Nazi Plot to Invade U.S. From South Reported by Mexican Army Officer

MEXICO CITY, (A).-A former Mexican military attache to Berlin said in a published interview today that Germany had planned to land an invasion force in Tampico to attack the United States and had offered Mexico "territorial compensation" for its support.

The plans were completed during the invasion of Poland, two years before the United States entered the war, Lt. Col. Armando Lozano Bernal said. Col. Bernal has just returned to Mexico with diplomatic repatriates.

The colonel said the German plan was discussed with him and that the Nazis envisioned taking over the Mexican Gulf coast port in the oil region and using it as a base against the United States.

Col. Bernal said his unsympathetic answers to inquiries caused the Germans to cut short their efforts to win him over. He said the Mexican government was fully advised of the German overtures.

Senator Barkley delivered his criticism as the appropriation bill carrying $120,000,000 for the Office of Price Administration came up for debate.

He opposed any immediate action on the measure because 43 Senators were absent and obtained a tacit understanding that while debate would proceed, no vote would be taken on the controversial sections until Wednesday or Thursday. One of the committee's amendments, to require Senate confirmation of OPA appointees making $4,500 or over, even where these employes are already on the job, would create the impression that Congress is "more interested in patronage" than in winning the war, Senator Barkley declared.

Another amendment, to prohibit the OPA from placing ceilings on any commodity processed from agricultural products which would yield a price below 110 per cent of parity unless approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, also was criticized. Eklund Takes Police on Tour Of Hideout Spots

Place He Pounded Handcuffs Off Found Near Glen Echo

(Earlier Story on Page A-1.) John Eugene Eklund, who neard a District Court jury return a second-degree murder verdict against him this morning, later took police on a tour of the places he visited during his week-end liberty.

It was understood that Eklund led the party to a spot deep in the woods near Glen Echo where he pounded the links of his handcuffs between two rocks until they separated.

Police admitted that they had located the spot, but would not reveal its location because they said that they expected to find some further evidence in the area.

Visited Large Estate. The party later visited a large estate, unoccupied at this time, overlooking Georgia avenue, north of Madison street N.W., in the general area where the twice-convicted sniper slayer was apprehended by an auxiliary policeman yesterday.

Defense Attorney Harry T. Whelan told reporters this afternoon at Folice Headuarters, where Eklund was taken for a short while after recovery of the handcuffs, that he had explained to his client the importance of locating the handcuffs.

Some food also was found with the handcuffs. Mr. Whelan told reporters that Eklund had told him that he bought a hacksaw blade, also found at the spot, at an automobile supply store. Reporters were told that Eklund had been able to ride on the streetcar between Glen Echo and Wash-ington without attracting attention by shoving the handcuffs high up on his arms. When seated, he kept his arms folded so as to hide the

All evidence in the sensational escape was brought along for examination by Mr. Curran and his assistant, Charles B. Participating in the conference were United States Marshal John B. Colpoys and Chief Deputy Marshal Michael Kearney; Capt. Robert J. Although the $120,000,000 OPA fund allowed by the Appropriations Committee is an increase of $45,000,-000 above the amount previously voted by the House, it is $20,000,000 less than the smallest amount the price administrator had asked. He U. S. Flyers in Africa said the cut would limit OPA operations severely but that this problem

Mr. Henderson's main criticism of the bill was directed against an Appropriations Committee amendment to prevent the OPA from fixing prices on any commodity made in whole or in part from a farm product unless the price reflected 110 per cent of parity. Parity is a level intended to give crops the purchasing power they enjoyed in a previous period, usually 1909-1914. In a statement issued Saturday night Mr. Henderson said the farm price restriction would force repeal of the general maximum price regulations because it would require studies on thousands of items of Senator Wagner, Democrat of New flank since dawn Friday, when the York, asserted in a broadcast last

He said such sales were necessary for several reasons, not only to provide animal feed, but for production of alcohol for explosives and synthetic rubber.

Hong Kong Prisoners Satisfied With Food Rations, Japs Say

Report Relayed to Canada Asserts Conditions at Camps Are Improving

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, July 13.-An official Japanese report relayed here yesterday through the Argentine government asserted that war prisoners in Hong Kong, including an estimated 1.600 Canadians, were satisfied with their food rations and that prison camp conditions generally were improving.

This was the first direct word from official Japanese sources since the Far Eastern base, garrisoned by Canadian, British and Indian troops, fell to the enemy last Christ-

The note acknowledged that dysentery had caused suffering among Indian troops in January and that cholera had afflicted both Japanese soldiers and Chinese civilians at Hong Kong in February, but said health measures had reduced the number of cases.

The number of wounded patients "satisfactorily" declined from a total of 1,150 in January to 391 by mid-March, the report added. The Japanese said transportation difficulties had been "acute" and contended it had been "virtually impossible to bring supplies to Hong Kong in large quantities." Food rations varied in different camps, the report said, but the Japanese maintained the prisoners got the same food as Japanese soldiers in the area.

The daily rations at one camp at the end of March were listed as follows: Forty ounces of rice, 17 ounces of fresh vegetables, 5 ounces of meat-including fish and additional miscellaneous food.

Both officers and men also received 1 ounce of tobacco free each week and such necessities as soap and tooth paste were supplied free.

persons were the "immediate contacts" of the eight Nazi secret agents when they landed last month from German U-boats after having received detailed instruction in a sabotage school near Berlin in the methods of the destroying of vital American war industries and transportation facilities.

One Bought Automobiles.

He said the 14 are known to have given shelter to the eight prisoners after their arrival in New York and Chicago and to have furnished them assistance which would have aided the foreign agents in their sabotage efforts in this country. Shortly after Mr. Biddle made the announcement concerning the arrest of the 14 contacts the military commission issued its sixth official communique on the progress of the saboteurs' trial. Brief like its five predecessors, the official announcement disclosed that the morning session was taken up by further cross-examination by defense counsel of an FBI agent who was on the witness stand Saturday. FBI Director Hoover said one of the 14 arrested "contacts" had assisted by purchasing an automobile for the use of one of the Nazi agents in transporting explosives and other materials recovered by FBI agents on the Long Island and Florida Coasts.

The 14 persons, Mr. Hoover revealed, assisted the Nazi agents in concealing part of the $176,000 recovered by the FBI which had been brought to this country by the eight saboteurs to carry out their program of destruction. Several of the persons in custody, he declared, changed bills of large denomination for the secret agents in order to divert any suspicion.

Although 14 of the accomplices were aware of the arrival of the eight saboteurs from Germany, Director Hoover disclosed that none of them made any attempt to report the information to the FBI or any other authority.

U-Boats Torpedo Two Ships in Caribbean; Shell Misses Raider

Victim of One Attack Is Given Treatment Aboard Enemy Sub

By the Associated Press.

The reported sinking of a Dominican schooner and of a small Panamanian merchantman, one of whose survivors was given first aid treatment aboard the attacking submarine, put at 362 today the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of Allied and neutral ship losses in the Western Atlantic since the United States entry into the war.

Both new sinkings occurred in the Caribbean, that of the sailing craft Carmen being reported from Cuidad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, as having taken place yesterday, and the Panamanian being announced by the Navy as a recent torpedo victim.

Twenty-four survivors of the Panamanian ship said their gun crew fired one shell at the undersea attacker, but missed when the Uboat crash-dived. Surfacing when the merchantman went down, the sub commander ordered the wounded seaman treated by a German physician, returned him to a lifeboat and called out "Good luck" as he cruised away. One man was Wounded Suspect boat and called out "Good luck" as killed in this attack. Survivors of the schooner, shelled ern coast of the Dominican Repubduring the shelling.

Twenty-two other eraft were announced last week as having been sunk, the victims being six American vessels, six British, three Norwegian, one Cuban, one Dutch, one Latvian, one Belgian, one Honduran, one Greek and one Allied but otherwise unidentified ship.

Froehling has admitted that on Haupt's arrival at his home he left in Froehling's possession a bag containing $9,950 concealed in a secret compartment. This money was found by FBI agents in the Froehling home. Borneo's Oil Fields

Rich Areas Held Likely To Be Exploited Due To Fifth Column Aid

By GEORGE WELLER, War Correspondent of The Star and Chi-cago Daily News.

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA. July 13.—Japanese exploitation of the oil wells in British Borneo and Dutch Northeast Borneo probably has placed at the disposal of the Nipponese fleet substantial quantities of oil suitable for the fleet's use, it is freely conceded by naval authorities here.

These oil fields before the war were Japan's most desired prize not only because the oil came from the ground in a condition which could be used if necessary without refining, but also because the fields were the nearest to Japan.

An American naval authority with whom your correspondent talked said he regarded it as possible that the Japanese had "floating refineries ready for immediate exploitation of the oil fields they planned to seize." Besides having considerlook at the prisoner and quoted her able Japanese communities under the British and Dutch flag, the aggressors also had under the American flag at Davao a community of Japs so large that it was known as "little Japan."

Four Camel Caravans... complete road shows for men in uniform the Camel Caravans hit the road. And they've been at it ever since: four performances a day in some camps to audiences of 15,000 to 20,000.

Yes, it seems you can't find a military scene anywhere without Camels in the picture... cigarette or show. Or both. And both seem to have won top rating with the men in all the services. According to applause and letters of appreciation from morale officers, the shows are a "smash hit!" And according to sales records, the cigarette is a "smash hit," too. The top-ranking favorite in P.X.'s and Canteens.

STEADY NERVES...that's the order of the hour. Whether you man a gun or a machine ... whether you sit a jouncing jeep or knit a sweater ... you'll appreciate Camels more than ever these days. They have the mildness that counts!

Pay Raise Deferred

The announcement by Chairman Ramspeck of the House Civil Service Committee that Government pay legislation will be held up until fall is disappointing but not surprising. Insistent bonus demands by groups which would not benefit from the administration plan to pay overtime in the departmental service made it certain that Congress would seek to work out a compromise, and while Chairman Ramspeck now is ready with a bill intended to satisfy the various interests involved, time is too short to do anything with it until after the summer recess.

The losers are the thousands of men and women in the departments and independent agencies who will continue indefinitely to work overtime without compensation. Their week has been lengthened from thirty-nine to forty-four and fortyeight hours, and it was only simple justice when President Roosevelt proposed that they receive time and one-half for hours in excess of forty, up to a limit of $3,800. It is unfortunate that this measure could not have been disposed of quickly on its own merits, as it meant a great deal to those in the lower brackets.

Shipping Losses

While specific figures of present tonnage of merchant shipping are everywhere jealously guarded military secrets, data just out of Washington enable us to realize the overall losses. And they are certainly impressive. Since the beginning of the war, slightly less than three years ago, the total number of vessels sunk exceeds 3,000, involving a known loss of life of nearly 42,000 seamen and officers, not counting more than 12,000 still missing and unaccounted for. Only last week, at least thirtyfour ships were sent to the bottom throughout the seven seas. Three short years ago, when the world was still at peace, any one of those sinkings would have been a major news story.

Of course, it should be understood that the figures just quoted cover Axis shipping and crew losses as well as those of the United Nations. But Axis sinkings apparently account for only about one-third of the grand total. The United Nations have therefore lost in the vicinity of 2,000 ships. Britain is by far the heaviest loser, with over 1,100 vessels sunk. That is nearly four times the figure for Norway, the next biggest loser. United States ship losses so far are 225, but at the present rate of sinkings that figure soon will be sharply exceeded.

Tonnage figures have not been disclosed; but since most of the sunken United Nations ships were ocean-going vessels, it is reasonable to suppose that they averaged better than 3,000 tons. This would bring total tonnage lost to at least 10,000,-000 for the United Nations. Recent unofficial estimates suggest that the amount of shipping now at the disposal of the United Nations today is little if any larger than the 45,000,000 deadweight tons controlled by the Allies in 1918. Even at that time, there was no great surplus, though it was primarily a North Atlantic war, and the German U-boat menace was by then under control. Today, we need fleets of merchant ships in every quarter of the globe, and they are everywhere preyed upon by Axis submarines of a more formidable type than their predecessors of the last war.

Scarcity of shipping is, indeed, the basic bottleneck of our entire war effort. To mention only one important phase of this complex problem, lack of ships rather than of trained men and up-to-date equipment is what chiefly holds up the creation of an effective second front in Western Europe this year. Most of the United Nations ships now affoat are earmarked to supply Britain, Russia, Australia, and the many British and American forces in various parts of the world. A genuine second front in Europe would require millions of tons of merchant shipping to transport the great expeditionary force and keep it supplied. Everything indicates that this tonnage could not be diverted from present uses without profound maladjustments in other quarters. The bright spot in an otherwise everages two ships a day with an from the earth." The words of be!"

aggregate tonnage of 700,000 tons per month, the goal being 8,000,000 tons for the current year. And it is hoped that this output can eventually be doubled. That should more than keep pace with ship sinkings, plus the gradual accumulation of a surplus for new uses.

However, this hopeful prospect does little to alleviate the present situation. So far as this crucial summer is concerned, shipping is bound to be a chronic headache for almost every phase of the overall war effort. It must just be lived through in the best way possible.

Impending Disaster

The American effort to forestall the economic disaster of wartime inflation, begun with such a fanfare of oratory a little less than three months ago, is now on the verge of total collapse. Unless there is a drastic eleventh-hour change of heart, and this seems most unlikely, we must expect in the near future to begin paying the heavy price of this failure-a failure which will be all the more distressing because it results not from lack of understanding of the problem, but from an apparent inability to take the precautionary measures which are so obviously in-

In a public statement Saturday, Price Administrator Leon Henderson, making a final stand in defense of his program, told the country in plain language that the maximum price regulations will have to be repealed if the appropriation bill for his office becomes law in the form approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee. That was not an exaggerated statement. While approving an appropriation for the Office of Price Administration which is $45,000,000 greater than that allowed by the House, the Senate Committee wrote restrictions into the bill which, if finally approved, would force the OPA to close up shop. The most harmful restriction is that which has the effect of requiring OPA to obtain the advance approval of the Secretary of Agriculture for any price ceiling on processed or finished agricultural products.

This proviso, said by Mr. Henderson to have been written by the American Farm Bureau Federation, is plainly intended to permit the prices of farm commodities to rise to 110 per cent of parity. If it becomes law it would put Congress on record as seeking to exempt the farmers from the economic sacrifices which the rest of the Nation is expected to make. But it would not have that intended effect, because, in destroying the whole effort to control living costs, Congress would open the door to an inflationary disaster which eventually would engulf the farmers along with the rest of the people.

It is a mistake, however, for Mr. Henderson to attribute the impending collapse of his program exclusively to the attitude of Congress. The real explanation goes deeper than that. If this latest congressional attempt to insure favored treatment for farmers can wreck the effort to control living costs, the same thing may be said of the unchecked drive for general wage advances. But this latter responsibility rests with the President, because he, preferring to handle this phase of the program in his own way, has prevented Congress from stabilizing wages by law. But wages, under the President's supervision, have not been stabilized. On the contrary, the trend is ever upward, and the congressional farm bloc has made it clear that, in any event, it will not tolerate restraints on farmers which are not applied with equal force to

While these two powerful pressure groups, each denouncing the other, maneuver for favored position, thousands upon thousands of small businessmen are being forced to the wall, for there are neither higher wages nor parity programs for them. Throughout the country the pinch of declining commodity stocks is beginning to be felt by the unorganized consumers, and if this is to be sharpened by mounting prices their plight will become acute. But no dominant voice in the legislative or administrative branches of the Government is pleading their case, for the great majority of the people are unorganized and therefore inarticulate.

Yet it is the majority of the people the rank and file-who will suffer most if the rising tide of inflation is not turned back. If the force of public opinion can be mustered in time, it should be possible to secure the taking of the obvious and essential measures against inflation. But the great question is whether this will be done before disaster has overwhelmed us.

New Concept of Freedom

The crisis in which the American people currently find themselves involved may prove to be an occasion for the expansion and strengthening of those principles by which they live. Plain it is that only by the demonstration of their powers of armed resistance can they survive the present struggle without surrendering their traditional liberties. The democratic civilization for which their fathers fought must be defended today in a contest more cruel than any of the past. "Force to the utmost," as Woodrow Wilson phrased it a generation ago, is imperative if victory over the Axis aggressors is to be achieved.

Abraham Lincoln, spoken at Gettysburg in 1863, have a meaning and a significance as compelling in 1942 as they had when first they were uttered by their great-hearted

Many of those who pondered the value of such a concept of society in years gone by naturally were content to judge it in terms of application to a single community, a separate Nation. Gradually, however, the capacity of outlaw groups to stir up mischief in the world increased until it no longer was feasible for America to maintain its own integrity exempt from the disturbing influences of the universal conflict. With vast reluctance, but with constantly growing determination, the whole population of the United States now is being enlisted to the end that humanity at large may escape enslavement. Perhaps the bitter experience of these times was necessary for the instruction of millions of men and women in appreciation of their privileges of freedom.

In any case, it already is evident that the challenge to liberty is producing a new comprehension of its preciousness even to the humblest souls. It now is important to many who until a few months ago never had paused to think about what a hell this planet would be without it. Peace likewise has become an imperative requirement to multitudes of people who previously had taken strife for granted as an evil for which there was no cure. And righteousness also is recognized as an essential rule of conduct among empires as among private individuals.

In anticipation of the fulfillment of the ideal thus delineated, Benjamin Franklin toward the end of his prophetic career wrote to a friend: "God grant that not only the love of liberty but a thorough knowledge of the rights of man may pervade all the nations of the earth. so that a philosopher may set his foot anywhere on its surface and say: 'This is my country.'"

The combat personnel of America employs less flowery language, but it shares the same ardent hope and confident expectation.

New Tax Bill

The one certain thing about the new tax bill which has been finally approved by the House Ways and Means Committee is that it will satisfy nobody. In attempting to pass judgment on the merits of this vastly complicated measure, however, it is well to bear in mind that it is the product of more than four months of intensive work on the part of committee members and that it necessarily represents their composite judgment. Hence, while it cannot conform to any individual concept of an ideal tax bill, it may well be that it strikes the best average that could be expected.

At the outset, it is conceded that the measure will fall far short of raising the $8,700,000,000 in additional revenue which the Treasury had urgently requested. Spokesmen for that department estimated that the bill will bring in about $6,250,-000,000, while Committee Chairman Doughton has said that the total will be nearer $7,000,000,000. In either event it will be the heaviest tax load ever assumed by the American

In last-minute changes, reflecting uncertainty in the minds of committee members themselves, the burden which the bill places on corporations and individual income taxpayers was materially increased. This came after a final proposal to adopt a sales tax had been turned down and after special, and apparently unwarranted, tax concessions had been made to members of the armed services. In its final form the bill, in addition to boosting the normal and surtax corporate rates to a combined 45 per cent, provides an excess profits rate of 87.5 per cent. This is lower than the originally proposed 94 per cent level, but it involves abandonment of the proposal for a 14 per cent post-war rebate, intended to help corporations make the difficult post-war financial adjustments. It remains to be seen what the precise effect of these very heavy taxes will be. Certainly, however, they will raise less revenue and will not have the anti-inflationary advantages that might have been achieved had the committee been willing to take the political bull by the horns and recommend adoption

One innovation in the bill which should be welcomed is the provision for a 5 per cent withholding tax in 1943, to be applied to payment of income taxes due in 1944. After 1943, this withholding tax rises to 10 per cent, and in future years, if this provision is retained, it will prove to be an important factor in enabling taxpayers to pay all or part of their taxes out of current income. Whatever else may be said of the bill, this is definitely a contribution to a sound future tax program.

Population Planning Held Needed for Peace

Writer Argues That 'Satan' Of Axis Nations Is Result Of Heedless Breeding

To the Editor of The Star: We have read with interest Vice President Henry A. Wallace's little book, "The Price of Free World Victory," in which he says "Through the leaders of the Nazi revolution, Satan now is trying to lead the common man of the whole world back into slavery and darkness." Let us see if we can account for this

Satan through purely natural forces. It is true that Mr. Wallace says that illiteracy and lack of experience in selfgovernment play important parts in the promotion of war and the rise to power of dictators, but the Germans are not an illiterate people and they have lived right next to Switzerland, which is one of the oldest democracies in the world.

It is interesting to note that the Germans, the Japanese and the Italians all attribute this war to overpopulation and the lack of adequate "living space." But have they any idea of how this "devil" of overpopulation works? Through recently discovered tools of science such as knowledge of age composition, life tables and refined natural increase rates, we now have learned some of the deceptive tricks of the "devil" of overcrowding.

The evolution of the problem of war and dictators caused by overcrowding of population may be explained something like this: A nation begins to increase rapidly in population when everything looks bright. Perhaps industrialization has enabled a nation to support more people at a somewhat higher level of living. First there is an increase in the child population due to a high birth rate or to a low infant death rate er both. As time goes by, the children grow into young men and young women. When this begins to happen there is an increasingly larger proportion of the population in the productive, military and child-bearing ages. Productive capacity per capita (as far as age is concerned) increases, there are larger numbers ready for the army each year and a larger proportion of the population in the childbearing ages has a tendency to increase the birth rate still higher. So far, so

Unfortunately, this is only part of the story. In due time the young people created by the first upward surge of population begin to grow old and dependent, and, if the birth rate is not kept high to produce a bumper crop of oncoming youths, soon there will be an abnormally large proportion of oldsters. On the other hand, if the birth rate is kept high the total population soon reaches the "must expand or explode" stage. (Incidentally, a high birth rate now produces many more births than in former years because the population is much larger.) The nation then is trapped. It is caught between the "devil" (a war for conquest) and the deep blue sea (becoming an old and senile people).

When a nation reaches the explosive population stage it is ripe for the dictator or would-be conqueror. The nation is so crowded that there is a good excuse for regimentation to keep "law and order." As population pressure becomes more intense, the clever demagogue who promises to cure the miseries of the people can gain attention and power. One of the first things the dictator calls for is a higher birth rate. This practically assures an attempt at a war for conquest.

The would-be conqueror may try to justify his population expansionist program by playing up the fear of "race suicide" and the fear that the nation will grow old and senile. He refers to his own people as a "vigorous, prolific and young nation" destined for grandeur. On the other hand, he constantly refers to neighboring lower birth rate countries as "has been" powers. In due time, the dictator adds the claim that his people are a race of "supermen" blessed by the Almighty with exceptional heredity. Having "established" this point, the dictator reasons that such a superior people should inherit the earth. This is flattering to the ears of the regimented followers, and finally the stage is set for the saber-rattling demagogue to lead his 'long suffering" people into a war for the "just" distribution of the world's re-

When the United Nations finally win this war they will be confused with a troublesome and complex problem of excess population in many countries of the world, particularly the Axis group. The problem of working out both a satisfactory age composition and a satisfactory size total population for many countries will require the most efficient program of population planning for at least 50 years As overcrowded as many countries are today they are almost certain to become more crowded during the next half century even with the most thoughtful and efficient program of population planning. Studies have shown that it takes about two generations, a period of nearly 60 years, to stabilize the age composition of a people, assuming the continuation of the same true rate of natural increase. And even if the true rate of natural increase were just high enough for the proportion of the population in the child-bearing age to reproduce itself, the populations of many countries, including the United States, would continue to expand for a period of two generations or nearly 60 years. The United States might be able to solve the problems which would arise from a 28 per cent increase in population, but such a percentage increase in the populations of such countries as Japan and Italy, not to mention China and India, would require a great deal of forethought, economic expansion and diplomacy.

A more efficient management of the world's natural resources and great advancement in technology may help to ease the population situation somewhat, but unless these forces are accompanied by the most skillful program of population planning during the next half century, there will be little hope of solving the problem of war caused by population pressure. Reports Zoo Fence Wire Is Not What It Seems.

To the Editor of The Star: J. Rex Pimlott, who wrote to The Star about the heavy copper wire strung for fences in the National Zoological Park July 6, stating that, "There are many hundreds of pounds of copper wire available there," etc., was quite naturally deceived, as I was, too, about that particular wire. I had raised the same question some weeks ago with Ernest P. Walker, assistant to Dr. Mann, director of the It seems that the wire is not solid copper at all, but that the inner core is steel, with a thin sheathing of copper on the outside to prevent rusting. It has been used for fence purposes at the Zoo for many years past. Were the wire solid copper, as it appears to be, no doubt Dr. Mann would have turned it in for better wartime uses long ago. ENOCH A. CHASE.

Discusses Wage Increases

As a Cause of Inflation. To the Editor of The Star:

There is much to be said for The Star's editorial on "A Losing Battle"-"one of the most critical battles of the war, the fight against inflation."

But while the "open break between Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Congress" may be "conspicuous," it seems unfair to the issues as well as to Congress to call this a cause rather than an effect of differences of opinion. Congress is also quarreling with the Department of Agriculture over essentially the same issues, and there, too, is holding up appropriations.

The OPA leader repeatedly has said that conditions other than the size of his appropriations, specifically the effect of bad fiscal policy on pyramiding purchasing power, will make it impossible for OPA to carry out its functions effectively. So appropriations can hardly be the limiting factor after all, for were fiscal policy corrected so much less would be required of OPA as to reduce it to little more than temporary rationing of scarce goods, with no post-war functions involved. But without appropriate fiscal policy there will be no limit to the growth of apparently needed, yet futile, funds

Specific price difficulties must be an effect rather than a cause of defective finance, and therefore not controllable by OPA. This applies particularly to the discrepancy which is becoming so critical between farm and industrial wage levels. It is tragically naive to call this a simple matter of pressure groups, for here again the pressure is an inescapable result and not a cause. If the War Labor Board forces a wage advance in "Little Steel" on the theory of ability to pay, it is throwing appropriate fiscal policy to the winds, for it is transferring purchasing power to wages at the expense of the ability to pay taxes. Can Congress be blamed for inadequate taxation under such a wage policy? Not unless they are blamed for the "liberal" labor legislation of the New

This liberality with the profits of property will have to be stopped if agriculture is to function when it has to meet the wage levels of industry under the full employment conditions of war, for it is conspicuously untrue that "so far as its inflationary effect is concerned, demand that the soldiers be protected | there is no difference between a rise in | to win this war. wage levels and an advance in farm L. Under war conditions, it is not farm labor that can be lifted to a high standard of wage rates to attain parity. It is urban labor that must be cut in its real income as measured by hourly wage rates This is an elemental necessity. If it is not done, farm prices must rise or subsidies be paid. Mr. Henderson says ours is "a profit-and-loss economy." But he is indulging in equivocation if he means that farming can be largely conducted as a loss account; and subsidy, as The Star points out, is "a device which merely conceals the weakness of the pricecontrol structure." We cannot merely hang our clothes on the hickory limb and not go near the water in this matter of spending wages. It is clearly a false pretense to employ forced saving in place of taxes to cut wages, and in addition it is a guarantee of ultimate inflation when bonds are cashed.

After reading Gould Lincoln's article on the Senate's confirmation of Meaney, it makes one feel that the word "justice' should be taken out of the dictionary.

I think every man who voted approval should be taken out of circulation as If they thought such as this to be

Complains About Smoke At Lorton Reformatory. To the Editor of The Star:

For several years our surrounding country has been free during the summer months from smoke and soot issuing from the smokestacks of the reformatory at Lorton.

This summer, however, particularly during the daytime, we are confronted with belching black smoke and soot from one smokestack at the reformatory, which means, as any one with common sense knows, utter waste of fuel and poor management. Why cannot something be done about this?

Closed Trial Of Nazi Spies Held Right

Civilian Concern Over Proceedings In Wartime Deplored

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Refusal of the military authorities to permit the trial of the eight Nazi spies to be hippodromed in Hollywood fashion for the benefit of the movies or the radio or the press is such a sound decision and so much in accordance with precedent that one wonders what impetus other than idle curiosity can be motivating the demand for

The trial should really David Lawrence. have been held inside a fort or military encampment and it should not have been permitted to last more than 48 hours. For this is not a civilian affair at all. In wartime when spies are caught they are shot or hanged forthwith. The trial is customarily a bit of perfunctory military routine and it is a matter of surprise that anybody else in the Government should have been so unfamiliar with military matters as to demand otherwise.

The press naturally wants any news it can get, but the responsibility for deciding in wartime whether any news on military matters should be forthcoming is upon the War and Navy Departments. Elmer Davis, new director of War Information, fully understands the risks and dangers involved in disclosing military proceedings and there is not the slightest foundation for the widely disseminated report that he has been trampled upon by the authorities in his first important problem of a perplexing character involving the military. There is every reason to believe, on the contrary, that Mr. Davis is satisfied with what is being done. He is too experienced a man to be ranged alongside those who want news irrespective of the military considerations involved.

Purely Military Matter.

The spy case began with the civilian side when the Federal Bureau of Investigation made the arrests. The FBI agents naturally must present details of the proof, but apart Attorney General has any further responsibility for the management of the military trial or the proceedings. It would be a matter of great surprise to the public to learn that the Attorney General had in any way injected himself into a military matter and it is to be hoped that there is no foundation for the report. For the greatest danger that could befall our military operations would be to have civilian officials interfere in matters of discipline or procedure once a case has come properly under military jurisdiction. The moment the President, as commander in chief, ordered the spies turned over to a military commission the interest therein of any civilian official should have promptly ceased. It is regrettable that the trial was permitted to be held in the Department of Justice building -the headquarters of a civilian agency. This tended only to confuse the issue and mislead the press into thinking it was a quasi-civilian proceeding and as such entitled to coverage by at least two or three reporters or even one on their be-

This Changing World

Allies in Grave Peril With Axis On March From Egypt to Arctic

By CONSTANTINE BROWN. The Axis is on the march along the entire front from Egypt to the Arctic Circle. No less than 3,500,000 Axis troops, with the requisite number of tanks and planes, are involved in this most gigantic battle the world has ever seen.

The Nazi high command obviously is making a desperate effort to reach a decision before winter sets in. Men and machines are being thrown into battle with no regard for cost Since last November when it became apparent that the Nazis were stalled in Russia every ounce of energy in the Reich and the occupied countries has been applied to building up new forces, training new military classes, and "volunteers," and modernizing the air forces with more powerful and speedier planes. The Nazis know they will either succeed in breaking up the Soviet armies, thus gaining access to the rich oil fields of the Caucasus and Near East, or face a bleak

This is the Axis' last major offensive, and if it fails, Italy, Germany and Japan will be compelled to adopt a defensive strategy by the end of this year. If it succeeds the next phase of the war will be fought mainly in the Western Hemisphere. It will be the struggle between the New and the Old Worlds, with the British Isles as the Allies' advanced bastion in the Atlantic and Australia the stronghold in the Pacific Allies in Grave Danger. Washington authorities face the situation squarely. There is no question that the danger to our associates is great and there is relatively little we can do before the next few months, except in localized diversions.

In Africa the British have received reinforcements, mostly in men and planes. Tank superiority is still on the side of the Nazis and Italians. The latter, incidentally, have been specially trained in desert warfare and in recent battles have shown themselves less inclined to flee than formerly. In fact, according to observers on the snot some Italian divisions have shown as much stamina since Tobruk as has Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps. How many fresh troops and how much additional air forces the Axis army in Africa has received in the last 10 days is a matter of conjecture. While available figures are extremely contradictory, there is no question that new forces have been rushed across the Mediterranean, principally from Italy.

Whether the Nazis will be able to drive on to Alexandria or will make important feints to keep the bulk of British forces in that area while another Axis army jumps into Asia Minor is also a matter of conjecture. We shall know more about this before the end of this week. Despite the reinforcements which have reached Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck in the last 12 day, the situation is admittedly dangerous, because the Nazis still have the initiative on the whole front.

In Russia the situation is even graver. Marshal Semeon Timoshenko has proved himself a skillful strategist and so far has avoided pitched battle with superior enemy forces. He makes them pay a heavy price for every inch of territory they gain, but his losses are unbelievably large. Nazi Communications Better.

It is not so much the number of men he is losing; he feels that less than the loss of war materials. While the Nazis have replacements near the battle front and their factories in the Reich and Western Europe are located only some 800 or 900 miles from the front, the Russians must look to the United States and Great Britain for a large part of their fresh material. Lines of communication between Nazi factories and the front in Russia are unhampered. Thousands of machines can be put on the road as soon as they are finished, and pursuit and fighter planes can be flown to the battle lines with no hindrance from the enemy. Russian replacements, however, must come in ships a long way over submarine-infested seas to only one port in the Arctic Circle.

The railroad connecting the badly damaged port of Murmansk with the front is under Axis guns. Communications with Archangel are even more dificult. Hence the major concern of the Soviet high command is how quickly it can obtain modern war paraphernalia to check the Nazi advance. Offensive action by the Russian armies during the winter and spring, including the last disastrous offensive at Kharkov, has used up much of the freshly arrived British and American tanks and artillery.

In spite of the Axis' determined drive, there is strong hope in Washington and London that the Soviet forces will be able to fight delaying actions and will manage to keep the bulk of their forces intact, even if they are battered and have to take up positions behind the Volga River.

Feels He Can't Order His Fuel Early

By HENRY McLEMORE. So far, this little home of ours has co-operated 100 per cent with the Government in its war effort. The automobile is on stilts and will stay there for the duration. We're on bicycles and will stay there for the duration if our tendons and those peculiar little muscles just above the knees hold out. Our gasoline ration card is tucked away in a memory book.

The kitchen Henry McLemore. shelves are lined with jars of fat, greasy proof that our pork chops and ham hocks and roast legs of lamb are out to help lick the Axis. Our aluminum pans have long been gone, and we like to think that our favorite saucepan was with Doolittle when he roared over Tokio, tree-top tall. * * * *

Our hot-water bottles, bath mats, bathing caps and sneakers are fighting for the United Nations cause.

We haven't repeated a single rumor since December 7. Neither have we passed on any scrap of military information that happened to come our way.

It seems a shame to spoil such a record, but we are afraid we must. Those of us in the East have been asked to order our winter fuel at once; to sit right down, while our seersucker suits are melting off our dripping frames, and place orders for next winter's fuel oil, coal and

This is too much. With the thermometer rubbing on freckle cream to keep from being spotted, with the humidity higher than the fur on a tom cat's back when he meets a pooch, it is too much to ask a man to envision days when snow is falling, winter's winds are howling and his ears hurt from the cold.

* * * *

He simply cannot do it. He can try it, just as we did, but on his way to the telephone the heat waves will get him and he will actually long for the chance to live in a house where icycles swing from the picture moldings, and frost nibbles at the fingers and toes.

We look forward to an unheated house, or a poorly heated house, this winter. It is bound to have its advantages. One of the advantages of living in a house that is cold is that going to bed won't be such a torture. Try to name a worse punishment than that of leaving a warm, snug living room, and jumping into a bed whose sheets are roughly the same temperature as a polar bear's nose. You can't do it. No one has ever figured out a successful way of getting between ice cold sheets without suffering. One school says to leap right in, stretch out completely, and by the use of Yogi body discipline, overcome the cold.

Another says to start curling up as the bed is approached, so that by the time the sheets are touched, the body is wound up like a pretzel with cramps, with knees touching the chin, elbows jammed against the ears, feet wrapped around the neck, head buried deep in the pillow, and hands and arms tucked in the top of pajamas.

Neither is successful. No matter which method is used, the cold sheets win

But, if all houses are cold this winter, the change from the living room to the bedroom won't be nearly so abrupt. A man will be able to retire without becoming a mousse or a frappe dish. Already chilled by hours of reading in the living room, he will be able to approach the bed and challenge the cold sheets to do their worse. * * * *

So, we are not going to order our fuel oil or coal right yet. Of course, the mention of ordering logs was just a sop to multimillionaires, so far as New York is concerned. Only the tremendously rich can afford logs for fireplaces in New York. Judging by their price, Tiffany's is the only place that handles logs in this town. They come all wrapped in cellophane, have been scrubbed to rid them of germs, bear a written pedigree, and are so generally snooty one is almost ashamed to burn them. We have always felt that the only logs sold in New York were logs chopped by A. Lincoln, or logs that were direct descendants of logs hewn by A. Lincoln. Logs that cost as much as New York logs belong in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, not in a fireplace. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Archbishop of Canterbury Wants Enemy Punished

By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 13 .- The Archbishop of Canterbury declared yesterday that the war settlement must give the average German the feeling that as long as Germany behaves there is open "to him as full a chance of good-humored life as to anybody else.'

In a message read at a mass meeting organized by the Free German League of Culture, the archbishop said the "crimes of Germany must be punished."

"The decision of the Allied governments to bring to justice those proved guilty of these abominations is the primary aim," he said. "The settlement must be in a political and military sense very severe but it must also be such as gives to the ordinary German citizen the sense that so long as his state behaves itself there is open to him as full a chance of good-humored life as to anybody else."

Ten per cent of your income for War bends is the way to measure your obligation.

These examples could be multiplied, almost to infinity, from the record of every military service in the world. The fault lies in the tendency of the military hierarchy to suppress criticism from within, and to resent criticism from without; to crucify the military iconoclast, and to disdain the civilian skeptic. It is a tendency which is dangerous in peace, and may be disastrous in war. It can be corrected, and war usually corrects it in the end, but at the price of blood. the empty room...

This is my boy's room.

This is where he slept.

This is where he dreamed a child's dreams.

This is where he saw a man's visions.

Here, in this empty room, are faded pictures of team mates and heroes ... books scribbled over with notes and exclamations . . . the gloves and spiked shoes we hung up for good before he went to war ... the silver cup he won at Sea Bright ... bright pennants ... and all the careless memoranda, the echoes of his days.

If fathers could only pour their hate through the hot barrels of smoking guns, and write the records of their grief with bayonet steel!

They said I was too old to fight, though I'm only fifty.

But, if I'm too old to sight and drop a stick of bombs, I'm not too old to lay my money on the line for war savings stamps and bonds!

Maybe I am too stiff and slow to fly.

but I've got control enough to keep my car speed under 40... so they can keep their fighting planes above 400!

And if I can't march thirty miles a day with a full pack, I can walk two miles to work and back to help save gas and rubber!

No, I'm not bitter any more because I won't win this war behind a gun or on a ship or in the sky.

I've come around to thinking that here at home we've got the job of passing the ammunition along, of sacrificing little things, of giving up and going without, of looking ahead to "less" instead of "more." Somebody's got to do the necessary, undramatic things ... and I guess that's what older men are for.

In the Wake of a Disaster at Back Bay

The American League pennant race may be over now. While upward of 34,000 fans poured into Fenway Park, possibly sensing the culmination of Owner Tom Yawkey's highly expensive dream of a pennant for his Boston Red Sox, none other than the St. Louis Browns toppled the Sox twice yesterday, and the Yankees, still staggering, lead now by four and a half games.

It is not the size of the Yankees' lead that depresses Bostonians and the Bosox well-wishers so much as it is the general picture of the American League race. The old Bronx Bombers, to borrow a trite sports phrase, are hollow shells only. They don't belong on the same shelf with the Yankees of 1927, or the super-champions of 1936. But as things shape up now, the Yankees have more class and more general experience than the Red Sox or the Cleveland Indians.

That double-defeat yesterday by the Browns may have finished the Army is the new Western amateur Red Sox once and for all. The afternoon represented their big chance. golf champion. In fact, he is just With Joe Di Maggio and Charley Keller in bad slumps, Bill Dickey a about a champion of champions. semi-invalid, Father Time marching in step with Red Ruffing and Tiny Bonham being exposed as just another pitcher, the Yanks looked ripe

As a Red Sox star put it the other day in Cleveland, awaiting the All-Stars' game with the All-Service team, "All we want to do is to get Bruce McCormick, Los Angeles, 7 to the point where we can look the Yankees in the eye. With pressure and 6 in the 36-hole final. like that on them it won't be so easy for Di Maggio, Keller and the rest to come out of their slumps."

Nor Are the Yanks Setting the World Afire

Well, the Sox had their chance and they blew it. And it wasn't a good way to lose a double-header, either. Against the Browns' Denny Galehouse they couldn't scare up a run in the first game and so they finally yielded, 1-0, chiefly because of a pop fly lost in the sun. They lost the second game the way few pennant-bound teams lose. Holding a 6-4 lead in the ninth, they allowed St. Louis to score half a dozen runs | Ward; the present national public and take the game, 10-6.

The scoreboard in Yankee Stadium, revealing the defeats of the Red Sox, certainly could not have hurt the morale of the defending world champions. They, themselves, had blown a game to the Tigers. In the list in 1937, and numerous city and second game they were barely holding their own. It was 1-1 when the sectional champs. game went into the tenth and it wasn't until the thirteenth when First Baseman Buddy Hassett hit a home run to gain an even break for the day.

On a day when they might have whittled down the Bombers' lead tige in a match with his most forto a game and a half, thereby practically getting that chance to look the champs "in the eyes" this week, the Sox fell apart. They are, to repeat, 4½ games off the pace. This is not unsurmountable but at this the proceeds to go to the Army stage of the race, and under the circumstances, there is considerable Emergency Relief Fund. evidence that Boston hasn't got what it takes.

The Bums, Offhand, Seem to Be the Best

Meanwhile, the Indians are within 6 games of the Yanks but here, too, is a team not quite solid. The Tribe has some hope but when a team is this far behind it takes only a bad pitch, or a dubious decision, to cook its collective geese. And that is too narrow a margin.

In the National League, as the teams go past the half-way mark, the Brooklyn Bums still are out in front, comfortably, it would seem, by 8 games. The Cardinals, as doped, are second, and the way things have Boss Welch, 2 up. been going it would seem the Bums not only should repeat but should be recognized as the No. 1 solid, or "chalk" team of the major leagues.

This could be so. Pete Reiser comes pretty close to being the best ball player in the National League. Peewee Reese still is on the upgrade. Larry French has done some splendid relief pitching. Mickey Owen is better than he ever was. Joe Medwick is making a comeback. The Dodgers seem to have more life than the Yankees at this point, although another 56-game hitting streak by Di Maggio could change things. How the week, Abbott was steady as many times, however, does a fellow play 56 games without missing a base | clock. Only once in the tournament

Broadway, Movie Hams Irk Some Brooklyns

This is going to get pretty involved now but we are going to shake out and air a strictly private opinion about the Dodgers. Having just counted 10 over the Indians because they are 6 games behind the Yankees. we now caution against quitting on the Cardinals, who are 8 games back There is no tangible evidence that the Borough's beloved Bums will explode. They could, though. Although he won a pennant last year Manager Leo Durocher has yet to prove that he is a grade-A big league pilot. Leo is the movie-style manager, the temperamental, hairpulling, name-calling wild man.

Durocher can't make up his mind whom he likes and whom he dislikes. Almost hourly he issues bulletins, for instance, barring certain newspapermen from his clubhouse. This is a dangerous practice. Late reports indicate that three of the New York-Brooklyn boys are welcome; the others, in Durocher's book, are undeserving,

Despite themselves, newspapermen and ballplayers form friendships, although a drink too many or a harsh phrase in the public prints record for pinch-hitting futility as the Nats. Fifty-three pinchoften end many of these. But some are perpetuated and it is no secret Bucky's eyes are deceiving him. that a clique on the Dodger seam thinks pretty strongly about the Durocher policy of catering to various Broadway and Hollywood movie hams, who sit on the bench, witness the blistering Durocher tongue, wear uniforms and shag pre-game flies, and re-play the battles later on comfortable red leather seats with Durocher, who thus is too busy to tell a majority of newspapermen his pitcher for the next day. The Brooklyn club is a powder keg. It could blow up.

Track Jinx Against Whirlaway In Coin Winning Mark Quest

The only favorite to win the Massachusetts was Seabiscuit, also lugging 130, back in 1937 and he did it by breaking on top and remaining in close attendance of the pace until he regained the lead rounding the final turn.

Certain to start against Whirly are such lightning starters as Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, which outran "Mr. Big Tail" in last year's Arlington, and Greentree's capable Swing and Sway. Others with plenty of "lick" down to start are the Circle S Ranch's Hysterical, Emerson Woodward's Rounders, beaten only once in his career, and John L. Sullivan's Transfigure. The field also may include such capable performers as Level Best and Blueberry Pie, which can come in with the lightest burden of 104 pounds.

Since Whirlaway is only $27,244 shy of the Seabiscuit mark, it is likely that a setback at Suffolk would not change Trainer Ben Jones' carefully laid plans to make him the turf's greatest money winner of all time before the 1942 season ends. Jones has entered the 4-year-old son of Blenheim II and Dustwhirl in several other big stake events and, most likely, intends to run him regardless of whether he drags down the winner's slice of the purse, expected to be about $47,000, two days hence.

Wide World Sports Writer. NEW YORK, July 13.-Weather report: Are those storm clouds brewing among the peaceful Pirates of Pittsburgh? 'Tis said several Buc players have their own idea why Al Lopez wasn't picked on the National League's All-Star outfit. And some of 'em are rooting for Al to land a manager's job-whether it's in Smokytown or some other place.

Punching the (mail) bag-Ray Carlen writes to tell the boys not to pooh-pooh Hennery Armstrong's comeback yet. Because it appears the Hammer still has a lot of fights left in him. And Willie Gilzenburg takes pen in hand to inform the folks that it wasn't his welterweight champ, Red Cochrane, but Challenger Ray Robinson, who insisted their September 10 fight be a non-title

Dis-a and dat-a-Rudy York gets a five-grand bonus if he knocks in 100 runs this year. He's on the 50-mark now. But what the boys would like to know is who made a fancy fielder of him? The way he's improved, there's knee, but he's been taken out of training again because of ankle trouble. And there's no telling when the hard-hitting little colt'll come back to the races. But that doesn't mean Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons hasn't got Apache back to where he'll give Shut Out and Alsab a rassle for what's left of the 3-year-old championship. That's not an air-raid siren you hear coming out of Madison, Wis., these evenings. Harry Stuhldreher just got a look at that 10-game schedule they've fixed up for his Badgers this fall.

Requested is all over his feverish

Quiz program—Are the big leagues getting ready to welcome Pepper Martin back-as a manager? And what major race track as much as told the Turf Committee of America it wasn't making any plans to chip in to war relief, even though most of the big racing plants have kicked in with 100 G's apiece?

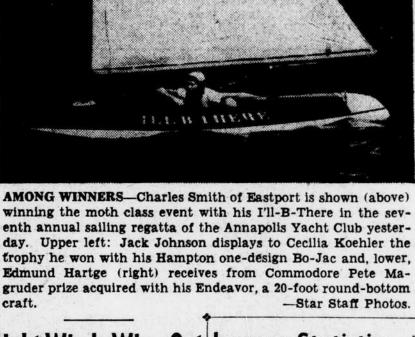

Army and Navy forever-also marines-Ray Dimartino, Manhattan's 1936-38 fullback, is communications officer at the Bainbridge (Ga.) Army basic flying school. And they say he never misses a signal these days. Incidentally. Bainbridge is getting quite a bit of gridiron talent lately. The commanding officer is Lt. Col. C. P. West, who played a lot of tackle for The Citadel in the mid-'20s. And Bill Skaer, who came from Colorado to West Point around '37, is a major there. There may be no connection, but do you know that Fort Knox, which recently got Lt. Col. Ralph (Hand-Me-a-Phone) Sasse, the eminent gridiron brain, also has football games scheduled with Ohio State and Indiana this fall? Doug Jim Hance, who was a marine before he was dying for dear old Southeastern Louisiana College, is a sea soldier againdown at the officers' training school at Orlando, Fla.

Today's guest star-Dan Parker, New York Daily Mirror: Durocher is a manager of a big league ball club. That is quite different from being a big league manager. (The guy's a philosopher, at least!)

Target practice-The big rubber mats which carpeted the runways in Wrigley Field's lower stands these many years have been tossed into the Government's scrap rubber drive by the Cubs. It is not true that Jimmy

Wilson wanted to hold some out to put in Lon Warneke's arm if needed. Petite Anita Evans had a double reason for winning that Helena (Mont.) Naval Relief golf tourney the other day. Hubby's in the Coast Guard somewhere out West. Rogers Hornsby is happier now running the Fort Worth club the way he wants to than he's been in years. Even though there's no racing in Texas. Everett Bradley of Ossining, N. Y., came out yesterday for his first round of golf this year and sank a hole-in-one from the first tee-a 319-yarder, no less! Maxie Hirsch, Whirlaway's whammy, is sending Attention up to Suffolk for Wednesday's $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap to try to chalk up his third upset over Whirly, when Mr. Longtail goes after Seabiscuit's money-winning mark.

Lefty Larry French, leading pitcher of the major leagues and only undefeated hurler among all the regular starters, has turned out to be one of the biggest bargains since the Indians turned loose the Island of Manhattan.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who think nothing of putting out cash in five or even six figures for players they really want, picked up French for the waiver price of $7,500 late last season and the 33-year-old lefthander hasn't been beaten since. He won his 10th game of the year yesterday, holding the Pittsburgh Pirates to three hits in pitching the Dodgers to a 2-1 decision in the first game of a double-header. The Dodgers lost the second game and watched their National League lead shrink to eight lengths, but French reached the halfway mark in a season that promises to be his best in the majors. His best previous year was 1936, when he won 18 and lost 9 for the Chicago Cubs. Apt to Make Dodgers Pay. If French continues his pace, he may cost the Dodgers plenty by October, for he has a trick contract calling for a salary based on the number of innings he pitches and the number of games he wins. The Pirates came from behind with a four-run rally in the eighth inning to down the Dodgers, 6-4, in the second game. The St. Louis Cardinals drew one game closer to the leaders by whipping the Boston Braves, 5-1 and 9-3, the first on a two-hit pitching job by Harry Gumbert. Walker Cooper led the Cardinal assault in both games, hitting a home run, three doubles and a single in seven times at bat. In the American League, the firstplace New York Yankees also divided a double bill, but boosted their lead to four-and-one-half games with the help of the St. Louis Browns. While the Yankees were losing to the Detroit Tigers, 6-4, and winning, 3-1, in 13 innings, the Browns pinned a double defeat on the second-place Boston Red Sox, 1-0 and 10-6.

Rulers of Game Never Intended to Interfere With Those Out for Fun

By WALTER McCALLUM. Few golfers of the hit-and-hope variety care what the United States Golf Association says about the form and make of golf clubs and golf balls, or how many clubs you carry in your overcrowded bag, but we note the USGA still is pulling faces. Recently at Chicago a prominent tournament competitor had to borrow a set of unfamiliar clubs because the bigwigs found his own set did not conform to regulations. Others have been warned or even disqualified because they carried more than 14 clubs. Yet there must be regulations in golf, as in any other sport, to keep the game in bounds and to prevent advantages to one competitor over others.

The main point is that the USGA, striving to keep the tournament game on a consistent level, never has intended that the rules about clubs with slotted faces, or 15 clubs in a bag, or some other inshould interfere with the enjoyment of the game by the gent who plays only an occasional round for Tourney Restrictions Okay.

To restrict players in recognized tournaments to the use of the right number and the right kind of clubs is all right. John Q. Public will agree that all should be on the same basis. But tournament golf and friendly golf are different matters, and because John has in his bag the niblick his mother-in-law gave him on his 28th birthday, making him have 15 clubs, is no reason to get excited. Probably his boy friends him have 15 clubs, is no reason to could permit John to use 25 clubs and it would make no difference; if he could find a caddie to carry them.

Your average golfer, straining to break 90, could use half a hundred clubs on a round and it wouldn't do him much good. He cares little or nothing for the standards set up by the solons of the USGA as to will learn today that his famous charger, Black Caddy, in a jumping clubs, his sole interest is in getting duel with Margaret Cotter's King Rock, leaped six feet to win the that pesky little ball into a series knock-down-and-out, the money event of the Howard County of round holes-18 of them-in figures that later won't make him the laughing stock of the boys at the bar. Bs the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, July 13.-The manufacturing plant of the X-ray division, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacuring Co., will be moved to Baltimore from Long Island City, N. Y., Vice President Walter C. Evans announced today.

The administrative offices were transferred in January, along with 135 employes of the X-ray division, who set up plans for the plant in Baltimore. D. C. Lee, official on the local project, said the new factory would require the hiring of more than 350 Baltimore people to bring the personnel to the same level as that at Long Island.

No new buildings have been erected. Evans, in announcing the move also disclosed the promotion of Edward F. Moran, sales manager, to the post of assistant to C. V. Aggers. manager, and the appointment of Chandler S. Eason, manager of the division's Philadelphia office, to suc-

Steel Stocks Feared By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, July 13.-Daily Metal Trade said today "rapid depletion of warhouse steel stocks is gravely concerning not only distrioutors but manufacturers engaged in a wide range of war work.

"Judging from present experience, some manufacturers predict that warehouse stocks of steel will be virtually exhausted by the end of the year-in some cases well before-and they believe that should such a situation come to pass, war production schedules are going to be severely handicapped."

Shortages Dictate New Phase of War Production Drive

Allocations Replace Priorities as Key To Vast Problems

By JAMES MARLOW and WILLIAM PINKERTON, Wide World Business Writers.

Rub out "conversion" and write in "shortages." That's the key to the new phase of America's war production drive which was marked formally by Donald M. Nelson's "realignment" of the War Production Board. Big job of the new phase, says Mr.

Nelson, is "to try to fit our cloth to the pattern; to readjust to a program involving scarce materials." Mr. Nelson indicates that even the demands of the Army and Navy Brill of may have to be modified to get maximum use out of short supplies of raw goods.

In the field of high strategy, the scarce materials must be allotted, or parcelled out, to the various needs of the war machine and the war economy. Through PRP, WPB can carry this allocation of materials, in effect, right down to the individual plant.

Second effect of the new "scarcity economics" of war production is a growing drive to cut corners wherever possible. Substitution of less reverse materials for more scarce.

Concentration Pushed.

In many industries now, plants devote a part of their work to the new jobs of war production, part of it to the old jobs they did in peace. In one or two industries, the old job has been assigned to a few plants and all other plants have been turned whole-hog to war work. "Concentration of production will

Since the big war job began, the gradual trend has been to put more and more responsibility in regional offices of WPB, where problems can be solved in terms of the local situation by men who know the region. LONDON, July 13.-British funds and home rails maintained firmness in today's stock market as other groups held in a narrow range, with some sections inclined to slip a cog or two.

Trading was unusually quiet, reflecting, apparently, the desire of traders to await further war front developments before making additional commitments. Declines, where they occurred, resulted mostly from only a few sales.

Largest Farm Income In More Than Two Decades Indicated

Bumper Crops and Good Prices Expected to Boost Cash Flow

By FRANKLIN MULLIN, Associated Press Market Writer.
CHICAGO, July 13.—American British Hat Firms farmers' wartime harvests this summer may be their most valuable in Make 1942 Models more than two decades, grain trade statistics indicated today, even topping those of 1929. A combination of good prices, high compared with some seasons, and prospective bumper crops will make this monetary return possible. Grain prices generally are near the highest levels since 1937, except for a brief period earlier this year, while the harvest may be a record. The third largest wheat crop is in prospect, while the rye crop may be the biggest since 1935; oats the largest since 1928 and barley the greatest on record. Grain statisticians estimated the prospective domestic yield of the five major cereals-wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley-would be worth, based on present Chicago futures prices, close to $4,500,000,000. compared with about $4,100,000,000 last year. In several years of the past decade the market valuation of these crops has fallen below $2,500,000,000.

Not all the grain produced is sold at market, but disposal otherwise normally enhances its value, statisticians explained. For example, the Government ever-normal granary program, to a large extent responsible for the present price level, was expected to keep much of the 1942 harvest off the market. By using this grain as collateral farmers could obtain more for it than by marketing. Wheat loan rates range up to 15 cents a bushel in some cases above prices.

The bulk of the corn, oats and barley crops never reach market but go into livestock feed, an operation which at present prices for hogs and other livestock, dairy products and eggs, should yield a profit, statisticians estimated.

The volume of these grains to be harvested will be the largest in recent years, totaling 5,296,000,000 bushels, compared with 5,199,000,-000 bushels last year. Statisticians estimated the value of the wheat crop at about $1,130,000,000 and corn $2,365,000,000, compared with $1,100,000,000 and $2,100,000,000, respectively, last year.

War Building Will Be Ready November 15

Arlington Pentagon Will Cost $6,000,000 Above Estimate

By NELSON M. SHEPARD. The new Pentagon Building of the War Department in Arlington is expected to be completed by November 15, months ahead of schedule, it was disclosed today, but at a cost of ap-proximately $6,000,000 in excess of earlier revised estimates.

Since April 30, when the first employes were moved six months ahead of the original schedule, 7,688 employes have been transferred from widely scattered buildings to the Arlington site. By mid-November the Pentagon Building will have a population of 30,000, adding more headaches to the war-swollen Capital's traffic problems.

Officials said today the mammoth Building, now about two-thirds completed, will cost a little more than $31,000,000. It is not likely, however, that a supplemental appropriation Somervell, nmander of the Army's Bervices of Supply, who was then engineer officer in charge of Army construc-tion, the cost was estimated at $35,amount. The public outery against the Arlington project, which was designed as the "largest building in the world" resulted in drastic slashing of plans. The War Department then appropried then announced the revised cost would be $25,000,000.

Nearly Third Completed. The House Appropriations Committee said today that no request has been made for a supplen fund, nor was one anticipated. The increased building costs, it was explained, can be met from the congressional authorization of $35,000,-000. Difficulties encountered in construction, due to the contour of the land and the foundations, it was said, no doubt account for the extra

Now that nearly a third of the building's overall capacity of 4,000,-000 square feet of space is finished, different staffs of the War Department are moving in steadily. The Ordnance Department was the first to move in. Portions of the Head-Ocros and the Adjutant General's office already are quartered there.

A new moving schedule was announced today. During July 16-31, a large segment of Headquarters, Services of Supply, will be trans-ferred to it. The balance of the Signal Corps will be moved from August 1-15 and the remainder of Gen. Somervell's headquarters will be shifted August 15-31. Other transfers will follow until at least 30,000 employes have been moved. The building, when completed, will bring together under

Ban Auxiliary Auto Tanks Is Prohibited as

Extra Gasoline Store Fire Hazard

The District Commissioners today dopted an amendment to the traffic regulations banning auxiliary automobile gasoline tanks as fire haz-

Only emergency cars of the District or Federal Governments will be excepted from the regulation. Justifying the new order, Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer in a recommendation to the Commissioners said:

"Since the gasoline rationing program has become effective, it has been noticed some vehicle owners are installing extra gas tanks in the spare tire compartments in the rear decks of their car. Automobile test station No. 1 reported three taxicabs recently so equipped."

Mr. Van Duzer said he also had eports of private cars using auxiliry gas tanks.

"There is no good reason," he said. for additional tanks on motor vehicles at this time. Furthermore this type of installation is very definitely a fire hazard.

"The method of construction of the bodies on motor vehicles would not afford any protection to the passengers from gas fumes and carelessly lighted cigarettes and matches when tanks are installed in the rear of the body."

The Commissioners also adopted Mr. Van Duzer's recommendation that the experimental evening hours for operating the testing stations, 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock be dropped. There was insufficient business to justify the evening hours, Mr. Van Duzer said.

Official Auto Blackout Lights Approved; Production Is Limited to 1,360,000 Sets

Local Defense Councils† Or Individuals May Have to Foot Bill

By MIRIAM OTTENBERG.

After months of experimentation, official blackout lighting for automobiles has been approved and specifications have gone to manufacturers, it was learned today.

The blackout lamps, which will require special installation and are operated on a separate switch, will be distributed to emergency vehicles, a certain amount of public transportation, some essential war workers and a limited number of civilian defense workers.

Production for the present has been limited to 1,360,000 sets of

The lamps will not be paid for out of the National Office of Civilian Defense $100,000,000 appropriation. Whether local defense councils or individuals will foot the bill for the lamps still is to be decided.

The national OCD will set general standards for distribution of the imited number of lamps, but local councils will decide who will get them. Motorists probably will have to apply to their local councils for permission to receive them.

Approved by the Army, the War Production Board and OCD, the ighting arrangement includes three different types of lamps. Marker Lamps.

On the front of the vehicle are plackout marker lamps, one on each side. For military and emergency vehicles, a white light is required For other vehicles, the light gleaming faintly through two slits of glazed glass will be amber. These lamps, set at the outer edges of the front fenders, are only about 2 inches in diameter. In pitch darkness, the slits of light are said to be visible at a distance of 20 feet.

The blackout headlamp, which is about 6 inches in diameter, is set on the left side of the front of the vehicle as far forward as possible to avoid reflections. A bright light shines through notches in the black metal, projecting a ray of light forward but not upward since a shield extends over the top of the lamp, preventing light from being seen from above. In a total blackout, the headlamp will project light about 20

On the rear of the vehicle near the left side, is the blackout tail and stop lamp. For wide vehicles, these lamps will be placed at both sides of the rear of the car. The brake light consists of four red-glazed strips. The tail light is an amber slit set in the black metal lamp. The headlamp is considered midway between the parking lights and the dims in providing illumination.

By the Associated Press Chairman McNutt of the War Manpower Commission reported yesterday that 12,500,000 persons are now actively engaged in direct war work, and predicted 5,000,000 more would be needed in the next six "General labor shortages are apparent in many war industry centers," he hald, adding that "increased employment of women and other persons not now in the labor force will be necessary to meet the demands for war workers during the next year and a half." Total employment in the United States now is over 50,000,000, the largest in history, surpassing even the boom days of early 1929. 2,600,000 Still Jobless. Nevertheless, the last report of the Work Projects Administration estimated that 2,600,000 persons still were unemployed, the greater part of them not possessing skills needed in the war production lines. Congress recently appropriated over $90,000,000 to give vocational training to 3,000,000 persons during the next 12 months.

Mr. McNutt told newspapermen gram for co-operative action in war | that Gov. "War employment" was defined as all manufacturing on war con-tracts, lease-lend and foreign purchases, and a percentage of transportation and public utilities, including some governmental employment, which is directly chargeable to the war. The estimates covered employment at all stages of production, including mine, raw material processing and transportation, as well as final assembly.

The gain in war employment, Mr McNutt said, "shows that industry and Government have struck their stride in producing for war. It also shows that a very large percentage of the industrial workers in peacetime production are shifting over to war production."

From Western Maryland to the Eastern Shore, Democratic forces today were rallying around Gov. O'Conor, supporting him for re-election, while leaders in the Republican political camp were still attempting to recruit candidates for the fall campaign.

War Building Will Be Ready November 15

Arlington Pentagon Will Cost $6,000,000 Above Estimate

By NELSON M. SHEPARD. The new Pentagon Building of the War Department in Arlington is expected to be completed by November 15, months ahead of schedule, it was disclosed today, but at a cost of approximately $6,000,000 in excess of earlier revised estimates.

Since April 30, when the first employes were moved six months ahead of the original schedule, 7,688 emploves have been transferred from widely scattered buildings to the Arlington site. By mid-November the Pentagon Building will have a population of 30,000, adding more headaches to the war-swollen Capital's traffic problems.

Officials said today the mammoth Building, now about two-thirds completed, will cost a little more than $31,000,000. It is not likely, however, that a supplemental appropriation

When the plan was first conceived by Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the Army's Services of Supply, who was then engineer officer in charge of Army construction, the cost was estimated at $35,-000,000. The House Appropriations Committee said today that no request has been made for a supplemental fund, nor was one anticipated. The increased building costs, it was explained, can be met from the congressional authorization of $35,000,-000. Difficulties encountered in construction, due to the contour of the land and the foundations, it was said, no doubt account for the extra $6,000,000.

After months of experimentation, official blackout lighting for automobiles has been approved and specifications have gone to manufacturers, it was learned today. The blackout lamps, which will require special installation and are operated on a separate switch, will be distributed to emergency vehicles, a certain amount of public transportation, some essential war work-ers and a limited number of civilian defense workers. different types of lamps. Marker Lamps.

On the front of the vehicle are blackout marker lamps, one on each side. For military and emergency vehicles, a white light is required For other vehicles, the light gleaming faintly through two slits of glazed glass will be amber. These lamps, set at the outer edges of the front fenders, are only about 2 inches in diameter. In pitch darkness, the slits of light are said to be visible at a distance of 20 feet.

The blackout headlamp, which is about 6 inches in diameter, is set on the left side of the front of the vehicle as far forward as possible to avoid reflections. A bright light shines through notches in the black metal, projecting a ray of light forward but not upward since a shield extends over the top of the lamp, preventing light from being seen from above. In a total blackout, the headlamp will project light about 20

Applications must be filed with the commission not later than August 21.

Successful applicants will be placed on lists for Government legal positions paying $1,800 to $3,200 a year. By the Way—

There shouldn't be any "softies" after this war. Ours should be a Nation of self-reliant people who have learned to stand on their own feet-and to help others. Right now the obligation to serve brooks no denial. Today there is no place for the slacker or the parasite. The "lilies of the field" are as out-ofdate as grandmother's bustle. Even the teen-age youngsters are learning to utilize every moment of their spare time. Summer vacation doesn't mean very much any more. Most of the tooyoung-to-register boys are working on farms or taking the new accelerated courses that almost all the colleges are offering. Most of them get R. O. T. C. training along with the school work, and a great many will graduate with a college degree and an R. O. T. C. commission before they're 20. The young girls are working just as hard. Taking secretarial courses-extra college workvolunteer war jobs or courses in one of the many useful instruction classes such as first-aid, canteen, motor corps, etc. Attractive young Margot Finletter, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finletter and a granddaughter of Walter Damrosch is going to the George Washington summer school. She's chairman of the junior committee of young girls who will sell autographed photographs of Lily Pons and her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, at the National Symphony Orchestra sunset symphony at the Water Gate Wednesday evening. The concert, at which Miss Pons will sing and Mr. Kostelanetz will conduct, is for the benefit of Army and Navy relief. Axis Admits Taranto Attack Knocked Out Battleship 18 Months

Littorio Mentioned in Radio Report; 2 Others Were Lost for 4 Months

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 13.-The Axis acknowledged last night that one Italian battleship, apparently the speedy, 35,000-ton littorio, was knocked out for 18 months and two others were out of action for four months as a result of the smashing RAF attack on the Italian naval base of Taranto on the night of November 11-12, 1940. The Berlin radio broadcast a Rome dispatch which quoted "competent Italian quarters" as making the admission while at the same time declaring the Italian navy has been extremely active and 'will hereafter continue to dominate the Mediterranean.

These Italian quarters, the broadcast declared, pointed out that only three large battleships were hit in the Taranto raid, in which hit in the Taranto raid, in which the British reported those and other In Carolinas naval units were struck.

"Two of these battleships were in service again after four months and the third one after 18 months, although the Littorio was hit by two torpedoes," the radio announced. This was the only reference to the Littorio by name. The implication seemed to be that it was the Littorio which was out for 18 months.

President Asked to Halt Deportation of Bridges

NEW YORK, July 13 .- The National Federation for Constitutional Liberties has announced it had obtained the signatures of more than 600 prominent Americans to an open letter to President Roosevelt asking him to rescind the Attorney General's decision ordering the deportation of Harry Bridges, West Coast labor leader.

The federation maintained in its communication to the President that Attorney General Biddle "broke all precedents" six weeks ago when he overruled the unanimous finding of the Board of Immigration Appeals, which on January 3, 1942, recommended that charges of being a Communist against Bridges be cropped and a warrant of arrest

The signers of the letter, the federation said, included the Rev. Remarkable Treatment for Carlyle Adams, editor of the Presbyterian Tribune, Utica, N. Y.; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, woman suffrage organizer; Prof. George Dahl, Yale University; Edna St. Vincent Millay, poet; Bishop Walter Mitchell, Episcopal bishop of the State of Arizona, and Reid Robinson, vice president of the CIO.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., July 13 Bernard Aloysius McElroy was drowned and Herbert G. Miller, the pilot, was injured last night when small, privately-owned monoplane fell into the Susquehanna River.

State police said witnesses related that the plane was flying low over Port Deposit, when it suddenly veered downward and fell into the water near Lapidum, Md. A party was fishing from a row-

Indulging in Discomforts Is Old Summer Custom

Seems Part of Tradition to Live In Misery in Name of Fun; How Did It All Start?

By Dorothy Dix

Who was the hopeless optimist who first began ballyhooing about the good old summer time? Anathema be his name, for I know it was a man. No woman who has ever gone through the struggle of trying to keep a permanent permanent when it melted down in the heat like a plate of ice cream at a picnic, and who has worn herself to a frazzle in a vain attempt to look fresh and crisp in clothes that appeared to have gone through the wringer, ever wasted any breath in touting the charms of

In reality, summer is the time that combines most of the unpleasant phases of the other seasons of the year, and then adds a special line of afflictions of its own. It is when we are most uncomfortable in body, most irritable in disposition.

and when our morals and our morale get as flabby as our collars. We do things in the summer we would be incapable of doing in the winter. Men who are Josephs in January are Important to Don Juans in August. Women who are models of virtue in December dally glong the primrose path in July. Prim maiden ladies strip off their inhibitions along with their high-necked red flannel underwear and appear on the beach in bathing costumes that would make Sally Rand feel that she was over-

Why summer has this affect upon us we do not know. It just does. It is just part of the tradition that in the dog days we must do differous and carefree and sing a merry roundelay, though heaven knows this imposes sufferings upon us that makes us often wonder if we will have the strength to live through it

To attempt to catalogue all of the disadvantages of summer would take a bill of indictment longer than not in stamps.) one of Mr. Dies' reports about his suspicions. Railroads Much Better Prepared Than They Were in 1917 and 1918

By FRANK I. WELLER. American railroads are rolling into this war much wiser and far better prepared to handle traffic for both military and commercial service than they were in the last one.

"It won't happen again!" you hear the bosses say when they recall the war-traffic snarls of 1918. Still, they know they must deal with possible tie-ups if gas and rubber rationing forces highway traffic to the rails. Today trains run faster, load more freight, pull heavier loads and operate on split-second schedules.

Operators report this with a degree of caution-knowing the jam they could get into if suddenly they had to take on a large share of the traffic of 4.650,000 motor trucks and 27,000,-000 passenger automobiles. They are for 120,000 more freight cars this a woman's face for so long!" year and 150,000 in 1943, many more locomotives and at least 500 new asked. passenger cars. At present the passenger prospect is the toughest. Roads report a 30 per cent increase in public demand and an over-all 40 per cent use of extra-cost accommodations by the armed forces. Traffic is becoming terrific in the larger population Hence, rail officials earnestly ask the public to co-operate in scheduling trips, and to forego week-end travel if possible. They have discontinued special train service to conventions, sports events, recreation spots and the like. Meanwhile, the freight load on railways has increased 80 per cent since war began in Europe in 1939.

All must remember, says Joseph B. Eastman, war transportation director, that Uncle Sam is the most important shipper in the world today. The railroads are handling more ton-miles of freight than they did at the 1918 war peak and doing it with 564,136 fewer freight cars. They moved one millions tons of freight one mile every minute last Freights Make 60 M. P. H. Remember the old wisecrack about being as slow as a freight train? Well, these modern day engines hump along at 60 miles an hour dragging 125 loaded cars behind them. The mile-long freight is commonplace whereas, 20 years ago, a 37-car train was a dinger and did about 11 miles an hour including

Yes, freight is going to move as deal of inconvenience and space may have to be rationed in a way which will mean non-essentials will suffer long delays. So Mr. Eastman has begun to cut the frills such as, for example, the practice of shipping canned goods from Chicago to Buffalo and backtracking the same kind of provender from New York to Illinois. Out goes the business of shipping steel from Birmingham to St. Louis, thence back to points in Mississippi just so it can stay the payload of the railroad on which it started. From now on this sort of traffic must be shared with the most direct Meantime, the tempo of freight movement has been pushed to the ceiling. Overnight freight between Jersey City and Pittsburgh travels the 525 miles in 765 minutes. The merchandise special leaving Chicago for Memphis every night does 527 miles in 770 minutes, and some passenger trains cover the 226 miles between Washington and New York in 215 minutes.

Just as an idea of what freights are hauling: It would require 32,000 five-ton trucks-a column nearly 1,000 miles long-to carry on the highways an ordinary day's tonnage on just one division of one railroad serving Pittsburgh.

The roads hope to handle war traffic without serious halt to commercial traffic. In the first five months of 1941, they transported 1.500,000 troops and more than 19,-000,000 tons of Army freight over more ton-miles than for a like period during the last war and did it with 625,000 fewer cars.

THE MOON IS DOWN JOHN STEINBECK

Without warning, the peaceful little town is quickly occupied by the invaders. Col. Lanser, commanding officer, informs Mayor Orden that they want coal from the local mine and that the townspeople must continue to work the mine. The next day, a rebellious miner, Alex Morden, kills an officer. He is executed, but this only leads to further violence and further punitive measures. The Mayor has warned Col. Lanser that it's impossible to break a people's spirit, but the colonel, though personally realizing this, is a tool of an inexorable military system. As the months pass, the cold, silent hatred of the people begins to get on the nerves of their conquerors. who long for home and friends and girls. One evening Alex Morden's young widow, Molly learns from the Mayor's cook, Annie, that the Mayor is coming to her home to see two young men who are fleeing to England that night. While Molly is waiting Lieut. Tonder appears and begs her to let him talk to her, saying he is lonely. He doesn't know who she is, but has admired her from a distance. When she reminds him tauntingly that he has the power to take what he wants without asking, he replies, "That's not the way I want it.

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Winning Contract By THE FOUR ACES.

(David Bruce Burnstone, Oswald Jacoby, Howard Schenken and Theodore A. Lightner, world's leading team-offour, inventors of the system that has beaten every other system in existence.)

Resisting Temptation When you're tempted to take finesse, look around to see whether any surer plan for your contract is available. Consider today's hand, for example South dealer East-West vulnerable.

A A 4 O K854 0 653 + Q 10 6 2 A 952 A 873 Q 103 WE 0 8742 6 KQ109 S ♣ K73 A A J 9 5 ▲ KQJ106 ♥ AJ92 The bidding: South West Pass 1NT Pass

Pass Pass Pass Pass Pass West opened the king of diamonds, South winning with the ace. Declarer's next step was to lead a heart to dummy's king and a heart back from dummy toward his own hand. Then the question was: To finesse or not to finesse?

Note that if South had finessed the jack of hearts, West would have won with the queen. Then West would have cashed the queen of diamonds. When South's diamond jack dropped, West would have been compelled to shift to clubs in the hope of setting the contract at once. And the two top clubs, the diamond queen, and the heart queen would have put South on the mourner's bench.

But South decided to go up with the ace of hearts on the theory that the queen might drop or that the opponent with the last trump might also have three spades. As it happened, the heart queen did not drop, but when South promptly began on his spades, West had to follow suit three times. On the third round of spades, dummy discarded a diamond. And when South led the fourth round of spades it did West no good to ruff with his queen of hearts. Dummy discarded the last diamond, and South cheerfully conceded two clubs in addition to the trump queen.

Saturday you were Theodore Lightner's partner and, vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents you held:

▲ 1074 ♥ K 10963 + KQJ82

The bidding: Jacoby You Schenken Lightner Pass Pass Pass 14 Pass 20 Pass 2NT (?) Pass

Answer-Bid three clubs. There is no need to jump at this point, and your partner is much more likely to show cautious support for hearts at the level of three than at the game level of four. Score 100 per cent for three clubs,

ONTIL IT'S FOOLPROOF

-By Milburn Rosser.

Almost every one has made tests with "pebble waves." Tossing a pebble into a lake or pool we see a splash. Then little waves spread out all around the place of the splash. The pebble waves are best seen on a calm day when wind does not whip up large waves. Waves of much the same kind are made by sounds. There is an important difference, however. Pebble waves do not rise high into the air. but sound waves spread out in all

If a bell rings, the sounds go to points above, below and outward. That always happens when the bell is in the midst of air, and when the sounds are not blocked by some nearby object.

directions

Yet a bell can be rung in a sense of the word, without any sound coming from it. Let us suppose we have a glass jar with a bell inside it. By swinging the jar, we can make the clapper strike against the bell's metal cup.

At first we hear sounds coming from inside the jar, through the glass. Then we use a special kind of pump to take air out of the jar. If we take out all, or nearly all, of the air, a strange thing happens. The bell stops sounding!

I am supposing that the bell is fixed so no part can touch the glass when the jar is shaken. In that CROSS-WORD PUZZLE case, there is no way to make the bell sound while the air is out of

A test of that kind was first made by Robert Boyle, a British scientist who was born in Ireland, one of the sons of the Earl of Cork. Almost three centuries ago, he pumped the air from a jar and found that this would stop the sounding of a bell inside

The test is a proof that sound travels by waves. There must be a gas, a liquid or a solid to carry sound waves-at least, sound waves of the old-fashioned kind. Radio waves travel in the so-called "ether. but they are sent out with the help of electricity. Iron can carry the common sound waves. So can brass and other metals, also water and rock. A person who swims below water may be able to hear sounds very clearly.

When sound waves pass through the air, they usually go at a speed of about one-fifth of a mile a second. Their speed through water is four times as fast. Sound travels through iron at the rate of three miles a second.

The moth calling so late in the afternoon often has been mistaken for a hummingbird. On occasions when the needed caller is late and the doors have been opened, sly little insects, flies and beetles, have crashed the gates and stolen the pollen.. It is most entertaining to visit the jimson weed at calling time. Slowly, her heavy silk white or pale yellow draperies unfold and remain open until the guest departs. Here, in the moonlight, we can observe the guests of the great plant come and go. The intruder can be seen, too.

The leaves are alternate, large, rather wavy-toothed and heavily scented. The fruit is very prickly, an egg-shaped capsule well filled with seed children that possess a powerful narcotic poison. The jimson weed is usually established in light soil to be found in wasteland close to dwellings and rubbish piles. A single plant in one season will develop enough seeds to fairly crowd the area by following autumn. Madam Jimson has cunningly protected her offspring by a cradle or home that discourages any grazing animal. Her leaves are globe, carried the seeds of the Devil's too rank to be eaten by hungry Trumpet or Thorn Apple, or Stram- | cattle, and her stems are filled with onium. They did not know this poison. All combine to protect the plant. Is it any wonder she has

NEW YORK. After the considerable misadventures of the past season, the Broadway theater appears to be finding a new and reasonable sense

The lines of approach to the success which means thousands of doltheir own musical offerings and ask lars in profits and happy customers Jackie to please bring them to the instead of thousands of dollars in losses and general gloom among patrons are, as one might surmise, one would just tell me how to bring pretty sharply defined, and, therefore, ought to be fairly easy to fol-

Therefore, there has been noticeable lately distressing evidence of patting the muse on the back, and chucking her under the chin and calling for new works from O'Neill, Anderson and Sherwood instead of thwacking her in and raising huzzahs for clowns and singers.

> The Road to Fortune. The lines to fortune, it would appear, run blithely along a different course-the comic or the melodramatic, or the plainly musical. On the one hand there are the thrillers-"Arsenic and Old Lace," "Angel Street" and "Uncle Harry," and the musicals, "Best Foot Forward," the Ray Bolger Triumph "By Jupiter," Danny Kaye's hit "Let's Face It." Olsen and Johnson's "Sons o' Fun," and the vaudeville hits, "Priorities" and Ed Wynn's new offering "Laugh, Town, Laugh." Finally "Life With Father," "Junior Miss" and "My Sister Eileen."

To these hits add "Guest in the Capitol-"Moontide," Jean Gabin House," the Noel Coward satire on makes his Hollywood debut with a mediums, "Blithe Spirit" and the star cast: 10:45 a.m., 1:35, 4:25, 7:15 rowdy business starring Gypsy Rose and 10:05 p.m. Stage shows: 12:40, Lee and Bobby Clark entitled "Star Columbia—"Tortilla Flat," a rol- and Garter." Operetta Challenges.

Deems Taylor, in a study of these and other operettas, including the Gilbert & Sullivan, has made the penetrating observation that the survival of the Savoy operas seem to be mainly a matter of lyrics, and remarks that no one remembers either the characters or plot of the Herbert. Strauss or other operettas. while they do remember not only the Gilbertian plots but whole sections of the book. Producer Is Convinced.

The latest attempt to capitalize on the Strauss score comes from the hand of Joseph Tushinsky, who last summer devoted a good many weeks to the production of this and other operettas, including the Gilbert & Sullivan "The Bohemian Girl," Blossom Time," and "The Frefly," at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. N. J. Tushinsky apparently is convinced hat there is not only money in these old pieces, but that the people who are willing to put up a $2.20 top have no doubts about what they are going to get fo rtheir money. The same idea seems to govern the operations at Millburn, where Frank Carrington, defying the handicaps imposed by gasoline rationing in the Metropolitan Area, has been making a go of his summer theater. Car- 2 Can Learn for the Price of 1 rington, this year, has presented 'Naughty Marietta," and "Mlle. Modiste" and starts the coming week with "Sweethearts."

The books of these Victor Herbert 1221 E St. operettas may appear weak but audiences, long familiar with the music, still like them.

In Trinidad the Ideal Is to Sing Calypso, Sir Lancelot Says

HOLLYWOOD.

Boys in all lands have an ideal they strive to achieve when they grow up. In America most youngsters want to be baseball players. In Trinidad they desire to become Calypso singers.

Trinidad is an enchanting island of half a million located 25 miles off the coast of Venezuela. The art of Calypso singing began in the Caribbean Isle 200 years ago and the five top names in that profession are still living at the home of the art. However, Sir Launcelot, the dean of Calypso singers, was brought to America in 1939 to give a recital at Carnegie Hall. A well-known recording artist, he is making his film debut in "Happy Go Lucky," Paramount's technicolor film starring Mary Martin and Dick Powell. All Calypso singers have standard songs which they sing straight, with memorized lyrics. Their chief charm and ability, however, is improvising. All that is needed for them to go into a song in rhyme in a person's name and a few of their characteristics. These singers have to have a sharp wit and the sense of spontaneous rhyme. This is taught them when they are youngsters. As a general rule they have little education, which accounts for their bad grammar. Calypso was a sea nymph in Homer's "Odyssey," which accounts for the high and mighty names adopted by these singers. Sir Launcelot's real name is Launcelot
