

American Bombers Blast Jap Flying Field on Wake Island Port Abandoned

Pilots Report Weak Defense Of Pacific Base

All U. S. Planes Return Safely; One Damaged

United States bombers attacked Japanese-occupied Wake Island Saturday and damaged the airfield and various shore installations there with only minor damage to one plane, the Navy Department announced this afternoon in a communique.

Japanese aircraft and fighter defense on the former American owned Pacific island was weak, the communique declared. All the bombers that took part in the raid, the Navy said, returned safely,

The communique follows: "Central Pacific area:

"3. Enemy aircraft and fighter defense was weak and, although one bomber suffered minor damage during the attack, all of our planes returned safely."

The raid Saturday was the second made by United States forces since Auxiliary Policeman capture of the island by the Jap-anese last December 23. The first raid was February 24. A naval communique describing that attack on February 24 pointed out that the Japanese had worked feverishly to strengthen the small island's defenses against attack. In that raid, 219 bombs from aircraft and many shells from cruisers and destroyers were rained on the shore installations and landing field.

Matruh Capture Claimed by Axis As Fighting Sweeps Nearer Suez; Nazis Press Third Soviet Front

British Hint Base Loss; U. S. Planes Sent Into Battle

By the Associated Press

The Axis announced today that its forces in Egypt captured Matruh this morning, thus reducing the first of the defense strongholds on the road to the rich valley of the Nile, the naval base of Alexandria and the Suez Canal. The British did not deny the claim

But indications were that the Allied forces making up the 8th British Army had withdrawn to take another stand in desperate search for positions from which the Axis juggernaut could be halted after its impairment in isolated engagements and reinforcement of the defense.

"Not Last Bastion."

There was little doubt in London that the Axis claims were true, but a British military commentator declared that Matruh was "not the last bastior, between Tobruk and Alexandria.

Continuous and heavy fighting raged on in a wild melee of men and machines over the ever-broadening battlefield around the southeast of Matruh, strategic railroad center 175 miles west of Alexandria. The Allies, including the United States, were counting highly on air power to help turn the tide of battle. Many planes, including United States Air Force units, have been thrown into the struggle

The Germans, on the other hand, appeared also to have drawn heavily on their air resources in Europe, to challenge the Allies in the desert skies

British Inferior in Tanks. British tactics seemed to call for avoidance of a full-scale clash with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's columns so long as the defenders stood under the handicap of inferiority in tanks

Germans Push Out From Kursk in New Offensive

Et the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, June 29.-Probing the long, restlient Russian line for a weakness, the Germans today were smashing out from Kursk, about 280 miles south of Moscow, in a new drive presumably aimed at cutting the vital railway connecting the southern and central fronts.

The new offensive-the fourth started by the Germans this spring and which set up the Germans' third major summer front in Russia-came as the battered and weary Soviet defenders of Sevastopol fought off a succession of brutal Axis blows at the Black Sea fortress, now under attack for the 25th day. Other Red Army units were counterattacking fiercely in the Kharkov region and winning back some lost ground, front dispatches said.

(A military commentator in London said today that "the main German offensive" in Russia has opened with the attack in the Kursk area. The full weight of the German attacks is being felt in the Kharkov and Kursk areas as German Gen. Fedor von Bock strikes eastward toward crossings of the Don River and Stalingrad, he said.

(In Berlin the German high command said German and Rumanian troops have forced a crossing of the Tchernaja valley and infiltrated to Sapun Hill at Sevastopol.)

No Details Are Given.

Today's midday Soviet communique gave no details of the fighting east of Kursk, saying merely that during the night "in the Kursk and Sevastopol directions our troops engaged the enemy in battle."

Report to House Cuts OPA Funds 20 Million More

Defense Supply Bill Submitted, Giving Agency 75 Million

By the Associated Press.

The House Appropriations Committee today reported out a $1,810,487,615 defense supply bill, which cut an additional $20,000,-000 off funds for Leon Henderson's Office of Price Administration. The new cut brings the total for that agency down to $75,000,000. A subcommittee had reduced the figure to $95,000,000 last Wednesday.

Mr. Henderson originally had asked $200,000,000 for his agency. The Budget Bureau cut that figure to $161,000,000 and the subcommittee last week more than halved Mr. Henderson's request. The full committee, in executive session, reduced the figure further on motion of Representative Jed Johnson, Democrat. of Oklahoma

Today's measure, it was estimated. would boost to approximately $228,-000,000,000 the amount projected for national defense since June, 1940. The new bill carries funds for almost a score of war agencies for the fiscal year starting Wednesday. Most of them have been operating in the past on emergency allocations. While more than one-half the total, $1,100,000,000, is for the War Shipping Administration, the $75.-000.000 item for OPA was expected to be the only part of the bill over which a controversy of any consequence would develop.

Restriction on OPA Funds.

To make certain the $75,000,000 would be all that Mr. Henderson's agency would have to spend during the new year, the committee wrote into the bill a restriction that the OPA funds "shall not be augmented by allocations or transfers of funds was given Congress today by the from any other appropriation.

The new blow in the Kursk sector came yesterday and the Russians said only that the Germans "had gone over to the offensive" there. Threat to Communications.

Heaviest Draft Call A German break-through east of Kursk would not only threaten vital Russian communications, but also could be maneuvered to bring the Russian forces in the Kharkov Married Men to Go sector into reach of an encirclement movement from the north.

Dispatches from the Kharkov front said last week's German drive through Kupyansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov, had been blunted and that Russian troops had taken the offensive, throwing tanks, planes and even an armored train into the battle. The Germans were retreating in some areas, the reports said. Although admitting that the Germans "succeeded in somewhat pressing our units" in one sector of the bitter siege of Sevastopol, the Russians announced that "on all other sectors the enemy attacks were repulsed with enormous losses to him.' The Soviet Information Bureau told of one unit at Sevastopol which met and threw back 16 German attacks in three days and the reports indicated that the furious fighting there was continuing.

Of the four major spring thrusts initiated by the Germans only the occupation of the Kerch Peninsula has been successfully concluded. Sevastopol still is fighting back and a succession of German drives on the Kharkov front has been dulled and diverted, according to recent reports. The progress of the push rom Kursk still is uncertain.

Except for four minor items, the committee's report said, "All of the amount • • • has a direct relation to the war effort.'

The committee explained its $1,-000,000 Office of Censorship cut by saying it had no criticism of that agency or its plans for a total personnel of 17.890, but believed the amount approved would be adequate. Should more be needed, it added, "consideration can be given to a supplemental appropriation.

Emphasis on Part-time Workers

The sharp cut in the OPA fund, the commiteee said, contemplated the placing "of greater emphasis" on voluntary and part-time workers. The $75,000,000 provided, the committee added, would permit employment of a force of approximately 30,000 paid workers, or about 50,000 less than Mr. Henderson said he needed. The 40,000, the committee commented, would exceed "by substantial numbers" the paid working

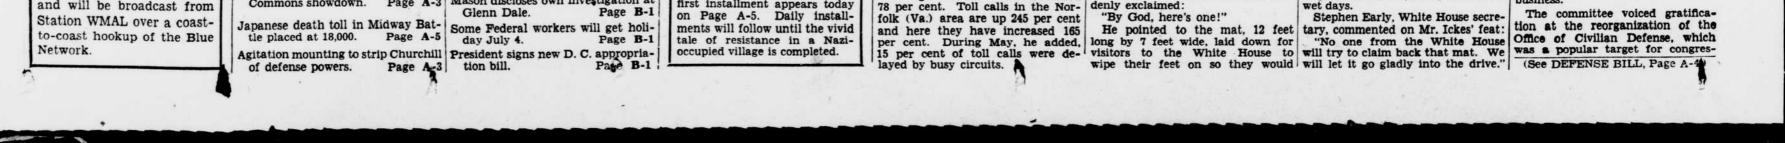

The committee wrote into the OPA section a ban against "the purchase of evidence of violations of the law." This, committee members said, was intended to prohibit the employment of paid "snoopers."

It also included a prohibition against making public any information obtained by the Office of Emergency Management in inspections, examinations or reports concerning business.

months, Chairman James Lawrence Fly of the Federal Communications Commission said today that the country faced 'some undesirable alternatives" unless it voluntarily cut down on use of telephones. The alternatives, he told a press conference, were the use of more critical materials to expand the communication system or "the adoption of definite means to lessen demands on the system." Asked what means might be used. Mr. Fly said that while he hesitated to speculate, they might entail banning certain classes of business which use telephones extensively, shifting some types of business to certain hours, or instituting a system of priorities.

Leader Brands Increase Henderson Allowed As 'Iniquitous'

(Earlier Story on Page A-2.) By the Associated Press.

Senator George, Democrat, of Georgia told the Senate today the 21/2-cent per gallon gasoline price increase allowed in the East was a "most forceful illustration of a bad administration of an unjustified order, followed by a ruling that is positively iniquitous in a free country under any circumstances."

He said if rationing is necessary to conserve rubber and transportation "then there can be no justification for refusal to ration on a Nation-wide basis."

Senator George predicted that "sooner or later the lid will fly off" the price ceiling program because Administrator Leon Henderson "made the mistake of thinking he could put price ceilings on commodities without also putting ceilings on the two basic cost factorsraw materials and labor.

White Joins in Criticism.

Senator White, Republican, of Maine joined in the criticism of the rationing program, asserting Subcommittee Set Up that the gasoline regulations had "ruined a $100,000,000 tourist business" in Maine.

The discussion was touched off For Hearings on New South Carolina, who declared "this business of rationing gasoline is an D. C. Blackout Bill American people.

off the deal, paying only $150 to the officer who arranged it. The major reported them, Mr. Danner said.

National Airport Reported Operating on Profit Basis

Associated Press. The House Appropriations Committee approved today a request of the Washington National Airport for funds to employ 12 additional guards, bringing the total force to 44 men.

A supplemental allowance of $28.-500 also provided funds for gardeners and caretakers for the ground and for clerical employes. John Groves, manager of the airport, told the committee in hearings made public today that operating costs for the current fiscal year were paid off by last April 1, so that from that date to the end of the year "we were operating at a profit." Although commercial airline operation has declined since the middle of May, he said, Army and Navy operations have increased so that "the overall picture of arrivals and departures I do not think will change very much."

D. C. Faces Severest Gasoline Shortage; Price Up 2¹/₂ Cents

Filling Stations Jammed No Relief Seen Pending New Supply Wednesday

With a 21/2-cent-a-gallon price increase in effect this morning, Washington faced today its severest gasoline shortage, pending the new fuel quota to be available Wednesday, The Star learned in a check of filling stations in the Capital and nearby areas.

"There's a line a block long outside my door," said one station operator in the Southeast.

Another operator told the Amer-Ican Automobile Association, which also made a check, that his supplies would be exhausted half an hour after the pumps began running.

A majority indicated they would post "No Gas" signs before noon today. Some planned to save a little for sale tomorrow; some will have none

This situation was reflected throughout the entire rationed area. the Associated Press reported.

In Asbury Park, N. J., Sol Herzog, general counsel of the Eastern Seaboard Retail Gasoline Dealers' Conference, predicted that the approaching coupon rationing system will be no better than the present.

The 212-cent per gallon increase which went into effect today was attacked in New York by Mayor La Guardia as being discriminatory against the East. He demanded that the distance traveled by railway tank cars be reduced by "drawing oil from the Midwest, utilizing lake from the Midwest, utilizing lake barges, tankers and the New York Australian Destroyer canals.

Widow Ashamed Of Youth Held as Nazi Saboteur

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 29 .- The fiancee of one of eight Nazi saboteurs who landed on the East Coast from German submarines said last night that she was "ashamed and through with him" and that she "had a hunch something was wrong."

The woman, Mrs. Gerda Melind, 24. a widow of four years and beauty operator in a Loop hotel, said in an interview that she was to have been married this week to Herbert Hans Haupt, 22, one of two saboteurs arrested here yesterday. She said she met Haupt, a former ROTC cadet, about three and a half years ago, and had discussed marriage. About a year ago, she added, Haupt suddenly announced he was going to "visit California." and with the exception of a single postcard from St. Louis, soon thereafter, she hadn't heard from him or learned his whereabouts until this week.

"Terribly Nervous." She said Haupt's mother, Erma, telephoned her last Tuesday, saying:

"Herbert's back, but he doesn't say anything. I don't know where he's been. All I know is that he's terribly nervous."

Mrs. Melind said she saw him at dinner at his parents' home that night and "he was nervous, all

Six From D. C. Area Among 636 Leaving Shanghai for America

Sail on Conte Verde For Portuguese East Africa and Exchange

Six persons from the Washington area are aboard the Italian liner Conte Verde, which sailed today from Shanghai carrying back home 636 North and South American citizens, according to word received by the Associated Press and the State Department.

Of the total passenger list, 549 persons were listed as United States citizens, including Frank P. Lockhart, former consul general at Shanghai, it was reported by a Japanese broadcast.

The ship is sailing first for Portuguese East Africa, a voyage expected to take three weeks. The return of the North and South Americans is under an exchange agreement with the Japanese.

Names of more than 400 of the repatriates were made public by the State Department over the week end, including the six from this area.

From this area are: The Rev. Malcolm D. Shutters, 30, a Lutheran missionary, and Mrs. Janet M. Shutters, his wife; R. B. H. Craig, I. Hemingway, W. Hemingway and J. G. MacIntyre. The latter four were not identified further.

Earlier last week, the State Department had given out a list of more than 600 Americans being returned from Japan and other Japanese occupied territory. Both groups of Americans will be taken aboard Japanese ships to a Portuguese East African port. There they will be transferred to the Swedish motor ship Gripsholm for the voyage

Mr. Shutters is a native Washingtonian, the son of J. E. Shutters, 315 Fifteenth street N.E. He has been in China three years as a missionary from the Keller Memorial Church here. Agitation Mounting To Strip Churchill Of Defense Office

London Newspapers Give Support to Shift in Strategy Control

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.-Agitation for Prime Minister Churchill's replacement as minister of defense mounted today with the Axis asserting that Field Marshal Rommel's forces had seized Matruh and swept on to the coast.

Some of London's most influential newspapers gave support to the advocates of removal of war strategy from the hands of the Prime Minister, who, just back from his American conferences, will face a "no confidence" motion in an imminent parliamentary debate.

Mr. Churchill's stated conviction that "Egypt will be held" is likely to become a political issue. The government's optimism at the start of the current African campaign, which events have shown to be unjustified, is one of the chief targets of the opposition.

Overthrow Unlikely. Nevertheless political writers generally agreed that there was virtually no prospect that Mr. Churchill would be overthrown as Prime Minister.

Tempers inflamed by the first shock of the sudden Libyan setback had cooled before the news of Matruh's fall was received and the general attitude apparently was to get at the root of Britain's failures and dispassionately apply the cures.

BOUTE OF THE FLAGSHIPS

Follow them carefully-for your own welfare and for victory. 1. Eat right

Milk, butter, eggs, fish, meat, cheese, beans and peas, fruit, green leafy vegetables and the yellow ones, whole-grain or enriched cereals and bread-these are the key foods. Eat plenty of them. And eat 3 meals a day!

5 RULES

2. Get your rest

Regularity counts most. You can't catch up on lost sleep or missed relaxation! Try to keep on a regular schedule every day. Take it easy for a little while after lunch and dinner. Go to bed on time, get up on time.

3. See your doctor

once a year

You have your car checked and serviced every thousand miles. Do as much for your body. Physicians can prevent many diseases and illnesses for both children and grownups nowadays. Give your doctor a chance now, BEFORE you get sick. Go to see him!

4. Keep clean

Plenty of baths, lots of soap. Clean hands, clothes, houses, beds! Get fresh air, sunshine. Drink lots of water.

5. "Play" some each day

Romp with the family, visit with friends, take walks, play games-or do whatever you like to give your mind and body a change from the daily grind on the job. "All t/ork and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

News from home that all are well and working hard is what our soldiers want most to hear!

What can one person-at home-do to help win the war?

Just do your level best to stay well, to keep from being sick and losing time or spreading your illness.

By the end of this year 35,000 nurses and 40,000 physicians and dentists will be away at war. That is nearly one-third of America's total medical force! And so, for our own sakes we should save our remaining doctors' time for serious and unavoidable sickness and accident.

It's EASY to keep well

Keeping well today isn't as hard as it used to be. Just follow a few simple rules and you have a fine chance to escape most kinds of sickness!

And it is terribly important-to you, to your family and to the whole nation right now. Read how important DR. THOMAS PARRAN, Surgeon General of the U.S. Public Health Service, says it is for you to keep well:

"Each individual can contribute to his own health protection and improvement by adopting a few simple ways of healthful living. Each of us must accept this responsibility and stick to it with firm purpose. The total of individual responsibility for personal health, accepted by millions of American men and women, will make an incalculable contribution to victory."

Read the rules in the next column. Follow them. If you do, you will be helping to win the war.

Sales Levy Expected To Crop Up Again In Tax Bill Fight

Revenue Measure Faces Battle on 3 Other Fronts Before Going to House

By the Associated Press.

While technical experts prepared a draft of the once-completed $5,900,000.000 tax bill, Barton related, when he saw two camps, the FBI is adding 998 "G-House Ways and Means Com- Messerschmitt fighters heading for men" to its staff. mittee members said today that him from either side at an altitude four major fights, headed by new of 10,000 feet. sales tax arguments, probably In evading the Nazis his Halifax sabotage" in the United States, most measure reaches the House.

doubtedly would be presented to hard." consider again not only a "war confor corporations and corporate excess profits tax rates, "the withholding" plan of income tax collections and proposed increases in second and third class postal rates.

Sales tax advocates were counting whether such a levy might be passed, despite the committee's 14to-9 decision against even considering it. It has been estimated that a 5 per cent retail sales tax would produce $2,500,000,000 a year.

May Cut Pay Deduction.

Some members have contended that the postwar credit plan, based on redemption of bonds equal to 14 per cent of a corporation's excess profits income, which would be taxed a flat 94 per cent, would not help small companies which currently might not have much excess profits income.

Other members have argued that the refunds, which it is estimated would total $876,000,000 on the basis of 1942 tax liability alone, actually would reduce the new tax load on business. Therefore, they have suggested an upward revision in the amount of excess profits income which is subject to taxation.

Less than 24 hours after the committee completed its first study of the new bill which contained a provision for payroll deductions of 10 per cent of the difference between an individual's income and his exemptions, Secretary Morgenthau disclosed that the "withholding" rate might be cut to 5 per cent.

The committee's plan contemplated that half of the deductions starting in January would apply against 1942 taxes due in 1943; the other half against 1943 taxes due in 1944.

But Mr. Morgenthau forecast the possibility that such a complicated process might give way to a 5 per cent deduction applicable against future year payments.

Reader's Digest assigned a scientific testing laboratory to find out about cigarettes. They tested seven leading cigarettes and Reader's Digest published the results.

The cigarette whose smoke was lowest in nicotine was Old Gold.

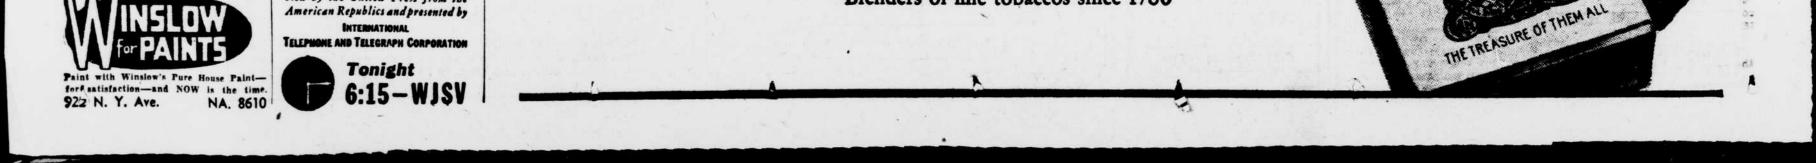

The cigarette with the least throat-irritating tars and resins was Old Gold.

On both these major counts Old Gold was best among all seven cigarettes tested.

Occupants to Be Women Workers in Salary Bracket of $1,800

With work progressing on schedule, the Meridian Hotel, at Sixteenth and Euclid streets N.W., constructed as one unit in the relief of Washington's housing shortage, was nearing completion today and is expected to be ready for occupancy on the date originally set, July 15 To clear up a misconception on the part of some Government workers, who have understood the building was to be a "dormitory" for Federal employes, F. C. Minnick, manager and operator, said today it is what its name indicates-a hotel, with clientele restricted to woman workers in Washington. The hotel, Mr. Minnick further explained, is not to be Government operated. It is owned by the Defense Homes Corp., a private organization, though it was built with funds lent by the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Some Government workers have protested that the rentals to be charged at the hotel are beyond the means of those whose salaries are in the neighborhood of $1,440 annually The operators of the project agree admitting that rooms, renting for $8 to $9.50 weekly, can be afforded only by those whose salaries are at least $1.800.

At no time, however, did the Defense Homes Corp. intend to create the impression a cheap-rental dormitory was being constructed, it is emphasized. So our railroad wheels will click over the Fourth of July week-end speeding military and war-business travel just as at any other time.

In addition, we shall carry thousands of our armed forces traveling over the week-end.

Please consider these facts in making your holiday travel plans. Try to "time" your trip so as to avoid the peak rush Friday afternoon and evening. Below we offer a number of helpful suggestions-please read them.

To the best of our ability we shall endeavor to accommodate you, but should you be inconvenienced in any manner, please remember we must keep the war effort rolling-first, last and always, holiday or no holiday!

SUGGESTIONS TO NELP MAKE YOUR TRIP RUN SMOOTHLY

- 1 If possible, start your trip on Wednesday or Thursday to avoid the peak rush on Friday.
- 2 Plan to return on Monday or later in the week.
- 3 Whether you're going Pullman or Coach buy your tickets in advance and avoid standing in line at station ticket windows. Buy round trip tickets. You save time and money.
- 4 If you're going Pullman, please accept whatever accommodations are available. And if you decide to postpone your trip, please cancel your space at once so that it can be assigned to others.
- 5 If you're going coach, be sure to get to the station well in advance of your train's departure time.
- 6 Travel "light"-take as little luggage as possible. Excess luggage takes up space, makes for discomfort.
- 7 Get complete information about train schedules well in advance.

Capture of 15,667 Enemy Troops From June 7 to June 28 Claimed

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 29 .- The high command arnounced today that German and Rumanian troops have forced a crossing of the Tchernaja Valley and infiltrated to Sapun Hill at Sevastopol.

The German communique said that from June 7-28 the beseigers of Sevastopol captured 15,667 Russians and 2,579 bunkers and destroyed or captured 221 guns, 462 trench mortars and 112,644 mines. Mount Sapun and a series of lesser promontories form a part of the natural semi-circular defenses southeast of Sevastopol. The Germans and Rumanians have been battering heavily at these strong fortifications since other attacking forces were reported to have smashed through similar defenses to the north of the Crimean naval base.

On the Kharkov front the high command reported destruction of 15 Russian tanks in German tank attacks east of the Donets River. Fourteen supply trains were reported destroyed in night raids on Soviet bases in the Upper Don region.

Central Front Fighting.

Brisk fighting was reported on the central front, where the high command said 900 Russians were killed and 332 prisoners taken by Nazi shock troops.

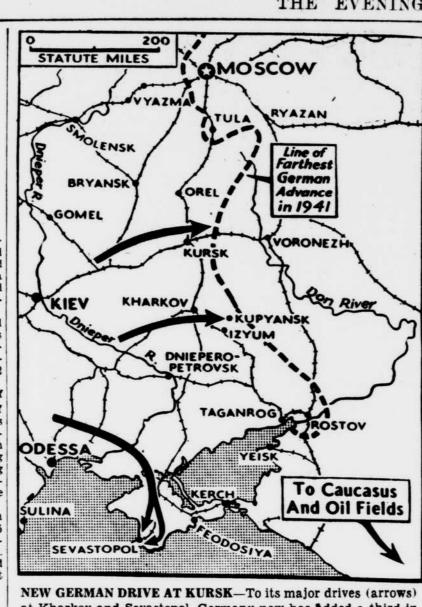

German big guns on the Leningrad front have shelled factories in the long-besieged Baltic city and shipping in Kronstadt Bay, the communique said without disclosing when.

Continuing their raids on Murmansk, far northern port of entry to United States and British aid to Russia, German planes were declared to have set fire to railroad installations and warehouses. The communique listed 12 Soviet planes destroyed.

A special high command announcement that a big Russian force had been pinched off below Leningrad with losses in men and weapons and an official report of the second meeting between Adolf Hitler and Finnish Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim shifted German attention to the northern front.

The Germans had received no advance preparation for either announcement and the news shunted even the great battles of Egypt. Sevastopol and the Ukraine out of front-page prominence in the German press.

McNutt Says War Plants Must Hire More Negroes

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29 .- Federal Security Admininistrator McNutt declared last night that the Nation could not stand for the kind of "nonsense" under which some employers bar certain jobs to Negroes. "Such employers are protecting their prejudices at the cost of production for victory," he said in an address to a mass meeting sponsored by the Negro Labor Victory Committee and the National Conference of Negro Youths. Mr. McNutt cited numerous instances in which American industry was employing thousands of Negro workers, but he asserted that the Nation was "not using Negroes enough.'

"There are still too many employers who stipulate on their hiring schedules that certain jobs are barred to Negroes." he said. "There are still too many who hire them only for certain service jobs or assign them to work below their best skill." America can afford only maximum production from every worker in every plant everywhere in the Nation."

NOW PERSONAL LOANS AT 2% PER MONTH

How you can borrow $50 to $300 at new low rate - No endorsers required—Monthly payments to fit your own pocketbook

N you borrow. The new Household Finance office in Silver Spring makes loans of $50 to $300 at the reduced rate of only 2% per month. You are invited to apply for whatever amount you need.

Household's rate of 2% per month is just slightly more than half the maximum rate of 31/2% per month permitted by the Maryland Small Loan Law. Why pay more than you have to for your loan? At Household you can save almost half.

Cost of $50 loan only $2.52

Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly instalments of $17.85 each-a total of $107.10. The cost of your loan is just $7.10. At the lawful maximum rate you would pay $12.62. Household's rate thus saves you $5.52. Or take a $50 loan repaid in four monthly instalments of $13.13 eacha total of $52.52. Your loan at Household costs only $2.52. At the lawful maximum rate this same loan would cost $4.64.

YOW YOU CAN SAVE charges when The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 10 or 12 payments. These payments include all charges. You are welcome to choose whichever plan fits your own pocketbook best. The wise thing to do is to pay up as soon as you can. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs.

3 ways to borrow

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household. Household loans are made in three ways. First way: On your signature. No security is required. Note loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. Second way: On your car. This plan may suit you best. Third way: On your furniture. Many people prefer this plan. When making car and furniture loans, we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. Saboteurs and the Law

A more story-book-like spy thriller than the saboteur roundup just effected by the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be hard to imagine. Hollywood in its more lurid moments scarcely could have thought up a drama as intriguing as that just staged by J. Edgar Hoover's G-men and two groups of Heinrich Himmler's specialists in sabotage. This stranger-than-fiction melodrama had everything-a carefully laid plot by highly trained enemy saboteurs. landings by submarine in the dead of night on remote American beaches, caches of explosives and incendiaries in the sand, and, finally, the outwitting and capture of the enemy agents.

The unexpected climax appended to the Nazi plot by the FBI must have made Hitler and Himmler very unhappy, coming as it did in the wake of recent mass roundups of German spies in New York and elsewhere. The Gestapo did not plan it that way. There is every indication that this fantastic scheme was in preparation for a long time-before the United States actually was at war with Germany. The eight would-be saboteurs were carefully picked for their knowledge of the United States and their former contacts here as residents. They were put through an intensive course of training in the construction and use of latest types of sabotage devices and materials. in about everything from tanks and field guns to initiative and general-They were given detailed instructions as to specific objectives on ship. Within less than two weeks all eight | proach." were in handcuffs and all their equipment-still unused-was in possession of their captors. What will be the ultimate fate of these enemy agents? In Germany, of course, saboteurs are shot with little or no trial. Here they are assured at least of a fair trial, but whether, if convicted, they would be subject to the death penalty is a matter for conjecture. If convicted of espionage, which, under existing Federal laws, has to do only with spying in the sense of obtaining information, they could be executed in time of war. But even if they had succeeded in committing sabotage. the worst that the aliens, at least, could expect, unless they also had engaged in spying, would be a prison term-presumably under the conspiracy statute, which carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison. The Hendricks bill, which has passed the House and is now pending in the Senate, seeks to correct this astounding defect in the law. It would provide heavy penitentiary terms for convicted saboteurs. Unless amended to include conspiracy to commit sabotage, however, this bill would not be broad enough to deal with such a case as that now presented. Surely wartime sabotage, and conspiracies to commit it, are offenses fully as grave as espionage. The law should be strengthened so that such dangerous activities as those upon which the FBI's prisoners were engaged could be dealt with as effectively as espionage.

guns and depth charges for use in coastal waters. It may be shown by experience, of course, that the Navy has been correct in its belief that the small-boat fleet cannot be used advantageously in American waters. In view of the failure to abate the submarine menace through the employment of more orthodox methods, however, the decision to give the small boats a trial seems amply justified, and it will be received as gratifying evidence that the naval authorities are "willing to be shown."

Churchill's Home Ordeal Winston Churchill is back in London from his third wartime American visit, tanned and smiling. Yet behind that confident demeanor, his agile brain must be working fast. For he knows that he faces the most crucial test of his premiership which he has had to encounter. Both Parliament and the British people are aroused and demand a clear and full accounting of his stewardship. The immediate reason for this politico-popular upsurge of discontent is, naturally, the disaster at Tobruk and the threat to Egypt with all that this implies. But there is much more behind. For more than two years, Britons have been treated to an exasperating pattern of optimistic official build-ups ending in disillusioning let-downs. The pattern began with Norway in the spring of 1940, quickly followed by Dunkerque. Then, after an interval, the series continued with Hong Kong, Singapore, Burma-and now Tobruk; not to mention other episodes like Greece and Crete. Under the circumstances. Tobruk is the proverbial straw that has broken the back of British patience. That prominent paper, the Manchester Guardian, typifies the prevailing mood when it writes editorially: "The Libyan disaster has bitten more deeply into the British consciousness than any other disaster of the war, and the government will have to take extraordinary pains to meet frankly the disquiet that has been caused." That Mr. Churchill, on the whole, has not been given to optimism, is a circumstance which seems to have been largely forgotten. John Bull is not only angry, he is deeply perplexed and uneasy. The first reverses could be explained by unpreparedness and lack of equipment. But for two long years, the British people have toiled unremittingly to remedy those deficiencies. and they have been getting a great amount of American aid. Yet Libya has just revealed Germany still ahead of important tasks. Each separate assignment was filled with the meticulous sense of duty which characterized his mind from first to last. He was essentially a perfectionist, unwilling to be content with anything short of the best. Yet, despite the rigorous demands which he made upon himself, Mr. Carr was tenderly sympathetic in his relations with those who lacked his capacity for exactitude. Young people working under his direction loved him for his patience and kindliness. Particularly when he was Assistant Secretary of State, from 1924 to 1937, he was in constant touch with numbers of youthful diplomatists. Hence the phrase "the father of the American foreign service" had double application to him. He established the present system of professional State Department employment, and he was the mentor, the guide and the friend of scores of his junior contemporaries.

Among people of his own generation, however, Mr. Carr was equally appreciated. The days that were left to him after the German absorption of Czechoslovakia had terminated his ministry at Prague were devoted to many good causes, not least of which was the Community Chest, in which he was active until just a few days ago. Washington bids him farewell with gratitude for his contribution to the city's progress as a fellow citizen and a neighbor. His place in the universal chronicles of his time is secure because of the same qualities of spiritual distinction.

The agreement between the House and Senate conferees on the local war housing program, although it comes almost seven months after Pearl Harbor, will be welcomed nevertheless as an important step in providing living accommodations for the new workers who have been moving to Washington in steadily increasing numbers.

Under the compromise which has been worked out, a total of $32,-500,000 will be made available for housing and public works. Of this total $12,000,000 will be spent to provide dormitory accommodations for 15,000 single workers; $3,000,000 will be used to build temporary family dwelling units at a cost not to exceed $3,000 each, and $17,500,000 will go for public works such as schools, water facilities, sewers, etc.

The conflict between the House and Senate has revolved around the family dwelling unit issue. The Senate had wanted to spend $13,-500,000 for 3,000 family dwelling units at an average cost of $4,500. This was considerably under the total

Problems of Local Housing Reviewed

Writer Reports Progress With Much Remaining To Be Done

By John W. Thompson, Jr.

Developments in Washington's housing situation are moving rapidly ahead under the impetus of the increasing need for accommodations and the desire of local housing groups to co-operate fully with a Congress made sympathetic by the complaints of constituents brought here on war lobs.

Since the first of the year an estimated 50,000 persons have come to the District. in addition to other thousands drawn here by the emergency expansion of the Government even before Pearl Harbor. At the Capitol and the District Building plans and projects are under way, all of which are related, however diverse they may seem, to the single objective of providing comfortable, sanitary accommodations for these incoming workers.

The past few days have seen moves to increase the efficiency of sanitary inspection and control of housing; to encourage private home owners to take in war workers by making it easy to get rid of undesirable tenants, and to permit, under certain conditions, small boarding houses of from four to nine persons to operate in restricted residential areas for the duration of the war. A belated agreement has been reached between the House and Senate conferees on the socalled District housing appropriation bill, under which dormitories and some additional private dwellings would be constructed

Events leading up to the present situation include the passage of the Rent Control Act and the establishment of the rent administration to protect newcomers against excessive rents; the move by the Zoning Commission to permit persons in restricted areas to take in up to four roomers during the emergency, approved last December; appeals by members of Congress and the Commissioners to the public to open their homes to workers; the formation of the District housing registry with listings of accommodations and the efforts of church groups and others to stimulate similar listings, as well as appeals by the Civil Service Commission to war workers coming here to line up accommodations in advance if possible.

By spring, however, it was evident that things were not proceeding satisfactorily. Home owners were not opening their homes except in very small numbers and workers were crowding into locations near their places of employment, regardless of the health and safety conditions involved. The Lanham bill authorizing $50,000,000 of housing and facilities cleared Congress and became law. The appropriation to make it effective is what has been tied up in conference.

"THIRTY-FOURTH STREET.

"Dear Sir: "Here is an amusing incident which happened in my yard this week. A year or so ago I had a small swinging bird feeding station hanging from an arch over a gate. To this came chickadees and nuthatches, as well as titmice; on the ground beneath it scores of English sparrows gathered.

"This spring I decided to put steps beneath the arch, and took away the feeder. Sedum was planted around the rocks. The whole made a very pretty effect, with the gate and the arch. The birds came looking for the station, at first, but soon forgot about it.

"About this time the chickadees, the titmice and the nuthatches disappeared. There were other causes, I believe, which led them to take to the woods. It was not just the disappearance of their favorite feeder, because there was plenty of food at other points in the garden.

"I thought nothing of all this, until just the other day, when suddenly the three smaller birds mentioned showed up again. As far as I have been able to see, they did not look for the old swinging station.

"The interesting thing is that the sparrows did! As I was looking out, a delegation of perhaps a dozen of them, with several leaders, and the remainder hopping on behind, came across the yard to the gate.

"The leaders hopped to the steps and looked down. The rest of them craned their necks. After what seemed for all the world to be a conference, the birds suddenly flew away.

"Whether the return of the smaller birds put them in mind of old times, I shrubbery by the window was for sevdo not know, but it was extremely amusing to see the sparrow conference, and looking for food, when the supply runs how little came out of it, a not unusual result of conferences.

"Sincerely yours, V. B." * * * *

This is a good instance of bird memory. There can be no doubt that the songsters have memory of a sort. Whether it is the same sort of thing human beings have is another matter. There is danger in ascribing exactly the same mental processes to birds and beasts and fishes as we know in ourselves. We have the ability to be self-conscious, and to understand, in some degree, what it is we think, and how, but we cannot be sure that what seems to be the same thing in an animal or bird is really in the same category.

Yet there is little doubt, certainly among persons who feed the birds, that these creatures remember those who feed them, and especially the place.

They will return each fall, if feeding has been discontinued for the summer. They are recognized for the same birds not by their appearance, although sometimes that, but mostly by the fact that they fly down to the same old stand.

If feeding was done in a certain clu

Small Boat Patrol

The announcement that the Navy hopes to enlist the services of 1,000 additional small boats in its antisubmarine patrol along the Atlantic coast and in the Caribbean will be welcomed as evidencing an official willingness to depart from strictly orthodox methods of dealing with this growing menace.

In the past there have been numerous complaints that the Navy, by refusing to alter its requirements to permit the use of this small-boat fleet in the anti-submarine war, was neglecting to avail itself of a potentially effective weapon. The Navy was reported to feel that the small boats could not be effective and that the time and material spent in preparing them for service might better be applied to other phases of the Political maneuvers and party lines will clearly be out of place. Yet there seems to be scant disposition to vent mere ill feeling by seeking a scapegoat. Already, the motion of lack of confidence proposed by a small group of M. P.s at the first shock of Tobruk is deplored by the press. There is scant disposition to overthrow Churchill and his government, even if there were an acceptable substitute for the premiership. The chief criticism of Mr. Churchill is directed, not at his political activities as Prime Minister, but at his refusal to delegate the running of the war to other and technically more expert hands.

Demands for such a delegation of authority have arisen before, notably after Singapore. Hitherto, Mr. Churchill has uncompromisingly refused. It remains to be seen whether he can continue to maintain his position this time. Much will depend, no doubt, upon the trend of events in North Africa. If General Rommel's daring attack fails, Churchill's task will be much easier. If Egypt and the Suez Canal should be really imperiled, almost anything might happen in British politics. Yet even an easing of the immediate military situation will hardly avert the sweeping inquiry which British public opinion demands and Parliament is ready to undertake.

Wilbur Carr

No one who knew Wilbur Carr will forget him. He was such a person as makes other men glad and proud to belong to the human race. Cordell Hull summed up the common conviction when he said: "The debt which the State Department and the foreign service owe to his years of devoted and unstinted service never can be repaid."

Mr. Carr himself, of course, was the explanation of the achievement so acknowledged. With his fine native gifts of intelligence and efficiency, he could have made a noteworthy success in any field in which he chose to engage his talents. To last fin, do they realize too late that the infinite advantage of his country and of the world at large, he preferred to labor in that branch of the Government which deals with other which local housing authorities had said was needed. The House, however, was opposed to the building of any family units, insisting that incoming workers should be housed in dormitories. The compromise finally worked out, while not providing for the number of such units said to be necessary, has the advantage of insuring that they will be temporary in fact as well as in name, since it is hardly possible that permanent structures can be put up at $3.000 each. It is also worthy of note that the compromise, in putting the emphasis on dormitory housing, is in line with the stand recently taken by the War Production Board against permanent emergency construction because of the shortage of materials. It is expected that there will be no delay in securing House and Senate ratification of the conference agreement, and it is to be hoped that this will be the case, because, in view of the time which already has been lost, it will be necessary to exert every effort to expedite the actual construction work on these projects after the funds become available. If the unhappy experience of the demountable housing program under the Alley Dwelling Authority, which was supposed to have been completed by the first of July, but which has not yet been started, may be taken as a guide, the incoming war workers will be fortunate if the Lanham Act accommodations are avail-of cold weather.

To the really rabid angler the approach of nightfall is a curse-a blackout to his hopes of getting more fish, except catfish and eels which can smell their way around and do not need light. The more orthodox fish call it a day and go to sleep. But is this from choice? Would not they, too, enjoy a spot of night life, if it were possible? A Southern dentist, an ardent fisherman, thought they might, and set about making it possible. He uses a large float, hollowed out to accommodate a small flashlight, whose beams shoot downward to illuminate the bait. He has phenomenal luck. Attracted by a Broadway of light, swarms of suckers and other poor fish flock to it. It never occurs to them to suspect that it might be a racket, and to wonder if there is a string tied to it somewhere. Or, if some are a trifle skeptical of the altruism of that light and its proprietor, they are confident of their ability to take care of themselves and handle it masterfully. pending, would open residential areas to boarding and rooming housing for the duration provided operations were not so extensive to require fire escapes under the District fire escape law. This means not more than 10 lodgers above the first floor.

The measure was the subject of controversy within the Zoning Commission, a minority consisting of Commissioners Mason and Young favoring it. At a public congressional hearing the bill was almost unanimously condemned as unnecessary and undesirable since the Zoning Commission already has the authority which would be provided by the act. Recently the commission came forward with a counterproposal to the bill under which the Board of Zoning Adjustments, after investigation of each applicant, could permit between four and nine roomers or boarders in residential areas for the duration. A public hearing will be held on this proposed amendment to zoning regulations July 23. Meanwhile the Federation of Citizens' Associations, seeking an answer to the reluctance of home owners to take in roomers, decided some of it may be due to their unwillingness to undergo the lengthy legal procedure necessary to oust undesirable tenants. The result was the proposed amendment to the Rent Control Act, soon to come before the House, under which home owners taking in the four roomers permitted by the Zoning Commission would not be classed legally as rooming house operators and thus be free of the restrictions imposed by the act on professional rooming and boarding houses in ousting undesired tenants. The sequel to final approval of this amendment is expected to be a concerted drive by civic leaders in the various areas of the city to open up the reservoir of extra rooms in private homes.

Meanwhile, the tendency of workers to crowd into downtown facilities, being unable to obtain or unwilling to accept more distant but more adequate accommodations, stirred the Washington Housing Association and other housing groups to push for improvement in the health and safety conditions of local houses. The association has been well aware of the need for this improvement even before the national emergency, and wartime conditions in the Capital aggravated the situation. For a long time it has been sending to the building inspector complaints of bad housing conditions, although realizing that the inspection staff is inadequate to cope with the problem. Feeling that good housing code supplanting the present helter skelter regulations would be the basis for getting adequate appropriations for the sanitary inspection, and also that additional teeth were needed in the present law, the association sponsored legislation authorizing the District to set up a housing code.

District officials said the bill was superfluous and a compromise has been reached under which the basic law of 1892, under which present regulations are drawn, will be amended to provide for jail terms for violators, speedier condemnation proceedings for insanitary dwellings, and authority to keep closed to occupants insanitary dwellings until the conditions have been corrected. A centralized system of housing inspection also will be provided.

Replies to Critic Who Questioned Source of Views About League. To the Editor of The Star:

I made the statement in a letter to The Star, published June 19, that the selfish dominance of the League of Nations by Britain and France made realization of its ideals impossible.

Another of your correspondents, in a letter published June 22, asks, "Just what does Mr. Wormeley mean? What was 'Britain's selfish dominance' of the League? When? How? Where? Why? • • Like the lady in 'David Copperfield,

I merely 'ask for information.'"

The tragic history of the League has been duly recorded by able correspondents of the press, both here and abroad as it unfolded. Such competent writers as Sir Philip Gibbs, Lincoln Steffens, Upton Sinclair, and many others have written at great length on the subject. The lady may find the answers to her "When? How? Where? Why?" in such contemporary documents. She will not find them in Dickens. PHILIP LIGHTFOOT WORMELEY, IV.

Expresses Doubt

About Manufacturing Tanks. To the Editor of The Star:

Is it not about time that we stopped wasting time and money building tanks of any sort?

No tank can stand up against an eightinch gun, and Tobruk did not fall until Marshal Rommel brought up eight-inch guns to knock out British and American tanks.

Just why did the British allow such supplies to get across the Mediterranean to Rommel?

Edward Kennedy of the Associated Press writes: "The powerful guns knocked British tanks, including American-made General Grants, right and left when they were caught at close range in an ambush. Tonight there were some experts here wondering whether the present battle was not demonstrating the beginning of the end of the tank and the superiority of the antitank gun. The last war saw the tank in and this one probably will see it out, some tank officers said. It is excellent for smashing infantry, but its chances are minimized if the infantry has good and powerful antitank protection." Tanks are great cumbersome, unwieldy things, presenting a fine target for artillery at long ranges.

A warship with six-inch guns does not care to get very close to one with 15-inch guns, and mobile eight-inch guns can stop any tank that has yet been turned H. B. BRADFORD. out.

Services Get Procurement Job of WPB

Nelson's Testimony Before Truman Unit Reveals Change

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Some time ago it was suggested in these dispatches that much of the difficulty about the allegiances of dollar-a-year men and other civilians to the idea of business as usual would be eliminated if the technicians and experts and advisers were put into uniform and made an integral part of the Army and Navy. This, it was urged, would make their paramount concern the needs of the David Lawrence. Army and Navy and not the civilian point of view.

Today it is revealed in testimony furnished by Donald Nelson, chief of the War Production Board, before the Truman Committe of the Senate, that a fundamental change of this nature has gradually been worked out in recent weeks and that now some of the Senators are a bit apprehensive lest the civilian advisers will be swallowed up in military routine.

"I am anxious," observed Senator Truman, "to see that the procurement and purchase section of the War Production Board be in civilian hands and I am anxious that they stay in your hands and under your direction."

"As I have explained to you before," replied Mr. Nelson, "I have been given complete authority by the President over procurement, which includes purchasing and production.... Now there are two ways that you can approach it. One, you can set up your own organization to do it, or, secondly, you can put it in the Army and Navy and get people to do it there who would do it just the same as we would. In other words improve the technique of the services through the introduction of civilians who know the technique and who will carry it on there with authority just as if it were in our own shop.

"Now, having the authority, I have delegated to the Army and Navy the job of procurement, and have given them men who are experienced - the most experienced men I had in the job-to go over there and work with the services in improving the whole job of procurement which is protuction and purchasing. In my opinion that was the wisest choice I made when I came on this job. The services have a great many highly skilled technicians and are very close to the problem." "But the services," remarked Chairman Truman, "have a sort of perfectionist idea of the material that is not practical in wartime. You have get to have a practical man to get things done and you are that sort of man. * * * In other words, we want to have this thing in the hands of civilians, not in the hands of 'brass hats.' We want you to have control of that." "May I explain to you," said Mr. Nelson, "how I expect to maintain control? Don't forget that I am the one who takes the responsibility no matter where it is done." Senator Truman repeated that he wanted Mr. Nelson to retain responsibility, and the War Production Board chief said "Whenever that responsibility is

On the Record Total Nazi Victory Would Mean Total Terror, Without Relief and Endless

By DOROTHY THOMPSON. Let us turn our eyes away from Egypt for a moment to consider how the Nazis celebrate their successes. For this gives us some inkling of what a Nazi victory would mean.

Normally speaking, men are magnanimous in victory. The extremisms of war become mitigated as nations feel themselves strong. Here, in America, we go further; Dorothy Thompson. there is much discussion of how we can treat the Germans decently after our victory. But note that every new Nazi success is immediately followed by a wave of terror-in Germany itself, and against the occupied countries. The reaction is that of the pathological bully who, feeling his victim weaken, breaks out in barbaric sadism.

All Tell Same Story. Officials who have dealt with German prisoners of war, and Germans who have had experience with Nazis interned with them in concentration camps all tell the same story. Let me quote one of them verbally:

"I was interned along with other Germans in England when war broke out. All of us were German patriots, but a few of us were anti-Nazis. When France fell and it seemed as though the German troops would be in England in a matter of days, life in that camp was a torture. During all the hours of the day, the Nazis made continual speeches-wild, bestial, blasphemous outbreaks of triumph and hate. Those few of us who, filled with nausea at these hideous promises of torture and revenge, dared to say a calming word, were beaten up." One German officer, a prisoner of war, said recently, recalling those days, "Do you remember how these people behaved when they thought victory certain? Like wild beasts. It would have been horrible if Hitler had won then. There must be a God."

Some writers like Maj. de Seversky, who regards with tolerant horror the doing of any fighting at all by any non-flying instrumentality, go farther and say the aircraft carrier is doomed, too. The trouble with all this, the fundamental trouble, is that such hasty assumptions do not take into account the fundamental purpose of all naval warfare, which is the control of maritime communications, the ability to preserve them for one's own use, whether military or commercial, and to deny them to an enemy. By CONSTANTINE BROWN. The State Department has received strong indications from abroad that the Japanese may attack Siberia in the next few weeks. Reports from capitals which are in touch with Berlin say the European end of the Axis has applied sufficient pressure to persuade Tokio to attack Asiatic Russia while the Nazi offensive in the Ukraine is at its height.

Some military and naval quarters in Washington believe the Jap occupation of Attu and Kisko islands in the Aleutian archipelago was directed at barring the way to American air support for the Soviet Union in the Far East rather than at an invasion of Alaska and the American West Coast. Military opinion is divided on this score, however. It would seem logical for the Japs to attack the Russians at this time. Like the other members of the Axis Japan must keep moving lest there be a letdown in the country's war spirit. A major offensive against the United States is out of the question for the time being because of Japan's heavy casualties in aircraft carriers in the Coral Sea and Midway battles. The same thing may be said about a large-scale Japanese offensive against Australia. Expect Occasional Raids.

We must expect occasional important raids in both these sectors of the Pacific, but spetacular and impressive as they may be they will be only raids. Unless there is a good-size withdrawal of American naval and air forces from the Pacific-which is highly improbable now-the Japanese will not be in position to undertake major operations there until late in the spring of 1943.

Military operations against India are, of course, easier. But the monsoons now prevent the Japanese from beginning an offensive there. Hence Hirohito's army and air force must mark time in Burma until weather conditions permit the resumption of attack against India.

Unfortunately, no book of instruction on bus riding was available to these people when they made the change. It was erroneously assumed that they could start from scratch and become accomplished bus riders overnight. You might just as well have asked them to become accomplished skiers, trap drummers, or bird banders, without outside help. * * * *

Bus riding comes close to being an art. There is a vast difference between the veteran who knows how to get on, to get off, to sway into and half knock down the right passengers, to step on toes without getting slugged, to steal the last remaining seat from a score of weary fellow passengers, and to get off without losing life, limb and temper, and the raw, green recruit.

Having ridden on buses all my life I had to turn from pickpocketing to journalism because of "stop-cord elbow") I feel qualified to write the bare outlines of a manual on proper bus riding which may prove useful to those who have lately taken it up. The first lesson to learn is never to wait for a bus near a sign that reads, "Bus Stop." It seems the logical place to wait for one, but years ago, at an international convention of bus drivers at Harrisburg. Pa., a resolution condemning the practice of stopping at signs was adopted. So, always take a position either 50 yards in front or back of

Never walk out to catch the first bus that comes along. The first bus is never your bus. The experienced bus rider does not even lift his eyes from his newspaper when the first bus comes along. To insist on the virtues of one disintegrates. In order to keep the army and air force busy anweapon at the expense of all others is the negation of teamwork, and other front must be sought, teamwork is the key to victory in where victories can be won without serious sacrifice. The navy is always on active duty and fighting, even when there are no major engagements. Siberia would seem, therefore, to be the most likely new battle ground for the Japs.

How are you going to save fuel ment winter?... INSULATION -will save you from 20 to 35 per cent of your fuel consumption. An insulated home gives you more comfort with less fuel, as the owners of the thousands of homes we have insulated have found. Insulated homes are cooler in summer, too. Insulation is a year-'round benefit-so have it done NOW. Call ME. 4840 to obtain a free estimate RIFFITH ONSUMERS OMPANY Distributor of the famous 'blue coal' along by the men and women behind you. A frightening experience at first, it will later come to afford the same exhilaration as surfboard riding.

and for whose capture rewards are The course is designed to train offered. Bus drivers don't like to to snap at gawking passengers. If you are bitten by one, there is no legal recourse. Years ago the Supreme Court (with only Holmes dissenting) ruled that a bus driver who had been driving through traffic for hours, shifting gears, making green lights and red lights, making change, giving directions to passengers, worrying about what he was going to have for dinner and if his youngest really had measles, was justified in taking a slash at a fare who didn't get along toward the middle of the car.

In moving toward the center of the car you are certain to step on toes. You won't be able to avoid it. There is one school of thought which maintains that toes aren't actually stepped on-that owners poke them out under the descending footsteps of unwary passengers, thus giving them (the toe owners) a chance to growl and grimace and get rid of the little measure of meanness which has brewed within them during a trying eight hours at the office. Thus they are able to purge themselves of bitterness and greet the little woman with a smile and resist twisting junior's ears when junior refuses to stop playing and come in to supper.

* * * *

Once you have stepped on a toe, get off of it as quickly as possible, even though this necessitates landing on another set of toes farther down the aisle. Newcomers to bus riding are inclined to keep standing on a foot or toe as if they didn't know what they were doing, and as if the feel of another citizen's foot beneath theirs was as natural as that of linoleum or grass.

Start getting off the bus a block before it reaches your corner. Otherwise you will have to use your elbows to make a passageway, and research shows that the only Americans who enjoy being poked in the ribs by strange elbows are the members of a family whose surname is Glussufine-Glussupine. And your chances of finding yourself on a bus full of Glussupine-Glussipines is remote, as there is but one family of them and they live as a trading post on a Sioux reservation.

In conclusion: When riding a bus, treat others as you would like to be treated-and never are. (Distributed by MoNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

IMPORTANT TO STEADY SMOKERS:

HOME MODERNIZATION LOANS are still a real part of the War Program because: (1) The Government wants to protect America's 80-billion-dollar investment in homes. (2) Repairs put off now mean more costly repairs later on. (3) Families of Government and War Industry workers must have places to live; and putting alreadybuilt houses in good repair saves large quantities of vitally needed materials that would otherwise have to go into new construction.

So don't let your home get "run down." It will pay you to keep it in good repair . . . and that's what Home Modernization Loans are for. No endorsers are required. Repayment is made by convenient monthly amounts. Here are just a few of the things you can do:

Another thing: You can make money for yourself (and help in the War Effort) by converting part of your home into an apartment to be rented to War Workers. Also, you can save fuel next winter . . . and add to your comfort this summer . . . by insulating and weatherstripping.

The Morris Plan Bank of Washington has been a helpful partner in a great many cases of home improvement. You know you, too, will find helpful, willing service here at this Bank for the Individual . . . the bank to which more than 50,000 Washington men and women look for helpful guidance in their financial affairs.

King George Decorates Widow of IRA Victim

By Radio to The Star.

LONDON, June 29.-King George took time out from reviewing American troops and Ulster forces yesterday to decorate the widow of Constable Patrick Murphy, who was killed by IRA (outlawed Irish Republican Army) gunmen on Easter Sunday in Belfast.

It was significant that Constable Murphy's widow was formally decorated by the King himself with the King's Police Medal. The IRA is banned both in Ulster and Eire and prices are high on the heads of those belonging to it.

On Easter Sunday members of the IRA began shooting at police trying to clean up the noted nationalist area. Constable Murphy was fatally wounded. The police rounded up four men and one girl after the shooting.

Constable Murphy was the father of nine children. His widow, in addition to the medal, was given 2,000 pounds (about $8,000) by the government. His assailants will go on trial July 25. (Copyright, 1942, Chicago Daily News, Inc.)

Shriners' Convention Takes On Business Air

Es the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 29 .- The annual Shriners' convention got under way today with a "strictly business" air about it.

Imperial Potentate Thomas C. Law of Atlanta, Ga., estimated 3,000 members, in addition to the delegates from the 159 temples, would attend the three-day 68th Imperial Council session. Shrine conventions usually attract upward of 10,000 members.

Council officials said the main business centered around activities to help America in the war through a War bond and stamp drive, plans to entertain servicemen, and cooperation in civic functions.

Albert H. Fiebach, Cleveland attorney, was scheduled to be elevated from his present post as imperial deputy potentate to succeed Mr. Law as imperial potentate.

By FRANCIS E. STAN

As Hearts Pounded Wildly at Meadowbrook

It was a warm, muggy afternoon and the turf was soft from ent rains and deeply pocked by hooves because, for a day and a recent rains and deeply pocked by hooves because, for a day and a half, the hunters and jumpers and hacks had been competing for blue ribbons in the Columbus Horse Show.

It had been a festive occasion, full of good cheer and conviviality, but when the announcer called for entries in the high jumping contest a murmur ran along the stands and as an ominous, gigantic hurdle was built in the center of the ring the atmosphere became electric.

If you think you've thrilled to all that sports have to offer, get a ringside seat for a skyscraper and when a gallant, wild-eved horse thunders toward the big barrier you'll recognize the lump in your throat.

It's the one you felt when Buddy Baer knocked Joe Louis out of the ring. It's the one you get, when a place-kicker tries to win a football game on a field goal in the last minute . . . when it's 3-and-2 in the ninth inning, score is tied, bases are loaded, two are out and a World Series is the stake . . . when the 10-foot putt for the National Open nears the hole. That's the lump.

Will You Have a Chaw of Tension?

The bar was put at 6 feet. A couple of years ago a horse that in the next 16 days. jumped 6 feet could win the blue. But all nine horses cleared it easily and so the top pole was set at 6 feet, 6 inches and the air became so thick with tension that you could inhale and almost chew it.

"What's the record?" asked a woman, nervously, and the man beside her said:

"The Washington record is 6 feet, 612 inches, set by Black Caddy. The Metropolitan record is 6, 718, set by Randle's Way .

But the woman wasn't listening because the horses were jumpingand clearing the bar. Only two failed-big, long-legged Thunder Boy and Ringmaster, the bargain hoss from the wild west circus. Six feet 6 inches! Hi-diddle-diddle, the cat and the fiddle, and seven horses jumped over the moon! Well, they jumped high enough to have cleared Al Blozis, the Georgetown Giant, without mussing his hair.

The pole was put at 7 feet and a man reached into his pocket for a cigarette. "Stop shaking so, dear," said the woman next to him, "and give me one." But as she took it she laughed shrilly. "Maybe I'd better not," she said. "I'd just swallow the darned thing."

Mrs. Randle Was Proud But She Knew Something

Sport Marvel, ridden by Tommy Cook, pranced out again, glistening with sweat, and twice crashed into the bars as the crowd gasped. Then Tommy waltzed him back and again they thundered toward the hurdle.

A pretty woman in a blue dress drew her breath sharply and halfturned, but she snapped back to attention when she heard the cheers and people nearby wrung her hand. She was Mrs. U. S. Randle, owner of Sport Marvel.

"None of these other horses will tie that today," somebody said. "I don't agree," smiled Mrs. Randle, "but thanks awfully. I'm proud over a track that dosn't have much of Marvel. She was right, for the almost pony-sized Gratchino, ridden by Mickey Magill, literally popped over on his final try after twice crashing into the jump, scattering it over the premises.

This was something like it! Two horses already had broken all records for this section and five more were ready to jump at 7 feet. Measure noon, 7 feet on your wall, remembering that a horse will wigh 1,300 or 1,400 pounds even without a rider.

When It Was the Spot for Margy's Rocksie

Kovacs Given Respite Box Scores

A jumper named R. A. F. failed but then ca Martin on his gray glding, Cateer, and to frenzied cheers Cateer cleared on his first attempt. Three up and over; three to go! A daredevil named Joe Pohzehl tried to get his Randle's Way over but his horse took a nasty fall and Joe climbed off and looked at his legs. He tried again and there was another bad spill. "Don't try again, Joe." advised friends from the stands, "the horse has lost his heart." But Joe shook his head and tried again. This time the gallant horse knocked off two bars but he landed on his feet and lico Futurity got an ovation as he trotted off. Lew Dunbar, with Gordon Wright up, also went out and so did King Rock, despite urging by that little gamester, Miss Margaret Cotter. It was the spot for her famous Rocksie, not King Rock, but Rocksie is "retired" and, although Miss Cotter war-whooped into the new charger's ears, it was to no avail So that left Sport Marvel, Cateer and little Gratchino, and the bar was moved to 7 feet, 6 inches. Now was the time for stout hearts, both And at Churchill Downs, where in the ring and in the stands. Some of the spectators, doubtful of their tickers, got up and walked to the soft drink stand when little Gratchino Twice he almost came to serious grief but when the trio had finished there were no bones broken and no jump at 7 feet, 6 inches Which was all right-indeed, a relief-because none of the horses and their daring riders deserved defeat. Quit pounding, heart.

Coin Record Candidate Runs Next on Tracks Not to His Liking

By SID FEDER. Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 29.-Whirlaway wants to beat Seabiscuit's record as a bread-winner in the worst wayand it begins to look as if that's the way he's going to have to do it. He's knocking on the Biscuit's front door right now, with a total of $404,386 in the kitty and no horse around seems able to shortchange him. And with $33,244 still to go, he figures on walking into the

Chisox Hand Champs First Double Defeat; Krist Is Stopped

By AUSTIN BELMEAR. Associated Press Sports Writer.

It begins to appear that the New York Yankees, expected by many to be-naming a starting pitcher for the World Series by July 4, won't even be in first place at that fast approaching stage of the campaign if they don't pull out of their current spin.

Kicked around at three stops out of four on their two-week swing to the West, the Yanks hit bottom yesterday when the Chicago White Sox mauled them twice, 6-2 and 13-1.

Not only did the sixth-place White Sox sting the champions of the world with their first double defeat of the year, but they did it at the expense of topnotch pitchers, Red Ruffing and Ernie Bonham

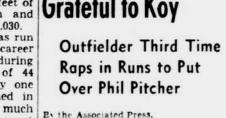

As a result, the Yankee lead shrank to 51/2 games and would have dropped to $4\frac{1}{2}$ if the Cleveland Indians had not become fed up with the treatment they were receiving from the second-place Boston Red Sox and salvaged the final contest of a four-game series.

No Defending Champs To make matters worse for the Yankees, Manager Joe McCarthy was put to bed with a recurrence of the internal ailment that plagued him last season and wasn't able to leave with the team last night for Philadelphia.

Lyons Ties Ruffing's Record.

NEW YORK, June 29 - Who says a draft board doesn't have a heart? Frank Kovacs. Oakland. Calif. clown who sometimes plays highgrade tennis, has been given permison to remain in New York until Saturday after originally being instructed to report to his home selective service board on Wednesday. The delay enables Kovacs, who is married and a recent father, to compete for the national professional doubles crown along with Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., against Donald Budge and Bobby Riggs. The match will be played at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills Saturday.

Kovacs and Barnes eliminated Robert Harman of Long Beach, N. Y., and John Nogrady of Wilmington, Del., yesterday in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Riggs and Budge advanced by defeating Wayne Sabin and Berkeley Bell of New York, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Earlier in the day Kovacs was ousted from the singles by Riggs. The latter, slightly annoyed by Kovacs' antics, stuck to straight tennis in batting out a 6-4, 3-6, 8-6, 6-2 triumph

Riggs will meet Budge for the in-dividual crown, the Don having pushed aside Sabin, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3, in the upper bracket semifinal.

Part of the tourney's proceeds will go to Navy relief and that organization already has been enriched $3,000 by the sale of programs.

Barnstorming World Series to Help Swell War Relief Agencies' Funds Looms

Frick-Landis Confab Apt to Devise New Plan for Classic

Three Schemes Advanced, With Two Calling for Tours by Rival Clubs

By HAROLD CLAASSEN,

Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, June 29 .- Will the World Series rules be revampedeven to permitting the annual classic to wind up on the Pacific Coast?

Ford Frick, president of the National League, was due in Chicago today for a conference with K. M. Landis baseball commissioner, and the New Yorker's journey immediately revived talk heard in every major league dugout during the past few days.

Three changes in the rules have been proposed and all have as their objective the gathering of funds for Army and Navy relief and for USO. Plan Three Most Revolutionary.

Under plan No. 1 the series would be extended to nine games from the present seven with the service funds benefitting from the extra contests

Plan No. 2 has the pennant winners deciding the world title in seven tilts before going on a barnstorming tour of the country.

Most revolutionary is plan No. 3. which would have the competing nines play two games in the home park of each before opening a road journey of 9 to 11 games, each contest to count toward the championship.

Under that setup the deciding battle might be played in such places as Toledo, Denver or San Francisco In both the latter cases, cities with major league ball clubs would be avoided and the wandering series taken to places having the larger and better minor league plants.

Bond Manual Sent to Banks. As a further aid to banks in their already intensive activity in the selling of War Savings Bonds, the United States Treasury is mailing to the commercial and savings banks of the Nation this week a new 32-page manual entitled "Helping Your Bank Sell United States War Savings Bonds," which, as Secretary Morgenthau describes it, "outlines the form and develops various suggestions which can be considered vital to a co-ordinated plan for the promotion of United States War Savings Bonds.

The booklet is a joint undertaking of the Treasury Department and the American Bankers' Assowhich co-operated in its preparation. It contains suggestions for activity in the fields of newspaper publicity, direct mail and radio, outlining plans found to be effective. Washington banks received their copies today.

U. S. Urged to Speed Radio Orders for Latin America

Royal Says Solidarity Programs Threatened By Slow Deliveries

B: the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 29 .- John F. Royal, National Broadcasting Co. vice president, said today many Latin American radio broadcasting stations which are co-operating with the United Nations faced being forced off the air unless they speedily received tubes and other equipment from the United States. Royal, NBC executive in charge learned during a just completed trip to Mexico City that some Latin using their last supply of tubes, he asserted, while new supplies were being held up at the border. "We are now broadcasting an everincreasing number of programs over our affiliated stations in Latin America in collaboration with the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs," Royal said in a statement, "but unless these stations are able to obtain immediately the replacements necessary for their operation, there will be no outlets for these important programs in the strategic countries to the south." Asserting that the stations were eager to co-operate in the United States' was effort, Royal said: "If there is any red tape or confusion causing the delay of the immediate dispatch of these important replacements to the Latin American stations it should be eliminated at once. I am certain that Washington is aware of this situation, but officials may not fully realize the danger of the time element. This is a vital factor in hemispheric and merits immediate attention."

Some Agencies Plan to Give July 4 Holiday

Most War Bureaus, However, Consider Saturday a Work Day

Independence Day next Saturday will be just another Saturday, as far as work is concerned, for employes in the War and Navy Departments and other key war agencies, but workers in a number of Federal departments will be given the day off

District government employes also will be given a holiday, although department heads were advised they could call in workers if they believed it essential to the war effort. Federal departments which have ordered a holiday or are planning to do so include Agriculture, Federal Security Labor and Treasury. Besides the War and Navy Departments, the no-holiday schedule will be observed by the White House staff, the War Production Board, including all of its divisions; the Federal Works Agency, the Government Printing Office, Civil Service Commission, Post Office Department and the Budget Bureau.

WPB to Work.

While no formal order has gone out to WPB workers, officials said they were certain that regular working hours would be observed Saturday. They pointed out that Production Chief Donald M. Nelson has told American industry that "we at home dare not have a July 4 holiday in war production.

The budget Bureau had advised all agencies that the White House had indicated that "where the war effort could be furthered by observance of regular working hours by all or part of their employes. the heads of departments and agencies could require the attnedance of employes. This is the same arrangement that prevailed on the three preceding holidays. On these occasions, most Government employes in the Washington area worked as usual.

The Navy Department announced it would observe Independence Day it would observe Independence Day with special mass induction services By Catholic Group throughout the Southeastern seaboard States. Hundreds of recruits will be sworn into the service.

New Registration Already Begun in Prince Georges

The Nation's military manpower pool will be larger by about 3,000,000 youths by tomorrow night when the fifth Selective Service registrationthe 18-20 age group-is completed. In the District approximately 20,-000 are expected to enroll throughout the city.

Washington school teachers again demonstrated their patriotism in serving as registrars, more than 1.600 of them volunteering to remain and do the work, although their vacations had begun.

Only the 20-year-old members of the group, considered by many military authorities as the "fightingest" portion of the country's manpower, are eligible for immediate military service under the present law. Those 18 and 19 will be listed and will be eligible for the Army when they reach the age of 20, unless the President asks for and gets a change in the law making boys in their late 'teens eligible.

Prince Georges Begins Enrolling 18-20 Selectees

20,000 in District Expected to Sign Tomorrow

The Nation's military manpower pool will be larger by about 3,000,000 youths by tomorrow night when the fifth Selective Service registrationthe 18-20 age group-is completed. In the District approximately 20,-000 are expected to enroll throughout the city.

Washington school teachers again demonstrated their patriotism in serving as registrars, more than 1.600 of them volunteering to remain and do the work, although their vacations had begun.

Only the 20-year-old members of the group, considered by many military authorities as the "fightingest" portion of the country's manpower, are eligible for immediate military service under the present law. Those 18 and 19 will be listed and will be eligible for the Army when they reach the age of 20, unless the President asks for and gets a change in the law making boys in their late 'teens eligible

Prince Georges Enrolls Today.

Registration started today in nearby Prince Georges County, with three Selective Service Boards planning to be open between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. for advance listing of the 18-20-year group. County schools will assist in the registration when it continues tomorrow.

To facilitate tomorrow's District registration, it has been urged that registrants whose names begin with A to H, inclusive, appear at registration centers between 7 and 11:30 a.m.; those whose names begin with letters through M register between 11:30 and 4:15 p.m., and the remainder between 4:15 and 9 p.m.

Reward Urged To Spur Search For Sub Bases

Tydings Suggests $25,000 to $100,000 Offers by Navy

the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, June 29.-Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland thinks the Navy should offer a substantial reward for information leading to the detection of possible enemy submarine bases in this hemisphere.

In a radio address yesterday, the Senator said that in view of the large number of ship sinkings in the Western Atlantic he believed Axis submarines must be receiving oil and supplies from hidden bases in the Western Hemisphere.

The Senator said he had urged Secretary of the Navy Knox to offer a reward from $25,000 to $100,000 for information which would lead to the detection of the bases.

Would Spur Searches.

"If there are bases, say in the many islands of the Caribbean or the Gulf of Mexico, or along the coast of Central or South America the offering of such a reward would not only stimulate searches for these bases but, because of the size of the reward, would incline those engaged in aiding the Axis submarines to tell our Government about it.

The first pair of silver wings superimposed with the letter "G" insignie of the Army glider pilot, yesterday was pinned on Sergt. William T. Sampson, while more than 490 Air Force recruits and some 25,000 other spectators looked on at a huge War bond rally at the National Airport.

Sergt. Sampson. 28-year-old native of Providence, R. I., and a graduate of the Elmira (N. Y.) Glider School, thus becomes the first of what the War Department hopes will grow into a large force of winged warriors, who may be used for carrying fresh troops to the front lines, for hauling supplies or for landing offensive forces in enemy territory.

Before vesterday afternoon was over, the crowd attracted to the airport by the dual appearance of Marlene Dietrich, the firm star, and the Air Cavalcade of American, British and one German fighting plane, had spent a half million dollars to exhaust the available supply of War bonds and stamps.

And the Indian climate! Veterans who have done duty in Central America and the Philippines say they have seen nothing like it. In a country where the mercury thinks nothing of boiling up to 115 in the shade, one of the biggest concerns in life is keeping cool. Little by little, the Americans are adapting themselves. First, they found that their lightweight summer uniforms, while comfortably cool in Shreveport. Miami and San Diego, were too heavy for India. So shorts and shirts, of lightweight Indian cloth, are becoming the standard. Nor were their service caps adequate protection against the deadly Indian sun. Several Sunday Weddings Are Celebrated in Capital

Miss Mary Lucille Stricker Married To Mr. Frederick William Dierkoph

Yesterday again marked Sunday as a day for orange blossoms and wedding bells in Washington, several weddings taking place in the afternoon.

Three o'clock was the hour of the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Mary Lucille Stricker and Mr. Frederick William Dierkoph, the wedding being held in the Foundry Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vass Edward Strickler of Warrenton, Va., and Mr. Dierkoph is the son of Mrs. Frank M. Dierkoph of Washington and the late Mr. Dierkoph.

Mrs. Charles E. Haupt played the wedding music as the bride, escorted by her father, walked to the flower-banked altar before which the Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris officiated.

White marquisette and lace was fashioned into a lovely gown for the bride, who wore also a fingertip-length veil of illusion, held in place by a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and a necklace of pearls. Her shower bouquet was of whiteroses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Eugene M. Smith of Arlington, sis-Washington. They were costumed, respectively, in orchid and pink marquisette and lace and carried bou- ceremony and buffet refreshments quets of mixed flowers.

Mr. Robert W. Greenwood was best man for Mr. Dierkoph and the ushers were Mr. Elmer Downs, Mr. N. Stenz.

A reception after the ceremony was held at the Admiral Club, the couple leaving later for a wedding trip to New York and Canada.

The marriage yesterday of Miss Ellen Altman to Mr. Lawrence Glassman took place at noon at Hotel 2400, where the Rev. Aaron Volkman officiated before an improvised altar banked with flowers.

White lace and net was worn by the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Altman of this city. Her finger-tip veil was Scott of Silver Spring, who wore held by a halo of lace and she carried a white prayer book covered with white orchids. She was escorted to the altar by her father.

Miss Zelma Altman was her sister's only attendant and wore vellow marguisette with a yellow halo veiled in orchid tulle and carried a bouquet of orchids.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Glassman of Boston and his brother, Mr. Cyril Glassman, served as his best man.

Miss Sylvia Rita Waldman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Waldman of Hyattsville, and Lt. Jerome Gerald Sacks, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Isador Sacks of Baltimore, were married yesterday afternoon in the crystal room of the Willard Hotel.

White gladioluses and lighted candles against a background of palms decorated the improvised altar for the ceromony, at which the Rev. Norman Gerstenfeld officiated at 4 o'clock.

> A reception was held after the were served, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon leaving later for a wedding trip.

A pretty informal wedding of Sat-Hanford P. Miller and Mr. Norman urday afternoon took place in the Chillum Baptist Church when Miss Esther M. Paris of Dallas, Tex., and Mr. John J. Metz of Washington were married in a double-ring ceremony with the Rev. Mike E. Elliott officiating at 3 o'clock.

Wearing a costume suit of pastel blue with a picture hat and a corsage of purple orchids, the bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by Mr. Thomas A. Manning of Silver Spring, special assistant to the general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. She was attended by Miss Margaret E. yellow sharkskin trimmed with lace, a white hat and a corsage of yellow roses

Mr. Walter R. Metz, jr., was best man for his brother, they being the sons of Maj. and Mrs. Walter R. Metz.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Metz left for a wedding trip through the Tidewater section of Virginia. On their return they will be at home in Silver Spring.

White mousseline de soie and lace was worn by Miss Clare Elizabeth Krogmann for her wedding early Thursday evening to Lt. (j. g.) John Howard Bowell, U. S. N., of Oakland, Calif

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Fort Myer and Mrs. Carl Anthony Krogmann of this city and Lt. Bowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bowell of

Outdoor Parties Popular Over

Outdoor parties were in the spotlight yesterday as numerous hosts and hostesses entertained in their country homes or summer homes at afternoon refreshment informals and equally informal evening buffets. A large group of Washingtonians joined the house party at the sum-mer home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Culbertson in Charmian, Pa., the party being the first given by the hosts since they departed for the summer season. Throughout the stay of the Culbertsons at Charmian Mis Sara Booth Miller, whose marweek-end parties at their delightful

By the Way—

It didn't take the bombing of Pearl Harbor to galvanize Fauquier County, Va., into war work. A good many months before the Japs' sneak attack, the Virginia women had organized first-aid classes, canteen work, a motor corps, home service, water safety, etc. So when December 7 came, they were well on the way to being an extremely efficient group in the war effort.

Chairman of the Fauquier County Chapter of the Red Cross is Mrs. Martin J. O'Connell, who's had the position for the past two years. She's a sweet, soft-spoken blond woman who does a tremendous amount of work-quietly and efficiently. With her husband (who's commissioner of conciliation for the United States Government) she's lived in the same lovely old Southern home (right in the village of Warrenton) for the past 25 years.

Since Mr. O'Connell is now stationed in the Middle West. he's really only home for visitshis wife keeps herself interested and busy with her Red Cross work, and for relaxation helps the "hired man" take care of the O'Connell's beautiful flower gardens and the spacious vegetable garden just beyond. Her roses are famous throughout the countryside-and so are her vegetables. Surplus of either she gives to neighboring friends, or if she has to go to Washington on Red Cross business she fills the back seat of her car with them to take as presents to city-dwelling acquaintances.

Chairman of the Home Service for Fauquier County is Mrs. C. E. Jeffries. When she used to live in Washington she did a lot of social service work. She's ably qualified to handle and direct this job, the primary responsibility of which is to assist service men and their families in meeting those needs which arise from the man's service in the armed forces.

The Red Cross Motor Corps gives her plenty of help-taking her to all ends of the county. Since this home service is really a link between the men in the armed forces and their families, it takes a trained social service worker who is both understanding and sympathetic to fill the requirements of the position. Mrs. Jeffries is all of this-and more, and the many, many people she's helped all adore her. Pretty little Mrs. Henri de Heller is captain of the Motor Corps of Fauquier County. She has 20 women volunteers under her-all of whom have had advanced first-aid training (most of them have completed at least two advanced first-aid courses), military drill, map reading, special courses in stretcher bearing and car mechanics. The ambulance, which was a gift from Raymond McGrath and Leon Cotnareanu, is now used almost entirely for clinical work, but is on call for any emergency rive, they love the class so much. Good-looking Mrs. George loane does a wonderful chairman of women's activities for War savings stamps, and the biggest woman's volunteer job in the entire county is that of Mrs. John Hinckley. She's just been named co-ordinator of defense (See BY THE WAY, Page B-4.)

Miss McCorkle Is Married to Lt. Robinson

Ceremony Is Held At Lutheran Church Of Reformation

Amid a setting of palms, white gladoli and gypsophelia and lighted candelabras at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Miss Dorothea Ada McCorkle became the bride of Lt. John Mentzer Robinson, U. S. N. R. The Rev. Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder officiated at the double-ring ceremony

Preceding the wedding Miss Mary A. Weidley, organist, and Mrs. Viola Ketcham, soprano, gave a musical prelude.

Escorted down the aisle by her father the bride was becomingly attired in a gown of soft blush-tone satin and lace. Her veil of matching bridal illusion was full length and caught into a coronet of family rosepoint lace. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid shower.

Miss Ann Robinson, the maid of honor and sister of the bridegroom, wore a dress of organza. Her bouquet was of assorted garden flowers and tied with pink satin ribbon. A tiera of matching flowers was worn in her hair. Rainbow colors were worn by the three bridesmaids, whose dresses were in style with that of the maid of honor. Mrs. Russell C. Payne of Washington wore a flush pink dress with bouquet and tiera of garden flowers with blue as the dominant color. Mrs. Edgar J. Dull of Baltimore was gowned in delicate green with bouquet and tiera in a contrasting color of yellow. Miss Elizabeth Usinger of Pitman, N. J., schoolmate of the bride, was in a jonquil yellow dress with green as a complimentary color in her bouquet and tiera.

Sergt, Ernest F. McCorkle, U. S. A., brother of the bride, served as best man. The ushers were Dr. Russell C. Payne, Mr. Edgar J. Dull and Ensign Clarence D. Shelburne, U. S. N. R.

Placed on a little white satin heart-shaped pillow, edged in lace and ribbon, were the wedding rings. Walking sedately before the bride and her father was little Catherine Blackburn, dressed in a white ruffled long gown of organza.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Garden House of the Dodge Hotel. Special significance was given the reception, since the parents of the bride celebrated their 37th wedding anniversary the next day. Interestingly displayed on the wedding cake were two wax hands that had been used on the wedding cake of Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle.

The bride is a graduate of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and is employed as the church secretary at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation. Lt. Robinson graduated from Franklin and Marshall Col-

But the town of Canterbury, including the immediate environs of the cathedral, and even the walled cathedral precincts, suffered cruelly. And there were civilian casualties -in some cases whole families wiped out-though, considering the ferocity of the four major attacks, casualties were remarkably small. The town clerk was one of the victims. A family of seven, just evacuated to Canterbury after a series of other stores, two banks, four schools, out in one block of demolished houses.

By Dr. Goebbels' own admission, through the controlled German press and radio, the attack on Canterbury was in reprisal for the RAF attack Six Eager to Enlist on Cologne and was directed against the cathedral and its "Bolshevist In 'Women's Cavalry' archbishop." And there is this significant difference: Cologne is a large industrial city, bristling with military objectives; Canterbury is a peaceful English town, rich in history and quaintly beautiful, with no semblance of war industry of military activity other than the normal defense precautions essential for a community only 40 miles from the enemy lines.

I visited Canterbury just after its great blitz, while some of the fires from incendiaries were still smould-

"The archbishop came too with a fire extinguisher," said his loyal wife, "but we sent him back because of his poor sight. What interested me most was putting into effect what I had practiced at York. It showed the value of learning to use a stirrup pump. I did no more than I expect many others did." However, those who worked alongside her paid high tribute to her and also to the archbishop, who inspired all who saw him during the raid with his courage and calmness. Despite the risk of further raids and the fact that his palace and the cathedral were practically the only buildings remaining intact in the precincts, the archbishop announced

I found the town heavily damaged, but speedily recovering, and its people undismayed-though most of them expected further attacks and many spent the nights in tents or shake-downs in the open fields of the countryside. Relief of suffering and distress was remarkably well organized.

American Equipment Aided.

"I never knew there were so many nice people and so much good in the world," said one of the victims. Among relief units were vehicles of the British-American Ambulance Corps and the British War Relief Society, as well as YMCA and church army mobile canteens. Signs on many of these indicating they were the gifts of particular communities or societies in the United States are s visible evidence of Anglo-American friendship

Americans may well be proud that through the contribution and equipment of these vehicles they are able to share in first-aid and the provision of practical comforts to blitzed communities in England in the time of their great need.

In the walled precinsts of the cathedral 270 incendiaries were dropped-11 on the roof of the cathedral itself. Several high explosive shells fell within 100 yards of the cathedral. One of them destroyed the valuable cathedral library; others leveled eight buildings in the precincts, including three canons' houses and the King's School. The old palace, in which the Archbishop and Mrs. Temple were in residence, was uninjured; and when I called there a few days later I found decorstors continuing their annual cleaning and redecorating as calmly as if the war were thousands of miles away

Our Girl Graduates Must Be Self-Supporting

Men Will Be Scarce When War Is Over and Getting Husband Will Be Matter of Chance

By Dorothy Dix.

The schools are sending forth their armies of sweet girl graduates who are about to face their first great battle with life. It is a spectacle that always brings a lump into the throat of the beholder, for these little soldiers are so brave, so gallant, so full of hope and faith, so ill-prepared for the dangers they must meet and so bewildered by them, and we oldsters know that many of them will be maimed and broken in the struggle, many will be slain

Every year this same human drama is enacted when our girls, as the ironic phrase goes, "finish their education," but never before has it had such significance as it has now when the war has changed the status of their sex and when their country is calling upon the womanpower, as well as the manpower, to help save it in its hour of need.

The world which the sweet girl graduate of today enters is a different world from that which her mother knew. No time now for pleasant dalliance, for idle flirtations, for gay parties, for swanky debuts, for playing at a career if you are a trifled highbrowed and very advanced, of which mother tells in speaking of being a woman an alibit for sloppy her own girlhood.

Now everything is grim reality. The party is over. There is no make-if a woman expects man's salary believe work. It is back-breaking and heart-breaking labor. Girls are not embroidering doilies. They are making precision machines. They are not going buggy riding with their first beaux. They are not screaming at the sight of a mouse. They are daring death without the quiver of an evelid

All these altered conditions have brought up strange, new, difficult problems that the modern girl has to solve, for well she knows that life will never be for her what it was for her mother. When mother was a girl she didn't know whether she wanted to go into business or not. Daughter knows she will have to be self-supporting, or starve.

It never crossed mother's mind that she wouldn't marry and have a husband to take care of her. Daughter knows that after every war there are not enough men left to go around, and that even if she does get a husband he may be so crippled that she will have to be being a woman an alibi for sloppy work. Daughter knows that war took the sex out of work, and that she must do a man's labor. So when the sweet girl graduate of today sits down to try to plan her future, she should do a lot of serious thinking and try to decide on some occupation for which she not only has a natural bent, but that she will be interested in doing the balance of her life. There is no use in her kidding herself into thinking that it doesn't make any difference whether she goes in for stenography because Jane is doing it, or modeling because it must be fun to do nothing but put on expensive gowns, because she won't be doing it for long, anyway. The chances are that she has enlisted for the duration and the war with hard times is never going to Nor need she deceive herself into the wishful thinking that it is not

Young People Leave Home Because of Discontent

Make Them Understand Their Freedom and Rights Are Not Interfered With Unduly

By Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison

Today we're dealing with the problem of why girls leave home-and that's no gag. Rather, it's the theme of a worried letter from a conscientious and well-meaning mother, Mrs. D. E., who writes:

"I am a widow with children who have been taught to do what is right, and who have been given a fair chance. One girl, 17, is beinning to wander on the wrong track. She has kept everything from me, because she knows it is against my will, but I have heard about her going to roadhouse dances.

"I have prayed and talked gently with her, and because I object to her conduct, she is planning secretly to run away as soon as she is 18, so that she car do as she pleases. She doesn't know that I have heard about it. What do you advise? Is a girl free to leave home at 18?"

Whether or not your daughter can legally leave home at 18, Mrs. D., depends on the laws of your State. But we don't think the point is especially important, because unless she changes her mind in the meantime, she'll probably run away when she is 18, law or no law.

The situation you outline is serious, both for you and your daughter. We realize that you do not wish to * compromise your principles against roadhouse dances. However, if you have your daughter's welfare at heart, you know that it will be far better for her to continue to live at home than to run away and leave all home influences behind her. Therefore we feel that you would be justified in trying to modify your strict principles somewhat, if necessary, so that she can be persuaded to abandon her idea of running away. The reason a girl-or a boy-runs away from home is that conditions there seem to her to be unbearable. Perhaps they aren't. Perhaps it's the girl's fault for having that attitude. But the desire for freedom in young people is very strong, and when it is curtailed severely, they feel almost compelled to take drastic action so that this desire for freedom can be expressed.

Your problem is to try to make your daughter feel that her freedom and her "rights" are not unduly interfered with while she lives at home. Undoubtedly she needs your guidance; but you must manage to give it to her without seeming to "boss" her or "run her life." This isn't easy, but we know no other way that the problem can be handled without harm to some one.

Is your daughter free to bring her friends to her home, or is she forced to go to roadhouses and such places in order to have some kind of social life? Many parents, particularly those of strict principles, don't seem to realize that wholesome good times with other young people are a normal and necessary part of a teenager's life. They don't encourage or permit their sons and daughters to have such good times in their homes, so the young people are driven out to find the social relationships which they crave. Of course, your daughter may be a "problem child." But without knowing her we can only assume that she is just another normal girl with a natural desire to have fun and companionship. If so, it's up to you to help her get these things Horrifying are the facial sights as without going to objectionable one tours this country-blobs of the places. When she realizes that you are in sympathy with her desire for wrong colored rouge on cheeks; wholesome good times you'll no

A. This is certainly a matter of personal taste. Our taste would be in favor of teen-agers calling their parents "mother" and "dad," or some variation of these names. However, we see no harm in your daughter calling her father "Arthur" in a rather bantering way. In fact, it indicates an informal, goodfriends relationship between them which is fine stuff-if not overdone. If your daughter isn't "fresh" otherwise, don't worry about it. Confidentially, your objection to the practice is probably based on a little unconscious jealousy!

Treasure and scavenger hunts are grand summer fun. Full information on how to conduct them is found in "Our Favorite Party Games," a grand booklet of entertainment ideas. Get it by sending five cents (stamps or coin) to Kay Caldwell and Alden Harrison, in care of The Evening Star.

Never wear rouge in blobs! Rouge should be blended as your face blushes. A bit of intense color is spread all over the full part of your cheek until it fades into the ivory tones of your skin.

Start your rouge directly under the pupil of each eye and blend it out toward your hairline. One speck the size of a dime is sufficient for coloring your entire cheek.

Select a rouge shade closest to your natural blush shade. Do not wear a rouge just because it matches your lipstick. The perfect blush rouge color will harmonize with any lipstick shade becoming to your natural coloring. But if you insist upon wearing orange shades, bluered shades, and red-red lipsticks (which is being beauty foolish) you will have to have three delicate rouges-one on the orange tone, one on blue-red tone and another on the scarlet tone.

Rouge should not be noticeable in davlight.

More rouge may be worn under artificial lights, but your favorite daytime shade might not be flattering to your beauty at night.

A better job can be done with cream rouge over a powder foundation than with dry rouge with or without powder foundation unless it

Civil Air Patrol Adds Courier Service To Long Duty List

Volunteer Flyers Speed Vital Parts to War Production Plants

By BILL BONI, Wide World Military Editor.

The civil air patrol, whose light and civilian pilots already have turned in valuable work on coastal patrol against submarines, is leaping into another breach with all the enthusiasm that can be generated by upward of 50.000 volunteers organized in squadrons, wings and groups in all of the 48 States. Since the Army took over control of the Nation's airlines and much of their equipment, and with the country in a stew over the air cargo problem, the CAP has instituted a courier service which, in many respects, bears the same relation to the main commercial air routes as does auxiliary truck service to railroad operations.

But it goes even beyond that in making vital time-saving contributions to a war program in which time is the one main essential. Made Economic Survey.

Under the supervision of Garnet N. Hughes, executive officer of the New York wing, an economic survey was made for a Long Island war production plant which had frequent calls for small shipments of parts, tools and other materials, and got them by truck, motorcycle or private car.

"I don't know where the general is," his secretary will say, "but most likely he is down the hall somewhere.

If the general is, he will slouched easily in the visitor's chair. A cigarette in a holder tilts upward from his mouth.

In his own office, the 51 year old, Ohio-born general receives callers with the utmost cordiality. He is courteous to a fault. But courtesies over, the general talks business with his hands stretched before him on the desk, the palms together and fingers extended. On the left he always wears a signet ring.

His words are weighed carefully before he speaks.

Facile and as much at ease as he is before people, the general is flustered by a camera.

Movies Go Nick Carterish In Titles of June's Films

But Dignity Is Restored by Deal Of Warners for 'Mission to Moscow': Cameraman Gets a Lesson

By JAY CARMODY.

The movies mood for June was strictly Nick Carterish. More so perhaps than it has been since the pioneer days when it was all done with gestures and the more violent the gesture the more dramatic the picture

That is the only thought which one gets from scanning the titles of pictures released during the period of May 25-June 25. Their luridity is enough, if not more than enough, to give you the impression that the

And probably won't. * * * *

However, to be fair about it, better literature still exercises its old fascination for the seekers after movie material. A striking evidence of that fact is Warner Bros. purchase of Joseph E. Davies' "Mission to Moscow," which the studio naturally did not buy merely to read

At first glance, former Ambassador Davies' book would hardly seem to be the stuff of which a screen drama is made. Neither in its day did Ambassador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany." Please Audience In Bach Concerto

By ELENA DE SAYN. The 70th concert of the "Sunset Symphonies" series by the National Symphony Orchestra at the Water Hollywood inexorably back to fun-Gate last night was enjoyed by thousands of visitors, with uniforms prevalent everywhere. The orchestra shell, overhung by delicate hues this bit of cerebration, attributed of pink clouds and backed by grayish shades of the water, seemed the very embodiment of a peaceful way of life, surrounded by gaily painted canoes and yachts on one side and the rippling Potomac on the other. Sir Ernest MacMillan was again the conductor of the orchestra which after Rossini's gay overture to "The Barber of Seville" offered a novelty in McKay's "Symphonie Miniature." This talented American composer already has many opuses to his name.

Differ in Style.

"March of Tomorrow," "A Prairie Poem" and a "Rondino on a Jovial Theme," which make up the symphonie, differ in style and thematic material, the first being Indian in character, the second suggesting broad vistas of the prairies, the third modernistic in its harmonization, each well defined by the conductor.

Two soloists of the evening. Orrea Pernell and Benno Rabinof, violinists, focused the attention of the audience by their admirable team work in Bach's famous "Concerto in D Minor" for two violins and orchestra.

This is one of the few works in which both artists share equally in achievement, the second violin taking the lead and the first echoing the theme, repeated in turn by the basses of the orchestral ensemble. While the latter was not given the necessary importance, being used as a mere accompanying medium, the duet was so satisfying as to be complete in itself.
