bombs. In the same area where on Wednesday a concentration of 106 tons of bombs paved the way for occupation of a vital hill, Mitchell medium bombers directly supported our jungle fighters yesterday by dropping nearly 50 tons of high explosives on enemy buildings, ground installations and jungle tracks connecting villages near Salamaua. Other formations of Mitchells bombed and strafed Japanese, while Australian ground patrols main-tained pressure on enemy units between Mubo and Salamaua, points 12 miles apart.

Australian-flown Hudsons and American-manned Liberators yesterday fought off 14 Zeroes, destroying three for certain and possibly two others as they bombed the enemy airdrome of Penefoei at Koepang on Dutch Timor. Fires started appeared to be burning Japanese planes. Timor is in the Timor Sea 400 miles northwest of Darwin, Australia.

Weak Jap Air Efforts.

Japanese air efforts yesterday were the weakest reported since the outset of the new Pacific offensive June 30. Ten Zeros tried to raid the Bena Bena sector, a jungle village, with emergency landing fields, roughly 90 miles northwest of the Salamaua front. Four P-38s bagged two of the Zeros and drove off the others without loss to themselves In the Central Solomons on Rendova Island, where Americans have set up artillery which is shelling the nearby Munda air base, Japanese planes dropped two kombs which caused only slight damage and casualties. Twenty Japanese troops tried to surprise Rendova's defenders with a landing from a barge on Dugiri islet just off the northeast coast, but were driven off by Alert American patrols.

(The Tokio newspaper Asahi was quoted in a Berlin broadcast yesterday as saying the Allies were pushing forward in the Solomons and were "carrying the fight to New Guinea." The newspaper urged the Japanese people to units in support of the "hard fighting on the front.")

Government Seeks Injunction Against Investors Syndicate

MINNEAPO! IS, July 9.-The Government, asking Federal court today for a temporary restraining order to prevent the Investors Syndicate from making payments to certificate holders and asking the impounding of all installment payments, said the action was necessary to protect certificate holders in continuing their payments and to forestall the possibility of "a multiplicity of suits."

The motion was made in connection with a complaint brought by the Securities Exchange Commission against the Minneapolis investment house charging "gross misconduct" and "fraudulent practices" in the sale of more than $1,-500,000,000 in securities and certificates.

Edward Cashion. chief Government counsel, told Federal Judge Gunner H. Nordby that since the filing of the complaint the commission had been deluged with inquiries and that the restraining order esked would serve to protect certificate holders from "continued loss to many thousands of investors."

Charges Switching Operation. Mr. Cashion, in his arguments, accused the company of seeking to "switch" certificate holders out of high-interest-bearing certificates into low-yield securities, saying the certificate holder would get a higher yield than in War bonds. Mr. Cashion attacked this comparison, saying that the switching operation was a "fraud on the purchaser.".

He asserted that "the great majority of certificate holders by the alleged switching operations" would receive less than they had paid into the company, and the losses they would take would inure to the benefit of the company.

Lesders of the United Mine Workers are reported to be convinced that political interference is stailing their application to rejoin the American Federation of Labor, though Daniel J. Tobin, member of the AFL committee to consider the applica-tion, has denied any "political maneuvering" is involved.

John L. Lewis, UMW chief, is maintaining silence, but there were murmurs among his friends yesterday about "political conniving" and political company unions."

Prominent federation officers say Mr. Lewis' return cannot be stopped. However, the distinct possibility has arisen that Mr. Lewis may not make fight to get in, but instead may withdraw his application rather than submit to what he might consider humiliating delay or terms.

Tobin Pledges Unity Fight. Mr. Tobin, president of the Teamsters Union, writing in the current issue of his union's official organ, the International Teamster, said: 'As one of the members appointed by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to negotiate a return of the United Mine Workers to the federation, I am strongly in favor of, unifying the labor movement, and to that end I will do all that I can to bringthe miners back into the federation.

However, Mr. Tobin's editor in another article, virtually named the terms of readmittance-dismemberment of the UMW's District 50 which includes chemical industry and other workers who are not miners. DUBLIN, July 9 .- The story of a plan, presumably German, to invade Eire in 1940 was told to the Dail, or parliament, today by Minister of Justice Gerry Bolland in a scorching criticism of the outlawed Irish Republic Army.

"In 1940, when things were looking very bad," he said, "it became known that a parachutist had landed here. He was not captured himself, but in his paraphernalia we found plans which, as far as we could see, were plans for invasion of this country.

He told the women, however, that if the Army and Navy place women on the firing line the commission would alter its present position.

The delegation, headed by Miss Rose Shovell, represented an estimated 400 women who served in the stewards departments of passenger ships and other vessels until the

Court Studies A. P.'s Plea for Open Trial In Antitrust Suit

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 9 .--- The Asso-ciated Press, contending there are major questions of fact at issue, has asked for an open trial of the Government's civil antitrust suit against it in order that testimony can be presented.

This action by the co-operative news service came yesterday during more than five hours of argument before a special three-judge bench in Federal Court on the Government's motion for a summary judgment, which would require the rendering of a verdict without trial and on documents alone. The court reserved decision.

During the argument, the Associated Press contended that opening of its membership "to any newspaper wishing its service would destroy the foundation upon which the co-operative enterprise has been created.

Practice Called Monopolistic.

The Government charged that the membership structure of the Assoclated Press denied access to its news report to all newspapers and claimed that this was monopolistic. The Justice Department attorneys, arguing in support of the Government's motion for a summary judgment, contended there were no uncontroverted facts in the case. The A. P. denied this.

In its brief, filed in answer to the request for a summary judgement, the Associated Press said:

"The Government has submitted no evidence that A. P. has monopolized the gathering and dissemination of news." It added:

"Others can freely undertake the gathering of news and the publication of newspapers without the benefit of A. P.'s organization or facilities. and many have done 80. * * ***

The brief also declared that "if news gathering were subjected to regulation at the hands of the Gov- the Army's newest decoration, the ernment, newspapers would necessarily be regulated also."

Rugg Opens Argument.

In opening the arguments for the Government, Charles B. Rugg, a special assistant to the Attorney General, said that in the Associated Press case the Government "is not seeking to control or regulate the operation of the press of the country" nor abridge freedom of the press.

Declaring that during the history of the Associated Press, 105 appncations for membership had been turned down, Mr. Rugg related the steps he said a paper took in seeking Associated Press membership and said:

Special Court Studies Armour Co. Suit on Army Beef Prices

The United States Emergency Court of Appeals today had under advisement three complaints of Armour & Co. against the Office of Price Administration in which the company claims it lost $241,505 through being forced to fulfill con-tracts in providing beef for the Army at prices below cost to the company. The three complaints were combined for presentation to the Emergency Court of Appeals and were argued orally yesterday afternoon. Some 8,701,447 pounds of beef were involved in the sales to the Army, it was claimed.

Donald R. Richberg, attorney for Armour & Co., concluded his argument before the court by declaring: "There is no justification in American law for sustaining the imposition of a confiscatory price." He argued the company was "compelled to make deliveries of beef to the Army, both as a moral duty in time of war and as a legal duty."

Losses Called "Prohibitive." The Armour complaint said "the continuation of such losses is prohibitive" and said the complainant cannot continue indefinitely to sustain such losses. William R. Ming, attorney for OPA, argued that the prices established were not arbitrary and capricious and held that the validity of the regulation was not at issue. Meanwhile, another Armour complaint was filed yesterday at the Emergency Court of Appeals claiming other losses running into more than $340,000 in the fulfillment of contracts, involving more than 15 .-000.000 pounds of beef.

Mr. Richberg asserted, following the court session, that the losses actually complained of before the court, were only a part of many such losses being suffered by the Armour Co. The complaints named OPA Administrator Brown as respondent.

Transport Tax Hit.

Another case taken under advisement by the Emergency Court of Appeals involved a complaint against OPA by the United States Gypsum Co., which complained that it had been forced to absorb a 3 per cent transportation tax in making deliveries of its products from its "His actions as such an agent Midland (Calif.) plant. The result, it was claimed, is equivalent to a reduction in the price of its products. John O. Honnold, jr., who argued the case yesterday in behalf of OPA, explained the seller was required to bear the tax when the products are sold on a delivered price basis. He upheld the regulation as being necessary to hold down the price of building materials.

Meat Board Planning New Mark-up Rules Program to Increase Nation's Beef Stocks

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 9 .- The War Meat Board, formulating a program designed to ease the Nation's beef scarcity, says the country's armed forces last week received sufficient beef supplies-for the first time since the start of the current shortage last January. The board, Chairman Harry E.

Reed said yesterday, will make recommendations next week to Government agencies on measures intended to move cattle from ranges and farms into markets and thus boost beef supplies. Mr. Reed said after a board meeting that the beef situation had improved in the last few days, but he did not predict that the program being drafted would relieve the scarcity fully. He announced that studies on the beef situation by several subcom-mittees of the board's Advisory Committee were being assembled for the board's consideration and its recommendations will be forwarded to Government agencies-War Food Administration, Office of Price Administration and the Quartermaster Corps. He said details of the program would be announced by the three agencies.

In a statement last night the Livestock and Meat Council, expressing opposition to subsidies to packers, urged no "interference" with the operation of the WMB. The organization, representing more than 100 major livestock producing, marketing and processing groups, said that, "although the demand and urgent need for meats is the greatest ever known, there are sufficient cattle, sheep and lambs on the ranges and hogs in the corn belt to furnish adequate meat for all if a sound management program is followed in feeding, orderly movement to markets, slaughtering, processing and distribution of the

Will Allow Price Rise In Some Food Items

Price advances on some grocery items have been authorized by the Office of Price Administration, but officials emphasize that the ceilings will not rise beyond price levels of April 8, date of President Roose-velt's hold-the-line order.

The changes will result from three fixed markup regulations, issued yesterday, covering most foods, both dry and perishable, sold by independent and chain grocers and by wholesalers.

Effective August 5, the new margins were adopted primarily to meet food dealers' demands for a simpler food pricing system. They are percentage markups which dealers will add to their net costs.

On most canned goods the housewife will not pay more, an OPA spokesman said. However, he estimated the new pricing system would allow an increase of 1 to 11/2 cents a pound on rice at independent stores, and about 1 cent in chain stores; some increase in frozen fruits and vegetables in chain stores, a boots of about 1 cent each for No. 2 cans of berries and fruits (except pineapple, peaches, pears and juices) in chain stores, and a slight chain store increase in pickles and relishes.

Other Items Under Study. Changes will be made in community-wide dollar-and-cent ceilchanged mark-ups, but the comcities. OPA said.

No change from present dealer markups-and hence no change in Connecticut, said lawyers had called consumer prices-will be made at present in most of the canned whether Mr. Quinn met the requiregoods of heaviest sales volumecorn, green beans, peas, tomatoes five years of practice in the District and tomato juice, peaches, pears, pineapple and fruit cocktail.

OPA said those items still were "under study," but that no increase could be granted on them without violating the hold-the-line decree. The War Food Administration, meanwhile, announced it would support canner prices of the 1943 pack of 10 major vegetable products at 95 per cent of canners' net ceiling prices The support program is designed, the WFA said, to eliminate risks that might otherwise prevent maximum production of canned vegetables this summer.

American Submarines Plates Repaired While You Wait Sinking Jap Vessels At One-a-Day Rate

American submarines, slicing through Pacific waters in evermounting numbers, are knocking off Japanese ships at the rate of one a day. The destruction of 10 transports and supply vessels was announced by the Navy yesterday.

This terrific toll of what Japan needs most—ships to link her far-flung outposts of stolen empire— has prompted the Navy to issue three special bulletins in little more than a month on the activities of its undersea arm. Ordinarily, the doings of submarines are related KITT'S 1330 G Street only after long periods of silence maintained for security reasons. Since June 1, the American submarine packs, which Secretary of the Navy Knox declared were augmented steadily, have blasted to the bottom 33 Japanese supply vessels, many of them big transports and tankers, and three destroyers. Probably sunk were two more-a trans-Perk Up With port and a tanker. Nine more ships, including a destroyer, were listed as damaged.

War Appropriations Of $107,000,000,000 Made by Congress

The Seventy-eighth Congress in six months appropriated $114,000,-000,000 in new money-enough to aim $7,000 worth of bullets at each Axis soldier.

The total approved by the lawmakers from the time they convened in January until the start of a summer recess yesterday was $33,000,000,000 short of the previous high in congressional spending for one session. However, the actual direct appropriations to the armed forces was a record.

The stupendous sums provided for the Army and Navy this year are calculated to give the United States the biggest air and naval forces the world ever has seen.

Direct appropriations for the War Department were $59,034,839,673, exclusive of $12,472,839,200 in reappropriation of funds provided in previous years but not spent. The Navy's share of the 1943-44 outlay was $31,473,402,317. Last year the Navy got $25,558,982,181 and the Army $42.820,006,365, plus a carryover of $29,900,000,000 in money previously appropriated War Outlay $107,000,000,000.

For other services connected with the war but not directly tied in with the War and Navy Departments proper, Chairman Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee estimated the 1944 appropriations were $17,000,000,000. Added to the $90,000,000,000 for the armed services, this put the war outlay for the six-month session' at approximately accounting for the remaining $7,000,000,000 appropriated. During the entire World War, Mr. Cannon estimated, the Army spent only $23,000,000,000

Committee experts estimated $25,-000.000,000 was earmarked this year for airplanes alone, excluthe Army and the Navy Air Forces. Of this amount, $20,426,545,830 was allotted to the War Department. whose spokesmen told the committee the sum would pay for 99,740 Army planes expected to be built and delivered by July 1, 1944-the end of the current fiscal year.

$5,000,000,000 for Navy Planes. The Navy's plane appropriations totaled about $5,000,000,000 for 27,642 new craft, while its ship construction program received $9,535,120,000. Just how many ships this would build, or what type, the committee did not disclose other than to say it would keep the naval expansion program in high gear until Uncle Sam ruled the seas. records showed, Congress has appropriated $322,000,000,000.

Here's how the various agencies shared in distribution of direct appropriations made since January 1,

Cathedral Windows In Memory of Rust Family Are Unveiled

By JAMES WALDO FAWCETT. Three large stained glass windows in the apse of Washington Cathedral were unveiled yesterday afternoon. Given in memory of the late Harry Lee Rust, sr.; his wife, Josephine Wheelwright Rust, and their son, Gwinn Wheelwright Rust, they were dedicated as integral parts of the sacred fabric by the Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, Bishop Coadjutor of Maryland

A ritual prepared after the custom of medieval times was used for the service. The boys' cheir of the Cathedral sang "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," and Bishop Powell recited an "introduction" including the words: "Shew Thy servants Thy work" followed by the response of the congregation: "And their children Thy glory."

Mrs. Rust, it was explained in the exhortation, is commemorated in the center window, representing Christ in Glory; her husband in the north window, depicting the Crucifixion; and Gwinn in the south window, with the Risen Christ as the central figure.

The bishop read the inscriptions introduced into the designs and the Lesson from Ezekiel 43:1-5, ending: "And the glory of the Lord came into the house by way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east."

Silence filled the church while James Berkeley, head verger, conducted to their places Mrs. William I. Kent and Miss Rosalind Rust. granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rust, sr., "appointed to unveil the windows." Bishop Powell, standing at the Jerusalem altar, gave the signal for the cords of the curtains, 70 feet above the floor of the apse,

Others attending included: Corcoran Thom, Lloyd B. Wilson, sr., and Lt. Lloyd B. Wilson, jr.; Coleman Jennings, Henry P. Blair, Charles F. Wilson, Benjamin S. Minor, Ralph A. Van Orsdel, Philip O. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford Folger, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Remon, Marcy L. Ferry, George Calvert Bowie, Richard W. Hinson, Herbert L. Willett, jr.; Wilmer J. of the Germans in France

Giraud, the Chief Executive said he and the general had talked at lunch yesterday about various military problems. He offered no elaboration.

In talking with reporters, Gen. Giraud avoided all political discussion and the War Department 35sued a notice to correspondents directing them to ask only questions relating to military matters.

The General only once mentioned Gen de Gaulle, considered 'his rival for French leadership, when he said:

"As co-presidents of the French Committee of National Liberation, lished as our soul aim the defeat of the Axis forces, the liberation of France, the return to a political national aspirations of our country.

He first read a prepared statement, then spoke passionately of impressions gathered on a visit he made this morning to Mount Vernon, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the Lincoln Memorial.

In looking at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, he said he remembered that in the recent Tunisian campaign "Your soldiers were well armed, but mine were without ing a wedge into our defenses," the adequate weapons. They fought with wooden sabers and straw guns, as we say in France.

"I remembered the 2,500 crosses on the hills of Tunisia where rest the French who gave their lives in recent battle.

"France had 15,000 casualties in Tunisia. This is the proof of French valor. This army had the will to fight, has the will to fight, even with inadequate weapons."

"I have seen your soldiers under fire. As a soldier I observed them. serves all admiration. They are the worthy successors of their elders of 1918.'

Reminded of Lafayette.

At Mount Vernon, he said, he found reminiscences of Lafayette, commenting:

"It occurred to me that in some odd ways history sometimes repeats itself"-obviously thinking of the part America can play in bringing France her independence. In commenting on his visit to the Lincoln Memorial, Gen. Giraud hinted at the conflict that today disturbs the relations of Frenchmen outside France. He said:

"In looking at the (Lincoln) memorial, I felt intensely what he did in overcoming the turmoil of his difficult years. I was moved as a Frenchman at finding myself in communication with the highest ideals of Americans."

The morale of the French Army of tomorrow, the general said, will be "as good as it was yesterday." when, in his estimation, it was very good. By "yesterday" he meant the Tunisian campaign.

He said he fixed on the number 300,900 as the size of the French expeditionary force to be equipped because that was the number for which he could supply an adequate technical personnel. This army, he said, is to be composed of 125,000

Library a Depository

The Senate yesterday before recessing approved a bill providing for the recognition of the Washington Free Public Library as a depository for Government documents. Such action follows the tradition under which many State institutions of similar character are furnished with copies of Federal publications as an accommodation both to the Nation and to the local communities thus favored. Just why the District of Columbia was not included in the list long since is a minor mystery of a sort. Much more interesting is the prospect that it soon may be added to the roster.

There is no compulsion involved in the arrangement. The Washington Library will not be expected to accept everything printed by the Government. Relatively few documents deserve permanent storage in any bibliographic establishment. Those that are wanted for preservation and reference use, however, not uncommonly are desired by considerable numbers of people. Some, inevitably, are expensive. The saving indicated for the Library may be several hundred dollars a year-a small sum, yet one which the Library will be glad to have for the purchase of other materials demanded by readers.

It is suggested that the Federal Government will be advantaged by the passing of the pending legislation through the deflection of some local students from the Library of situation in his own home State. Not Congress, currently overcrowded. only has the State swung strongly Citizens wishing to consult the documents referred to would find them the present Democratic governor, available at Mount Vernon Square as | Charles Edison, is out to give Mr. well as on Capitol Hill. different in details. A cigar store Indian is a purely native production even if the idea for the figure was derived from a reredos in Bourgos or a facade at Amiens or Exeter. Such variations are worth preserving. The WPA Federal Art Project, like all other "make-work" expedients of the New Deal, is finished and done. But the money it cost was well spent. The National Gallery will be enriched by the accommodation of the Index within its walls. Generations hence this affirmation may be echoed with an enthusiasm which stantly growing attraction. naturally has grown with the passing of the years. Meanwhile, living Americans-more than a few-are grateful.

Mayor Hague's Allies

The strange case of the Communists and Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City and Democratic boss of New Jersey, gives a preview of what may be expected in the political lineup of 1944. It had been supposed that Mayor Hague and the Communists were as far apart as the poles. What brings them together, apparently, is a common desire to see President Roosevelt re-elected next year. This common support of the President is not new. It is something new, however, for the Communists to give their indorsement to Mayor Hague. William Norman, secretary of the Communist Party of New Jersey, writing in the Communist Daily Worker, has declared that it is a mistake to condemn Mayor Hague as an enemy of the workers. Indeed, according to Mr. Norman, it is an "outworn conception" which is "serving the demagogic purpose of reaction." This is the same Mr. Hague who used to chase labor organizers out of Jersey City, and whose policemen escorted Norman Thomas away when he tried to make a speech in Journal Square.

It will be recalled, however, that at one time the Communists in this country looked with some favor on Hitler, because of the Nazi nonaggression pact with Communist Russia. In those days the Reds dubbed the war against the Axis powers an imperialistic war. But when Hitler invaded Russia, they sang another song. Their about-face was immediate. They wanted this country to go to war-on the side of Russia.

The immediate cause of the Communist support of Mr. Hague is a desire to strengthen the hand of one of the leaders upon whom Mr. Roosevelt will have to rely if he is a candidate in the campaign of 1944. Mr. Hague is facing a tough political

OPA Policy Statement

In a letter to the Editor of The Star, published elsewhere on this page, Thomas I. Emerson, director of the Enforcement Division of the Office of Price Administration, takes exception to criticism of some aspects of the OPA enforcement policy which was contained in an editorial published in The Star of July 5. Mr. Emerson is mistaken in his assertion that the editorial of July 5 took the position that Congress was justified in refusing OPA additional funds to supplement its enforcement staff. The editorial took no such position, but merely advanced the suggestion that if the agency's funds should be cut its own enforcement policy would be largely to blame. The burden of Mr. Emerson's complaint, however, is directed to the contention in the editorial that OPA attorneys have gone throughout the country "preaching the strange doctrine that good faith is immaterial"-that offending businessmen should be punished no matter how hard they may have tried to comply with OPA regulations. This, Mr. Emerson says, is not a fact. On the contrary, according to his letter, there have been thousands of instances in which cases of price violation have been dismissed with simple warnings when it was shown that the violations were inadvertent. However, he adds, since a price increase is inflationary regardless of motive, it has been the OPA policy in many cases to require the return of the amount of the overcharge, the purpose being to prevent the violator from gaining a competitive advantage. Mr. Emerson also defends the use by OPA of the injunctive process in certain types of cases, but denies that this reflects any refusal to discriminate between willful and inadvertent violations.

As against these claims, this is what the record, in part, shows: In the Hecht Company case, tried here before Justice Letts, OPA contended that upon a showing of violations, inadvertent or otherwise, the

American Index

The development of the Index of American Design was an important enterprise, and the recent announcement that it is to be sheltered in the National Gallery of Art will stir rejoicing among all Americans interested in their esthetic inheritance. Included in the deposit are twentytwo thousand documented drawings, water colors and oil paintings illustrating the basic culture of the people of the United States as it has been demonstrated in textiles, ceramics, glassware, furniture, pewter, silver, decorative iron, rugs and carpets. coverlets, costumes and prnaments.

Critics find in the assembled material the evidence of a folk experience of universal proportions. A "memorandum to the press" explains: "Men cutting weather vanes out of iron and blowing goblets out of glass and shaping plates from clay did not cease to exercise their sense of form and color. Women sewing quilts and stitching samplers continued to use their eyes and their imaginations. Wood carvers and furniture makers continued to concern themselves with the lines of their figureheads and the just proportions of their cabinets. The popular arts, the practical arts, the arts which always must exist in a living society survived and increased in vigor. Thus were built up traditions of skill and taste which were as thoroughly American as similar skills and tastes are peculiarly English or Italian."

Of course, all art is useful, and the author of the words here quoted did not mean to suggest any contrary doctrine. What the Index stresses is the artistic instinct, the impulse toward creative design, which prompted the enterprise of the American people when their immediate pragmatic purposes were merely the building of barns or the dressing of scarecrows. Such endeavors were not altogether independent of foreign influence. The pioneers who brought the King James Bible and Shakespeare from England, old tapestries from France, silver and glass from Holland, delicate lace from Belgium did not attempt to isolate themselves from the patterns of the Old World from which they came. It is no accident that Williamsburg in Virginia and Annapolis in Maryland are Georgian towns, as much indebted to Sir Christopher Wren and Inigo Jones as any community in Britain.

The Index, however, shows the impact of America upon its settlers. Ears of corn translated into stone decorations for the Capitol are symbolic of the adaptation which was Republican in recent elections, but Hague a drubbing in the coming gubernatorial race. Not that Mr. Hague expects to be a candidate himself-but he does expect to name the Democratic standard bearer in that race. The election of a Republican governor of New Jersey would have both a practical and psychological effect in the national campaign next year, an effect inimical to the chances of President Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt administration has done nothing to aid Governor Edison in his fight with the Hague machine in New Jersey. On the contrary, the President appointed Mr. Hague's candidate for the Federal bench, Thomas Meany, who was confirmed by the Senate over the vigorous protest of Governor Edison. This may be regarded as practical politics. The same may be said of the Communist swing to Mayor Hague.

Cathedral Windows

The three beautiful stained glass windows unveiled yesterday in memory of Harry Lee Rust, Senior; his wife and son Gwinn bring to approximate completion the apse of Washington Cathedral and represent, in a certain notable respect, the fulfillment of half a century of endeavor at Mount Saint Alban. Following a tradition of the Gothic age in France and England, the colored glazing of the crown of the church tells the story of Christ crucified, risen and ascended into glory. The secondary figures include Mary, the virgin mother, and John, the beloved disciple; also, Saint Michael, the captain of the Host of Heaven, trampling the dragon, and Saint Gabriel, the herald, announcing the resurrection. Kneeling angels and seraphim are introduced in the side lancets of the central composition. The principal figures are approximately twice life size. Wilbur Herbert Burnham and Joseph G. Reynolds, Junior, of Boston, were responsible for the design and its execution. They explain that they were guided in their effort by a desire to achieve "full realization of the emotional and spiritual power of the changing color harmonies created by varying lights * * * resulting from brilliant and gray days." The degree of their success may be judged from the fact that the congregation at the dedication service audibly exclaimed at the radiance revealed when the curtains were drawn aside and a flood of sunshine poured into the building. Blue seems the predominant value, relieved by glowing red and yellow. The manner of the partners in the work is modern in character; their draftsmanship is faultless, but they have been careful not to err in the direction of too precise detail. Nothing inordinately meticulous has been permitted to interfere with the strength and power of their effort.

The importance of fine glass in | onize the American people to the court was bound by law to issue an injunction against the company. But Justice Letts thought otherwise. Pointing out that the element of willfulness was entirely lacking in the violations, and that the companhad gone to great lengths in its efforts to comply with the regulations. he said: "Courts of equity are not inquisitorial, but remedial. In the legislation here involved it was not the purpose of Congress to police industry, but to seek compliance for the public good and to recognize honest and true efforts to meet the requirements of the law." The OPA refuses to accept this view. In March another local merchant sold a pair of stockings for eightyfive cents above the ceiling price. The evidence showed, however, that the ceiling had been reduced by eighty-five cents just a few hours prior to the sale, and that the seller did not know of the reduction and had no reasonable opportunity to learn of it. Counsel for OPA contended that the seller, nevertheless, was liable for the full fifty-dollar penalty for the overcharge, and that it made no difference whether he knew of the change in ceiling price or not. Rejecting this contention, the Municipal Court of Appeals said: "Black markets should be suppressed and profiteers punished by every lawful means. On the other hand, the innocent should not be swept into court with the guilty and denied an opportunity to present a reasonable defense." Since OPA took a different view, it must be assumed that this was an exception to the "thousands of instances" in which OPA dismissed simple violations with a warning. Nor does it fall into that second category of unintentional violations in which the seller was merely required to refund the amount of the overcharge so that he would not gain a competitive advantage. In a recent case in Chicago OPA asked a Federal Court for an injunction against a meat dealer on the basis of some overcharges that were trivial in relation to the firm's total volume of business. Refusing to grant the injunction, the judge said OPA "must realize that they haven't exclusive rights on all the patriotism in America. They should not use the injunction process in cases of confusion and innocent error." When OPA counsel protested that the good faith of the offender was not entitled to consideration, the judge replied: "Any man has a right to come into my court and show that he is operat-

These are only some of the cases in which OPA has practiced a philosophy that does not harmonize with Mr. Emerson's statement. It may be that as a strict matter of law there is support for the enforcement policy reflected in these instances. But the editorial complained of did not contend otherwise. landed at Rice Harbor on the eastern shore of Kula Gulf, which certainly indicates that we have command of the adjacent waters.

From here we can advance overland to Munda, which lies about 15 miles away. We have effected another landing east of Munda, apparently inside or just at the eastern entrance of the inclosed body of water known as the Roviana Lagoon. Munda is near the western end of this lagoon, where the approaches are commanded by our artillery on Rendova Island.

As to the actual score in the Battle of the Kula Gulf, there appears as yet to be some uncertainty. Reading the communiques carefully, it is to be noted that many of the Japanese ships are reported as having been "sunk or set afire." A ship set afire in a night action is not necessarily lost; for example, very spectacular fires can occur aboard a destroyer or a light cruiser from ammunition stacked on deck in the vicinity of the gun positions, while the ship herself sustains no crippling damage to hull or machinery.

Moreover, in a night action it is extremely difficult to tell the difference between a light cruiser and one of the big destroyers now in use both in the Japanese and American Navies.

We know that we have had a success which may amount to a considerable victory, and which evidently has left us in possession of the disputed waters, from which the enemy has, at least for the moment, retired. We do not know what the exact score is as far as losses at sea are concerned; there is every reason to believe that the enemy's losses have been heavier than ours, but we must await further and more detailed advices before we can be sure of the exact type and number of the ships of the Imperial Japanese Navy which, in this action, have gone to join the many others already rusting in the coze at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean

In the Ruhr Valley

From the Manchester Guardian. It does not need much imagination to translate the raids into human terms. Every night that we raid the Ruhr the population of a wide area goes to earth. As the Frankfurter Zeitung revealingly puts it: "One lives from night to night; one makes no elaborate plans for tomorrow or the day after; one lives, so to speak, retrospectively, saying in the morning that things have once more gone well. The nucleus of existence is the night, and it is pathetic to see-and not appreciated enough-how composed people's faces are as they sit on the narrow bunker benches, heads drawn in a bit, children gathered around them, and their 'most essential' belongingsand how few they are-at hand." The raids dominate the German mind, in Western Germany at least. We used to speak of our own raided cities as being in the "front line." It is many times truer of the towns of the Rhine and Ruhr, which are being struck with a destructive intensity we never knew. The local newspapers are closely censored but everywhere we can see traces of the vast upheaval. Children, for instance are going from Dortmund to Hungary. But no general evacuation is permitted. As the National Zeitung explained to the people of Oberhausen: "Only people with no occupation may leave the town. The labor situation demands the employment

Letters to the Editor

OPA Official Dissents From Star Editorial.

To the Editor of The Star:

Your editorial on July 5 takes the position that Congress is justified in refusing OPA additional funds to supplement an enforcement staff that is now ridiculously small for the stupendous task assigned to it. The burden of your editorial is that OPA enforcement attorneys "have gone throughout the country preaching the strange doctrine that good faith is immaterial"-that if a businessman violates any OPA regulation "he should be hailed into court and punished, no matter how hard he may have tried to comply with the orders."

This statement is simply not correct. It has always been the OPA enforcement policy to recognize a vast difference petween situations in which a violator has acted in good faith and one in which he has acted willfully or with gross negligence. There are literally thousands of instances where OPA enforcement attornevs have dismissed cases with a simple warning when it was shown that the violation was inadvertent. Our entire plan for enforcement of the food regulations at retail through the aid of price panels is based upon the principle that most violations will be sifted out by the price panel through a process of friendly adjustment and that only repeated or flagrant violations will be referred to the enforcement attorneys for formal action.

On the other hand. I think you must agree that the mere fact that a violator has acted in good faith should not give him an unfair advantage over a competitor who has informed himself of the regulation and adhered to its terms. A price increase is inflationary regardless of motive. Consequently it has been our policy in many cases, even though the violation is inadvertent, to require the return of the amount of the overcharge either to the Treasury or, under certain circumstances, to the buyer or tenant. This is simply to assure that the violator gains no advantage by reason of his violation. Thousands of cases have been adjusted on this basis.

Furthermore, the mere fact that the violator claims he has been acting in good faith should certainly not preclude enforcement action if OPA has good reason to believe otherwise. In the Hecnt case, about which you commented previously, and in the restaurant case which you mentioned in Monday's editorial, our attorneys were convinced that the violations were of such scope and character that they could not have been carried on in good faith or through mere inadvertence. As sometimes happens, the judge ruled that OPA had not proved this, somewhat difficult, issue of fact. It is certainly not fair to take these decisions, or the action of OPA attorneys in appealing them, as proof that OFA recognizes no distinction "between an honest mistake and a deliberate violation of law."

There is one further consideration of great importance involved in this matter of good faith. Under the law enacted by Congress, as we read it, the Government day will be as free for human beings as for the songsters. When that Naples, and was painted on a panel of The brilliant red houses, so often | day arrives, the good word "humanity" will really mean something.

to litigate for the sake of litigation, but simply because effective enforcement requires that numerous and spreading violations be stopped immediately. Once violations start in the price or rationing field, compliance can deteriorate rapidly. Congress intended that the OPA enforcement staff should be empowered to act quickly, to the extent of enjoining violations, without the burden of proving the very difficult factual issue of willfulness or bad faith. This provision of law is common to Federal regulatory legislation. The alternative, for all practical purposes, would be a second investigation in each case and the establishment by legal proof of two violations. I assure you that it is not our poincy to take cases into court except where in our judgment such action is essential to secure compliance. Our litigation record proves that we have consistently followed this policy. Out of 2,442 cases in which the courts have thus far taken action, not more than 118, or less than 5 per cent, have resulted in judgment against OPA. THOMAS I. EMERSON.

Director, Enforcement Division. (For discussion of Mr. Emerson's letter see editorial: "OPA Policy Statement.")

Propaganda Advocated To Supplement Bombing. To the Editor of The Star:

Is it not time to supplement the terrific bombings of German cities with an intensive propaganda campaign?

Some 5.000,000 are homeless in the Ruhr. Great industries lie devastated. All Germans must recognize the growing probability of defeat. The two keys to propaganda are hope and fear. Emphasizing fear, the OWI and its British cousin tell Axis peoples the grim truth about bombings, U-boat failure, American arms production, impending invasion.

Were Germany a nation of neurotics, fear alone might destroy morale. But haunted by Goebbels' ghastly picture of defeat, fear is just as apt to inspire the will to fight on in dogged desperation.

Why not employ hope? It was a mighty instrument before in the Fourteen Points. With the Atlantic Charter, "no mass reprisals" and the Fulbright resolution or the like, it should be possible to exert a powerful leverage of hope on the German mind.

We can continue to bomb Germany remorselessly, killing many more thousands in their beds and destroying vast industrial wealth that might be used to rebuild Europe. We can invade the continent at appalling cost in American and other lives. But should we not also make a supreme effort to influence the thinking of the German people and by offering them something great to hope for.

Jap Losses Difficult ToDetermine

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

What the military critic of the Weekly Tribune of Yondon has said about the exaggerations of enemy losses inflicted by the British. American and

When flyers engage in bombing missions or in fights at high altitudes, it is often impossible to be certain whether an enemy ship has been sunk or damaged seriously or The aviators damaged lightly. themselves report faithfully what they think they have seen.

When they get back to their base the officers there cannot offer any evidence in refutation of claims except once in a while when a report comes from some other airman who participated in the same engagement. Too often, however, these reports, even when pieced together. leave the officials uncertain as to what happened.

Given in Good Faith.

It has been evident for some time that the Japanese Navy could not have as much reserve strength as it seems to muster from time to time. if our Navy has truly inflicted all the losses claimed. But Navy men will be the first to say that the losses cannot be absolutely verified and that the information given out is disseminated in good faith as the best available at the time.

The Japanese, of course, did not know exactly what happened at Pearl Harbor, and they do not know to this day the exact extent of the damage or when the ships could be repaired and ready for action. Least of all could it have been known at the time of the attack, because the enemy had no facilities for examining the damage done.

Unquestionably the Japanese have been able to repair some of the ships we have reported as damaged. Also the most serious factor in trying to appraise losses is the introduction of night warfare among surface ships. New methods of fighting at night

As a member of a party which had been spending several weeks in Sweden, I was interviewed by Gen. Jacob Devers, commander of the European Theater of Operations, with my comrades on our findings. He subsequently suggested to British military intelligence that they interview us and obtain the same information he had received.

They speak these lines without hokum in the privacy of their homes. The old quarrel between British and American airmen about the value of the Flying Fortress for bombing operations over Europe apparently has died. The B17s and the Liberators have been conducting daylight raids through German defenses for a year now. No other air force in the world has been able to maintain daylight operations in the

This is one of the most concrete evidences of the co-operation between the two powers on the military front. The American bomber command is installed at British expense in one of the most celebrated schools of England, which the British themselves had decided long ago they would not take over for their own military

Other Space Made Available.

English airmen have moved out of RAF stations to make them available to American flyers. The English vailroads are busy hauling American fighting material. A famous old British steeplechase course has been turned into quarters for the headquarters company of an American Service Forces command. In England the ASF is still known as the SOS-Service of Supply.

Men at the steeplechase course live in the boxstalls which used to be the temporary homes of some of the finest horses in England. Their lounge is the ticket shed. They est in the clubhouse restaurant, which still carries a sign from the old days: "Table d'hote." The age-old British lack of interest in comfort irks some American flyers at RAF stations, where shower baths and other facilities are often far removed from sleeping quarters. It has become more or less habitual to refer to the President's conduct of our war strategy abroad as a grudging way, never really re-too tough for the Hitlerites, the present battles may be confined to an offensive of local scope. At this time, it appears that the German high command is determined to straighten out its defensive lines by an attempt to recapture the important town of Kursk, where the Russians are entrenched solidly. If they succeed they would have a more favorable strategic position for future operations.

Watchword "Wait and See."

The watchword in Washington is "wait and see." The Nazi high command, which is careful about its statements when an offensive is under way, gives no indication of its intentions. Observers here maintain that if in the course of a week the operations extend to the north, there no longer can be doubt that the Germans are attempting the greatest gamble in their military history.

The Russians appear to be defending their positions with the same determination as previously. But the military operations are only a few days old and no major breakthrough could be expected in such a short time, particularly when the defending forces outnumber the attacker in most of the battle areas

According to available figures, the Russians have about 300 divisions concentrated on the Stalingrad-Kharkov front. against about 200 Nazi divisions. The communications behind the fortified and entrenched area are satisfactory and the Soviet high command always can rush important forces to whatever area is menaced, so long as the enemy offensive is local in scope.

The absence of American and British military observers in the fighting zones makes it difficult

BY HENRY MELEMORE.

ENNISKERRY, Ireland.-British headquarters revealed today that a clash between French and British forces was imminent, following reports that the French cavairy had been issued arms and had assembled at Powerscourt in an endeavor to make contact with the English.

** A-9

No, you don't need to read the dateline again. it's really freland and the Henry MeLemore. Irish are still as neutral as ever, but there's a battle about to start any minute. Here, in the Wicklow Hills, five centuries are being rolled back and 700 Irish extras are going to fight the Battle of Agincourt all over again for the film version of W. Shakespeare's "Henry, the Fifth."

Olivier Is Star. The film company, which has Laurence Olivier as the star, producer and director, came to Ireland because a neutral country is the only place in the world today where you can stage a battle scene without having one side or the other start playing for keeps. This is a very nice war here. Mr. Olivier has his front-line headquarters in a canary-yellow trailer which is complete with bar, bath and kitchenette, and, in case the going gets tough he can reach into the clothes closet and yank down a suit of 15th-century armor. The battle location is the country seat of Lord Powerscourt. A country seat is a large farm where. if they branded cattle, they'd have to do it with a crest instead of a Bar-7 or a running W. The English camp and the French camp are set up on different hills in tents that look like cabanas on a dream beach in prewar Hawaii or Miami, Today they were trying to shoot scene of French footmen scurrying over to their lords on horseback and handing them their lances so the lords could go out and look for the British. But the sun wouldn't co-operate. It kept ducking in and out of the clouds.

Soldiers Clanked.

"War is hell." I think I heard Generalissimo Olivier say as he scurried about among the cameras, clad only in white shorts and a suntan. He offered a pleasing contrast to the bearded soldiers who clanked about in their mail, wondering if they shouldn't have asked

Certain Discount Necessary.

One important point which the military critic of the London newspaper raises is that published losses must be taken with a certain discount due to unavoidable error. It would be wrong to assume that the figures are purposely exaggerated by any official source here or abroad.

At times the enemy has put out what appeared to the American public to be fantastic claims and it is often wondered why the Tokio Navy would do this since they knew the correct figures would come out subsequently. One reason, of course, is that this is a favorite way of fishing for information as to the exact damage done. It is a means really of measuring America's reserve strength in the Facific.

It is, to be sure, of the utmost importance to the Japanese to know what has happened immediately after each naval engagement because this is related to the possible dispersal of the remaining American and Japanese forces in the theater Given Army Award of war affected.

enemy losses are issued unless our own losses are also published. It is enemy knowledge of what losses deceiving the enemy

One thing can be stated rather positively-the men who run our Navy discount the tales of the flyers about the ships they have sunk. They don't argue about it with them for fear the old cry about disparging air power may be taised. But when the war is over, the exact number of ships lost through air power will be determinable, and the power of surface ships will compare favorably in on the plotting of the bomber industrial targets. The round-theclock bombing is charted by American and British military leaders operating as a unit. Social Relations Easy.

The easy relations between military representatives of the two Allies extends into the social sphere. While waiting for the sun, some of the soldiers walked around the countryside, thereby frightening the cows who had never before seen men in red full-length stockings, yellow jerkins and chain mail. Others passed the time by singing, and a favorite number was "Spurs That Jingle, Jingle, Jingle." This correspondent has learned that travel has its rugged sides and one of them is having to listen to wornout American songs.

When the big battle scene is finally shot, the Irish-French and Irish-English soldiers will be encouraged to shout and scream during the battle but no sound will be recorded. Generalissimo Olivier has figured out that one. A "begorra" could louse up $100,000 worth of technicolor film.

Blond Stirs Warriors.

I visited Powerscourt with some Irish folk. In our company was a lovely blond. The entire "French" Army ceased 15th century operations when she passed along, to give out with very modern 1943 whistles. That's a sign, I thought. tha the world hasn't change a great deal. The boys at Agincourt were just about the same sort of boys who are fighting this global war today.

Then, watching a 15th century battle being fought. I had another thought. The british won at Agincourt with archers-they knocked off the superior French force as easily as if they had been using Spitfires and machine guns. What will war be like 500 years from now? Present-day methods of killing will be as out-moded as the mailed knights of Agincourt seem today. Our cannons, our planes, our commandos and our rangers will be just as ridiculous to a warrior of 500 years from now as the bows and lances of the days of Henry the Fifth. Not a very pleasant thought, is it? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Harrison Bates, 47 and socially prominent, who, yesterday, for the second time, found himself in the custody of the United States marshal when Justice James M. On July 1, after being held in custody for several hours on the contempt judgment, Mr. Bates was released under $700 bond pending the hearing yesterday on the habeas corpus writ. The Story of the Victorious First Division in the Battle for North Africa BY

THOMAS R. HENRY Star Staff Correspondent in North Africa

The spectacular exploits of the Fighting First Division of World War II have not only upheld the traditions of its renowned predecessor of the first World War but actually they have eclipsed them.

For fighting skill, individual and collective heroism, discipline, morale and Spartan stamina, the First is the crack division of the American Army, according to this highly interesting article written by Tom Henry, Star Staff Correspondent, from Allied Headquarters in North Africs. You'll want to read of the First's gallant role in turning the tide of war in the crucial counterattack at Kasserine Pass . . . the classic dawn assault at El Guettar . . . of hellish days in shallow fox holes under Stuka blackened skies . . . of the gruelling, nerve-shattering, victorious struggle from Oran to Bizerte . . . all are reported in vivid detail in this important story by The Star's own popular correspondent. Enjoy it as one of the illustrated features of the Editorial Feature Section this week in-

HERE'S no room for traitors in fighting America. The FBI makes sure of that.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover teams up with Frederick L. Collins to tell Collier's multimillion readers just how they made sure of it by hanging a death sentence on a traitor for the first time in America's history.

Uncle Sam's men deftly fashioned the noose out of the Nazi arrogance of a fugitive Hitler ace. You'll take new pride in the FBI when you read "Traitors Must Die" in Collier's out today.

Frederick C. Painton's "Here Comes Gabriel," the shot-byshot story of an American tank crew in action in North Africa, will make you forget the July heat, too.

Both of these articles are humdingers - factual, inside stuff every patriotic American - which, of course, means every American - will get a kick out of reading. And typical of the kind of material Collier's, every week, searches for all around the world. For our job as we see it is to keep our multimillion readers plenty well informed on all subjects of national importance. After all, it's only a well-informed, alert, quickthinking public which can speed our flag on to victory in this war and set it flying in a better peacetime world.

PATRIOTS MUST BUY

In the present war economy, even the shrewdest of us often are confused as to just what we can purchase to

23 Pleasure Drivers Punished by Panel; More Cases Tonight

Penalties for pleasure driving were increased in severity by a special panel last night as it adjudged 23 defendants guilty and ordered forfeiture of coupons worth more than 500 gallons of gasoline.

Meanwhile, 24 more motorists were reported today by District and park police for alleged violation of the pleasure driving ban. Local OPA inspectors, usually more active than police in the campaign against non-essential drivers, made no search for violators last night, but instead attended the hearing before the special panel to act as witnesses against motorists subpoensed on July 4.

As the panel prepared to hear tonight a second batch of complaints growing out of the July 4 week end, John L. Laskey, chief Percy Grainger, brilliant piano soloist at the National Symphony Orchestra's Water Gate concert tonight, believes that the values of races and individuals should be determined, and everyone given a label.

At least, that's the way he expressed himself in an interview yesterday. "I don't mind being tagged X-29 or A-3 if I belong there," he remarked. "There should be an official recognition of composers. I would be perfectly willing to be judged by fellow composers." Disagreement as to an individual's cataloging would result in a greater interest in the subject, thus giving a commercial aspect to art, he admitted. Mr. Grainger, native of Australia who studied piano in Germany, said his impression of life is painful "the comfortableness of Northern were separate and apart. Actually,

Army Air Force officials at Bolling Field today were investigating the crash of a training plane in a Victory Garden plot at Bethesda, Md., last night in which the pilot and a crew member had parachuted to safety.

Bolling Field public relations officials identified the pilot as Lt. J. G. Thames of Milton, Fla., and the crew member as Sergt. Dominick Cicargo, whose home address was not available. The plane was on a routine training flight from an Alabama air field to Bolling Field.

Bethesda police said the plane crashed shortly before 10 p.m. at the American jazz orchestra is more the rear of the Bethesda Recreation melodious and tuneful than any Center in an area bounded by Glenbrook road, Kennedy drive and Bradley boulevard.

Offer Farmers Partial Solution May Be Chief Hope Of Labor Supply, County Agents Report

The District United States Employment Service's plan to recruit vacationing Government office workers for harvesting operations on nearby farms was viewed today by Virginia and Maryland county agents as at least a partial solution to the drastic farm labor shortage.

Vacationist Jobs

County agents in nearby Virginia and Maryland counties pointed out that farmers, who were cool last year toward the idea of recruiting city residents for work on farms, are generally of the opinion now that these workers, although inexperienced, are the farmers' chief hope.

Lawrence S. Green. Fairfax County agent, said the USES plan is an answer to a question that was already being discussed by county agricultural leaders on how vacationing workers might be drawn from Government agencies in the District to Fairfax County farms.

Attitude Important.

It was agreed by county agents that the success or failure of the USES campaign will depend upon the "esprit de corps" instilled in volunteer workers during the recruiting drive. These men and women who sign up for work on farms during their vacations, it was said, must be made to realize that their efforts must not be taken as a lark, but as a real patriotic contribution toward winning war.

It was pointed out that m of the antagonism on the part some farmers toward city volu teers last year was caused by group of workers who seemed to think a day's work on a farm was the ogcasion for an outing. There is no reason for a re-occurrence of this if recruits are made to realize that their work can be a real contribution to the war effort, it was pointed

Mr. Laskey said he recommended the termination of the six remaining coupons in Dr. Webb's C ration book and suggested that he apply to his added ration board for gasoline sufficient for business purposes.

His recommendation was adopted by the panel consisting of John C. Conliff, acting chairman; Peter J. Connolly and John W. Jackson.

Edward O. Meister, 2215 Minnesota avenue S.E., told OPA inspectors in Virginia he was going to make a 300-mile trip to Marvland over the holiday, thus using up onehalf of his B ration. The panel penalized him six weeks of A coupons and six weeks of B's, with the proviso he could reopen the case if he failed to understand he was to appear before the panel last night. Mr. Meister was not present.

Clarksburg Man Appeals.

Anna P. Kelley, 118 Adams street N.W., who did not appear, didn't have a ration card after having an automobile for three owned weeks, the panel was told. Her right to obtain gasoline was suspended for two months.

Penalties for pleasure driving vere increased in severity by a special panel last night as it adjudged defendants guilty and ordered forfeiture of coupons worth more than 500 gallons of gasoline.

Meanwhile, 24 more motorists were reported today by District and park police for alleged violation of the pleasure driving ban. Local OPA inspectors, usually more active than police in the campaign against non-essential drivers, made no search for violators last night but instead attended the hearing before the special panel to act as witnesses against motorists subpoenaed on July 4.

'Chutes Save Two; Craft Misses Houses, Plunges in Garden

Army Air Force officials at Bolling Field today were investigating the crash of a training plane in a Victory Garden plot at Bethesda, Md. last night in which the pilot and a crew member had parachuted t safety.

Bolling Field public relations offiials identified the pilot as Lt. J. G Thames of Milton, Fla., and the cret nember as Sergt. Dominick Cicargo whose home address was not available. The plane was on a routine training flight from an Alabama air field to Bolling Field.

Bethesda police said the plane crashed shortly before 10 p.m. at the rear of the Bethesda Recreation Center in an area bounded by Glenrook road. Kennedy drive and Bradley boulevard.

Police said that while scores of residents in the area had observed the plane as it zig-zagged only a few feet above their housetops, it took police 15 or 20 minutes to locate the wrecked plane.

Observers said the plane fell from an estimated altitude of 500 feet. narrowly missed an apartment house and two dwellings and struck the soft tilled ground where almost 100 persons have their Victory gardens. The plane's motor was buried almost 6 feet in the earth.

Police said Lt. Thomas landed in a tree in front of 4605 Davidson drive, Bethesda, and Sergt. Cicargo landed in a tree in front of 4209 Warren street N.W.

The plane was demolished, but most of the damage to the garden was caused by crowds that trample over the surrounding plots.

Anderson, Montgomery County agent, said money already is available in that county for establishment of labor camps in schools provided personnel can be obtained to operate the school cafeterias.

Mr. Anderson said two schools are now in use as camps for about 120 high school students from the District who are being used for work on farms. He said the means of handling additional school camps has been set up in the county agent's office.

July 19. The county agent said high school students are charged $3 a week for their quarters and two meals each day. They receive 25 cents an hour for farm work and are furnished the noon meal at their place of employment. Mr. Anderson sald the average prevailing farm wage In the county for experienced workers is 40 cents an hour, and prewould sumably farm volunteers would receive this wage.

Mr. Anderson said Montgomery County farmers will be under the greatest harvesting strain from about August 10 until late in November when sugar corn will be cut, silo corn harvested and silos filled and fall seeding will begin.

Work Available Now.

P. E. Clark, Prince Georges County agent, said volunteers can be used right along now in harvesting vegetable crops in the county. He said the largest number, however, will be required from the middle of August until October 1 for harvesting corn and tobacco. Mr. Clark said he thought the transportation problem would solve itself if the workers are available.

"If I had a farm." he said, "and needed labor. I certainly would go after it if it were available close by." Mr. Clark said the average farm wage in the county is 25 cents an hour. In Fairfax County Mr. Green said farmers will need assistance in harvesting silo corn from the last week in August until about September 20. Much of the harvesting of small grain crops and hay already has bien done, he said.

Senora de Michels Leaving Soon; Louise Taft Grosvenor Married

By Katharine Brooks.

Senora de Michels, wife of the Chilean Ambassador, plans to leave about July 20 for Sonora, Mexico, where she will join her son and daughter, Senor Rudolfo Michels, jr., and Senorita Cristina Michels.

Senora de Michels will be there until after the marriage of her son to Senorita Alicia Villagran, which will take place Saturday. August 7. Senor Michels went to Sonora last winter to take up his work as an engineer with a copper mining company, following in the footsteps of his father, who is a mining engineer. He was joined there a few weeks ago by his sister, who probably will return to Washington with her mother after the wedding.

Senorita Villagran is the daughter of Senor Acencio Villagran and her mother formerly was Senorita Francisca Rubles. The bride-elect comes from families long prominent in Sonora and her parents are leaders there in social and intellectual circles. Senorita Villagran attended schools in this country $and Mexico.

Senor Michels has spent much Leona Wierum time in Washington with his parents since his father became Ambassador in January, 1941, and during the year or two preceding he came with them frequently for visits here. The Ambassador served as head of the Chilean exhibit at this city, became the bride of Mr. the World's Fair in New York. John Wallace Manning, son of Dr. Senor Michels, jr., was graduated and Mrs. William J. Manning of last year from Johns Hopkins University.

language as you try to apply leg make-up, please? Take a few mo-ments off to journey with us into the delightful land of the future known as the postwar world where everybody will have full tanks of gasoline and second, even third, cups of coffee.

According to the Du Pont people, we'll have superterrific nylon stock-ings, too, after the war. They'll be even better than the ones which we so tearfully relinquished, and there will be a wider choice of weights, styles and sizes. Best of all, we won't have to wait years or even months. The plants can shift from parachutes to stocking yarn in a few days—once the word is given. This simply means reducing the number of holes through which the molten nylon is extruded, thus pro-ducing fewer filaments and finer yarn. Technically, we are told that the the two and the second this is just a matter of replacing one set of spinnerets with another set and making a few other minor adjustments. Then the stocking yarn will go on its way to the hosiery manufacturers and thence to the long-suffering starved devotees of nvion!

Feel better? Well, there's more. Not only will the stocking manufacturers get production under way and stores begin once more to restock the precious commodity (this, by the way, will be where the greatest delay arises), but you will find the postwar product a far better thing. The strength of this manmade fiber will permit it to be fashioned into unbelievably sheer hosiery in plain or lace constructions for the fanciest evening wear. Daytime styles will be greater in

Your Skin Needs Summer Care; Don't Forget!

By Patricia Lindsay It is true that salt water, outdoor exercise and summer sun in proper doses are excellent for skin beauty, but the skin requires some care with creams and lotions and soap and water.

You know by this time that soap and water are skin cosmetics, but in summertime, if you take much sun and get out of doors a good deal, there is danger of getting the skin too dry, and soap and water alone are not sufficient to keep your face looking lovely.

Sun cream or lotion should be used for sun bathing, and it should be washed off, or creamed off, when you

For the next few minutes, just stop gnashing your teeth over that run in your last pair of silk stock-ings and don't use that unladylike language as you try to apply leg Seamless stockings, steam-set at the factory, will retain their shape just as full-fashioned stockings used to and will fit snugly even after many We're not through yet, either. "Proportioned sizes" which were being supplied in limited quantities before the war will become generally launderings. The seamless silk stockings were likely to bulge at the ankle and bag at the knee after a few wearings, but not so our im-ment of postwar nylon from the chemical plant through hosiery manufacturer, wholesaler and re-tailer to buying public should be fairly rapid, it will take some time be able to boast of correctly and to build up any sizable stock in the stores of the Nation. Just as nylons have kept popping up once in a while throughout the country because it takes some time to deplete a large stock, so it will be when retailers undertake to get a large supply of the peacetime ver-sions. You can be sure, too, that they're not going to spring them all at once and take a chance on going through such nylon riots as we had before. So because of this, you may have to wait a little while after victory for your first pair of postwar nylon stockings. But after waiting this long who can't hold out a few weeks more? Lovely prospect, isn't it?

Until those precious nylons reappear in a postwar world, we'll have to settle for what is available in the way of leg coverings. Favorite this year is the "liquid stocking," wellapplied leg make-up that presents a smooth, good-looking appearance. Take time to put on your leg make-up, let it dry thoroughly, and you won't be disappointed in the result.

Mend in a Jiffy . .

If you're not a very handy person at repairing various household articles, you can do your part, now, to better advantage, with a special type of mending tape. You don't have to be a skilled sewing machine operator, designer or genius to perform the task of mending with this gadget, for all you need is a roll of the tape, a hot iron and a pair of scissors. You can repair a ripped umbrella, a hole in a vacuum cleaner bag, shower curtains, and even oilcloth. You can "dress-up" one of last year's dresses and make it have new appeal through the application of some colorful applique or monogram that can be cut out from the tape and simply pressed on with a hot iron. There are 12 colors from which to choose and each is said to be washproof. The secret of a good mending job is to press it down hard with your hot iron, allow to cool and then you'll find you've an almost professional turnout.

'Magic' Spices . . .

Spices are magic at the barbecue pit when making stews, meat sauces and salads. A rustic barbecue tray with various sauces and seasonings may be secured from several local stores. The glass jars come equipped with metal tops for better keeping. The whole item is neat in appearance so you don't mind "toting" it along with the rest of your fine outdoor eating equipment.

Freeze your ice cubes quickly, either one at a time or a whole trayful. It can be done easily in plastic cups made of a special type here of material. The cube cups can be lifted from the tray without sticking, merely by pressing gently with the fingers. Easy to keep clean and very practical!

Silver Cleaner.

Think how simple it is to clean your silver with a piece of cotton! Of course, this special wad of cotton is saturated with a cleaning agent that is said to be harmless and rapid as well as ideal in performing a thorough job of removing tarnish. The chances are you need a brighter, lighter shade, so do a little experimenting. Your old make-up products can be wiped off with tissue, sealed and place in icebox, or a cool closet, to be used at a later day. Or you may, as some girls are doing, use the end of your lipstick and cream rouge to mix with a brighter shade. Then you have an individual shade. ### Modesty Stands Out as Three Great Aces Meet

NEW YORK, July 9 (NANA) .- Did you ever see three great competitors who never had met before? I mean the top headliners. Within the last few days we acrambled around to bring this about. A 100-to-1 shot. Their names happen to be Willie Hoppe, Carl Hubbell and Earl Sande. With Grove, 1-Hit

Here are three of the all-time tops in three widely scattered professions—billiards, baseball and racing. Having known these three men for many years—having watched them in championship competition for over two decades-I was interested to see just what they had in common.

Skill? Courage? Ability? Form? Style? They had all of these elements. Only normal elements.

But they had something more. A is an exact science. Baseball isn't. rare commodity. An almost lost Not quite. Hoppe's opponent is the virtue. Plus, of course, the winning billiard table. Mine is a bunch of human beings. I still might be betart of concentration.

They had the rare gift of modesty.

None of the three-as many headlines as they have made-seem to think they are important.

Hoppe is Impersonal Foe

To my mind this is the top gift, when you take into consideration so many fourflushers and headlinechiselers in this country who think yourself. That isn't true in other they belong around the top, in place games." of the bottom.

I'll call them the Big Three for this one reason-humility. Willie Hoppe has been world champion for just as modest and just as shy as 37 years, off and on. Largely on. He still is the greatest billiard player in the world on his way to 60 years of age

And Willie Hoppe happens to be one of the shyest, humblest competitors I've ever known. As my old-time friend, John Siddall, once wrote about Hoppe-"Hoppe plays billiards-the others play Hoppe.' "I guess that's right," Hoppe told me. "I just keep playing billiards. I don't play any one or anything else. You can't play your opponents. You've got to play your own game.'

Different With Hubbell

I moved this argument over to Carl Hubbell, who is about as loquacious as the well-known Sphinx, with a bad cold. "I guess Hoppe is right," he said.

"as far as billiards go. But billiards

Browns' Clift Sought As Losing Nats Try To Mend Fences

By BURTON HAWKINS, Star Staff Correspo CLEVELAND, July 9.-In a desperate attempt to regain their spot among the aristocracy of the Amer-ican League, the Nats frantically are searching for reinforcements, but while the effort is sincere the results may be negligible. At least, Manager Ossie Bluege isn't visioning obtaining anybody in a hurry who would soothe the Nats' suffering. Washington has lost 8 of 11 games on its current road trip and since last Saturday night, when the Nats poked their noses within .003 percentage points of first place, they've created toboggan records, dropping 7 of 8 games. That sort of conduct has demoted the Nats to fourth place, with no guarantee they won't be nestled in the second division after battling Cleveland here tonight. In an effort to stymie that .comparative catastrophe, Bluege will employ Early Wynn as his pitcher.

Priddy May Be Back. Wynn and Milo Candini on several occasions have stepped in to put an end to losing streaks and to Wynn will be entrusted the task of stopping Washington's string of defeats before it reaches record proportions. The Nats have lost three straight games several times this season but never a fourth straight contest, a mark they will establish by being defeated tonight. Bluege also hopes to regain the services of Second Baseman Gerald Priddy, who was lifted from the lineup yesterday as the Nats dropped a 5-2 decision to the Indians. Priddy pleaded illness and Bluege dispatched George Myatt to Washington's recent behavior has Bluege believing the Nats require aid immediately, so Washington is bidding for the services of Outfielder Tony Criscola, formerly of the Browns but now performing with the Toledo Mudhens, a St Louis farm.

Charley Roberts, a shortstop who has been playing admirably in the Southern Association, is Washington property and is being eved by Bluege, but the Nats' Montgomery (Ala.) Club wants a replacement and there complications develop. Washington can't send Utility Infilching record of 73-one more than fielder Sherry Robertson to the minors without losing title to him, but the Nats may send him along, anyway. Sherry, nephew of Boss Clark Griffith, has told chums he would relish leaving the Nats and being shipped somewhere he could

Mile in 4 Flat Beyond Current Track Aces, Andersson Holds

STOCKHOLM, July 9.-Arne Andersson, world's fastest miler (4:02.6) who failed yesterday in an attempt. to shatter Gunder Haegg's 1,500meter record, doesn't believe the, much-talked-about 4-minute mile, will be run by any of the present. milers.

"I cannot imagine any one running the mile in four minutes or less during this or the next few years," the Swedish 25-year-old school teacher told the Associated Press in an interview shortly before his attempt to set a new world 1,500-meter mark of 3:45 was spoiled by inclement weather.

Planned Race on Schedule. Watched by a capacity crowd of 20,000 (an estimated additional 10,000 were turned away) the spindlelegged, long - striding 155-pound Andersson ran the 1,500 meters over a rain-soaked course in 3:48.8. three seconds off Haegg's recognized world mark of 3:45.8.

"The track was too heavy to set a record," he commented later.

Andersson, who ran his recordbreaking mile only a week ago, had felt he had a good chance of setting another record, provided weather conditions were right. He had planned to run the first 800 meters in two minutes. Under his plan if he ran 1,200 meters in 3:01, he would try to sprint the remaining 300 meters in 44 seconds.

However, he was 1.4 seconds behind his timetable when he reached the 800-meter mark and didn't try to extend himself thereafter. He finished 15 yards ahead of his nearest competitor.

Might Cut Second Off Mark.

The "flying school teacher," who asserted "I'm running better than ever now," expressed the opinion "if I could have run last year like I'm doing now I could have pressed Haegg much harder and perhaps he would have been able to run a 4minute mile. Haegg was at his best last year and I doubt whether could beat him at his best." "Maybe the next generation of runners may be able to run the mile in four minutes or less," Andersson continued. "I might be able to run it one second faster in-

The cruiser on our left let go a broadside With the sound of the first salvos still ringing in my ears I got out on the flight deck just in time to see the cruiser off to our left let go another broadside of flame and thunder in the direction away from us. And presently, down near the horizon, a low-slung ship began to give off an ugly plume of smoke.

This was it, and before we wanted it. 'We'd have to take off now. We'd be forced to assume that the Japanese ship had had time to flash a warning about us. The Hornet leaped forward, boring a hole in the head wind. I could feel her turbines take up a faster beat and felt that it was straining forward as fast as it could, to get us a minute closer . . . a gallon nearer.

We had based so much of our hope of getting to China on the presumption that the Navy could run us up to within 400 miles of Japan. Now we were going to take off about 800 miles off the coast. I did some quick figuring. And the sums I arrived at, in my buzzing head, gave me a sudden emptiness in the stomach. I thought of the preparations the Japanese must be making for us, and I thought of that turret that just wouldn't work.

I ran to my room, stuffed some things in my bag and went to my plane. The crew was there, and the Navy was now taking charge, pushing the B-25s into position.

The Hornet stepped up to top speed. The bombs came up from below and rolled along the deck on their lowslung lorries to our planes. It was our first look at the 500-pound incendiary, but we didn't waste much time on it, except to see that it was placed in the bomb bay so that it could be released at the proper time.

The Navy topped our tanks with fuel, and we climbed into the Ruptured Duck. It was something of a relief when five additional 5-gallon tins of gas were handed in to us. We lined them up in the fuselage beside the 10 Doolittle had already allotted us. It was a sobering thought to realize that we were going to have to fly 500 miles farther than we had planned. But my concern over that, as I sat there in the plane waiting to be pulled up to the starting line, was erased by a sudden relief that we wouldn't have to worry about running into barrage balloons at night. On this continent and in South America there are donkeys known as "burros." They are descended from donkeys brought in from abroad.
