BIDDLE ORDERS HARRY BRIDGES DEPORTED LEWIS OUSTS MURRAY FROM U. M. W. POST

Miners' Board Backs Removal Of C. I. O. Chief

John O'Leary Named To Vice Presidency; Appeal Planned

(Earlier Story on Page B-12.) By the Associated Press. John L. Lewis today ousted Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., from his $18,000-a-year job as vice president of the United Mine Workers.

Mr. Lewis, president of the Miners, declared the vice presidency vacant, and was upheld by the U. M. W. Executive Board by a vote of 17 to 1.

Mr. Lewis then named John O'Leary of Pittsburgh to Mr. Murray's place.

A. U. M. W. spokesman explained that under the union's constitution, Mr. Murray, in effect, vacated his office when he accepted the salaried leadership of the Steel Workers' Union.

To Appeal to Convention.

Mr. Murray said the action ousting him was "wholly irregular" and indicated he would appeal to the U. M. W. convention next October.

"Justice or injustice of the action itself will eventually be passed on by the United Mine Workers membership," Mr. Murray told reporters. He said he had never drawn two salaries at the same time.

The C. I. O. chief said that while Mr. Lewis and his aides were clearing the vice presidency vacant, he was conferring with President Roosevelt on "grave problems of national import affecting the welfare of the Nation and of labor."

Martin Wagner, representing District 50 of the U. M. W., cast the lone vote against ousting Mr. Murray.

No Charge Against Murray.

The union spokesman emphasized that the ouster action did not result from any charge against Mr. Murray. He said Mr. Lewis interpreted the constitution to mean that Mr. Murray had relinquished his post in all except name when he accepted the paying leadership of the steel workers.

District 50 of the U. M. W. presented a resolution before the union's Policy Committee yesterday accusing the C. I. O. leadership of (See MURRAY, Page 2-X.)

Snead Defeats Goggin, Enters Quarter Finals Of P. G. A. Tourney

Craig Wood Eliminates Gibson by 7-6 Margin; Hogan Beats Laffoon

By the Associated Press. ATLANTIC CITY, May 28.—Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., entered the quarter-final round of the Professional Golfers' Association championship today with a 9-and-8 victory over Willie Goggin of White Plains, N. Y.

The match ended on the 28th hole when each took a par 4. Snead shot a 69 in the morning and was even par in the afternoon.

Craig Wood, national open champion, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., scored an almost equally easy victory over Leland Gibson of Kansas City, 7 and 6, when the Midwest player went to pieces at the start of the afternoon round.

Gibson was only one down at noon and was giving Wood stiff competition, but he lost the first five holes of the afternoon round when he began spraying his tee shots. That unnerved him so that he never recovered his form, and it was just a question of how far he would last. Wood shot a 35 on the out nine to Gibson's 41.

Ben Hogan defeated Ky Laffoon of Miami, Okla., 9 and 8. Ben shot a dazzling 66 in the morning to go 8 up on Laffoon and gave him no chance to recover on the second round.

Laffoon was so well licked at noon, in fact, that he offered to forfeit the match so that Hogan could rest his injured left wrist, but the Hershey, Pa., star said he "needed the practice." He was out in 35 to put him seven under par for 27 holes.

Damaged Destroyer Creeps Into St. Lucia As Planes Smash at U-Boat Outside Port

(Earlier Story on Page A-1.) By NAT A. BARROWS, War Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies, May 27 (Delayed).—A second attempt to sink the American destroyer Blakeley was beaten off tonight amid a furious anti-submarine attack by Army and Navy bombers escorting the crippled flush-decker from her 48-hour port of refuge in Martinique to this British harbor, 20 miles south.

John Barrymore Given Stimulants; Condition Critical

(Earlier Story on Page A-1.) By the Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Stimulants spurred the dying heart of John Barrymore today, but despite a slight rally the condition of the veteran stage, screen and radio star was described as "very critical."

Mr. Barrymore rested with the aid of sedatives last night. This morning for several hours his condition was poor, but he has responded to stimulants and is resting now.

Shortly after issuance of the bulletin, attendants at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital said his condition was "very critical." He was conscious only at intervals. (See DESTROYER, Page 2-X.)

U. S. Subs Hit Jap Cruiser, Sink 2 Ships

One Other Vessel Severely Damaged, Navy Announces

Torpedo hits on a heavy enemy cruiser, presumably Japanese, and the sinking of two other vessels and the probable sinking of a third by American submarines operating in Far Eastern waters were reported by the Navy Department this afternoon.

A communique announced only "one heavy cruiser damaged by torpedo hits," adding that the two vessels sunk were one large auxiliary ship and one medium-sized cargo ship. One medium-sized cargo ship was reported "severely damaged and probably sunk."

44 Jap Ships Sunk to Date. The action raised the announced American submarine bag of Japanese ships to 44 vessels sunk, 13 probably sunk and 12 damaged to date.

The Navy explained that the latest submarine actions were presumed not to duplicate any part of a report issued at Allied headquarters in Australia several days ago in which several successful attacks by American undersea craft were disclosed.

Navy Communique. The report was given out in a Navy communique, No. 82, based on reports up to 1 p.m. today, which said:

"Far East: 1. Information has been received that U. S. submarines operating in the Far East have sunk or damaged enemy ships as shown below:

"(A) One large auxiliary ship sunk. (B) One medium-sized cargo ship sunk. (C) One medium-sized cargo ship severely damaged and probably sunk. (D) One heavy cruiser damaged by torpedo hits.

"2. These actions have not been announced in any previous Navy Department communique and are not related to the engagement in the Coral Sea which was fought earlier this month."

Arson Ruled Out as Cause Of Fires in War Plants

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—Of the numerous fires in war plants in the past six months, none was of incendiary origin so far as could be determined, the National Board of Underwriters said today through its committee on incendiarism and arson.

The committee's report, read at the board's annual meeting, said there had been "one or two abortive (incendiary) attempts which did no damage, by persons of unbalanced mentalities, since 1922."

Another committee report estimated the value of property destroyed by fire in this country in 1941 at $303,895,000, an increase of 6 per cent over 1940 and the greatest loss since 1922.

But viewed from the economic background of a tremendously expanded industrial activity, new factories and huge production, the committee said the increased fire loss is "not a cause for undue concern."

New Jersey Asks to Be Excused From Summer Week-End Alerts

By the Associated Press. TRENTON, N. J., May 28.—Gov. Charles Edison, saying last Sunday's Army invasion maneuvers and air-raid alert on the Northern New Jersey coast had caused a "host of criticism" from business interests and local officials, suggested today to Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, commander of the 2d Corps Area, that no more maneuvers be held on week ends until after Labor Day.

Gov. Edison wrote Gen. Terry: "The maneuvers conducted by the United States Army May 24 along the New Jersey coast . . . according to news dispatches, were most satisfactory. However, a host of criticism has developed from residents of the New Jersey coast, as well as municipal officials, merchants and other business-men. The maneuvers involved the re-routing of traffic for many miles inland as well as the immobilization of traffic within the restricted area."

"The criticism chiefly was directed to the fact that these maneuvers were held on Sunday, which is practically the only day of the week remaining on which seashore business is conducted, due to the dimouts, gasoline rationing and the rubber shortage. While I realize the utmost necessity exists for preparing our armed forces to resist possible invasion, may I respectfully suggest that from now until the end of the summer season (Labor Day) that no further maneuvers of any nature be conducted (along the shore) on week ends."

Six Killed, Two Injured As Heavy Bomber Crashes in Florida

By the Associated Press. LAKELAND, Fla., May 28.—Six men were killed and two injured in the crash of a four-motored heavy bomber from nearby Drane Field about a mile southwest of Lakeland, the Army announced today.

The plane, a B-24, cracked up at the edge of a phosphate mining pit in a forced landing about 11 o'clock last night during a routine training flight, a Drane Field spokesman said.

Residents of the neighborhood said the plane sounded as if it developed motor trouble just before the crash. It was only about a mile from Drane Field.

The dead were listed as: Second Lt. William A. Sims, 24, pilot, Cement, Okla. Second Lt. Lawrence R. Abram, 24, co-pilot, Ravenswood, Ind. Second Lt. Preston R. King, 22, navigator, Leesburg, Fla. Staff Sgt. Russell Charles Tomlinson, 30, Philadelphia. Pvt. Henry U. O'Donnell, 24, Wamego, Kans. Pvt. Martin Goldstein, 24, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The injured are Pvt. James P. Buchanan, 22, Stockdale, Tex., and Pvt. Charles C. Brock, 24, Lodge Grass, Mont. The extent of their injuries was not announced, but their condition was not believed to be critical.

Accused Model's Tirade Causes Recess in Trial

(Earlier Story on Page A-3.) By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—Madeline Webb interrupted the State's summation at her murder trial late today to call Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet a "filthy, dirty, no good son of a so" and charged the prosecutor with being unfit "to be a district attorney."

As Mr. Grumet exoriated Miss Webb for what the State contends was her part in the slaying of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, Eli Shonbrun, the Oklahoma-born model's sweetheart and co-defendant, jumped to his feet and shouted at the prosecutor.

As an attendant dragged Shonbrun to his chair, Miss Webb screamed out her tirade. A recess was ordered immediately.

Panzers 15 Miles From Tobruk; British Repel 2 Flank Drives; Nazis Give Ground, Reds Claim

Axis Forces Drive No Break-Through, English Declare

Associated Press War Correspondent.
CAIRO, Egypt, May 28.—The sudden Axis offensive eastward in the Libyan desert has driven within 15 miles of the key British defensive stronghold of Tobruk, despite being repulsed at both flanks, it was disclosed today.

This indicated an advance of about 30 miles past the British forward defense line, which stretched between Bir Hacheim and Ain El Gazala.

The drive apparently started from the base at El Mechili, back of the Axis line extending southwest into the desert from the vicinity of Tmimi.

An R. A. F. communique disclosed the depth of these thrusts by Marshal Erwin Rommel's German-Italian tanks. It said the British flyers bombed the enemy armor throughout Wednesday in the El Adem and Bir Hacheim areas.

El Adem is 15 miles south of Tobruk; Bir Hacheim 50 miles southwest.

Penetration Minimized.

An authoritative British statement was issued later stating that the enemy's presence in the El Adem area was not of great significance and did not mean a "break-through," since in the nature of desert fighting there was no defense line in the usual sense.

An earlier British Army communique said the Axis tanks were in four main columns, and that one directly before Bir Hacheim and another south of Ain El Gazala, which is 30 miles west of Tobruk, had been repulsed with heavy casualties.

When these extremities two other Axis columns were being heavily engaged, with results as yet undetermined, the army communique said.

The R. A. F. announcement placed these forces even deeper than the army had intimated but said the all-day bombing wrecked many transport vehicles. The R. A. F. planes also ranged widely in smashing attacks on airbases and bases behind the enemy lines and in fighting off Axis air attacks shot down 12 enemy planes while losing 4.

Tobruk Apparently Goal.

The main German-Italian thrust apparently was aiming directly toward Tobruk, which the British have held against all vicissitudes since their first offensive into Libya in the winter of 1940-1.

"No real offensive can be mounted in the desert unless the attacking force holds both Bengali and Tobruk," said an informed source in London.

The battles, which began with the sudden Axis advance late Tuesday night, were being fought over a wide area, as the tanks of both sides ranged the desert wastes like warships at sea.

Overhead, the R. A. F. intercepted Axis air raids on British ground forces and continuously attacked enemy transport.

London dispatches, noting no mention of infantry, predicted that Marshal Rommel soon would be forced to use all his armored forces. If he has not already done so, these include one Italian and three German divisions. He has four Italian motorized infantry divisions.

"Let 'Em Come," Troops Say.

As the Axis offensive began, oddly, with the approach of the desert season, the reaction of British soldiers manning the tanks and gun emplacements was "Let 'em come."

Since it is the destruction of the enemy's armored equipment rather than the winning of ground that counts in this desert warfare, the result may surprise the Axis chiefs, they said.

The action thus far leaves Marshal Rommel's strategy in doubt. Military circles, however, inclined to the belief that his immediate objective really is Tobruk, and that the thrust at Bir El Hacheim is a feint designed to draw British strength away from the coast.

Argentine President Faces Showdown on Policy Today

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, May 28.—Acting President Ramon S. Castillo faced a showdown on his "policy of prudence" in foreign affairs as Argentina's Congress prepared to convene today (2 p. m. E. W. T.) with Radical leaders in the lower house demanding a diplomatic break with the Axis.

The Radicals also announced they would demand that the President revoke the state of siege which he decreed last December and which has stifled all press comment on his foreign policy.

Castillo was expected to defend his foreign policy against the attacks of the Radical-Socialist coalition, controlling the Chamber of Deputies by citing instances of cooperation with the United States which "are more useful and more opportune than extreme measures."

He also was expected to press for continuation of the state of siege through his control of the Senate.

Some political quarters speculated that if legislative opposition proves too strong, Castillo might indefinitely suspend Congress—which already has lost five months of the constitutional life because of his delay in fixing the opening date for the current session.

U. S. Can Supply European Front, Somervell Says

Men and Materials Can Be Sent on Large Scale, He Asserts

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 28.—Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, general commanding the United States Army Service of Supply, asserted today the United States stands ready to supply "men and materials on a large scale to a European battlefield" despite large commitments in Australia and India.

He said these movements of men and supplies could be accomplished despite the shipping shortage, and added that one of his main tasks in Britain would be to carry out "standardization of British and American fighting equipment to the limit."

Gen. Somervell, here with other high officers of the United States Army and Navy, said American troops likely would be using British equipment on some scale, both in the air and on the ground.

Replying to questions about American production, he said "it will reach its peak this fall."

"The whole armament program is ahead of schedule—particularly tanks," he added.

He said he had been conferring with the Admiralty, Air Ministry and War Office, as well as with British supply services.

Kinhwa Occupied, China's Supplies Cut, Japs Claim

Capture Is Unconfirmed; Chiang's Forces Ring Enemy at Lungling

By the Associated Press.

Japanese headquarters asserted today that Japanese troops, climbing a 200-mile advance in 10 days, had captured Kinshwa, capital of the eastern seaboard province of Chekiang, and thereby cut off one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's vital supply routes.

Chekiang Province is strategically important as a potential springboard for an Allied offensive against Japan.

Chinese dispatches failed to confirm the Japanese claim. They asserted Chinese defenses firmly entrenched on the outskirts of Kinshwa were holding their ground at last reports, but admitted that the city was in grave danger.

Fierce Battle Reported.

A Chinese communique last night said a fierce battle was raging around the city after two heavy assaults had been beaten off and more than 1,500 Japanese had been killed by land mines alone.

A Chungking spokesman said in trying to cross the Chien-tang River near Kienteh, about 30 miles north of Kinshwa, the Japanese used poison gas, which killed about one-third of the Chinese defenders.

He did not mention a number but said "only some of our troops have gas masks."

The gas did not appear to be a particularly deadly type, he said.

Japanese field headquarters said Japanese soldiers completed occupation of the capital at 7 a. m. today.

Kinhwa lies 200 air miles southwest of Shanghai and 800 miles east of Chungking, China's wartime capital.

A Japanese Army spokesman said more than 300,000 Chinese troops had been concentrated in the Chekiang theater and that the fall of Kinshwa meant the military collapse of the zone.

Lungling Encircled.

Far across China, in the southwest, Chinese dispatches reported that Chinese troops had fanned Japanese invasion columns into headlong retreat and encircled the enemy at Lungling, Burma road town west of the Green River, after recapturing two towns south of Lungling.

While Chinese and American "Flying Tiger" airmen bombed and machine-gunned the enemy over (See CHINA, Page A-3.)

By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—John Barrymore's condition remains grave, his physician, Dr. Hugo M. Kersten, said today.

There is no fear of immediate danger, however, although some concern was expressed about his cardiac condition. The 60-year-old actor entered Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, May 19.

He is suffering from kidney and liver ailments, hypostatic pneumonia and heart complications.

Steady Flow of Germans Into Morocco Reported

By the Associated Press.

Blakeley Defies U-Boat Pack to Reach St. Lucia

Germans Declared Prevented From Digging In

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 28.—The Germans are being forced to give ground in both the Izyum-Barvenkova and Kharkov sectors, the Russians declared today, indicating the initiative on both those major battlefields of the Ukraine was firmly in the hands of the Red Army.

Front-line dispatches said the Germans, blocked in their offensive in the Izyum-Barvenkova area, were trying to dig in on new defense lines, but that constant heavy pressure from the counterattacking Russians was forcing them to fall back.

46 Tanks Knocked Out.

From their own freshly-fortified lines before Kharkov, the Russians said they were pushing forward. They battled fiercely overnight against German tank and infantry forces in both sectors and reported that before Kharkov one three-day battle had burned or otherwise knocked out 46 German tanks.

Russian accounts said the Germans had resorted to ruses in which some of their tanks flew red banners and displayed red stars and some of their troops wore Red Army uniforms.

There also were several "psychological attacks," in which the Germans charged the Russian lines, firing wildly and shouting at the tops of their voices.

In one such case they tried the stunt three times, but finally fell back, leaving 1,000 dead "psychologists" on the field, the Russians said.

The Red Army unit which broke this assault was credited with having repulsed 11 counterattacks and then developed its own offensive in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector.

How Thrust Was Checked.

Today's Russian dispatches gave this story of how the Germans' main thrust in that sector was checked: The 101st German Infantry Division was assigned to cross a river 12 miles south of a fortified settlement which was holding up the Nazi advance.

The Germans marched up with a brass band as though on a parade ground, deployed along the right bank of the river and started down to the water.

Russian forces on the left bank remained silent and hidden until the Germans were within easy range on the river's edge. Then they opened up with everything at once, turning the bank into a mass of broken trees, flying earth and shattered German bodies.

As dense clouds of smoke and dust rose over this scene of carnage, Russian infantry crossed the river and finished the job with bayonets and hand grenades.

Some of the remaining Germans assembled again later in the day, without their band, and tried to advance by stealth, but again the Red artillery crushed them.

Germans' Death Toll.

In the Kalinin and adjoining northwestern front sectors between Smolensk and Leningrad it was reported that a series of Nazi attacks and Red Army thrusts recently had cost the Germans 1,200 men killed.

Russian artillerymen and infantrymen were cited for turning back two thrusts in the Donets River Basin battleground below Kharkov, maneuvers by which Lt. Gen. Viktor von Schwedler hoped to imperil Marshal Semenov Timoshenko's left wing about that Nazi-occupied steel center.

After a two-day lull, aerial warfare evidently picked up. The Russians announced they had destroyed 82 planes and lost 23 in operations Tuesday.

East Prussia Is Bombed By Enemy, Nazis Report

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 28.—The German high command declared today that the Axis' score in hostile planes during the last 24 hours was 25, including two of an unidentified force which bombed East Prussia last night.

"Several bombs were dropped, but the damage done was reported to be slight," said the regular communique of the East Prussia section. It called the raid the work of "several enemy planes on harassing flights."

"The zone of attack, easternmost part of Germany proper, suggested that the attackers were Russian. R. A. F. attacks there would have necessitated a round-trip flight of at least 1,500 miles. The R. A. F. reported no overnight raids on Germany."

Second Sub Reported Sunk by Planes Off British Island

By the Associated Press.

ST. LUCIA, British West Indies, May 27 (Delayed).—The United States destroyer Blakeley reached port here tonight after coming safely through an attack by a wolf pack of Axis submarines.

The Blakeley, crippled by a torpedo in a first submarine attack off Martinique Monday, was making the 90-mile run from Fort de France, where she had put in, to this island under her own power when the enemy attacked.

(A Reuters dispatch to London said an Axis submarine was believed to have been destroyed yesterday off St. Lucia after a second submarine attack on the Blakeley. The dispatch said this was the second submarine destroyed in the Caribbean within a week. Planes were credited with the sinking.)

(Although the Reuters dispatch did not say exactly when or where the first U-boat was destroyed, the Chicago Daily News' foreign correspondent in St. Lucia reported yesterday that a submarine, apparently the one which made the first attack on the Blakeley, had been sunk off St. Pierre roadstead.)

Aware of Wolf Pack.

It was indicated, however, that one or more German submarines had been destroyed by United States planes, but whether in this case or in earlier operations following the first attack on the Blakeley was not made clear.

Naval authorities have been aware that a submarine wolf pack was operating in this area; hence the multiple attack on the Blakeley was no surprise.

This made it impossible to identify any submarine destroyed as the one which made the first attack Monday, when a torpedo launched from within French territorial waters off Martinique crippled the destroyer, on regular patrol duty off the French island.

The Blakeley is known to have suffered loss of 6 men killed and 12 wounded, but the dispatch did not make clear whether in Monday's attack or the second one.

French Hospitable.

During her two-day stay in Fort de France, the port of Martinique, the Blakeley was tied up alongside the French air base carrier Bear, which figures prominently in current negotiations between the United States and the local Martinique authorities looking toward effective neutralization of the island.

Members of the destroyer's crew reported the French were most hospitable.

French Air Force, Navy Are Reported Purged

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, May 28.—Tass reported from Geneva today that several French air force and naval officers had been discharged in a purge of Axis collaborationists whose sympathies were toward the Italian Fascist party in a drive to strengthen his grip on the Italian home front while awaiting a declaration from Vichy before pressing further his territorial claims on France, according to foreign reports reaching here today.

It was understood that a friend of Mussolini and Pierre Laval, French chief of government, was en route to Rome with French counter-proposals to Italian claims to Nice, Corsica and Tunisia.

These proposals were said to suggest that France would consent to Italian police supervision over some areas, probably including the French North African port of Tunis, but that all such territory remain in French possession.

Duce Moves Cautiously.

Mussolini apparently was moving with caution. The home front compelled "vast revision" within the fascist party organization over some more than a dozen high party members in recent weeks and replaced a number of party secretaries in key cities, according to reports reaching here.

Now, it was said, every party member is being subjected to new examination, subject to exclusion from the organization.

Under these measures, public officials henceforth will be permitted to assume administrative posts only with the authorization of the party and Mussolini's personal order.

Modeled on Hitler's S. S., the Duce thus appeared intent on shaping a smaller, stronger, more easily controlled party modeled after Adolf Hitler's S. S. (Elite Guard), including only members on whose absolute loyalty he could count in enforcing national discipline.

Such was the condition in the early days of Fascism, and a Rome source said.

Senate Group Approves Veterans' Pension Boost

By the Associated Press.
The Senate Finance Committee today approved a bill to increase to 40 a month the existing compensation of $30 paid veterans of the first World War with non-service-connected permanent and total disabilities.

It rejected, however, a proposed $40 pension for all veterans of that conflict on becoming 65 years of age.

The committee acted on a measure passed by the House almost a year ago, which provided for both the increased and the age pension.

Another measure passed by the House last June and providing pensions for widows, children and dependent parents of World War veterans was considered briefly by the Senate group but action was deferred indefinitely.

9 Senators Ask W. P. B. Hearing On Extension of Gas Rationing

Bloc Headed by Connally Declares New Restrictions Are Unjustified

Nine Senators, organizing to fight expansion of gasoline rationing areas, voted today to ask Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, to conduct a public hearing before any move is made to order Nation-wide curtailment of motor fuel sales.

Senator Connally, Democrat of Texas, who acted as leader of the group, said he and Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma would lay the request for a hearing before Mr. Nelson, Petroleum Co-ordinator and Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Senator Thomas said the Government's oil-producing States, most of whose production has been curtailed because storage tanks are full, would be invited to appear at any hearing that might be held. Oil company representatives and citizens also would be asked to testify, he said.

Meanwhile, Mr. Ickes said at a press conference that he would seek an opportunity to appear personally before the War Production Board on behalf of his application for steel to build a pipeline from the Southwest to the rationed Eastern area.

Mr. Ickes said he had submitted a third application for the pipeline to W. P. B. on Tuesday, and wanted to appear personally to urge its approval. Two previous applications were turned down by W. P. B.

If the Government approves the $40,000,000 of steel needed for the pipeline, Mr. Ickes said, work can

Mussolini Purges Party to Tighten Home Front Grip

Answer From Vichy on Territorial Claims Awaited in Rome

By the Associated Press.
BERN, Switzerland, May 28.—Premier Mussolini has undertaken a sweeping new purge of his fascist party in a drive to strengthen his grip on the Italian home front while awaiting a declaration from Vichy before pressing further his territorial claims on France, according to foreign reports reaching here today.

It was understood that a friend of Mussolini and Pierre Laval, French chief of government, was en route to Rome with French counter-proposals to Italian claims to Nice, Corsica and Tunisia.

These proposals were said to suggest that France would consent to Italian police supervision over some areas, probably including the French North African port of Tunis, but that all such territory remain in French possession.

Duce Moves Cautiously.

Mussolini apparently was moving with caution. The home front compelled "vast revision" within the fascist party organization over some more than a dozen high party members in recent weeks and replaced a number of party secretaries in key cities, according to reports reaching here.

Now, it was said, every party member is being subjected to new examination, subject to exclusion from the organization.

Under these measures, public officials henceforth will be permitted to assume administrative posts only with the authorization of the party and Mussolini's personal order.

Modeled on Hitler's S. S., the Duce thus appeared intent on shaping a smaller, stronger, more easily controlled party modeled after Adolf Hitler's S. S. (Elite Guard), including only members on whose absolute loyalty he could count in enforcing national discipline.

Such was the condition in the early days of Fascism, and a Rome source said.

Senate Group Approves Veterans' Pension Boost

By the Associated Press.
The Senate Finance Committee today approved a bill to increase to 40 a month the existing compensation of $30 paid veterans of the first World War with non-service-connected permanent and total disabilities.

It rejected, however, a proposed $40 pension for all veterans of that conflict on becoming 65 years of age.

The committee acted on a measure passed by the House almost a year ago, which provided for both the increased and the age pension.

Another measure passed by the House last June and providing pensions for widows, children and dependent parents of World War veterans was considered briefly by the Senate group but action was deferred indefinitely.

U. S. to Determine Labor Transfers in All War Industry

Job Freezing Planned To Halt 'Pirating' of Men by Rival Plants

In a drastic move to halt labor "pirating" the War Manpower Commission within the next few days will make public a statement of policy designating the United States Employment Service sole hiring agent for certain critical war industries.

The new policy, decided in principle at the commission's meeting yesterday, would amount to "freezing" some men on their jobs since they could not change jobs without going through the employment service.

A spokesman for the commission said he did not believe legislation was necessary to enforce the new employment procedure. Labor, he said, had already agreed to come along. However, labor leaders withheld comment. It was thought war industry employers would be agreeable since all of them will be equally affected, he said.

Labor Priorities List.

Now being drafted, the commission spokesman said, was a list of critical war industries for which the employment service would have sole hiring privileges on a priority basis.

Wholesale "pirating," on offers of higher wages, the spokesman said, has been going on particularly in the aircraft industries. Under the new procedure, management would ask the employment service for additional labor instead of attempting to attract it from other industries. In some quarters the opinion was expressed that a simpler method of dealing with the "pirating" method would be to incorporate a wage-fixing provision in war contracts that would prevent industries from offering rates to attract workers from other industries. It was felt that the President has the right to do this under the War Powers Act.

Wage Stabilization Studied.

Wage stabilization has been under study by an interdepartmental commission for the past month, but no conclusions have been announced. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said it was "a pretty drastic order apparently" and added he would comment no further until he had studied it.

Explanatory Letter Sent.

In an explanatory letter to Chairman McCarran of the Senate District Committee and Speaker Rayburn, the Commissioners said that since they are responsible for the public welfare program, their powers should be "equal to their responsibilities."

The city heads told congressional leaders that the Welfare Board was an independent body having supervision over the workforce, the reformatory, the jail, Training School for Girls, Home for Aged and Infirmed, Municipal Lodging House, the Industrial Home Schools and the District Training School for Feeble-

'Lazy' U. S. Prisoners Beaten To Make Them Work, Jap Says

A broadcast by a high-ranking Japanese naval officer who said "lazy American prisoners" were "beaten with rope" to make them work was made public today by the Office of Facts and Figures.

The Government agency, at the same time, "cautioned that this evidence differs from reports of neutral observers who have been permitted to inspect prisoner conditions in a limited portion of Japanese territory."

The O. F. F. said that the broadcast statement, which was recorded by a United Nations listening post, was from Rear Admiral Mitsuo Matsuura, who was addressing a gathering of Japanese students. The admiral, identified on Japanese navy lists as a former aircraft carrier commander, said he was describing conditions of prisoners from the cruiser Houston, which has not been heard from since the battle of the Java Sea February 27-28.

Admiral Matsuura described an inspection trip by plane from March 3 to March 30 in which he visited all the "southern countries" under control of the Japanese. Special visits were made to the Philippines and the Netherlands Indies. His quoted statement follows:

"What kind of work are American prisoners from the Houston engaged in this sector. They are engaged in filling the holes of the air fields. They are engaged on comparatively easy jobs. There are many who are suffering from hunger because they are not used to Japanese type food and there are some who get very lazy because of the extreme heat."

"Those who do not do their part are beaten by the Japanese guards who are placed on watch on a ratio of about one guard for 100 prisoners. Those who are hard to handle are severely beaten by rope, which is similar to rope used by sailors. Because of the extreme pain, the lazy Americans continue the work with suggestions of suffering on their faces."

Jap Raid on U. S. Is 'Inevitable,' Stimson Says

Declares Bombing Of Washington 'Not Inconceivable'

Secretary of War Stimson said today that the War Department considered a Japanese air raid on the United States to be inevitable, and that it was "not wholly inconceivable" that Washington would be bombed.

The raids, the Secretary told his press conference, would be "an almost inevitable sequence" to the devastating surprise bombing of Tokyo by American air forces under Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle.

The Secretary said the Army is doing everything possible to meet the expected attack, which he indicated was anticipated on the West Coast. The East Coast, naturally, would be safer, he said.

"Whatever happens, we shall relax our most effective defense—our preparations for a major offensive," he said.

Humiliating Blow.

"The United States, through Gen. Doolittle, inflicted a stinging, humiliating, surprise blow on the Japanese as evidenced by their boasting of Japan's invulnerability at the very time the bombers came over," the Secretary said.

It was in connection with distances that the Secretary mentioned the possible air attacks on Washington. Answering a questioner, he said that despite the great distance between Japan and the East Coast, an attack on the Capital was not inconceivable. He did not discuss the possibility of attack by Japan's Axis partners.

Discussing the Army's preparedness for any air attack, principally on the West Coast, he said:

"I am one knowing and understanding our military as I do, you know that this attack on Tokyo has meant a most serious loss of face to the Japanese. By the same reasoning of Oriental psychology, the only way by which this loss of face can be wiped out is by a bigger one than that nation suffered."

Perfect Defense Impossible.

Mr. Stimson emphasized that as a

Germans Press Hunt For Assaultants of Gestapo No. 2 Man

Males Over 15 Ordered To Register With Police In Bohemia and Moravia

LONDON, May 28.—German authorities subjected all Bohemia and Moravia to a fine-tooth combing today in a hunt for the assaultants of Reinhard Heydrich, No. 2 man of the Nazi Gestapo, and ordered every male over 15 in the protectorate to register with police by midnight tomorrow.

Czech sources in London expressed the belief that "hundreds must already have been arrested" in mass roundups started yesterday, immediately after Heydrich was wounded in a Prague suburb.

The decree ordering the registration was broadcast by the Prague radio. It said German soldiers would shoot on the spot any man found without a registration card after the midnight deadline.

The Evening Star said today that Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo, had flown to Prague to take personal charge of the situation.

The German-controlled Prague radio in a broadcast heard here asserted that one of two assassins had thrown a bomb at the car in which Heydrich was riding, while the second opened fire with an automatic rifle.

One man, the radio said, ran away, while the second escaped on a bicycle. The radio said the two men had waited for several hours for Heydrich's car to pass.

A Swiss Telegraphic Agency dispatch from Prague reported that Heydrich was "severely injured," but gave no details. A similar report was broadcast by the Vichy radio last night.

A Czech government spokesman, estimating the Germans had 15,000 Czechs in concentration camps in the protectorate, expressed fears that they would be used as hostages, as in France.

Representatives of other exiled governments here suggested that the shooting of Heydrich, who bore the misleading title of Reich's protector of Bohemia and Moravia, might touch off a series of attempts against the lives of German bosses in other subjugated countries.

For that reason alone, it was believed, the Germans might "make an example of the Czechs."

The attack occurred in a Prague suburb on the highway to Berlin, it appeared in a report from Prague. While Heydrich was driving in a large car with high German officials. It was said that only a few persons could have known the route and time that Heydrich set out from his headquarters.

Czech sources in London heard that the assassination was attempted with automatic rifles in the hands of two men between 30 and 35 years of age, one of whom escaped on bicycle or on foot. Some Swedish reports were to the effect that a delayed action bomb had been planted in the car or that a bomb had been thrown at it.

The German-controlled Prague radio announced an attack case bearing the label of a small Prague hotel, the White Swan, had been found with another "object" after the assassins had fled.

W. L. B. Backs Pay Boost For 800 Aircraft Workers

A blanket increase of 7 cents an hour was recommended by the majority of a National War Labor Board panel yesterday in a labor dispute involving approximately 800 of 1,150 employees of the Ranger Aircraft Engines Division of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Farmingdale, Long Island, and a C. I. O. union.

The union is United Automobile Workers' Local 661, and the dispute involves union security and the effective date of wage adjustments.

The union asked a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour, check-off of union dues, a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour after 60 days' employment and minor adjustments which the panel recommended be left to future negotiations. It also asked any wage increase be made retroactive to January 11 when the former contract expired.

A minority report of the panel recommended a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour and minimum pay of 75 cents.

The War Labor Board made public both the majority and the minority recommendations of the panel as it opened a public hearing on the dispute, originally certified to the board February 2.

Final Arguments Heard In Jap Propaganda Trial

(Earlier Story on Page C-12.) Final arguments were under way in District Court today in the case of Frederick Vincent Williams and David Warren Ryder, charged with violation of the Foreign Agents' Registration Act. It was indicated, however, the case might not go to the jury until Monday.

Albert E. Arent, special assistant to the Attorney General, opened for the prosecution, outlining the Government's charges against both defendants. Elsha Hanson, counsel for Mr. Ryder, began for the defense shortly before noon. Samuel F. Beach, counsel for Mr. Williams, was to follow and the Government planned to close with rebuttal and final appeal to the jury by Arthur B. Caldwell, special assistant to the Attorney General.

Los Angeles Given 28-Minute Air Alarm

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—The Los Angeles area had a 28-minute air-raid alert today.

The yellow alert was flashed at 2:03 a.m. and radio stations were ordered off the air a minute later. The blue signal was given at 2:19 a.m. and the all-clear at 2:31 a.m.

The 4th Army Air Force at San Francisco said the alert was caused by "unidentified planes which later were identified as friendly."

New Automobile Quotas Are Unchanged for June

The Office of Price Administration made available for rationing in June the same number of new passenger automobiles as was allocated monthly in March, April and May, just because his predecessors had issued the society a permit.

The appellant tribunal upheld a District Court ruling that the society, a fraternal beneficial association, was not qualified to receive a license under the statute governing the lower court's ruling as to its qualifications under the statute, but claimed that Mr. Jordan be forced to renew the expired permit because his predecessors had issued it.

Society Loses Appeal For Insurance Permit

The United States Court of Appeals today held that Albert F. Jordan, superintendent of insurance, does not have to reissue an insurance permit to the National Hospital Service Society, Inc., just because his predecessors had issued the society a permit.

Bilbo Plans Senate Fight To 'Dry Up' Army Camps

Senator Bilbo, Democrat, of Mississippi announced in the Senate today he would move on Monday to take up the Sheppard bill to "dry up" all Army and Navy camps and posts.

This measure was introduced last year by the late Senator Sheppard of Texas, father of the national prohibition amendment. It was reported without recommendation from the Military Affairs Committee and is now on the calendar.

The first half of the bill prohibits the sale or possession of any alcoholic beverages including beer, ale or wine within any military camp or post, or within a reasonable distance of the camp or post.

The second part of the bill prohibits the establishment of houses of prostitution near these military and naval camps and posts.

Women besieged the recruiting office on the opening day regardless of the fact that applications will be received until June 4 and that priority in applying will count for nothing. However, the June 4 date is the deadline when the applications, including doctors' certificates, birth certificate and other information, must be in the Corps Area office.

Washington women should send their applications to the district recruiting office, Equitable Building, Baltimore.

Representative Edith Norse Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts was one of the visitors at the office during the day yesterday, remaining about an hour to interview applicants. She expressed no surprise at the large number of women seeking Army Auxiliary service, saying she had received 2,000 letters on the subject since she first introduced the bill in Congress.

The shortage of application blanks apparently was felt at other points over the country. The Associated Press said that similar conditions existed in Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, Alabama, Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

Stimson Announces Commanders for Nine New Divisions

Brig. Gen. Edwin Parker, Native of Washington, Will Head 78th

Commanders of nine new infantry divisions which are to be organized before the end of August were announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

The new units are part of 32 divisions slated for reorganization before the end of the year.

The 85th Division, Camp Shelby, Miss., will be commanded by Maj. Gen. Wade H. Haislip, former assistant chief of staff, G-1, at the War Department. This division is now being organized.

Gen. Patch Named. Four divisions are to be organized in July—the 80th, Camp Forrest, Tenn., to be commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph D. Patch, brother of Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, jr., recently put in command of forces in New Caledonia; 88th Division, Camp Rupert, Cookson Hills, Okla., Maj. Gen. John E. Sisson; 92nd Division, Camp Carson, Colorado Springs, Colo., Maj. Gen. William H. Gill and 95th, Camp Swift, Bastrop, Tex., Maj. Gen. Harry L. Twaddle.

The four slated for organization in August are the 78th, Camp Butler, Durham, N. C., under Brig. Gen. Edwin P. Parker, jr., a native of Washington and former captain of a Western High School cadet company; the 83rd Division, Camp Atterbury, Columbus, Ind., Maj. Gen. John E. Sisson; 91st, Camp White, Medford, Oreg., Brig. Gen. Charles H. Gerhardt; 96th, Camp Adair, Corvallis, Oreg., Brig. Gen. J. L. Bradley.

Amphibious Unit Planned. Secretary Stimson also disclosed that the Army is now building up a new unit especially for amphibious training as a regular component of the Army ground forces. This new unit will be under the command of Col. Frank A. Keating, infantry officer of the general staff corps. Its temporary headquarters is now at Camp Edwards, Mass. Later the unit will be moved to permanent training quarters near a Florida beach.

On a recent visit to Fort Bragg, N. C., Secretary Stimson observed troops training for amphibious warfare and said the War Department was deeply impressed with the need for troops thoroughly trained in such fighting methods.

Col. Keating's new command, he intimated, is the first of many such units.

Surge Continued Today. But the first-day rush apparently did not end the surge. Capt. Frank S. Sloan, district recruiting officer, said that 20 women had come to his office before 8:30 this morning and that the stream was continuing by ones, twos and threes. There was no waiting line, however.

Capt. Sloan said he has "plenty" of applications for all comers today. Yesterday he ran out twice during rush periods in the early morning and at noon. The office remained open until 7:30 p.m. to handle the large number of applicants.

Except for the temporary shortage of pink application forms, there has been no hitch in the recruiting process, Capt. Sloan said, adding, "Everybody has been patient."

Applicants Interviewed. Representative Edith Norse Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts was one of the visitors at the office during the day yesterday, remaining about an hour to interview applicants. She expressed no surprise at the large number of women seeking Army Auxiliary service, saying she had received 2,000 letters on the subject since she first introduced the bill in Congress.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt Here As Boatswain in Navy

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, 29-year-old heir to a $20,000,000 fortune, today abandoned the life of a sportsman and reported to the Navy Department for duty as a boatswain at $153 a month.

To have the way for his Navy service Mr. Vanderbilt resigned as head of the Pimlico and Belmont Park race tracks and gave up directorships in the Saratoga Racing Association, United Hunts Club and the Turf and Field Club.

The Japanese planes definitely accounted for a total of 194 enemy planes knocked out of action. The destruction of many more has been implied in communiques in such reports as "many direct hits were scored on a line of 30 planes" and "bombs landed in a dispersal area of 20 enemy planes."

While the communiques have not always been specific with regard to Allied losses, these generally have been described as "slight" or "negligible."

No U. S. Patrols Seen, Says Jap Sub Officer Who Shelled Oil Field

All Tanks in Santa Barbara Area Fired During Attack, Lieutenant Is Quoted

(Japan claimed full credit for the submarine attack February 23 on an oil field north of Santa Barbara, Calif. The submarine, identified at the time only as an enemy vessel, fired 25 five-inch shells from her deck gun during a five-day chat by President Roosevelt. They were estimated by oil field officials to have caused damage of only $500. Two huge storage tanks were believed to have been the target, but they were untouched. What the Japanese claim for the attack was given for the first time today.)

The initial eyewitness account of the sensational shelling of the Santa Barbara coastline February 24 (actually February 23) by a Japanese submarine—a story that was carried by newspapers throughout the world for its significance as the first shelling of the American mainland by an Axis submarine—is reported by a Nichi Nichi correspondent who interviewed an officer who participated in the raid at an unspecified naval base.

"Describing the thrilling surprise assault in which military objectives along the Santa Barbara coastline were damaged by gunfire, a lieutenant who preferred to keep his name secret said that when the Japanese U-boat bobbed up off the California coastline there were no signs whatever of enemy patrol activity.

Scene Wholly Unwarlike. "With the raid being timed at night, he said, the illumination of the town of Santa Barbara and the twinkling of beacon lights of oil storage tanks and derricks were clearly visible. Along the coastal highway speeding cars threw a glare of headlights into the night, and the entire coastal area presented a peaceful and wholly unwarlike scene, the officer said.

"When the first shot was fired from the submarine, the lieutenant said, there were immediate signs of consternation, and those of the U-boat heard the distant sound of shrieking sirens.

"Every one on board completely forgot the hardships they had encountered in making the crossing from Japan when the first shell shattered the night, and when the second and third shots set targets on fire all the crew danced with joy and threw their arms around each other," he said.

Crewman Had Bristly Chin. "Passing his hands over his sun-tanned face, the lieutenant added: "I still can remember the painful bruises on the chin of one of my men who hugged my cheek."

Attorney Compares Miss Webb's Romance With History's Great

Relations With Shonbrun 'Inexplicable,' Defender Says in Argument

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—Tall and graying James Matt Springer, the former Stillwater (Okla.) judge, cited some of history's most famous romances today in an attempt to explain the "inexplicable" love of Madeline Webb for Eli Shonbrun.

Mr. Springer, who came to New York to assist in the defense of the 28-year-old model accused with two men of first-degree murder in the strangulation of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, began his summation before a General Sessions jury today with this:

"No one knows why Cleopatra had her Mark Antony. Why Elizabeth had her Essex. Why Madeline Pollard had her Breckinridge, or why Wally had her King Ed, who stood up and said to the world 'I abdicate my throne at long last that I may marry the woman I love.'"

"I say that these things are inexplicable, and so my helpless client found her Shonbrun."

Miss Webb, a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. who came to New York in search of a stage career, has been on trial, together with Shonbrun and John D. Cullen, for the last three weeks for the March 4 slaying of Mrs. Reich, who was a New Jersey manufacturer, in a Hotel Sutton suite. The State charged that she was slain for the $2,000 in jewels that she wore.

Describes Stillwater.

In an eloquent style, Mr. Springer declared the girl he had known "since childhood," came to New York in 1939 as "an obscure, unknown child" because she was interested in dramatics.

"Finally she met Eli Shonbrun," he said. "She met him under suspicious circumstances through an introduction by a lady she had known for six months. There was something that grew up between two people, a thing most people cannot understand."

As the jurors sat quietly with downcast eyes, Mr. Springer described to the all-male jury the delights of rural Stillwater—"a beautiful city filled with churches and fine educational institutions" where, "in a Christian home, this client I represent was born."

Working up to the day of the slaying, Mr. Springer asserted that Miss Webb left the Hotel Sutton at noon, going to a spot where Shonbrun had told her he would meet her later and then take her to a show.

The Oklahomans attacked bitterly the testimony of Murray Hirsch, Shonbrun's uncle, who also is under indictment for the crime but was granted a separate trial to become the State's chief witness.

Talks 34 Minutes. After 34 minutes, Mr. Springer concluded his testimony with this: "Send her back home to her Christian mother. Let her answer the prayer of a broken heart, Gentlemen, I thank you."

Miss Webb was in tears and the court called an hour's recess.

The case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

The 28-year-old model who has denied the State's contention that she lured the wealthy Polish refugee to the hotel, suite had to be restrained in her courtroom chair yesterday when her attorney made a story also caused several verbal clashes between the opposing attorneys, Chief Defense Counsel Jacques Buitenkant and Assistant District Attorney Jacob A. Grumet.

During the two-week trial Shonbrun testified that Madeline Webb had nothing to do with the slaying and that he and Hirsch—"murdered the woman entirely alone."

The third defendant, Cullen, did not take the witness stand.

head, Chinese ground troops inflicted "staggering losses" on the enemy in the Tengchow area, 40 miles northwest of Lungling, dispatches said.

The Japanese attacking from the south and south west have been particularly punished in their repeated assaults, the Chinese spokesman said, but he acknowledged that the invaders now had achieved artillery superiority in their massive attempt to seize the east coastal province of Chekiang.

Japs Concentrated on Artillery. "In the first stages of the battle of Kinhow the Japanese used more artillery than tanks," said the spokesman. "We also used a good deal of artillery, but at first our firepower exceeded the enemy's."

The enemy then brought up more artillery until now their firepower has exceeded ours."

Chungking advised said Chinese operating behind the Japanese lines in Chekiang to the north of Kinhow had recaptured Sinteng "and now are pursuing the enemy, who is in full retreat."

Sinteng is 25 miles southwest of Hangchow and about 70 miles north of Kinhow.

In the Lanki sector northwest of Kinhow, the Chinese said the Japanese had sustained heavy losses.

Brazilian Bomber Is Credited With Sinking Axis Sub

Flyers Answered Calls of Americans for Assistance Off Northeast Coast

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 28.—A Brazilian air force plane was credited today by a high Brazilian source with the dive-bombing destruction of an Axis submarine five days ago off the northeast coast of Brazil after a summons for assistance from United States flyers.

The Brazilian government authorized publication of the statement abroad.

Almost at the same time, dispatches from the Brazilian port of Recife, on the Atlantic bulge of the country, reported without confirmation that "Brazilian planes located two Axis submarines and attacked them, sinking one and damaging the other."

Sub Sighted by Americans. The Brazilian source limited his description of the air action to that which sank the one submarine.

"The plane is Brazilian and was piloted by a Brazilian crew," said the informant, whose country is not at war with the Axis, but has had seven ships torpedoed in the U-boat campaign and all but one lost.

The submarine, he said, was first sighted last Saturday afternoon by United States flyers, identified as Lt. Harry Schwane and Sgt. J. G. Yates. They attacked and simultaneously called for assistance from land-based Brazilian planes.

The Brazilians responded immediately. Three Brazilian planes joined in the assault. At least one of them carried mixed Brazilian and North American personnel.

One of the three, sighting the submarine, power-dived and loosed its entire bomb load on the target. At the controls was Capt. Oswaldo Pamplona Pinto.

Wreckage Seen Floating. Planes circling the locale immediately afterward noted huge spots of oil and floating wreckage which, the Brazilian informant said, established that the submarine had been destroyed.

During this action, the submarine apparently was on fire, and a dispatch from Recife, which said that the Brazilian planes were in the patrol service, reported that the raider fired on the planes with machine-guns.

One of the American flyers, Lt. Cullen, testified that he returned to his base that his plane also drew machine-gun fire from the submarine.

The submarine, Recife dispatches indicated, had been so damaged that it was unable to submerge, leaving its deck armament as its only protection from aerial attack.

Capt. Pamplona Pinto, 29, recently was transferred to a North-east air base for the patrol service. He is a specialist in naval aviation and was in the United States last year, studying with the United States Army Air Forces.

Baptists Expected to Ask Wartime Prohibition

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, May 28.—Action seeking national prohibition for the war's duration probably will be taken by the Northern Baptist Convention in session here, leaders predicted today.

A move to stop the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic beverages was urged yesterday by the Schenectady (N. Y.) Tabernacle Baptist Church.

The proposal suggested that alcohol used in beverages "be diverted to the manufacture of munitions instead of using sugar that is necessary for the well-being and health of the Nation."

front was indicated in dispatches which said 30,000 to 40,000 Japanese troops were massed at Nanchang, Japanese-occupied capital of Kiangsi Province, inland from Chekiang.

From bases in this section the Japanese were said to be sending planes on reconnaissance flights which might prove the forerunner of a new drive.

From the Nanchang area the Japanese might attempt a new thrust west toward Changsha or a pincer movement to the east in support of the operations in Chekiang Province.

writer said the situation on the home front had made such measures necessary again.

A reliable foreign diplomatic source said that at the same time Italy made her territorial demands on France she sent a supplemental memorandum to Germany.

This note, it was reported, said Italy had fought since the outbreak of the war in Ethiopia, had sent her troops to Spain and had served the Axis in the Second World War, but that she had lost her original gains and had nothing to show for her sacrifices.

The Italian note was said to have pointed out that this was creating a growing unfavorable sentiment at home.

Italy's claims, meanwhile, apparently created considerable stir in Vichy.

The governor of Tunisia was reported to have turned in his resignation in protest against any concessions involving North Africa.

There was no indication whether his resignation would be accepted in view of compromise efforts through which the Vichy government was trying to work its way out of its difficulties.

France's veteran military leader, Gen. Maxime Weygand, was reported taking an active part in discussions involving North Africa.

Gen. Weygand remained at his country home near Cannes, but it was learned he had seen Marshal Petain, Admiral Darlan and many Vichy political leaders in the last few days, not only opposing the yielding of any territory but speaking strongly against collaboration of any kind.

Manpower

essential occupations as well as essential industries is now being drafted which will be "much broader in scope" than the advice Selective Service headquarters have been sending to local boards on occupational deferments.

Steering away from the policy of group deferments, which was tentatively announced by Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt at his first press conference in that position, the order to Selective Service will be on the basis of individual deferments, it was said.

The possible freezing of labor under the forthcoming policy statement was expected to affect many hundreds of thousands of workers.

There was talk in some Government circles of an arrangement to equalize pay, so that a worker might be recompensed for his inability to move from what is now a relatively low-paid job to a higher one.

At a hearing before the War Labor Board yesterday, in a public dispute case, Wayne Morse, a member of the board, brought up this possibility, declaring that if Government agencies take the position that men should not move from a low-paid job to a higher-paid one, "then we ought to see to it that the pay is somewhat equalized."

Wants Worker Protected. "It is not fair," he said, "for the Government to say to a private citizen, 'We don't think you ought to be allowed to move into another higher-paying job because we need you in the job you are in now.' The Government is willing to stabilize wages so that he is not going to suffer financially because of that policy of the Government."

Principal problems to be ironed out before the policy can be announced, it was said, were the preservation of seniority rights, the effect the policy will have on wages, how it can be enforced and how far-reaching it will be. It was said definitely that agricultural workers would not be affected by the move.

Government sources recalled that President Wilson in 1918 urged all employers in war industries to hire through the employment service.

The War Manpower Commission also reported yesterday that the Employment Service filled more than 500,000 jobs last month in factories, ship yards and offices, and 50,000 on farms.

Montana and South Dakota headed the list of increases in April, each with placements doubling those for March.

Mr. McNutt said agricultural and non-agricultural placements totaled 605,200 for April, 19 per cent higher than in March. Farm placements were 42 per cent above those for March. Non-agricultural placements were a fourth higher.

Messina Is Bombed For Second Night By British Planes

Axis Aircraft Strike Vigorously at English in North Africa

By the Associated Press.

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts). May 28.—The Sicilian city of Messina was bombed last night, the second in succession, and Axis planes struck vigorously at British troop concentrations in North Africa, the Italian high command said today.

British soldiers and their motorized equipment suffered heavy losses under aerial pounding yesterday, and 13 of their planes were shot down in air fights, the high command reported.

Tobruk and airdromes and railway installations in the enemy's rear lines were also attacked with confirmed success, it said.

"The loss of a number of land action such as the British have reported under way in Eastern Libya since Tuesday night."

British planes, following up an attack Tuesday night which killed seven persons and wounded 25, damaged several houses in Messina in an assault by many waves, the high command said. It reported that there were no civilian casualties.

"In the neighborhood of Catania and Syracuse (also in Sicily) bombs were dropped, but these caused no loss of life or important damage," it was declared.

Five of the raiders were reported shot down.

A Fascist plane was declared to have torpedoed "an armed enemy vessel of 2,000 tons" in the Eastern Mediterranean. (Whether the craft was sunk or merely damaged was not stated.)

be started quickly, but he added the project probably would take about a year because pipeline contractors are tied up with other projects.

Asked if he was discouraged over the prospects for the new pipeline, the coordinator commented, "It's a tough riddling so far, but I'm still hoping."

He said the project calls for a 24-inch pipeline from the Texas-Louisiana area to the New York-Pennsylvania refining area.

Senators in Agreement. At the conference of Senators there was unanimity of opinion, Senator Connally reported, that there was no valid reason for rationing areas of gasoline except in restricted areas where transportation is overtaxed. Seventeen States now are in the rationing area.

Senators Connally and Thomas, those who joined in the protest move included Senators Johnson, Republican, of California; O'Daniel, Democrat, of Texas; Elender, Democrat, of Louisiana; Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico; Hatch, Democrat, of New Mexico; Spencer, Democrat, of Arkansas; and Doxey, Democrat, of Mississippi.

Extension of the rationing area to include all the United States has been considered as a measure to conserve rubber and Secretary Ickes indicated in a letter to Senator George, Democrat, of Georgia that a definite decision already had been made on the question.

Aimed at Saving Rubber. "President Roosevelt has announced that gasoline rationing soon will be extended to all parts of the country," Secretary Ickes wrote Senator George in explaining why Georgia could not be excluded from the presently-rationed area.

(President Roosevelt said at his press conference Tuesday that measures would have to be taken to conserve rubber, but did not specify what method would be used.)

"This decision was not made because of a shortage in petroleum supplies," Secretary Ickes continued, "but because of the necessity to conserve tires. The national curtailment, due to deficiencies in means of transportation for petroleum products, had been applied only to the regions formerly served by tankers no longer available."

Senator Bilbo, Democrat, of Mississippi, in a Senate speech, called the rubber shortage "mythical," and said a Nation-wide campaign for the reclamation of scrap rubber would amass 10,000,000 tons and go a long way toward solving the problem.

Series of Economies To Conserve Rubber Adopted by Army

Large-Scale Program Of Tire Retreading Reported Under Way

By the Associated Press. The Army said today it had adopted a series of economies designed to conserve rubber and gasoline.

Rubber has been eliminated entirely from most Army equipment and reclaimed rubber has replaced crude in tires to the limit consistent with safety. To reduce the number of tires required wheels have been standardized.

Standing orders announced by the War Department are: Pool the use of motor transportation; use anti-draw vehicles wherever possible; eliminate unnecessary trips; insist on utilizing maximum pay load; maintain power plants properly tuned up, wheels aligned, keep brakes adjusted and tires properly inflated; prevent idling motors; forbid transportation of military personnel to or from homes.

Except for armored force units and replacement training centers, Army vehicles operating in gasoline-rationing areas will get gasoline on a basis comparable to the B-2 ration card issued to civilians, the Army said, and the Army maneuvers will be affected also, with rail replacing motor transportation whenever practicable.

The Army has embarked on a large-scale program of recapping and retreading tires, and synthetic resins now substitute for rubber in Army raincoats.

The Senate Defense Investigating Committee on Tuesday made public a report criticizing the Army and Navy for not paring their rubber requirements to the bone.

Minded. They made the point that under existing law the supervision of the Welfare Board over these institutions, as well as the exercise of other powers vested in the board, was free from the control of the Commissioners.

The Commissioners are responsible for carrying out the public assistance program, including aid for the blind, aged and dependent children, they said, and have designated the Welfare Board to administer the laws providing such aid. They added:

The Board of Public Welfare can function only by the employees under its control. The situation created is that employees of the board, responsible to the board, carry out programs of aid for which, under the law, the Commissioners are responsible.

The city heads also made the point that Welfare Board employees now may be appointed by the Commissioners only on the nomination of the board and may be discharged by the Commissioners only on its recommendation.

During the last year the Social Security Board withheld for a time Federal grants in aid to the District because its officials maintained that in some respects the Welfare Board program did not comply with Federal law. Emergency steps were taken by the Commissioners to straighten out that tangle.

The Commissioners said one section of the bill was designed to bring the District more fully into compliance with the Social Security Act.

The present Welfare Board program has been operating since 1926 when Congress provided for its creation as a successor to the old Board of Children, Guardians and other District welfare agencies.

Most of War Stamps Exchanged for Bonds

By the Associated Press. About 85 per cent of the War stamps which the public has turned back to post offices have been exchanged for War bonds. The Treasury says that in the months of August, 1941, to April, 1942, inclusive, stamp redemptions totaled $33,945,000. Of these, $11,220,000 were traded for bonds, $102,000 exchanged for postal savings certificates and $12,624,000 redeemed for cash.

52 Survivors Landed On Brazilian Coast Prove to Be British

Victims Not Crewmen of Maryland Class Ship, As Italians Claimed

By the Associated Press. RECIFE, Brazil, May 28.—The arrival of the Argentine steamer Rio Iguaçu today with 52 survivors of the torpedoed British ship Barrdale knocked one of the principal props from under the week-old Italian claim to have torpedoed and sunk a United States battleship of the Maryland class.

The Rome radio for several days had been broadcasting statements that the survivors picked up by the Rio Iguaçu were from the United States battleship.

It was disclosed here that the Barrdale, attacked May 17 450 miles off Martinique, sank within four minutes after a torpedo exploded in her engine room. The crew was picked up from two lifeboats the next day.

The Barrdale was a 5,072-ton freighter.

The survivors were identified by a maritime police inspector after the Rio Iguaçu anchored in the harbor here and was boarded by officials.

The survivors were taken ashore in an official launch under police guard.

Gunner Gives His Life To Fire at Sub That Sent His Ship Down

19 Others in Crew Also Drown; 21 Rescued More Than Day Later

By the Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—How a naval gunner went down with his ship trying to bag an Axis submarine in the Gulf of Mexico was revealed here by the 8th Naval District when it announced the loss of a medium sized American freighter on May 19.

Twenty persons perished in this latest sinking, bringing the death toll in the Gulf to 164 in the past three weeks. Twelve ships have been attacked and 10 sunk.

The naval gunner, Second Class Seaman Woodrow Wilson Harrison of Augusta, Ga., reportedly only 17 years old, tried for a shot at the sub and was the only man to die on the ship. Nineteen others in a lifeboat were sucked under as the ship sank within five minutes after the torpedo struck. Twenty-two others were rescued 28 hours later.

Hayden George of Atlanta, Ga., another gunner, was caught by a rope and pulled down, but an explosion freed him. One of his ear drums was ruptured by pressure.

Second Mate Amigo Soriano of Seattle, Wash., and Theodore Snow of El Segundo, Calif., were taken from the sea by the submarine commander, who treated Snow's cuts and then gave them both German-made cigarettes. After placing them aboard the life raft, he departed.

To S.-E. C. Show

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Louis B. Mayer, the 57-year-old Russian-born movie executive, who began his career as a Massachusetts theater operator, topped the field of America's highest-paid executives again last year with an income of $704,425.60 as managing director of production for Loew's, Inc.

Trailing far behind Mr. Mayer, who received $7,373 more than in 1940 and whose 1941 remuneration included $548,425.60 as either bonus or share in profits, were a host of other motion picture executives, actors and actresses, industrialists and businessmen, a survey of annual reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission showed today.

Clark Gable, motion picture star, received $357,500 from Loew's for second place, and Nicholas M. Schenck was paid $334,204.54 as president and director of Loew's.

Some Reports Held Up

Many of the annual reports, however, have been held up by the S. E. C. for possible censorship purposes. Included in this group are Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., who was second in 1940, with $478,144, and other top-ranking steel masters whose firms are engaged in war production.

The figures also do not represent the largest incomes in the United States, since many persons who serve with small salaries or no salaries have big returns from investments.

Scores of the remunerations were well over the $25,000 which President Roosevelt has told Congress ought to represent a limit on individual net incomes for the duration of the war.

George Washington Hill, president of the American Tobacco Co., who got $456,415 in 1940 to place among the first three, dropped sharply in 1941 to $288,144. The decline apparently resulted from a New York court decision against the company which brought a reduction in "incentive compensation" paid the company's top executives. The court suit was noted on the company's report.

Behind Mr. Hill came Darryl F. Zanuck, who received $280,000 as vice president in charge of production for Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp., which also paid Ginger Rogers $215,000 and Tyrone Power $188,125 for their picture work.

Boyer Earns $220,883

Among others who received $200,000 or more in 1941 are:

C. W. Deyo, president, F. W. Woolworth Co., $252,061; Harry W. Bracy, a branch manager for the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., $240,890, a $43,228 increase over his 1940 pay; Harry P. Vickers, president, Vickers, Inc., and Waterbury Tool Co., affiliates of the Sperry Corp., $229,316; Charles Boyer, French movie star, $220,833, and Deanna Durbin, $203,166, both from Universal Pictures. Miss Durbin also received $20,530 from Decca Records, Inc. Robert Stanley of Donagan Hills, Staten Island, N. Y., received $215,050 as chairman and president of the International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.

The remuneration paid to Bing Crosby, who got $150,000 in 1940 from Universal Pictures, was not shown in picture company reports this year, but Decca Records reported he was paid $100,640 by that company.

The Consolidated Oil Co. reported a payment of $155,959 to H. F. Sinclair as president and director and the Richfield Oil Corp., in Los Angeles reported a $60,040 payment to Mr. Sinclair as chairman and director, bringing his 1941 total to $215,999.

With the exception of the changes in the high ranking movie stars, the reports showed that remunerations paid, including bonuses or shares in profits, changed only slightly in 1941 from the previous year. In some instances declines were noted.

Mexico's Congress Meets Today to Hear President on War

Indication of Measures To Be Taken Looked For In Avila Camacho's Talk

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Congress was called into special session today to hear President Manuel Avila Camacho detail his reasons for asking the power to declare war on Germany, Italy and Japan.

The formal declarations, the first in Mexican history, will bring the second largest Latin American nation into armed alliance with the United Nations.

Such action has been a foregone conclusion since last week, when the cabinet voted its approval after Germany had refused to accept a note protesting the U-boat sinking of a Mexican tanker.

(The President's address, with running English interpretation, was broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co., and was carried locally by Station WRC. N. B. C.'s international division also offered the President's talk to all Latin American stations, and re-broadcasts will be made by short-wave stations tonight.)

Mexicans looked to Avila Camacho's address to Congress to indicate some of the measures Mexico would take to make her participation in the war effective. It was believed these would include immediate internment of enemy aliens, sequestration of Axis property and a decree forbidding Mexicans to trade with business houses on the United States blacklist.

The general staff has said definitely that Mexican troops would not be sent out of the country, but other official quarters indicated Mexican ships would be armed to enable them to fight back against submarines. Construction of 25 motor torpedo boats is being speeded for patrol and convoy duty.

Legislative quarters, revising former statements, indicated formal war declarations probably would not be made before Monday.

The President's legislation was to remain in committee today. Tomorrow the House is expected to pass the measures and send them to the Senate for committees to study during the week end. It thus probably will be Monday night before the President is authorized to act.

U. S. Official Accused Of Advising Against New 'Rubber' Plant

Sugar Executive Says His Company Can Make Synthetic Product

By the Associated Press.
Clarence R. Blitting, president of the United States Sugar Corp., testified today that a Government official advised his company against proceeding with plans for production of synthetic rubber on the ground that the oil companies had the synthetic rubber program "in the bag."

Mr. Blitting appeared before a Senate Agriculture subcommittee investigating possible uses of farm products for manufacture of alcohol and synthetic rubber.
He named Stanley Crossland, an official of Rubber Reserve Corp., as the man who had made the statement to Josiah Ferris of the sugar corporation during a conference last February.

"He'll be surprised at the number of holes there are going to be in that bag," Chairman Gillette of the subcommittee remarked.
Tells of Research Results.
Mr. Blitting said that as the result of considerable research the sugar corporation had developed a process for making the raw material for rubber and rubber substitutes out of sweet potatoes and sugar cane in Florida.

The company had prepared plans, he testified, for producing about 80,000 tons of rubber and rubber substitutes per year and could build a plant for the purpose in less than a year, possibly within nine months. The company had been attempting for about a year, he said, to obtain priorities on sufficient steel.
Meanwhile on the House side, Elliot E. Simpson, New York independent rubber dealer, was testifying that a "false rubber shortage" had been created "by the giant rubber monopolies for their own post-war protection."

He accused Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., United States Rubber Co., B. F. Goodrich, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and General Tire & Rubber Co. of constituting "an economic octopus which has a stranglehold on the American people's rubber needs" and of "crushing the life out of six or seven hundred competitors."

Accuses U. S. Officials.
Asserting "some officials in the Government are the unwitting tools of the giant rubber monopolies," Mr. Simpson said the large companies had more business than they could handle while independent competitors "are rapidly going out of business."
In carrying out what he called a campaign to destroy "the little rubber companies," Mr. Simpson told the subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee the large companies "have their men in key Government positions where they could dictate rubber policy."

He put in the record a list of approximately 50 names of men he said are or were connected with the large companies and now hold "key Government positions formulating rubber policies."

All Vehicles in Virginia Must Be Tested by Monday
All vehicles registered in Virginia must be inspected by Monday, Col. M. S. Battle, director of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, warned today.
Any motorist found without the new red and silver inspection sticker on his car by that date will be subject to arrest, he said.
Motorists should not be negligent about having their cars checked because they feel that they will not be able to drive them as a result of gasoline rationing, Col. Battle said.
"Automobiles deteriorate even during periods of disuse and they must be checked at frequent intervals to be sure they are in safe operating condition," he said.
Inspection station operators have reported about average inspection of cars, although there are indications of a decreased use of vehicles on highways, the director reported.

Government Pay Increase Hearings to Start Tuesday
Hearings are scheduled to start Tuesday before the House Civil Service Committee on two bills proposing wartime salary increases for Federal and District Government workers, Chairman Ramspeck said yesterday.
One of these bills is sponsored by employes' organizations. It provides a $300 emergency bonus on salaries under $3,000. The other is the administration measure submitted by the Civil Service Commission after approval by President Roosevelt authorizing payment of time and a half for all employes working overtime.

New Charge Is Filed As Brother Is Freed In Welsh Slaying

Suspect Remains in Jail Despite Dismissal of Case by Magistrate

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, May 27.—George W. Welsh, Jr., heir to a real estate fortune, was freed today for a second time of murder charges in the bludgeon-knife slaying of his pretty 24-year-old sister, Lella, but the State immediately brought a new charge against him.

Justice of Peace J. J. Dougherty dismissed the first degree murder charge against the 28-year-old brother as a climax to a seven-day preliminary hearing.

Spectators in the crowded little courtroom cheered and the defendant grinned widely. His mother rushed to embrace him, tears streaming down her cheeks.

"I do not believe that the entire evidence as produced in the case would convince a jury of reasonable men beyond a probable doubt of the guilt of the defendant," Mr. Dougherty read from a briefly penned decision. "The defendant is discharged."

To File New Charge.
County Prosecutor Michael O'Hern, who with Attorney General McCuttrick had paraded State witnesses to the stand for six days in an effort to build a substantial case against the youth, asked for 15 minutes to file a new charge of murder.

"The State has been denied the privilege of bringing George W. Welsh to trial before a jury of 12 men," Mr. O'Hern said in refiling the murder charge. "I am determined as long as I am prosecuting attorney of this county that I will use every legal means to bring the defendant to trial."

Justice of the Peace J. J. Hurley denied Welsh bail on the latest charge and he continued to be held.

Testimony Disputed.
The State had produced a second-hand dealer and a hardware store clerk who testified they had sold a butcher knife and a pair of gloves to Welsh identical with the ones found by police near the crime.

A butcher knife, with which a piece of flesh had been sliced from the girl's hip, was found sunk to its hilt in earth, beneath her window. A pair of gloves was found in a driveway 300 feet away.

Joseph Louis Alport, a second-hand dealer, testified he had sold the knife to Welsh a few days before the March 9, 1941, slaying. Two policemen, Wayne Gibson and Alvin E. Hyman, testified, however, that Mr. Alport originally had sold the knife to Welsh as the purchaser when they took him to the courtroom to view the defendant.

Probed by Three Juries.
Another State witness, George Ehrman, said Welsh was the man to whom he had sold a pair of cotton gloves like the ones found in the driveway. The defense offered the testimony of Mrs. Sophie Chaitman, who said she had sold a pair of gloves like the ones found to a "sandy-haired man" a few days before the slaying.

Welsh, she said, was not the man. The defense also offered the testimony of John B. Trevor, a second-hand dealer, who related that he had sold the hammer found in the girl's bedroom to a middle-aged man March 1, 1941.

He was positive Welsh was not the buyer. The State made no attempt to identify the purchaser of the hammer.

Three grand juries have investigated the case since the former University of Kansas City beauty queen's mutilated body was found in her bed by her mother, Mrs. Marie Welsh.

Two juries took no action. The third indicted the brother. Its indictment was quashed on the grounds of illegal conduct by the jurors. Immediately after that indictment was set aside prosecutor O'Hern filed a murder charge.

House Gets Measure For Union Station Dormitory Buildings

Downs Bill Asks Transfer Of Jurisdiction on Areas Near Capitol

Representative Downs, Democrat, of Connecticut today introduced a bill recommended by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission directing that the architect of the Capitol transfer jurisdiction over seven parcels of land in the extension of the Capitol Grounds to Union Station to the Public Buildings Administration as sites for dormitory housing for single war workers.

Chairman Lanham of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds said today his committee will hold early hearings on this measure.

The bill specifically provides that the portions of the Capitol Grounds to be transferred are as follows:

1. Bounded on the north by F street N.E., on the west by Union Station Plaza, on the south by California street N.E. and on the east by Second street N.E.
2. Bounded on the north by California street N.E., on the west by Union Station Plaza, on the south by Massachusetts avenue N.E. and on the east by Second street N.E.
3. The triangle bounded on the north by E street N.E., on the south by Massachusetts avenue N.E. and on the east by Second street N.E.
4. Bounded on the north by Massachusetts avenue N.E. and the Union Station Plaza, on the west by First street N.E., on the south by D street N.E. and on the east by Second street N.E.
5. Bounded on the north by Massachusetts avenue N.E., on the west by North Capitol street, on the south by E street N.E. and on the east by Union Station Plaza.
6. Bounded on the north by E street N.E., on the west by North Capitol street, on the south by Louisiana street N.E. and on the east by Union Station Plaza.
7. Bounded on the north by C street, on the northwest by Louisiana avenue N.W., on the west by First street N.W., on the south by Constitution avenue N.W. and on the east by New Jersey avenue N.W.

Central Heating Service.
For the purpose of combining numbers (1 and 2) the architect of the Capitol is authorized by the bill to permanently close and vacate California street between the Union Station Plaza on the west and Second street N.E. on the east and to transfer this present street area also to the Public Buildings Administration.

The bill further directs the architect of the Capitol to furnish for heating these dormitory buildings to be erected upon the transferred sites. These auxiliary lines are to be serviced and maintained by the Capitol power plant, which is to be reimbursed for the steam furnished at rates to be fixed by the architect, and the amount paid is to be covered under the Treasury.

The architect of the Capitol will also be required to provide care and maintenance of such portions of the transferred properties as are used for laws or planting, areas of the appropriations for the care and improvement of the Capitol Grounds.

Untrained Ex-Convict Caught After Brief Career as Surgeon

By the Associated Press.
CHICO, Calif., May 28.—Arthur Osborne Phillips, an ex-convict who performed difficult and successful operations as chief assistant surgeon at the big Enloe Hospital, though he had no medical training, reached the end of his surgical career today.

After pleading guilty yesterday to a charge of practicing medicine without a license, a complaint was filed charging he carried concealed weapons, and he was held in lieu of $5,000 bond pending his arraignment June 10.

Phillips, 47, fooled doctors and patients alike during his two months here, successfully performing abdominal operations unassisted. He was arrested Tuesday night by Joseph W. Williams, special agent for the State Board of Medical Examiners, who noticed that the man signed prescriptions with his initials.

Phillips signed a 14-page statement admitting he had served eight prison and jail terms and practiced medicine in four States. His medical knowledge was confined to books and brief courses in bacteriology and biology at the University of Buffalo.

Phillips used credentials belonging to Dr. James Herman Phillips, former Army surgeon now in a Tennessee hospital, which he obtained by pretending he was the real Dr. Phillips and had lost the documents.

Mr. Williams said, although not in the Army, he invariably appeared in military uniform. Mr. Williams added.

ARTHUR OSBORNE PHILLIPS.

Phillips served two terms in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary for narcotic law violations. He also had records at the Alabama State Prison at Montgomery, Maryland State Penitentiary, Idaho State Penitentiary, the Tombs, New York, and Baltimore and Pittsburgh jails. His convictions included charges of practicing medicine without a license, issuing worthless checks and additional narcotic law violations.

Treasury to Reveal Salary, Bonus Ruses Used to Evade Taxes

Morgenthau to Discuss Action With Congress Leaders Tonight

By the Associated Press.
The Treasury, it was learned today, will lay before a private meeting of congressional leaders tonight details of excessive corporate salaries and bonuses, extravagant promotion expenditures and other devices used to evade war taxes.

At the same time, the Treasury delegation, to be headed by Secretary Morgenthau and Assistant Secretary John L. Sullivan, is expected to discuss means of punishing evasion cases or holding down salaries through drastic enforcement of some old, little-used statutes. The congressional group will be the members of the Joint House and Senate Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Since details were guarded, the nature of the Treasury's data could only be judged from the fact that they were to be presented by Secretary Morgenthau in person at an undisclosed meeting place. One informed source, when asked if the material was "sensational," replied: "I don't think the people will lay down their papers before they have read every word of it."

This also implied that the findings might be made public after the meeting. To outward appearances, they resembled Treasury testimony a few years ago on methods used by wealthy persons to evade taxes by incorporating yachts, personal holding companies and other elaborate devices.

A possible preview of some of the material was contained in recent findings of the House Naval Affairs Committee, which brought out that the Cleveland firm of Jack & Heinz, Inc., paid a woman secretary $39,356 last year.

Bridges Says Rossi Attended Nazi Party Feting Czech Invasion

Storm Troopers Arrived On-German Ships for Affair, Hearing Told

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Harry Bridges, C. I. O. longshoreman leader, said yesterday that Mayor Angelo Rossi attended a Nazi affair here in October, 1938, celebrating the German occupation of Western Czechoslovakia, and that some longshoremen who picketed the building were beaten by police.

Mr. Bridges, testifying before a special State legislative committee investigating un-American activities, said Mayor Rossi was accompanied to the meeting in "the German House" by James B. McSheehy, a former city supervisor.

The Maritime Federation of the Pacific afterward adopted a resolution criticizing the alleged action of the city officials and asking an explanation. The Mayor, the witness continued, ignored the request, while Mr. McSheehy said he got into the hall "by accident, or something like that."

Storm Troopers Attend Meeting.
The meeting was attended by "German storm troopers in uniform who, Mr. Bridges said, were unloaded here on several occasions in 1935 by German ships."

The witness recalled how after the Italian invasion of Ethiopia the longshoremen had refused to load some 200 to 300 tons of scrap metal collected by San Francisco scavengers and destined for Italy.

"We were told that the material was being collected in conjunction with the Italian Red Cross, that it was a donation by the Italian colony and that Mayor Rossi was helping the drive."

"We refused to load it because we knew where it was going. We

Howard's 13 Company Takes Top Honors in R. O. T. C. Exercises

300 Cadets Take Part In Military Day Rites; Awards Are Presented

B company under Capt. Stewell D. Horad, yesterday took top honors in the Howard University R. O. T. C. military day exercises in the university stadium.

More than 300 cadets took part in the program, which included presentation of awards by President Mordecai W. Johnson and other college deans and officials. The unit recently received a rating of excellent in the annual inspection by the War Department.

The gold medal to the outstanding second advanced student was presented by Frederick D. Wilkinson, university registrar, to his son, Cadet Maj. F. D. Wilkinson, Jr.

Cadet Sergt. Albert W. Winthrop received the award for the outstanding first advanced student.

Judges for the events were Capt. Burkett Anderson and First Lt. Clyde Sirles, both of the 176th Infantry.

Commissions as second lieutenants in the Army were presented by Brig. Gen. B. O. Davis to Cadet Maj. Wilkinson, Cadet Capt. Horad, Charles W. Bowser, August B. Garner, Hugh D. Jackson, Albert H. Price, Rudolph D. Rayford, Norman V. Robinson, Enory H. Smith and Theodore O. Smith. These become effective next month.

Deferred commissions were given W. L. Bomar and F. R. Randall and a certificate in lieu of commission to Albert L. Gaskins.

Officers insignia donated by officers of the 428th Infantry were presented to the winning company. Other awards and those presenting them included:

By Dean William H. Hastie, gold medal to Cadet Lt. Gaskins for the best drilled platoon.

By Dean Charles H. Wesley, gold medal to Cadet Corp. Robert P. Madison for the best drilled squad.

By Dean Charles H. Thompson, gold medal to Cadet Lt. Gaskins for the best sabre drill.

By Dean Lewis K. Downing, trustee of the Howard University, gold medal to Cadet Victor Thompson, Company C, as the best drilled first-year student.

By Dean William B. West, trustees award to Cadet Victor Thompson, Company C, trustees' award as the best drilled second-year student.

Dangerous Situation Averted in India, Gen. Wavell Says

Four-Fifths of Britain's Original Army in Burma Withdrawn, He Reveals

By the Associated Press.
NEW DELHI, India, May 28.—The British have withdrawn more than four-fifths of their original Burmese army, leaving Burma to the Japanese and the monsoon but having saved India from "what might have been a very dangerous situation," Gen. Sir Archibald F. Wavell, British commander for India and Burma, said today.

This retreat, in its final stages, was forced not by Japanese pressure but "was entirely a matter of supply and maintenance," Gen. Wavell said in a statement to the press.

"If we had had a satisfactory road from India into Burma capable of standing up to the monsoon there is no reason why we should not have continued to resist the enemy well forward into Burma once our troops over there had been extricated from what was danger of encirclement in the forward position we held south of Shwebo."

"It is now possible to say . . . that now the main responsibility for any fresh attempt by the Japanese to advance rests with the Indian eastern army."

Gen. Harold R. G. Alexander issued a special order of the day today saying "My command of the (British Imperial) armed forces in Burma has come to an end with the withdrawal of the army from that country."

The British shared the defense against the Japanese invaders of Burma with Chinese troops commanded by American Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

There was no immediate indication what would become of Gen. Alexander. Gen. Alexander presumably could be absorbed into Gen. Wavell's command or be given another post.

Workers Steal, Keep Jobs

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A police sergeant found four employees of a food market dividing a batch of groceries stolen from the store truck and it developed they had taken $100 worth of merchandise in two weeks. Remaining that help is scarce these days, the proprietor allowed them to pay and keep their jobs.

Gas Rationing Swells Traffic On Streetcars

An increase of 2.2 per cent in the number of passengers on Capital Transit Co. buses and streetcars since the rationing of gasoline began May 15, was announced today by the company.

Sunday traffic on the company vehicles has increased 9.9 per cent. On the last Sunday before rationing set in, May 10, 674,926 passengers rode Capital Transit buses and cars. The following Sunday rationing of gas had increased the number to 742,034, an increase of 67,108.

During the week May 8 to May 14, the last week before rationing, 7,647,878 persons rode buses and streetcars. In the week of May 15 to May 21, 7,818,135 persons, an increase of 170,257, was reported.

Gas Kills Woman, Leaves Husband Unconscious

A woman was dead and her husband in an undetermined condition in Casualty Hospital today after neighbors, attracted by gas fumes, found the couple unconscious in their apartment, at 452 M street S.W. early this morning.

Mrs. Leta P. Enloe, 48, was pronounced dead at the hospital after the fire rescue squad had used artificial respiration on her and her husband, Herbert Enloe, 50, an engineer for the Federal Works Agency.

Solomon S. Seigle and Hoses A. English, Lewis and Lillias Riviera, rifle marksmanship merit award for girls' rifle team.

Mrs. Enloe was lying on a bed in the middle room, and Mr. Enloe was slumped in a chair in a back room, police said.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said the death was accidental. Sgt. E. E. Scott, head of the homicide squad, is investigating.

Pick Wrong 'Buddy' To Ask for Help

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA.—"Say, buddy, give us a hand," said one of two men trying to lift a junked motor into a truck.

"Wait a while," replied Ed Gerber, the "buddy" who had come running to his auto parts store on a tip that prowlers were at work. "The cops are coming. They'll help."

The cops came and helped the prowlers along to the police station.

They were opposed to sending war materials to all aggressor nations."

Rossi Denies Charges.
At that time a protest was made to Mr. Rossi, Mr. Bridges said.

"He told me it was a humanitarian gesture and there was nothing wrong with it; the only thing wrong was a bunch of Communists on the water front, like myself."

The Mayor countered Mr. Bridges' assertions in an interview later with reporters.

The scrapiron incident he termed "ridiculous," and of the alleged Nazi gathering he said: "He's a damned liar. I never attended any meeting celebrating the fall of any country."

One Escaped Prisoner Captured by Police; Two Still at Large

Widespread Search For Rockville Jail Fugitives Is Pressed

Clifton Yokely, one of three prisoners who slugged their guard and escaped from the Rockville Jail Tuesday night, was captured behind a hedge in Germantown, Md., last night and police continued a widespread search today for the remaining two, believed to be the more dangerous of the three. Yokely, who had been serving an assault sentence, was believed to have gone to his home between Germantown and Boyds before his capture because he was wearing different clothes than when he escaped, Montgomery County Police reported. That the prisoners had worked out a plan to confuse police was indicated by a statement which Yokely was quoted as making after his capture.

Prisoners Separated. As soon as the prisoners made their way from the third floor jail to the basement in the County Court House they separated and Yokely walked to Germantown over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks, a distance of about nine miles, police said. Police maintained a watch near the home of Yokely's parents, but failed to catch him there. Detective Corpl. Gassaway Linthicum and Pvt. J. B. Day of the county police discovered him about 10 p.m. behind a lawn hedge. He was wearing a suit, but had worn a khaki shirt and trousers when he left the jail, police declared.

Still free are James Anderson, 17, of Glen Echo, who was to be tried Monday at Hagerstown on charges of criminally assaulting a Government worker at her Glen Echo home, and Andrew Foster, 21, of Takoma Park, charged with the unauthorized use of an automobile. Anderson Believed Armed. Although an interstate lookout had been broadcast, the search yesterday was conducted chiefly between Sugar Loaf Mountain in Montgomery County and North Beach on Chesapeake Bay. A police radio warning broadcast to police of Prince Georges County and No. 11 precinct said Anderson "may be armed and will use gun."

At the time of his arrest at his Glen Echo home in February, Anderson engaged in a gun battle with Montgomery County police, one bullet narrowly missing one of the arresting officers. State police were summoned to North Beach by Patrolman Walter F. Allen, but found no trace of the two youths who Patrolman Allen said might be members of the trio. Mr. Allen arrested two youths late Tuesday night at a dance hall when he became suspicious of their behavior. They were held in the town hall jail overnight but were released yesterday.

Reported Several Places. Later, when the patrolman saw a picture of Anderson in Washington newspapers, he said he believed Anderson was one of the prisoners he had held.

Capt. Henry C. Haddaway, North Beach police chief, led a searching party of police and volunteer firemen after the youths were reported seen in various places around the resort and nearby Chesapeake Beach, but the search was abandoned last night after a police broadcast that the pair had been seen hitch-hiking, toward Washington.

Three carloads of State and Montgomery County police rushed to the foothills of Sugar Loaf Mountain earlier yesterday to organize a posse to search for youths, one of whom reportedly answered the description of Anderson. The search was abandoned as futile later.

Kettering Sees War Ending in Trenches In Fall of 1944

Effect of U. S. Output Not to Be Felt for at Least a Year, He Says

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, May 28.—Charles F. Kettering, General Motors Corp. research chief, sees victory for the United Nations in the fall of 1944.

The war will end in the trenches, not in the air, he predicted yesterday in an interview, and will be won with equipment already in use—not new inventions.

"I can't go along with these people who think that we will win the war this year," Mr. Kettering said. "As I see it, we will win in the fall of 1944. It will take at least a year for the effect of our tremendous production efforts to be felt. If we can deliver enough stuff to England, and help Russia hold out the rest of the summer, I don't see why we won't be able to send 1,000 bombers a day over Germany—every day.

"This war will end with an invasion of Europe—which means a return to trench warfare and field artillery. The airplane will pave the way for the invasion, the airplane will slow down German production, but it won't eventually be the deciding factor in winning the war.

"We are going to fight this war with what we now have," he continued. "I mean that new inventions aren't going to play too important a part in this war—they will do their stuff in the war after the next one.

"We have the right kind of equipment to win this war right now. What we need—and what we are getting—is enough of that equipment: Guns, bombers, tanks and motors."

Outstanding Victory South of Kharkov Claimed by Nazis

165,000 Red Prisoners Taken in Struggle, Berlin Claims

By the Associated Press. BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 28.—The German high command announced today that the battle of encirclement south of Kharkov on the Russian front had resulted in an outstanding victory for Germany and her allies.

A total of 165,000 Soviet prisoners have been taken in the struggle and Russian attacks aimed at relieving encircled Red forces have failed completely, a communique said.

"Annihilation of the few remaining groups still offering resistance is continuing," the bulletin added. In addition to the prisoners taken, large quantities of Soviet war equipment have fallen into German hands, the high command declared. "Five hundred and seven armored vehicles, 1,180 guns, thousands of military vehicles and horses and a vast amount of other war material has been captured," the communique said. "These figures are constantly growing."

The Germans also reported their air force had been active along the entire Russian front yesterday, heavily damaging a 4,000-ton merchant ship in the Arctic port of Murmansk, inflicting bloody losses on encircled Soviet troops below Kharkov and blasting military targets near Sevastopol on the Crimea.

15,000 Front-Line Reds Killed, Finns Declare

HELSINKI, May 28 (AP)—The Finnish high command in a special communique last night announced a "complete victory" of Finnish-German forces in a series of battles waged on the northern front during the last month, with more than 15,000 Russians killed "in front-line fighting alone."

Finnish-German losses were put at 418 killed.

In addition to those killed at the front, German dive bombers "indicted further heavy losses on the enemy rear," the announcement said.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

NUMBER 45 ★ Some tempting vegetable platters ★ Meats you can be sure of ★ Things you may not know about sugar substitutes ★ How to have garden fresh produce every day

How to put sparkle in summer vegetable plates

In which the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau makes some wonderful suggestions.

Vegetable plates can be the most colorful, the most appetizing dishes of all, especially at this time of year—if they are well planned rather than simply thrown together.

Be sure to serve vegetable combinations with appealing contrast in texture, color and cooking—something strong, something mild, something crisp, something soft. And include a generous portion of a protein food such as eggs, cheese or crisp bacon.

The Safeway Homemakers' Bureau planned and tested these suggestions. They are typical examples of appetizing vegetable plates.

Tomato souffle and crisp bacon strips, with sautéed whole kernel corn, buttered spinach, shredded carrot and pineapple salad.

Cauliflower au gratin with buttered string beans, buttered carrots, whole tomato salad stuffed with diced celery, onion and cottage cheese. (Allow 1/2 cup cheese per piece.)

Toasted cheese sandwich with broiled tomatoes, buttered peas, potato chips, sliced orange and lettuce salad with French dressing.

Baked corn and diced ham pudding, buttered peas, glazed carrots, red cabbage and raisin slaw with cream dressing.

Rice patties with cheese sauce, buttered asparagus, mashed parsnips, whole cooked beet salad stuffed with cucumber and celery.

Scalloped zucchini with bacon, twice-baked potato, spinach with lemon and hard-boiled egg, and Waldorf salad with mayonnaise.

Baked green pepper stuffed with macaroni and cheese, sliced Harvard beets, buttered wax beans, sliced tomato and grapefruit salad.

Hot artichoke with melted butter, scalloped carrots and cauliflower, shoestring potatoes, peach half stuffed with cottage cheese salad.

Scalloped egg and asparagus on corn bread squares; buttered carrot rings; molded pineapple and cucumber salad in lemon gelatin rings.

Spinach mold topped with poached egg; sautéed whole kernel corn, and cabbage peanut slaw with sliced tomatoes and French dressing.

THE LAMB: Pardon me, Madam. But I'm merely a symbol. The symbol of a gentler way to deal with your little difficulty.

THE LADY: You mean that little matter of constipation?

THE LAMB: Precisely. If you are one of those people with normal intestines who suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, this crisp and toasty cereal, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, will not only correct the cause of the trouble, but by a way that is surprisingly pleasant, and gentle too.

THE LADY: Gentle? Hmm! — that sounds interesting. Go on—tell me more!

THE LAMB: You see, many medicinal laxatives work by prodding your intestines into action, or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN works principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination.

Freezing Employment

The War Man Power Commission's decision to freeze skilled workers in existing jobs in critical war industries is designed to correct a "job piracy" situation that has been giving production officials cause for increasing concern. As new war plants go up and new and oftentimes more favorable opportunities for employment are made available, skilled workers in established plane, gun, tank and other war equipment factories have been lured in large numbers to new jobs. Federal authorities have found that not only higher salaries but bonuses are offered as an inducement to workers to leave their present places. This disturbing state of affairs in the field of what is termed critical employment has tended to disrupt production schedules and breed wage discontent in the older plants, a condition certainly not conducive to maximum efficiency in war industries.

By freezing certain classes of skilled workers in vital jobs, the commission hopes to stabilize wages as well as employment, and wage stabilization is one of the objectives in the Federal battle against inflation. Administrative details of the freezing process are yet to be announced, but it was indicated the bulk of the task will devolve upon the United States Employment Service. The tentative plan is to have the service pass on all applications of workers for transfer from one war plant to another. If the service finds that the transfer would be harmful to the war effort, the application would be disapproved and the applicant and prospective employer would be so notified.

The commission apparently is of the belief that no compulsion will be needed to effectuate its job stabilization policy, and it is not the present intention to ask for specific legislation covering the new program. It presumably has in mind the fact that critical war plants are engaged in Government contracts and consequently are not likely to balk at the new control plan. Moreover, the plants themselves will benefit in the end by the abolishment of "job piracy" tactics by a few of their number. And a public plagued by inflation dangers will be the beneficiary of wage stabilization in the booming war factories of the Nation.

Steel Production

Encouraging reports have come from the steel industry in the past few days, with spokesmen optimistic over the outlook for both ingot and plate production. Predictions on ingot output range as high as 87,000,000 tons this year, as compared to 84,000,000 in 1941, and while there are indications that the larger figure is too much on the bullish side, the 1941 total seems likely to be exceeded. Steel plate production, which has been a bottleneck in the shipbuilding program, is expected to reach 1,000,000 tons in June, according to figures furnished the general meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute by Walter S. Tower, the president. What this means in the way of an accelerated program is best judged by the fact that production of 220,000 tons in the week ended May 16 established a world record, according to a statement at the same meeting by Charles E. Adams, retiring chief of the iron and steel branch of the War Production Board.

While Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corp., has been quoted as forecasting ingot output this year at 87,000,000 tons, Mr. Tower is skeptical as to the present rate of 85,000,000 tons being maintained throughout 1942, believing that the shortage of raw materials, especially scrap and ore, will be felt increasingly until additional blast furnaces, now under construction, are put in service. The industry started this year with a rated capacity of 88,500,000 tons, and, as is evident, current output is off about 3,500,000 tons from this figure. The industry on the West Coast has gone as far as Hawaii and Canada in the salvaging drive for scrap, which recently got a slight lift when the Washington State Toll Bridge Authority ordered the sale of the twisted steel of the Tacoma Narrows Bridge which collapsed spectacularly in a high wind more than a year ago.

The War Production Board had contemplated new construction that would add about 10,000,000 tons to ingot production capacity, but the recent decision to curtail plant construction and concentrate on production with existing facilities is liable to halve this program. This would mean an ultimate capacity of approximately 94,000,000 tons, but conservative estimates put that goal as far away as the middle of 1944. And concurrently, steel men argue, consuming sources must be stepped up to prevent a lag.

Despite the recent charges of the C. I. O. steel workers that production had been stifled, Mr. Tower told his associates that the industry now is turning out nearly twice the tonnage in plates that all the rest of the world can produce, and emphasized steel can meet the ambitious construction program of tanks, planes and ships which the President has outlined for this year and the next—a program that dwarfs into insignificance the Nation's effort in the First World War.

Rommel's Libyan Move

That super "desert rat," Marshal Erwin Rommel, is on the move again. His mobile columns of tanks and motorized infantry are thrusting vigorously forward across the bleak no-man's land of Eastern Libya and have made contact with British advanced forces, while Axis airplanes are busily reconnoitering and bombing British positions and communications.

This new Axis offensive comes as somewhat of a surprise, because large-scale fighting in North Africa has usually died down with the approach of summer and its blistering heat in the shadeless desert. However, British military commentators have stated recently that such operations, though gravely handicapped by the climate, are not impossible. And the British high command in Cairo has intimated that some sort of trouble is brewing.

If this Axis thrust turns out to be something more than a reconnaissance or a bluff, it should be considered against the background of the entire Mediterranean situation as part of a larger whole. Marshal Rommel can hardly meditate a single-handed drive on Egypt, like that attempted by his ill-starred predecessor, the Italian General Graziani, in the late summer of 1940, or by himself the following year. In those days, Britain's position in Egypt and the Near East generally was pitifully weak. The sudden defection of France, which had been safeguarding the Mediterranean, left Britain with little more than token forces there. Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, in his recent review of the war in that theater, admits that only gross Italian incompetence saved Britain's hold on the Near East in 1940, and there was another bad moment when Marshal Rommel and his crack German Afrika Korps entered the picture next year. However, from then on, British power in the Near East increased rapidly, while the Axis was hard put to it to maintain its strength in North Africa, owing to the efficacy of the British naval and air blockade.

The past two months have witnessed an improvement in the Axis' African situation, chiefly because the unremitting aerial bombardment of Malta has kept the British from using that vital air and submarine base effectively against Axis reinforcements from Italy to Libya. Today, Rommel may be as strong as, or even stronger than, he ever was. Yet this fact is offset by the corresponding increase in British strength in this same theater of war. Thus Rommel is presumably unable to move independently against Egypt and the Suez Canal.

The more likely explanation of an Axis campaign in North Africa at this moment is that it is the opening gun of a general Axis offensive throughout the Mediterranean, extending potentially all the way from Gibraltar to the Dardanelles, Cyprus and Syria. This includes not only military, naval and air operations but also political activities such as current diplomatic maneuvers between France and Italy, with Germany undoubtedly pulling the strings in the background. It is too soon to speculate in detail on just how this complex situation will work out. But the magnitude of Rommel's operations in Libya should furnish a fair test of whether the Mediterranean is to become a major theater of warfare this summer, or whether all this is an Axis smoke-screen for a decisive move elsewhere. Libya is thus a touchstone for what is soon to come.

Cantigny

Twenty-four years ago today the first independent action on battle scale by American troops in the First World War was fought in Picardy. An official account of the event explains: "Early in May the command of the 1st Division was transferred to the French X Corps, and about the middle of the month it was decided to dislodge the Germans from their positions near Cantigny in order to reduce the difficulties of holding the front line in the vicinity of that place. The 28th Infantry . . . was selected to carry out the attack and for several days rehearsed its plans over similar terrain in the rear area." When all was ready, "the assault was launched at 6:45 a.m. on May 28, and in spite of heavy resistance mainly beyond the town and severe artillery and machine-gun fire from the left flank, all objectives soon were gained. The construction of trenches, the laying of barbed wire and the preparation of strong points on the newly captured ground were promptly started by the American troops concerned." Two companies of the 18th Infantry aided in the work from its beginning.

"The German reaction," according to the War Department, "was immediate and unusually violent, indicating a desire to shatter American morale. Counterattack after counterattack was launched against the newly won positions. Starting about noon on May 28, the American lines around Cantigny were subjected to an intense 72-hour bombardment from hostile guns of all calibers. At the end of that time the Americans still held every inch of ground they had gained." The division remained in line a total of 73 days and suffered almost 5,200 casualties. Survivors returned home after the armistice with the proud record of having "furnished a concrete example of the fighting ability of American troops" operating "on their own."

In recognition of the historic significance of the place the American Battle Monuments Commission subsequently erected in a public square at Cantigny a shaft of white marble designed by Arthur Loomis Harmon of New York. The upper corners are sculptured eagles with a row of stars behind them. Visitors to the spot—only 54 miles north of Paris—find little else to remind them of the struggle of 1918. Peace healed the landscape soon enough. What was not corrected was the greed, the fear and the malice of a few evil men.

Younger Selectees

Reports that the War Department will renew its efforts to lower the draft age for combat service to nineteen or eighteen years have aroused some opposition in Congress. This is not surprising, in view of the fact that strong criticism of the plan developed when it was first proposed by Army authorities a few weeks after Pearl Harbor. At that time the Senate voted almost unanimously to lower the combat age to nineteen, as had been requested by the War Department, but the House voted for a twenty-one year minimum. Senate and House finally agreed in conference to a compromise age of twenty for fighting men, and this is the limit now provided in the amended Selective Service Act. The registration of youths in the eighteen and nineteen categories was authorized, however, and this registration will take place June 30.

In advocating a lower induction age for selectees, War Department officials say they are but profiting from the lessons already learned in World War I. One of these lessons is that the younger soldiers are better able to stand the strain of modern blitzkrieg tactics than their older comrades in arms. The German Army long ago put the accent on youth, with highly satisfactory results. Secretary of War Stimson, in advocating lower ages for drafted men last December, succinctly described modern warfare as "a young man's game."

Senatorial opponents of the lower draft ages are quoted as suggesting that the younger men be put to work in factories or the farm or that they be allowed to continue their education. The wisdom of putting youths to work in plants from which they would be subject to call for military service in a year or two seems questionable, however. The tendency up to now has been to fill these jobs with older, family men, who are less likely to be called into the Army. As for education, college students already have the opportunity to enlist in the Army or Navy Reserve and continue their studies, with a view to becoming officers after graduation. Continuation of this policy in the event of the lowering of the draft age would enable students to pursue their college courses without interruption, except in extreme emergency.

There is, as Senator Austin of Vermont remarked, a "human side" to the question of drafting younger men. As a matter of fact, it is regrettable that men of any age should be compelled by events of this tragic era to engage in mortal combat. But there is no alternative but to surrender to our foes. Such being the case, the decision on such important matters as size of our armed forces and age of fighting men should be left to our military experts. Their arguments should be given the great weight they deserve in any legislative consideration of the age problem.

Philately in the Raw

Philately, strictly speaking, means the collection of stamps. But what are stamps except concrete evidences of postal service? If, then, philately in its broadest sense includes the collection of all such evidence, the surprising fact comes to light that the most successful philatelists of the world dwell not in its civilized portions but in the wilds of Ecuador, where fifteen savage Indian tribes, scoring mere postage stamps, go right to the heart of the matter and collect postmen.

They have been doing this for seven years, ever since the institution of a jungle service extending miles beyond the nearest official post office. Postmen on this route, realizing their unique value as collector's items, go heavily armed, but all too often wind up in the album. When one fails to return, the Post Office Department realizes that some remote philatelist is gloating over a newly perforated addition to his collection, and lovingly preparing it for exhibition at the local philatelic society by decapitation and shrinking the head to the size of an orange to save exhibition space.

There is, however, little future for the industry. The Post Office Department has just instituted a sort of follow-up philatelic branch which goes out grimly and collects the collectors.

Notebook of Science Progress In Laboratory, Field And Study

By Thomas R. Henry.

Three Canadian doctors have provided probably the most convincing proof ever given of the value of a balanced and sufficient diet.

Their evidence has been cited by the National Research Council's Committee on Food and Nutrition in a recent report to the American Medical Association, answering critics who claim that the importance of diet in the United States has been over-emphasized.

The figures are impressive, they say, even when not accepted entirely on their face value.

Drs. J. H. Ebbs, F. F. Tinsdale and W. H. Scott kept exact records of the food eaten by expectant mothers attending the pre-maternity clinic of the Toronto General Hospital for four months before the birth of their babies. These women reported exactly what they ate each day. Finally 210 were selected who obviously were not getting enough of the essential foods, either because they were too poor to buy them or did not know enough to eat them.

All were getting too few calories, too little iron, proteins and magnesium. Of these, 120 were allowed to go on as they had started. Ninety were furnished each day, in addition to what they normally ate, with one egg, 30 ounces of milk, a half ounce of wheat germ containing vitamin E, an ounce of cheese, about 4 ounces of canned tomatoes and one orange.

These foods increased their diets to what experts have declared an expectant mother should eat. The actual results astounded the Canadian doctors themselves and the National Research Council physicians appear a little sceptical—but even if half the claims are valid they are almost sensational.

Of the women on a poor diet 47 per cent had major complications during labor, compared to 17 per cent of those with supplemented diets. Nearly 10 per cent of the first group had miscarriages or still births. There was not a single such case in the second group.

For the second group the period of labor was cut down about one-fourth—from 20 to 15 hours. Twelve per cent of the inadequately fed women had stormy recoveries, compared to only 4 per cent of the others. The final rajing of the obstetricians for the whole course from the fourth month of pregnancy through convalescence was that 34 per cent of the first group had a "bad time," compared with only 6 per cent of the second group.

Nearly half of the women on inadequate diets suffered complications during the first six months after child birth. These occurred with only 10 per cent of the others. But probably the most noteworthy figures were for the babies. Fourteen per cent of those whose mothers had not eaten properly made a poor or bad record during the first two weeks of life. Every one of the others did well. Three per cent of the first group of babies died within six months. There was not a single death among the children whose mothers had eaten properly.

The doctors who made the reports only prescribed diets. They did not keep the records on the condition of either the mothers or the babies. These were kept by obstetricians or nurses who presumably did not know which women were getting the supplemented diets.

Says the committee of which Dr. James S. McLeister, former president of the American Medical Association, is a member: "Even though to be conservative one might question the entire accuracy of these ratings, it is evident that a large number of these women and their children were materially benefited by the improvement in diet and that previously they had suffered in greater or less degree from nutritional failure. These studies indicate the prevalence of sub-optimal nutrition in a population group—pregnant women—whose health is of exceptional importance."

A hitherto unknown principle in plant growth—that temperature must vary with light—has just been discovered at the California Institute of Technology. Perhaps the outstanding contribution to plant physiology of this generation was the discovery by two United States Department of Agriculture scientists 20 years ago that growth, blossoming and fruit setting were controlled by the length of the day—or the time a plant was exposed to light in a greenhouse.

There were long and short day plants. It was determined. For normal development every plant required its sleep or cessation of the intense physiological activity that takes place under illumination. Now it has been discovered by Dr. Fritz Went of the California Institute of Technology faculty that a plant requires cool sleeping quarters—that when light is turned on, temperature also must be lowered. Otherwise the growth of plants is seriously affected, the chances are they will not blossom, and they seldom produce fruit. Some of the most notable effects, he found, were produced in varieties of orchids which hitherto it has been impossible to bring to maturity in a greenhouse. The reason for the effect, Dr. Went points out, is unknown, but it apparently has something to do with the plant's sugar production which is carried out under the influence of light. In those plants grown with a constant temperature but with variations of light it was found that by far the highest sugar content was in the leaves. This, Dr. Went says, probably means that the roots and growing tips are not getting any food. The discovery may have a profound effect on agriculture in general, but especially on greenhouse culture. # Prayer Has Place in Government

Introduction of Spiritual Phase In War Urged

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

The United States Senate is listening to a number of pastors as guest chaplains before selecting a permanent chaplain to succeed the late Rev. Ze Barney Phillips. Most people do not know that, while the House and the Senate proceedings are opened each day with prayer, nowhere in the executive branch of the Government is any public business transacted with prayer as a part of the proceedings.

The idea that public officials be reminded of spiritual obligations is not new, but it takes on added significance at a time when hundreds of decisions are being made daily that inevitably must send thousands of young men to death. The weight of responsibility in the executive agencies for the fate of the youth of the Nation now transcends anything experienced before. It is, therefore, not inappropriate that the action of Government be mingled with a solemn sense of responsibility to the spiritual side of life.

In all the churches, irrespective of creed, there is every week end a prayer for the Chief Executive and the high officials of our Government. During wartime these prayers are even more fervently rendered as it is recognized that Government has become the sole trustee of the fate of millions of men in uniform.

In Britain, as the air raids of 1940 swept the land, people of all classes prayed together in the underground shelters. It produced a democracy of spiritual allegiance which had never been witnessed before. Similarly, the churches in America are finding an increased response in these war days.

Government Sets Example. Government in America sets an example. While there is absolutely no relationship of a formal nature between church and state, there can be no question about the overwhelming adherence of the American people to the idea that as far as possible public officials should express and adhere to the basic principles of Christian philosophy in their conduct of national and international affairs.

If there were introduced in the executive agencies a brief period of silent prayer or meditation or even in the larger departments of the Government a short prayer by guest chaplains at noon, it might help to develop throughout the country a feeling of spiritual interest deeper perhaps in wartime than heretofore.

The efficacy of prayer occasionally is brushed aside by cynical-minded persons who consider it an evidence of a "soft" attitude. This is often merely a form of resistance to spiritual obligation, and such a point of view is most interestingly rebutted in the letters coming back to parents from their sons in the war zones. Again and again there is reference in these letters to the adjustments made by the individual in the face of death. Fear, they tell us, has been overcome by prayer and by a realization that the supreme sacrifice cannot be made for one's country unless there is a feeling of sublimation in offering life itself to the cause. Prayer has been of help to these young men. There is nothing soft about them as they ask Divine Providence to give them the guidance they seek in facing the supreme test.

Back home—in the National Capital, for instance—all interests are manifest. Here the material side is evident, as pressure groups strive for advantage or businesses seek to protect profits. Here the quest for power and place is so strong that bureaucratic jealousies and friction crop out all too frequently. Friction between individuals who seek ambitiously to rise to higher posts at the expense of rivals presents an inevitable counterpart of the whole governmental mechanism. It is intensified as Government expands to undreamed-of size. This does not lessen but actually increases the need for introduction of spiritual values in the everyday life of Government.

Rumors of Moral Breakdown. There are rumors current in various parts of the country that a certain moral breakdown is occurring in the National Capital. Clergymen speak of it as a profound cause for concern. There is a tendency on the part of some laymen to regard such conditions as an inevitable result of the congestion and the crowding and perhaps, too, of the spirit of abandon that came also during the last war.

If these reports be true, then the need for the awakening of a spiritual consciousness in the National Capital, both inside and outside the governmental circle, would seem to be even greater than ever before. Religious devotion is so much an individual matter and requires such a delicate handling, where Government especially is concerned, that it would be a mistake to read into a plea for spiritual awakening any sectarian approach.

The machinery for the introduction of a non-sectarian service or for the setting up of a minute or two of silence each day at a given hour for individual prayer already exists. For in the National Capital there is a committee, unique in all America, of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clergymen who have united to assist newcomers in finding places of worship. Such a nucleus can do much toward sponsoring a

Nomination of Senator Mead for Governorship May Solve New York Democrats' Problem

By GOULD LINCOLN.

Although the nominating conventions are not scheduled to meet until August in New York, there are three candidates (possibly they should be called "possibilities") for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination who are said to have definite backers. The picture as outlined by a Democratic leader from the Empire State is about as follows: Attorney General John J. Bennett is an avowed candidate with the backing of former Postmaster General James A. Farley, now Democratic State chairman of New York. Owen D. Young, of General Electric fame and now an upstate farmer, is the choice of the President (New York's most prominent Democrat) and many of the New Dealers. Lt. Gov. Charles Poletti is looked upon as the candidate of Gov. Lehman, who has said emphatically that he will not accept the nomination for another term if it is given him.

Gov. Lehman was in Washington a few days ago and talked over the New York political situation with President Roosevelt, but declined to say what candidates were discussed.

It is obvious that unless some steps are taken to iron out the situation, the Democratic State Convention may become a hectic affair. Presumably Gov. Lehman will in the end follow the lead of President Roosevelt if a showdown comes. Mr. Farley, however, is a different proposition. Already some of the mid-west county committeemen, at a meeting not long ago, have gone on record in favor of Attorney General Bennett. Mr. Farley has many friends in the Democratic organization throughout the State, and they may stick to his leadership, especially if the President undertakes to ram down their throats the nomination of Mr. Young, who, though highly regarded, has never been a prominent figure in Democratic politics in the State, or run for or held any political office.

Bennett Lacks Labor Party. One of the arguments made against the nomination of Mr. Bennett is that he could not and would not have the support of the American Labor party. That party vote swung the election to Gov. Lehman in 1938, when Thomas E. Dewey ran him an extremely close race. That, however, is not a settled fact. The other courses for the labor party would be to put up a candidate of their own or to support the Republican nominee or the Communist nominee, if the Communist party puts one forward.

Any of these latter courses would result in the election of the Republican candidate, a consummation which there is so far no reason to believe would be satisfactory to the labor party. Mr. Bennett has been nominated and elected attorney general in the past without the blessing of the labor party. It is doubtful if he could make the grade for Governor, unless he had the support of the labor party and its vote.

As time passes, the situation is crystallizing more and more. The armies are on the march, and the farther they go, the more difficult it is likely to be to pry them loose from their particular candidates. One man so far has held aloof—

Edward J. Flynn, leader of the Bronx and Democratic national chairman. That he will go along with the wishes of the President in this matter of a gubernatorial candidate is regarded as entirely likely. He might be the man who would undertake to bring about harmony and the selection of a man satisfactory to all factions. President May Back Bennett.

The Democratic politicians from New York insist that it is going to be very difficult for the President or any one else to sell the nomination of Mr. Young to the party. They are inclined to the idea that the President in the end will decide to accept the nomination of Mr. Bennett, who has a good record in office as well as a record for vote getting, and to bear down on the American Labor party to support Mr. Bennett. If that is not done, and it may not be done, then the alternative is the selection of some other Democratic nominee. Two names have been prominently mentioned if that contingency arises. One is that of Senator James Mead, and the other, James A. Farley.

Mr. Farley, who ran President Roosevelt's first and second presidential campaigns and who was a friend of long standing, is no longer regarded with a friendly eye at the White House. The reason—he opposed a third-term nomination for the President and allowed his own name to be presented to the Democratic National Convention in 1940 for that nomination. It is true that before the end of the campaign, Mr. Farley made a statement favoring the re-election of the President. But that makes no difference.

It does not appear likely that a Farley nomination for Governor would sit well at the White House. Senator Mead, on the other hand, has been a faithful supporter of the President and all his policies for years.

May Eliminate Bennett. For the same reason that Mr. Farley's nomination would not be regarded favorably at the White House, the nomination of his candidate, Mr. Bennett, is likely to be regarded askance. Certainly some of the New Dealers, among them Assistant Secretary of State Berle, are opposed to Mr. Bennett and shouting for Mr. Young. The argument is made that Mr. Young would run well upstate where Democratic votes are scarce. Opponents of the Young nomination, on the other hand, doubt that he has either the personality or the ability to make a good campaign, especially if he is pitted against a seasoned and brilliant campaigner like Mr. Dewey, who seems assured of the Republican nomination.

The anti-Dewey, pro-Willkie faction of the Republican party in New York will have to accept the nomination of the former racket-busting district attorney of New York County, it now seems likely. Mr. Dewey, according to all reports, can have the nomination if he wants it. There is reason to believe he will want it. Mr. Willkie recently commended Mr. Dewey's stand in opposition to the renomination of Representative Hamilton Fish, and there is reason to believe that the breach there may lessen in degree rather than widen from now until the Republican State Convention.

U. S. Mission's Presence in London Held Ominous Event for Hitler's Air Force

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT.

The arrival of the American military mission in London is an event of ominous significance to the German high command. This is particularly so at the moment because the mission is headed by Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, and because Gen. Arnold is accompanied by Rear Admiral John H. Towers, in charge of naval aviation.

Maj. Eliot.

This pretty clearly indicates the character of the immediate matters which the mission has gone to Great Britain to concert with the British high command, and if any further evidence were needed it is supplied by the arrival of Brig. Gen. William C. Lee, who commands our newly formed corps of paratroopers and air-borne infantry.

The Germans will now have to prepare themselves to meet intensified air and air-borne attacks on a far larger scale than anything they have hitherto had to undergo, with powerful American aviation reinforcing and aiding the Royal Air Force.

The United Nations possess the inestimable advantage of a centrally located base, the island of Britain, at which their striking force is concentrated and from which it can strike at any point over a wide area. This is an ideal setup for the vigorous and imaginative use of one of air power's most formidable qualities—strategic flexibility.

Key to Success in Air. This characteristic, if properly understood, is the key to the efficient use of air-striking power, as Air Marshal J. C. Slessor, one of the ablest air officers of the R. A. F., points out in his book, "Air Power and Armies." It enables a centrally located air force to strike at a series of selected objectives far distant from one another and always to be used with the maximum efficiency against whichever objective is most important at the time.

Against air attack of this nature, driven relentlessly home with a violence and a continuity of effort surpassing anything we have yet seen in this war, the Germans will be compelled to take appropriate countermeasures.

The results of the fighting in Southern Russia indicate that this time there will be no question of overwhelming the Russians first and then turning back to fight with full force in the west, in the traditional pattern of German strategy. This fighting is much more reminiscent of the western front in 1916-17, when there were few major gains by either side and what gains there were had to be paid for in a disproportionate price in blood and materiel.

It must be remembered that every successful air attack against German industry and communications diminishes by that much the German ability to fight in Russia at all. But beyond this there is the unquestionable fact that the German high command, however ruthlessly inclined, cannot if it would abandon the cities of Germany to British and American air assaults without providing some measure of protection which the German people can see and which they will feel to be at least partially effective.

In sum total this calls for the detention in Germany and in the occupied areas of very strong forces of fighter aircraft, anti-aircraft artillery and air-raid precaution services.

Nazis May Start Own Attack. It is not unlikely that in anticipation of this state of affairs the German high command may decide to open bombing offensives of its own against British and American air-dromes and air installation in Britain.

A good deal will depend, as to such a decision, on whether the Luftwaffe can spare sufficient bombers and fighters from other fronts for this purpose. In any case it seems certain that we are about to see air warfare in Western Europe of a far more vigorous and enterprising character, and we may be about to observe the first real test of what modern air power can do under reasonably favorable conditions.

The air offensive will not be confined to bombing and counter-bombing. It will certainly include the use of parachute troops and air-borne infantry, so that even inland installations and air-dromes will not be safe from direct attacks of this nature. And, of course, at a time made appropriate by occurrences in Russia, and under conditions where complete air superiority can be gained, the opening of a second front on land is not to be discounted by any means.

All in all, yesterday was a bad day in Berlin. The plans concerted with the British during the recent visit of Gen. George C. Marshall, our Chief of Staff, seem now about ready to be put into execution, and the men who will carry them out are in England, the base from which the new offensives will be launched. One would not care to be the man who must now make decisions as to the disposition of German reserves. Germany has a two-front war, with all its pains and penalties. # Mother of 5 Navy Officers To Christen Destroyer

By the Associated Press.

MOBILE, Ala., May 28.—The mother of five naval officers will sponsor the launching Sunday of the U. S. S. Capps, first destroyer ever built on the east Gulf coast, from the Gulf Shipbuilding Corp.'s Chickasaw yard.

Mrs. Charles Gaines Stokes of Meridian, Miss., recently chosen as her State's outstanding mother of the year, will christen the new warship named for the late Admiral W. L. Capps, former chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

Two of Mrs. Stokes' sons, Comdr. Thomas Murray Stokes and Lt. Comdr. Gaines Stokes, are graduates of the Military Academy. Two other sons, Lt. Charles Gregg Stokes and Ensign Taylor Stokes, are Reserve officers on active duty at 8th Naval District headquarters, New Orleans. The fifth son, Ensign Norman Stokes, is serving with the flag unit, patrol wing.

U. S. Declared Likely to Join Britain In Air Raids on Reich This Summer

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.

Arrival in London of the principal members of the United States general staff has once more given rise to speculation as to the opening of an Allied offensive in Western Europe.

Naturally, official quarters in Washington are silent on this subject. However, the British people have been greatly heartened, as have British troops, who are spurring for a fight and chafing at inactivity. Last year at this time British soldiers had to maintain a 24-hour vigil against expected Nazi invasion.

British government leaders still believe Hitler may attempt an invasion this summer, but the and the United States are now equipped to start a major air drive.

If a portion of the Nazi air arm were forced to leave the Russian front in order to defend Nazi industrial centers against waves of United Nations planes, the Russian high command believes its fighting chances would be greatly enhanced.

Nazis Appear Worried. United States plane production is, of course, a secret. But from odds and ends of information it transpires that it is well on the way to fulfillment of its goals. It is safe to assume that we can now spare large numbers of bombers and interceptors to join the already formidable British air fleet in an air offensive against Germany. This, in the opinion of the best authorities in Washington, should be our answer to the requests of the Russian high command to "do something."

There is, of course, the possibility that if British-American air raids on the Reich become more than a daily "nuisance" Hitler may be compelled to invade Britain. The United Kingdom is now so well prepared for such an eventuality that no one, either here or in London, entertains any apprehension.

Whatever decision is taken in London as a result of conversations between the operational heads of our general staff and their British colleagues, there are indications from the Reich that the Nazi high command is beginning to worry about the Allies' next move in the west.

The Nazis know Americans are dynamic and always willing to take a long chance, if the benefits to be gained are worth the risk. Against this American characteristic the Germans pit their long-range methodical planning.

While the Nazis expected perfunctory raids by the British, the effects of which were more spectacular in words than in actual fact, the Germans may become more gravely concerned if and when an American air force arrives in England.

Use of War Objectors In Hospital Work Sought

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., May 28.—Use of conscientious objectors to relieve an acute personnel shortage at some Virginia's State mental hospitals was suggested by the State Hospital Board yesterday to selective service officials, who agreed to place the proposal before the proper authorities for approval.

The plan would provide for the assignment of approximately 150 men among the six State hospitals for the performance of civilian work in connection with their operations, and would be for the purpose of aiding the hospitals carry on their programs without being subjected to serious impairment by reason of the war.

It was pointed out that each of the State hospitals has a large farm and dairy, and officials indicated that if the project were approved for the use of conscientious objectors, the men would be utilized not only in the institutions themselves, but also in the hospitals' agricultural programs.

Our Emotions Need A Co-ordinator

By HENRY McLEMORE.

Events of last week proved that one of America's biggest needs is for a co-ordinator of national emotions.

This country cannot continue to reveal in optimism one day and wallow in pessimism the next. Such a routine will wear the nerves of the citizens to tatters and fill the Nation's mental retreats to overflowing.

Last week this country blew hot and cold, wept, alternately. Even as it clicked its heels in midair with the Army and Navy reports of the war and whistled over Secretary Hull's rosy-tinted view of the future, it was brought up short by the President's announcement that we were in for a very long war.

When you get to laughing and crying at the same time, you get hysteria. We don't want that here. A co-ordinator of national emotions is the answer.

It will be this man's duty to tell the country daily how to feel. Across his desk will flow all the reports on the progress and setbacks of the United Nations at war. He will digest all the various information from the White House, the State Department, the W. P. B., the Army, the Navy and all of the other ten thousand and one sources of information. Having digested it, he will boil it down to the truth. And, boiled down to the truth, he will issue a bulletin telling all of us how we should react. He will be a national emotional barometer, a pin-strike weather report, only his reactions will record human feelings instead of the clouds, the winds and low pressure areas.

Let us picture a few sample press conferences of the co-ordinator of national emotions. It is a Tuesday. At 9 in the morning. The reporters stand respectfully before his desk.

"Gentlemen," the co-ordinator says, "the synthetic rubber program is not on schedule, a tanker was sunk at the entrance to Central Park and Congress is demanding 5 pounds of sugar for preserving purposes for each member. I must ask you to tell the citizens to wear a sickly smile today. By a sickly smile, I mean one that lifts the lips one-twentieth of an inch at each corner of the mouth, but one in which the rest of the face does not join."

It is a Wednesday. Again the co-ordinator speaks to the reporters: "Boys, things look brighter today. We have had only 12 conflicting reports from the various departments. You may tell the country to go about today with a smile that shows its teeth."

The reporters leave and flash to their papers that the country may show its teeth in a smile today. From Portland to Key West every one smiles, as per orders.

It is Thursday. The reporters find the co-ordinator with his own emotions beautifully co-ordinated. He is neither blue nor happy. He has found a dead level between the two.

"Boys, the country must show no emotion whatsoever today. Things are good in Russia and bad in China."

Later, the co-ordinator of emotions will be given the power to crack down on violators. The papers will be filled with such items as this:

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Marcus Fennell, 48, was fined $5 and costs today for appearing on the streets in a too-happy frame of mind.

Chicago.—Marcus Fennell, 48, who moved here recently from Chattanooga, was fined $10 by an officer of the Co-ordinator of Emotions Department, for putting when smiles were the order of the day.

San Francisco.—Marcus Fennell, 48, recently a resident of Chicago, was given three days in the county jail today for wearing a Halloween type falseface in the business district.

Yes, the Government must give us a co-ordinator of emotions. It is obvious that it figures us too smart to stand for a steady diet of colored information, but not adult or strong enough for a steady diet of the truth.

We must have some one to tell us how to feel. Personally, the whole thing gives me a headache. And, it must give you one, too. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. W. Roy Mason Elected to New Post of Suffragan Bishop

Episcopal Delegates Pick Charlottesville Man From Nine Nominees

By the Associated Press. ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 28.—Delegates to the annual conference of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia elected Dr. W. Roy Mason of Charlottesville, arch deacon of the Blue Ridge, to the newly-created post of Suffragan Bishop yesterday.

Dr. Mason was one of nine clergymen nominated for the new post. He has spent his entire ministry in Virginia and held his first charge in a mission house at Charlottesville.

Other nominees for the post were the Rev. C. J. Gibson, Richmond; the Rev. Harry Lee Dohm, Houston, Tex.; the Rev. Beverly M. Boyd, Richmond; the Rev. E. A. De Bordenave, Alexandria; the Rev. W. Leigh Ribble, Falls Church; the Rev. J. J. ...

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—A warning that activities of the Belmont Park racing plant, fashionable metropolitan course which ranks with any in the Nation, should be "halted or suspended unless adequate civilian protection is provided" has been served on track officials by Col. Edward C. O. Thomas, Nassau County director of civilian protection.

He threatened action by Monday if a suitable reply was not received. He said that the track was inadequately prepared for protection against air raids, sabotage or "any form of disaster brought about by enemy action, and that from a viewpoint of civilian protection it constituted a public hazard."

Belmont's spring season closes June 6. The first 15 days of racing has attracted between 10,000 and 15,000 racegoers on week days and about 20,000 on Saturdays.

Marshall Cassidy, Jockey Club steward at the track and co-ordinator of the Belmont sector of civilian defense, to whom Col. Thomas wrote, expressed surprise at the letter and commented: "We'll be only too happy to take any steps that they insist we take."

Among the charges made against the park by Col. Thomas were: "That medical facilities to meet non-form of emergency are virtually non-existent; that in respect to personnel and equipment; that alleged air-raid wardens wearing arm bands are untrained and directly violating the New York State War Emergency Act and the Federal law; that the air raid protection for human life, animals and property is grossly inadequate, and that the report of work done at Belmont Park submitted prior to the opening of the track in many respects false and deliberately misleading ...

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP)—The Right Rev. Edward T. Helfenstein, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland since 1929, plans to retire at the end of 1943.

Bishop Helfenstein announced his impending retirement yesterday in his address to the annual diocesan convention and said he was leaving planning for the future of the diocese largely in the hands of his successor, the Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, elected bishop coadjutor at the convention last year.

He explained that both Bishop Powell and the Executive Council of the diocese had requested him to retain his post until December 31, 1943, but added that he reserved the right to retire earlier if the war and resulting conditions "make it impossible to perform the duties of my office."

The convention approved a diocesan budget of $86,080 and a 1943 convention budget of $35,806 and voted to secure title to the College of St. James near Hagerstown as a diocesan school. Sufficient funds are to be advanced to pay all debts and create a working capital for the school.

The convention also recommended changing the date of the convention from May to January and granted the right to vote in parish meetings to the women members of 11 churches.

Quints, 8, Get Bobbed Hair-Dos As Surprise Birthday Present

Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, the parents, arranged the hair-dressing yesterday as a surprise gift. The girls were summoned in turn from the nine-room nursery to the staff house.

First came Marie, who was found by three Toronto specialists April 24 to be suffering from a wasting of the right thigh and calf, then Emilie, Cecile, Annette and Yvonne.

Mrs. Dionne snipped off the hair-tails. Miss Clara Ogilvie of New York trimmed and dressed the hair. "It has a fine, lovely texture," Miss Ogilvie said. "Although it has been pulled straight by the braiding, now that it is short I'm sure that it will curl."

All members of the Dionne family planned to gather for a birthday dinner and the cutting of five cakes, each carrying eight candles. Unlike previous observances, no outsiders were to attend. The quint girls (bi-lingual) are not allowed to speak English.

Elwood Sanger White, 55, Of New York, Dies Here

Elwood Sanger White, 55, of New York, president of the United States Radiator Corp., died here yesterday in Emergency Hospital after a week's illness with internal complications.

Mr. White came here three weeks ago for his quarterly visit to the Washington branch of his company. He had been staying at the Washington Hotel until he became ill. His wife Luella came here from New York two weeks ago and a son, John Hazen White, 32, of Greenwich, Conn., arrived after his father entered Emergency. A daughter, Mrs. Hugh Rose, Jr., came from San Francisco, just before her father's death.

Mr. White also was president of the Pacific Steel Boiler Corp., of Detroit and Taco Heaters, Inc., of Stamford, Conn.

Born in Joliet, Ill., he was the son of John Hazen White, Episcopal Bishop of Northern Indiana. After his graduation from Purdue University he joined American Radiator, working in Chicago, Boston and New York.

Mr. White's body was sent to New York last night. Arrangements for his burial in Stamford, Conn., have not yet been completed.

Holtz-Arms to Begin Commencement Saturday

Three days of commencement activities will open at Holtz-Arms School Saturday.

First event will be an open house at 4 p.m. featuring an exhibit of school work at 2138 Bancroft place N.W. This will be followed at 5 p.m. with an exhibit of the work of the intermediate classes, high school and junior college pupils at 2125 S Street N.W.

Class day exercises, including presentation of prizes, will be held at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the S street building. All prizes this year will be in the form of defense stamps. A tree planting ceremony by the seniors in the garden is to be followed by a supper given by Mrs. Jessie Moon Holtz for parents of the graduates.

Diplomas will be presented at 4:30 p.m. Monday in a patriotic tone with the girls carrying red, white and blue bouquets and the diplomas tied in ribbon of patriotic colors. Mrs. Holtz will give her traditional biographical sketch of each of the more than 50 graduates as she presents the diplomas.

A reception is set for 6:30 p.m. and the senior banquet at 10:30 p.m. Mary Holt Whittle is toast-mistress.

Toll for all of 1941..... 95

Five persons, including two pedestrians, were injured last night and early today in traffic accidents in the city. Most seriously injured was one of the pedestrians, Miss Edith Austin, 35, 216 Eleventh street S.W., who received a fractured skull.

Miss Austin, accompanied by Miss Barbara Diviney, 28, of Jefferson Gardens Apartments in Alexandria, was crossing the intersection at Twelfth and C streets S.W. when struck by an automobile last night. The two were taken to Emergency Hospital. Miss Diviney was treated for shock and multiple abrasions of the body and head and Miss Austin for fracture of skull and shock.

Police arrested William L. Lemons, colored, 37, of 444 Q street N.W., as the driver of the car and charged him with failing to give right of way to pedestrians.

A truck driver and his helper were injured slightly early today when their trailer truck jackknifed and turned over in avoiding a collision with an automobile at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue N.W. A large quantity of soft drinks carried by the truck spilled over the street.

The driver, James V. Odom, 21, of Lakeland, Fla., was treated for bruises and lacerations at Sibley Hospital. His helper, Curtis Collins, 26, of Lyons, Ga., was treated at Providence.

Edward R. Dixon, 23, of 2030 Perry street N.E. was treated for spinal injuries at Emergency Hospital last night when his cab was struck by another cab from the rear at Seventh and E streets N.E. Police made no arrests.

Ex-Chief of D. C. Air Station Awarded Navy Cross

Capt. George D. Murray, the first commanding officer of the Anacostia Naval Air Station during the World War, has been awarded the Navy Cross "for his handling of a ship during a heavy bombing attack in enemy waters," the Associated Press reported today from Honolulu.

The Navy Department gave Capt. Murray's address as 3402 Q street N.W., but residents said Mrs. Murray is not living there at present.

Capt. Murray was one of nine heroes decorated by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, at ceremonies aboard a warship in Pearl Harbor, the Associated Press said.

An aviation specialist in the Navy, Capt. Murray has been on frequent assignments with the Bureau of Aeronautics here. Since 1941 he has "had a command at sea," the Navy said.

He commanded the first aviation squadron to be attached to the Asiatic Fleet in 1924 and 1925, was a technical adviser at the London and Geneva naval armament conferences in 1930 and in recent years had command of the aircraft tender Langley, which was sunk off Java February 27.

Fellow Employes Praise John S. Shaw, Retiring

John S. Shaw, 70, of 701 Ninth street N.E., senior administrative assistant in the Office of Education, Federal Security Agency, today received gifts from and was eulogized by fellow associates at a testimonial luncheon in honor of his 48 years' Federal Government service. He retires May 31.

Fellow employes gave him a wardrobe suitcase and portable radio at ceremonies presided over by Dr. J. C. Wright, assistant United States commissioner for vocational education, in the cafeteria of the new Interior Department Building.

Mr. Shaw, native of Cumberland, Md., began his Government services December 8, 1894, in the Government Printing Office. During the Spanish-American War he held the rank of corporal. He transferred to the Office of Education 24 years ago, becoming secretary and chief clerk of the Federal Board of Vocational Education in 1929.

Associates praised Mr. Shaw's loyal services and personal traits in presenting tokens of their esteem.

C. I. O. Chiefs to Get Bid For British Labor Ties

By the Associated Press. A proposal that the American labor movement join the Anglo-Soviet co-operative relationship in the interest of the war effort will be laid before the C. I. O. Executive Board next week.

Philip Murray, C. I. O. president, talked with Sir Walter Citrine, secretary of the British Trades Union Congress, who submitted a similar proposal last week to the A. F. L. Executive Council. There was considerable speculation at that time whether the C. I. O. would be invited to join. The A. F. L. It was understood, voted a qualified acceptance which has been transmitted to labor leaders in Britain.

The C. I. O. board meeting starts on Wednesday.

D. A. R. Conference Rooms Turned Over To Red Cross for Classes

Two large conference rooms in headquarters of the Daughters of the American Revolution were turned over to the American Red Cross today for use as classrooms for orientation and military and naval welfare training conducted by the Red Cross.

When the Red Cross was expanding its activities last summer the D. A. R. turned over the large corridors of Constitution Hall to office workers who used them until the Red Cross was able to secure other quarters.

The two rooms will accommodate about 100 workers each, Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general, announced.

Countess Eleanor Palffy, vice chairman of the District Red Cross Nurses' Aide Corps, addressed a meeting of the B'nai B'rith Sisterhood last night at Fourteenth and Emerson streets N.W. Harry Goshkowitz, former N. B. C. studio artist, gave violin selections.

An air raid mass meeting of citizens in Zone 5 of the Columbia Heights defense area will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in All Souls Church, Fifteenth and Harvard streets N.W. Simon Shepard, acting warden, announced today.

Harry C. Grove, chairman of the Civilian Defense Committee for the Connecticut avenue area, has appointed to his committee M. F. Callan of Liberty National Bank; Abner Y. Leach of the United States Ordnance Co.; Fenton F. Leth of People's Life Insurance Co., and Mrs. Jay La Porte of 2915 Connecticut avenue N.W.

Mrs. May Howard Bloedorn of the Burlington Hotel was one of 28 women graduated last Monday at Gallinger Hospital from an advanced first aid course. The course is in preparation for admittance to the Gray Lady Corps of the American Red Cross.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross has announced organization of a home nursing class to be held in the Woodridge School, Carlton street and Central avenue N.E. Instruction courses will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. The 24-hour course will be conducted by Miss Ethel MacKenzie.

The District Red Cross also announced it is seeking 100 volunteer women workers to learn wool grading and sorting. The wool clip center is located at 714 Thirteenth street N.W. Chapter officials announced local merchants have given full co-operation to the program and the wool center now "must speed the grading to get the wool back into use." Funds raised by the sale of reclaimed wool will be used for Red Cross war service.

A warden doing double duty is Joseph J. Idler, deputy warden of the Brookland-Dahlgren Terrace area, who is also a warden at the Supreme Court building. Mr. Idler, who is an examiner at the court, has lived in the Brookland section for the past 10 years and has been deputy warden for two months.

To Release Flow of LIVER BILE

Normally about a quart of digestion-aiding bile should be discharged into the intestine every 24 hours. A slowing-down may cause sick headaches, bowing, sluggishness and so-called bilious indigestion. It is half-sick, sour feeling.

If you suffer from such symptoms because you need more bile released from the gall-bladder, try world-famous Kruschen Salts. Get a bottle tonight—start right in tomorrow morning. Take as much as will lie on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast, or in your morning cup of tea or coffee, and keep up for 30 days. You'll note a morning-up and note the results for yourself. You can get Kruschen's famous Kruschen formula made in the U. S. A. at any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.

CONSTIPATION SUPPRESSANT: Note: At occasional intervals use Kruschen to relieve common constipation. Do not believe there is nothing better than quick-acting Kruschen in larger doses if it according to directions on the bottle.

Bomber Crew, Lost in Wilds of New Guinea For Record 45 Days, Safe in Australia

By TOM YARBROUGH, Associated Press War Correspondent.
AN ALLIED OPERATIONAL BASE, Australia, May 28.—Tattered and shaggy, but grinning widely, an American bomber crew has returned to this base after being forced down in the swampy wilds of New Guinea and lost from headquarters for a record span of 45 days.

It was a day of glad homecoming all around, for with them came an American fighter pilot who had been out 26 days.

Several bomber crews have made their way back to base after being lost many days among the native tribes, but this outfit, headed by Pilot Louis W. Ford, Jr., 22, of Los Angeles, set the record of nearly seven weeks in the bush.

The entire crew suffered from malaria and tropical ulcers, but they found friends along the way and generally were in good shape when they pulled in.

The other members of the crew are Lt. John H. Disbro, 21, DeLancey, Ohio; Lt. Edward S. Ashley, San Antonio, Tex.; and Priv. J. E. Ochs, Lancaster, Pa.; J. A. Roberts, Kingston, Pa.; Robert Long, Centerburg, Ohio, and W. F. Loranger, Saginaw, Mich.

Today these boys were reveling in the pleasures of cleanly-cooked food, American cigarettes and conversation with people they can understand.

Crash-Landed on Beach.
The hero of the second homecoming is Fighter Pilot Arthur E. Andres, 23, of Newton, Mass. Out on his first combat mission over Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea ports, he was hit by Japanese Zero fighters, but he kept scrapping so long that he ran out of gasoline some distance from Lae and a greater distance from his home base.

He crash-landed on a beach 30 feet wide, pitted his stamina and ingenuity against hardships galore for nearly a month and arrived here to find this compensation: Fifteen letters and two pictures from his wife, and promotion to the rank of first lieutenant.

When I met him at his camp he said: "This may be where all the bombs are falling, but it's like heaven to me. I'm just waiting to get up in the air. I want to learn to fly again. They tell me I'm going up tomorrow."

The experiences of Pilot Ford's bomber crew were like something out of a movie. Here is his story: "We got what we went after at Rabaul, but anti-aircraft fire crippled us and we cleared out on only one engine. We lost gasoline and our hydraulic system was knocked out, but by coaxing the plane and urging her along—sometimes less than 100 feet above water—we got her over land which we figured wasn't occupied by the Japanese.

Skidded 100 Yards.
"We came down a few miles inland on a marsh. The only clear spot we could find had a tree in the middle. The field was covered with cane grass, which is pretty good for skidding.

"We hit going more than 100 miles an hour, skidded about a hundred yards and wrapped a wing around the tree.

"Before we started down I said, 'Here we go, boys, and good luck. All set.' And down we came. Nobody was hurt."

They got out and started sloshing around in the swamp water, but they gave up trying to make the coast until the next day.

An Allied plane tried to drop food to them, but it missed so widely they couldn't get it, and they had only the limited rations carried from their own plane.

'Divine' Eskimo Dies In Ontario Prison

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, May 28.—Charlie Ouy-crack, convicted slayer who had been accepted as a divine being by his fellow Eskimos of the Belcher Islands in Hudson Bay, died Tuesday in a prison tent at Moose Factory, Ontario.

His death recalled the fantastic story unfolded before a jury of white men who convicted him and Peter Sala, another "divinity," for counseling the killing of three other Eskimos as part of a strange ritual known only to them. They were sentenced to two years each for manslaughter.

Three others were involved in the trials on the islands last summer, including a woman who was declared insane for having driven four children and two women, all nude, into a blizzard to their deaths.

"On the eighth day a Church of England missionary and an Australian government man came by and picked us up. On the way to the next village a Japanese bomber spotted us and dropped 15 bombs but failed to hit us."

The crew spent three weeks in that village waiting for help to take them another step along the road back, existing on a diet mostly of fruits and rice.

Killed Two Python.
For diversion they wore out a deck of playing cards supplied by the missionary, and then went out and shot two 15-foot pythons, one of which had a whole cast in its stomach.

There were only four mosquito bars, so they took turns using them. The others used tents made from parachutes which kept the mosquitoes out but didn't let in enough air.

A boat came along and they had to spend two weeks in a second village before coming here.

Latin Officers to Join In Army Tank Maneuvers
By the Associated Press.
FORT BENNING, Ga., May 28.—Latin American Army officers on an inspection mission here plan to participate today in a simulated attack by an armor division of the United States Army.

Officers representing 17 of this Nation's good neighbors to the south have cut social affairs to a minimum and plans call for actual riding in tanks and firing weapons themselves. Some may even make practice parachute jumps from a tower.

The delegation flew to Benning from Jacksonville after inspecting the naval air base there and witnessing a thunderous cloud of war-planes in the air. The group will leave here Saturday for Washington.

Brig. Gen. Leven C. Allen, commanding the Infantry School; Col. Walter S. Fulton, post commander, and Maj. Gen. Willis Crittendonberger were on hand to greet the visitors yesterday.

Idaho State Employees To Work in Beet Fields
By the Associated Press.
BOISE, Idaho, May 28.—Idaho State employees—white-collar workers, highway maintenance crews and any others who will volunteer—will work in the State's 74,000 acres of beet fields next week to avert a threatened crop loss.

Gov. Chase A. Clark has granted temporary vacations to all State employees who will volunteer for the work from Monday, June 1, through Friday.

He even suggested he might take part himself.

In addition, W. P. A. projects will be suspended in the beet-growing areas.

Industry 'Grid Team' Runs Plane Engines Off Assembly Lines

United Aircraft Gives Manufacturing Secrets To 10 Other Corporations

By the Associated Press. HARTFORD, Conn., May 28.—A modern industrial "football team" of 10 licensed manufacturers and the United Aircraft Corp. is running thousands of airplane engines off assembly lines each month for the United Nations' war machine. United Aircraft not only has turned over its manufacturing secrets to firms which in peacetime would be its strongest competitors but has slashed its prices to a point where in two years more than $26,000,000 has been saved by the Government, President Eugene E. Wilson disclosed today.

He told correspondents that because of his company's "complete co-operation" with Government and private industry "there has never been an airplane held up because there was no engine to go in it."

New Non-Profit Plant. He disclosed that a new $85,000,000 engine plant to be built in Kansas City from Government funds "will be operated without profit to us."

"Our company and our 10 licensed manufacturers make a good football team for turning out all the engines that any air force needs," he said. "We are doing it on schedule and in ever-increasing numbers."

United Aircraft makes these types of aviation products: Pratt & Whitney engines which the company designed and put into mass production early in 1940; Vought-Sikorsky airplanes for the Navy, and Hamilton standard propellers.

"Teamed with United Aircraft in the manufacture of one or more of their products are Ford, Buick, Chevrolet, Nash-Kelvinator, Frigidaire, Remington-Rand, Goodyear, Brewster Airplanes, Continental Airplanes and Jacobs Aircraft. Of these 10, six are making Pratt & Whitney engines on United Aircraft specifications, for which they pay the parent company the nominal license fee of $1 per manufactured engine.

Profits Controlled. Mr. Wilson explained that when his company found itself suddenly shifted from producing several hundred engines a month to thousands, profits rose to "astronomical figures in the way we use such figures now in wartime." In conjunction with the chairman of the board, Frederick B. Rehtschler, it was decided that during the war profits should be controlled, he said.

The company began raising its prices on engines in 1941 as the result that as production grew the expense to the purchaser, principally the United States Government, went down. Mr. Wilson said that from a top in 1940 of 7 per cent, United Aircraft's net profit fell to 5 per cent in 1941 and will be between 2 and 3 per cent this year.

Mass production of Pratt and Whitney engines has brought the company's output to more than 15 times its horsepower capacity and Mr. Wilson estimated that it is possible to increase another 50 per cent.

Nazi Transport Official Asks Leave for Health

By the Associated Press. BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 28.—Dr. Wilhelm Kleinmann, state secretary in the Reichsministerium of Transport, has asked Adolf Hitler to relieve him of his post "owing to reasons of ill health," and Dr. Ganzmueller has been appointed to replace him.

Richard Walther Darré, Reichsminister of Food and Agriculture, it was announced four days ago, had "taken a long leave of absence for reasons of health." His work was taken over by Herbert Backe, state secretary in the ministry.

45-65 Group to Get Job Questionnaires Early in June

Local Boards Winding Up Inventory of Younger Men Not Yet Inducted

District draft boards will begin early next month to send occupational questionnaires to the men who registered April 27, completing the District's inventory of manpower for war production, District Selective Service Director William E. Leahy announced today.

Occupational questionnaires, which will be used as a guide for the mobilization of workers for war industries, already have been sent to the men who registered in the third enrollment, February 16.

Local boards are now winding up a similar inventory of registrants of the first and second registrations who have not been inducted into the armed forces.

Workers From Deferred Group. By the first part of June, Mr. Leahy said, men between 45 and 65 will receive their questionnaires. Mr. Leahy pointed out that it is that the men beyond military age that the War Manpower Commission expects to obtain most of its male recruits on the bases of these questionnaires.

He added, however, that many war workers will come from the classes deferred for physical defects, as many men who are unfit for military service are well qualified for civilian activities.

He emphasized that these questionnaires are not to be confused with the regular selective service questionnaires on which classification for military service is based.

Sections Distributed. "It is especially important," he said, "that registrants in military age groups who may receive an occupational questionnaire before they receive the regular questionnaire keep this distinction carefully in mind. The two questionnaires are entirely separated in purpose. The occupational questionnaire is sent to the registrant of military age only because of the possibility that he may not be qualified for military service. He then, however, will be available for civilian war effort. He must fill out and return both questionnaires."

When the occupational questionnaires are returned to local boards, the director said, they are checked for completeness and accuracy, and then are separated into sections. One section is sent to the Bureau of the Census, another to the United States Employment Service, and the third, which duplicates the data of the other two, is retained by the local board.

Health Danger Point In Creating Army Passed, Doctors Told

Baltimore Professor Hails Progress in Fight On Infectious Disease

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, May 28.—The Army and Navy's wartime experience with infectious disease has been more favorable than was anticipated on the basis of the 1917-1918 record, Dr. Kenneth F. Maxcy of Baltimore, Md., asserted today.

Dr. Maxcy, professor of epidemiology at Johns Hopkins University, in an address before the 13th annual meeting of the Western branch of the American Public Health Association, said the "danger point" in the transfer of thousands of men from civilian to military life was over.

Danger Period Passed.
"With completion of organization and construction of camps, the most dangerous period has passed. No serious epidemic situation has yet appeared in an Army of 3,000,000 men and a Navy which is rapidly approaching 1,000,000."

Another great population shift, the migration of millions of persons into teeming, overcrowded war production or military establishment areas, also has posed problems for medicine.

"While there has been, and are, spots in the country which are suffering from unusual prevalence of certain infections," Dr. Maxcy said, "the striking fact is that the record so far is unexpectedly good in both military and civilian populations after a considerable period of turmoil. But only time can tell whether this is maintained."

Public Health "Divided."
He said such a record was the "dividend" on the last quarter century of intensive public health organization. He cited the "conquest of intestinal infections" by sanitation measures and artificial immunization against smallpox, typhoid and diphtheria as contributing steps.

Dr. Maxcy said it was not now possible to estimate results in death and disease of the convulsive population shifts in Europe and Asia because of the war.

"But from meager reports which

Strike of Merchants Closes Every Store in Arizona Town

By the Associated Press.
FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., May 28.—Not a retail establishment functioned in this Northern Arizona community of 7,000 inhabitants today, not even a restaurant to feed 2,000 workers at a Government war project who have no home cooking facilities.

A four-hour conference between the Merchants' Association, which ordered the stores closed until American Federation of Labor organizers dropped their attempts to organize the employees, and the union leaders failed to bring any concessions from either side last night.

The Flagstaff post of the American Legion called on Gov. Sidney P. Osborn to declare martial law to break the deadlock.

The Legion's resolution also asked that the Governor "take any action have filtered through the censored press," he added, "it can be inferred that diseases such as typhus and cholera have taken their toll of military and civilian populations," and the scourge can be ended only by "reconstruction of civilized communities."

Mrs. Shiber Released In Nazi Prisoner Swap

By the Associated Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 28.—Syracuse relatives were notified by the State Department yesterday that Mrs. Etta Kahn Shiber, widow of a New York newspaper editor, had been released from prison in Nazi-occupied France in the exchange of nationals between the United States and Germany.

Chester A. Kahn, brother of Mrs. Shiber, said he had received word that she had arrived in Lisbon last Wednesday and would return to the United States on the first available ship.

The death penalty had been sought for Mrs. Shiber when she was tried in March, 1941, on a charge of aiding British military fugitives to escape from German-occupied France. She was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

The State Department intervened in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain release of the 64-year-old former New York City school teacher. She necessary, with the objective that future union activities be curtailed in this community for the duration of the war, in order that the war effort be unhampered."

Garages and service stations opened for a short time yesterday, but closed again at 6 p.m. One food store, open briefly, soon locked up.

Three restaurants which had agreed to unionization of employees opened, but W. E. Stanfill, county health officer, ordered them closed on the ground they were not observing sanitary regulations. He said they would be allowed to reopen soon if standards of cleanliness were observed.

One small hamburger stand, last to close, did such a rushing business that cooks prepared food over a fire in the alley.

Lt. F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., Is Admitted to Bar

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 28.—Lt. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., U. S. N., became a member of the New York City bar yesterday in a ceremony conducted by Presiding Justice Francis Martin of the appellate division of the State Supreme Court. Lt. Roosevelt's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, was present.

Young Roosevelt passed his bar examination last March.

Nazis Claim Sinking Of 12 Merchantmen Recently by Subs

48,500 Tons of Shipping Declared Destroyed, 10 Other Ships Hit

(The following dispatch was sent from an enemy country, whose motives are likely to be propaganda. Axis claims should be credited only when confirmed by American or Allied sources.)

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts). May 28.—The German high command asserted today that recent U-boat operations in the North and Central Atlantic, the Caribbean, North American waters, in the Arctic and the Mediterranean had resulted in destruction of 12 merchant ships totaling 48,500 tons.

Moreover, 10 additional merchant ships were torpedoed, "some of which may be presumed to be lost," the communique said.

A submarine operating off the French Caribbean island of Martinique was credited with a torpedoing said to have torn the fore part off a United States destroyer. The destroyer was said, however, to have reached the nearest harbor.

(The American destroyer Blakeley was damaged by a submarine Monday in territorial waters of Martinique.)

North and Central Atlantic—

Three ships totaling 14,000 tons, sunk from "strongly escorted convoys"; three others torpedoed but not seen to sink.

Off the east coast of North America, in the Caribbean and off the Mississippi—Eight ships totaling 26,500 tons sunk, four others severely damaged.

Mediterranean—Hits on a "strongly escorted" tanker and "further hits on two British supply transport ships."

Arctic—An 8,000-ton steamer sunk out of a Murmansk convoy.

"WE CANNOT HAVE ALL WE WANT IF OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS ARE TO HAVE ALL THEY NEED!"

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, April 27th, 1942

For example, you must give up some of the coffee you enjoy—but you'll do it gladly when you realize why you are making the sacrifice

THESE days, you are being called upon to "do without" for the sake of Victory. One of these sacrifices concerns your enjoyment of coffee. The War Production Board has placed restrictions on the distribution of all coffees. This means that now there is 25% less coffee to go around, than a year ago.

To meet this emergency, A&P asks that you share with your neighbor—that you buy only one package of coffee at a time. Some customers may wish to "buy as usual", but if they were permitted to, they would be depriving a friend or a neighbor of the equal right to enjoy coffee.

In the American way, you will accept the restriction willingly. And you can still enjoy coffee by conserving it right in your home, by avoiding waste in every way. Make only as much as you know you and your family will drink at a serving—and not one-cup more. Perhaps you may even want to plan one meal without coffee each week. But whatever you do, be sure that every cup you brew is the best possible.

It's far better to have one cup of good coffee than two cups of poor coffee. Follow these simple rules for making good coffee—they're easy:

1. Buy coffee that is freshly roasted.
2. Buy coffee that is freshly ground and correctly ground for your coffeepot.
3. Be sure your coffeepot is absolutely clean.
4. Carefully measure both coffee and water—one heaping tablespoonful of coffee for each cup (1/2 pint) of water.
5. Serve immediately after brewing.

Follow these simple, practical rules. They'll help you make and enjoy perfect coffee every time. Don't waste coffee—give your full support to our government's conservation order. Enjoy coffee and share that pleasure with your neighbor.

Four Men Convicted In Civil Service File Removal Case

Miss Kay Is Only One Of Five Defendants Cleared by Jury

Four men were found guilty in District Court last night of having illegally removed more than 20,000 personnel records from the Civil Service Commission. A woman who was tried with them was acquitted.

The case had been on trial for nearly a month before Justice James W. Morris. The jury deliberated nearly nine hours before returning its verdict.

Those found guilty were Harlin W. Crandall, a former employe of the Civil Service Commission; Lawrence Haynes, a former associate in the Standard Business Service, and Werner Orbach and Walter A. C. Camp, partners in a health food business.

Miss Katherine Kay, a former office manager for the Standard Business Service, was found not guilty.

The Government charged that the personnel records removed from the Civil Service Commission were used by the Standard Business Service in compiling a mailing list of Government employes it offered for sale to commercial establishments.

Mrs. Kathryn Clark, 72, McKinley's Nurse, Dead

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 28.—Mrs. Kathryn Reka Simmons Clark, 72, who, friends said, was the nurse who attended President McKinley after he was fatally wounded by an assassin, died yesterday.

Mrs. Clark, a widow, was on the staff of the American Exposition Hospital in Buffalo when President McKinley was shot in the Temple of Music there September 6, 1901, by Leon Czolgosz, a German-Polish anarchist.

She remained in constant attendance, friends said, until President McKinley's death eight days later, on September 14.

Mrs. Clark, a native of New Haven, Conn., where she once taught school, was a former supervisor of nurses at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City.

38-122 Pct. Profits On Navy Contracts Charged at Hearing

Toland Tells House Group Of Pittsburgh Firm's Royalty Payments

By the Associated Press.

The House Naval Investigating Committee was told today that the Mine Safety Appliances Co. of Pittsburgh realized profits ranging from 38 to 122 per cent on cost in 1940 and 1941 on "a vast increase in business" with the United States Navy.

Edmund Toland, committee counsel, in opening presentation of his inquiry into the company's naval business, asserted that the "two largest contracts show tremendous gross profits. In addition, two instances of collusive bids on Navy contracts involving Mine Safety Appliances Co. will be demonstrated." Firm Issues Statement.

In a statement presented to the committee, George H. Deike, president of the company, declared that the net profits based upon its income tax returns, on both commercial and Government business after taxes, for the years 1937-41, inclusive, were: 1937, 7.44 per cent; 1938, 9.49 per cent; 1939, 7.86 per cent; 1940, 7.84, and 1941, 7.58 per cent.

Mr. Toland reported that the inquiry into the Pittsburgh company's financial affairs showed an increase in volume of business of 700 per cent from 1939 to 1941, and declared it was directly attributable to the defense program.

"A great portion of the business of mine safety is proprietary, large royalty payments being made on certain technical appliances," the committee counsel contended. "These royalty agreements frequently contain a discriminatory charge when made in higher royalty payments are made when the sales are made to the Government of the United States."

Mr. Deike said in his statement that provisions in the company's

Navy contract and laws on the statute books prevented it from disclosing details of the equipment manufactured or of the contracts themselves.

Disclosures "Unauthorized."

He said that, in order to protect itself, the company had applied to the "proper authorities" for advice as to whether it could make such disclosures, but had not yet received authorization. At the same time, he declared that "the company respectfully insists that it would be against the public interest and of aid to the enemy to make such disclosure."

He urged the committee "to consider the unfair and impossible position of the company in the light of the foregoing, if inquiry is to be made into the profits of the company. . . . If the company is expected to defend its profits, necessarily it must explain its costs and to explain the latter obviously requires an explanation of the details and processes of manufacture, which seems to be impossible in the light of the statutory and contract restrictions."

Get Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> for your Nerves

When the body craves these vital elements, a rich supply can put color in your cheeks and help you feel like a new person WITHOUT ALCOHOL OR HABIT-FORMING DRUGS.

When your system is low in iron and Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> many vital organs slow down—you often look pale, lose your appetite, get tired easily, sleep poorly, and feel nervous and played out. Iron helps make red blood, and red blood is vital for healthy muscles, healthy skin, healthy glands and healthy organs. Iron-poor blood may cause low vitality, heart palpitations, shortness of breath, swollen ankles and frequent periods of ill health.

You need Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> and if you don't have enough Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> you may get a painful neuritis, stomach upsets, constipation, weak appetite, mental depression, restless sleep.

In these conditions, take ENRICH, the thrilling new tonic that tastes like juice of wild berries and gives you more iron every day than 6 lbs. of spinach or 6 lbs. of raisins; more Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> daily than 1/4 lb. of baker's yeast. Your pen comes back with a bounce when you restore missing iron and Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> and you eat more, stop worrying, and sleep better. Right in this neighborhood, many men, women and children feel less and lead happier lives through the help of ENRICH. Don't wait. ENRICH costs only a few cents a day. Money refunded unless ENRICH improves your state of well-being.

Artist in Love and War Is Hero of Little's Film

'Warsaw Concerto' Is Poignant Tale Of Sensitive Musician Trapped In Ruins of Collapsing World

By JAY CARMODY.

The artist in love and at war as a fighter pilot—at one and the same time—is quite a dramatic figure. A man of extreme sensitivity, the artist is a fellow to feel both experiences to, the very depth. It is a quality that makes him arresting not merely to writers of screen fiction but to the patrons of screen fiction with the consequence that his pictures start with an advantage over other and run-of-the-mill product. Latest manifestation of the artist in this beguiling form is to be found in "Warsaw Concerto" at the Little, a picture that definitely is yours if it is poignance you are in the mood for; poignance that is the more so for being set against a background of violence and destruction. Playing the hero role, the part of a Pole who has left the concert piano bench to become a fighter, pilot is Anton Walbrook, a fellow who knows all the tricks of being the tormented idealist in a sphere of swirling death.

"Warsaw Concerto," which started life under the sensational misnomer, "Suicide Squadron," is not a startlingly original tale. Terence Young who wrote it most fresh in the central figures in one of the grander ruins of Warsaw, the hero at the piano playing a dirge for freedom, the heroine wandering in to improve him for not being in the air at a time like that. It makes an interesting lovers meeting scene, from which point the story goes on to deal with the conflict between love and duty in times like these.

The heroine, symbolic of the woman in love and unable to comprehend why an artist should die when he has so much of beauty to give the world, is a doughty fighter in the conflict. For a while, she prevails upon her husband to make a concert tour of America to raise funds for his stricken country. Their marriage and the concert tour, however, are constantly haunted by the ghost of the warrior in him, an ironic ghost which constantly suggests an unflattering comparison between a piano and an airplane at a moment when the latter is so much more vital to the preservation of man's right to music.

Having posed this psychological conflict, Republic pictures which usually deals with the material of straight and somewhat primitive action, is content to let it develop in the necessarily slow way of such struggles.

The interim could have been filled with more inspired situation and a bit brighter dialogue, but the relative absence of both finds a good substitute in the form of some excellent performed piano music. Chopin's polonaise, thematically perfect for the picture of Warsaw's fall and its people's determination to escape falling with it, is the heavily accented item. Whoever plays it gives it a highly effective interpretation with Walbrook doing an excellent job of mimicking the actual performer in front of the camera.

The picture definitely is Walbrook's from an acting standpoint. He cuts a properly dashing figure as the intrepid aviator-lover, a suitably tormented one as the artist whose heart is pulled so many ways by a world he can only vaguely comprehend no matter how deeply he may feel its inexplicable chaos.

Miss Gray as the spoiled heiress bride is a pretty blond young thing who leaves something to be desired in her handling of the emotions of a young woman trapped in a terrific emotional situation. Contributing little to the impressiveness of her performance is the fact that she not only is up against the suave skill of Walbrook but also that of Derrick De Marney, to whom the role of a gallant, impetuous, Irish sort of romancer is virtually first nature.

Republic has given "Warsaw Concerto" a visual excellence that is entirely worthy of its theme and its treatment.

HOOPER AND FRIEND—Or, to be more specific, Pat O'Brien and George Raft, who figure prominently in "Broadway," which opens at Keith's today. It is virtually a perfect biography of Raft, 'tis said, he, like its hero, being a fellow who danced to fame the hard way.

Blackfriars Presents 'Out of Frying Pan'

Francis Swann's madcap comedy concerning a group of fun-loving, free-living youngsters bent on making Broadway or going crazy in the attempt last night, received its second of three successive evening performances by Blackfriars' Guild in the St. Paul's auditorium. Mr. Swann's whirling dervish in three acts, as staged by Whit Vernon and acted by the young cast, came off as just that.

The general situation, in case any one doesn't remember, is the one whereby seven would-be thespians of mixed company find themselves living together in a rooming house, trying to whip into shape an original murder-farce their ringleader playwright wants to feed to an angel complete with cast. At the same time, they are busy adjusting themselves to each other, warding off the landlady and angry parents as well as making their frequently slap-happy efforts to lure a rich producer, living downstairs, upstairs to witness a dress rehearsal. It was this rehearsal scene, with its order-conscious policemen jabbering loudly and irreconcilable "corps" interrupting the proceedings at every turn, to which the guildsters gave their frolicsome best.

J. Loren Freund, in one of the liveliest roles of "Out of the Frying Pan," did a good job with the playwright, William Draper, the rich producer who has more than half an eye on his personal progress as an amateur chef, made his role credible. Others contributing in noteworthy fashion were Alse Bergmann, Al Loritsch, Albert Sigafosse, Marguerite Ryan, Dorotha Di Girolamo, Floria Regan, Helen Johnson and William Lazarus.

Conrad Veidt a Pretender, He's Really a Gentle Soul

But Being a Villain Pays so Well His New Contract Bans Roles That Would Make Him a Hero

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN. HOLLYWOOD.

An extremely tall, thin, quiet-speaking gentleman with great dark eyes looking out of a gaunt white face occupies one of the most unique acting niches in Hollywood.

He's the badman everybody likes. Boarding school girls write him lyric fan letters. Others ask him for "an autographed photograph of you looking handsome, and not mean." Mothers don't hesitate to send their 5-year-olds up to him with auto-graph books.

This "matinee-idol" type of villain is Conrad Veidt, who plays such deep-eyed meemies as the general in "Escape," the crazed killer in "A Woman's Face," and the ruthless saboteur in "Nazi Agent." Last week Veidt was signed by M-G-M studio to a five-year-term contract and there's a clause in the pact—insisted upon by Veidt—that he must never be cast in any role wherein he might be mistaken for a hero!

"I figured nothing so sweet could happen in an operating room. I knew immediately I must be an actor."

Veidt says he has always been attracted to the macabre theatrical. He could never play straight leading roles, he thought, because he just wasn't the type. One of his early screen roles in Europe was that of an East Indian magician who did such everyday stunts as the Indian rope trick, going through doors without bothering to open them, and climbing up the side of walls. Besides the famous "Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," he has been Ivan the Terrible, a sleep walker and a man who lost his shadow.

The world never bothers Veidt, although he actually prefers to play a believable character. He thinks, however, that his strange roles were excellent preparation.

"An actor is no good unless there's a taint of 'ham' about him," he contends. "Underplaying is fine once you know how to overplay. I would much rather be a beginner do too much before the camera than not enough. It shows he has a feeling for acting and expressing emotion."

It was the film, "Three Wax Works," of foreign make, that first brought him to America. John Barrymore saw him as Ivan the Terrible and cabled him to come to America. He came and played several roles, among them a heavy in "The Man Who Laughs."

Ironically, he returned to Europe where he talks came in English and the language was too great a handicap and immediately played a film—"Congress Dances"—in English! Having distinguished himself in English pictures, he returned to America about two years ago.

Always affable, always courteous, much rather in private life. Greatest proof of this, perhaps, is his nickname. Everybody who knows him well calls this sinister, menacing screen character "Connie." You can't be a meanie with a monicker like that!

Roger Clark has turned down a lucrative national magazine bid to tell how it feels to make love to lovely ladies. The young native of Hartford, Conn., former Broadway leading man, has played 27 torrid kissing scenes in his first year in films with such likable people as Marlene Dietrich, Barbara Stanwyck and Lupe Velez. But, says he, "I'm not one to turn that kind of pleasure to profit. I've been a very lucky guy, and I'm satisfied."

Barker Will Leave Morris Plan Bank For Army Post

Institution's President Commissioned Captain In Air Service By EDWARD C. STONE. Willard Barker, president of the Morris Plan Bank of Washington, has been granted leave from the bank and will enter the Army Air Service. It was learned today.

He has been commissioned captain and will be stationed at Air Command Headquarters in Washington for the present, at least. He is to return to the service immediately.

Mr. Barker has been president of the Morris Plan Bank of Washington for the past seven years, having succeeded Bertram Chesterman, who retired from banking on account of ill health. Mr. Barker has been with the Morris Plan system for 20 years.

Harrell to Take Place. Linwood P. Harrell, one of the vice presidents of the Morris Plan Bank of Virginia, has been appointed executive vice president of the Washington bank and will take Mr. Barker's place for the duration of the war.

For 10 years he has been in charge of the Morris Plan Bank's office at Petersburg, Va., formerly with the North Carolina State banking department and obtained his first financial training in Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. Barker is the second bank president in this territory to enter the service. B. J. Darnelle, head of the Suburban National Bank at Silver Spring, having taken similar action three weeks ago.

Transit Declares Dividend. Directors of the Capital Transit Co. today declared a dividend of 30 cents per share, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 13.

This is the same rate as was paid three months ago and amounts to $72,000 on the 240,000 share of capital stock. Last year the company paid 25 cents a share quarterly, with an extra 50 cents per share at the end of each year, making a return of $1.25.

Dividend Is Deferred By Berghoff Brewing

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 28.—Berghoff Brewing Corp., Fort Wayne, Ind., announced yesterday directors took no action at their regular meeting on dividend payment due to uncertainty as to the largest year.

The company has been paying 25 cents a share regularly each quarter, the most recent being distributed March 16.

Attendance at the annual dinner smashed all previous records, largely because the affair was held in Washington. It was said to be the most enjoyable yet held.

Loan Association in League. The Committee of Columbia Building and Loan League has elected to membership the Home Loan & Savings Association, 2381 Rhode Island avenue N.E., it was announced today.

This association was organized in 1932 and is headed by Robert W. Werth, president of the war. Under Treasury supervision. It is the 25th association to be admitted to the building and loan league.

Martin A. Cook, general chairman of the fourth annual outing of the league, reported Tuesday that this affair will be the largest yet held. More than 150 building and loan officials and guests will journey to the Washington Golf and Country Club.

The sale of War savings bonds by the various associations has now passed the $200,000 mark. Secretary S. Wilson camp reported at the monthly meeting.

Realizing in Steels And Motors Stops Stock Advance

Rise in Industrial Leaders Halted Soon After Opening By VICTOR EUBANK. Associated Press, May 28.—Iron-ore, steel and motor stocks advanced as profits were cashed on Wednesday's climbing steels and motors.

It looked at the start as though the list might duplicate the recovery jaunt of the previous session, but offerings in leading industrial groups soon had a most initial advance.

While plus signs were fairly well distributed in the final hour losers were sufficiently numerous to cloud the direction.

Dealings dwindled after the opening and the steady rise for the full stretch were around $50,000 share. Volume was aided by one 10,000-share block of Coby International, unchanged at 1/4.

The approach of a lengthy week end—principal markets will recess Saturday for Memorial Day—caused lightening of commitments here and there, brokers said. Although bullish sentiment still was in evidence regarding prospects for a big air smash at Hitler, indecisive fighting on the fronts of Russia, China and China helped slacken bidding.

Stocks in the resistant class included Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, United States Rubber, preferred, Southern Railway, Phillips-Morris, Johns-Manville and United States Gypsum.

Backward inclinations were exhibited most of the time by United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Western Union, Du Pont, American Can, Anaconda, United Carbide and Caterpillar Tractor.

North American Co. To Redeem Rest of 1959 Debentures

Issue to Be Retired at 103 1/4 and Accrued Interest on June 27 By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—The North American Co. announced today it would redeem the rest of its 100,000 debentures, due 1959, in the amount of $1,813,000, at 103 1/4 and accrued interest.

With the retirement the company said it will have reduced its debenture indebtedness by $247,663,000 since April 15 last year to $44,663,000 from $70,000,000.

The company said its debenture retirement program had been effected in part with earnings retained through payment of quarterly dividends on common stock with shares of companies in which North American had investments.

Chicago Grain By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 28.—Grain prices tumbled lower today as a result of soybeans leading reaction that eliminated much of yesterday's late advance.

Losses amounted to about a cent a bushel in most cases at the extreme. Receipt of the first truck load of corn wheat, reported at Chicago, 10,000 bushels, contained corn that the harvest movement is at hand, which accounted for some of the selling, and there was some hedging although terminal market receipts remained small.

Lend-Lease Buying May Force Domestic Pork Rationing

Livestock Experts See Possibility of Action Before End of 1942

By WILLIAM FERRIS, Associated Press Market Writer.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Expansion of the Government's pork-buying program, under which purchases this year already have doubled those of 1941, caused livestock men to wonder today if some form of domestic rationing wouldn't be necessary before the end of the year.

The Government's buying program operates primarily for lend-lease purposes—the pork is exported to the United Nations. It is considered essential in maintaining their morale and fighting effectiveness.

Livestock men do not believe the public fully comprehends the extent of lend-lease buying. The following table compares purchases in 1942 up to May 23 with those from March, 1941, when lend-lease started, through December, 1941.

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Quantity. Rows include Cured pork, Canned pork, Frozen pork, Live hams, Live turkeys, Live chickens, Live ducks, Live geese, Live guinea fow, Live geese, Live turkeys, Live chickens, Live ducks, Live geese.

This, however, is only a start. The Agricultural Marketing Administration, which does the purchasing, is scheduled to take 40 per cent of all pork produced during the next several months, at least. This is a larger percentage than the agency has bought so far in 1942.

Such a program inevitably leads to speculation on pork-rationing—a subject nobody wants to mention officially but which nevertheless is a major conversational topic in trade centers. Many in the trade believe "self-rationing" is assured.

Two Utilities File Plan For Exchange of Stock

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—The Associated Electric Co. and the New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey Utilities Co. filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission yesterday a plan for an exchange of stock involving preferred and common shares of the common stock of the Associated Electric Co. and the bonds of the Metropolitan Edison Corp.

N. Y. P. N. J. proposed to exchange its holdings of 1,572 shares of Keystone $2.80 cumulative preferred stock, no par value, and the entire issue of 115,000 Keystone $1 par value common stocks with the Associated Electric for $1,832,500 of 6 per cent secured consolidated refunding bonds, $73,1961, of Metropolitan Edison.

As a part of the transaction, Associated Electric proposed to deliver the bonds to the Pennsylvania company for insurance on lives and granting annuities as trustees under an indenture between N. Y. P. N. J. and the Pennsylvania company. N. Y. P. N. J. will obtain the release of 1,408 shares of the Keystone preferred stock and the entire common stock, both of which now are held by the trustee.

Associated Electric and N. Y. P. N. J. are subsidiaries of the Associated Gas & Electric Corp. system.

The S. E. C. set June 11 for a hearing on the transaction.

Drop in Gasoline Demand For June Is Indicated

By the Associated Press. The total demand for gasoline in June was estimated by the Bureau of Mines today at $2,600,000 barrels, 7,022,000 barrels less than the actual demand in June, 1941.

"This decrease," the bureau said, "reflects both the restricted use of motor vehicles in order to conserve tires and the severe rationing of gasoline that became effective in the east coast area during May."

The agency estimated the daily average supply of domestic crude oil to meet the market demand in June at 3,580,000 barrels, 149,000 barrels below the demand estimated for May and 367,300 barrels less than the actual demand last June.

Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes already has recommended a daily production of 3,536,000 barrels of petroleum liquids in June.

Wholesale Food Index Off Slightly in Week

Special Dispatch to The Star. NEW YORK, May 28.—Trends in wholesale food markets this week were again mixed and the wholesale food price index, compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., fell 1 cent from the 16-year peak recorded in the previous week to $3.88 for the period ended May 26.

This represented a rise, however, of 25.6 per cent over a year ago, when it stood at $2.93. Higher quotations were listed for corn, barley, eggs, potatoes, hogs and lambs, while declines were shown for wheat, rye, oats, lard, butter, peas and sheep.

Brillo Manufacturing Reduces Dividend to 20 Cents a Share

Returns to Conservative Rate as Result of Uncertainties

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—Directors of Brillo Manufacturing Co., Inc., announced today a dividend of 20 cents a share on the common stock, payable July 1 to holders of record June 15.

Brillo paid 30 cents a share January 17 and in the latter part of 1941 paid 25 cents and an extra of 30 cents, although in previous years it had paid 20 cents. The regular quarterly preferred dividend of 50 cents was declared also, payable on the same date.

Commenting on the reduction, Milton B. Loeb, president, said dividends, "despite favorable earnings in the first quarter, in view of uncertainties had decided it advisable to return to the more usual and conservative dividend" on the common stock.

C. N. O. & T. Railway. Directors of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Co. declared a dividend of $4 a share on the common stock, payable June 2 to stock of record June 8.

Harrisburg Steel. Harrisburg Steel Corp. directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents a share on common stock, payable June 28 to holders of record June 12, compared with 40 cents a share paid on March 26.

Santa Fe Railway. Directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co. voted a dividend of $2.50 on the company's preferred stock of record June 26. The dividend, payable August 1, is for the year ending June 30.

Abbott Laboratories. Directors of Abbott Laboratories, pharmaceutical manufacturer, declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 40 cents a share on the common stock.

Snider Packing Corp. An announcing declaration of the regular 25-cent quarterly dividend on common stock, payable June 15 to stockholders of record June 11.

Midvale Co. The Midvale Co. declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the capital stock payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 13.

Sharp Decrease in Tin Plate Output Due

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, May 28.—Reduction in tin allocations will cause a sharp drop in tin plate production during the second half of this year, Daily Metal Trade reported today.

"Thus far, output of plate has been running about 70 per cent of last year's figure," the trade publication continued. "A good first quarter has been followed by reduced output during the second quarter, and sharp curtailment is expected after July 1."

"Tin has been doing out at a fairly good pace during the first half because it is during that period the bulk of plate for the domestic crop is produced. Stocks on hand now are heavy, both in mill warehouses and in the hands of canmakers and packers. From now on, output will be confined to the needs of late packs plus domestic demand. During the fourth quarter production is expected to be sustained almost entirely by export tonnage."

U.S. Bonds to Supplement Cars as Collateral For Southern

Railway and Holders Agree After W. P. B. Equipment Seizure

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—The Southern Railway and a group of banks and insurance companies, it was disclosed today, have reached an agreement to substitute Government bonds as collateral for a part of an equipment trust certificate issue sold last June which was subsequently upset by the War Production Board's seizure of 950 freight cars ordered by the railway.

The original issue consisted of $112,500,000 of 2 per cent certificates sold to pay for 4,000 freight cars and other equipment. The transaction proceeded normally until the War Production Board declared all rolling stock under construction subject to seizure and conversion to any channel it might designate.

The Southern was involved in the order to the extent of 950 cars valued at $2,919,000. These it had agreed to pledge as part of the collateral but was unable to do so because the cars were withheld by the W. P. B. order.

Conferees with the bankers resulted in an agreement to use the funds earmarked to pay for the cars to buy $2,546,000 of 2 per cent Government bonds to be used as collateral in place of the freight cars.

Arkansas Group Plans Appeal on Oil Quota

By the Associated Press. EL DORADO, Ark., May 28.—The Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission yesterday announced testimony to support an appeal to Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes for an increase in the State's recommended daily allowable production.

The office this week recommended the State produce 75,300 barrels daily next month, but Commission Chairman O. C. Bailey announced that a market for 85,453 barrels already had been assured. He said an effort would be made to convince the Government the great demand for Arkansas crude merited an upward revision of the allowable.

Oil company representatives stressed the State's advantageous position in the transportation picture and the need for increased production to offset dwindling supplies from other sections.

Jim Nowland, Barnsdall representative, said production in the Illinois and Mississippi fields was declining.

Government Takes Control Over Butyl Alcohol

By the Associated Press. The Government took control over the Nation's supplies of butyl alcohol today and announced that all grades would be allocated to purchasers beginning July 1.

Such alcohol is important in the manufacture of explosives, plastics, paint, protective coatings and brake fluid.

Purchasers must apply to the War Production Board for allocations, but W. P. B. said deliveries could be made within allocation procedure to persons using less than 54 gallons a month—provided the total of such deliveries does not exceed 2 per cent of a producer's monthly output.

Socony-Vacuum Net Only Half Year Ago During April

Five Months' Earnings Around $15,000,000 Before Taxes

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—John A. Brown, president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting today he estimated earnings in the first five months of 1941 at about $15,000,000 before taxes, compared with $13,200,000 before taxes in the same months last year.

Comparison of net earnings after taxes cannot be estimated, Brown said, until the new tax bill is passed.

Brown said the company's domestic earnings before taxes in April were approximately half of what they were in that month last year and only about half what they were in March due to excessive increases in the cost of moving products to the Eastern States.

"The movement of products East at high cost must go on and must be increased, if possible," Brown said, "but surely no one will disagree with our opinion that this service cannot be carried on at such heavy loss by industry."

Certain-Teed Products. Certain-Teed Products Corp. reported for the March quarter net profit of $282,130, equal to $3.86 a share on the 6 per cent preferred stock, on which there are dividend arrears. This compared with $132,166, or $1.81 a preferred share in the like quarter of 1941.

Greyhound Corp. The Greyhound Corp. and subsidiary motor transportation company reported consolidated net income of $517,758 or 28 cents a common share in the three months ended March 31 against consolidated net income of $502,148 or 17 cents a common share in the like 1941 period.

Glidden Co. The Glidden Co., manufacturers of paints and food products, reported $1,118,049 net profit on sales of $41,697,008 for the six months ended April 30, against $1,033,811 on sales of $28,191,314 for the same period in the like 1941 period.

President of Utica Knitting Co. Dies

By the Associated Press. UTICA, N. Y., May 28.—Oscar W. Gridley, 71, president and general manager of the Utica Knitting Co., died today.

In the knitting business 50 years, Gridley had been connected with the Utica company since 1900 and its general manager since 1918. He was named president a few years later.

Bank Clearings Top Year Ago Despite Lag in Week

Total for 24 Cities 8.3 Per Cent Ahead Of 1941 Period

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 28.—Bank clearings during the last week were smaller than in the previous week, although still 8.3 per cent above the comparable period of 1941, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Twenty-four major United States cities showed an aggregate turnover of $6,932,344,000, or 8 per cent less than in the preceding week. A year ago the volume was $6,403,491,000.

New York transactions at $3,615,223,000 were off 7.3 per cent from the preceding week, but 1.2 per cent greater than 1941. The total for the 23 other cities was 16.3 per cent ahead of last year.

Portland, Ore., showed a rise of 39.4 per cent over 1941; Detroit gained 34.3 per cent; Seattle, 33.5; Omaha, 32.1; Cleveland, 32, and Pittsburgh, 28.8. Chicago's total was up 2.8 per cent.

President of Utica Knitting Co. Dies

By the Associated Press. UTICA, N. Y., May 28.—Oscar W. Gridley, 71, president and general manager of the Utica Knitting Co., died today.

In the knitting business 50 years, Gridley had been connected with the Utica company since 1900 and its general manager since 1918. He was named president a few years later.

Rail Loadings Down 3.3 Per Cent From Same 1941 Week

837,748-Car Volume Also Slightly Below Preceding Period

By the Associated Press. The Association of American Railroads reported today that 837,748 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday.

This was a decrease of 1,304 cars, or 0.2 of 1 per cent, compared with the preceding week; a decrease of 28,279 cars, or 3.3 per cent, compared with a year ago, and an increase of 150,268 cars, or 21.9 per cent, compared with 1940.

The report classified the loadings, compared with last week and the corresponding week a year ago, as follows:

Table of rail loadings including This wk., Last wk., and Year ago with columns for Less-than, On-par, and More-than.

A contractional drop in total loadings was caused primarily by lagging coal shipments. Ore increased substantially, reflecting expanding industrial production.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index of loadings, based on 1929-30 as 100, declined to 87.8 compared with 89.0 the previous week, and 90.8 a year ago.

Expanding Shipyards Put West Coast City In Housing Dither

Town Forced to Revise Continually Its Plans For Worker Homes

By the Associated Press. VANCOUVER, Wash., May 28.—This once serene city now being reborn into a war-boom town was tangled today in a housing development.

At the request of the Kaiser Shipyard Co., the Vancouver Housing Authority is trying to erect 13,500 houses and a colony of dormitories for shipyard workers who will number 36,000—and perhaps more.

A year ago Vancouver's 18,000 residents lived roomily in 6,000 homes and a few apartments.

36,000 Men Needed. Then the boom began. The fast-building Kaiser Co. located a shipyard here and said it would be going full-blast by winter, employing 20,000.

Vancouver took a deep breath and prepared. As fast as housing blueprints jelled, shipyard blueprints were expanded. Now the shipyards are up to 12 ways and the labor needs up to 36,000 men.

Almost before a stick of lumber was ordered, the housing problem had become twice as tough.

The Housing Authority speedily built five dormitories, costing about $2,000,000, in five weeks.

Rainbow Moved Back. Five thousand houses were started before lumber freezing and priority troubles. Six hundred were to have been ready by next month. Before materials were thawed out, the schedule was 30 days behind.

The authority got approval for another 5,000 houses and five more dormitories. These would have put the authority within 3,500 houses of its goal—13,500 houses, plus dormitories, at a cost to Uncle Sam of around $55,000,000, and all in one year.

Yesterday the Kaiser Co. moved the end of the rainbow back another notch; said maybe the ultimate would be 45,000 men and 18,500 houses.

Parochial School Buses Upheld in St. Marys

By the Associated Press. ANNAPOLIS, May 28.—Laws empowering the St. Marys County Commissioners to provide transportation for both parochial and public school children in their county are valid, the Court of Appeals ruled yesterday.

Affirming a decision of the St. Marys County Circuit Court in dismissing a taxpayers' suit, the appellate court ended a year-old Southern Maryland controversy. Counsel for the taxpayers charged the laws were in conflict, "bordered on class legislation and therefore were invalid."

Navy Saves Army Flyer Forced To Crash Land Bomber on Isle

Capt. Alvin J. H. Mueller and Crew Found After Living Five Days on 'Iron Rations'

By C. YATES McDANIEL, Associated Press War Correspondent. ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 28.—Capt. Alvin J. H. Mueller, United States Army Air Force, and his crew were rescued after five days on "iron rations" in the Southwest Pacific, is safely back in Australia, thanks to the United States Navy, after he was forced to crash-land a big bomber on his last hazardous mission to Mindanao.

Capt. Mueller learned to fly and land "almost any old plane" in rough-and-ready peacetime civilian aviation days near his home at Braunfels, Tex., along the Mexican border.

After the war started going the wrong way in the Southwest Pacific, Capt. Mueller and Co. Pilot Paul E. Cool of Pontiac, Mich., had dozens of opportunities to put trial-and-error experience to good use. For months theirs has been the job of picking up stranded or isolated air personnel from the islands in the wake of Japanese bombers from Timor, New Guinea and Mindanao.

Capt. Mueller had made six successful flights to Mindanao and had won the D. S. C. before he cracked up. On his seventh trip he took off in a B-24 with fuel for eight hours flying. He reached Delmona Field at Mindanao, where he had expected to set his big bomber down in the darkness, only to find a ground fire raging and he had to fly on to another field.

When he arrived there he found more fires burning and he got the same reception at a third field. With his fuel tanks emptying, Capt. Mueller set his course for a small island under the Equator where he had arranged a rendezvous with the United States Navy.

He knew the chances of making a safe landing on the narrow beach of the island in the darkness were small, but he had never let his crew down and he did not do so this time. Somehow Capt. Mueller flattened his big craft out on the mangrove-fringed beach without injury to its occupants.

After the flyers had lived on "iron rations" on the island for five days the flash of a rocket offshore told them the Navy hadn't let the Army down.

Now Capt. Mueller and his crew are ready for the next job.

Gangster in Drug Case Gets Suspended Term

By the Associated Press. TUCSON, Ariz., May 28.—Federal Judge Albert M. Sames yesterday suspended for five years imposition of sentence on Helmut Hartmann, reputed member of the New York "107th street mob," who pleaded guilty May 18 to violating narcotic laws.

Six others who pleaded guilty will be sentenced July 7, after being tried in New York courts on other charges of conspiracy in connection with operations of a huge narcotic smuggling ring.

Philip Mohun Hulme, son of the late Comdr. W. O. Hulme and Mrs. Hulme, has been awarded the Silver Star by the War Department. The citation was for gallantry in action at Mont Blanc in October, 1918, during the World War.

While Mr. Mohun was serving in France in 1918 he was awarded the Croix de Guerre and the Victory Medal with five clasps.

He was born in Washington while his father was on duty here and is a graduate of the Newman School. He enlisted, when he was 18, in the 12th Field Artillery and served overseas in the 2d Division. He was discharged as sergeant and returned to this country to continue his education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. On graduation he went to Chile to work for the Anaconda Co. At present he is metallurgist for the company at its plant in Raritan, N. J.

HOLIDAY TIP-OFF!

Remember Memorial Day last year—highways jammed with cars—cars jammed with youngsters, Dad, Mother and Grandma, too, all headed for the wide open spaces with plenty of good things to eat? Sure brings back happy memories, doesn't it?

This year you'd get a kick out of doing it all over again, but instead you're going to lend a hand to Uncle Sam, aren't you? Save precious gas and priceless rubber. And you'll have a grand holiday, too. Sure you will, for there's still plenty of good things to eat. And that's what counts in days like these.

So plan to hover close to home this Saturday and Sunday. Rest up. Relax and enjoy the pleasures of holiday meals at home for a change. Between Friday night and Monday morning there's plenty of meals to really enjoy. And you'll enjoy every one of them if you make your selections from AGP's high, wide and handsome variety of grand things to eat.

This statement gives a bare outline of the authority's work. Its more significant phases are scarcely indicated. For example, the Alley Dwelling Authority from the beginning has set economic rents on all its properties. Economic rents cover all costs, interest, amortization, administration, maintenance and repairs, and full real estate taxes.

Family and Child Welfare Units Ask More Funds

Food and Rent Ceilings Opposed At Annual Session

By J. A. O'LEARY.

Family and Child Welfare Divisions of the Council of Social Agencies at their annual meeting yesterday asked for more money and increased appropriations to handle work necessitated by the influx of war workers.

Meeting in the Y. W. C. A., a resolution was adopted by the groups for transmission to the Senate District Committee asking a larger fund to finance adequate housing and provide a larger food budget for District residents now in need.

Francis McPeck, agency member, offered the resolution, and declared rent and food ceilings as proposed under the allocation plan should be removed. He added the $60 limit should be replaced by a system of financing according to family needs.

Other speakers were Mary Henderson Graham and Mary C. Leute, who discussed housing conditions. There are 98 groups represented in the council.

Child Welfare Unit Elects. Those elected for the Child Welfare Division were Mrs. Alice Sen-ton, vice chairman; Mrs. J. C. Freedland, chairman of the Children in Homes Committee, and Miss Alice Frazier, legislative. Members of the Steering Committee are Mrs. Alleen Burton, Mrs. Marguerite Mayer, Miss Dorothy Pearce, Miss Helen Richards and Miss Gay Shep-son.

Woman Denies Claim Gun Fired While She Struggled With Oden

Mrs. De Vous Declares She Was Not in Kitchen When Girl Was Killed

Mrs. Elizabeth A. De Vous, 38, today denied the assertion of the defense that she was struggling with Guy E. Oden, 19, on trial for his life in District Court, when a gun he was holding accidentally discharged.

Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin said in his opening statement to the jury yesterday that Mrs. De Vous had started at Guy with a skillet in the kitchen of the apartment of Ellen's sister at 114 O street.

At another point Mrs. De Vous said at no time had she taken an interest in the love affair between Guy and Ellen.

On direct examination by Assistant United States Attorney Bernard Margolius, Mrs. De Vous related how she had heard the four shots, three of which struck Ellen's body, and had thought they were "firecrackers popping," because it was only about two weeks after July 4.

The number of students was not disclosed, but training in light motor-driven planes will be given at 18 civil aeronautics schools located in the Middle West, and elementary and advance training in gliders at nine Army schools.

32 Midshipmen From District To Be Graduated June 19

Majority to Receive Commission as Navy Ensigns, Some as Marine Corps Lieutenants

Thirty-two midshipmen from the District are members of the class of more than 600 which will graduate June 19 at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Immediately following graduation, all those meeting all the requirements will be commissioned, a large percentage of them going into the Navy, but some becoming officers in the Marine Corps.

The class of 1942 will be graduated after three years, the second to go through the academy in the shorter period because of the war emergency.

Midshipmen From District. Columbus in the graduating class are: Ballis Mitchell Bell, son of T. W. Bell of 1225 Clifton street N.W.; ensign with later detail to aviation.

Edward Joseph Cummings, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Cummings of 4635 Kenmore drive; ensign. He was a member of the football team. Frank Homewood Dean, Jr., son of Comdr. F. H. Dean, U. S. N., and Mrs. Dean, of 6342 Thirty-second street N.W.; ensign.

Alvin William Hall, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hall of 1319 Kalnia road N.W.; ensign.

Memorial Day Parade To Have Many Soldiers From Nearby Areas

Families of One Full Company of Infantry Live in Washington

Many of the men in the ranks of the Memorial Day parade here Saturday will be hometown boys from nearby Maryland and Virginia, the War Department said today.

The bulk of the men forming the regiment will come from homes in adjacent Virginia as will the members of the battalion of field artillery.

One full company of colored infantrymen, whose families live in Washington, will be in the line of march just behind the colored battalion from the Fort Belvoir, Va., Engineer Replacement Center.

War Department employees will be excused Saturday afternoon in time to see the parade which starts at 4 p.m. Release times will vary in accordance with the location of offices.

Six military bands will contribute to the martial spirit of the day. Besides the famous Army, Navy and Marine Corps Bands others include the Regimental Band of the Infantry combat team, the Air Force Band from Bolling Field and one from Fort Belvoir.

At 2:30 p.m. Saturday veterans of the 3d Division will hold a ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington, Va., and following the ceremony will place a wreath on the grave of Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, commander of the division in France. Veterans of the 3d Division will be led by John A. Rees, president of the Washington branch.

Camp Lee Glee Club to Sing. A delegation of 50 men in uniform from Camp Lee, Va., will take part in the Memorial Day program at Bay, it was announced yesterday.

Private Builders Seek to Learn War Status

Committee Meets Tomorrow With W. P. B. Officials

By JAMES Y. NEWTON.

A committee representing home builders of the Nation over will meet tomorrow with War Production Board officials and representatives of other agencies in an attempt to determine Government policy with regard to privately-built war housing.

The construction men, called into session by the National Home Builders' Association, are expected to ask the W. P. B. to clear up uncertainties as to the future course of war housing and to remove obstacles which have halted projects to a considerable extent in many important defense centers.

"If we are being put out of business we should be told about it," a spokesman for the builders said. "Right now we are in the middle. The situation is very uncertain and rumors flying thick and fast point to even more discouraging things to come. One thing that is definite is that our projects have been stopped for lack of materials. We are being penalized for doing the very thing we were told to do—build war housing."

Financing More Liberal Now. The officials have discovered in urging housing officials in recent months in the housing field. On Tuesday the President signed an amendment to the National Housing Act which will enable builders to obtain more liberal financing for projects.

About 50 builders will meet tonight at the Hay-Adams Hotel to plan their course during tomorrow's meeting with the Government officials. The meeting will be headed by Harry Durbin, Detroit, president of the national association.

Representatives of the Army and National Housing Administrator John B. Blandford, Jr., have been invited to attend tomorrow's session with the W. P. B. A small committee will represent the builders.

Will Ask Materials. Builders are expected to request the W. P. B. to release materials so housing already under way can be completed. They also will ask whether they are to be allowed any further part in the war housing program.

The spokesman for builders said the industry has discovered "no sorrow" that issuance of priorities does not mean that materials for a job will be forthcoming. He said the W. P. B. will be requested not to issue further priorities unless the materials are available to complete the job.

Messages and letters of distress from builders over the country have poured into association headquarters here in the last few days. The messages tell of housing projects stopped for lack of materials and construction crews breaking up for lack of work.

D. C. Heads to Attend Benefit at British Embassy

Members of the Board of Commissioners today accepted invitation to attend a garden party to be held from 4 to 7 p.m. June 6 on the grounds of the British Embassy to raise funds to be used by the District Civilian Defense Corps and British War Relief.

The party will be held under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society, and tickets at $1 per person, are on sale at Kann's Department Store, the American Automobile Association, the office of the British War Relief Society on Connecticut avenue, the American Express office at 1414 F street N.W., and the office of Thomas Cook & Son, 712 Fifteenth street N.W.

Rezoning Applications In West Montgomery County Are Opposed

Plans to Construct Apartment Buildings Draw Citizens' Fire

Opposition to several rezoning applications in the western suburban area of Montgomery County was voiced at hearings before the county commissioners yesterday. They were the last zoning hearings scheduled until fall.

Objection to the application of Ernest E. and Bridget Holcombe asking for reclassification from residential A to residential C zone of a site located on the northeast corner of Conduit road and Maryland avenue near Broad road in statements filed by about 75 nearby residents and civic groups.

Guy Neel, attorney for the owners, presented plans for converting the present dwelling there to a three-story apartment of 10 to 15 units.

Bradley Hills Move Opposed. The application of R. Bates Warren, agent, asking for reclassification from residential A to residential C of two tracts of land on opposite sides of Bradley boulevard in the Bradley Hills section, was opposed by Albert E. Brault, president of the Leland-Brady Citizens Association.

Mr. Brault said the members felt the rezoning would depress residential property values in that area.

The application of Charles F. Miller, owner, for rezoning of land on the west side of Arlington road in the vicinity of Elm street and Clarendon road for apartment buildings was tentatively approved by the Bradley Hills Citizens' Association, if certain provisions would be agreed on.

Another application by Mr. Miller for rezoning a site on the southeast corner of Elm street and Arlington road drew considerable questioning from residents who said they felt the land should be left residential A.

James C. Christopher, who represented Mr. Miller, said construction of an apartment building was proposed.

No Objection to One Plan. No objections were voiced to the application of Albert W. Walker for reclassification from residential A to commercial D on a tract of approximately three acres on the northeast side of the intersection of Massachusetts avenue and Goldboro road, adjacent to Woodacres, or of W. B. Plicher and William Richmond for reclassification from residential A to residential C on the north side of Elm street, Edgemoor subdivision.

One application, that of Monroe Warren, to rezone section 1 of Columbia Forest from residential A to residential C, was withdrawn Tuesday.

Jewish Veterans Plan Memorial Services

Delegations of veterans and patriotic organizations here will participate in the annual memorial service of the Washington Hebrew Congregation and Washington Post, No. 48, Jewish War Veterans, at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow at the Temple, Eighth and I streets N.W.

Raymond H. Geist of the State Department and Comdr. Lewis L. Strauss, U. S. Naval Reserve, will be speakers. Chaplain Aryeh Lev also will take part.

Services will be conducted by Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld. Music will be by the Temple choir under the direction of Lewis Atwater, with Abrasha Robofsky as soloist.

Public Barred From Using Stretch of C. & O. Canal

The public is now barred, as a military precaution, from using a mile and a half stretch of the C. & O. Canal Parkway from Great Falls downstream to Anglers Inn, Superintendent Irving C. Root, of the National Capital Parks announced today.

The closing of this particular area was ordered at the request of the United States Engineer Office for the protection of the Washington water supply system. It applies to the operation of canoes and boats on the canal as well as to persons using the towpaths.

All other areas of the restored canal, however, will remain open to the public. The regularly established Saturday and Sunday horse-drawn barge trips on the canal between Georgetown and Glen Echo, Md. are not affected.

Policeman Exonerated In Fatal Shooting

Pvt. Ellis C. Helms of No. 2 police precinct was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of William McGregor, colored, 1320 Corcoran street N.W., who was shot by the officer when he allegedly resisted arrest March 23. McGregor died Saturday morning in Gallinger Hospital.

Francis Charles Stewart, 28, colored, 410 Six and a Half street S.W., was released in the traffic death of Robert Wilson Cook, 31, colored, 621 Morton street N.W. Cook was struck by a truck driven by Stewart in the 1500 block of Seventh street N.W. as he ran diagonally across the street from the east to west curb, police said. He died Saturday.

Pen Women Officials Feted at Tea

Mrs. E. H. Daniel Honors Incoming, Retiring Heads

A garden tea honoring the retiring and incoming presidents of the National League of American Pen Women and of the District branch was given by Mrs. Ernest Humphrey Daniel yesterday at her home on Broad Branch and Grant roads in Rock Creek Park.

The spacious lawns surrounding the picturesque old home, remodeled by the Daniels several years ago, were gay with the colorful gowns of the guests, while the dining room where refreshments were served, was a bower of red roses, white peonies and blue iris. The hostess carried out the patriotic theme of the floral decorations in her costume, a blue and white print dress on which she wore a red corsage.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Victoria Faber Stevenson, newly-elected national president; Mrs. E. Richard Gasch, retiring national president; Mrs. William Walter Smith, incoming president of the District branch, and Mrs. H. Lyle Campbell, retiring president, who has served the District branch for two terms.

The hostess was assisted in receiving by new members of the board.

League members who served at the tea table included Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, Mrs. Emil Hurja, Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, past president of the Chevy Chase branch of the league, and Mrs. Edgar Merritt.

Others assisting were Mrs. Charles Cleveland Tyler, Mrs. Tomas Caggias, Mrs. Theodore H. Tiller, Mrs. Leroy W. Tilton, Mrs. William W. Scott, Mrs. Ida Elaine James, Mrs. Arthur Seaton, Mrs. Merle Lyon, Mrs. Minnie L. Briggs, Mrs. Bruce Baird and Mrs. Eva Grant Marshall.

Miss Nell Bradford And Mr. G. E. Kelly Are Married Here

The Church of the Epiphany was the scene of the wedding of Miss Nell Child Bradford, daughter of Mrs. Nell Child Bradford, and Mr. George Emmett Kelly, son of Mrs. Laura Lottes of Philadelphia, which took place May 16. The Rev. Charles W. Sheerin, rector, officiated and Mr. Adolf Torovsky gave organ selections.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by Dr. Jesse L. Hall. Her attendants were Miss Jean O'Connell and Miss Jane Harris of Concord, N. C.

Mr. John A. Dastalakis of Chicago was best man for Mr. Kelly and Mr. Charles McIntire of Buffalo was usher.

A reception was held at the Mayflower Hotel immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Kelly is a former resident of Dallas, Tex. She attended Central High School here and the University of Texas.

Ohio Day Outing Being Arranged

Ohioans in Washington will meet July 11 for the celebration of Ohio Day. Plans for the meeting have been announced by Mrs. Brown, wife of the late Mr. Thad H. Brown, member of the Federal Communications Commission. Mrs. Brown was selected as general chairman by Senator Harold H. Burton, president of the Ohio Society which is sponsoring Ohio Day.

The Buckeyes will hold their party at Marshall Hall, a few miles down the Potomac, leaving Washington on a Wilson Line steamer from the Seventh street wharf at 2 p.m. and returning at 10:45 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Freer Have House Guest

Officers Elected By Women's Legion

Mrs. Edward Campbell Shields was elected president of the American Women's Legion of the World War at the 23d annual meeting of the society held early this week. Mrs. Shields succeeds Mrs. Grovenor E. Moore, who was elected first vice president. Others elected include Mrs. David Sandow, second vice president; Mrs. Pearl M. Johnson, third vice president; Mrs. Howard Fisk, recording secretary; Mrs. Jules Tamson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter A. Hazes, treasurer, and Mrs. Edmund P. Ellis, parliamentarian.

The organization is composed of women relatives of Americans who served under the American and Allied flags during the First World War. Its purpose is to encourage service to the country, teach patriotism and respect to the flag and give aid, cheer and comfort to service and ex-servicemen and their dependents.

To Stop Knitting

Members of the Red Cross knitting unit of Court No. 212, Catholic Daughters of America, are obliged to suspend meetings which have been held each Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Anna E. Uhl, chairman of the unit, due to a shortage of wool. The unit with an average attendance of 54 has already completed 599 garments with 8,754 hours of service.

Other units which will carry on work are the sewing and surgical dressings units. The sewing unit has completed 129 pieces of clothing, blankets and caps with 644 hours of service.

The surgical dressings unit meets at the Walsh House every Tuesday morning and Thursday night, and has completed more than 5,500 hours of service.

Eighty members of the court have graduated as Red Cross first-aid instructors and are now instructing new recruits. The court has endeavored to meet its quota of 5,000 comfort kits for servicemen by June 1 and at its recent business meeting donated funds for that purpose.

Poetry Prizes Awarded by A. A. U. W.

Inez Kirby and Alice Torbet Take First and Second

Awarding of poetry prizes to its members and readings by Mrs. Francis Biddle from her own works featured the poetry contest dinner of the Washington Branch, American Association of University Women, held last night at the A. A. U. W. clubhouse.

Inez Barclay Kirby and Alice Torbet won first and second prizes, respectively, in the members' contests which culminated in the meeting last night. Honorable mention went to Louise H. Mortensen.

The prizes, which were volumes of poetry, were presented by Miss Ruth Evelyn Henderson who also introduced Mrs. Biddle as guest of honor. Miss Madge Lane Cooke presided.

Floyd Dell, who was one of the judges in the contest, read the prize-winning poems and also spoke informally, praising especially the quality of Mrs. Biddle's work.

Wife of the Attorney General, Mrs. Biddle writes under her maiden name, Katharine Garrison Chapin. Her readings last night included her

A. E. F. Veteran Is Organizer Of Virginia Protective Force

Gen. E. E. Goodwyn, Now 67, Served in Meuse-Argonne

(This is one of a series of stories on men who occupy key positions in Virginia's wartime agencies and civilian defense organization.)

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., May 28.—Virginia's highest ranking "non-professional" officer in the World War A. E. F. is still in harness, commanding a trim Virginia protective force that began from scratch when National Guardsmen were called to active service.

Brig. Gen. E. Goodwyn, who thought in 1934 that he had retired from the active direction of things military, responded to a call from Gov. Price to organize the V. P. F. and within five months thereafter—Gen. Goodwyn reported the job virtually done.

The Emporia insurance man, now 67, stayed with the force that was developed into a sound military organization, ready for service, despite the heavy competition of the Army, the Navy and war industries for man power. Many veterans, like Goodwyn, of the First World War, are among the officers of the V. P. F. Many are V. M. I. and V. P. I. men.

Many Are Youngsters.

Many are mere youngsters—the last General Assembly lowered the age for enlistment from 18 to 16 and lifted the maximum from 45 to 55.

Gen. Goodwyn is well known in Virginia and a wide acquaintance-ship proved an important asset for his assignment.

Members of his home V. P. F. company at Emporia, where he began his military career 42 years ago as a second lieutenant in the Virginia volunteers, have shown their pride in the "hometown" general by making their outfit one of the best in the State.

When the World War came along, Gen. Goodwyn, then a colonel, went overseas with the same rank. After the war he commanded the 318th Reserve Regiment and continued to hold the rank of colonel of infantry in the United States Officers Reserve Corps even after his retirement from the National Guard.

Veteran of Argonne.

In France, Gen. Goodwyn commanded the 104th Train Headquarters and Military Police in the 29th Division and served in the Haute Alsace and Meuse-Argonne. He returned from foreign service as senior Virginia officer in the National Guard.

The V. P. F. commanding general is a leader in civic affairs in his community and State. He served as president of the Atlantic Coastal Highway Association, was department commander of the American Legion in 1922-23 and later a member of the National Executive Committee, served as a director of the State Chamber of Commerce and on the staffs of two governors.

After taking over the V. P. F. organization assignment the general slipped away to be wed to a Virginia school teacher at Emporia, where they make their home.

His principal worries now are

1943 Lutheran Meeting Set for Waynesboro, Pa.

By the Associated Press.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 28.—The Maryland synod of the United Lutheran Church decided last night to hold its 1943 annual meeting at Waynesboro, Pa.

The decision was tentative, and the Executive Board was empowered to change the location if gasoline rationing and other travel restrictions threatened attendance.

The synod adopted a recommendation for a "long range policy of consolidation of church periodicals" and decided to publish a monthly magazine on missionary activities to replace four present publications.

The Rev. E. C. Goetz, Washington, was named to a three-year term as a director of the Tressler Orphans' Home, Lovysville, Pa., and the Rev. John W. Martin, Washington, was elected to a two-year term on the Committee of Synodical Missions.

Library Is Microfilming Rare Chinese Documents

The Library of Congress today revealed it is microfilming close to 3,000 rare Chinese items of historical interest. Received from the Peking National Library, the material includes some of the "rarest treasures" the Chinese possess, some dating from the 11th century.

On conclusion of the war, Archibald MacLish, librarian, said yesterday, the material will be returned to China. The library here is microfilming books not in its files and is making duplicates for the Peking library.

The material being reproduced includes Chinese histories, unpublished manuscripts, and chronicles of the government. Some of the documents date back as early as 1,000 A. D.

Permission for the reproduction was granted by Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese Ambassador here.

Driver Is Acquitted In Death of Woman, 69

Marcus H. Hall, 31, colored, 1200 block of Park road N.W., yesterday was acquitted by a Police Court jury on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the death last September of Marie Dines, 69, colored, 1100 block of Girard street N.W.

Hit by an automobile operated by Hall at Eleventh and Girard streets N.W., on September 20, the woman died five days later from a complication of ailments, it was testified. She had suffered a broken leg when struck.

C. E. Quinn Is Named To Montgomery Orphans' Bench

Brault Is Appointed Trial Magistrate At Bethesda

Carey E. Quinn of Bethesda, Md., has been appointed chief judge of the Montgomery County Orphans' Court, and Albert E. Brault of Bradley Hills, Md., has been named trial magistrate at Bethesda by Gov. O'Connor. Mr. Brault was recommended by county Democratic leaders.

Mr. Quinn, 46, a practicing attorney in Washington for more than 20 years, succeeds Charles M. Irellan, Jr., who resigned last week to become assistant counsel to the Board of County Commissioners. Mr. Quinn will hold office until the general election in November.

Mr. Brault fills the vacancy created by the resignation of James C. Christopher, who accepted a commission in the Navy.

Quinn Served in World War.

A native of Texas, Mr. Quinn served overseas in the World War as a lieutenant in a tank unit. On his return, he worked on newspapers in New York before coming here in 1920.

He is a member of both the District and Maryland bars and lives at 114 Del Ray avenue. He has long been active in the Democratic party and in the Montgomery County Civic Federation.

He is married and has two children, one of whom is a midshipman at Annapolis and the other a freshman at Penn State.

Will Retain Defense Post.

Mr. Brault, who is executive director of the Montgomery County Civilian Defense Council, also is a member of both the District and Maryland bars. He said today he will continue in his civilian defense post.

A graduate of Georgetown University in 1927, he was admitted to practice before the District Court of Appeals in the same year and before the Maryland Court of Appeals in 1933.

For the last five years, he has been a member of the faculty of Southeastern University Law School. He is married and has three children. He lives at 5541 Wessling lane, Bradley Hills. He is 36 years old.

Flyer Beats Fortune Teller's 'Hex,' Becomes a Happy Man

Grin Takes Place of Wrinkles From Worry As Ensign Passes His 28th Birthday

By WILLIAM HIPPLE, Wide World.

ABOARD UNITED STATES WARSHIP WITH THE ALLIED FORCES (Delayed).—Probably the happiest—and most relieved—man aboard this warship as it steamed away following an attack on Japanese positions in New Guinea was a certain, red-haired young aviator. "Red" celebrated his 28th birthday in his single-seated fighter, charging at a terrific speed on enemy ships in Salamaua.

After strafing a tender and a transport, blowing up two motor launches and raking enemy barges, the flyer returned to the ship without a scratch and grinning broadly. He had beaten the flix which had threatened to cut short his life—a "hex" he said was put on him by a fortune teller years ago.

At that time, the fortune teller forecast a number of events to take place in Red's life. He laughed at the idea, but one by one the events came true.

All Came True But One.

He began to worry. Finally, all the forecasts had come true but one—that he would not pass his 28th birthday.

The flyer became obsessed with this thought. As a result, he took every precaution in his flying trips. Feeling that the chief danger was to be lost at sea and then drift in his rubber boat, perhaps to a wild island, the ensign collected equipment to take along on every flight.

The equipment included fishhooks and fish line, a hunting knife, an extra flashlight, extra ammunition, revolver, a small can of oil to keep his revolver in condition, extra patching equipment for the rubber boat, quinine, extra food rations, spare compressed air tubes for his life jacket, a waterproof cigar lighter.

He always carried a $10 bill under his identification tag and a picture of his girl friend, for good luck. He recently took out additional life insurance and left money for the premium with a shipmate. He studied up on the best method to battle a shark.

Added New Items.

Just before the New Guinea attack he added several new items to his collection, including cuff links, shiny uniform buttons and various trinkets to trade to the natives on the island should he be forced down. From the galley he obtained a meat cleaver to hack his way through the jungles.

Much of this equipment he carried continually, because he never knew which plane he would fly. For that reason he was nicknamed "Paunchy" by his fellow aviators "because he bulged in places."

By a peculiar circumstance an attack against Jap positions in New Guinea fell on his 28th birthday anniversary—the supposed deadline of his life.

"I thought I'd make it," he said as he climbed out of his plane, "but I'm sure glad it's over. Now I've got nothing to worry about."

County G. O. P. Indorses Fish's Renomination

By the Associated Press.

GOSHEN, N. Y., May 28.—With the principals present, the Orange County Republican Committee indorses Representative Fish for renomination last night, giving him 190 votes to 26 for Augustus W. Bennet, Newburgh bankruptcy referee.

Mr. Bennet, a World War veteran and a leading G. O. P. opponent, indicated he would seek nomination as an independent if rejected by the Orange County Committee.

Paris Hotel Manager Slain by 'Communists'

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 28.—The manager of a Paris hotel was shot and killed by "two Communists" who accused him of having handed over to the police other members of their underground organization, the Berlin radio said last night.

One of the assassins was captured, but the other escaped on a bicycle, the Paris dispatch said.

Prayers Asked for Rain To Block New Race Track

By the Associated Press.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 28.—Devout Presbyterians of nearby Collingswood last night implored Providence for rain "or anything else" that will stop construction of the $1,500,000 Garden State race track, being rushed toward completion in an effort to meet the War Production Board's June 6 deadline.

The Rev. Carl McIntire of the Bible Presbyterian Church directed his congregation—at the regular midweek service—to "pray to the Lord to send rain or that He in his Providence will do anything else to mar the work."

"We think it is an outrage that they (the track promoters) should take materials so badly needed in the war effort," the minister asserted, "and we don't like their spirit in trying to race the Government on the deadline."

Work shifts on the track were doubled after the W. P. B. announced Saturday that construction on all such projects would be halted June 6.

Why Do Women Tire Quicker Than Men?

Medical science says women's blood generally has a slight deficiency in red blood cells—the cells which transport life-giving oxygen from the lungs to all body tissues. Together with the usual periodic blood loss each month, red blood cells come scant, with the result that women's body tissues are not fed the life-giving oxygen as fast as men's. Consequently they tire more easily. Women who are constantly tired... always complaining... never really feel 100% perfect, probably have thin, pale, watery blood that is unable to supply rugged energy and vibrant health... and to carry life-giving oxygen to hungry tissues.

But here is good news. If you want to add new fighting blood in 9 days, try the amazing new discovery, Bonquet (pronounced Bon-Kay) Tablets. These pleasant-tasting, easy-to-take tablets contain, in concentrated quantities, the raw materials generally deficient in the modern diet... the most important being the active principle of raw liver, vegetable iron, vitamin B complex, fortified with pure crystalline vitamins B and C, assimilable calcium and phosphorus. Get a bottle of Bonquet Tablets today. If, after 9 days, you don't feel more alive... have more energy... and actually look better, your money will be instantly refunded. Costs but a few cents. First Case of Appeal From 3-A to 1-A Class Is Won by U. S.

Deferment Pleas Of 18 Other Registrants Are Rejected

A Government appeal agent, differing with a local board on the draft classification of a registrant, brought before the District Board of Appeal its first case of an appeal from 3-A to 1-A classification, the board's report revealed today.

The District board granted the plea, shifting William F. Judd, 33, assistant district manager of the Life Insurance Co. of Virginia, into classification for immediate service.

A spokesman for the District board explained that appeal agents work for the Government as well as the registrant, and this agent, happening to review the case, decided the registrant was improperly classified.

The District board, reporting for the week ending May 22, granted four other appeals, returned two cases to local boards for additional information, put an appeal for classification in 4-E into 1-A-O and returned the appeal for deferment of 18 other registrants.

3-A Pleas Granted.

Those whose appeals for classification in 3-A on grounds of dependents were granted were Emanuel W. Browne, 24, car cleaner; Charles Morton, 35, unemployed; Eugene Shadle, 30, carpenter, and Charles Lautenschlager, 35, maître d'hotel of the Willard Hotel, a review of whose case was recommended in three months.

The cases of Raymond E. Perron and William Franklin Bodine were returned to their local boards for additional information, and Roger S. Lorenz, 26, a farm laborer, who had appealed for classification in 4-E as a conscientious objector, was put in 1-A-O, for service in non-combatant branches of the Army.

A number of the registrants appealed for classification in either 2-A or 3-A. Those whose pleas for deferment on grounds of dependents alone were rejected were Edgar Zell Steever, Jr., 25, of the Office of Emergency Management, for whom a stay of induction until August 1 was recommended; David Aronin, 28, Department of Agriculture; Welby L. Hatton, 22, carpenter; James Henry Lyons, 24, unemployed; Saul Falman, 21, print shop proprietor; Jesse M. Mann, 34, McNulty Bros.; Sigmund Kartus, 31, Office of Price Administration statistical clerk; Edward B. Armentrout, 28, Post Office clerk; Anthony J. Lopresti, 23, paper hanger; and Everett W. Kirby, 32, Government Patent Office.

2-A Pleas Rejected.

Those whose appeals for classification in 2-A on occupational grounds were rejected were Henry Lagasse, 23, Georgetown University Law School student for whom a stay of induction until August 31 was recommended; Robert D. Baum, 29, National Resources Planning Board junior professional assistant economist for whom a stay of induction until June 15 was recommended; Andres Hernandez, 31, motor boat sailor, and Arthur J. Rosenblatt, 39, president of Brooks, Inc., for whom a 60-day stay of induction was recommended. Mr. Rosenblatt was a February 16 registrant, among the first to appeal from this group which local boards are now in the process of classifying.

Those whose appeals for classification either in 2-A or 3-A were rejected were Howland M. Ware, 29, Bureau of Standards under laboratory mechanic; Charles Edward Simmons, 22, member of the Metropolitan Police Department; Raymond Wanner, 23, Arlington County (Va.) policeman, for whom a 30-day stay of induction was recommended; and Wilmot H. Fitzgerald, 30, Treasury Department senior accounting clerk.

Draft Stay Granted Youth, but Army Calls Bride-to-Be

By the Associated Press.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., May 28.—After Garlan Bushman was deferred by his draft board, he and Miss Elsie Fern Schwantes began making their wedding plans.

Now, Miss Schwantes, a member of the Army Nurses' Reserve, has received notice saying she has been chosen for active duty and asking if there is any reason why she cannot report.

She told of her wedding plans, but hasn't heard yet whether she will be a bride or an Army nurse in June.

Treasury Experts Strongly Oppose Federal Sales Tax

However, Doughton Says Such a Levy Will Be Weighed by Group

By the Associated Press.

Treasury experts laid down a hammering barrage against a sales tax today as the House Ways and Means Committee sought to make up a $2,000,000,000 deficit it already has piled up against the administration's revised $8,900,000,000 tax goal.

Despite the prospective shortage, the department statisticians remained adamant against any form of a sales tax, primarily on the theory that it would bring disproportionate hardships to the low-income families.

"We have argued against the sales tax on its merits only thus far," one of the experts said. "When we finish explaining the administrative difficulties, some of the members on the fence will change quickly."

The Treasury staff attacked either a manufacturer's, wholesaler's or retail sales levy at an extraordinary meeting of the committee last night, with statements by Randolph Paul, Secretary Morgenthau's tax adviser, and James W. Martin, University of Kentucky economist, now a Treasury consultant.

Treasury to Revise Estimates.

Members said that while the Treasury originally held that a retail sales tax would be the most objectionable form of any such levy, Mr. Paul refused to choose among them last night and, in fact, Mr. Martin said that from the administrative standpoint a retail sales tax would be the least objectionable.

The Treasury estimated two months ago that a 5 per cent retail sales tax, exempting Government purchases, would produce $2,500,000,000.

Having tentatively disposed of new corporation and individual income tax proposals, the committee has run squarely into the alternative of accepting Treasury recommendations for increasing excise taxes by more than $1,000,000,000 or adopting some form of sales tax.

Members said, meanwhile, that the Treasury shortly would present a sharp downward revision of its March 3 estimates that its program of new excises would produce $1,340,000,000. It was learned that one of the major changes would be a doubling of the present 1 1/2-cent gasoline tax, which he said would produce $242,000,000.

Estate Tax Rates Retained.

Details of the Treasury presentation last night were not immediately available, but Chairman Doughton of the committee told newspapermen that Mr. Paul had said a tremendous increase in Treasury personnel would be required for administration of a retail sales tax.

Mr. Doughton said the committee probably would discuss first the Treasury's excise program, but he added that it was "absolutely certain that a sales tax is going to be considered by the committee."

The committee yesterday decided to reject a Treasury proposal that estate and gift taxes be increased to produce $330,000,000.

The members retained the present rates, but previously agreed to the Treasury's recommendation that a uniform $60,000 estate tax exemption be substituted for the present combined $80,000 exemption—based on $40,000 of life insurance and $40,000 of other real and personal property.

Dutch Sailor Survives Dunkerque, 5 Sinkings

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—Three Dunkerque crossings, five ships sunk under him by torpedoes and two by aerial bombs, a career by a live torpedo—those are some of the experiences related by Ferdinand Van Der Steen, Dutch merchant sailor now recovering at Marine Hospital here from an appendectomy.

Van Der Steen has sailed American, British and Dutch boats.

Once he escaped a torpedo by inches, as it crashed into the engine room of his ship, but didn't explode. One of his worst experiences was that of drifting 17 days in a lifeboat, with no food and water the last two days.

Army to Commission Medical Students

The Army announced today that medical students who have completed advanced Reserve Officers' Training Corps courses, but have matriculated at an approved medical college will be commissioned as second lieutenants and placed on a deferred duty status until their medical course is completed.

They will receive their commissions in the service in which they receive their B. O. T. C. training, rather than in the Medical Administrative Corps. Students who have completed all their training except the required practical experience at an Army service school will be required to attend such a school before entering the medical college if possible. If that is impracticable, they will be commissioned in the Medical Administrative Corps and will be expected to qualify for commissions in the Medical Corps within a year after graduation.

Murray Foes Press For Action Criticizing C. I. O. Leadership

Failure to Halt Attacks On District 50 Hit at Mine Union Session

The family row in the United Mine Workers of America reached a new pitch today, with foes of Philip Murray, veteran vice president, who heads the Congress of Industrial Organizations, pressing for action on a resolution accusing the C. I. O. leadership of "sabotage and treason to labor."

The resolution was presented to the Mine Workers' Policy Committee yesterday by District 50, the organizing unit for dairy farmers, coke, gas, chemical and cosmetic workers.

The resolution said that Mr. Murray, as C. I. O. president, refused to take any action to prevent a campaign of "abuse, insult, injury, intimidation and slander" against the organizing efforts of the unit which was actively sponsored by John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers' Other C. I. O. unions have accused District 50 of raiding their membership.

Mr. Murray walked out of the Policy Committee meeting when the resolution was presented after denouncing the declaration as "an extraordinary procedure that did not conform to the principles of common decency."

He said later that he told his associates that the place to lodge charges against him as C. I. O. president or against any other C. I. O. officers was before the C. I. O. Executive Board, and he invited such action when the board meets next week.

The Policy Committee can advise the nature of the action to be taken on the resolution, and the decision will rest then with the Executive Board, whose members also are here, awaiting a meeting with Appalachian operators tomorrow to work out a schedule under which the miners will take cash instead of vacations this year so coal production may not be interrupted.

Witnesses disclosed that Mr. Murray yesterday, in protesting the District 50 accusations and defending himself before leaving the meeting hall, engaged in an interchange with Mr. Lewis on the question of Lewis' continuing in three positions—vice president of the miners, president of C. I. O., and president of the United Steel Workers.

Lewis sees no comparison. Mr. Lewis, it was said, raised the question. Mr. Murray, without answering directly, said the former had set the precedent by holding three positions, presumably referring to the years in which Mr. Lewis was C. I. O. chief and chairman of labor's Non-Partisan League as well as president of the miners. Mr. Murray added, however, that he became the C. I. O. president unwillingly, at Lewis' behest, and that Mr. Lewis had installed him as chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee.

Mr. Lewis, in reply, was understood to have said there was no comparison because only one of the three positions he had held was a salaried position, namely, the miners' presidency. Mr. Murray is holding two salaried jobs, but has announced he would not collect his $18,000 salary as vice president of the U. M. W. The Steel Workers made him president last week at $20,000.

Mr. Murray, announcing his intention to leave the hall to keep other engagements, also said he did not want to provoke any disorder. Mr. Lewis asked if he wanted to leave and Mr. Murray replied he had to leave because of conferences he considered of paramount importance to American labor.

Observers said Mr. Lewis, who yesterday called Mr. Murray his "former friend," took Mr. Murray's hand and Mr. Murray in exchange clapped Mr. Lewis on the shoulder in a parting gesture.

Newsreels Show New Russian Rifles Stopping Nazi Tanks

Other Scenes of Kharkov Front Presented In Moscow Give Graphic Picture of Battle

By LELAND STOWE, Foreign Correspondent of The Star and Chicago Daily News.

MOSCOW, May 28.—The first newsreel pictures of front-line fighting in the great battle for Kharkov are now showing in Moscow's theaters. They include remarkably vivid scenes of German tanks charging, of Soviet artillery and anti-tank rifles knocking out several enemy monsters, of the forward rush of the Russian infantry, and in every way confirm the fierceness of the Kharkov combats.

The pictures give an exceptionally graphic reproduction of mechanized power and constant fluidity of movement as well as desperate intensity of the present death grapple on the southwestern front. They show Nazi tanks plunging forward across broken terrain, moving through a haze of smoke as shells burst around them and big Russian guns firing steadily from well-camouflaged positions.

Use Anti-Tank Rifles. Red infantrymen, each two soldiers carrying a long-barreled anti-tank rifle, rush forward from shell-hole to shell-hole, from hummock to hummock. They take cover and put their rifles into operation with great speed. Several of them open fire from the ground in a right-angle flank position on the enemy's advancing tanks. Whether hit by the artillery or the anti-tank rifles, the enemy tanks are stopped dead and Germans seen running from them.

The Associated Press, in its story of the showing of the newsreel, said an anti-tank rifle was pictured setting fire to a German tank. The same weapon, resembling a long-rake-handle with a narrow nozzle at the end, was shown shooting down a gasoline-laden German supply plane.

Realistic Pictures. Other scenes catch successive groups of Russian infantrymen as they charge around the exposed face of the cliff. Clots of earth are tossed up by the spatter of machine-gun bullets. As one group goes around the cliffside and over the top, a soldier falls limply, as only a dead man falls, but waves of his comrades roll outward unflinchingly.

The pictures also show Soviet troops fighting their way through the shell-torn ruins of a village. The main street one woman tries to tear down a signpost bearing a German inscription. A red soldier knocks the lettered board off with his rifle butt and both laugh happily.

Battle Flag Presented. In another sector the newsreel shows a Red guard regiment drawn up at attention being presented with a new guard's battle flag. The color bearers kiss the flag as it is handed to them. Then long lines of troops leaning forward on one knee repeat in chorus the pledge to fight until the last German is driven from Russian soil. These soldiers have great precision, reveal the most complete discipline and have physiques which rival anything the Nazi veterans of the Polish campaign, whom I saw in Norway, could boast of.

The Soviet photographers who filmed the Kharkov battles operated under fire throughout and advanced with their own charging troops, must have escaped death or injury by little short of a miracle. The audience watched these scenes in an eloquent, unbroken silence and, as the last battle scenes faded away, the same silence prevailed. To an extraordinary degree the epic struggle and heroic drive of the Russian Army on the Kharkov front has been brought home to Moscow. For a few short minutes we had seen and were able to grasp the terrific intensity and swift-shifting momentum of the Soviet's first large-scale spring offensive.

Drafted 'Father of Six' Put in Unit Near Home

By the Associated Press. PENDLETON, Oreg., May 28.—Louis Tartaglione, 27-year-old seaman, has been transferred by Adj. Gen. James H. Uilo from Pendleton Field to a unit near his home in Brooklyn, Colo., Frank W. Wright, base commander, reported yesterday.

Application for Tartaglione's discharge from the Army because of dependents is being made. Col. Wright said. His case drew wide attention earlier in the week because of Mrs. Tartaglione's appeal to President Roosevelt, in which she said her husband was the father of six dependent children.

NEW WAY TO CATCH THEM—One of the weirdest incidents of the submarine campaign against United States shipping occurred when a merchant vessel was attacked, not sunk, by an enemy submarine in the Gulf of Mexico recently. The torpedo blew a full-grown porpoise out of the water and the big mammal landed on the bridge of the vessel. This photograph was taken after the ship had reached a Gulf Coast port.

Bombs Alone Won't Win War, Pioneer British Airman Warns

LONDON, May 28.—Bombing alone will not win the war, Lord Brabazon, pioneer airman and former Minister of Aircraft Production, warned the nation today in a speech hotly attacking present policies of the Royal Air Force. The speech—a Wilbur Wright Memorial lecture prepared for delivery tonight before the Royal Aeronautical Society—was released for publication as British and American air chiefs were reported planning the war's greatest bombing operations. Lord Brabazon characterized bombing attacks on Germany as a luxury and declared that R. A. F. fighters' sweeps over the continent were unduly "costly in machines." He suggested that some of the craft allotted to these operations might better have been used in the Orient to halt the Japanese advance. By adopting a policy of trying to "bomb Germany into submission" and protect Britain from invasion with fighters the R. A. F. is "taking upon itself the whole winning of the war," he said, and this can never be done by air alone. The army is dependent for air support on R. A. F. "charity," Lord Brabazon asserted, but it fails "to think in terms of application of air power to new tactical operations, so no new weapons are produced." This was generally interpreted as an oblique reference to Britain's lack of dive bombers. Lord Brabazon said the navy's "battleship-minded" old school henceforth would "call more and more for air support" from "bitter experience."

Andrews Confirmed As Vice Admiral

The Senate confirmed yesterday President Roosevelt's appointment of Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews to the temporary rank of vice admiral, to be held while he is serving as commander of the eastern sea frontier. Senator Danaher, Republican of Connecticut, at whose request the action had been deferred several days, said publication of report of an investigation by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee showed that Admiral Andrews was not lax in his duty in connection with the fire which damaged the former French liner Normandie while she was being converted into a troopship.

MIDLAND, Tex., May 28.—Midland Spence Jowell, 68, old-time cattleman who promoted the rodeo as an international sport, died yesterday. In 1905 Mr. Jowell took a group of the West's best riders, ropers and bulldozers to Buenos Aires and Montevideo. From South America rodeo interest spread to England.

Track Coach Killed By Discus Thrown In Team Practice

HATBORO, Pa., May 28.—Harboro High School's track coach, James H. Beldier, Jr., was killed yesterday by a discus hurled by one of his pupils who was practicing on the school's athletic field. Coach Beldier was standing in the center of the field, discussing with Doylestown High coaches their impending dual track meet when the 3-pound, 9-ounce discus struck him on the skull. Mr. Beldier was graduated from Harboro High in 1933 and Bucknell University in 1937.

Shadows of War At Last Close In On New York

Gay White Way Is No Longer White, but Still Is Gay

By DON WHITEHEAD, Wide World.

NEW YORK, May 28.—At last the shadows of war are closing in on New York. There's a grim and brooding atmosphere about the big town these nights.

The streets are becoming dimly-lighted canyons. The towering buildings loom dark against the soft May skies with only occasional blobs of lighted windows to sharpen their outline. The crowds seem subdued by what has happened to their once brilliant playground.

But with all the dim-out that has robbed the city of its garish, colorful, sparkling glare, the shadows must become even deeper to remove the sky-glow from millions of lights which might silhouette ships at sea.

Maj. Gen. T. A. Terry, commanding the 2d Corps Area, said the city's glow was still "under a cloud of light," endangering the ships of the United Nations.

Night Spots Are Crowded. Authorities are considering a blackout of advertising signs for the duration and further dimming of street lamps.

Tourists who come to New York for their summer vacations are going to find the city has changed its nighttime appearance since they last saw it.

The Gray White Way? It's still gay enough behind the blackout curtains. The night spots and bars and dime-a-dance halls are crowded.

The headlines no longer chase each other across the front of the Times Building. The huge Wrigley sign has come down. Theater marquees no longer blaze the names of stars. Flashing signs studded with thousands of bulbs have been switched off.

Street Lights Shaded. Crowds wander through Times Square in a dusk-like glow contrasting strangely with the glare that flooded this thoroughfare only a few weeks ago.

Even the street lamps are shaded with a black band of paint to keep the light from shining upward.

Travelers returning from Europe—accustomed to stumbling through blacked-out streets—once gasped in surprise at Gotham's glitter. But no more. The shawl of protective darkness is being pulled tighter from the penthouses to the bowery.

With transportation difficulties growing, the flow of tourists into New York probably will be cut sharply this summer—but on the other hand, more New Yorkers will stay at home.

Keeping Good Home Aids War Program, Women Told

By the Associated Press. HARRISBURG, Pa., May 28.—Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, believes many women can best help the war program by "raising a family, keeping children well and happy and making a home sanctuary for a man during these chaotic times."

This, the Baltimore clubwoman told the convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, "is national defense and war service work."

She warned women against insisting on war service when they are either physically or mentally unfit for such duty and urged them to take an interest in consumer and conservation problems.

"The most important war work today," Mrs. Whitehurst declared, "is to keep our production line moving. * * * We can, through the development of public opinion, keep serious labor disputes from developing. Our women should learn something about labor and management and not listen to trouble-makers and hysteria creators."

Wilson Teachers Club Plans Concert Tonight

A patriotic song, "To a New Youth," composed by instructors at Wilson Teachers College, will be one of the features of the college club's spring concert to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the college auditorium.

The other principal number will be a cantata, "Legend of the Dandelion," by Clokey.

Mrs. Bernice Angelico and Miss Alberta Walker are the composers of "To a New Youth."

In addition to the choral numbers, piano solos will be offered by Daphne Brandt and Ellen Laubacher. Ruth Powkes is student director of the concert. Pauline Mattingly is music instructor at the college and director of the glee club.

Stop grousing about the things you can't spend your money for. You can still buy War bonds with it.

Ad Club Told Co-operation Is Needed in Price Control

The Government's price regulation program is co-operative, Merle Fainos of the Office of Price Administration, told a luncheon meeting of the Advertising Club yesterday, and calls for the combined efforts of Government, merchants and consumers.

It is the duty of advertisers, he said, to point out to the customer at all times that his cost of living has been "frozen," the continued impression of this message being of vital aid to the anti-inflation program.

Louis D. Krakow was named president of the club at the meeting, which was held at the Raleigh Hotel. Other officers elected are N. Ward Guthrie, first vice president; George B. Kennedy, second vice president; Ernest S. Johnston, treasurer, and Charles J. Columbus, secretary.

W. Frank Gatewood, James W. Hardey and William Sigmund were named to the board of directors.

Pre-fleet Training Bases Planned for Air Graduates

Seven new pre-fleet training bases for graduates of the regular naval air stations will set up in Florida and another in Brunswick, Ga., the Navy announced yesterday. The locations for the Florida stations will be Daytona Beach, Vero Beach, Melbourne, Lake City, Fort Lauderdale, Sanford and DeLand. Costing about $5,000,000 each, the bases will include a main field, two satellite fields and housing facilities for officers and men. All eight fields are to be in operation by August 1.

The students will first take the course of the pre-flight "toughening" school and then the regular courses at Pensacola or Corpus Christi. Then, instead of going to the fleet immediately, they will be sent to one of the new pre-fleet schools to polish their flying skill.

If you can't sleep at night—go out and buy a bond.

Volunteers of America To Aid Girl Workers

A special committee representing the Volunteers of America was to meet with Mrs. Roosevelt today to discuss plans for expanding the uses of the organization's Girls' Club and Hospice for women war workers arriving in Washington.

The committee, designated by J. B. Hess, chairman of the Volunteers' advisory board, consists of Mrs. Ernest W. Howard, Mrs. Vernon Cleever, Mrs. Charles P. Keyser, Mrs. Franklin G. Sartwell and Maj. and Mrs. Walter O. Ulrey.

The advisory board, at a meeting Tuesday evening, heard suggestions that the hospice be turned over to girls reaching the city without reservations for living quarters and that its lower floors be used as an entertainment center.

D. C. Youth to Graduate Robert K. Bain, 1302 Geranium street N.W., will be graduated Sunday from Green Mountain Junior College.

Gibson, Obscure Opponent of Wood, Proving Surprise of P. G. A. Championship

Kansas City Divotter Hot in Preliminary And First Round

Harmon Is Only Other Outinder Left as 16 Continue Struggle

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer.
ATLANTIC CITY, May 28.—The outstanding match in the second round of the Professional Golfers' Association championship at the Spruiling Sea View Club today appeared to be the one between Ben Hogan and Ky Laffoon, each of whom has, in turn, been a seven-day wonder among the country's big golf winners in recent years.

Either that or the match between Craig Wood the National Open champion, and Leland Gibson of Kansas City, Mo., who is little known in big-money circles but who has been shooting more than anybody's share of golf here.

That is the difficulty of a P. G. A. tournament. For the most part the country's money players run true to form. Something like 100 professionals from every corner of the country started play in the qualifying round three days ago, yet of the 16 still in there pitching today there were only two who might be termed outsiders.

Nelson Takes It Easy.
One of them was the aforementioned Gibson. The other was Tom Harmon of Montclair, N. J. The other 14 either were players who have won their share of national headlines in their time or who still dominate the game.

Byron Nelson, the favorite, reached the second round without exertion. His trick stomach was troubling him, as usual, and he wasn't quite satisfied with his game, yet the quiet-spoken Texan still was so far superior to his rivals that he spent a good part of the last two days experimenting with his various shots.

Gibson appeared to have the best chance of scoring an upset today. The slight, blond Kansas City player shot surprisingly good golf in the qualifying round and kept it up in overwhelming Jimmy Gaunt of Longview, Tex., in yesterday's first round. He had a 69 in the morning—three strokes under par—then took only 32 for the outward nine in the afternoon in beating Gaunt 10 and 9.

Wood Six Under Par.
But that still didn't mean he could lick Craig Wood today. Wood, veteran of a hundred big tournaments, was six under par when he closed out Rod Munday of Toledo, 5 and 4, yesterday.

Harmon, the only other "outsider" among the survivors, faced Jimmy Demaret today. Demaret, past champion, defeated the defending champion, Vic Ghezzi, in yesterday's opening 36-hole test. So Harmon's chances of being among the eight survivors tonight were less than bright.

Sammy Byrd, the former big league outfielder, carried almost the unanimous support of the gallery into yesterday's feature match against Sam Snead. But in the end it was Snead, the crack money player, who beat Byrd down in the afternoon and smashed him finally by a lopsided margin of 7 and 6.

Hawkins

dling them in an exclusive sort of style, with a "you-take-it, no-I'll-take-it" attitude that wasn't appreciated by the crowd.

The Red Sox mustered two runs in the first inning, when Jimmy Pofahl contributed two errors, then nicked Newsom for two more in the fifth. Newsom and Alejandro Carrasquel collaborated in yielding four runs in the sixth and the Red Sox produced their final two runs off Carrasquel in the eighth.

The Nats, who obtained their first hit of the judgment in the fifth inning when Mickey Vernon opened with a single, manufactured their only run in the ninth when Estalella doubled to left and later scored as Third Baseman Joe Cronin missed up Bob Repass' double-play grounder by pegging wild past Bobby Doerr at second.

Beaned Sandlot Star Slightly Improved; Injuries Grow

Remington Case Is One Of Epidemic Marring Industrial League

Jack Remington, Center fielder who was struck on the head by a pitched ball yesterday in a game on the Ellipse, was reported slightly improved today at Emergency Hospital, where he was removed following the accident.

At the hospital it was said he would not be discharged for several days and probably would not be able to be moved today for X-rays to determine the full extent of his injury.

Remington's injury is the latest in a series that have marred Industrial League games this week. Monday Frank Brewer, Heurich third baseman, tripped over first base and twisted his knee so badly his physician has advised him to give up baseball for keeps. It was a game leg he had been nursing carefully, one that probably prevented him from going up to the majors and his loss will be a blow to the team.

In the same game Max Pospack, Brewer first sacker, suffered a sprake wound that necessitated several stitches.

Last Tuesday Bill Simonds and Archie Via, Mellonas Cafe outfielders, collided while chasing a fly and Simonds broke his collarbone, suspending his career for the season. Yesterday "Knocky" Thomas, Little Tavern catcher and manager, split a finger and will be lost for at least 10 days.

Brewer's departure from the lineup will force the return of Huck Stahl, veteran infielder, who announced his intention of quitting this season and who has been on the sidelines.

Rosslyn Bowlers Cut Mellon, Hold Two Tournays Tonight

Besides receiving their annual prize awards tonight, Rosslyn Independent League bowlers will have an opportunity to collect some extra coin in two attractions Manager Galt Davis has scheduled for the windup of the season 20-club loop. Following the annual league sweepstakes, which starts at 7:30 o'clock, the Rosslyn bowling impresario will stage the regular Thursday mid-night tournament at 10. All pin-splitters are eligible to compete in the latter three-game handicap event.

Prominent in the payoff will be members of the pennant-winning Goss Co. team, which won 71 out of 114 games to nose out Floyd Decorators by two games; the third-place Arlington Trust rollers and the fourth-place Quality Shop pinners. Others to receive big slices of the Mellon will be Eddie Keith of C. & C. Restaurant, who rolled the top average of 124-11; runnerup Billy Stalcup with 121-43, and season record-makers, who include Oscar Swaim, high game, 179; Leon Fleischer, high set, 434; Cooke Press, high team game, 693; Old Dominion Bank, high team set, 1,885.

The usual Thursday night handicap will be the attraction at Bethesda Bowling Center starting at 8 o'clock. Manager Roger Peacock will accept entries until midnight. The three-game tournament is open to rollers of both sexes. A two-third handicap will be based on scratch of 125. Entrance fee is $1.69.

Featured by the veteran Nick Chaconas' 142-387, National Beer swept Jernigan's Cleaners at King Pin to deadlock the Rhode Island Avenue Business Men's Business pennant race with the Shamrocks, who dropped a game to Finner's Texaco. Lou Rose led the winners of the green to their 2-1 win with 373. The close flag chase will be decided next week when the Shamrocks, in front on total pins, meet the strong Greyhound Liquor quint while National Beer engages Brookland Post Office.

A record count of 390 by Larry Fulp led the Hillions to a 3-0 victory over Red Circle and a first-place tie with the Question Marks in the Lucky Strike Summer Mixed League. Boo Armstrong's 292 was high as the Question Marks trimmed Interstate, 2-1. Stretch Runners, led by Henry Valk's 366, took the rubber game from the Drape Shapes.

Ace Bowlers to Fire As New Alexandria Plant Is Opened

Array of Civic Leaders Attend Christening Of 32-Drive Alley

After Mayor William T. Wilkins of Alexandria rolls the first ball, six of the foremost duckpin shooters of this section will fire away in the christening ceremonies of the new Alexandria Recreation Center tomorrow night starting at 8 o'clock. Lou Jenkins, Washington's No. 1 bowler who appears to have a lock this season on the No. 1 national crown worn by Astor Clarke for the last six years held the cast of stars which will include Perce Wolfe of Hyattsville, who leads the top-notchers of this area with an average of 129-94 for 102 games in the Prince Georges County League; Karl Goehenour, new National Capital League champion; Billy Stalcup of Rosslyn and one of the leading sweepstakes winners this season, and Frank Davis and Eppa Kane of Alexandria.

Others expected to attend the opening of the sparkling 32-alley plant, which is located at Montgomery and North St. Asaph streets, are City Manager Carl L. Budwey, Representative Howard W. Smith, Judge William C. Yellin, J. Edgar James R. Duncan, City Treasurer Roger Sullivan, Police Capt. Edgar Sims, Fire Chief James M. Duncan and Martin E. Greene, secretary of Alexandria Chamber of Commerce.

Jack Tulloch, whose name is synonymous with sports in Alexandria, is manager of the plant, and Russ Diehl, who also directs several other bowling establishments, including the Brookland Recreation, is general manager.

Meeting by Charles H. Tompkins & Co. at a cafeteria and community building room augment the two air-conditioned floors of 16 alleys each. The new drives will be open to the public Saturday afternoon starting at 2 o'clock.

Sally Loop Tilts Are Darkened

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 28.—The South Atlantic League isn't surprised at anything these days. At Augusta a night game was postponed because of darkness—a test blackout.

At Charleston a game was called at the end of the 11th inning because of dim-out regulations along the Atlantic Coast.

OUTDOORS With BILL ACKERMAN

Virginia Strives to Keep Streams Clean; Sale of Duck Stamps Makes Big Gain

Flyrod enthusiasts have complained of streams in Virginia so polluted that trouting is out of the question and want to know what can be done toward correcting the situation.

Carl H. Nolting, chairman of the Game and Inland Fisheries Commission, who is charged with the enforcement of anti-pollution laws, and who has been working steadily to keep the waters of the Old Dominion clean, would wish a workable answer to the same question.

Industry Aggravates Condition. Increased industrial development in the State in recent months has aggravated greatly the pollution problem. Many important streams are losing their fishy populations and all aquatic life in them is threatened seriously.

Virginia has a law against pollution of any waters, but the maximum fine of $200 often makes paying for violation easier than correcting the condition. During chaotic war times wastes are dumped in the easiest and quickest manner.

Individuals can do their part by reporting pollution. Remember that duck stamp for which you shelled, out a buck to make your State license a legal excuse to bag wild waterfowl? Last year the sale mounted to 1,260,810, according to figures just released by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service; approximately 150,000 more than in the preceding year.

These complications always are months late and therefore did not include the present hunting season, during which no doubt there was a like increase.

Even though the Atlantic flyway is counted equal to the Mississippi, again not a single coastal State was in the first five.

Minnesota sold 118,931 to take top honors for another year. Michigan fell just short of the 100,000 mark, with Wisconsin, California and Texas following in order.

To remind you, proceeds from the sale of "duck stamps" are earmarked for the establishment and

Cellar Finish Averted By Eastern as It Beats Coolidge

Speiser Hurls Ramblers To Second Triumph in High School Series

Eastern will be spoiled the opportunity of sharing the cellar with Coolidge in the interhigh school baseball race as a result of a 4-1 triumph over the Colts. It was the victors' second series win, ending a losing streak of four games, and marked Coolidge's sixth straight setback.

"Wee" Speiser, Eastern right-hander, held the losers to a lone hit and never was in trouble in the abbreviated game, terminated at the end of seven innings by previous agreement.

Hyrtle Alpert, a catcher who made his mound debut against Charlotte Hall several weeks ago and has been pitching regularly since, gave up nine hits for the losers, including a triple by Jiggs Simpson. Western scored singletons in four innings to clinch the verdict.

Girl Bowling Ace Acts as 'Pinboy'

By the Associated Press. When Ida Simmons, one of the world's top duckpin artists, ran out of pinboys at her small bowling establishment in Ocean Park, Va., she set up pins herself—25 games, in fact—for a group of bathing-suited bowlers.

Marble Shooters Ruled By Clarence Bolling. Eleven-year-old Clarence Bolling of Anthony Bowen Playground holds the city colored marble-shooting championship. He won it in the final of the competition at Baneker in defeating Charles Carey of Smothers playground. Carey is 7 years old, the youngest shooter yet to compete in the final.

Bolling reached the championship round by topping Robert Adams, 7-0, 7-3, while Carey advanced over Frederick Turner, 7-2, 7-1.

Deborah Road Retires Hurreham Trophy. By the Associated Press. DEVON, Pa., May 28.—Deborah G. Rood of Wilmington, Del., retired the Alyse M. Hurreham Memorial Trophy by riding her brown gelding, Calhoun, to victory over the 4-foot jumps in the third day of the Devon horse show. Miss Rood won the same event in 1940 with Silver Play.

Brook Acres Stables of Northbrook, Ill., continued its winning streak by taking three blues, two with Cadet Commander and one with Cassilis Crystal.

This apple gingerbread is bound to make a hit with the family! Peel, core and quarter 4 apples, poach sections gently until nearly done, and drain until quite dry. Melt 4 tablespoons butter and 1 cup brown or maple sugar in the bottom of a casserole. Arrange apples on top of sugar mixture, and top with contents of 1 package of gingerbread mix prepared according to directions on the package. Bake for 1 hour and 15 minutes, and serve hot with vanilla ice cream or whipped cream.

Old Favorite Appears in New Guise

Salmon Is Combined With Rice in Tasty, Economical Dish

The flavor of salmon is particularly fine with such bland foods as rice and a steamed salmon and rice mold is an excellent way to serve these two foods in combination.

The dish is made by lining a mold or a coffee tin with cooked rice, adding a filling made with flaked cooked or canned salmon, bread crumbs, chopped parsley, lemon juice, seasonings, topping with another layer of cooked rice and steaming the dish for about 30 minutes.

Served with either a mushroom or a tomato sauce and a crisp green salad it makes an eminently satisfactory meal for the hungry family or for service when company comes. It is an economical meal, too, one that will be a favorite with homemakers managing on limited budgets.

STEAMED SALMON RICE MOLD.

- 1 pound cooked or canned salmon. 1/4 cup bread crumbs. 1 egg (slightly beaten). 3 tablespoons lemon juice. 2 tablespoons parsley (chopped). Salt and pepper. 2 cups cooked rice. Flake the salmon. Combine 1 cup flaked salmon, the bread crumbs, egg, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon parsley and seasonings. Line a greased mold (or coffee tin) with the cooked rice. Fill in the salmon mixture and top with remaining rice. Steam covered, for 30 minutes. Unmold and serve surrounded by remaining 1 cup of salmon which has been heated with remaining 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Serve with tomato or mushroom sauce. TOMATO SAUCE. 2 cups cooked tomatoes. 1 onion (sliced). 2 tablespoons butter. 2 tablespoons flour. Salt, pepper. Place tomatoes and onion in saucepan and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Run through coarse sieve. Melt the butter, blend in the flour and gradually add the tomato puree, cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and is smooth.

Memorial Day Supper Conforms to Wartime

Memorial Day supper for the family is apt to be a "quickie" before the holiday movie in many homes. After the serious part of the day well probably be planning a supper for those members of the family not engaged in defense work. Here's a suggested menu to put on the table Memorial Day evening, or any evening when the effort that goes into the making of dinner or supper is being cut down. Ham loaf makes a very acceptable substitute for ham nowadays. Even when ground ham makes up only one-half of the loaf the flavor of ham predominates. With this meat, previously prepared, serve a sort of cross-section of salad and vegetable in one. Fill avocado half-shells with hot creamed asparagus. It isn't necessary to warm the half-shells for this service. The hot asparagus supply all the warmth needed if avocados are allowed to reach room temperature before cutting into half-shells for service. Add hot rolls to the menu, or dark rye bread, along with ripe olives and pickles.

Duff's GINGER BREAD MIX
ADD WATER MIX BAKE THAT'S ALL
"Ginger-burgers"
Here's a new! Cover slices of gingerbread with sharp cheese. Grill under broiler until cheese is melted. Serves 4 on a platter.
READY IN A JIFFY!
FULLY PREPARED! NEEDS NO SUGAR!

Salmon, either fresh cooked or out of a can, may be used in this tempting-looking dish. Rice is used to line the inside of a mold, the salmon placed within the rice casing, and steamed. It is unmolded on a platter, and served with mushroom or tomato sauce.

This Year's Holiday Picnic To Take Place Near Home; Traditional Food Offered

June 1 Marks End of Shad Season, But Ten Days of Grace Are Allowed Local Dealers

By Betsy Caswell, Women's News Editor.
Golden Bantam from Texas and Florida has made its initial bow in Washington markets; the quality of the ears from the latter States is surprisingly good. The same cannot be said of the Texas shipments so far. Greens continue good, with poke salad expected within a few days. Young, tender white turnips, complete with tops, offer a nice supply of vitamins at low cost, and asparagus is "prime" just now in quality and quantity—temptingly priced, too. Squash of all kinds, scallions, okra, fine tomatoes, baby beets with tops, peas, snap beans and cauliflower are all recommended for the week end.

Tartarian cherries—bright red and pleasantly meaty—have arrived from California and strawberries from New Jersey and nearby vines are large and full-flavored. A few blackberries have been noted here and there, but so far the quality has been poor. Citrus fruits are still good, with a nice balance being maintained between supplies from California and Florida.

The first day of June marks the official end of the local shad season, although dealers are allowed until the 10th of the month to dispose of supplies on hand. So if you are especially partial to this delicate fish, better indulge in it within the next few days! There is good red snapper available, fine scrod, halibut, salmon, mackerel, bass and any number of small pan fish to give variety to your menus. Scallops, shrimp, lobsters, crabs (both soft and hard) and clams are recommended for summertime meals. And there is another fish known as the "black will," which is considered a great delicacy by many people; it has, incidentally, the strangest face I've seen on any table fish—snub-nosed and broad, with a pouting mouth edged with ferocious-looking teeth.

With motoring and leisure hours to be severely curtailed this Memorial Day, the traditional picnics will be few and far between, except for those of us who live near parks or have our own yards where we may revel in an al fresco meal. However, the stores and markets, ever mindful of the housewives' comfort, are planning to run "specials" on such items as luncheon meats, hams, hot dogs, chickens for frying and lamb chops, so that you can get as much time off from the stove as possible.

You might, of course, be planning to attend the parade Saturday afternoon and perhaps the children would like to leave home early, to eat a picnic lunch on the way. Or, if you are late getting home, it will be very helpful to whisk sliced meats and potato salad out of the icebox or to broil a lamb chop or two in a hurry and not have to worry about preparing a long and elaborate supper. And, again, if you are a care-free young "kitchenette housekeeper," maybe you will want to get together with a group of friends and take a bicycling trip into the country on Sunday—taking lunch with you on the handlebars. So in any event it will be well for you to look into the bargains being offered in picnic foods, despite the changes that war has brought in our customary holiday routine!

Another item that fits nicely into the picnic scheme, although it will prove invaluable for home meals, too, is a new pate recently introduced that combines all sorts of ingredients that are good any good for you—while it manages to taste spicy and delicious. This product, that comes in a jar, contains, among other things, finely-ground pork livers, soy beans, wheat germ, plant proteins, oatmeal and a number of other items guaranteed to be chock-full of essential food values. The pate may be used as a spread for sandwiches or crackers, sliced with salads, or it may be made into hash, croquettes and other hot dishes. There are several suggested recipes on the jar. Something new under the sun!

Another innovation will be butter wrapped in parchment paper that has been impregnated with a new mold inhibitor. Cheese, too, will be wrapped in the inhibitor and butter and cheese so-wrapped are expected to have two to three times the length of mold-free existence enjoyed by unwrapped products. The experts say that there will be no change in flavor, texture, nutritional value or appearance. A quantity of bread, too, during the next few months, is expected to be treated with the mold retardant. Will wonders ever cease?

Care of Electrical Equipment.
That housekeeper's Nemesis, the Office of Price Administration, reminds us that after May 31 no new electrical equipment for home use will be available—and warns us to take meticulous care of what we have. Take that trusty electric iron, for instance—don't yank the cord out of the socket by the cord itself. Use the plug, that's what it's there for. If you mail the cord you may damage or loosen wires, and blow the iron itself to the nearest junk pile the next time you try to connect it. Don't let the iron overheat—that destroys the heating element in no time. Keep the sole plate clean and free of starch, scratches, etc. Clean the plate with a damp cloth, but never put the iron in water. Let the iron cool before storing it, and coil the cord neatly to prevent its wearing in the kinks.

Scrub waffle iron grids with a fine wire brush, and brush grids with unsalted oil. Then let iron heat for 10 minutes. This will re-conditions the surface. Any excess oil may be soaked up by a piece of bread.

Clean your electric coffee-maker by putting a tablespoon of baking soda in the section that holds the grounds. Set the machine to percolating until section is clear and clean.

O. P. A. also announces that the final decision on the canning and preserving situation is that for canning housewives will be allowed 1 pound of sugar for every 4 quarts of finished fruit, and 1 pound of sugar per person will be allotted for making jellies and jams. Application should be made through your local rationing board. Women are urged to do more canning than preserving, to make the sugar go farther. Might as well, at that—you can't make much jam or jelly with 1 pound of sugar!

There's more variety in lamb chops than many homemakers realize, and this very variety may be used to good advantage in the name of economy and special usage. You probably know all about rib and loin chops, but are you acquainted with chops cut from the shoulder as shown above? They are large, and contain little bone, and if cut about one inch thick make a generous serving. Broil them as you would other chops, for 12 to 15 minutes, until nicely browned on both sides. Spiced peaches, heated through, make a fine accompaniment.

Last-Minute Suggestions for Strawberries; 'Potatoes Marguerite' Are Appetizing

Two of today's recipes feature strawberries. In addition to these we add a couple of other recipes that use eggs. Phyllis Bentley, the famous English writer, vouches for the potatoes Marguerite; and our own bright star of the movies, Ida Lupino, gives the sweet omelet recipe. These recipes come in handy in our nutrition-conscious wartime. The rule is an egg a day for children and at least three or four eggs a week for adults. Remember? But, of course, you can count the eggs you use in cooking when you tot up the total. Serving eggs as a main dish once in a while also helps you to feed the family the right quota. And a sweet omelet makes a good dessert. Ever try it? If not, why not now?

SWEET OMELET.
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ginger
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup quince or apricot jam
1 tablespoon sugar

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry; add salt. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored; add ginger. Fold yolks and whites together lightly. Melt butter in small frying pan; pour in egg mixture; cook over low heat until browned on bottom. Place in slow oven (325 F.) until top is set. Spread jam on one-half and fold omelet over. Sprinkle with sugar. Serve at once. Approximate yield, three portions.

POTATOES MARGUERITE.
3 cups well-seasoned hot mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
4 eggs

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry; add salt. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored; add ginger. Fold yolks and whites together lightly. Melt butter in small frying pan; pour in egg mixture; cook over low heat until browned on bottom. Place in slow oven (325 F.) until top is set. Spread jam on one-half and fold omelet over. Sprinkle with sugar. Serve at once. Approximate yield, three portions.

Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Form mashed potatoes into four nests, with hollow of each large enough to hold one raw egg. Put half tablespoon butter in each hollow. Drop one raw egg carefully into each nest, keeping yolk whole. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 15-20 minutes or until eggs are set and potatoes lightly browned. Garnish with chopped parsley. Yield, four portions.

STRAWBERRY FRUIT CUP.
1 cup white grapes.
2 cups halved strawberries.
1/4 cup currant jelly.
1/4 cup boiling water.
2 teaspoons grated orange rind.
Combine orange sections, grapes and strawberries; mix well; chill. Just before serving, combine jelly, boiling water and orange rind. Use hot as topping for each fruit cup. Approximate yield, six portions.

STRAWBERRY HONEY SHORT-CAKE.
Honey.
2 cups prepared biscuit mix.
Butter.
Save 6 whole strawberries; crush remainder and sweeten to taste with strained honey. Chill. Prepare biscuit dough according to directions on package. Roll out 1/4-inch thick and cut in two 8-inch circles. Fit circles into well-greased layer cake pans. Dot with butter. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) 15-18 minutes. Remove from pans; spread with butter. Fill and top with chilled strawberries. Serve with plain cream. Approximate yield, eight portions.

Betty Crocker suggests:

● A HEARTY DESSERT—then the rest of the meal can be (and should be) simple. Have a steaming vegetable noodle soup with oven-crisped crackers, some relishes such as celery, pickles, and radishes... then your dessert in all its glory, with coffee.

● EASY on both cook and budget! That describes our brand new product, called "Betty Crocker Vegetable Noodle Soup Ingredients".

Only 10c a package, and each package contains all the dry ingredients for six generous bowls of home-cooked soup. (Twice as much soup as you get from the average size can.)

● 99% READY TO COOK! Simply empty the package into boiling water, add butter, and simmer. Couldn't be much easier! In the package are seven different vegetables in flake form, and also lots of rich egg noodles, and tantalizing herbs and spices.

● HOMEY GOODNESS! Lots of it, in the soup you make this new easier way. You, yourself, cook the vegetables for the first time. They come to you "dehydrated" (brought to low moisture content) while fresh and crisp. This process retains the garden flavors of the vegetables. The noodles, too, are a joy... delicate and tender, yet keep their shape. They are made from Gold Medal durum flour.

● My staff and I hope you'll try our new soup product right away. Your grocer has it. A sunny yellow package

Today—hurry to the store with a purse full of pennies. Stock up with SweetHeart Soap for months and months ahead!

Dried Fruits Helping to Win War

Valuable to Workers And to Fighters as Source of Energy

In times of all emergencies there is an opportunity to become better acquainted with your close neighbor, animate or inanimate. Many foods, for example, which have for years been exported and have enjoyed top popularity as delicacies in Europe now are being eagerly consumed in huge quantities in our domestic markets. And so among many other changing situations Americans are turning more promptly to familiarize themselves with dried fruits—the finest, cleanest, best-tasting dried fruits produced in the world.

Not only have dried fruits brought a greater and acceptable variety into our menus but they have brought other values, too, especially economical and concentrated values, of which we hear so much these days. Did you know that when you are buying a pound of dried prunes you are buying the equivalent of 3 pounds of fresh fruit? And similarly that:

Raisins require 4 pounds fresh fruit to make 1 pound dried.

Figs require 3 pounds fresh fruit to make 1 pound dried.

Pears require 3 pounds fresh fruit to make 1 pound dried.

This concentration offers concentrated food value by way of indispensable vitamins and essential minerals, and it also represents concentrated fuel value, not in the least a minor consideration these days.

Every one knows that it takes quantities of fuel to drive a machine, be it human or otherwise. Every one knows, too, that sugar does an efficient job in energizing the human machine. Here is something that possibly every one does not know—fruits which are harvested for drying contain as much as 30 per cent more sugar than fruits which are harvested for canning or are intended to be shipped in the fresh state.

The reason for this is that fruit which is to be dried is allowed to remain on the tree or vine until it is thoroughly ripe, and with this ripening process the natural fruit sugars develop to this amazing extent. Vitamins and minerals, too, have added opportunity to develop. Not only do dried fruits contain a generous amount of sugar but, unlike table sugar, it is readily digested and is not only absorbed without any tax on the digestive system.

Of course, homemakers are not the only ones who are capitalizing on newer knowledge of dried fruits. You can bet your last dollar on the fact that Uncle Sam is, too. In the hundreds of Army, Marine and Navy bases located throughout the country each quartermaster's department is busy buying and requisitioning hundreds of tons of dried fruits which are being steadily consumed. The intense military nature of appeals to meet and often on maneuvers and on the march it is one of the likely foods carried along to be eaten "as is," for dried fruits are so processed and sterilized that they require no further cooking and are thoroughly enjoyed in their rather chewy native state. Not only is the fruit being consumed in huge quantities here, hundreds of tons are being shipped out of this country on lend-lease where every bit of space is at a premium and concentrated foods are given A-1 priority.

There is all kinds of speculation at the present time as to how fruit for drying is going to be harvested this year, since the home of the dried fruit industry is in California where much farm labor was Japanese. Californians aren't particularly worried about this, however, as the present time and the need for civilian defense by employing their energy and vitality in gathering the huge fruit crop.

The dried fruit prognosis is good and it appears that there is every reason for the homemaker to rest assured that she will be able to get her share of concentrated vitamin, mineral, sugar and taste goodness from dried fruits during the coming year.

Build Shelves
Do you need more shelf room? We can't suggest this one to folks trying to put up shelves in old houses; it might not work. But if you're remodeling or building, consider this feature we noted at Lucille Ball's new ranch house. The chimney piece in the living room is colonial, combines wood paneling and stone. Set into both sides of the chimney are shelves which Lucille uses for part of her collection of giant coffee cups. Husband Dest Arnaz's books on music. One of those "homey" touches which make a house individual.

Picnics needn't be elaborate to be fun—and this year with transportation curtailed it is well to make them as simple as possible so that the matter of carrying the "feed" doesn't present a serious problem. A lightweight thermos case of fabric with handles, a sandwich box covered in similar material, and a bag or basket for paper plates, wicker platters, etc., would take care of a very satisfactory meal. A collapsible table, with a detachable handle for carrying is nice, but not essential. Hot tea, with lemon, devilled eggs, tomatoes, and jam sandwiches make a fine menu!

'Waste Not—Want Not!' No Longer Just Proverb; Now a Victory Slogan

Any Unnecessary Food Wastage in Homes Must Be Eliminated to Help Conserve Resources

By the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture

"Waste not—want not!" is a maxim thrifty homemakers have always practiced. And with every rise in food prices the army of thrifty homemakers gets more recruits.

Today, stopping unnecessary food wastes at home has become much more than a matter of family thrift. It is a basic step in the Nation-wide movement to conserve all of this country's food resources.

Home economists in the United States Department of Agriculture list here many of the ways that food waste in the home may be prevented. They point out that the smallest food waste is never a minor matter. For these tiny wastes happening over and over again, total up to a staggering amount in a month or a year for the Nation's 34 million homes.

Wastes happen all along the line. So the homemaker has to practice constant watchfulness from the time she buys the food or gets it in from the garden until it appears on the family table.

Groundwork for much waste is laid in unplanned shopping. Wise buyers never shop without their notes. These notes may be mental or down in writing. But they are based on advance meal plans for the family for the period for which the shopping is being done.

Some homemakers can buy far ahead because they can make plans far ahead. Some can't. It depends on how regularly every member of the family eats at home. Some groceries can be bought long ahead of time. Some can't. It depends upon how perishable they are and the storage arrangements in the home.

Learning to know marks of quality eliminates much shopping waste. Government grades can help the buyer. So can other information on labels of packaged products. In other cases, a woman simply has to learn to recognize for herself the difference between good and poor.

Wise shoppers also know that they get their money's worth in quantity. This too, can be learned from reading labels. And it's good policy to be a scale-checker—see that you get all you pay for. Thrifty homemakers, for example, make sure that the butcher puts in all the fat trimmings with her cut of meat. These she uses in her cooking.

Improper storage is another food thief. A case in point is the prodigious amount of fat wasted in this country through improper storage. Leftover fats and drippings are good food and can be used again. But they must be stored as carefully as other fats—in a dry, cold, dark place. Left on the stove to grow rancid, they'll not only be a waste in themselves, but they will spoil the flavor of other foods in which they are used.

And just as there is a right way to store fats so there is a correct way to keep other foods. This means fewer servings per pound. Not visible to the naked eye, but failures. Careless measuring, for instance, can often make the difference between a successful cake and one that is thrown away or only half eaten.

Directly and indirectly, a great many food losses are the result of bad cooking or unattractive serving. Indirectly, poor cooking is responsible for food the family wastes by leaving portions uneaten on the plate. Tasteless, monotonous meals and servings that are too large can't keep a family interested. And no cook should pat herself on the back for saving leftovers, if she simply warms them up and has to throw them out later on. Good cooks use leftovers so they lose their identity in an entirely new dish. Leftover vegetables, for instance, seem like something else again in scalloped dishes, in soups and stews.

Good cooks never throw away a bit of meat drippings, but use them to fry potatoes, for instance, or flavor the string beans.

Directly, poor cooking causes bigger wastes. There's nothing that's more a total loss than a burned piece of toast or cake. When meat is improperly cooked at too high a temperature it shrinks in the process much more than necessary. This means fewer servings per pound.

There can be waste, too, in products that are carelessly prepared and because of that turn out to be

Many very obvious food wastes occur when food is being prepared for cooking. Here it is that they are likely to be so small they seem unimportant. But there can be a lot of waste in potatoes peeled too thick, in outside leaves of lettuce or cabbage thrown away as a matter of habit—in lemons or oranges only partially squeezed—in batter or dough not scraped thoroughly out of the mixing bowl.

There can be waste, too, in products that are carelessly prepared and because of that turn out to be important losses nevertheless are the vitamin values and minerals lost in cooking foods. To prevent these the Bureau of Home Economics has formulated the following 11 rules.

Don't stir air into foods while cooking. Don't put them through a sieve while still hot. Don't use soda in cooking green vegetables. In boiling foods, raise the temperature to the boiling point as rapidly as possible. Use as little water as possible. Don't use long cooking processes such as stewing when shorter methods are feasible. Don't throw away the water in which vegetables have been cooked. Use it in making gravies, sauces and soups. Prepare chopped fruit and vegetable salads before serving. Start cooking frozen fruits and vegetables while they are still frozen. Serve raw frozen fruits immediately after thawing. After food is cooked, serve it at once.

Do You Know?
—That the word "SQUASH" comes from an American Indian word, "askutsquash"?

—That high-grade gelatin is made only from the finest-selected white connective tissue found in food animals, and NOT from animal hoofs, as some people have been misled to believe?

—That adding half a cup of olive oil to 2 pounds of fresh peas, cooked in enough water to cover, adds food value and flavor? The secret lies in simmering until the peas absorb every drop of water and oil.

—That added amounts of vitamin B1, niacin and iron are contained in enriched white bread, in addition to the usual ingredients? It can also have extra riboflavin, calcium and vitamin D, but these are optional.

Winning Contract

By THE FOUR ACES. (David Bruce Burnstone, Oswald Jacoby, Edward Schenken and Theodore A. Lightner, world's leading team of inventors of the system that has become known as bridge.)

Bad Bidding "This bidding must be unsound," admits a Chicago reader, "since there was absolutely no play for the contract and we needed luck to be saved only one trick. We didn't have that sort of luck and were mortified to be set two tricks at a voluntarily bid slam."

Perhaps North should have simply gone back to four no-trump after South bid four clubs. He had a perfectly sound raise to three no-trump, but no extra strength. His fine support for clubs was not particularly important in view of his flat distribution.

Uncle Ray's Corner

By RAMON COFFMAN. Recently an 11-year-old boy named John Inwood found a bottle filled with white tablets a short distance from his school, and took them to his teacher, saying: "Will you please take care of these tablets? They are poisonous. The label says 'Nux Vomica' and that contains strychnine. I know because I looked it up in the dictionary."

The NUX VOMICA TREE YIELDS THE USEFUL AND DEADLY STRYCHNINE

of drugs. In the right hands, they can do good, but in the wrong hands they may cause great harm. Each year hundreds of persons take poison by mistake. Sometimes an adult reaches into the medicine cabinet in dim light at night and pulls out the wrong medicine. If medicine must be taken at night, good light should be used so the label on the bottle can be seen plainly.

NATURE'S CHILDREN

—By Lillian Cox Athey

YELLOW PERCH (Perca flavescens)
Yellow perch is often referred to as "everybody's fish" because it is so easily caught. It is eager to sample all kinds of bait, and may be caught even in winter, when many other fish are too numb with cold to take much interest in food, no matter how tempting the bait let down through a neat little hole in the ice.

Navy Department to Impose New Rules Regarding Visitors

Unsupervised wanderings by even authorized visitors in the Navy Department building will cease Monday, when new and stricter regulations take effect.

The new procedure, intended to expedite official business, provides for the establishment of reception centers at various entrances to the building and individual reception rooms attached to each activity and bureau.

Separate entrances have been set up for visitors to each branch of the Navy Department. Official visitors, including members of Congress and the Diplomatic Corps, members of the armed forces and other Government interdepartmental callers and employees on official business will use the main entrance of the Navy Building, at Eighteenth street and Constitution avenue.

Entrance for "Bidders." Commercial visitors, except those having business with the activities housed in new temporary buildings south and east of the main building, will use the entrance at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue.

A reception building has been established at the east end of the compound, including temporary buildings south of the main building. A separate "bidders' entrance has been provided at the same place, the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts being housed in this group.

When the group of buildings east of the main building is completed similar facilities will be arranged there.

On Sundays and holidays, commercial visitors to the south and east building groups and to the main building will be admitted only through the entrance at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue.

Escorts to be provided. All commercial visitors, except those visiting the bidders' rooms of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, will be required to arrange appointments before their visits with the officers or officials they wish to see.

Under the new streamlined procedure, receptionists at the visitors' entrances will verify appointments.

Arguments Expected Today In Jap Propaganda Case

Arguments to the jury in the District Court trial of Frederick Vincent Williams and David Warren Ryder, charged with violating the Foreign Agents' Registration Act, were to get underway today.

Lengthy arguments on prayers prevented the case from being argued yesterday afternoon. Whether the case will go to the jury today depends on the time consumed by summation statements. Justice T. Alan Goldsborough is expected to have a lengthy charge to deliver.

Testimony in the case covered three weeks. The two American publicists are accused of spreading Japanese propaganda in this country. The Government charges they put out material for the Japanese Committee on Trade and Information, San Francisco.

Lt. Gen. E. K. Smart, chief of the Australian Military Mission to the United States, will address a smoker of Virginia Military Institute graduates tonight at the Army and Navy Club. He will be entertained at dinner before the smoker.

Hearings Start Tuesday On Federal Pay Raises

The House Civil Service Committee will start hearings Tuesday on legislation to raise the pay of Federal employees to offset advancing living costs.

Representative Ramspeck, Democrat, of Georgia, committee chairman, will cover two bills in the hearings—one to give Government workers a flat $300 bonus, and the other, to grant time and one-half overtime after 40 hours to per annum workers. The former measure is sponsored by American Federation of Labor employe groups; the over time bill is an administration proposal.

Mr. Ramspeck said today also that he will ask the House for a special rule to take up a bill to rewrite Classification Act scales for lower-paid employees in the custodial services and raise the pay of guards from $1,200 to $1,500 annually. This measure reported out some time ago, was snaggled in the House by objections to a provision for raises in upper bracket salaries. There is a possibility that this feature will be eliminated. The measure has been endorsed by President Roosevelt.

Chairman Ramspeck believes that sentiment is growing for the overtime bill, although some opposition to it has been expressed. The House hearings are expected to last two or three days.
