last four days, and motor club staff members said they expect the situation to get tighter toward the end of this month, as station quotas are exhausted.

To supply the industrial East with oil and gasoline, a revival of an old and storied form of commerce —river steamboating—appeared likely today.

Will Use Every Carrier.

Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes declared that every available carrier would be pressed into service to haul petroleum northward on the Mississippi and eastward along the Ohio River.

The petroleum co-ordination office and the transportation and petroleum industries are rounding out a program for complete co-ordination of rail, pipeline and barge facilities, to funnel oil eastward.

A survey was ordered to determine how much equipment may be moved from other waterways to the Mississippi and Ohio. The co-ordination office also was studying the feasibility of running a pipeline from the Southwest oil fields to Grand Lake, Ark., where the oil would be pumped into barges bound for Pittsburgh. This would cut approximately 300 miles from the present barge loading stations in Louisiana.

From Pittsburgh the oil fans out by rail tank car and transport trucks to Eastern consuming areas.

New Barges Being Built.

In 1940 some 9,459,000 barrels of petroleum products were moved by barge to the 14 States on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. This movement was increased to 16,462,000 barrels in 1941, and a haul of at least 25,000,000 barrels is expected this year. It may be considerably more.

Approximately 100 additional steel barges are being built and Mr. Ickes' aides are studying the feasibility of constructing inexpensive wooden barges. Some oil men, however, are skeptical about wood bottoms, because of the fire hazard.

While the rivers could carry only a small portion of the East's demand of 1,500,000 barrels of petroleum daily, oil and transportation men said the barge movements would be of great value in cutting many long hauls by rail tank cars.

The greatest adjustment to combat the East's oil emergency has been the pressing of rail tank cars into service. In the week ended April 11, the railroads used 43,500 tank cars to deliver 586,350 barrels daily in the seaboard area. In January, 1941, before any American tankers were loaned to Britain or were sunk or diverted to America's war purposes, the railroads delivered fewer than 1,000 barrels of oil to the East during the entire month.

J. C. Rawlings, 38, Dead; Virginia Sportsman

John C. Rawlings, 38, Virginia sportsman, who was operated on recently for a head injury suffered in a polo game several years ago, died early yesterday at Emergency Hospital. He will be buried today in the Hill Cemetery at Upperville, Va., after funeral services at 2 p.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church, The Plains, Va.

Mr. Rawlings was a frequent visitor to Washington and played polo against Army teams at Fort Myer, Va. He farmed extensively and raised cattle at his home near The Plains. Mr. Rawlings, who also was a steeplechase rider, was a member of the Orange County, the Piedmont and the Cobbler Hunts.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Skinker Rawlings; his mother, Mrs. Laura Rawlings, Rectortown, Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Thurston Willis, Warrenton, and Miss Delia Rawlings, Rectortown, and his grandfather, John W. Rawlings, Rectortown.

Civilian Defense School Opened At Maryland U.

Students Enrolled From Washington And Seven States

Fifty civilians from seven States and the District of Columbia today began an intensive training course at the Civilian Protection School recently transferred to the University of Maryland campus from Edgewood Arsenal.

The group, chosen by their State defense councils, includes two women, both from Washington. They are Miss Mary Mason, assistant chief air-raid warden in charge of women's activities, and Mrs. Nelle Holmes, private secretary to Col. Lemuel Bolles, civilian defense director for the Washington Metropolitan Area.

Courses Offered.

Instruction will be given in the proper technique of combating incendiary bombs, gases and high explosives, and in the method of setting up a control center. Ten officers from the Army Chemical Warfare Service will conduct the courses under the direction of Col. Thomas H. McHatton.

S. S. Steinberg, dean of the College of Engineering, said today that the course would cover the same subjects as given to civilians at Edgewood Arsenal. Facilities for demonstrations are being constructed on the university campus east of the Baltimore boulevard.

Additional courses will be started on alternate Sundays and will last 10 days. The hours of study will be scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The College Park school is one of seven to be established throughout the country, and is the fourth to begin actual training work.

Students From Many States.

The school at Maryland is for defense workers as far north as New York, west to Illinois and south to the Carolinas. Students in the first class here came from New York, Illinois, Ohio, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District.

The school was opened this morning with an address by Col. McHatton. Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the university, welcomed the students and Dean Steinberg also spoke.

The morning ceremonies concluded with an inspection of the school by Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the War Department's Chemical Warfare Service.

Relatives Learn Bataan Nuptial Pair Is Separated

CAPT. GARNET P. FRANCIS.

Newspaper accounts were the only information his family had today that Capt. Garnet P. Francis of Alexandria and his bride of three months were separated when Mrs. Francis was evacuated to Corregidor on April 8, leaving him on Bataan.

Mrs. John Bayliss, 14 West Maple street, Alexandria, aunt of Capt. Francis, said there was no secret about the couple's marriage, which occurred on the "front line" in Bataan, January 5, with an Army chaplain officiating.

The family was advised of the marriage, Mrs. Bayliss said, but had had no direct word from Capt. Francis since January 16, when he wrote that he was safe. There was no postmark on the letter, she said.

Capt. Francis, 33, a native of Alexandria, attended George Mason High School, where he played football, and graduated from the University of Maryland dental school in 1939. He immediately entered the Army. His parents live in St. Petersburg, Fla., and his grandparents with Mrs. Bayliss.

Mrs. Francis, the former Earleen Allen, an Army nurse, is from Jackson, Ill.

Memorial Rites Held For Admiral Wilcox

By the Associated Press.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 20.—Memorial services were conducted yesterday at the Naval Academy Chapel for Rear Admiral John W. Wilcox, jr., who was lost overboard at sea during a storm.

The services were conducted by Capt. William N. Thomas, chaplain, in the presence of the admiral's widow and a son and daughter, high-ranking Navy officials, and many members of Admiral Wilcox's class of 1905.

The Navy announced April 6 that Admiral Wilcox was lost overboard at sea "in heavy weather during normal cruising."

Vocational Guidance Speakers Announced

Howard P. Bailey, assistant to the managing editor of The Star, will discuss opportunities in journalism at a vocational guidance program tomorrow night at the Mount Rainier High School, it was announced today by Principal Forrest P. Blunt.

Others scheduled to address the meeting include Dr. C. S. Bashore on dentistry, Lt. Comdr. Victor F. Blakesley, the Navy; Maj. F. M. Bock, Marine Corps; Dr. H. H. Brechbill, education; C. T. Cronin, business; Walter Cushman, aviation; J. M. Howard, telephone work; Dean S. S. Steinberg, engineering; Miss Ruth Tighe, nursing, and P. O. Wilkinson, salesmanship.

The day after it was announced that his father, a major in the Marine Corps, had been taken prisoner by the Japanese at Wake Island, a prep school student here went to the Red Cross bank.

"People in poor economic circumstances who feel they can't pay $18.75 for a defense bond come in here and say they may help a little bit by giving their blood," remarked a staff physician.

"That is the spirit of America, the spirit which will win this war for us in the long run."

Just as 11,000 persons here have shared their blood with wounded men at the front—which is civilian participation in absentia—a larger District group is still being asked to give dollars to the Red Cross war fund. Through Saturday, the war fund drive here had netted $496,422 in cash and pledges, but tremendous effort is still needed to achieve the District's $750,000 goal. Since the Red Cross follows the flag, whole-hearted public co-operation is needed to sustain those on the fighting fronts, officials said today.

Donations Rise Sharply.

Washington began donating liberally of blood the day after Pearl Harbor was attacked. Where only 40 persons gave donations during the week ending December 6, the week ending December 13 saw 350 men and women doing their bit in this respect. The following week the total jumped to 604. From a total of 1,993 during January to 2,055 in February and 2,663 in March, tells a story of mounting approval of the Red Cross donor campaign.

That the use of dried plasma in the battle zones has saved lives is a matter of official reports.

By telephoning the Red Cross blood band and making an appointment, any one in good health between the ages of 21 and 60 may make a donation. Those under 21 require consent of parent or guardian.

The process, from the initial registration stage through the actual donation to 10 minutes' bed relaxation and later serving of refreshments in the outgoing reception room, consumes from 45 minutes to one hour. There is beehive activity, but also a quiet efficiency; women who tell admirals and generals where to get off, and charming young things dominate the scene.

Men on Job, Too.

There are men there, too, doing an important job. Because the blood collected here is processed by Army and Navy medical centers, the armed services have full-time representatives at the center. Comdr. L. R. Newhouser and Maj. D. B. Kendrick are assisted by Lt. E. L. Lozner and two other physicians, as well as hospital corpsmen headed by Chief Pharmacist Mate H. R. Evans, and half a dozen or more Army and Navy medical officers on part-time duty.

Officials of the national and District Red Cross, Army and Navy officers and Government officials were present at the first open house yesterday in the new donor quarters. Gold braid was much in evidence as visitors inspected the facilities. Refreshments were served, and music was provided by the four Red Cross Starlets, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Katherine Butler, Bernard McGurl and Charles Bright.

County Clergy to Be Assigned To Defense Casualty Stations

Plans to assign Montgomery County ministers and priests to casualty stations and first aid units to give spiritual comfort to injured persons were announced today by Albert E. Brault, executive director of the Montgomery County Civilian Defense Council.

Assignment of Protestant ministers to the various posts will be discussed at a meeting of the Montgomery County Ministerial Union at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Rockville Christian Church.

The oath of civilian defense will be administered during the session by Phillip J. Austensen, chief of the public relations and information service of the Montgomery County Civilian Defense Council. Members of the county clergy are affiliated with Mr. Austensen's committee.

The Rev. J. Virgil Lilly, pastor of the Rockville Christian Church, who is Protestant ministers' chairman of the committee, also is president of the union.

Assignment of Catholic priests in the county will be discussed at a later meeting with the Rev. Joseph T. Kennedy, pastor of St. John's Church, Forest Glen, who is chairman for Catholic clergy.

Seventh-Day Adventist ministers will be assigned by the Rev. W. H. Branson, chairman for that denomination.

Virginia Trade Body To Survey Problems Of Post-War Period

Junior Chamber Elects Danville Radio Executive President at Roanoke

By the Associated Press.

ROANOKE, Va., April 20.—The Virginia State Junior Chamber of Commerce will undertake through a permanent committee a study of post-war adjustment problems.

Appointment of such a committee was authorized at the final session yesterday of the organization's annual convention.

The State group elected James L. Howe, president of the Danville Junior Chamber of Commerce and radio broadcasting executive, as president and selected Winchester as the meeting place next year.

C. Ramsey Cruett of Norfolk was re-elected treasurer and the following were named vice presidents: S. Cooper Dawson of Alexandria, Richard T. Edwards, Roanoke; William E. Lloyd, Petersburg; Edward Molden, Winchester, and Thomas P. Shelburne, Bristol.

The chamber recommended a ceiling on prices, wages and profits and called for adoption of an international viewpoint rather than isolationist thinking in regard to the war. The organization also adopted a resolution promising wholehearted support of an all-out war effort and condemning "loose talk, propagation of unfounded rumors and destructive criticism tending to disrupt the war effort."

The Petersburg Junior Chamber was awarded the Henry Giesenbier Memorial Trophy given annually by the United States and Virginia State organization to the outstanding junior C. of C. group in Virginia.

Virginia Force Leader Goes on Active Duty

Capt. Frank M. Wray of Berryville, Va., who has been commander of the 11th Battalion of the Virginia Protective Force in the Northern Virginia area, has been assigned to active military duty at headquarters of the 2d Corps Area at Governors Island, N. Y., it was learned today.

It is expected that Maj. Everett A. Helmuth of Alexandria will succeed him as V. P. F. battalion commander.

Capt. Wray was an officer in the first World War. He is a past commander of the Virginia Department of the American Legion.

Col. Barrett Recalled To Maryland Duty

By the Associated Press.

ANNAPOLIS, April 20.—Gov. O'Conor announced yesterday he had promoted Lt. Col. Henry B. Barrett, director of the Maryland Air-Raid Precaution Service, to the rank of colonel and called him to active duty.

Col. Barrett, having passed the retirement age of 64 years, is on the old Maryland National Guard retired list, and in his capacity as colonel, he was eligible to be called for active service.

The Governor's office said that although Col. Barrett was on active duty, he would remain in charge of air-raid precaution work and would continue to be associated with the State Council of Defense.

Election Alternates Named

Mrs. Mae M. Brown and Mrs. Angela Richardson have been named alternate judge and clerk, respectively, on the Board of Registration and Election for Edmonston. The town election will be held May 4, when two councilmen are to be elected, one from the first ward and the other from the second, each to serve two years.

Labor Given Chance To Answer Farmers' Charges Today

Judiciary Subcommittee Will Hear Members of A. F. L. and C. I. O.

By the Associated Press.

Organized labor was afforded a chance by the House Judiciary Committee today to answer charges by organized agriculture that union leaders were seeking to obtain control of the Nation's food supply.

Chairman Hobbs of a Judiciary Subcommittee said representatives of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations would be called when the committee resumes hearings on legislation to subject unions and other worker groups to prosecution under the anti-racketeering and anti-trust laws.

Unions generally and the C. I. O. United Mine Workers of America specifically were assailed by farm groups when the hearings started last week. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Council of Farm Co-operatives accused them of promoting secondary boycotts, issuing "hot cargo" edicts, and engaging in other activities which President Edward A. O'Neal of the Farm Bureau Federation said levied "a toll of unnecessary costs of at least a billion dollars a year upon the American people."

Committee mebers said they were anxious to hear the U. M. W. A. reply to a charge by W. P. Davis, manager of the New England Milk Producers Association, that the union's move to organize dairy farmers "implies the possibilities of social revolution under a private one-man dictatorship of America."

Two 'Minute Men' Units To Be Sworn in Wednesday

Members of the newly-organized 1st and 2d Montgomery County companies of the Maryland Reserve Militia will be sworn in at 8 p.m. Wednesday by State Adjt. Gen. Francis S. Petrott at the Silver Spring Armory.

The two "Minute Men" companies were formed recently in Rockville. They are the first units to be mustered in the entire State. The men also will receive rifles, ammunition and coverall uniforms at the ceremony.

Circuit Judge Stedman Prescott has been appointed captain of Company No. 1 by Gov. O'Conor, while Allison Chapin, executive clerk of the county police department, will command the second company. Adolph E. Gude was commissioned second lieutenant of the 1st Company and A. Guy Watkins has been named second lieutenant of the 2d Company.

Judge Prescott, Mr. Chapin and Mr. Gude served as first lieutenants in the first World War. Mr. Watkins served as a sergeant. Circuit Judge Charles W. Woodward, who nas volunteereed for service in the 1st Company, was a captain of infantry in the first World War, but has refused a commission in the "Minute Men" because he is now serving as deputy air-raid warden for the county and does not feel able to take on any additional defense duties.

Weddings Dominate Social Horizon in Capital This Spring

Many Brides Ignore Traditional Days, Even Sunday Becomes Popular

Predominant on the social horizon in Washington this spring is the continuous procession of brides, many of whom are disregarding the superstitions decreed by tradition that denote those days of the week which assure the blessing of good luck for life to newlyweds. It may be that modern youth prefers to fling tradition to the winds, or it may be that modern youth seeks to change the fashion in weddings, or again, it may be that the brides-elect are finding it difficult to sandwich a wedding within the hours of leave or furlough granted the men who are now at the service of the Nation. At any rate, even Sunday has become a popular day for marriage ceremonies.

One lovely Sunday wedding took place yesterday afternoon in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Rice of Chevy Chase, whose daughter, Miss Dorothy Eloise Rice, was married to Mr. William Jay Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz, also of Chevy Chase.

An improvised altar of palms, Easter lilies, white stock and white snapdragons was arranged before the fireplace for the ceremony, at which the Rev. J. H. Dunham officiated at 4 o'clock. Miss Octavia Marshall played the wedding music, and the bride was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage.

The wedding was informal with only members of the two families present, and the bride was becomingly costumed in a moss-green gabardine suit, with which she wore a white hat trimmed with white flowers and green ribbon. She carried a white-bound prayer book from which depended a shower of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Maitland MacDonald served the bride as maid of honor, and Miss Lois Copenhaver was junior bridesmaid. Miss MacDonald wore a beige crepe dress and carried a bouquet of Briarcliff pink roses, and dusty pink was worn by Miss Copenhaver, who carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink sweet peas and sweetheart roses. Mr. Robert Schultz was best man for his brother.

Mrs. Rice was gowned in gray sheer crepe over rose taffeta and wore a corsage of pink roses, while the mother of the bridegroom wore black and white crepe with a corsage of pale yellow roses.

A buffet supper was served after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Schultz leaving later for a wedding trip. On their return they will reside at 5410 Thirty-ninth street.

Helen Thomas Weds Joseph Creighton.

Another wedding yesterday also was informal and took place in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church when Miss Helen Rebecca Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Thomas of Oquawka, Ill., became the bride of Corpl. Joseph H. Creighton, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Creighton of Monmouth, Ill. Dr. John W. Rustin officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Mr. Vernon P. Coyne served as best man for Corpl. Creighton.

Mrs. Creighton will reside at 1731 New Hampshire avenue while Corpl. Creighton is serving in the Army.

Sabbagh-Watson Rites Held at St. Anthony's.

The double ring ceremony was used at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Rev. John Spence, who officiated at the marriage in St. Anthony's Church of Miss Irene Mae Sabbagh to Mr. Almond Lester Watson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sabbagh of Washington, and Mr. Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Watson of Pine Level, N. C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and full gathered skirt ending in a train. Her full-length veil was of white tulle and fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of calla lilies and lilies of the valley.

Miss Louise Hamaty served as maid of honor and wore yellow lace and marquisette. She carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Quinn, who wore Nile green marquisette; Miss Ethel Rinaldi, wearing pale pink marquisette, and Miss Catherine Brinton, wearing orchid marquisette. Sandra Catts, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and wore a frock of aqua net and carried a basket of roses and gypsophila. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Mr. Doc Watson was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. William Sabbagh, brother of the bride; Mr. Leo Marshall and Mr. Lawrence Ricker.

A reception was held at 8 o'clock last evening at the Continental Hotel, where the mother of the bride received in a gown of powder blue lace, with which she wore a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride is president of Nu Delta Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi Sorority and is a graduate of St. Patrick's Academy.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Watson left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a beige gabardine suit with powder blue accessories.

MRS. DON E. BOEREMA.

South Carolinians To Fete Governor

Arrangements are well underway for the entertaining of the Governor of South Carolina and Mrs. R. M. Jeffries during their visit here Saturday, May 2. Mr. J. Austin Latimer, president of the South Carolina Society, has appointed a Governor's Committee in connection with the visit. Former Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper is chairman of the committee assisted by members of the South Carolina delegation in Congress. Others on the committee are Associate Justice James F. Byrnes and Interstate Commerce Commissioner J. Monroe Johnson.

Gov. and Mrs. Jeffries will be honor guests at a reception and dance to be given at the Shoreham.

Miss Shacklett Weds

The marriage is announced of Miss Della E. Shacklett of this city to Mr. Joseph A. Scheminger of Olean, N. Y. The ceremony took place April 9 in Elkton, Md., with the Rev. E. Lambert officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Scheminger will reside at 672 Maryland avenue N.E.

Miss Grace Colton, Mr. Arthur Nichols Will Wed Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Schwab will hold a reception Thursday evening at their home, 4707 Fulton street, at 8:45 o'clock for the wedding party of Miss Grace Blackistone Colton and Mr. Arthur Nichols, jr., whose marriage will take place Saturday.

Miss Colton is the daughter of Mrs. Bruce Colton and the late Mr. Colton of Southern Maryland. Mr. Nichols is the son of Mr. Arthur Nichols and the late Mrs. Nichols of Cherry Grove, Bowie, Md.

Among the out-of-town guests arriving for the reception are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hughes of Pittsburgh, Mr. Ernest Appleby of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bogeley of Fredericksburg.

Ruth Creps Married

Announcement is made of the marriage Wednesday morning of Miss Ruth Alma Creps to Mr. John M. Fitzgerald. The ceremony took place in the rectory of St. Joseph's Church, where the Rev. Lawrence Kilkenney officiated at 10:30 o'clock.

The bride was attended by Miss Pearl O. Smith, and Mr. William D'Lorenzo served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald will live here.

O'Connors Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. O'Connor entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon in their apartment at the Westchester in honor of Mr. C. T. McMurray of Minneapolis.

Jessica Callahan Engaged to Wed

MRS. BERNARD W. MENKE.

Miss Waters Is Married

Ceremony Held at All Souls' Church

The marriage of Miss Mary Catherine Waters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Waters, to Mr. Leon Wilson Carmichael, son of Mrs. John Harlee Carmichael and the late Mr. Carmichael, took place Thursday evening in All Souls' Memorial Church.

Palms, white gladioli, carnations and snapdragons decroated the church, and the seven-branch candelabra in the chancel combined to make a lovely setting for the 8 o'clock ceremony, at which the Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett officiated. An elaborate program of wedding music was played while the guests assembled, with the Westminster chimes striking the hour for the march of the bridal procession to the altar.

Short Veil Worn.

The bride, who was escorted by Mr. William Haters, wore a gown of white satin made with a low basque waist, pointed neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt falling into a train. Her headdress was a Mary, Queen of Scots, hat trimmed with seed pearls, which held a short veil, and she carried a prayer book overlaid with a white calla lily and a shower of stephanotis.

Mrs. Richard B. Castell, matron of honor, was gowned in yellow mousseline de soie with a Mary, Queen of Scots, headdress in net with ruffle trim and streamers, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of spring flowers, tied with yellow streamers.

The bride's other attendant was Mrs. William O. Lane, who was dressed like the matron of honor in pale green mousseline de soie, with a similar headdress and bouquet.

Couple Takes Wedding Trip.

Lt. John Harlee Carmichael was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. William H. Waters, jr., and Mr. Robert L. Waters, brothers of the bride; Dr. Donald Carmichael and Mr. William O. Lane.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents for members of the bridal party and the two families. Col. and Mrs. L. A. Wilson of Waycross, Ga., grandparents of the bridegroom, were among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael later left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a brown polka dot dress with a beige coat and brown accessories. They will make their home at 3903 Davis place.

MRS. JOHN J. STICKLEY.
Her wedding to Lt. Stickley, U. S. A., took place Saturday evening in the Chapel of Fort Belvoir. Mrs. Stickley was formerly Miss Mary Virginia Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Leach of Harrisonburg, Va.
—Harris-Ewing Photos.

MISS MARGARET CECILIA REIDY.
Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Reidy, have announced her engagement to Mr. William Henry Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll Gilbert. The wedding will take place in the late summer.

By the Way—

Beth Blaine

One snappy size 14 American Women's Voluntary Service uniform is, at the moment, doing the work of six—when it adorns, respectively, the trim figures of workers Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Delos Emmons, Mrs. Kent Legare, Mrs. Burrall Hoffman, Mrs. Duer McLanahan and Mrs. Eugene Carusi. Reason: It now takes from three to four weeks for the uniforms to be made—they've been ordered, but haven't yet arrived, and since all the ladies were ready and willing to help Mrs. Pearsons Rust run the now highly successful A. W. V. S. shop in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel, it seemed foolish to waste any valuable time just because every one didn't have her own uniform. As these ladies take turns selling smart handbags, compacts and cigarette cases, one would never guess that the jaunty cap hadn't been designed for each pretty head or that the uniform hadn't been especially tailored for each—except that the sleeves are a wee bit too long for petite Mrs. Delos Emmons and just a shade on the short side for tall, slender Mrs. Legare!

* * * *

Saturday's entertaining included the small and very nice cocktail party which Col. and Mrs. Snowden Fahnestock gave for visiting Mrs. Richard Hoyt and the dinner which Mrs. C. Mathews Dick gave that evening. (Mr. Dick is at present in New York working with the American Ambulance Corps, of which he was a member in the First World War.) At the Fahnestocks every one was delighted to see Arthur Lane, who's here for a few days en route to his new post at Bogota as Ambassador to Colombia. Attractive Mrs. Lane is at present in Mexico City and will shortly join her husband. Ambassador Lane's last post was as Minister to Costa Rica—now filled by Robert Scotten, recent American Minister to the Dominican Republic. Also at the Fahnestocks were Air Commodore H. N. Thornton, R. A. F. Air Attache of the British Embassy; Vivien Cornelius—who has just leased the Dean Acheson's Georgetown house; Dorsey Newson, now working for the C. O. I. here; the Counselor of the British Embassy, Derek Hoyer-Millar; Mrs. Edgar Eyre, Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Legare and one or two others.

Sunday there were several luncheons down Warrenton way—another nice country party which was gay and informal, given by the young

Trowel Club's Booths Expected To Stir Attention

Many unusual and picturesque booths will vie for first honors at the colorful Flower Mart, which will be held May 1 on the Pilgrim Steps of the Washington Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul. Two booths which promise to take their share of attention will be those of the Trowel Club, the members having completed plans over the week end for two booths—the Peasant Cart and the Old Country Herb Shop.

A motif of yellow and white will be carried out in the gay Peasant Cart and in the smocks to be worn by committee members, who will be on hand for the Mart. A special feature of the display will be an array of unusual honeys, carrying such names as Portugal Vine Blossom, Italian Black Locust, Italian Logwood, Palestine Vine Blossom and Australian Eucalyptus. The Trowel Club also will offer potted plants, French bread, garden brooms, buckets for cut flowers, candy and lollipops and homemade marmalade.

Herb Booth Is Popular.

Those who will preside over the Peasant Cart are Mrs. Walter Wyatt, president of the club; Mrs. Robert M. Hinckley, chairman of the Flower Mart Committee; Mrs. Dion S. Birney, Miss Bertha Marsh, Mrs. H. H. D. Sterrett, Mrs. Robert Sterrett, Mrs. A. P. Reeves, Mrs. John H. Small, Mrs. Arthur B. Heaton, Mrs. Douglas Rollow and Mrs. John W. Townsend.

The herb booth perhaps attracts more interest at the Flower Mart than any other display. And this year, it is due for even more attention because of the rarity of many herbs due to the war in Europe.

Secret Potpourri Recipe.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Raymond Wolven, the booth will display a great variety of herbs used both for scent and flavoring, which are grown on the Cathedral Close. There will be herb teas and spices for sale, and potpourri made from a secret recipe.

Assisting Mrs. Wolven will be Mrs. Charles Sheerin, Mrs. E. Chester Beck, Mrs. Samuel Beach, Miss Phyllis Snyder, Mrs. Laurence J. Meyns, Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Mrs. James Henderson, Mrs. P. Herbert Frohman, Miss Ruth West, Mrs. John Lyle, Mrs. L. Clayton Walters, Mrs. James A. Saltsman, Mrs. George A. Ranekin, Mrs. Robert Riley, Mrs. Kennedy Cochran-Patrick and Mrs. Horatio Dorman.

D. C. Women Will Assist At Assembly

Colonist Daughters Will Hold Parley In Philadelphia

Although the 25th general assembly of the National Society, Daughters of American Colonists, will meet this year in Philadelphia, a number of District women will assist with arrangements.

Mrs. Charles Douglas MacCarthy, national president, has announced that the assembly is scheduled for Friday and Saturday in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Miss Mary C. Oursler is general chairman of arrangements for the assembly meeting, while Mrs. Sol Lansburgh is chairman of the Luncheon Committee.

Miss Elizabeth R. Groves heads the House Committee, Mrs. Lee R. Pennington the Credentials Committee and Mrs. William B. Sinnott is vice chairman of publicity.

Mrs. Roy C. Bowker, State regent of the District, is among a group of national and State officers and members planning to attend from Washington. Others will include Mrs. Loren Edgar Rex, Miss Carolina V. Sudler, Mrs. Andrew J. Sanford, Mrs. Natalie R. Fernald, Mrs. Harry C. Grove, Miss Oursler, Mrs. Frank B. Steele, Mrs. Leo W. Kasehagen, Miss Margaret E. Naylor, Mrs. Grant F. Chase, Mrs. William H. Wagner, Miss Maud Burr Morris, Mrs. John F. Little, Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Miss Groves, Mrs. Lansburgh, Mrs. James MacFarquhar and Mrs. Pennington.

Elizabeth Lee Is Engaged

Of much interest is the announcement made by Mrs. Clarence Aspinwall of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Lee, to Second Lt. David Scull, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Scull of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

The engaged couple spent the week end in Washington with Mr. and Mrs. Aspinwall, Lt. Scull coming from Kansas and Miss Lee from her studies at Vassar College.

Miss Lee is the daughter of Lt. Col. E. Brooke Lee, and the granddaughter of former Senator Blair Lee of Silver Spring. She was graduated from St. Timothy's School in Catonsville, Md., last June, and made her debut early last autumn at the home of her mother on Kalorama road.

Lt. Scull was graduated from Princeton University and is a member of the Ivy Club. He went with the 1st Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, to Indiantown Gap, Pa., when it was inducted into the Federal service in February, 1941.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Supper to Honor Sorority Officers

Zeta Junior Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa Sorority will entertain at a supper meeting in honor of the newly elected officers of Beta Beta Chapter at the University of Maryland and Zeta Chapter at George Washington University at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at George Washington University chapter rooms.

Cocktail Party

Mr. and Mrs. George William Harris entertained at a cocktail party yesterday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Miss Aileen Harris and Miss Achsah Dorsey, who recently returned from a month's tour of the Southwestern States. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Harris were Admiral and Mrs. Benjamin H. Dorsey.

Luncheon Planned

A luncheon for the benefit of the Red Cross will be sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Benjamin N. Cardozo Lodge, B'nai B'rith of northern Virginia, at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Fairfax Hotel. Mrs. Joseph Einstein is chairman.

By the Way—

Prince and Princess Hohenlohe at their farm near Ellicott City, Md., and for the stay-in-towners, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Bolles' cocktail party at their new apartment on P street and Kate Hyde Scully's small afternoon gathering in honor of Mrs. Herbert Hartman, who is spending 10 days with Mr. and Mrs. William Kerkam, jr., in Westmoreland Hills.

The Bolles' apartment was filled with lovely spring blossoms and flowers—the hostess wore a new spring costume and most of the lady guests looked as though their frocks and bonnets were also brand-new. Nurse's afternoon off—caused three attractive gentlemen to appear without their wives—who were home watching the little ones. Dr. van Houten, First Secretary of the Netherlands Legation; John Leonard and David Wills were three of the "temporary" bachelors. Also from the Netherlands Legation were the Commercial Counselor and Mrs. Kleijn Molekamp, and from the Belgian Embassy, First Secretary Jacques de Thier. British Comdr. and Mrs. H. G. A. Woolley were there and popular Laurence Bungardeanu and the First Secretary of the Czechoslovak Legation, Dr. and Mrs. Karel Cervenka, and the Attache and Mrs. Vladimir Palic. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin—at whose house Mona and Blair were married last April—came with Mrs. Erwin's mother, Mrs. Delos Blodgett, and Mrs. Pierre Gaillard. The John Caswells were at the party, too—and so were Fred and Marian Gibbs, who were married on the exact same day last April—the 19th—that the Bolles were.

Cummings Flower Exhibit Added to Garden Tour List

An exhibit of flower arrangements at the home of former Attorney General Homer Cummings, 4308 Forest lane N.W., has been added to the list of attractions included in the annual garden tour of the Wesley Heights Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home from 1:30 to 7 p.m. Friday.

Tea, which will be included in the price of admittance, will be served at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Dewey, 4331 Forest lane N.W., across from the Cummings residence.

To save tires, the gardens on exhibit will be in the same neighborhood, it was announced.

Also included in the tour are the gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Paul S. Putzki, Mrs. A. Eugene De Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Dion Birney, Dr. and Mrs. John Bentley and Mrs. Benedicta Regenstein.

In the event of rain Friday, the tour will be held Saturday.

Tickets are available at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Miller, 4338 Cathedral avenue N.W., or may be purchased Friday at any of the gardens listed.

Camping Class Set

An overnight class in a series of training courses for outdoor living will be held Saturday and Sunday at Rockwood by the local Girl Scout staff for leaders and adults working with Girl Scouts.

Miss Barbara Phinney, field adviser, will be in charge of the first training class. Instructions will be given in health and safety precautions for overnight camping; types of camp sites; shelters; menu planning, use of implements and tools; first aid and types of program for the outdoors.

Plans Book Review

Helen Lombard, author of "Washington Waltz," will discuss her book at the book review tea of the District branch, League of American Pen Women, to be held in the studio from 3 to 6 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Imogen B. Clark, book review chairman, will make the introduction.

Hostess for the tea will be Mrs. Annabel Glenn Lawyer.

Women Voters Unit Eliminates Social Features at School

Critics who feel that Washington social life is too gay for war times might be somewhat reassured if they had a peek at the calendar of a number of women's organizations here.

For instance, the Voteless District League of Women Voters is eliminating all social features in connection wtih one of its most important events of the season—a one-day school on taxation and price control at the Washington Hotel tomorrow.

A similar school on foreign policy last year included a luncheon at which prominent women were guests of honor.

This year an equal number of women from official circles are expected to attend but—in keeping with the times no arrangement are being made for complimentary entertainment. Emphasis, rather, will be on the serious work to be done.

The school, which is called "The War and Your Pocketbook," will open at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow. Speakers will be from both the legislative and administrative branches of the Government. A panel discussion by experts in tax and price control problems will be presented from 2 to 4 p.m.

The school is open to the public, with tickets to be on sale at the door at a small charge.

Sisterhood to Hear Red Cross Official

Countess Eleanor Palffy, national vice president of the Volunteer Nurses' Aide Corps of the American Red Cross, will speak at the annual Mother's Day celebration of the Sisterhood of the Adas Israel Congregation May 4.

The opening prayer will be offered by Mrs. I. E. Levinson, and Rabbi Solomon H. Metz will greet the mothers. Several dramatic presentations will be given by Miss Miriam Berman.

Readers' Club Plans Shakespeare Program

A program devoted to Shakespeare, in commemoration of his birthday month, has been planned for the annual banquet of the Washington Readers' Club tomorrow night at Wesley Hall. Prof. and Mrs. George Washington Stone and Prof. and Mrs. Harlan Randall will be the guest artists.

Mrs. Gertrude Mustain is chairman of the evening, while the club president, Mrs. James F. Hartnett, will serve as hostess. Mrs. Hartnett also will present the "mirror of the month."

Scenes from several of Shakespeare's plays as well as readings from selected poems will be presented.

Others participating will be Violet Warren Pierson, Ada Louise Townsend, Eva Hurd Willis, Esther Waldron, Corola Belle Giovannoni and Esther Marshman.

D. A. R. Will Place Marker at Grave

The Janet Montgomery Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is arranging to place a marker at the grave of Mrs. Mary A. Jackson in Oak Hill Cemetery, Georgetown, at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow.

An active member of the chapter from her admittance in 1915, Mrs. Jackson was well known for her work in genealogy. She was the wife of Lewis Jackson.

Film Executive Given Credit for Shipment Of Food to Greece

Skouras Came to U. S. As Youth, Now Is Chief Of 20th Century-Fox

By SHEILAH GRAHAM,
Correspondent of The Star and North American Newspaper Alliance.

NEW YORK, April 20.—A cargo of 2,000 tons of food is now on its way to Greece. The German government has promised not to touch it. The Italian government has promised not to sink it. And the British government has promised they will not intercept it. The man responsible for this achievement is Spyros Skouras, a Greek from way back, and the newly elected president of the 20th Century-Fox Film Corp.

The life story of Mr. Skouras is more romantic than the most romantic of his company's films, and should be titled, "From Bus Boy to Film President."

Mr. Skouras, third youngest of a family of five brothers and five sisters, was born in Skourohorion, which in English means "Skourasville." He might still be living in the town of his ancestors, but for his five sisters.

"In Greece, every time a girl is born, the family gets that much poorer," I am informed by Mr. Skouras. "She must have a dowry for her future husband. All my five sisters were born before I was, so the family fortune was at a low ebb at the time I decided to leave Greece and try my luck in America."

Came to U. S. in 1910.

Mr. Skouras came to this country in 1910, preceded by older brother Charlie in 1907, and followed by baby brother George in 1912. Another brother, Dimitrios, now dead, divided his time between America and Greece.

Spyros had trained for the priesthood while earning his bread and butter in Patras on a newspaper. In the morning he was a journalist. In the afternoon he studied English and accounting. In the evenings he attended a school of theology. He was about 15 at the time.

"Spyros, every time he took on a new job, always took on a new school," brother George, who now picks up the narrative, tells me. "When he came to St. Louis as a bus boy in the Planter's Hotel, he also attended Jones Commercial College in his spare time."

The head barman in the hotel, Frank Balzer, another adopted son of America, would join Spyros in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" at 6 a.m. every morning—a thank-you from the immigrants to this bright land of opportunity.

Always Very Ambitious.

"Spyros has always been very ambitious," says George. "Until we went into the theater business, he used to say, 'Within 10 years I'll own two or three hotels.' We brothers used to meet every Sunday, we used to dress alike, too."

In 1915, the Skouras brothers were informed that three compatriots were building a nickelodeon, but were short of money to complete it. Spyros, the thrifty, and Charlie his brother, had saved between $3,000 to $4,000. They invested in the cinema, called it "Olympia," after Mount Olympus near their hometown in Greece. This early theater still exists in St. Louis.

"Spyros would now say," adds George, "it won't be long before I have every good theater in St. Louis. Soon he acquired two other theaters. Then came the First World War. Spyros joined the United States Air Service and went to Dallas, Tex. After he was discharged (with a commission) he returned to St. Louis, wanting to go into the airplane business. Charlie and I thought he was a bit touched and discouraged him to the point where he discarded the aviation idea. He stayed with the film business and between 1919 and 1926 he had 37 theaters, all in St. Louis." The company then expanded into Kansas City and Indianapolis, in conjunction with Paramount Publix Corp.

Skouras Is Early Riser.

With the beginning of the huge film circuits, Mr. Skouras sold out to Warner Bros. who had taken over the First National Film Co. and were among the early producing companies to win the theaters in which they sold their product. Mr. Skouras remained with Warners as general manager.

In 1932, he took over the Fox West Coast theater chain which had been losing $1,000,000 a year. Within 12 months the loss was transformed into a $200,000 profit. The once near-bankrupt company now has a chain of more than 500 theaters.

With the death of Sidney R. Kent a few weeks ago, Mr. Skouras took over the presidency of 20th Century-Fox.

He is married, has five living children—and, in the words of George, loves his wife and "has always come home at night no matter how late he had been kept out." He still rises at 6 a.m., calls brother George at 6:30 a.m. and demands, "Are you ready for the office?" His energy at something more than 50 years is amazing despite the fact of only four or five hours of sleep. He adds to this with armchair catnaps during the day.

A devout member of the Greek Orthodox Church, Mr. Skouras is on the board of the Greek Cathedral here, is president of the Greek War Relief which has raised nearly $7,000,000 with an expense sheet of less than 2 per cent. He owes his scuuess, according to George, "to patience, tenacity, and the upbringing of our mother."

Conservation of Paper

Every citizen is called upon to see that not a pound of paper is wasted. Demand from every clerk that any unnecessary wrapping of packages or unnecessary use of paper bags be dispensed with.

Waste paper for paperboard is vital to the packaging of a great quantity of war equipment.

Do not burn newspapers, but, when you have saved enough for a bundle, give them to the school children who are cooperating in the defense program with the parent-teacher organization in The Star's campaign for reclaiming old newspapers.

Young Greek Leader Flees Athens to Join Government-in-Exile

Kannellopoulos Fought As Private, Refusing Higher Positions

By WES GALLAGHER.
Wide World News.

LONDON, April 20.—Greek government sources have reported the escape from starving Athens of youthful Prof. Panajotis Kannellopoulos, political idol of Greece's youth and leader of underground resistance against Axis occupation.

Prof. Kannellopoulos now is somewhere en route to the Middle East to join the Greek government where he may become Greece's Venezelos in this conflict which President Roosevelt calls the War of Survival.

In a dark, heavily shuttered room in a crowded quarter of Athens just 11 months ago, I interviewed the nervous, intense professor while German sentries of the Army of Occupation unknowingly paced the street just a few feet away.

That interview never was published, for it would have meant the firing squad for Prof. Kannellopoulos.

He told me of his intentions to remain in Greece "as long as I am of use to the people" and to do what he could to resist and ease the burden of occupation.

On his desk lay a volume of Emerson's essays which he fingered as he talked. I had seen him reading the same volume a few months before in front of a flickering fire in the mountains of Albania where he fought as a private in the Greek Army—probably the only private in any army who was consulted by generals on important decisions.

Defender of Democracy.

An ardent defender of democracy and an admirer of the American way of life, Prof. Kannellopoulos was exiled by Metaxas when he actively opposed the dictator-premier's abolition of parliament.

When Italy invaded Greece, he telegraphed Metaxas demanding the right to return and fight for his country. The request was granted.

He told how—when the Greek armies had been slashed to ribbons, cut off from Athens and were near annihilation from German air and land attacks—Gen. Domestica and other generals had called him in to consult with the Germans on terms of surrender.

General Makes Prediction.

He told how the Germans and Greeks agreed on surrender terms, how the Greeks laid down their arms and how Italian armies then rushed up and attacked the defenseless Greek troops, forcing second and more harsh surrender terms.

He then slipped away to Athens through the German lines to inform King George of the situation. He could have left Greece with the King and other public officials, but he decided to stay.

What has gone on in the last 11 months may remain secret until after the war, but presumably he left Greece because he believed he could be of greater service outside.

Pending his conference with the Greek government in the Middle East, his status is uncertain, but I am reminded of the day the Greek general with whom I was walking in Koritza, Albania, pointed to Prof. Kannellopoulos as he passed and said:

"There goes the man who some day will be the Prime Minister of Greece."

De Chambrun Reported Having Role in Laval's Return to Power

Count Sent to Vichy to Inform Petain Of Plan to Name Gauleiter, Writer Says

By HELEN LOMBARD.

Young Count Rene de Chambrun, an American citizen through the courtesy of a grateful Congress (all descendants of Lafayette were given that privilege after the Revolution), was the diplomatic instrument of Pierre Laval's return to power.

When young de Chambrun, son of a distinguished French Army officer who once served in Washington as a military attache and of Clara Longworth, sister of the former speaker of the House, married the daughter of Laval there was a good deal of comment.

She was the daughter of a dynamic figure in French politics and the granddaughter of the saloon keeper and horse trader in a small Auvergne town. Count Rene married Josette Laval in spite of the chattering in conservative French drawing rooms. Today he finds himself the son-in-law of his country's Quisling ruler and richest citizen.

Count Well Known Here.

Anti-Vichyites have always maintained that the day the Germans decided that Marshal Petain's period of usefulness was over, they would not be slow in finding a way to get rid of him. A scarecrow was waved in front of the old marshal, and Laval stepped into his place through the good offices of the charming and personable young count, well known to Washington society.

Rene de Chambrun was sent from Paris to Vichy to inform Petain that a gauleiter, Collaborationist Gaston de Monzie, was about to be appointed ruler of occupied France, thus separating forever the main body of the country from the rump.

Laval Is Anti-U. S.

With the arrival of Laval at the head of the French government, it may be truly said that old chickens have come home to roost. Laval is not only pro-Nazi, but also definitely anti-American. He made one visit to Washington in 1932 to try to settle the debt question and to obtain guarantees for France against future aggression. His visit was a complete flop. He was frigidly received by President Hoover. Laval left with a bitter taste in his mouth which he has never forgotten.

When Laval was vice premier in the Petain cabinet, formed after the fall of France, he was handed a diplomatic note from the United States. Foreign Minister Baudouin presented the Vichy answer for Laval's approval, but he barked his own undiplomatic answer. It was one short word, unprintable even in the lowest French magazines.

Contingent of German Prisoners of War Arrives in Canada

New Group Less Cocky Than Previous Arrivals; Placed Aboard Train

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, April 20.—A contingent of hundreds of German prisoners-of-war, including captured U-boat personnel, merchant seamen and a few Nazi airmen, has arrived in Canada after an orderly trans-Atlantic voyage on which many spent most of their time secretly devising tools for escape.

Their guards attributed their singularly good behavoir en route to the quiet application to their plans for breaking out of the internment camp where they are now walled-in for the duration.

A captain in the provost corps who searched the captives as they arrived here said the Germans had succeeded in making the usual number of escape tools aboard ship.

Variety of Objects.

"It's amazing," he said, "what those chaps can make out of nothing at all. On every prison ship we find the Germans have made jimmies, screw drivers and daggers out of flattened nails, spoons and plates."

The hundreds were landed here on a boisterous spring day and marched from their gray prison ship through lines of soldiers armed with bayoneted guns and tommy guns to a heavily guarded train. On the sea side of the ship lay a naval launch with her Lewis guns stripped for action.

The prisoners were less cocky than previous arrivals, most of them plodding along with heads bowed.

One naval prisoner was troublesome, protesting about carrying his own luggage, but he was moved along, carrying his bags.

Saves Canadian a Reprimand.

A bearded Nazi, however, saved a Canadian soldier from a reprimand by tipping him off on the approach of an officer in time to discard a forbidden cigarette and come up with a snappy salute.

The guards told of one prisoner who still might be in Germany but for playing his luck too far. Their story was that the airman had made 109 trips over England and finally won a home-front aviation instructor job; but he wanted to bring his number of raids up to 110 and that time an Allied fighter downed him.

Escape of Two Nazis From Camp Reported

BOWMANVILLE, Ontario, April 20 (AP).—Two Nazi prisoners were reported to have escaped last night from the Bowmanville prison camp.

Authorities at the camp, however, said they would not list them definitely as fugitives until they had made a further check. An alarm was broadcast by the Toronto police.

Meanwhile, one of two Nazi airmen prisoners who escaped last week still was at large. The other, Eric Boehle, was captured Friday at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Pupils Surprised by Money Available in Salvage Drive

Briggs-Montgomery School Collections Forging Ahead

Well on the way toward the third million pounds of paper, cardboard and magazines, students participating in The Evening Star-P. T. A. Salvage for Victory program started on their 19th week of helping the national defense effort. Beyond the 2,000,000-pound mark at the end of last week, it is possible that the next quarter million will be reached during the collections Wednesday.

The Briggs-Montgomery School, which carried on rather indifferently during the first three months of the campaign, was brought to a full realization of the vital need for the paper during March and as a result the school has marked up an excellent record since that time. The last five collections have been averaging better than two tons. Starting with 5,212, the student have turned in successive collections of 4,528, 4,017, 3,666 and 5,769 pounds. The March collections netted the school $86.20.

The following letter has been received from the principal, Mrs. Ruth G. Savoy:

"We were very pleased to receive the checks for waste paper which the pupils of the Briggs-Montgomery School collected. We sincerely thank you and the entire personnel of The Evening Star for making it possible for us to earn this amount of money.

"We have not yet decided just how we shall use the money. We are considering a radio for our auditorium and tables and chairs for our lunchroom. Our school is in need of both.

"The check for March was presented to the pupils of the intermediate grades in assembly on Monday and they were surprised. You see we had stressed the patriotic value of the activity, what conservation means to the Government, what salvaged paper is used for, how collecting waste paper will help us win the war, etc., so some of the pupils were surprised to know that we could earn such an amount of money while helping our country.

"We are proud of our achievement and are inspired to go forth with renewed enthusiasm to help in this worthy cause. Again we thank you and The Evening Star for providing this opportunity."

Academy to Graduate Naval Reservists May 5

By the Associated Press.

ANNAPOLIS, April 20.—Ensign commissions in the Naval Reserve will be given to members of the Naval Academy's Reservist class May 5 at an assembly in Dahlgren Hall.

On that day more than 500 reservists, graduates of colleges throughout the Nation, will complete an engineering course. The original class numbered 696, but some were transferred and others dropped at the end of one month of "elimination training." Survivors then took a 3-month engineering course.

The class will rehearse the commissioning exercises May 4 and that night will attend a farewell dance in MacDonough Hall. Commissions will be issued at 10:30 a.m. the following day.

Governor of Bombay Minimizes Menace

By the Associated Press.

BOMBAY, India, April 20.—Sir Roger Lumley, Governor of Bombay, said yesterday there was "nothing very alarming about the present situation in Bombay."

"From land there is no danger at all," he said in a broadcast. "From the sea, from which occasional attack might come, there remains a possibility but not a probability."

Conflict Must End In 'People's Peace,' Bevin Declares

Says Peasants Must Not Be Left Underpaid, Underfed And in Poverty

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 20.—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin declared today that the world could not have a "decent civilization" if its peasants were left "underpaid, underfed and in poverty."

"It must be a people's peace," he told an emergency meeting of the International Labor Office, speaking for the war cabinet.

"The budgetary position of the world," he said, "will be such at the end of the war that the 'idea of permanent fortunes being made out of it is impossible."

The postwar world, he added, will not be able to afford industrial cartels or trust-fixing arrangements, listing them among "devices" which he said would mean "suicide for the industrialist himself."

Carter Goodrich, American chairman of the governing body, presided.

Mr. Bevin warned that the "cease fire" order would bring "danger of a tremendous reaction" and declared the leaders of mankind must "hold on to some form of controls while the foundations of peace, stability and orderly development are being worked out."

He declared the world must "accept certain fundamental principles such as those expressed in the Atlantic Charter," which he said means "an end to exploitation as we knew it in the 19th century."

"We must tear out of history books the things that prejudice one people against another," he said, and teach the idea "all have a contribution to make to human progress."

Mr. Goodrich said the people of the United States believed in the International Labor Organization because its ideals of social justice and social security were going to raise standards of living throughout the world."

3 U. S. Doctors In Burma Work By Oil Light

By the Associated Press.

CHUNGKING, April 20.—A vivid picture of an improvised hospital somewhere on the Burma front with three American doctors—stripped to the waist—operating on wounded Chinese soldiers in the light of kerosene lamps was given today by a Chinese correspondent.

He identified the physicians as Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, a well-known missionary-surgeon, and two Army men, Capt. John L. Grindley and Capt. Donald M. O'Hara. The doctors were assisted by 11 Burmese nurses.

The operating room, the correspondent said, served the doctors as a mess hall during their brief respites from almost incessant work.

Six Britons and two Chinese, belonging to a Friends ambulance unit, brought the wounded in from the battlefield, often under fire, he declared.

Eli Brothers, Inventor, Dies

Citizens' Group Elects Federation Delegates

They are: Joseph B. Matre, president of the Civic Federation; James P. Gill and Mrs. R. B. Morehouse. Alternates are Norris P. Reed, Lt. Calvin W. Schaeffer, U. S. N., and Nelson Miller.

Candidates for office, to be elected at the May meeting, were nominated as follows: President, Mr. Reed and Mr. Miller; vice president, Mr. Reed, Mr. Miller and Mrs. Schaeffer; secretary, Frederick Diedrich, and treasurer, Daniel Graham.

The association directed that a letter be sent to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad complaining of excessive smoke from trains.

Snake Invades Home In Middle of City

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA.—"Now listen, lady—" the police sergeant began.

"I tell you," insisted Mrs. Robert Logue, telephoning from her mid-city home, "there a 5-foot snake sitting on my wash stand."

A policeman investigated, found the gray and white reptile and killed it.

Mrs. Logue has no idea how it got there.

Cooking and Money Are the Outstanding Causes of Most Family Quarrels

Criticism, Child Rearing And In-Laws Are Other Reasons for Dispute

However, Wives and Husbands Must Enjoy Arguing, Else They Would Not Indulge

By Dorothy Dix

A correspondent asks: "What do husbands and wives quarrel over most?" Well, almost any old thing is good for a fight if husbands and wives enjoy scrapping, but I should say that most domestic controversies arise over the following topics:

1. Cooking. All men hold to the artless belief that every woman is domestic by nature and that all girls are born knowing how to make pies such as their mothers made, while all girls are grounded in the romantic belief that love is enough, and that they can stay their husbands' stomachs on kisses and soft talk. And when these two conflicting schools of thought meet trouble ensues. The first quarrel that virtually every honeymooning couple has is when the bride sets her husband down to meals that would make an ostrich call for bicarbonate, and he says things to her that cause her to burst into tears and threaten to put on her hat and go back to mother.

2. Money. The financial problem calls for just as much acrimonious debate in the family circle as it does in Congress and is just as impossible to settle. There are breakfast tables over which it has been fought 365 days a year for 40 years, without any peace terms ever having been arranged. For the husband never ceases to be amazed that it takes money to support a family, and it always makes a wife see red to be asked what she did with the $1.50 he gave her week before last.

3. Their families. If a husband-and-wife argument doesn't start with their respective families, it invariably ends with them. Somewhere, when the discussion warms up, they drag in your cousin Tom who was arrested for not paying his income tax, or your aunt Susie who was no better than she should have been, though they may nothing to do with the case.

And every married couple knows that "your mother says" are the fighting words that the other will resent with the last drop of blood in them. Probably the only husbands and wives who ever lived in perfect peace were doorstep babies who married other doorstep babies.

4. Amusements. During courtship the man is an appeaser and the woman a mush of compliance, so only too often they do not discover until after marriage that they do not like to be together, and that each has a grievance over which he or she can grouch from the altar to the grave.

The man comes homes tired from work and he wants to spend his evening at home over his paper and pipe, resting his feet. The woman has been shut up in the home all day and she yearns to dress herself up and step out in the bright lights. And she wails to high heaven over how selfish and inconsiderate John is if he won't take her dancing, while he looks like an early Christian martyr if she drags him out to a party. Before many a married couple start out for a good time they have fought so bitterly over where they shall go and what they shall do that they are too sore to enjoy it.

5. Criticism. Many men and women believe that there is something in the marriage ceremony that gives them the privilege of calling each other's attention to their faults and weaknesses, and that the party of the other part should take it, and like it. Hence the wife does not hesitate to criticize her husband's grammer and table manners, and the husband feels free to tell his wife that she doesn't know what she is talking about, and for pity's sake not to try to tell a funny story.

Also Friend Wife throws away her husband's cherished neckties that he picked out himself and substitutes some that are her own taste. And he tells her her hat makes her look like a figure of fun, and that she is getting too fat and old to wear flapper clothes any more. Then they go to it hammer and tongs and neither one ever forgives the other one for having told him or her the truth.

And, of course, people who have children always have something to quarrel over, for not one father and mother in a thousand ever see eye to eye about whether the kids shall be brought up by the baby book, or by hand, the way they were; and whether they shall be disciplined and made to behave themselves, or left untrammeled to develop their own personalities.

Sometimes it is the mother who wants to spoil them, while the father is strong for the spanking theory. Or it may be the other way about. But in either case it is good for one of the never-ending scraps that put pep into domesticity and keep marriage a going concern. For husbands and wives enjoy quarreling, else they would not do it.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

To wear or not to wear—a girdle.

This question comes across my desk many times each month. Certainly the straight jackets of yesterday will never return, now that women have aired their figure problems, and the question of whether or not to wear a girdle at all is becoming more prevalent. This actually requires an individual answer, but there are general rules I can formulate.

The young girl or young woman with good muscular development and correct weight does not need a girdle. It is best for her to allow her abdominal wall to do the work nature intended it should do by providing support for internal organs. This also may be true of the older woman who has exercised and kept herself in shape. However, the woman who does this is rather rare.

When a woman has had a child or two her abdominal wall is relaxed and she is more likely to require a girdle. However, if she has taken herself in hand after delivery and has exercised herself back into firmness this is not necessarily true. I have known cases when it was almost impossible for a physician to tell, by the tone of abdominal muscles, that a woman was a mother.

Women who are extremely overweight or underweight are more likely to need a girdle or support for best health.

If a woman is growing older, has had children and is increasing in poundage, she may very well profit by an abdominal support.

When the abdominal wall becomes relaxed it allows the internal contents to sag below normal level. This exerts a pull on the support at the back of the abdominal cavity and may cause backaches and extreme fatigue. If this is your case have your support made by some company that knows how to make things of this kind.

For women in whom this condition is not extreme there are many good girdles on the market. So—it all depends on your muscular tone, your weight, your exercise, the number of children you have had and your age. Remember, however, that with proper care and exercise, it is possible to have a strong abdominal wall regardless of years or children.

If you wish to have my leaflet, "Planning Your Clothes to Fit Your Figure and Personality," send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper.

Third in our group of desserts that are easy on the sugar canister is this cherry cobbler, made with prepared biscuit mix to which grated cheese has been added. Some sugar is required to sweeten the canned cherries—but if you like fruit really tart, you may cut down on the amount—or omit sugar altogether. The recipe appears below.

Tact Needed In Handling Children

Praise Them When Comparing With Adored Ones

By Lettice Lee Streett

Which of these two statements do you think is best: First, mother, crossly, "Why can't you keep yourself neat and clean the way Betty does? Your clothes and your room are always a mess. What am I going to do with you?" or, second, mother, encouragingly, "The birthday party is going to be such fun! Why don't you tidy your room before you put on your party dress so that you will be as pretty and neat as the other girls?"

The first remark is almost guaranteed to make any spunky little lass rebel. According to her nature she is likely to stick out her lower lip and sulk, to purposely muss her dress all the more, to fling her clothes even more untidily about the room, to indulge in a temperish outburst or to drop her eyes in shame. Whatever the final display, it will be but a shield to hide wounded feelings.

The net result for mother is failure. Such talk will not awaken in her little daughter the desire to be neat.

The second method will bring good results in almost every case, I am willing to wager. This mother is tactful, she also realizes that one of the easiest ways to painlessly teach obedience is to picture a rainbow at the end of the rocky road to duty. Likewise she kindly and cleverly understands that comparisons are not only painful but they discourage effort, deaden ambition and destroy pride.

It is true that at one time or another most youngsters develop a devotion for an older child or an adult which is called "hero worship." This is natural and may be utilized as helpful tool in molding the young character if handled with a light and cautions touch.

I know a beguiling small boy who adores his grandfather. He calls him Mister Bill. Quite by accident his mother discovered that her 5-year-old son responded instantly to words like this: "Mister Bill always takes his hat off when he speaks to ladies." (Not, "Why don't you take your hat off the way Mister Bill does") or, removing a suffering kitten from the loving but strangling grasp of her small son, "Mister Bill is kind to animals; this is the way he would pick up a little kitten. Better still, "Why! You are as kind and polite as Mister Bill!" This sort of comparison is a joy to hear and you should see the small chest swell with pride!

Manners of the Moment

When a young girl decides she is going to have bangs, whether any one else likes the idea or not, you might just as well let her have them. For if you try to stop her she's sure to find herself a pair of scissors and a moment of solitude and cut them off for herself. She'd probably look halfway decent if you sent her off to the hairdresser to have her bangs cut with full permission of her parents.

I remember the day I first took a whack at my own hair. I had half of it cut off when one of my elders walked in on me. So I turned the other cheek until my elder had gone, whereupon I finished up the job. My elder was horrified. But she got over it. And I looked terrible for a while. But I got over it too.

Whether, as a parent, you like bangs on your child or not isn't really very important to the child. What she wants to do is to keep up with her Joneses. JEAN.

You Will Enjoy This Cool, Casual Frock During Warm Weather

By Barbara Bell

The warm, sun-drenched days when you will greatly enjoy the cool, carefree style offered in pattern No. 1591-B will soon be here. The frock alone can be worn for many sports activities—tennis, croquet, bicycling or golf. The low top exposes arms and neckline to a glorious sun tan and permits full freedom for action in strenuous outdoor games. The trim, princess cut achieves a slender line which is crisp and youthful.

For coolness and smartness make the sports frock of white pique, sharkskin or poplin. Contrast it with a gay, colorful bolero of printed material; chintz, percale or broadcloth. Completed with this flattering jacket, which stops at just the right length to show off your slender waist, this costume is correct to wear on shopping and visiting trips.

Barbara Bell pattern No. 1591-B is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) frock requires 4 yards 39-inch material, bolero 1⅛ yards.

Try This

Cream soups and chowders step into main parts of luncheon or dinner menus when sprinkled with grated or sliced cheese and accompanied by crackers, toast or hard rolls. With a substantial vegetable salad and fruit or baked dessert you have a nutritious meal, considerate of the budget.

Though cobblers made according to many different recipes are as old as Colonial crockery in this country, there are ever-new and interesting ways of varying this favorite dessert. One of the happiest new cherry cobbler inspirations invites the cook to vary her formula by topping the cherry mixture with small, rich-flavored pinwheels made easily with ready-prepared biscuit mix, sprinkled liberally with shredded American cheese. No pastry could be simpler to prepare, and the addition of rich cheese flavor to the topping of any cobbler is a most luscious taste treat.

The unusual pinwheel topping which characterizes the season's newest cobbler is made simply by adding milk to prepared biscuit mix, rolling it out, sprinkling the sheet of dough liberally with American cheese which has been grated or shredded, then rolling the sheet like a jelly roll. The cheese-filled roll is cut into slices about ½ inch thick and placed atop the sweetened cherry pie filling in the casserole. Then the cobbler is baked until cherry juices bubble and the topping pinwheels are crisply brown.

SPECIAL CHERRY COBBLER.

3 tablespoons cornstarch.
¼ to ⅓ cup milk.
1 cup prepared biscuit mix.
1 cup shredded American cheese.

Drain the cherries and heat the juice to boiling. Blend the sugar and cornstarch and add enough water to make a thin paste. Gradually add this to the hot cherry juice and cook until thick and clear. Add the cherries. Place in a shallow baking dish. Add the milk to the biscuit mix and blend well. Roll out to an oblong piece ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle with the shredded cheese and roll up like jelly roll. Cut into ½-inch slices and place them around the edge of the cherry mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes or until the biscuit pinwheels are done.

Eggs Contribute Valuable Minerals and Vitamins

By Edith M. Barber

In previous articles the contributions of various foods have been discussed. Today we will consider what eggs contribute. They supply some protein of excellent quality, but we value them most for their minerals and vitamins. They rank next to milk in importance and they supply more vitamins than does milk. While they provide us with less calcium, they give us more iron, for which we should be particularly concerned.

Most of the food value of the egg is contained in the yolk, and for this reason it is one of the first foods which is added to the milk diet of the infant. Eggs in any form, except fried, are quickly digested. Hard-cooked eggs, if chewed thoroughly or finely chopped or put through a strainer, are just as completely digested as are soft-cooked eggs. Strange as it may seem, a raw egg white, unless beaten, is not so completely absorbed by the digestive tract. Once upon a time raw egg whites were given to invalids.

Almost everybody likes eggs and it is only price which limits a large consumption in their own form. In the interest of best nutrition, eggs should be served at least three times a week.

6 eggs.
2 cups medium cream sauce.
½ teaspoon prepared mustard.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Butter six individual baking dishes or ramekins. Place one tablespoon spinach in each dish. Break eggs and slip carefully onto the spinach. Mix sauce with seasonings and cheese and cover eggs. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F), about 15 minutes, until eggs are firm. Yield, six servings.

EGGS STUFFED WITH MUSHROOMS.

2 tablespoons butter.
½ cup finely-minced mushrooms.
¼ teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar.
Salt, pepper.

Cut eggs in halves lengthwise and remove yolks and mash. Melt butter, add mushrooms and cook two minutes. Mix mushrooms and butter in pan with yolks. Season with lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. Refill whites, brush with butter and bake five minutes in hot oven (450 degrees F.). Serve on rounds of toast as a first course, or with a savory cream sauce as a luncheon dish. Yield, six servings.

This intricate-looking filet-crochet centerpiece has all the beauty of an old Persian carpet. It is worked from a simple diagram, extremely easy to follow, so that even a beginner can make it without difficulty. There are no rows and rows of instructions to read.

The size of the centerpiece varies with the size of the crochet cotton used to make it and the tension of the crocheting. With size 30 cotton, the piece should measure about 30 inches square.

Columnists Discuss Use Of Real Words Versus Slang and Nicknames

Free Speaking Carried Too Far; Best to Make a Real Effort To Use Correct Language

By Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison

We wish some one would invent a wordometer which would check how many times a day you say yes as compared with yeah, uh-huh, yep, and sure. The count would probably be closely paralleled by your use of no as compared with nope, naw, and huh-uh.

Now, yes and no are two admirable words—short, definite, clear in meaning, efficient. Then why will most young people go to almost any length of daffy diction to avoid using them?

Of course, we don't want to turn you into a precise and prissy talker who enunciates every word as though it had sharp corners on it. On the other hand, free-and-easy speaking can be carried to the point of sloppiness, and all too often is.

One advantage of yes and no, particularly when you are speaking to older men or strangers, is that they just naturally seem to take a sir after them. "Yes, sir" rolls easily off the tongue, but "Uh-huh, sir" sounds even more ridiculous than it looks. "Ma'am" also goes nicely with yes and no, and while it's somewhat out of fashion these days, nobody has figured out a satisfactory substitute for it. "Yes, Miss Ogrepuss" sounds all right the first time, but if you keep repeating it, Miss O. can be excused for suspecting that you are mocking her.

Another very good word to get out of the habit of using is that interrogatory grunt "huh?" "What" by itself is correct, but it seems a little stark and abrupt. "What did you say?" or "I beg your pardon?" is much better when you must ask to have something repeated.

"Okay" is a useful bit of slang which somehow seems to fill a special need that even "all right" doesn't match. We wouldn't be surprised to see it accepted as a legitimate part of the language one of these days. But why use such kittenish or coy variations as "okey-doke?" And why use even "okay" to the exclusion of every other word of agreement? Mix it up with "right," "that's fine," "good enough," or other expressions which convey the same meaning.

Here's another reason for using a real, legitimate word occasionally instead of some slangy exaggeration or variation. It actually is more effective! Thus, suppose you were trying to impress your hearers with the idiocy of some acquaintance's course of conduct. Customarily you would say "He's as screwy as a pretzel," or "He's nuts," or "He's a double-dyed goof."

But suppose instead you use perfect, precise English and remark "The man is mad." The very novelty of the grammatically correct and unadorned expression makes it almost startlingly expressive. It may even get you a laugh!

Even though everybody calls Harold "Slats," the girl who uses his real name in their more confidential moments will exert a special tug on Harold's heartstrings. And if the boy who starts out the evening by saying, "Hi, Peggy," ends it by murmuring "Good-night, Margaret," she's going to read a special meaning into those words and flutter a pulse accordingly.

Fundamental Outline for Foot Care

Healthy Feet Help To Make a Happy Face Possible

By Patricia Lindsay

From now on we are going to pay more and more attention to our feet because we are going to use them a great deal. And a good thing that is, for healthy, happy feet make pretty, unlined faces.

Through the courtesy of the National Association of Chiropodists, I want to present some pretty fundamental rules for foot care which all adults can clip and practice with unquestioned benefit:

1. If your feet perspire excessively, shake a liberal quantity of a good antiseptic foot powder over them. Take a foot contrast bath daily as follows: Dissolve a heaping tablespoon each of epsom salts and sodium bicarbonate in a vessel containing hot water; immerse your feet for about 15 seconds, then plunge them into another vessel containing plain cold water for about 5 seconds; repeat alternations 5 times.

2. If you develop blisters or breaks in the skin, do not neglect to have first aid rendered immediately. If you must resort to emergency self-treatment paint the affected part with an antiseptic solution, allow it to dry, and cover with several layers of clean gauze bandage held in place by long narrow strips of adhesive plaster.

3. Discard stockings which are crowding the toes. Pointed toe stockings of tight fit sometimes cause ingrown nails and large joints.

4. Cut the toe nails straight across, not shorter than the toe itself.

5. Never cut corns or callouses unless certain that the cutting instrument has been thorough sterilized.

6. Keep the heels of your shoes straight. Worn-over heels cause weak ankles and foot strain.

7. Buy shoes for comfort as well as style. Do not ever buy tight shoes. Select those with flexible leather or rubber soles and light weight upper leather. Thick, heavy leathers retard evaporation of moisture from the feet and make children's feet weak. Light-weight leather is desirable in children's footwear; it gives and shapes readily and conforms to growing feet.

9. Toe straight ahead when walking. Toeing-out weakens the ankles and arches and ruins a graceful stride.

10. Have two pairs of socks for sportswear. One pair of white cotton over which should be worn an extra-heavy or thick pair of woolen socks—winter or summer. See that at least ½-inch extra length extends beyond the toes for proper fit. Thus blisters and irritation will be avoided. Sports shoes should be one-half size larger than dress shoes to accommodate the thickness of the two pairs of socks.

Nature's Children

Black-Eyed Susan (Rudbeckia hirta)

By LILLIAN COX ATHEY.

Maryland has chosen the black-eyed Susan as her floral emblem. This strong flower, classified as a weed, is an independent traveler, having covered the many miles from Ontario and the Northwest Territory south to Colorado and the Gulf States by sending out into the world many sturdy children.

Open sunny, dry fields are selected as choice home sites, if we are to judge by the number of black-eyed Susans established in these spots. From May until September, there are Susans in bloom, and each one is maturing many seed children to keep up the family traditions.

The flower heads are from 10 to 20 orange-yellow neutral rays around a conical dark purplish-brown disk of florets containing both pistil and stamens. The stem is from 1 to 3 feet high—hairy, rough, usually unbranched and often tufted. The leaves are oblong to lance-shaped, thick, rough and sparingly notched.

Many of our most determined weeds have come to us from Europe. They have seen their golden opportunity and taken advantage of every opening to advance themselves. From our eastern shores, the weeds have marched toward the west, and year by year you will notice that the trek is going steadily on. So we find that black-eyed Susan, a native of our western clover fields, is traveling toward the Atlantic. This is going to be a fast journey, as she is tucked away in bundles of hay and is a stowaway in many bags of grain.

The scientific name gives you a clue to Susan's ancestry. She is a showy rudbeckia. Some members of the family, instead of having a black eye, have one of orange-red, and these latter cousins have a choice spot assigned them in European gardens. This super care will give them an opportunity to overrun the Old World. For once, an American weed has seen a chance to become affluent in Europe.

Black-eyed Susan is a firm believer in mass advertising. She gathers her clan about her and masses her florets in the center, placing bracts around them to attract attention—just like the daisy and other blossoms with their real flowers packed in tight formation—with banners flying so that cruising insects will be flagged and call.

The composite family uses the clever business-like methods of man and of the flowers and there are some that could teach humans a point or two. They defy their furious victims, the farmers, by getting into fields of valuable grain. They offer their own partners a liberal profit in nectar and pollen. They fill their deep, slender brown goblets with delectable refreshments for their most important guests and give bread (pollen) to those who cannot serve them quite so well.

Black-eyed Susans and their sturdy offspring will go marching on, and we shall be likely to see them as we pass their way. They have given freely of their food and drink and, in return, they have prospered. We admire Susan's persistence, though sometimes, in our wrath, we gladly behead her.

Grady Begins Parleys Today in India on Industrial Effort

By PRESTON GROVER,
Associated Press War Correspondent.

NEW DELHI, India, April 20.—Dr. Henry F. Grady, former Assistant United States Secretary of State who is directing efforts to increase India's war production, will begin a series of conferences with Indian industrialists today for more munitions for the United Nations.

With the Japanese advancing through Burma, urgency has become Mr. Grady's watchword because next to Burma lies India's frontier and immediately behind that frontier lies the greatest producing area in India—the Calcutta-Jamshedpur region in Bengal.

Mr. Grady already has found some problems which needed settling before the real job of determining which of India's industrial wants could be supplied quickly by the United States.

Both Indian and British operators of various industrial plants here harbored the suspicion that United States activity in India was, in part at least, aimed at getting in to share in India's wealth after the war.

Acts to Quiet Feelings.

The State Department sought to quiet such feelings before Mr. Grady and his commission of economists arrived. Mr. Grady took further steps by issuing a statement asserting the mission's work is "directly related to the common war effort of the United Nations and in no way has to do with post-war industrial and commercial questions."

American sources here have said that it is unlikely at this stage that any efffort will be made to introduce any immense amount of American equipment into India.

The aim seems to be to determine where relatively limited amounts of American tool and production machinery can be supplied to sustain or increase present production which is now vital not only to the Near East but even more so to China.

For instance, it is apparent that time is lacking to build up a motor industry, but it is possible to increase production of military-type auto bodies for which American motors can be supplied.

Economists say this represents a tremendous saving in shipping space, which is increasingly important as America's own demands for shipping increase to supply her overseas forces.

Impressed With Importance.

Americans here are increasingly impressed with India's importance as a base not only from which to supply the fighting forces in the Near East and the Orient but also as a possible jumping off place for a land attack against the Japanese.

Of all the bases from which Americans are presently operating in the Far East, India is possibly the easiest to supply as the shipping route around South Africa is the least menaced by the Axis.

How long such a favorable situation will last naturally depends on the military campaigns being waged by the Axis both east and west of India. Negotiators on both sides recognize that what they can do depends entirely on how long the defenses beyond India's Burma frontier hold out.

Jap Butler and Wife Lose Appeal to Annul Marriage

The United States Court of Appeals today affirmed rulings of District Court refusing to annul the marriage of Jesse S. Shima, Japanese butler, who inherited about $30,000 from the late Mrs. John B. Henderson, a dominant figure in Washington society before her death.

Both Mr. Shima and his wife, the former Sobretta Brown, had sought a separation.

Mrs. Shima had appealed from a judgment dismissing her suit for limited divorce on grounds of cruelty. Mr. Shima had appealed from a finding that their marriage was valid. He claimed that the annulment of her previous marriage to a Mississippian was invalid and that, therefore, her subsequent marriage to him also was invalid.

The money he inherited, of which only about $20,000 remains, has been tied up by court injunction pending settlement of the disputes.

Mrs. Henderson, whose husband was a United States Senator from Missouri, ruled the inner circles of Washington society for many years from the famous Henderson Castle on Sixteenth street.

O. C. D. Official Will Speak At D. C. Salvage Rally

Jonathan Daniels, chief of civilian mobilization in the Office of Civilian Defense, will be among the speakers at the mass meeting sponsored by the Women's Division, District Salvage for Victory Committee, at the United States Chamber of Commerce at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Daniels will discuss the work of his organization. Other speakers will be Commissioner Mason, Lessing J. Rosenwald, administrator of the Bureau of Industrial Conservation, War Production Board, and Mrs. P. C. Ellett, president of the District Congress of Parents and Teachers, who will speak on the paper salvage campaign being conducted in the schools.

Lyle O'Rourke of the National Council, Junior Board of Commerce, will discuss the "cleanup for victory week" his organization will sponsor April 27-May 2.

Palatial Bermuda Hotel Leased for U. S. Troops

By the Associated Press.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 20.—The palatial Hamilton Hotel was leased by the United States Government yesterday and will be transformed into a recreational center for troops of the United Nations stationed in Bermuda.

Among other things United States authorities intend to set up with the hotel a roller-skating rink and a bowling alley, neither of which ever has been seen here.

Jap Envoy in Vichy

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20 (AP).—Japan's newly-appointed Ambassador to France, Takanobu Mitani, arrived in Vichy Saturday, the Domei (Japanese) news agency said in a broadcast from Tokio heard last night by the Columbia Broadcasting system listening station.

Yvonne Dionne Has Minor Ear Operation

By the Associated Press.

NORTH BAY, Ontario, April 20.—A minor ear operation was performed last night on Yvonne Dionne, usually the most robust of the quintuplets, and she was reported resting "fairly well" today in a North Bay hospital.

The operation was performed by Dr. G. F. Guest, North Bay specialist, and Dr. I. Joyal, the quintuplets' North Bay physician.

The trip to the hospital was the first time Yvonne has left her home in nearby Callander without her sisters. It was not known how long she would remain in the hospital.

G. U. Will Graduate Son Of '42 American Mother

Lt. Francis Xavier Berry, 25, one of the 13 children of this year's American Mother, Mrs. William N. Berry of Greensboro, N. C., will be graduated from Georgetown University Medical School May 25 and go immediately into the Army as a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps.

Lt. Berry was commissioned a second lieutenant in the medical corps two months ago.

If the usual period of interneship is permitted by the Army, Lt. Berry hopes to work at the Sisters of Charity Hospital in Buffalo, N. Y. One of his sisters, Mary Elizabeth Berry, is a member of the order and treasurer of the hospital.

Like several of the other children of the Greensboro woman who was chosen this month by the American Mothers Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation as the American Mother of 1942, Lt. Berry studied at Mount St. Mary's Preparatory School in Emmitsburg, Md. He received his A. B. degree from Notre Dame University in 1938. He lives at 1675 Thirty-fifth street N.W.

Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON BURGESS.

Of course, when Farmer Brown's Boy lifted off the upper half of the pile of old corn stalks in the middle of which Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse had built their home he had no idea that any one was living there. It is a question if Danny and Nanny were any more surprised than he was. Of course, they ran—ran as fast as ever they could. They did it to save their lives. At least, that is what they thought. You see, it was all so sudden that they were just terribly frightened, and when people are terribly frightened they run away from the thing that has frightened them. At least, that is what most people do, and it is what Danny and Nanny did now.

With frightened squeaks they ran along the secret little galleries Danny had made for just such a need. And then quite suddenly Nanny stopped. She had thought of the four babies left in that dear little house. She had remembered Teeny, Weeny, Midget and Mite left to the mercy of Farmer Brown's Boy. She couldn't run another step.

"Hurry!" squeaked Danny, scampering on ahead. But Nanny didn't. Instead she began to go back. Danny looked back over his shoulder and saw her. "What are—" he began, and then he, too, remembered the helpless babies and a feeling of great shame swept over him at the thought of how he was running away and leaving those babies with no one to even try to protect them. He turned back and hurried to catch up with Nanny. Together they peeped out to see what Farmer Brown's Boy was doing.

He was stooping over looking at the little house they had been so proud of when they had built it. "Ha!" said he, "I'm afraid you will have to build a new house somewhere else, Danny Meadow Mouse, for I have got to clean up around here and take away all the old corn stalks. I wonder what the inside of your house is like."

With that he picked up the house in his great hands and began to tear it open to see what it was like inside. Poor Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse! It was more than they could stand. Danny shut his eyes so as not to see what was going to happen, but Nanny, because her mother love was so great, actually ran out in plain sight. She didn't dare go quite to her babies, but she went just as near as she did dare to.

When Farmer Brown's Boy had torn open the roof of the little house so that he could see inside he gave a long whistle of surprise. Then very gently he lifted out Teeny and Weeny and Midget and Mite and held them in the hollow of one hand while he looked at them closely. Of course they were too little to be much afraid, but they didn't like the bright light, for you know that ever since they were born they had been in the dark and now the light hurt their eyes. So they snuggled together and they tried to get their heads under each other.

Just then Farmer Brown's Boy happened to look down straight into the terribly anxious eyes of Nanny. Slowly a smile lighted up his freckled face. "Don't you worry, Mrs. Meadow Mouse," said he. "I wouldn't hurt your babies for the world. I guess I've spoiled your house and I'm sorry. I wouldn't have done it if I thought there might be babies there."

Very gently he put the four babies back in their bed of grass and as well as he could, which, of course was not very well, he pulled the broken roof together over them. Then he put the house back where he had found it and stepped back a few steps. Nanny looked at him very hard. Then suddenly she darted forward and into her house.

"You brave little mother," said Farmer Brown's Boy softly, and began to put back the corn stalks he had taken from the pile. When at last the little house was once more in the middle of the pile he started on. "I'll wait until you have that family off your hands before I clean up here," said he softly as he saw Nanny's bright eyes anxiously peeping at him.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE.

Allowing a child the choice of two alternatives helps him see the reasonableness of a request.

Mother—You may take your choice, son. Either do something quiet here in the living room or take your drum outdoors to play.

Mother—For pity's sake, stop that noise! I've already told you three times to stop it. We can't hear ourselves think!

Key Cards

"Please settle this matter for us," requests a Baltimore fan. "Ten tricks were as cold as ice in the accompanying hand, but we didn't get to game. Here's how we actually bid it:

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	1NT	Pass
3◇	Pass	Pass	Pass

"North maintains that South should bid three diamonds instead of only two. South insists that North should take him back to two hearts; in which case South will bid again. Who is right?"

There is much to be said on both sides, but South is right. If North had held two black kings it would have been proper for him to pass two diamonds. The only point of going back to the first suit when the second suit is safe is to give the opening bidder a chance to go still farther. In this way, a simple preference, while not actually a raise, is nevertheless more encouraging than a pass. It was precisely this very nebulous encouragement which South wanted to hear and which North declined to offer.

Now let us examine the North hand to see whether or not his hand rates that much optimism. There is no danger in bidding two hearts if South has a poor hand. In that case two hearts will be the final contract, and it ought to be about as good as two diamonds. If South has a very good hand, he will bid again over two hearts. But in that case North's two red kings are of tremendous value. They are two sure tricks in the very suits South is sure to hold. Two kings in an otherwise worthless hand justify a certain amount of optimism if the bidding indicates that the kings are key cards.

As a matter of fact, if North had bid two hearts and South had then bid only three hearts, it would still have been proper for North to bid four hearts.

Saturday you were David Burnstone's partner and, with neither side vulnerable, you held:

♠ A 2
♡ Q 4
◇ A 10 9 6 3
♣ Q 9 7 4

The bidding:

Burnstone	Schenken	You	Jacoby
1♠	Pass	2◇	Pass
2♡	Pass	(?)

Answer—Bid two no-trump. You have a strong hand and want to get to a game contract. You cannot support either of your partner's suits until you make sure which (if either) is a strong five-card suit. With your club holding you must suggest no-trump as an alternative contract.

Score 100 per cent for two no-trump, 50 per cent for two spades, 40 per cent for three no-trump.

Question No. 1,051.

Let's Learn a New Word

The word ECHELON designates a military, naval, or aerial formation in which the units are arranged like a series of steps, thus:

Echelon (a French word meaning "ladder; the rung of a ladder") also is used in the meaning of "a unit of command." In the English pronunciation, the first syllable is accented, and rhymes with fresh, thus: ESH-uh-lahn

The second choice pronunciation is French. The vowel sound of the first syllable is "ay" as in day. The second syllable is accented, and the "n" is nasalized, thus:
aysh-LAW(N)

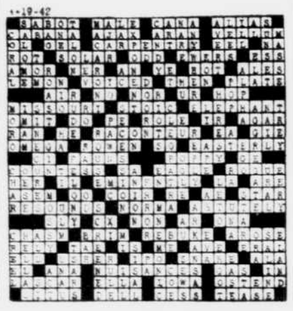
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle



UNCLE RAY'S CORNER —By Ramon Coffman

Now and then, it is well to take our minds away from this troubled earth. Thanks to the fine work of astronomers, we are able to explore the solar system, of which our earth is a member.

I speak of "solar system," but I might just as well say "sun system." The solar system is made up of the sun and the objects which go around it.

Comets and meteors are in our solar system, but planets make the most nearly regular path around the sun. There are nine planets of large, or fairly large, size.

At this time we cannot be sure which of the nine planets is the smallest. It is either Pluto or Mercury. We shall take up Pluto in a later story.

Of all the nine planets, the one which moves the fastest is Mercury. It is also the closest to the sun.

Mercury was named in honor of the ancient messenger-god. The Greeks called him Hermes, and the Romans spoke of him as Mercury. He was supposed to have wings on his sandals, also on his hat. In ancient times, people spoke with wonder about his speed. They did not know of such speed as an airplane can make, seven or eight miles a minute.

Mercury compared in size with North America.

Even less did those ancient people know the speed which heavenly bodies make. Thirty miles a second! That is the average of Mercury! It is the record speed of all planets, but the rest also move very fast.

When we speak of a year, we mean the time it takes the earth to make a complete trip around the sun. That is about 365 and one-fourth days.

If there were people on Mercury, they would have to speak of a shorter year than we have. To make one complete trip around the sun, Mercury takes only 88 of the days we count on earth.

On the other hand, Mercury has a far longer day than we have. Indeed, according to the best that scientists have been able to find out, Mercury has a day which lasts forever! One side of Mercury seems always to be faced towards the sun. If that be true, the other side has a night which lasts forever.

It's Those Little Blunders Which Are So Vexatious

Hollywood Makes the British Angry, And Several Washingtonians, Too; Air Pictures Lack Stunt Men

By JAY CARMODY.

Tut, tut department: While there will be no official protest about it, British diplomatic and R. A. F. officials are vexed these days at Paramount for a sequence in "My Favorite Blonde." The sequence in question implies that a whole flight of seriously needed bombers is delayed on its take-off for England while waiting the arrival of a trinket being carried across the country by a pretty blond in the espionage business. The trinket is supposed to contain an important code message. The vexation is based upon the fact that there are so many better and far less silly ways of getting such messages to flight commanders.

Jay Carmody.

* * * *

Tut, tut department, jr.: This department and several of its constant readers are vexed at that line of John Payne's in "Shores of Tripoli" at the Palace in which he threatens to get a desk job in Washington where, he says:

"I'll sit with a drink in one hand and a secretary in the other."

Come, come Hollywood, that's not funny. And very bad taste!

* * * *

Priorities department: Now is the time to make aviation films, but bless Hollywood's soul, it is almost completely stymied by the shortage of stunt pilots. The fellows who once risked their redoubtable necks in those acrobatic sequences without which no film is complete have gone on to bigger and better things—primarily training young pilots, or flight-testing.

The studios cannot even argue the point.

* * * *

Amplification department: Milton Shubert's presence in Washington, which has started rumors to the effect that the Shuberts (his uncles) are going to buy the National, reopen the Belasco, etc., has nothing to do with either.

Young Mr. Shubert is here in connection with a plan to open a stage door canteen for servicemen. The original canteen, in New York, is the most successful venture of American Theater War Wing Service, Inc.

* * * *

Record department: When it goes into its fourth week at the National tonight "Hellzapoppin'" will set a record for the longest run musical in Washington's history. At least in that area of history within the memory of the oldest authority on the subject known to this department.

The fact that the run was broken up into two fortnight segments does not affect the record.

It sort of recalls with interest the circumstance that the Shuberts once wondered whether it would be possible to build a successful road company without the presence of Olsen and Johnson.

Seems to have been.

* * * *

Revival department: Elsie Janis, who was known as the sweetheart of the A. E. F. in the First World War, has returned to the same field, if not the same title, in the newest one.

She is touring camps on the West Coast, may extend her journey if the servicemen feel as their fathers did about her.

* * * *

Nomenclature department: Donivee Purkey, the Texas girl who just signed a Paramount contract, will not play under that name, no matter what acute loss it may mean to the historical importance of the Purkeys.

* * * *

* * * *

Relief department: Ten per cent of the receipts of nine night and two matinee performances of Gene Autry's Stampede, nee rodeo, will be given to the Citizens Committee for Navy Relief. The Stampede will be held May 2-10 at Uline's.

* * * *

Missing persons department: Dorothea J. Lewis, whom you have not seen acting in local amateur performances for several years, as we have not also, has bobbed up again. She is author of the scripts of a new W. P. B. radio program called "Three-thirds of a Nation." The series will start Wednesday night on the N. B. C. blue network.

NOT A SCRIPT—But a call to arms is John Huston reading to Olivia De Havilland and Bette Davis. Huston, son of Walter and one of Hollywood's most sensational young directors, is summoned to early duty with the Signal Corps, in which he held a reserve commission. His latest picture, just completed, was an adaptation of Ellen Glasgow's "In This Our Life," starring Miss Davis.

Concert Given By Pianist for College Fund

A. Sklarevski Commended for His Polished Style

By ELENA de SAYN.

Alexander Sklarevski, well-known pianist and teacher of Baltimore, who played here at the Hotel Washington several months ago, was heard in recital for the second time this season yesterday afternoon at Trinity College. By his well-chosen program the artist made a two-fold contribution to that institution: One, by selecting numbers of educational value; second, by donating his services toward a worthy cause. The proceeds from his recital were given to the fund for the new science building recently erected on the campus.

Mr. Sklarevski does not belong to the class of virtuosi who storm and thunder up and down the keyboard, but who rather reflect the sound musical traditions and the musicianship of his generation. He can always find up his sleeve some forgotten charming number, such as "The King's Hunting Jigg," by John Bull; Couperin's "La Favorita, Chaconne" and David-Liszt "Capriccio," and present it in a thoughtful and delightful manner.

While at times one may wish for greater forcefulness or a more ringing tone in sustained passages, especially in a pianissimo, the pianist gave a successful reading to Bach's "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata, Op. 57," Chopin's "Ballade in G Minor" and Liszt's "Rakoczy March," of which the first and the last were especially distinctive.

Shorter numbers on the program consisted of Chopin's "Mazourka in C Sharp Minor, Op. 50," somewhat lacking in native character; "Waltz in A Flat Major, Op. 41"; Rachmaninov's less familiar "Prelude in D Major" and Ravel's "Jeux d'Eau." Chopin's waltz and Debussy's "Claire de Lune," two of the encores, deserve special mention, the first for the engaging manner with which it was presented, the second for the poetic execution. Mr. Sklarevski was enthusiastically applauded and recalled several times in the intermission and after the close of the program.

Robert Steinberg's Concert Commended.

Another pianist, Robert Morton Steinberg, still in his teens, but already commanding attention, made his appearance at the Washington Club last night, presented by Felicia Rybier of Washington and Baltimore. While master Steinberg does not intend to specialize in music and is already on the way toward a medical profession, having won a four-year scholarship at George Washington University, he could easily aspire to a musical career, judging by the extent of his gift.

Well taught, with an already well developed technique and endowed with temperament and feeling, the young pianist gave a good account of himself in Beethoven's "Pathetique Sonata." Chopin's "Polonaise C Sharp Minor, Op. 26, No. 1," "Nocturne F Sharp Major, Op. 15 No. 2," "Waltz E Flat Major, Op. 34, No. 1" and in the "Concerto A Minor" by Grieg, to which Miss Rybier supplied an artistic background on the second piano. His touch is virile and full, he grips the keys with assurance and seems to be perfectly at ease in the presence of a large audience. The Washington Club was filled to capacity and applause was enthusiastic.

Sad, but It's Untrue

William Gargan wishes that his role with Shirley Temple in the Edward Small production, "Miss Annie Rooney," were more fact than fiction. The tires on his real-life automobile are beginning to wear down while in the film he attains wealth and fame by inventnig a cheap synthetic rubber.

Willkie Generally Welcome In Cinema Executive Ranks

By MAYME OBER PEAK.

Although the appointment of Wendell Willkie to the chairmanship of the 20th Century-Fox board gives Darryl Zanuck the edge on other producers, Willkie's Hollywood connection reflects credit on the entire industry.

It was inevitable that Willkie would be drafted for some important position. Hollywood has liked all its contacts with him. The industry was sold on him by the way he handled the charges made against it by the Senate subcommittee in Washington.

He made another hit with his off-the-record speech at a stag dinner Zanuck gave for 400 of the movie great, at which he expressed opinions in line with the position he took at the hearings. Namely, that Hollywood had been too much on the defensive, that the industry was one of the few in American life in tune with the times.

When Willkie journeyed to Hollywood in March to preside over the Academy Awards banquet, he lent added prestige to an industry badly in need of an articulate spokesman who has the ear of America! His affiliation with the industry means that he often will be called upon to supply that need.

Glenn Miller, now working with his band in "Orchestra Wife" at Fox, makes his every-Saturday broadcast from the sound stage . . . Jack Botoin, R-K-O-Pathe producer, address Culver City, is in the market for six original stories suitable for Lum and Abner . . . Write to him direct if you have anything to offer. Don't write me.

Marjorie Main will be starred in the "Tish" series of M-G-M. These famous stories by Mary Roberts Rinehart were originally bought for Marie Dressler, whose shoes Miss Main comes nearer to fitting than any other screen personality. Aline McMahan will be ideal in the role of Lizzy Wilkins . . . Joe E. Brown and Judy Canova are teaming at Republic in "Lazy Bones." This may portend a new series, too.

Look out for an announcement that Katherine Hepburn will do "Frenchman's Creek" at Paramount . . . She's reading the script . . . It's Humphrey Bogart, Edward G. Robinson and George Raft for "Brooklyn, U. S. A.," based on "Murder, Inc." . . . In "Bridget From Brooklyn" at Hal Roach's, Max Baer is cast as a comic opposite Arline Judge. A thoroughly reformed, easy-to-handle champ now. Remember the temperamental stunts he put on while making "The Prizefighter and the Lady?" Today he's a happily married man with a 4-year-old-son, who comes to visit him on the set.

Bette Davis' last picture, "In This Our Life," lived up to its title when a chosen few of the press were invited for a sneak preview in a Warner's projection room. The air-raid siren sounded before 9 p.m., and all present rushed to the air-raid shelter at the studio to spend the evening.

Bette got a strange assortment of birthday gifts, including a 7-months-old Palomino colt, a diamond clasp for her pearl necklace, and a portable bathroom!

She has sold her home on River-side Bottom, in close proximity to the aircraft factories, because the patrol planes kept her awake all night. She and her husband, Arthur Farnsworth, are now living in Laurel Canyon. Mr. Farnsworth's job is testing bombers.
